2 And many of them that slepe in the dust of the earthe, shall (b) awake, some to euerlasting life, and some to shame and perpetuall contempt.

3 They that bee (c) wyse, shall shine as the brightnesse of the fyrmament: and they that (d) turne many to righteousnesse, as ỹ starres for euer and euer.

4 But thou, O Daniel, shut vp the wordes, and seale the booke till the time of the ende: many shall goe (e) about here and there, and knowledge shall be encreased.

5 Then I Daniel looked, and beholde there stode other two, the one on this syde of the banke of the (f) riuer, and the other on that syde of the banke of the riuer.

6 And (one) sayd vnto the mã clothed in linnen, which was ouer the waters of the ryuer, When shall the end of these wonders be?

7 And I hearde the man clothed in linnen, which was ouer the waters of the riuer, whe he held vp his right (g) hande, and his left hand vnto heauen, and sware by hym that liueth for euer, that (it shall tarie) for a (h) time, times, and a halfe: and when hee shall haue accomplished to scatter the power of the holy people, all these things shall be finished.

8 Then I hearde it, but I vnderstood it not: then sayd I, O my Lorde, what shall be the end of these thyngs?

9 And he sayd, Goe thy way Daniel, for the wordes are closed vp, and sealed, till the tyme of the ende.

10 Many shall be purified, made whyte, and tried: but the wicked shal do wickedly, and none of the wicked shal haue vnderstanding, but the wise shall vnderstande.

11 And from the time that the (i) dayly (sacrifice) shall be taken away, and the abhominable desolation set vp, there shall be a (k) thousande, two hundred, and ninetie dayes.

a. The angell here noteth two things, first that the Church shal be in great affliction and trouble at Christes comming, and next that God wyll send his angel to declare it, whome here he calleth Michael.

b. Meaning, all shall ryse at the generall resurrection, whiche here he mentioneth, that the faythfull may euer haue respect vnto it, for in earth shall they find no comfort.

The ende of the propheſie of Daniel.

The booke of the prophet Oſea.

¶ The firſt Chapter.

1. The tyme wherein Oſea prophecied. 2. The idolatrie of the people. 10. The calling of the Gentiles. 11. Chriſt is the head of all people.

A 1 THe woorde of the Lord came vnto Oſea, the ſon of Beeri, in the dayes of Oſea, Joathan, Ahas, and Hezekias, kinges of Juda, and in the tyme of Jeroboam the ſonne of Joas king of Iſraell.

4. Reg. 15. 16. and. 17.

2 When the Lorde ſpake fyrſte vnto Oſea, he ſayde vnto him, Goe, take vnto thee a wyfe of (a) fornications, and children of fornications: for the land hath committed great fornication (departyng) from the Lord.

a. That is, one that of long time hath accuſtomed to play the harlot, not that the prophet did this indeed but he ſawe this in a viſiõ: or els was cõmanded by God, to ſet foorth vnder this parable or figure, the idolatrie of the Iſraelites.

3 So he went and toke Gomer the daughter of Deblaim: whiche conceyued and bare him a ſonne.

4 And the Lorde ſayde vnto him, Call hys name Jezrahel: for I will ſhortly auenge the bloud of Jezrahel vppon the houſe of Jehu, and will bring the kingdome of the houſe of Iſraell to an ende.

5 And in that daye will I alſo breake the bow of Iſraell, in the valley of Jezrahel.

6 And ſhee conceyued agayne, and bare a daughter: and (the Lorde) ſaid vnto him, Cal hir name Loruhamah (that is, not obteyning mercy) for I will no more haue pitie vppon the houſe of Iſraell, but I will vtterly take them away.

4. Reg. 15. c. 17. 18. b. 3. Reg. 21. b 4. Reg. 19. b

B 7 Yet I will haue mercy vppon the houſe of Juda, and will ſaue them, euen thorough the Lorde their God: and will not ſaue them by bowe, ſworde, battell horſes, or horſemen.

Gen. 49. c. 4. Reg. 19. g

8 Nowe when ſhe had wained Loruhamah, ſhe conceyued againe, and bare a ſonne.

9 Then ſayd he, Cal his name Loammi (that is, not my people:) for ye are not my people, therefore I will not be your (God.)

10 Yet the number of the children of Iſraell, ſhall be as the ſand of the ſea, which can neyther be meaſured nor tolde: and in the place where it was ſayd vnto them, Ye are not my people: it ſhall be ſaide vnto them, ye are the children of the liuing God. Rom. 9. c. Joh. 1. a.

11 Then ſhall the chyldren of Juda, and the children of Iſraell be gathered together, and appoynt them ſelues one head, and they ſhall come vp out of the lande: for greate ſhall bee the day of Jezrahel. Ezec. 37. c

The. ij. Chapter.

1. The people is called to repentance. 5. Hee ſheweth their idolatrie, & threatneth them, except they repent.

1 TEl your brethren that they are my people, and youre ſyſterne, that they haue obteyned mercie. A

2 As for your mother, ye ſhall chyde with hir, and reproue hir, for ſhe is not my wyfe, neyther am I hir huſbande: let hir therefore put away hir whoredome from hir face, and hir adulterie from hir breaſts. Jere. 8. a.

3 Leſt I ſtrip hir naked, and ſet hir euen as ſhe came into the worlde, and make hir as a wildernes, and as drie land, and ſlay hir for thirſt. Ezec. 16. a.

4 And I will haue no pitie vpon hir children: for they be the children of fornication: John. 8. b.

5 Their mother hath played the harlot, and ſhe that bare them is come to confuſion: for ſhee ſayde, I will goe after my louers that gyue me my bread, and my water, my wool and flare, my oyle and my drinke. 4. Reg. 16. a 6 Therefore beholde, I will ſtoppe thy way with thornes, and make a hedge, that ſhe ſhal not fynde hir paths.

7 And though ſhe run after hir louers, yet ſhal ſhe not ouertake them: ſhe ſhall ſeeke them: but B but not hynde them. Then ſhal ſhe ſay, I wil goe, and returne to my fyrſt huſbande: for at that time it was better with me than nowe.

8 And ſhe did not knowe that I gaue hir corne, and wine, and oyle, and multiplyed hir ſyluer and golde, which they beſtowed on Baal.

9 Therefore I will returne, and take away my corne in the time therof, and my wyne in the ſeaſon therof, and fet agayne my wol and my flaxe (whych I gaue hir) to couer hir ſhame.

10 And now wil I diſcouer hir ſhame (euen) in the ſyghte of hir louers, and no man ſhall deliuer hir out of my handes.

11 Moreouer I will take away all hir mirth, hir holy dayes, hir newe moones, hir Sabbothes and all hir ſolemne feaſtes.

12 I will deſtroy hir vineyards and fygge trees, wherof ſhe ſayde, Theſe are my rewardes that my louers haue giuen mee, I will make them as a wood, and wild beaſtes ſhall eate them vp.

13 I will viſite vppon hir the dayes of Baal, wherein ſhe burned incenſe to him, and decked hir ſelfe with eareringes and iewels, ſhee folowed hir louers, and forgate me, ſayth the Lorde.

14 Wherefore beholde, I will allure hir, and bring hir into the wildernelle, and ſpeake friendly vnto hir.

15 From thence will I giue hir hir vineyards agayne, yea and the valley of Achor for an entrie of hope: and ſhe ſhall ſyng there as in the dayes of hir youth, and as in the day whē ſhe came out of the land of Egypt.

16 And at that day (ſayth the Lord) thou ſhalt call me, O my huſband, and ſhalt call me no more Baal.

17 For I wil take away thoſe names of Baal from hir mouth, yea ſhe ſhall neuer remember their names any more.

18 Then will I make a couenaunt for them, with the beaſtes of the fielde, with the foules of the ayre, and with euery thyng that creepeth vpon the earth: As for bowe, ſwoord, and battayle, I will deſtroy out of the lande, and will make them to ſleepe ſafely.

19 And I will marrie thee vnto myne owne ſelfe for euer, yea euen to my ſelfe will I marrie thee in ryghteouſneſſe, in iudgement, in louing kindneſſe and mercie.

20 In faythfulneſſe alſo wil I marie thee vnto my ſelfe, and thou ſhalt knowe the Lorde.

21 At the ſame time will I ſhewe my ſelfe gratious vnto the heauens, ſayeth the Lorde, and the heauens ſhall help the earth:

22 And the earth ſhall help the corne, wyne, and oyle: and they ſhall help Iezrahel.

23 And I will ſowe hir for my ſelfe in the earth, and will haue mercy vpon hir that had not obteyned mercie: And to them whiche were not my people, I will ſay, Thou art my people: and they ſhall ſay, Thou art my God.

The. iij. Chapter.

1. The Iewes ſhall be caſt off for their idolatrie.
5. Afterward they ſhall returne to the Lorde.

1 THen ſayd the Lorde to me, For yet and I loue a woman beloued of hir huſbande, and yet an adulteſſe, according to the loue of the Lord towarde the children of Iſrael: and yet they haue reſpect to ſtrange goddes, and loue the wine pottes.

2 So I gate hir for fiftiene ſyluerlynges, and for an homer and an halfe of barley,

3 And ſayde vnto hir, Thou ſhalt bide wyth me a long ſeaſon, thou ſhalt not play the harlot, thou ſhalt be to none other man, and I will be ſo vnto thee.

4 For the children of Iſraell ſhall ſyt a great while without king, without prince, without ſacrifice, without image, without Ephod, and without Theraphim.

5 But afterward the children of Iſrael ſhall be conuerted, and ſeeke the Lord their God, and Dauid their king, and in the latter days they ſhall worſhip the Lorde, and his louing kyndneſſe.

The. iiij. Chapter.

A complaynt agaynſte the people, and the prieſtes of Iſraell.

1 HEare the worde of the Lorde, O ye children of Iſraell, for the Lord hath a controuerſie with the inhabitantes of the land: for there is no truth, there is no mercie, there is no knowledge of GOD in the lande.

2 But ſwearing, lying, manſlaughter, theft, and adulterie, hath gotten the ouer hand, and one bloudgiltineſſe foloweth another.

3 Therefore ſhall the lande mourne, and all they that dwell therein ſhal be rooted out, the beaſtes of the field, the foules of the aire, and the fiſhes in the ſea, ſhall be conſumed.

4 Yet let no man rebuke or reproue another, for the people (are) as they that are at controuerſie with the prieſt.

5 Therefore ſhalte thou fall in the day time, and the prophet with thee in the nyght, and I will bring thy mother to deſtruction.

6 My people periſh for lacke of knowledge: becauſe thou haſt refuſed knowledge, therefore foꝛe will I refuſe thee alſo, ſo that thou ſhalt no moꝛe be my pꝛieſt: and foꝛ ſomuch as thou haſt foꝛgotten ẏ̄ law of thy God, I will alſo foꝛget thy children.

Oſe. for

B 7 The moꝛe they increaſed in multitude, the moꝛe they ſinned agaynſte mee, (therefoꝛe) will I change their honour into ſhame.

Leuit.6.d. Ezec.13.d. 8 They eate vp the (a) ſynnes of my people, and encourage them in their wickednеſſe.

a. That is, the prieſts ſeeke to eate the peoples offerings, and flatter thē in their ſinnes.

9 Thus the pꝛieſte is become like the people: Wheꝛefoꝛe I will puniſh them foꝛ theyꝛ wicked wayes, and reꝛwarde them accoꝛding to their owne imaginations.

Ezec.14.a. Leuit.26.b. Mich.6.c. Agge.1.a. 10 They ſhall eate, and not haue ynough, they haue vſed whoꝛedome, but ſhall not pꝛoſper, they haue foꝛſaken the Lorde, & not regarded hym.

11 Whoꝛedome, wyne, and newe wine, take the hart away.

4.Reg.1.a. 12 My people aſke counſell at their ſtockes, and their ſtaffe teacheth them: foꝛ the ſpirite of foꝛnication hathe cauſed (them) to goe aſtray, and they haue committed foꝛnication againſt their God.

4.Reg.17.b 13 They make ſacrifices vppon the toppes of the mountaynes, and burne their incenſe vpon the hylles, yea vnder the okes, poplars, and elmes, foꝛ there are good ſhadowes: theꝛfoꝛe youꝛ daughters are become harlots, and youꝛ ſpouſes haue bꝛoken their wedlocke.

C 14 I will not puniſh youꝛ daughters foꝛ beyng defyled, and youꝛe ſpouſes that became whoꝛes: ſeeyng the fathers them ſelues haue medled with harlottes, and ſacrificed with whoꝛes: but the people that will not vnderſtand, muſt be puniſhed.

Num.25.d. 15 Though thou Iſraell play the harlot, yet let not Juda ſinne, come not yee vnto Gilgal, neyther goe yee to Bethauen, neyther ſweare ye, The Lorde lyueth.

3.Reg.12.d. Deut.10.d. 16 Foꝛ Iſraell is rebellious lyke an vnruly heyffer: nowe the Lorde will feede them as a lambe in a large place.

17 Ephraim (is become) partaker of idolles, let him alone.

18 Their dꝛunkenneſſe ſlyneth, they haue committed whoꝛedome: their rulers loue (to ſay) with ſhame, Bꝛyng ye.

19 The winde hathe bounde them vp in hir wynges, and they ſhall be aſhamed of theyꝛ ſacrifices.

The.v. Chapter.

1. Againſte the prieſtes and rulers of Iſraell. 13. The help of man is in vayne.

A 1 Ye prieſtes heare this, take heede, O thou houſe hold of Iſraell, giue eare, O thou houſe of the king, foꝛ iudgemnt (is) againſte you, bycauſe you are become as a ſnare on Mizphah, and a ſpread net vpon the mount of Thabor.

2 They kill ſacrifices by heapes, and turne far from the Lorde, and I haue bin a rebuker of them all.

Ezec.8.d. Jere.23.d. 3 I know Ephraim well ynough, and Iſraell is not hid from me: foꝛ now, O Ephraim, thou art become an harlot, and Iſrael is defyled.

4 They will not giue their mindes to turne vnto their God: foꝛ the ſpirite of foꝛnication (is) in the middeſt of them, and they haue not knowen the Lorde.

Oſea.7.b. 5 And the pꝛide of Iſraell doth teſtifie to hys face: theꝛefoꝛe bothe Iſraell and Ephraim ſhall fall foꝛ theyꝛ wickednеſſe, and Juda with them alſo.

Jere.3.b. Deut.4.c Ezec.13.c 6 They ſhall come with theyꝛ ſheepe and bullockes to ſeeke the Lorde, but they ſhall not fynde him: foꝛ he is gone from them.

B 7 They haue tranſgreſſed againſt the Lorde, and bꝛought vp baſtarde children: a moneth theꝛefoꝛe ſhall deuoure them, with their poꝛtions.

8 Blowe with the ſhawmes at Gibea, and with the trumpet in Ramah, cry out at Bethauen, after thee, O Beniamin.

9 In the tyme of the plague ſhall Ephraim be layd waſte: in the tribes of Iſraell haue I ſhewed the trueth.

Dani.9.c. and.7.c. 10 The pꝛinces of Juda haue bin like them that remoue the land markes: theꝛefoꝛe will I powꝛe out my wꝛath vppon them lyke water.

1 WHen I vndertooke to make Israell whole, then the vngratiousnesse of Ephraim, and the wickednesse of Samaria came to lyght, for they goe about with lyes, therefore the thiefe robbeth within, and the spoyler destroyeth without.

2 They consider not in their harts that I remember all their wickednesse: Nowe theyr owne inuentions haue belet them, whyche I see wel yenough.

Rom.1.d.

3 They make the kyng glad with theyr wickednesse, and the princes with theyr lyes.

5 (Thys is) the daye of oure kyng, the princes haue made him sicke with bottelles of wyne, he hath stretched out his hand to scorners.

6 For whyles they lye in wayte, they haue made ready their hart lyke an ouen, their baker sleepeth all night, in the morning it burneth as a flambe of fyre.

7 They are altogeather as hot as an ouen, B and haue deuoured their owne iudges, all their kings are fallen, yet is there none of thē that calleth vpon me.

8 Ephraim hath mixt him selfe among (Heathen) people, Ephraim is become like a cake that no man turneth.

9 Strangers haue deuoured his strength, and he regardeth it not: hee waxeth full of gray heares, yet will he not knowe it.

The. viij. Chapter.

The destruction of Iuda and Israel, bycause of their idolatrie.

1 SEt the trumpet to thy mouth, (swiftly) as an Eagle (shall the enimie come) against the house of the Lorde: for they haue broken my couenant, and transgressed my lawe. Deut.3.d.

2 Israell should haue sayd vnto me, Thou art my God, we know thee.

3 But he hathe refused the thing that is good, therefore shall the enimie pursue him.

for my wrathfull indignation is gone forth against them: how long wil they be without innocencie?

6 For (the calfe) came from Israel, the workman made it, therefore can it be no God: but euen in peeces shall the calfe of Samaria be broken.

B 7 They haue sowen wind, therefore shal they reape a whirlewinde: it hath no stalke, the bud shall bring forth no meale: and if happily it do, strangers shall deuour it vp.

8 Israel is deuoured, now shal they be amõg the Gentiles as a vessell of no reputation.

12 I haue written to them the greate thyngs of my law, (but) they are counted as a strãge thing.

13 They sacrifice flesh for the sacrifice of mine offerings, and eate it, (but) the Lorde hath no pleasure in it: now will he remember theyr iniquitie, and visite theyr sinnes, they shal returne into Egypt.

C 14 For Israel hath forgotten hym that made him, and hath builded fayre palaces, and Iuda hathe encreased strong cities: but I wyll send a fyre into theyr cities, and it shall consume their paiaces.

The. ix. Chapter.

Of the hunger and captiuitie of Israel.

I 1 DO not thou triumph, O Israell, make no boasting ouer ioyous thynges, as do the Heathen: for thou hast committed adulterie against thy God, whoryish rewards haste thou loued more than all the corne flowres.

2 The corne floore, and the wine presse shall not feede them: and the newe wyne shal faile them.

Ezech. 4. c. 3 They shal not dwell in the Lordes lande, but Ephraim shall turne agayne into Egypt, and eate vncleane thyngs among the Assyrians.

4 They powre out no wine for a drinke offering vnto the Lorde, neyther shall theyr slayne offerings be pleasant vnto him, they shall be vnto them as the bread of mourners, all they that eate shall be defyled: for theyr bread (a) for their soules shall not come into the house of the Lorde.

a. The sacrifice whiche they offered for their sinnes

5 What will ye do then in the solemne day, and in the feast day of the Lorde?

6 For beholde, they are gone away for destruction, (but) Egypt shall gather them, and Memphis shall burie them: the nettles shall possesse the pleasaunt (places) of theyr siluer, thornes shall be in their tabernacles.

7 The dayes of visitation are come, the dayes of recompence are come: and then shall Israell know that they were deceyued by a foolish, mad, and franticke prophet: for the multitude of thyne iniquitie (God) shall multiply enimies against thee. B

8 The watcheman of Ephraim (was) wyth my (b) God (but) the prophet (is) the snare of a fouler in all his wayes, and an abhomination in the house of his God.

10 I found Israell like grapes in their wyldernesse, and sawe their fathers as the fyrste fruite in the figge tree at hir fyrste season: but they went to Baal Peor, and separated them selues to that shame, and became as abhominable as their louers. Judic. 19.

11 Ephraim their glory shall flee away lyke a birde: for birth, for wombe, and conception.

12 And though they bring vp children, yet I wil destroy them before they be men: Yea wo shall come to them when I depart from thē. Gen. 48. k

13 Ephraim (as me thinke) is planted in a pleasant place, lyke as is Tyrus: but nowe must she bring hir owne children forthe to the manslayer.

14 O Lorde, giue them: what shalte thou giue them? Giue them an vnfruitefull wombe, and drie breastes. C

15 All their wickednesse is done at Gilgal, there do I abhorre them: for the vngratiousnesse of their owne inuentions I will driue them out of my house, I will loue them no more, for all their princes are vnfaythfull. Iosu. 4. d.

16 Ephraim is hewen downe, their rote is dried vp, so ẏ they shal bring no more fruite: yea and though they bring forth any, yet wil I slay euen the best beloued of their body.

17 My God shall cast them away, for they haue not bin obediente vnto hym, therefore shall they wander among the Heathen.

ding to the multitude of the fruite thereof he hathe encreased alwayes: according to the goodnesse of their lande they haue made them fayre images.

2 Their hart is diuided, (therefore) shall they now be destroyed, (the Lorde) shall breake down their images, he shal destroy their aulters.

3 For now shall they say, we haue no kyng, because we haue not feared the Lorde: and what should then a king do to vs?

4 They haue spoken words, swearing falsely in making a (b) couenaunt: thus (c) iudgemente groweth as wormewood in the furrowes of the fielde.

5 They that dwell in Samaria shall feare, because of the calfe of Bethauen, for ỳ people thereof shall mourne ouer it, yea and the priestes also reioyced on it for the glory therof, because it is departed from it.

6 It shall be broughte to the Assyrian for a present to the king Jareb: Ephraim shal receyue shame, and Israel shall be confounded for his owne imaginations.

B 7 Samaria with his king shall banish away, as the fome vpon the water.

8 The hygh places of Auen where Israell dothe synne shall be destroyed, thistles and thornes shall growe vpon their aulters: then shall they say to the mountaynes, Couer vs, and to the hylles, Fall vpon vs.

9 O Israell, thou hast sinned from the dayes (d) of Gabaa: there they stode, the battayle in Gabaa againste the children of iniquitie did not touch them.

10 It is my desyre that I should chastise thē: and the people shall bee gathered agaynste them, when they shall ioyne them selues together in their (e) two furrowes.

11 And Ephraim (is as) an heyfer vsed to delite (f) in treading out the corne, but I wyll passe by hir fayre (g) necke, I will make Ephraim to (h) ryde: Juda shall (i) plowe, (and) Jacob shall breake his cloddes.

12 Sowe to youre selues in ryghteousnesse, and reape the fruites of well doing, plowe vp your fresh lād: for it is time to seeke ỳ Lord, till he come and raine righteousnes vpō you.

13 For you haue plowed vngodlynesse, ye haue reaped iniquitie, you haue eaten the fruite of lyes, because thou puttest thy confidence in thyne owne wayes, and leanest to the multitude of thy strong men.

14 There shall growe a sedition among thy people, all thy strong cities shall bee layde waste, euen as Salma destroyed Beth Arbel in the day of battayle, wher the mother with the children were dashed in peeces.

15 Euen so shall Bethel do vnto you, because of youre malitious wickednesse: in a morning shall the king of Israel be destroyed.

1. A prophecie agaynst the Iewes. 2. He exhorteth the people to prayer and fastyng, for the miserie that was at hand.

1 THe word of ỳ lord that came to Ioel the sonne of Pethuel.

2 Heare ye thys, you elders, & hearken wt youre eares, all you that dwell in this lande: was there euer suche a thing in your dayes, or in the dayes of your fathers?

3 Of this thing tell youre children, and lette your children (shewe it) to their children, and their children to (their) posteritie afterwarde.

a. That is, a worme that hath winge, shaueth off the vttermost ryne of hearbes, and the rende barke of trees, feeding on them, Nahum. 3. c.

5 Awake yee drunkardes, and weepe, howle al ye wine bybbers, for lacke of newe wine: for it is cleane taken away frō your mouth.

6 For a nation is come vp vppon my lande, myghtie and without number: hys teeth are as the teeth of a Lion, and he hath the iawes of a great Lion.

B 7 He hath destroyed my vine, and barked my figge tree, he hathe pilled it, and cast it from him, and hath left boughes thereof white.

8 Lament as a virgin girded with sackcloth, for the husband of hir youth.

9 The meate offering and drinke offeryng is cut off from the house of the Lord, the prestes (I meane) the Lords ministers mourne.

10 The field is wasted, the land mourneth: for corne is destroyed, the new wine is dried vp, the oyle is vtterly taken away.

11 Be ye ashamed, O yee husbandmen, howle O ye wine dressers, for the wheate and for ỳ barly: for ỳ haruest of ỳ fielde is perished.

12 The wine is dryed vp, and the figge tree is decayed, the pomegranate tree, & the paulme, and the apple tree, (euen) all the trees of the fielde are withered vp: for ioy is withered away from the sonnes of men.

13 Girde your selues, & lament, O ye prests, howle ye out, ye ministers of the aulter, come and lye all nyght in sackcloth, ye seruauntes of my GOD: for the meate and drynke offeringes are taken away from the house of your God.

14 Proclayme a fast, call a congregation, gather the elders togeather, (with) all the inhabitants of the lande, vnto the house of the Lord your God, and crye vnto the Lord. C

15 Alas for thys day, for the day of the Lorde is at hand, euen as a destruction from the almightie, shall it come.

16 Is not the meate cut off before our eyes, (yea,) myrth and ioy from the house of oure God?

17 The seede is rotten vnder their cloddes, the garners are destroyed, the barnes are ouerthrowen: for the corne is withered.

beaſts are in wofull caſe for lacke of paſture, and the flockes of ſheepe are deſtroyed?

19 Unto thee, O Lorde, will I crie, for feare hath deſtroyed the fruitefull places of the deſart, and the flambe hathe burut vp all the trees of the fielde.

20 The beaſtes alſo of the field crye out vnto thee: for the riuers of waters are dried vp, and fire hath deuoured vp the fruitefull places of the deſart.

The. ij. Chapter.

1. He prophecieth of the comming and cruelties of their enimies. 13. An exhortation to moue them to conuert. 18. The loue of God toward his people.

A 1 BLow vp a trumpet in Sion, & ſhowte in my holy hill, let all the inhabitantes of the earth tremble: for the day of the Lorde is come, for it is nigh at hande.

2 A darke and glomie day, a cloudy & blacke day: as the morning is ſpread ouer the mountaynes, (ſo is this) populous and ſtrong people, lyke it there was none from the beginning, nor ſhall be hereafter for euermore.

3 Before him is a deuouring fyre, and behinde him a burning flambe: the land is as a pleaſant garden before him, and behind hym a wall deſart, yea and nothing ſhall eſcape hym.

4 The ſhewe of him is as the ſhewe of horſes, and lyke horſemen, ſo ſhall they runne.

5 Like the noyſe of charrettes vpon ẏ toppes of the mountaynes they ſhall ſkip, like the noyſe of a flaming fyre deuouring the ſtubble, (and) as a ſtrong people prepared to battayle.

6 Before his face ſhall the people tremble, the countenance of all folkes ſhall waxe (blacke) as a pot.

B 7 They ſhall runne like ſtrong men, and climbe the walles like men of warre: and euery one ſhal march on in his way, and they ſhall not linger in their paths.

8 No man ſhall thruſt another, but euery one ſhall walke in his path: and if they ſhall fall on the ſword, they ſhall not be wounded.

9 They ſhall run to and fro in the citie, they ſhall run vp and downe vpon the wall, they ſhall climbe into the houſes, they ſhall enter in at the windowes like a theefe.

10 The earth ſhall quake before him, the heauens ſhall tremble, the ſunne and the mone ſhall be darke, and the ſtarres ſhal withdraw their ſhining.

11 And the Lord ſhall giue his voyce before his hoſt, for his campe is exceeding great, for he is mightie that executeth his commaundement: for the day of the Lord is great and very terrible, and who can abide it?

12 But now ſayth the Lord, Turne you vnto me with all your harts, with faſting, with weeping, and with mourning.

13 And rent your hartes, and not youre garments, and turne you vnto the Lorde youre God, for he is gratious and mercifull, ſlowe to anger, and of great goodneſſe, and he wyll repent him of the euill.

14 Who knoweth whether the Lorde wyll C returne, and take compaſſion, and will leaue behind him a bleſſing, (euen) meate offering, and drinke offering, vnto the Lorde your God?

15 Blow vp a trumpet in Sion, proclayme a faſt, call an aſſemblie, ſanctify the congregation:

16 Gather ẏ people, gather the elders, aſſemble the children and ſucking babes: lette the bridegrome come forth of his chamber, and the bryde out of hir cloſet.

17 Let the prieſts, the Lords miniſters, weepe betwixt the porche and the aulter, and let thē ſay, Spare thy people, O Lord, and giue not ouer thyne heritage to reproche, that the heathen ſhould rule ouer them: Wherfore ſhuld they ſay amongſt the heathen, Where is their God?

18 And (then) the Lorde will be ielous ouer his land, and will ſpare his people.

19 Yea, the Lorde will anſweare, and ſay to his people, Behold, I will ſende you corne, and wine, and oyle, and will ſatiſfye you therewith, and will not giue you ouer any more to be a reproche among the heathen.

20 And I will remoue farre off from you the northren (armie,) and I will driue hym into a land barren and deſolate, with his face towards the eaſt ſea, and his hynder partes towards the vttermoſt ſea: and his ſtinch ſhall ariſe, and his corruption ſhal aſcend, becauſe he hath exalted him ſelfe to do this.

21 Feare not, O thou lande, be glad and re- D ioyce: for the Lord will do great thinges.

22 Be not afrayde, ye beaſtes of the fielde, for the fruitefull places of the deſart are greene: for the tree beares hir fruite, the figge tree & the vine yeeld their ſtrength.

23 Be glad then, ye children of Sion, and reioyce in the Lord your God: for he hath giuen you moderate (a) raine, and he will ſende downe for you the raine (euen) the firſt rayn, and the latter raine, in the firſt (moneth.)

24 And the barnes ſhall be filled with corne, and the preſſes ſhall ouerflowe with wyne and oyle.

25 And I wil reſtore to you the yeeres whiche the graſhopper, the canker worme, the locuſt, and and the caterpiller haue deuoured, my great armie whiche I sent amongst you.

26 And you shall eate in plentie, and be satisfied, and shall prayse the name of the Lorde your God, whiche hath dealt wonderously with you, and my people shall not be ashamed any more.

℣ 27 And you shall knowe that I am in the middle of Israel, and (that) I am the Lorde your God, and none but I: and my people shall neuer be ashamed.

28 And it shall come to passe after this, I wil powre out my spirite vpon all flesshe, & your sonnes and your daughters shall prophesie, your olde men shall dreame dreames, your yong men shall see visions.

29 Also in those dayes, vpon the seruants, and vpon the handmaydens will I powre out my spirite.

30 And I wil shewe wonders in heauen, and in earth, bloud, and fire, and pillers of smoke.

31 The sunne shall be turned into darknesse, and the moone into bloud, before that great and terrible day of the Lorde come.

32 But whosoeuer shall call on the name of the Lord, shal be saued: for there shal be deliuerance in mount Sion, and in Hierusalē, as the Lorde hath promised, and (also) in the remnant whom the Lorde shall call.

The.iij. Chapter.

Of the iudgement of God, agaynst the enimies of his people.

℟ 1 FOr beholde, in those dayes, and in that tyme, when I shall bryng agayne the captiuitie of Juda and Hierusalem,

2 I will also gather all the Gentiles, & cause them to come into the valley of (a) Iehosaphat, and I wyll pleade with them there for my people and heritage Israel, whiche they haue scattered amongst the nations, and haue parted my lande.

a. He alludeth to the victorie described. 2. Para. 20.

3 And they haue cast lots for my people, and changed the boy for an (b) harlot, and sold the gyrdle for wine, that they might drynke.

b. They bestowed the spoyle of gods people, on whoredome, & drunkennesse.

4 And what haue you to do with me, O Tyre and Sidon, and all the coastes of Palestine? wyll ye render me recompence? and if you recompence me, I shall swiftly (and) speedily returne your recompence vpon your owne heads.

5 For ye haue taken my siluer and my gold, my pleasant and pretious things, and haue carped them into your temples.

6 You haue solde also the children of Juda, and the children of Hierusalem, to the Grecians, that you myght sende them farre from theyr owne countrey.

7 Behold, I wil rayse them out of that place whyther you haue sold them, and wil returne your recompence vpon your owne heads. ℬ

8 And I wyll sell your sonnes and your daughters, into the hands of the children of Juda, and they shall sell them vnto the Sabeans, to a nation that dwelleth farre off: for the Lorde hath spoken it.

9 Publishe this thing among the Gentiles, proclaime warre, wake vp the mightie men, let al the men of warre drawe neare, & come vp.

10 Breake your plough shares into swordes, and your sithes into speares, let the weake say, I am strong.

11 Assemble your selues, and come all you heathen, and gather your selues together round about, there shal the Lord cast downe thy mightie men.

12 Let the heathen aryse, and come vp to the valley of Iehosaphat: for there wyll I sit to iudge al nations rounde about.

13 Put in your sithes, for the harueſt is rype: come ye (and) descend, for the (c) wynepresse is full, (yea) the presses ouerflowe: for their wyckednesse is multiplied.

c. When the measure of wickednesse is ful, then destruction is at hande.

14 O people, people (come) into the valley of final iudgement: for the day of the Lorde is at hand, in the valley of finall iudgement. ℭ

15 The sunne and the moone shal be darkned, and the starres shal withdrawe their light.

16 The Lord also shal roze out of Sion, and out of Hierusalem shall he giue hys voyce, the heauens and the earth shall shake: but the Lorde will be the hope of his people, and the strength of the children of Israel.

17 So shall you knowe that I am the Lorde your God, dwelling in Sion my holy mountaine, then shal Hierusalem be holy, and there shall no strangers passe through here any more.

18 And in that day, shal the mountaynes drop downe sweete wine, and the hylles shal flow with milke, and all the ryuers of Juda shall runne with water, and a fountayne shal come out of the house of the Lorde, and shal water the valley of Sittim.

19 Egypt shal be waste, and Edom shal be a desolate wildernesse: for the iniuries (done) to the children of Juda: bycause they haue shed innocent bloud in theyr lande.

20 But Juda shall dwell for euermore, and Hierusalem from generation to generation.

21 I wil also cleanse the bloud of them (that) I haue not cleansed, and the Lorde dwelleth in Sion.

b. For Eſau (of whom came the Edomites) and Iacob were brethren.

10 Therefoze wyll I ſende a fyre vpon the wall of Tyre, and it ſhall conſume the palaces thereof.

11 Thus ſayth the Lozde, Foz three wickednelles of Edom, and foz foure, I wyll not ſpare hym: bycauſe he purſued hys bzother with the ſwoꝛde, and did "caſte off all pitie, and "in his anger ſpoyled hym continually, and his indignation he kept alwayes.

"Heb. corrupt his cōpaſſiō. "or, his anger ſpoyled.

12 Therfoze I wil ſend a fyre into Theman, which ſhal deuour the palaces of Bozra.

13 Thus ſayth the Lozde, Foz three wickednelles of the chyldzen of Ammon, & foz foure, I wyl not ſpare them: bicauſe they (c) haue rypt vp the women with chylde of Gilead, that they might enlarge theyr bozders.

c. He noteth the greate cruelte of the Ammonites, that ſpared not the women with chylde.

14 Therfoze wil I kindle a fire in the walles of Rabbah, that ſhal cōſume hir palaces with a great crye in the day of battayle, and with a tempeſt in the day of the whirlewinde.

15 And theyr king ſhal goe into captiuitie, he, and his princes together, ſayth the Lozde.

The. ij. Chapter.

He propheſieth againſt Moab, Iuda, and Iſrael.

1 THus ſayth the Lozd, Foz three wickednelles of Moab, & foz foure, I will not "ſpare him: bycauſe he burnt the bones of the kyng of Edom into (a) lyme.

"or, turne to hym.

a. That is, into aſhes.

2 Therefoze I wyl ſende a fyre into Moab, which ſhall conſume the palaces of Carioth, & Moab ſhal dye with tumulte, with ſhowtyng, and with the ſounde of the trumpet.

3 And I wyll cutte off the iudge out of the middes thereof, and wyl ſlay all the pzynces thereof with hym, ſayth the Lozde,

4 Thus ſayth the Lozde, Foz three wyckednelles of Iuda, & foz foure, I wyll not ſpare hym: bycauſe they haue call away the law of the Lozde, and haue not kept his ordinances, and theyr lyes cauſed them to erre, after the whiche theyr fathers walked.

5 Therefoze wyll I ſende a fyre into Iuda, which ſhal cōſume the palaces of Hieruſalē.

6 Thus ſayth the Lozde, Foz three wyckednelles of Iſrael, & foz foure, I will not ſpare him: bycauſe they ſolde the ryghteous foz ſilner, and the powze foz a payze of ſhoes.

7 They "gape foz breath ouer the head of the powze in the duſte of the earth, and peruert the way of the "meeke: a man and hys father will goe in to one "mayde, to diſhonour my holy name.

9 Yet destroyed I the Amorite before them, whose heigth was like the heigth of the Cedar trees, and he was strong as the okes: notwithstanding, I destroyed his fruite frō about, and his rote from beneath.

10 Also I brought you vp from the lande of Egypt, and led you forth yeres through the wyldernesse, to possesse the lande of the Amorites.

11 And I rayled vp of youre sonnes for prophetes, and of your yong men for "Nazarites: Is it not euen thus, O ye children of Israell, sayth the Lorde?

"or, abstynens.

12 But yee gaue the Nazarites wyne to drynke, and commaunded the prophets, saying, Prophesie not.

13 Behold, I am pressed vnder you as a cart is pressed that is full of sheaues.

14 Therfore the "flight shal not perishe from the swifte, and the strong shall not strengthen his force, neyther shal the myghtie saue his lyfe.

"or, swift by flight shal not escape.

15 Nor he that handleth the bowe shal stand, nor hee that is swyfte of foote shall escape, neyther shall hee that rydeth the horse, saue his lyfe.

16 And he that is of myghtie courage among the strong men, shal flee away naked in that day, sayth the Lorde.

The. iij. Chapter.

He reproueth the house of Israell of ingratitude, foreshewyng Gods most iust punishement for the same.

1 HEare this word that the Lord pronoūceth against you, O children of Israel (euen) against the whole familie, which I brought vp from the lande of Egypt, saying, Deut. 4.

2 You only haue I knowen of all the families of the earth, therefore I will visite you for all your iniquities.

3 Can two walke together, except they bee agreed?

4 Will a Lion roare in the forest when he hath no pray? Or will a Lions whelpe crye out of his denne, if he haue taken nothing?

5 Can a byrd fall in a snare vppon the earth, where no Fowler is? Or will he take vp the snare from the earth, and haue taken nothing at all?

6 Or shall a trumpet bee blowen in the citie, and the people be not afrayde? Or shal there bee (a) euyll in a citie, and the Lorde hath not done it.

a. That is, calamitie, or aduersitie.

7 "Surely the Lorde God will do nothing, but he reueleth his secrete vnto his seruantes the Prophets.

8 The Lion hath roared, who will not be afrayde? The Lorde God hath spoken, who "can but prophesie?

"or, who will not prophesy.

9 Proclayme in the palaces at Asdod, and in the palaces in the lande of Egypt, and say, Assemble your selues vppon the mountaynes of Samaria, and beholde the great tumultes in the middes thereof: and the oppressed in the middes thereof:

10 For they knowe not to doe vryght, sayeth the Lorde, they store vp "violence and robberie in their palaces.

11 Therefore thus sayeth the Lorde God, An aduersarie (shall come) euen rounde about the countrey, and shall bryng downe thy strength from thee, and thy Palaces shall be spoyled.

12 Thus sayth the Lorde, As the shepheard taketh out of the mouth of the Lyon two legges or a peece of an eare: so shall the children of Israell bee taken oute, that dwell in Samaria, in the corner of a bed, and in Damascus, (as in) a couche.

13 Heare and testifie in the house of Jacob, sayth the Lorde God, the God of hostes.

14 That in the daye that I shall visite the "transgressions of Israell vpon him, I will also visite the aultars of Bethel, and the hornes of the aultar shall bee "broken off, and fall to the grounde.

15 And I will smyte the winter house with the sommer house, and the houses of Iuorie shall perishe, and the greate houses shall be consumed, sayth the Lord.

The. iiij. Chapter.

1 Vnder the name of fat kyne of Bashan, he inueyeth against the gouernoures of Samaria, and foreshewth their punishment. 4. Hee laugheth to scorne their idolatrie. 8. He sheweth that notwithstanding they had bin plagued with hunger, drought, blasting, caterpillers, pestilence, and warre, yet were they not turned vnto God.

1 HEare this word, ye kyne of Bashan, that are in the mountayn of Samaria, which oppresse the poore, and destroye the needye, whiche saye to theyr (a) maysters, Bryng, and let vs drinke.

a. That is, to the creditours to whome the poore are indebted.

2 The Lorde God hathe sworne by his holynesse, that loe, the days shal come vpon you, that he will take you away with (b) thornes, and your posteritie with fishehookes.

b. He alludeth to fishers, whiche catch fishe by hookes and thornes.

ſelues out of the pallace, ſayth the Lorde.

3.Re.12.g. 4 Come to Bethel, and "tranſgreſſe: to Gilgal, and multiplie tranſgreſſion: and bring your ſacrifices in the morning, and your tythes after three yeres, Leui.7.b. 5 And offer a thankeſgeuyng of leauen, publiſhe and proclayme the free offerynge: for this lyketh you, O yee chyldren of Iſraell, ſayth the Lorde God.

c. That is, lack of breade and meate. 6 Therfore haue I giuen you (c) cleanneſſe of teeth in all youre cities, and ſcarceneſſe of bread in all your places: yet haue ye not returned vnto me, ſayth the Lorde.

B 7 And alſo I haue withholden the rayn from you, when there were yet three monethes to the haruyſt, and I cauſed it to rayne vppon one citie, and haue not cauſed it to rayn vpon an other citie: one peece was rayned vpon, and the peece whereuppon it rayned not, withered.

8 So two (or) three cities wandred vnto one citie to drinke water, but they were not ſatisfyed, yet haue ye not returned vnto me, ſayth the Lorde.

9 I haue ſmitten you with blaſting and mildeawe, your great gardens, and your vineyards, and your figgetrees, and your Oliue trees, did the "Palmer worme deuoure: yet haue yee not returned vnto me, ſayeth the Lorde.

10 Peſtilence haue I ſente among you, after the manner of Egypt: your yong men haue I ſlayne with the ſworde, and haue taken awaye your horſſes, and I haue made the ſtinke of youre tentes to come euen vp into your noſthyrlles: yet haue yee not returned vnto me, ſayth the Lorde.

v or, among you, meaning ſome part: of their countrey to haue bin ouerthrowen. 11 I haue ouerthrowen "you, as God ouerthrew Sodoma & Gomorra, and ye were as a fyrebrand pluckte out of the burning: yet haue ye not returned vnto me ſaith the Lord.

d. Turne to him by repentance. 12 Therefore thus will I do vnto thee O Iſrael, (and) becauſe I will doe this vnto thee, (d) prepare to meete thy God, O Iſrael.

13 For lo, he that fourmeth the mountaynes, and createth the wynde, and declareth vnto man what is his thoughte, whiche maketh the "morning darkneſſe, and walketh vpon the high places of the earth, the Lord God of hoſtes is his name.

"or, morning and darkneſs.

The.v. Chapter.

1. The Prophete lamenteth the captiuitie of Sion. 4. He calleth to repentaunce. 8. He deſcribeth the power of God. 14. He exhorteth to good workes. 16. He deſcribeth the heauie day of the Lorde. 21. And reiecteth their feaſt dayes and ſacrifices.

1 HEare ye this worde which I lifte vp vpon you (euen) a lamentation "of the houſe of Iſraell.

"or, O ye houſe.

2 The virgin Iſraell is fallen, and ſhall no more ryſe, ſhe is lefte vpon hir land, and there is none to rayſe hir vp.

3 For thus ſayeth the Lorde God, The citie which went out by a thouſande, ſhall leaue an hundred, and that which went forth by an hundred, ſhal leaue ten, to the houſe of Iſrael.

4 For thus ſayth the Lorde vnto the houſe of Iſraell, Seeke ye me, and ye ſhall liue.

5 But ſeeke not Bethel, nor enter into Gilgal, and goe not to Beerſeba: for Gilgal ſhall goe into captiuitie, and Bethel ſhall come to nought.

6 Seeke the Lorde, and ye ſhall lyue, leaſt he breake out lyke a fyre in the houſe of Joſeph, and deuoure it, and there be none to quench it in Bethel.

7 They turne iudgement to Wormewoode and forſake righteouſneſſe in the earth. B

8 Hee maketh the ſeuen ſtarres and Orion, and he turneth (a) the ſhadowe of death into the morning, and he maketh the day darke as nyght: hee calleth the waters of the ſea, and poureth them out vpon the open earth, the Lorde is his name.

a. That is, thickeſt darkneſſe into the morning light.

9 He ſtrengtheneth the deſtroyer againſt the mightie, and the deſtroyer ſhall "come againſt the fortreſſe.

10 They hate hym that rebuketh (b) in the gate, and they abhorre hym that ſpeaketh vprightly.

b. That is, in open aſſemblies.

11 Forasmuche then as your treading is vpon the poore, and ye (c) take from him burdens of wheate: ye haue buylt houſes of hewen ſtone, but ye ſhall not dwell in them: ye haue planted pleaſant vineyardes, but ye ſhall not drinke wyne of them.

c. Ye take his money, alſo his food wherwith he ſhould liue.

12 For I knowe youre manyfolde "tranſgreſſions, and youre myghtie ſynnes: they afflict the iuſt, they take rewardes, and they oppreſſe the poore in the gate.

13 Therefore the wyſe ſhall keepe ſcilence in that tyme: for it is an euill tyme.

14 Seeke good, and not euil, that ye may liue: and ſo the Lord God of hoſtes ſhall be with you, as you haue ſpoken.

15 Hate the euill, and loue the good, and eſtabliſhe iudgement in the gate: it maye bee, that the Lorde God of hoſtes will be mercyfull vnto the remnant of Joſeph.

16 Therfore the Lorde GOD of hoſtes, the Lord ſayth thus, Mournyng ſhall be in all ſtreetes, and they ſhall ſaye in all the highe wayes, Alas, alas: and they ſhal cal the husbandman to lamentation, and ſuche as can mourne, "to mourning.

"or, that mourne.

17 And in al the vines shal be lamentation: for I wil passe through thee, sayth the lord.
18 Woe vnto you that desire the day of the Lord, what haue ye to do with it? the day of the Lorde is darkenesse, and not light.
19 As if a man dyd flee from a Lion, and a Beare meete him, and went into the house, and leaned his hande vnto the wal, and a serpent byte him.
20 Shal not the day of the Lorde be darkenesse, and not light? euen darkenesse, and no "light in it.
21 I hate, I abhorre your feast dayes, and I will not (d) smel in your solēne assemblies.
22 Though ye offer me burnt offerings, and meate offerings, I wyll not accepte them, neyther wyl I regarde the peace offeryng of your fatte beasts.
23 Take thou away frō me the multitude of thy songs, for I will not heare the melodie of thy violes.
24 And "let iudgement run downe as water, and righteousnesse as a mightie ryuer.
25 Haue ye offred vnto me sacrifices, and offerynges in the wildernesse fourtie yeeres, O house of Israel?
26 But ye haue borne (e) Siccuth your king, and Chiun your images, and the starre of your gods, whiche ye made to your selues.
27 Therefore wyll I cause you to goe into captiuitie beyonde Damascus, sayth the Lorde, whose name is the God of hostes.

"or, thyne.

d. That is, I wyll not delite in the smel of your incense.

"or, iudgemēt shall runne downe.

e. That idol which ye esteemed as your king, & caryed about as ye did Chiun: in the whiche images yee thought that there was a certayne diuinitie.

The.vi. Chapter.

1. He propheſieth againſt the princes of Iſrael lyuyng in pleaſures. 8. The Lorde ſweareth that he will bring to paſſe the things that are purpoſed againſt Iſrael.

A 1 WO to them that are at eaſe in Sion, and truſt in the mountaine of Samaria, whiche were famous at the beginnyng of the natiōs, and the houſe of Iſrael came to them.
2 Goe you vnto Chalneh, and ſee, and from thence goe you to Hemath the great, then goe downe to Gath of ỹ Philiſtines: be (a) they better than (b) theſe kingdomes? or the border of ỹ lande greater than your border?
3 Ye that put farre away the euill day, and "approche to the ſeate of iniquitie.
4 They lie vpon beds of Iuorie, and ſtretch themſelues vpon theyr couches, and eate the lambes out of the flocke, and the calues out of the ſtall.
5 They ſing to the ſounde of the viole, they inuent to themſelues inſtruments of muſicke, lyke Dauid.
6 They drinke wine in bowles, & annoynt themſelues with chiefe oyntments: but no man is ſory for the affliction of Joſeph.
7 Therefore nowe ſhall they goe captiue with the firſte that goe captiue, and "the sorow of them that ſtretched themſelues, is at hande.
8 The Lorde God hath ſworne by himſelfe, ſayth the Lorde God of hoſtes, I abhorre the "excellencie of Jacob, and hate his palaces, therefore wyll I deliuer vp the citie, with al that is therein.
9 And if there remayne tenne menne in one houſe, they ſhal die.
10 And his vncle ſhall take him vp, and burne hym, to carry out the bones out of the houſe, and ſhall ſay vnto him that is by the (c) ſides of the houſe, Is there yet any with thee? And he ſhall ſay, None. Then ſhal he ſay, Holde thy tongue: for we may not remember the name of the Lorde.
11 For beholde, the Lorde commaundeth, and he wil ſmite the great houſe with breaches, and the litle houſes with cleftes.
12 Shal horſes runne vpon the (d) rocke? Or will one plowe there with oxen? for ye haue turned iudgement into "gall, and the fruyte of righteouſnesse into wormewood.
13 Ye reioyce in a thyng of nought, yee ſay, Haue not we gotten vs hornes by our owne ſtrength?
14 But behold, I wyl rayſe vp againſt you a nation, O houſe of Iſrael, ſayth the Lorde God of hoſtes, and they ſhal afflict you from the entryng of (e) Hemath, vnto the ryuer of the wildernesse.

B "or, the ioy of them that ſtretched themſelues ſhal departe.

"or, magnificence, that is, the riches and pompe.

c. That is, to ſome neyghbour that dwelleth neare about.

d. He compareth them to barren rockes, wherevpon it is in vayne to beſtowe labor, ſhewyng that gods benefites can haue no place among them.

e. That is, frō one corner of the coūtrey vnto another. For Antioche, whiche is here called Hemath and the weſt ſea whiche is here ſignified by the riuer of the wildernes, are the vtter borders of the coūtrey of the tenne tribes. See. 4. Re. 14. f.

The. vij. Chapter.

1. God ſheweth certaine viſiōs, wherby he ſignifieth the deſtruction of the people of Iſrael. 10. The falſe accuſation of Amazia the prieſt. 17. His propheſie againſt Amazia, and of the captiuitie of the people.

1 THus hath the Lorde God ſhewed vnto me, & beholde, he fourmed graſhoppers in the beginning of the ſhowtyng vp of the latter growth, and loe, it was in the latter growth, after the (a) kings mowyng.
2 And when they had made an ende of eatyng the graſſe of the lande, then I ſayde, O Lorde God ſpare I beſeeche thee: who ſhall rayſe vp Jacob? for he is ſmal.
3 So the Lorde (b) repented for this: it ſhal not be, ſayth the Lorde.
4 Thus alſo hath the Lorde God ſhewed vnto me, and beholde, the Lorde God called to iudgement by fyre, and it deuoured the great deepe, and dyd eate vp "a part.
5 Then ſayde I, O Lord God, ceaſſe I beſeeche

a. After the publique commaundement for mowyng was gyuen, or as ſome reade, after the kings ſheepe were ſhorne.
b. That is, ſtayed this a plague at my prayer.

"or, ỹ poſſeſſiō, meanyng the whole fielde.

seeche thee: who shall rayse vp Jacob? for he is small.

6 So the Lorde repented for this, this also shall not be, sayth the Lorde God.

B 7 Thus agayne he shewed me, and beholde, the Lorde stode vpon a wall (made) by line, (c) with a line in his hande.

c. Signifying that this shuld be the laste measuryng of the people, and that he wolde deferre his iudgement no longer.

8 And the Lord sayde vnto me, Amos, what seest thou? And I sayde, A line. Then saide the Lorde, Beholde, I will set a line in the myddes of my people Israel, and wil passe by them no more.

9 And the hygh places of Isaac shal be desolate, and the "temples of Israel shal be destroyed, and I will ryse agaynst the house of Jeroboam with the swoorde.

"or, sanctuaries, or holy places.

10 Then Amazia the priest of Bethel, sent to Jeroboam kyng of Israel, saying, Amos hath conspired agaynst thee in the middes of the house of Israel, the lande is not able to beare all his woordes.

11 For thus Amos sayth, Jeroboam shall dye by the swoorde, and Israel shall be led away captiue out of theyr owne lande.

12 Also Amazia sayde to Amos, O thou the seear, Goe, flee thou away into the lande of Juda, and there eate thy bread, and prophesie there.

13 But prophesie no more at Bethel: for it is the kings chappel, and it is the kings court.

C 14 Then answeared Amos, and sayde to Amazia, I was no prophete, neyther was I a prophets sonne: but I was an heardman, and a gatherer of wilde figges.

15 And the Lorde toke me as I folowed the flocke, and the Lorde sayde vnto me, Goe, prophesie vnto my people Israel.

16 Nowe therefore, heare thou the woorde of the Lorde: Thou sayest, Prophesie not agaynst Israel, and speake nothing agaynst the house of Isaac.

17 Therfore thus sayth the Lorde, Thy wife shal be an harlot in the citie, and thy sonnes & thy daughters shall fall by the swoorde, & thy lande shal be diuided by line, and thou shalt die in a polluted land, and Israel shal surely goe into captiuitie, forth of his lande.

The.viij. Chapter.

1. By a vision of a basket of sommer fruyte, the ende of the kyngdome of Israel is shewed. 4. He speaketh agaynst the oppressours of the poore. 11. And prophesieth of the famine of the worde of God.

a. Which signified the ripenesse of theyr sinnes, and the readinesse of Gods iudgement.

1 THus hath the Lorde God shewed vnto me: & behold, a basket of sommer fruite.

2 And he sayde, Amos, what seest thou? And I sayde, A basket of (a) sommer fruite. Then sayde the Lorde vnto me, The ende is come vpon my people of Israel, I wyll passe by them no more.

3 And the songs of the temple shal be howlings in that day, sayth the Lorde God: many dead bodies shal be in euery place, they shall cast them forth with silence.

4 Heare this, O yee that swallowe vp the poore, that ye may make the needy of the land to fayle,

5 Saying, When will the newe moneth be gone, that we may sell corne? and the sabboth, that we may set forth wheate, and make the (b) Epha small, and the sicle great, and falsifie the weightes by deceyt?

b. That by measure shal and the pry great.

6 That we may buye the poore for siluer, and the needie for shoes, yea, and sell the refuse of the wheate?

7 The Lorde hath swoorne by the excellencie of Jacob, surely I will neuer forget any of theyr workes.

8 Shall not the lande tremble for this, and euery one mourne that dwelleth therin? And it shal ryse vp wholly as a floudde, & it shal be cast out and (c) drowned, as by the floudde of Egypt.

c. That the inhabitant the land shal be drowned Nilus drowneth many, when it ouerfloweth.

9 And in that day, sayth the Lorde God, I wyll euen cause the (d) sunne to goe downe at noone, and I wyll darken the earth in the cleare day.

d. In the midst of their prosperitie, I will sende great affliction.

10 And I wil turne your feasts into mourning, and al your songs into lamentation: and I will bring sackcloth vpon all loynes, and baldnesse vpon euery head, and I wyll make it as the mourning of an only sonne, and the ende therof as a bitter day.

11 Beholde, the dayes come, sayth the Lorde God, that I wyll sende a famine in the land, not a famine of bread, nor thirste for water, but of hearyng the woorde of the Lord.

12 And they shall wander from sea to sea, and from the north, euen vnto the east, shall they runne to and fro to seeke the woorde of the Lorde, and shall not finde it.

e. For the idolaters dyd vse to sweare by their idol which here he calleth theyr sinne.

13 In that day shal the fayre virgins, and the yong men perysh for thirst.

14 They that sweare by the (e) sinne of Samaria, and that say, Thy God, O Dan, liueth, and the (f) manner of Beersheba liueth, euen they shal fal, and neuer ryse vp agayne.

f. That is, the common maner of worshypping, and the seruice or religiō there vsed.

The.ix. Chapter.

1. Threatnings agaynst the temple. 5. The subuersion of the people. 11. The restoring of the Churche is promised.

a. Whiche was at Hierusalem.

1 I Saw the Lord standyng vpon the aulter, and he sayde, Smite the lintel of the dore, that the postes may shake, & "cut them in

"or, wounde them in the head, euen al.

in peeces, euen the (b) heads of them all, and I will slay the last of them with the swoꝛd: he that fleeth of them, shall not flee awaye, & he that escapeth of the, shall not be deliuered.

2 Thoughe they digge into (c) hell, thence shall my hande take them: thoughe they climbe vp to heauen, thence will I bryng them downe.

3 And thoughe they hyde themselues in the toppe of Charmell, I wyl searche, and take them out thence: and though they be hidde from my syghte in the bottome of the sea, thence will I commaunde (d) the serpente, and he shall byte them.

4 And thoughe they goe into captiuitie beꝛoꝛe their enimies, thence will I cõmaunde the swoꝛde, and it shall slaye them: and I will set mine eyes vpon them foꝛ euill, and not foꝛ good.

5 And the Loꝛde God of hostes shall touche the lande, and it shall melte awaye: and all that dwell therein shall mourne, and it shall ryse whole lyke a flood, and shall be dꝛowned as by the flood of Egypt.

6 He buyldeth his "spheres in the heauen, and hath layde the foundation of his globe of elements on the earth: he calleth the waters of the sea, and poureth them out vppon the open earth, the Loꝛde is his name.

7 Are ye not as the Ethiopians (e) vnto me, O chyldren of Israell sayeth the Loꝛd? Haue not I bꝛought vp Israell out of the lande of Egypt? and the Philistines from Cappadocia? and the Syrians from Cyrene?

8 Beholde, the eyes of the Loꝛde God are vpon the sinfull kingdome, and I will destroye it cleane out of the earth: neuertheless, I will not vtterly destroy the house of Iacob, sayth the Loꝛde.

9 Foꝛ loe, I will commaunde, and I will syfte the house of Israell among al nations, lyke as corne is sifted in a sue: yet shall not the (f) least stone fall vpon the earth.

10 But all the sinners of my people shall dye by the swoꝛde, which say, The euill shal not come, noꝛ hasten foꝛ vs.

11 In that daye will I rayse vp the tabernacle of Dauid that is fallen downe, and close vp the breaches thereof, and I wyll rayse vp his ruines, and I will buylde it, as in the dayes of olde:

12 That they maye possesse the remnaunt of Edom, and of all the Heathen, "bycause my name is called vpon them, sayeth the Loꝛde that doth this.

13 Beholde, the dayes come, sayeth the Loꝛde, that the plowman shal (g) touch the mower, and the treader of grapes hym that soweth seede, and the mountaynes shall (h) dꝛoppe swerte wine, and all the hilles shall melte.

14 And I wyll bring againe the captiuitie of my people of Israell, and they shal buyld the wall cities, and inhabite them: and they shall plante vineyardes, and dꝛinke the wine thereof: they shall also make gardens, and eate the fruites of them.

15 And I will plante them vpon their lande, and they shall no moꝛe be pulled vp againe, out of their lande which I haue giuen them, sayth the Loꝛde God.

b: Both the chief of them, & also the cõmon people.
c. That is, vnto the centre or middes of the earth.
d. That is, the whale, or some other huge beast of the sea.
"or, ascentes. or degrees.
e. That is, am I more bound vnto you, than the Ethiopians, or blacke Moores? yet haue I bestowed vpon you greater benefites.
f. Meanyng that none of his should perishe in his wrath.
"or, vpon whō my name is called.
g. Signifyng that there shal be great plentie of al things that when one kinde of fruite is ripe, another should folow, and euery one in course. Leuit. 26.

¶ The booke of the Prophet Abdias.

Agaynst Edom, and the trust that they had in richesse.

1 THe visiõ of Abdi, thus sayth the Loꝛde God agaynste Edom. We haue heaꝛde a rumoꝛ from the Loꝛde, and an Imbassadour is sente among the Heathen: aryse, and let vs ryse vp agaynst hir to battayle.

2 Beholde, I haue made thee small among the heathen, thou art vtterly despised.

3 The pryde of thyne heaꝛte hathe deceyued thee, thou that dwellest in the clyftes of the rockes, whose habitation (is) hyghe, that sayeth in his heaꝛte, Who shall bryng mee downe to the grounde?

4 Yea though thou exalt thy selfe as the Egle, and make thy nestе among the starres, thence will I bryng thee downe sayeth the Loꝛde.

5 Came theeues to thee, oꝛ robbers by night? howe waste thou bꝛoughte to silence? would they not haue stollen tyll they had ynoughe? If the Grape gatheꝛers came to thee, would they not leaue (some) grapes?

6 Howe are the things of Esau soughte vp, (and) his treasures searched?

7 All the men of thy confederacie haue dꝛiuen thee to the boꝛders, the men that were at peace at peace with thee haue deceyued thee, and preuayled agaynſt thee (they that eate) thy bread haue layde a wounde vnder thee, there is none vnderſtanding in hym.

8 Shall not I in that day ſayth the lord, euen deſtroy the wyſe men out of Edom, and vnderſtanding from the mount of Eſau?

9 And thy ſtrong men, O Theman, ſhal be afrayde: becauſe euery one of the mount of Eſau ſhall be cut off by ſlaughter.

10 For thy crueltie agaynſte thy brother Iacob, ſhame ſhall couer thee, and thou ſhalte be cut off for euer.

11 When thou ſtoodeſt on the other ſyde, in the daye that the ſtraungers caried away his ſubſtance, and ſtrangers entred into his gates, and caſt lottes vppon Hieruſalem, euen thou waſt as one of them.

12 But thou ſhouldeſt not haue beholden the daye of thy brother, in the daye that he was made a ſtranger, neither ſhouldeſt thou haue reioyced ouer the children of Iuda in the daye of their deſtruction, thou ſhouldeſt not haue ſpoken proudly in the day of affliction.

13 Thou ſhouldeſt not haue entred into the gate of my people, in the day of their deſtruction, neither ſhouldeſt thou haue once loked on their affliction in the day of their deſtruction, nor haue layde handes on their ſubſtance in the day of their deſtruction:

14 Neyther ſhouldeſt thou haue ſtande in the crosſeways to cut off them that ſhoulde eſcape, neyther ſhouldeſt thou haue ſhut vp the remnant therof in the day of affliction.

15 For the day of the Lorde is neare vpon all the heathen: as thou haſt done, it ſhalbe done to thee, thy rewarde ſhall returne vpon thine heade.

16 For as ye haue (a) dunke vppon myne holy mountayne, ſo ſhall all the heathen drinke continually: yea they ſhall drink and ſwallowe vp, and they ſhall be as though they (b) had not bin.

17 But vpon mount Sion ſhall be deliuerance, and it ſhall be holy, and the houſe of Iacob ſhall poſſeſſe their poſſeſſions.

18 And the houſe of Iacob ſhall be a fyre, and the houſe of Ioſeph a flambe, and the houſe of Eſau as ſtubble, and they ſhall kindle in them, and deuoure them, and there ſhall be no remnaunt of the houſe of Eſau: for the Lorde hath ſpoken it.

19 And they ſhal poſſeſſe the ſouth ſyde of the mount of Eſau, and the plaine of the Philiſtines, and they ſhall poſſeſſe the fieldes of Ephraim, and the fieldes of Samaria, and Beniamin (ſhal haue) Gilead.

20 And the captiuitie of his hoſte of the children of Iſraell, whiche were among the Chenanites (ſhal poſſeſſe) vnto Zarephath, and the captiuitie of Hieruſalem, whiche is in Sepharad, ſhall poſſeſſe the cities of the Southe.

21 And they that ſhall (c) ſaue, ſhall come vp to mount Sion to iudge the mount of Eſau and the kingdome ſhall be the Lordes.

a. That is, reioyced and triumphed.

b. That is, the lengthe they ſhall vterly periſhe.

c. Meanyng that God wil rayſe vp in Church ſuch as ſhall rule, gouerne, ſtand the defence of the ſame, and deſtruction his enimies vnder Meſſias.

3. Ionas fled when he was ſent to preache. 4. A tempeſt aryſeth, and he is caſt into the ſea for his diſobedience.

1 The woorde of the Lorde came vnto (a) Ionas the ſonne of Amitai, ſaying,

2 Aryſe, & goe to (b) Minive, that greate citie and crye agaynſt it: for their wickednelle is come vp before me.

3 And Ionas roſe vp to flee into Tharſis from the preſence of the Lorde, and wente downe to (c) Joppa, and founde a ſhip goeing to (d) Tharſis: ſo he payd his fare, and wente downe into it, that he might goe with them vnto Tharſis, from the (e) preſence of the Lorde.

4 But the Lorde ſent out a great winde into the ſea, and there was a mightie tempeſt in the ſea, ſo that the ſhip was in danger of ſplitting in ſunder.

5 Then the mariners were afrayd, and cryed euery man vnto his God, and caſt the wares that were in the ſhip into the ſea, to lyghten it of them: but Ionas was gone downe into the ſydes of the ſhippe, and he lay downe ſleeping.

a. He propheſied vnder Ieroboam the ſecõd. 2. Re. 14

b. It was the greateſt citie of the Aſſyrians, ſituate by the riuer Lycus, as Strabo writeth, hauing in number a hundred & fifty toures.

c. It is a hauen town in which Peter lodged. Actes. 10.

d. It is the name of a place lykely to be in Cilicia, for there was a great citie of that name, where Paule was alſo borne.

e. As the Lorde which minded to the lorde, ſaide to ſtande before him: they which forſake his commãdemẽt, ſaid to flee before his preſence.

6 And the shyp mayster came to hym, and sayde, What meanest thou sleeper? Up, and call vpon thy God, if so be that God wyll thinke vnto vs, that we perishe not.

B 7 And they sayde euery one to his felowe, come let vs cast (f) lottes: that we may know for whose cause this euyll is on vs. And they cast lottes: and the lot fel on Ionas.

8 Then sayde they vnto hym, Tell vs, for whose cause is this euyll come vppon vs? what is thyne occupation? whence camest thou? what countrey man art thou, and of what nation?

9 And he answeared them, I am an Hebrue, and I feare the Lord God of heauen, which hath made the sea, and the dry lande.

10 Then were the men exceedyngly afrayde, and sayde vnto hym, Why hast thou done this? (for the men knewe that he fledde from the presence of the Lorde, because he had told them.)

11 And they sayd vnto him, What shal we do vnto thee, that the sea may be calme vnto vs? For the sea wrought, and was troublous.

12 And he sayde vnto them, Take me, and cast me into the sea, and the sea shal be calme vnto you: for I know that for my sake this great tempest is vpon you.

13 Neuertheles, the men assayed with rowing to bryng the shyp to land, but they could not, because the sea wrought, and was troublous agaynst them.

C 14 Wherefore, they cryed vnto the Lorde, and sayde, We beseeche thee, O Lord, we beseeche thee, let not vs perish for this mans lyfe, and lay not to our charge innocent bloud: for thou, O Lorde, hast done as it pleased thee.

15 So they toke vp Ionas, and cast hym into the sea, and the sea left ragyng.

16 And the men feared the Lorde exceedyngly, and offered a sacrifice vnto the Lorde, and made (g) vowes.

17 And the Lorde prepared a greate fishe to swalow vp Ionas: & Ionas was in the belly of the fishe three dayes and three nightes.

The. ij. Chapter.

1. Ionas is in the fishes belly. 3. His prayer. 11. He is deliuered.

1 AND Ionas prayed vnto the Lorde hys God out of the (a) fishes belly,

2 And sayde, In affliction I cried vnto the Lorde, and he heard me: out of the belly of hel cryed I, and thou heardest my voyce.

3 Thou hadst cast me downe into the deepe, into the middest of the sea, and the floudes compassed me about: all thy billowes and waues passed ouer me.

4 And I sayde, I am cast away out of thy sight, yet wyll I loke agayne toward thyne holy temple.

5 The waters compassed me euen vnto the soule, the deapth closed me on euery side, and the weedes were wrapt about my head.

6 I went downe to the bottome of the mountaynes, the earth with hyr barres was about me for euer: yet hast thou brought vp my lyfe from corruption, O Lorde my God.

7 When my soule fainted within me, I remembred the Lorde, and my prayer came in vnto thee into thy holy temple.

8 They that hold vpon (b) lying vanitie, forsake his mercy.

9 But I wyll sacrifice vnto thee, with the voyce of thankesgeuyng, and will pay that that I haue vowed: for saluation is of the Lorde.

10 And the Lorde spake vnto the fishe, and it cast out Ionas vpon the (c) dry lande.

The. iij. Chapter.

2. Ionas is sent agayne to Niniue. 5. The repentance of the kyng of Niniue.

1 AND the worde of the Lorde came vnto Ionas the second tyme, saying,

2 Aryse, and goe to Niniue that great citie, and preache agaynst it the preachyng whiche I speake vnto thee.

3 So Ionas arose, and went to Niniue, according to the worde of the Lord. (Niniue was a greate citie and (a) excellent, of three dayes iourney.)

4 And Ionas began to enter into the citie a dayes iourney, and he cryed, and sayde, Yet fourtie dayes, and Niniue shal be destroyed.

5 And the men of Niniue beleeued God, & proclaymed a fast, and put on sackcloth, from the greatest of them, to the least of them.

6 And word came vnto the king of Niniue: whiche arose from his throne, and put off hys robe, and couered himselfe with sackclothe, and sate downe in ashes.

7 And he caused a crier to crye, & say through the citie, by the counsell of the kyng and his nobles, Let neyther man nor beast, bullocke nor sheepe, taste aught at all, neyther feede, nor drynke water.

B 8 And let both man and beaste put on sackcloth, and crie mightily vnto God: yea let euery man turne from his euyll way, and frō the wickednesse that is in hys handes.

9 Who can tel whether God wil turne, and be moued with (b) repentāce, and turne from his fierce wrath, that we perishe not?

Ttt.

g. To serue the Lorde, and cal vpon him, as Dauid often-times in the Psalmes maketh mention, none other vowes.

a. He afterward calleth it hel, and the worde is taken often for the graue, beyng come to hym self, he in great affliction called vpon the Lord.

b. Al that is lying vanitie that a man inuenteth of him self to trust in.

c. Iosephus in the ninth booke of antiquities sayth, he was cast out on the shore of the sea Euxinū, whiche is not farre frō Asia.

a. In the Hebrue it is a great citie to God: but so the Hebrues call great & excellent things. So the hyl of God, the Cedar of God, for a great hyl and high Cedar.

b. God is sayd to repent whē he doth those things that mē do repenting.

c. Of the euil, that is, of the plague whiche is euil to our ſelfe, although not in his own nature.

10 And God ſaw their worꝛkes, that they turned from theyꝛ euill wayes, and he repented of the (c) euill that he ſayde he would do vnto them, and did it not.

The.iiij. Chapter.

The great goodneſſe of God towarde his creatures.

1 BUt this diſpleaſed Jonas greatly, and he was (a) angrie (within himſelfe.)

a. Bycauſe hereby he ſhould be take as a falſe prophete, & ſo the name of God which he preached, ſhoulde be blaſphemed.

2 And he prayed vnto the Lord, and ſayde, I pꝛay thee, O Lorde, was not this my ſaying when I was yet in my countrey? therefoꝛe I haſted to flee into Tharſis: foꝛ I knewe that thou art a gratious God, and mercyful, long ſufferyng, and of great kindneſſe, and repenteſt thee of euyll.

3 And now, O Lord, take I beſeche thee my lyfe from me: foꝛ it is better foꝛ me to dye, than to lyue.

4 Then ſayde the Lorde, Doeſt thou well to be angrie?

5 And Jonas went out of the citie, and ſate him downe on the Eaſt ſide therof, and there made hym a boothe, and ſate vnder it in the ſhadowe, till he might ſee what ſhoulde be done in the citie.

6 And the Lorde God pꝛepared a gourde, and made it ſpꝛyng vp ouer Jonas, that it might be a ſhadowe ouer hys head, to deliuer hym from his griefe: So Jonas was exceedyng glad of the gourde.

7 But God pꝛepared a woꝛme, when the B moꝛnyng roſe the next day, whiche ſmote the gourde, that it withered.

8 And when the ſunne roſe, God pꝛepared a feruent Eaſt wynde, and the ſunne beate vpon the head of Jonas that he faynted: and wyſhed vnto hys ſoule, that he myght dye, and ſayde, It is better foꝛ me to dye, than to liue.

9 And the Lorde ſayde vnto Jonas: Doeſt thou well to be ſo angry within thy ſelfe foꝛ the gourde? And he ſayde, I do well to be angry euen vnto death.

10 Then ſayde the Lorde, Thou haſte had cõpaſſion on the gourde, about the whiche thou beſtowedſt no labour, neyther madeſt it growe, whiche came vp in a night, and periſhed in a nyght:

11 And ſhall not I ſpare Niniue that greate citie, in the whiche are moꝛe than ſixſcoꝛe thouſande perſons that knowe not theyꝛ ryghthande and theyꝛ left, and alſo muche cattayle?

Of the deſtruction of Samaria bycauſe of their idolatrie.

1 THe woꝛde of the Lorde came vnto Micheas the Moꝛaſthite, in the dayes of Jotham, Ahas, and Hezekiah, kings of Juda, whiche he ſawe concernyng Samaria and Hieruſalem.

4. Reg. 15. a
2. Par. 27. a.
3. Reg. 16. a.
4. Reg. 18. a

2 Heare all ye people, marke this well, O earth, and all that therein is, yea let the Lord God himſelf be witneſſe againſt you, (euen) the Lorde from his holy temple.

3 Foꝛ beholde, the Lorde ſhall come out of his holy place, and come downe, and treade vpon the high things of the earth.

4 The mountaynes ſhall melt vnder hym, and the valleys ſhall cleaue aſunder, lyke as waxe (melteth) before the fire, and as the waters runne downewarde.

5 And all this ſhal be foꝛ the wickedneſſe of Jacob, and the ſinnes of the houſe of Iſrael: but what is the wickedneſſe of Jacob? is not (a) Samaria? Whiche are the hygh places of Juda? Is not Hieruſalem?

a. Samaria and Hieruſalẽ were the chief cities of the two kyngdomes: Idolatrie vſed in the, ſheweth a general corruptiõ thorow all.

6 Therefoꝛe, wyll I make Samaria an heape of the fielde (meete) foꝛ the plantyng of a vineyarde: hyꝛ ſtones wyll I tumble downe into the valley, and diſcouer hyꝛ fundations.

7 All hyꝛ images ſhal be broken downe, and al hyꝛ garments ſhal be brent in the fyre: yea al hir idols wil I deſtroy: foꝛ they are gathered out of the hyre of an (b) harlot, and into an harlots hyre ſhal they be turned againe. B

b. Euil gotten euil ſpent.

8 Wherefoꝛe I will mourne and make lamentation, mentation, bare and naked will I goe: I will mourne lyke the Dragons, and take sorowe as the Estriches.

9 For their wound is past remedie, it is come into Juda, and hath touched the gate of my people at Hierusalem alreadie.

10 Declare it not at Gath, neyther weepe ye: for the house of Aphra roll thy selfe in the dust.

11 Thou that dwellest at Saphir get thee hence naked with shame: she that dwelleth at (c) Zaanan, shall not come forthe in the mourning of Bethezell: (the enimie) shall receyue of you for his (d) standing.

12 For the inhabitauntes of Maroth wayled for good, but the plague shall come from the Lorde, euen vnto the gates of Hierusalem.

13 O thou (e) inhabitant of Lachis, bynd the charet to the swiftest (f) beaste, she is the beginning of the sinne of the daughter of Sion: for the transgressions of Israell were founde in thee.

14 Therefore shalte thou bryng presentes to (g) Morestheth Gath: the houses of Achzib, (shall be) as a lye to the kings of Israell.

15 And as for thee, O thou that dwellest at Maresa, I shall bryng a possessioner vpon thee, he shall come to Adullam, the glorie of Israell.

16 Make thee balde, (h) and shaue thee, because of thy tender children: make thee cleane balde as an Egle, for they shall be caryed away captiue from thee.

The. ij. Chapter.

1. Threatninges against the sinnefull people.
6. They woulde teache the Prophetes too preache.

1 WO vnto them that imagine iniquitie, & worke wickednesse vppon their beds: when the morning is light, they practise it, because their hande hath power.

2 And they couet fields, and take them by violence, and houses, and take them away: so they oppresse a manne and his house (euen) man and his heritage.

3 Therfore thus sayth the Lorde, Beholde, agaynst this housholde haue I deuised a plague, wherout ye shall not plucke your neckes: ye shall no more go so proudly, for it will be a perillous tyme.

4 In that day shall this parable bee vsed, and a mourning shall be made ouer you on this maner: We be vtterly desolate, the portiō of my people is translated: how will he part vnto vs the land that he hath taken from vs?

5 Therfore there shal be no man to diuide thee thy portion in the cōgregation of the Lord.

6 Ye shall not (a) prophecie (say they) to them that prophecie: (b) they shall not prophecie to them, neyther shall they take shame.

7 O thou that art named the house of Jacob, is the spirite of the Lorde shortened? are these his workes? are not my wordes good vnto him that walketh vpig tly?

8 But he that was yesterdaye my people, is risen vp on the other syde (as) agaynste an enimie: they spoyle the beautifull garment from them that passe by peaceably, as though they returned from the warre.

9 The women of my people haue yee shutte out from their pleasaunte houses, and taken awaye myne excellente gyftes from theyr children.

10 Vp, get you hence, for here shall yee haue no rest: bycause (the land) is defiled, it shall destroy (you) with vtter destruction.

11 If a man (c) walke in the spirit, and wold lye fally, (saying) I will prophecie to thee of (d) wine and strong drynke: that were a prophete for this people.

12 I will surely gather thee wholly, O Jacob, (e) I will surely gather the remnant of Israell, I wyll put them together as the (f) sheepe of Bozra, as the flocke in the middest of their folde, they shall make great noyse by reason of the (multitude of) men.

13 The (g) breaker shall come vp before them, they shall breake oute, and passe by the gate, and goe out by it: and their kyng (h) shal go before them: and the Lorde shall be vppon their (i) heades.

The. iij. Chapter.

Against the tyrannie of false prophetes.

1 AND I sayd, heare I pray you, O heads of Jacob, and ye princes of the house of Israel, should not ye knowe iudgement?

2 (But) they hate the good, and loue the euill, they plucke off their skinnes from them, and their flesche from their bones.

3 And they eate also the flesche of my people, and flaye off theyr skinne from them: and they breake their bones, and choppe them in peeces as for the potte, and as flesche within the cauldron.

4 Then shall they crye vnto the Lorde, but he will not heare them: hee will euen hyde his face from them at that time, bicause they haue done wickedly in their workes.

5 Thus sayth the Lord concerning the Prophetes that deceyue my people, (a) and byte them with their teeth, and crye peace: but if a mā put not into their mouthes, they prepare warre against him.

6 Therefore (b) nighte (shal be) vnto you for a vision, and darkenesse (shall be) vnto you for a diuination: and the sunne shall go downe ouer the Prophetes, and the daye shall bee darke ouer them.

B 7 Then shall the seers bee ashamed, and the sothsayers confounded: yea, (c) they shal all couer their lippes, for they haue none answere of God.

c. They shall couer their faces for shame.

8 Yet notwithstanding, I am full of power by the spirite of the Lorde, and of iudgemẽt, and of strengthe, to declare vnto Jacob his transgression, and to Israel his sinne.

9 Heare thys I praye you, ye heades of the house of Jacob, and Princes of the house of Israel: they abhorre iudgemente, and peruert all equitie.

d. They fortifie and garnish their citie with goods wrongfully gotten, which here are called bloud and iniquitie.

10 (d) They buyld vp Syon with bloud, and Hierusalem with iniquitie.

11 (The heades thereof iudge for rewardes, and the Priestes thereof teache for hyre, and the Prophetes thereof prophecie for money: yet will they leane vpon the Lord, and saye, Is not the Lorde among vs? no euill can come vpon vs.)

12 Therfore shall Sion for your sake be plowed (as) a fielde, and Hierusalem shal be an heape, and the mountayne of the house, as the hygh places of the forest.

The .iiij. Chapter.

The calling of the Gentiles, and conuersion of the Iewes.

A 1 BVt in the (a) latter dayes it will come to passe, that the hil of the Lords house shall be prepared in the toppe of the mountaynes, and shall be sette vp hygher than any mountaynes or hilles, and people shall preasse vnto it.

a. Whē Christ shall come.

2 Yea, the multitude of the Gentiles shall hast them thyther, saying, Come, let vs go vp to the hill of the Lorde, and to the house of the God of Jacob, and he shall teache vs his wayes, and we will walke in his pathes: for the lawe shall come oute of Sion, and the worde of God from Hierusalem.

3 And he shal iudge many people, and rebuke mightye nations of farre countreys: so that of their swordes they shall make ploughshares, and sythes of their speares: one people shal not lift vp a sword against another, yea they shall no more learne to fight.

4 But euery man shall sitte vnder his vineyarde, and vnder his fyg tree, and no man shall make them afrayde: for the mouthe of the Lorde of hostes hath spoken it.

5 Therfore all people will walke euery man in the name of his God: & we wil walk in ỹ name of our Lord God for euer and euer.

6 At the same tyme sayth the Lorde, wyll I gather vp the lame and the outcast, and suche as I haue chastened,

7 And will giue a remnaunt vnto the lame, and make of the outcaste a myghtie people: B and the Lorde himselfe shall bee their kyng vpon the mount Sion, from this tyme forth for euermore.

8 And vnto thee, O thou towre of the flocke, thou strong holde of the daughter Sion, vnto thee shall it come, euen the lordeship and kingdome to the daughter Hierusalem.

9 Why then doest thou crye and lament? is there no king in thee? are thy counsellours perished, that thou art so payned as a womā in hir trauayle?

10 And now, O thou daughter Sion, sorow & lamente as a woman in hir trauayle: for now must thou get thee out of the citie, and dwell vpon the playne field: yea vnto Babylon shalt thou go, (but) there shalt thou be deliuered, and there the Lord shall redeeme thee from the hande of thyne enimies.

11 Nowe also there bee manie people gathered together agaynste thee, saying, Syon shall be condemned, and our eye shall loke vpon Syon.

12 But they knowe not the thoughtes of the Lorde, they vnderstande not his counsell: for he shal gather them together as the sheaues in the barne.

13 Therefore get thee vp, O thou daughter Sion, and threasshe out the corne: for I wil make thy horne iron, & thy houes brasse, that thou mayst breake in peeces manie people: their goodes shalte thou consecrate vnto the Lorde, and their substaunce vnto the ruler of the whole worlde.

The .v. Chapter.

Of the destruction of Hierusalem.

1 NOw shalt thou be robbed thy selfe, O I thou robbers daughter: they shall lay siege against vs, and smyte the iudge of Israel with a rodde vpon the cheeke.

2 And thou Bethlehem Ephrata art little amōg the thousands of Juda, out of thee shal he come forth vnto me, which shalbe the gouernour in Israel, whose outgoing hath bin from the beginning, & from euerlasting.

3 Therefore will I giue them vp for a season, vntill the tyme that shee whiche shall beare, haue borne: then shall the remnant of his brethren bee conuerted vnto the children of Israel.

4 He shall stande fast, and giue foode in the strengthe of the Lorde, and in the maiestie of the name of the Lorde hys GOD: and when when they be conuerted, he shal be magnified vnto the farthest partes of the worlde.

5 And he shal be our peace: when the Assyrians shall come into our lande, when he shall treade in our palaces, then shall we rayse against hym seuen shepheardes, & eight pryncipal men.

6 These shall subdue the land of Assur with the swoorde, & the land of Nimrod with their naked weapons: Thus shall he deliuer vs from the Assyrian, when he commeth within our lande, and setteth hys foote within our borders.

B 7 And the remnant of Jacob shal be among the multitude of people, as the deawe of the Lorde, & as the droppes vpon the grasse, that tarieth for no man, and wayteth on no body.

8 Yea the residue of Jacob shall be among the Gentiles, and the multitude of people, as the Lion among the beasts of the wood, and as the Lions whelpe among the flockes of sheepe: whiche when he goeth through, treadeth downe, teareth in peeces, and there is no man that can deliuer.

9 Thyne hande shal be lift vp vpon thyne enimies, and al thyne aduersaries shal perish.

10 And it shal come to passe in that day, sayth the Lorde, that I will take thine horses from thee, and destroy thy chariets.

11 I will breake downe the cities of thy land, and ouerthrowe all thy strong holdes.

12 All witchcraftes wyll I rote out of thyne hand, there shall no mo sothsayings be within thee.

13 Thine idols and thine images will I destroy out of thee, so that thou shalt no more bowe thy self vnto the workes of thine owne handes.

C 14 Thy groues wil I plucke vp by the rootes, and breake downe thy cities.

15 And I will execute a vengeance in my wrath and indignation vpon the Heathen, suche as they haue not hearde.

The.vi. Chapter.

1. An exhortation to heare the iudgement against Israel beyng vnkinde. 8. What maner of sacrifices do please God.

A 1 HEarken ye nowe what the Lorde sayth, Arise thou, and contende with the mountaynes, and let the hilles heare thy voyce.

2 Heare, O ye mountaines the Lords quarrell, and ye mightie fundations of the earth: for the Lorde hath a quarrel against his people, and wyll pleade with Israel.

3 O my people what haue I done vnto thee? or wherein haue I greeued thee? geue me answeare.

4 For I brought thee out of the lande of Egypt, and deliuered thee out of the house of bondage, and I made Moses, Aaron, and Miriam to leade thee.

5 Remember, O my people, what Balach the kyng of Moab had diuised against thee, and what answeare that Balaam the sonne of Beor gaue hym, from Sethim vnto Galgal, that ye may know the righteousnesse of the Lorde.

6 Wherewith shall I come before the Lorde, and bowe mee selfe to the hygh God? Shall I come before hym with burnt offerynges, and with calues of a yeare olde?

7 Hath the Lorde a pleasure in many thousands of Rammes, or innumerable streames of oyle? shal I giue my first borne for mine offences, and the fruyte of my body for the sinne of my soule?

B 8 He hath shewed thee, O mā, what is good, and what the Lord requireth of thee: (namely) to do iustly, to loue mercy, and to humble thy selfe to walke with thy God.

9 The Lordes voyce cryeth vnto the citie, and the man that shall be saued, considereth thy name: hearken what is your rodde, and heare hym that warneth you.

10 Are not yet the treasures of wickednesse in the house of the wicked, and the scant measure which is abominable?

11 Should I iustifie the false balances, and the bagge of deceitfull weights?

12 For the riche men therof are ful of cruelties, & the inhabitants therof haue spoken lyes, and haue deceytfull tongues in their mouthes.

13 Therefore I wyll take in hande to punishe thee, and to make thee desolate, by cause of thy sinnes.

14 Thou shalt eate, and not haue ynough: C yea, thou shalt bryng thy selfe downe in the middes of thee, thou shalt flee, but not escape, and those that thou wouldest saue, wil I deliuer to the swoorde.

15 Thou shalt sowe, but not reape, thou shalt presse out Olines, but oyle shalte thou not haue to annoynt thy selfe withall: thou shalt treade out sweete must, but shalt drynke no wine.

16 Ye keepe the ordinances of Amri, & all the customes of the house of Ahab, ye walke in theyr counsels: therefore will I make thee waste, & cause thy inhabiters to be hissed at, & ye shal beare the reproche of my people.

The.vij. Chapter.

1. A complaint of the litle number of the righteous. 5. Against the truth ought wee not to holde with our greatest friendes. 14. The prosperitie of the Churche.

I 1 WOe is me, I am become as one that goeth a gleanyng in the harueſt: there are no mo grapes to eate, yet wouide I fayne with all my hart haue of the beſt fruyte.

Rom.3.d. 2 There is not a godly vpon earth, there is not one righteous among men: they al lie in wayte for bloud, and euery man hunteth hys brother to death.

a. Both the prince & iudges for gayne peruert iuſtice: and ſo the mightie & the riche eſcape vnpuniſhed, though they commit greeuous crymes.

3 Yet they ſay they dw well, when they dw euill: the prince(a) aſketh, and the iudge(iudgeth) for a reward, therefore the great man ſpeaketh out of the corruption of hys ſoule, and ſo they wrap it vp.

4 The beſt of them is as brier, and the moſte righteous of them is (ſharper) than a thorne hedge: the day of thy watchmen, (and) of thy viſitation cōmeth: then ſhal be their cōfuſiō.

Ieremi.9.a. 5 Let no man beleeue his friende, nor put his confidence in hys brother: keepe the dore of thy mouth from hyr that lieth in thy boſome.

Deut.13.b. and 33.b. Pſalm.37.b. and.54.b. 6 For the ſonne diſhonoureth hys father, the daughter ryſeth agaynſte hyr mother, the daughter in law againſt hyr mother in law: and a mans foes are euen they of his owne houſholde.

B 7 Neuertheleſſe, I wyll looke vp vnto the Lorde, I will patiently abyde God my ſauiour: my God ſhal heare me.

Prou.17.a. 8 O thou enimie of myne, reioyce not at my fall, for I ſhall ryſe agayne: and thoughe I ſit in darkeneſſe, yet the Lorde is my light.

9 I will beare the wrath of the Lorde, for I haue offended him, till he ſitte in iudgment vpon my cauſe, and ſee that I haue right: then will he bryng me forth to the light, and I ſhall ſee hys righteouſneſſe.

10 She that is mine enimie, ſhall looke vpon it, and be confounded, whiche nowe ſayth, 4.Reg.19.a Where is the Lorde thy God? myne eyes ſhall beholde hir, when ſhe ſhal be troden downe as the myre in the ſtreetes.

11 This is the day that thy walles ſhall be buylte, this day ſhall dryue farre away the(b) decree. Amos.9.a. b. Thou ſhalt no more be ſubiect to forraine tyrannie of the Babylonians

12 And at that tyme ſhall they come vnto thee from Aſſur, from the ſtrong cities, and from the ſtrong holdes, euen vnto the riuer: from the one ſea to the other, and frō mountayne to mountayne.

13 Notwithſtandyng, the lande muſt be waſted, becauſe of them that dwell therein, and for the fruytes of theyr owne imaginations.

C 14 Therefore feede thy people with thy rod, the flocke of thyne heritage which dwell deſolate in the wood, that they may be fed vpon the (c) mount of Carmel, Baſan, and Gilead, as aforetyme. c. That the people may returne out of the captiuitie of Babylō, & enioy the land of promiſe, th y did before re.

15 Marueylous thyngs wyll I ſhewe thee, lyke as when thou cameſt out of the lande of Egypt. Exod.

16 This ſhall the Heathen ſee, and be aſhamed for all theyr power: ſo that they ſhall lay their hande vpon theyr mouth, and ſtoppe their eares. Iob.39.

17 They ſhall licke the duſte lyke a Serpent, and as the wormes of the earth that tremble in theyr holes: they ſhal be afrayde of the lord our God, and they ſhall feare thee. Gen.3.

18 Who is luche a God as thou, that pardonest wickedneſſe, and forgiueſt the offences of the remnant of thine heritage? He keepeth not his wrath for euer: for hys delight is to haue compaſſion.

19 He ſhal turne agayne, and be mercyfull to vs, he ſhal put downe our wickednesſes, and caſt al our ſinnes into the bottome of the ſea. Ieremi.

20 Thou wilt perfourme to Jacob thy truth, and thy mercy to Abraham, lyke as thou haſt ſworne vnto our fathers in olde tyme.

The ende of the propheſie of Micheas.

Of the deſtruction of the Aſſyrians, and of the deliuerance of Iſrael.

a. The Niniuites were ſpared, bycauſe they repēted at the preachyng of Ionas: but afterwardes they returned to their former wickedneſſe, therefore God threatneth thē by this prophet.

1 THe burden of(a) Nineue: The booke of the viſion of Nahum the Elkoſhite.

2 God is ielous, and the Lord auengeth, the lord auengeth & hath wrath in ſtore: the Lorde auengeth vpon them that trouble hym, and he remembreth his enimies.

3 The Lorde is ſlowe to anger, and (alſo) of great power, and in no caſe wyll not acquite (the wicked,) the Lordes dealyng is with bluſteryng tempeſt and whirle winde, and the cloudes are the duſt of his feete.

4 He rebuketh the ſea, and dryeth it vp, all the the ryuers also he maketh drie: Basan and Carmel are destroyed, the spring also of Libanon is destroyed.

for him. 5 The mountaynes quake at his power, and the hilles are resolued: the earth also burneth at his countenance, the worlde and all that dwelleth therein.

6 Who can stand before his wrath? Or who can ryse vp before the anger of his countenance? his fiercenesse is powred out like fire, yea, ỳ rockes cleane in peeces at his myghte.

B 7 The Lord is gratious, a strong hold in the day of trouble, and knoweth them that trust in him.

8 But with an ouerrunning flood he wil destroy his place, and will pursue his enimies with darkenesse.

9 What imagine ye against the Lorde? He makes an vtter destruction: yee shall not bee troubled twice.

10 For whiles the thornes cleaue togeather, and whiles they banquet out their feastes, they are deuoured vp as very drie stubble.

11 There came out of thee such as thoughte euil against the Lorde, suche as gaue wicked counsell.

12 Thus sayeth the Lorde, Though ye be in concord, and also many, yet so shall ye be cut downe, and passe: and (though) I haue afflicted thee (O Hierusalem,) yet will I trouble thee no more.

13 And now I will breake off his yoke from (vpon) thee, and I will breake thy bonds in sunder.

C 14 The Lord also hath giuen a commaundement touching thee, that there shall bee no more ofspring of thy name: from the house of thy God I will cut off carued and molten image, I will make (it) thy graue, for thou art vile.

15 Behold vpon the mountaynes the feete of him that bringeth good tidings, that preacheth peace: Keepe thy festiual dayes O Iuda, pay thy vowes: for the wicked (tyrant) shall hereafter passe no more thorow thee, he is vtterly cut off.

The. ij. Chapter.

He describeth the victories of the Chaldeans, against the Assyrians.

A 1 The destroyer is come vp before thy face, keepe thy fort, see to thy way, strengthen (thy) loynes, encrease (thy) strength mightily:

2 For the Lord restores agayne the glorious estate of Iacob, as (also) the glorious estate of Israell: for spoylers haue spoyled them, and haue wasted their branches.

3 The shield of his valiant souldiers (is) dyed red, his captaynes of warre are clad wyth skarlet: the charret is (compassed) with flaming torches in the day of his expeditiõ, and the fyrre staues are drenched in poyson.

4 The charrets shall rage in the streetes, they shall make a terrible noyse in ỳ brode ways, to looke too like (flaming) cressets shooting as lightning.

5 Hee shall remember his notable souldiers, they shal stumble in going, they shall hasten to the wall, the couering fence is prepared.

6 The riuer gates are opened, and the palace dissolued.

7 Huzab is broughte forthe captiue, made to B assende (into the charrettes,) hir handmaydens also leading (one another,) as in ỳ voice of doues, knocking vpon their breastes.

8 Yea, many a day Niniuie was as a põd ful of water, yet (now) they flee: Stand ye, stãd ye, and no man looketh backe.

9 Take youre spoyle of syluer, take youre spoyle of golde, for there is no ende of rychesse: treasure passing all treasure.

10 Sacking, resacking, rasyng, a dissolued hart, and collision of knees, sorow in al loines also, & the faces of them as blacke as a potte.

11 Where is the abiding place of Lions, and the feeding plotte of Liõs whelps (become,) whither the yong and olde Lion had theyr resort? there dwelt the Lion, and there was no man to put him in feare.

12 The Lion made his pray abundantly for his whelpes, and strangled for his she Liõs, and hath filled his dennes with pray, and hys abyding places with spoyle.

13 Beholde me against thee, sayth the Lord of hostes, and I will burne in smoke hir charrettes, and the sword shall deuour thy Liõs, I wil rote out also from the earth thy spoyling, and the voyce of thy messengers shal be heard no more.

The. iij. Chapter.

Of the fall of Niniuie. 8. No power can escape the hand of God.

1 O Blouddie citie, stuffed thorowout with A falshood, with extreame raling, nor wil be brought from spoyling.

2 The noyse of the whippe, the noyse of the ratling of wheeles, the praunsyng of horses, and the iumping of charrettes.

3 The horseman lifting vp both the glistering blade of the sword, and also the shinyng speare, many wounded, many corpses, and no end of carkasses, they shall stumble at deade bodies.

4 Bycause of the manyfolde fornication of ỳ beautifull harlot, full of charmes, that selles nations by the meanes of hir whoredome, and the people thorough hir charmings:

5 Loe, I againſte thee, ſayeth the Lorde of hoſtes, and will turne vp thy ſkirtes ouer thy face, and will ſhewe the Gentiles thy filth, and kingdomes thy ſhame.

6 And will caſt vpon thee abhominable filth, and will bring thee downe, and will make thee as vile as dung.

B 7 And it ſhall come to paſſe, that all that ſhall beholde thee, ſhal flee from thee, and ſhal ſay, Niniue is deſtroyed, and who is greeued therewith? from whence ſhall I ſeeke out comforters for thee?

8 Wilt thou count thy ſelfe better than Alexandria the greate, that was ſcituate amongſt the riuers compaſſed round about with waters, whoſe fortreſſe was the ſea, (and had) hir wall from the ſea?

9 Ethiopia and Egypt (were thy) ſtrength, and there was none ende (of ayde) Phut and Lubim were thy helpers.

10 Notwithſtanding, ſhe paſſed away, ſhee went into captiuitie, hir children alſo were daſhed in peeces in the top of all the ſtreetes: for hir honorable men they caſt lottes, and al hir great ſtates they chayned in fetters.

11 And thou (alſo) ſhalt be dronken (with trouble,) thou ſhalt be hidde: thou alſo ſhalt ſeeke after ſtrength againſt thyne enimie.

12 All thy ſtrong aydes (are as) figge trees with the fyrſte ripe figges: if they be ſhyred, they fall into the mouth of the eater.

13 Beholde, thy men (are as barren) women in the middeſt of thee, the gates of thy lande ſhall be ſet wide open to thyne enimies, fyre hath deuoured thy barres.

14 Drawe thee water for the ſiege, ſtrengthen thy fortes, goe into the clay, treade the morter, make ſtrong the brickyl. C

15 There ſhall the fyre deuoure thee, the ſworde ſhall cut thee off, ſhall deuoure thee as the locuſt, though (thou) be multiplyed as the locuſt, though thou be as many as the Graſhopper.

16 Thou haſt encreaſed thy marchantes as the ſtarres of heauen, the locuſt ſpoyleth, & fleeth away.

17 Thy princes are as Graſhoppers, and thy rulers as greate locuſtes, they ſwarme in hedges in colde weather, the ſunne aryſeth, and they flee, and the place where they were, is not knowen.

18 Thy ſhepheardes, O kyng of Aſſur, ſlumber, thy noble men ſhall dwell (in deathe,) thy people is ſcattered vpon the mountaynes, and there is none to gather them together.

19 Thy wound (ſhall) not be healed, thy plage is great, al that heare of thee, clap their handes: for to whome hath not thy euil dealing paſſed continually?

The ende of the Propheſie of Nahum.

1. A complaynt againſte the wicked that perſecute the iuſt. 6. He ſheweth that the Chaldeans are rayſed vp of the Lord for the chaſtiſement of the Iewes, and deſcribeth their armie. 12. He comforteth the faythfull, declaring that God will alſo deſtroy the Babylonians, bycauſe they ſhall abuſe theyr victorie, and become proud and inſolent, attributing the prayſe thereof to their idols.

A 1 THE (a) burden whiche Habacuc the prophete dyd ſee.

a. That is, the great calamitie whiche he propheſied to come on Iuda, as a moſt greeuous burden, which they were not able to beare.

2 O Lorde, how long ſhall I crye, and thou wilt not heare? (euen) crie out vnto thee for violence, and thou wilt not help?

3 Why doeſt thou ſhew me iniquitie, & cauſe me to behold ſorow? for ſpoyling and violence are before me, and ther are that rayſe vp ſtrife and contention.

4 Therefore the law is " diſſolued, and iudgemente dothe neuer goe forthe: for the wicked dothe compaſſe about the righteous, therefore wrong iudgement proceedeth.

5 Behold among the heathen, and regard, and wonder, and marueyle: for I will worke a worke in your dayes, yee will not beleeue it, though it be told you. Act. xiij.

6 For lo, I rayſe vp the Chaldeans, that bitter and furious nation, which " ſhall goe vpon the breadth of the lande, to poſſeſſe the dwelling places that are not theirs.

" or, paſſeth through.

7 They are terrible & feareful: (b) their iudgemēt and their dignitie ſhal proceede of themſelues.

B b, That is, they ſhall be your iudges in thy cauſe, and ſhall haue authoritie ouer them to control them.

8 Theyr horſes alſo are ſwifter than the Leopards, & are more fierce than the Wolues in the euening, & their horſemen ſhal come from far: they ſhal flee as the Eagle haſting to meate.

9 They

9 They come all to ſpoyle: before theyr faces ſhall be an (c) eaſt winde, and they ſhall gather the captiuitie as the ſande.

10 And they ſhall mocke the kynges, and the princes ſhall be a ſcorne vnto them: they ſhal deride euery ſtrong holde, for they ſhall gather (d) duſt, and take it.

11 Then ſhall they "take a courage, and tranſgreſſe, and do wickedly, (imputing) this their power vnto their God.

12 Art not thou of olde, O Lorde my God, my holy one? we ſhall not die, O Lord, thou haſt ordeyned them for iudgement, & O God, thou haſt eſtabliſhed them for correction.

13 Thou art of pure eyes, and canſt not ſee euil, thou canſt not behold wickednes: wherfore (then) doeſt thou loke vpon the tranſgreſſours, and holdeſt thy tongue when the wicked deuoureth the mā that is more righteous than he?

14 And maketh men as the (e) fyſh of the ſea, and as the creeping things that haue no ruler ouer them.

15 They take vp all with the angle, they catch it in their net, and gather it in their yarne: wherof they reioyce, and are glad.

16 Therefore they ſacrifice vnto theyr (f) net, and burne incenſe vnto their yarne: becauſe by them their portiō is fatte, and their meate "plenteous.

17 Shall they therfore "ſtretche out their net, and not ſpare continually to ſlay the (g) nations?

The.ij. Chapter.

A viſion againſt pryde, couetouſneſſe, drunkenneſſe, and idolatrie.

1 I Will ſtand vpon my watche, and ſet me vppon the towre, and will loke and ſee what he will ſay vnto me, and what I ſhall anſweare to "him that rebuketh me.

2 And the Lorde aunſwered me, and ſayde, Write the viſion, and make it playne vppon tables, that he may run, that (a) readeth it.

3 For the viſion is yet for an appoynted time, but at the laſt it ſhall ſpeake, and not lye: though it tarrie, wayte: for it ſhall ſurely come, and ſhall not ſtay.

4 Beholde, (b) he that "lifteth vp him ſelfe his mind is not vpryghte in him: but the iuſt ſhall liue by his faith.

5 Yea, in deede (c) the proude man (is as) he that tranſgreſſeth by wine, therefore ſhall he "not endure, becauſe he hath enlarged his deſyre as the hel, and is as death, and can not be ſatisfyed, but gathereth vnto him all nations, and heapeth vnto him all people.

6 Shall not all theſe take vp a parable againſt him? and a "taunting prouerbe againſt him, and ſay, Wo, he that encreaſeth that whych is not his? (d) how long? and he that ladeth him ſelfe with thycke clay?

7 Shal (e) they not ryſe vp ſuddenly that ſhal byte thee? and awake that ſhal ſtirre thee, and thou ſhalt be "their pray?

8 Becauſe thou haſt ſpoyled many nations, al the remnaunt of the people ſhall ſpoyle thee, becauſe of mens bloud, and for the wrong (done) in the lande, in the citie, and vnto all that dwell therein.

9 "Wo, he that coueteth an euill couetouſneſſe to his houſe, that he may ſet his neſt on high, to eſcape from the power of "euill.

10 Thou "haſt conſulted ſhame to thine owne houſe, by deſtroying many people, and haſte ſinned againſt thine owne ſoule:

11 For the ſtone ſhall crie out of the wall, and ỹ beame out of the timber ſhal anſweare it.

12 (f) Wo vnto him that buildeth a towne with bloud, and "erecteth a citie by iniquitie.

13 Beholde, is it not of the Lord of hoſtes that the people ſhall labour in "the very (g) fyre? the people ſhall euen weerie them ſelues for very vanitie.

14 For the earth ſhall be (h) fylled with the knowledge of the glory of the Lord, as the waters couer the ſea.

15 Wo vnto him that giueth his neyghbour drinke, thou ioyneſt thy "heate, and makeſt (him) drunken alſo, that thou mayeſt ſee their priuities.

16 Thou art fylled with ſhame for glorie, drinke thou alſo, "and be made naked: the cup of the Lords right hande ſhall be turned vnto thee, and ſhamefull ſpuyng ſhall be for thy glory.

17 For the crueltie of (i) Libanus ſhall couer thee: ſo ſhall the ſpoyle of the beaſtes "whyche he made afrayde, becauſe of mens bloud, and for the wrong done in the lande, in the citie, and vnto all that dwell therein.

18 What profiteth the image? for the maker thereof hath made it an image, and a teacher of lyes, though he that made it, truſt therein when he maketh dumbe idols.

19 Wo vnto him that ſayth to the wood, Awake: and to the dumbe ſtone, Ryſe vp, "it will teach (thee:) beholde, it is layde ouer with golde and ſyluer, and there is no breath in it.

20 But the Lord is in his holy temple: let all the earth keepe ſcilence before him.

1 A Prayer of Habacuc the prophet for (a) the ignorances.

2 O Lorde, I haue heard thy voyce, and was afrayde: O Lorde reuiue thy (b) worke in the middes of the yeeres, in the middes of the yeeres make it knowen, in wrath remember mercy.

3 God commeth from (c) Theman, and the holy one from mount Paran, Selah. his glory couereth the heauens, and the earthe is full of his prayse.

4 And (his) brightnesse was as the lighte: (d) he had hornes (commyng) out of his handes, and there was the hiding of his power.

5 Before him went the pestilēce, and burning coales went forth before his feete.

6 He stode and measured the earth, he beheld, and dissolued the nations, and the euerlasting mountaynes were broken, and the auncient hylles dyd bowe, hys wayes are euerlasting.

7 For iniquitie I sawe the tentes of Chusan, (and) the (e) curtaynes of the land of Madian did tremble.

8 Was the Lorde angry against the (f) ryuers? Or was thine anger against ỳ flouds? Or was thy wrath against the sea, that thou diddest ride (g) vpon thy horses? thy charrets (brought) saluation.

9 Thy (h) bowe was manifestly reuealed, and the (i) othes of the tribes (were) a sure word Selah. thou diddest cleaue the earthe with riuers.

10 The mountaynes sawe thee, and they trēbled, the streame of the water (k) passed by, the deepe made a noyse, and lyft vp his hands on hygh.

11 The Sunne (and) Moone stode styll in (their) habitation (l) at the lyghte of thyne arrowes they went, (and) at the bryght shining of thy speares.

12 Thou (m) trodest downe the lande in anger, (and) diddest threash ỳ Heathē in displeasure.

13 Thou wentest forth for the saluation of thy people, (euen) for saluation with thyne (m) annoynted: thou hast wounded the head of the house of the wicked, and discouerest the foundations vnto the (n) necke Selah.

14 Thou diddest (o) strike through with hys owne staues the heads of his villages, they came out as a whirlewind to scater me: theyr reioycing was, as to deuoure the poore secretely.

15 Thou diddest walke in the sea with thyne horses, vpon the heape of great waters.

16 When I (p) heard, my belly trembled, my lyppes shooke at the voyce, rottennesse entred into my bones, and I trembled in my selfe, that I might rest in (q) the day of trouble: for when he (r) commeth vp vnto the people, he shall destroy them.

17 For the hygge tree shall not floryish, neyther shall fruite be in the vines: the labour of the Oliue shall fayle, and the fieldes shall yeelde no meate: the sheepe shall be cut off from the folde, & there shal be no bullocke in ỳ stalles.

18 But I will reioyce in the Lorde, I wyll ioy (s) in the God of my saluation.

19 The Lord God is my strength, hee wyll make my feete like Hindes (feete,) and he wil make me to walke vpon my hygh places. (t) To the chiefe singer on Neginothai, (or vpon the instruments of musicke.)

a. That is, of the people of Israell.

Threatnings against Iuda and Hierusalem, bycause of their idolatrie.

1 THe worde of the Lorde whyche came vnto Sophoni the sonne of Chusi, the son of Gedaliah, the sonne of Amariah, the sonne of Hezekiah, in the time of Iosia ỳ son of Amon kyng of Iuda.

2 I will surely destroy all things in the land, sayth the Lorde.

3 I will destroy man and beast, I wyll destroy the foules in the ayre, and the fishe in the sea, and great ruine shall fall on the wicked, and I will vtterly destroy the men out of the land, sayth the Lorde.

4 I will stretche out mine hand vpon Iuda, and and vpon all suche as dwell at Hierusalem: thus will I rote out the remnant of Baal from this place and the names of the Kemurins and priestes:

5 Yea, and suche as vppon their house toppes worship and bowe them selues vnto the host of heauen, which sweare by the Lord, and by their (a) Malcom also:

6 Which start backe from the Lord, and neither seeke after the Lord, nor regard hym.

7 Be still at the presence of the Lord God, for the day of the Lord is at hand: yea, the Lord hath prepared a sacrifice, and called his guests thereto.

8 And thus shall it happen in the day of the Lords sacrifice, I will visite the princes and the kings children, and all suche as weare strange clothing.

9 In the same day also will I visite al those that leape ouer the thresholde so proudely, whiche fyll their Lordes house with robbery and falshod.

10 At the same time, sayth the Lorde, (there shall be hearde) a greate crye from the fysshe port, and an howling from the second porte, and a great destruction from the hylles.

11 Howle, ye that dwell in ỹ lowe places, for all the marchant people are destroyed, and al they ỹ were laden with siluer, are rooted out.

12 At the same time will I searche Hierusalem with lanternes, and visite them that continue in their dregges, and say in their harts, Tush, the Lord wil do neyther good ne euill.

13 Therefore their goodes shall be spoyled, and their houses layde waste, they shall builde houses, and not dwell in them, they shal plãt vineyardes, but not drinke the wine thereof.

14 For the great day of the Lord is at hande, it is hard by, and commeth on a pace, euen the bytter voyce of the Lords day, then shall the strong man crie out, 15 That day is a day of wrath, a day of trouble and beauinesse, a day of vtter destruction and miserie, a darke and glowming day, a cloudy and stormy day.

16 A day of the trumpet and alarme agaynste the strong cities, and high towres.

17 I will bring the people into such veratiõ, that they shall goe about lyke blynd men, because they haue sinned against the Lorde, their bloud shall be powred out as dust, and their bodies as the myre.

18 Neither their syluer nor their golde shal be able to deliuer them in that wrathfull day of the Lorde, but the whole land shal be consumed through the fire of hys ielousie: for hee shall sone make cleane riddance of all them that dwell in the lande.

6 And as for the sea coast, it shall be heardmens cotages, and sheepefoldes.

7 Yea, it shal be a portiõ for such as remayne of the house of Juda, to feede thereupon, in the houses of Ascalon shall they rest towarde night: for the Lord their God shall visite thẽ, and turne away their captiuitie.

8 I haue heard the despite of Moab, and the blasphemies of the children of Ammon, howe they haue shamefully entreated my people, and magnified them selues within the borders of their lande.

9 Therefore as I liue, sayeth the Lorde of hostes, the God of Israell, Moab shall be as Sodoma, and Ammon as Gomorra, euen the breeding of nettles and salt pittes, and a perpetuall wildernesse: the residue of my folke shall spoyle them, the remnaunt of my people shall haue them in possession.

10 This shall happen vnto them for theyr pride, because they haue dealt so shamefully with the Lord of hostes people, and magnifyed them selues aboue them.

11 The Lord shal be terrible vnto them, and destroy all the goddes in the lande: and all the Iles of the heathen shall worship hym, euery man in his place.

¶ The booke of the Prophet Aggeus.

¶ The first Chapter.

1. The time of the prophesie of Aggeus. 8. An exhortation to buyld the temple agayne.

1 IN the (a) seconde yeere of kyng Darius, in the sixth moneth, ỳ fyrst day of the moneth, came the word of the Lord by ỳ ministerie of the prophete Aggeus, (a) vnto Zorobabel the (b) sonne of Salathiel, a prince of Juda, and to Josua, the son of Josedech, the high priest saying,

2 Thus speaketh the Lorde of hostes, saying, This people sayeth, (c) The time is not yet come for the Lords house to be buylded.

3 Then came the word of the Lord by ỳ ministerie of the prophet Aggeus, saying,

4 Is it time for you your selues to dwell in seeled houses, and this house lye wast?

5 Now thus sayth the Lord of hostes, Consyder your owne wayes in your hartes.

6 Ye (d) haue sowen muche, but ye bring little in: ye eate, but ye haue not ynough: ye drinke, but ye are not fylled: yee cloth you, but ye be not warme: & he that earneth wages, putteth the wages into a broken bagge.

7 Thus sayeth the Lorde of hostes, Consyder your owne wayes in your hartes.

8 (e) Gear you vp to the mountayne, & fetche wood, and buylde this house, and I will (f) take pleasure in it, and (g) I wyll be glorifyed, sayth the Lorde.

9 Ye looked for muche, and lo it came to little; and when yee brought it home, I dyd blowe vppon it: and why, sayth the Lord of hostes? Because of my house that is wast, and you runne euery man into his owne house.

10 Therefore, vppon you the heauen is stayed from deawe, and the earthe is stayed from yeelding hir increase

11 And I haue called for a (h) drought vppon the lande, and vppon the mountaynes, and vppon the corne, and vpon the wine, and vpon the oyle, & vpon al that the ground bryngeth forth, vpon men, and vpon cattayle, and vpo all the labour of the handes.

12 Then Zorobabel the sonne of Salathiel, and Josua the sonne of Josedech the hyghe priest, with all the (i) remnant of the people, hearde the voyce of the Lorde their God, and the (k) words of the prophet Haggeus, as the Lord their God had sent him, then the people did feare before the Lorde.

13 Then Haggeus the (l) Lordes messenger sayd in the Lordes message vnto the people, saying, I (m) am with you, sayth the Lorde.

14 And the Lorde styred vp the (n) spirite of Zorobabel, the sonne of Salathiel, a prince of Juda, and the spirit of Josua the sonne of Josedech the high priest, and the spirit of al ỳ people: and they came and did the worke of the house of the Lorde of hostes their God.

a. Though the people transgresse: yet the prophet is sent to the prince, and priest, whose negligence often times, is the cause of the peoples sinne.
b. Zorobabel was the sonne of Phaleia, as 1. Par. 3. and vers. 18. his fathers name is left out, and his grādfathers name supplyed, bycause it was not so obscure as was the other.
c. And yet there wer now xvii. yeres past synce Cyrus had graunted them libertie to buylde.
d. God is the giuer of encrease, neyther may any thyng prosper without his blessing.
e. It is a payneful thing to climbe vp the hilles, to drawe downe trees, and to build: suche is their labour, that build the Churche.
f. In Christ only is god merciful vnto vs, and in hys Church only is saluation: both the which are here signifyed by thys temple.
g. The ende why Christe buyldeth hys Church is: that we may haue him fauorable to vs, and he be glorifyed.
h. Such is the almighty power of God, that he needeth but to call for his plagues, and they be at commaundement.

1. For the greter part tarried in Babylon, & woulde not take the libertie which Cyrus had gyuen them.
k. Here is no differēce made betweene the worde of the prophet, and the worde of God, to shewe that the prophet must so speake, and the people so heare them, as the wordes of God.
l. This should be remembred of all ministers that they be Gods messengers, and therfore must be faithful, diligent, and constant.
m. The penitent are not forsaken, God comforteth them, and assureth them of hys owne presence.
n. God is sayde to styrre vp our spirites, when hee moueth oure heartes by the power of his spirite, boldely too take in hande, and perfectly to fynishe that which he commaundeth.

The. ij. Chapter.

He sheweth that the glory of the seconde temple shall exceede the firste.

1 IN the (a) twentie and fourth day of the sixth moneth, in the second yeere of king Darius,

2 In the (b) seuenth moneth, in the twentie and one day of the moneth, came the worde of the Lord by the ministerie of the prophete Haggeus, saying,

3 Say nowe to Zorobabel the son of Salathiel, prince of Juda, and to Josua the sonne of Josedech the high priest, and to the rest of the people, saying,

4 (c) Who is among you left, whiche sawe this house in hir fyrst glory, and how do you see it nowe? Is it not in your eyes in comparison of it, as nothing?

5 Yet now be of good cheare, O Zorobabel, sayth the Lord, and be of good comforte, O Josua thou high priest, sonne of Josedech, & be strong all ye people of the land, sayth the Lorde, and worke: for I am (d) with you, sayth the Lord of hostes,

Why. 6 Accor-

a. They had but three weekes, and three dayes, to heare the prophete, and to prepare their tooles for their worke, so diligent were they after the preaching of the prophet.
b. They had nowe not wrought a full moneth, yet they waxed weerie: & therfore had neede to be set on a fresh by the prophete, who was therefore now sent vnto them agayne.
c. As were Seraiah, Zephaniah, and others. 2. Reg. cap. 25. vers. 18 which sawe the olde temple, and nowe were returned with Zorobabel. Esdr. cap. 6. verse. 3.
d. A strong argument why the people should be of good courage, when they are sure that God is with them.

6 According to the (e) word that I couenanted with you, when ye came out of Egypt: and my (f) ſpirit ſhal remayne with you, feare ye not.
7 For thus ſayeth the Lorde of hoſtes, (g) Yet a litle whyle, and I wil (h) ſhake the heauēs, & the earth, and the ſea, and the drye lande.
8 And I will moue all nations, & the deſyre of al nations ſhal come, and I wil fyll thys houſe with glory, ſayth the Lord of hoſtes.
9 (i) The ſyluer is myne, and the golde is mine, ſayth the Lord of hoſtes.
10 The glory of the (k) ſecond houſe, ſhall be greater than the glory of the firſte, ſayeth the Lord of hoſtes: and in this place will I giue peace, ſayth the Lord of hoſtes.
11 In the twentie and fourth daye of the (l) ninth moneth, in the ſecōd yere of king Darius, came the worde of the Lorde vnto the prophet Haggeus, ſaying, 12 Thus ſayth the Lord God of hoſtes, Aſke now ye prieſts (concerning) the law, ſaying.
13 If one beare holy fleſhe in the ſkirt of hys coate, and with his ſkirt do touche the bread, potage, wine, oyle, or any other meate: ſhall it be holy? And the prieſtes aunſwearing, and ſayd, No.
14 And Haggeus ſayd, If a polluted perſon touch any of theſe, ſhall he not be polluted? And the prieſtes aunſwearing, and ſayde, Hee ſhall be polluted.
15 Then Haggeus aunſwearing, and ſayde, So is this people, and ſo is this nation (m) before me, ſayeth the Lorde, and ſo is all the worke of their handes: and that whiche they offer there, is vncleane.
15 And nowe conſyder, I pray you, in youre mindes, from this daye, and vpwarde, before there was layde one ſtone vppon another in the houſe of the Lorde, 17 Before theſe thinges (were done) when one came to a heape of twentie (meaſures) there were but tenne: ſo, who came to the wyne preſſe for to drawe out fiftie (veſſels of wine) out of the preſſe, there were but twentie.
18 I ſmote you with blaſting, and with mildewe, and with hayle, and in all the worke of your handes, and you turned not vnto me, ſayth the Lorde.
19 Conſyder now in your mindes, from thys day, and afore, from the foure and twentith day of the ninth (moneth,) vnto the day that the foundation of the Lordes temple was layde, conſyder it in your mindes.
20 Is the ſeede yet in the barne? as yet the vines, and the tygge tree, and the pomegranate, and the oliue tree, hathe not brought forth: from this day will I bleſſe (you.)
21 And (n) agayne, the worde of the Lorde came vnto Haggei, in the foure and twentith (day) of the moneth, ſaying, 22 Speake to Zorobabel the prince of Iuda, and ſaye, I will ſhake the heauens, and the earthe:
23 And I will ouerthrowe the "throne of kingdomes, and I wyll deſtroy the ſtrength of the kingdomes of the Heathen, and I will ouerthrowe the charrettes, and the ſitters thereon, and the horſe and the riders ſhall fall downe euery one by the ſworde of his brother.
24 In that daye, ſayeth the Lorde of hoſtes, will I take thee Zorobabel my ſeruaunte, ſonne of Salathiel, ſayeth the Lord, and wil make thee as a ſignet: for I haue choſen thee, ſayth the Lord of hoſtes.

The ende of the prophet Haggeus.

the Prophetes, take holde of your forefathers? and they returned, and sayde, Like as the Lord of hostes determined to do vnto vs according to our owne wayes and imaginations, euen so hath he dealt with vs.

B 7 Upon the four and twentith day of the eleuenth moneth, (which is the moneth Sebah) in the second yeere of Darius, came ẏ worde of the Lord vnto Zacharias, ẏ son of Barachias, the sonne of Addo, the prophet, saying.

8 I sawe by night, and behold, there sate one vpon a red horse, & stood still among ẏ myrte trees ẏ were in a bottome: and behinde hym were there red, speckled, and whyte horses. Zach.6.a. Apoc.6.a.

9 Then said I, O my Lord, what are these? And the angel that talked with me, sayd vnto me, I will shew thee what these be.

10 And the man that stode among the myrte trees answeared, and sayde, These are they whome the Lorde hathe sent to goe thorowe the worlde.

11 And they aunswear○d the angel of ẏ Lorde that stode among the myrte trees, and sayd, We haue gone thorow ẏ worlde, & beholde, all the world sytteth still, and is carelesse.

12 Then the Lordes angel gaue answer, and sayd, O Lord of hostes, how long wilt thou be vnmercifull to Hierusalem, and to ẏ cities of Juda, with whom thou hast bin displeased now these threescore and ten yeeres? Jere.25.b. and.29.b. 1.Esd.1.a.

19 And I sayde vnto the angell that talked with mee, What be these? He aunsweared me, These are the hornes whiche haue scattered Juda, Israel, and Hierusalem. Daniel.7.d.

20 And ẏ Lord shewed me four carpenters.

D 21 Then sayde I, what will these doe? Her aunsweared, and sayde, These are the hornes whyche haue scattered Juda, so that no man durst lift vp his head: but these are come to fray them away, and to cast out the hornes of the Gentiles, whiche lift vp their horne ouer the land of Juda to scatter it abroade.

The.ij. Chapter.

The renewing of Hierusalem and Iuda.

1 I Lift vp mine eyes againe, and loked: and beholde a man, with a measure line in his hande. A Ezech.14.a Apoc.21.c.

2 Then sayde I, Whyther goest thou? And he sayd vnto me, To measure Hierusale, that I may see howe long, and how broade it is.

3 And beholde, the angell that talked wyth me, went his way forth: Then went there out another angel to meete him,

4 And sayd vnto him, Runne, speake to thys yong man, and say, Hierusalem shall be inhabited without any wall, for the very multitude of people and cattell ẏ shal be therein.

5 For I my selfe, sayeth the Lorde, will bee vnto hir a wall of fyre round about, and will be the glory in the middest of hir. Deut.3.b.

6 O geat you forth, O flee from the land of the North, sayeth the Lorde: For I haue scattered you into the four windes of ẏ heauen, sayth the Lorde.

7 Saue thy selfe, O Sion, thou that dwellest with the daughter of Babylon: B

8 For thus sayeth the Lorde of hostes, After this glory hath he sent me out to the Heathē which spoyled you: for who so toucheth you, Jere.2.a. shall touch the apple of his owne eye.

9 Beholde, I will lyft vp myne hande ouer them, so that they shall be spoyled of those Psal.17.b. which afore serued them: and ye shal knowe that the Lord of hostes hath sent me.

10 Be glad and reioyce, O daughter Sion: for loe, I am come to dwell in the myddest Exod.25.a. of thee, sayth the Lorde.

11 At the same time, there shall many Heathē cleaue to the Lorde, and shall be my people: Thus will I dwell in the middest of thee, and thou shalt knowe that the Lord of hosts hath sent me vnto thee.

12 The Lorde shall haue Juda in possession for his part in the holy lande, and shall chose Hierusalem yet agayne.

The.vi. Chapter.

By the foure charrettes, hee describeth the prosperitie of foure kyngdomes.

A 1 MOreouer, I turned me, lifting vp mine eyes, and loked, and behold, there came four charrets out from betwixt two hylles, which hilles were of brasse.

Zach.1.b. Apoc.6.a. 2 In the fyrste charret were red horses, in the second charret were blacke horses, 3 In the thirde charret were white horses, in the fourth charret were horses of diuers colours, and strong.

4 Then spake I, & sayde vnto the angell that talked with me, O Lord what are these?

5 The angell answeared, and sayde vnto me, Jere.4.b. These are the foure spirites of the heauen, which be come forth to stand before the ruler of all the earth.

6 That with the blacke horse went forth into the lande of the North, and the white folowed them, and the speckled horses wente forth toward the south:

B 7 And the strong horses went out, and required to goe, and take their iourney ouer the whole earth: And he sayde, Goe you hence, and goe through the world: So they wente throughout the worlde.

8 Then cryed hee vpon mee, and spake vnto me, saying, Beholde, these that goe towarde the North, shall still my wrath in the North countrey.

9 And the worde of the Lord came vnto mee, saying,

10 Take of the prisoners that are come from Babylon, namely, Heldai, Tobiah, and Idaia: and come thou the same day, and goe vnto ỹ house of Iosiah the son of Zophonia.

11 Then take golde and syluer, and make crownes therof, and set them vpon the head of Iosua the son of Iosedech the hyghe priest, 12 And speake vnto him, thus sayeth the Lord of hostes, Beholde, the man whose name is the branche, and he shall growe vp out of hys place, and he shall builde vp the temple of the Lorde. Zach.3.b. Psal.127.a.

13 Yea euen hee shall builde vp the temple of the Lorde, and he shall beare the prayse: hee shall syt vpon the Lordes throne, and haue the dominion: A priest shall he be also vpon his throne, and a peaceable counsell shall be betwixt them both. Apoc.4.b. Psal.110.b. Heb.5.6.7.

14 And the crowne shall be to Helem, and to Tobiah, and to Idaia, and to Hen the sonne of Zophoni, for a memorial in the temple of the Lord. C

15 And suche as bee farre off, shall come, and builde in the temple of the Lorde, that yee may know how that the Lord of hostes hath sent me vnto you: And this shall come to passe, if yee will hearken diligently vnto the voyce of the Lord your God.

The vij. Chapter.

5. The true fasting. 11. The rebellion of the people, is the cause of their affliction.

A 1 AND in the fourth yeere of king Darius the word of the Lord came vnto Zacharia in the fourth (day) of the ninth moneth, which is called Casleu,

2 What time as Sarasar and Rogommelech, and the men that were with them, sente vnto the house of God for to pray before the Lorde:

3 And that they shoulde speake vnto the priestes whiche were in the house of the Lord of hostes, and to the prophets, saying, Should I weepe in the fyfth moneth, and absteyne as I haue done now certayne yeeres. 3.Reg.25.b

4 Then came the word of the Lord of hostes vnto me, saying,

5 Speake vnto al the people of the lande, and to the priestes, and say, When yee fasted and mourned in the fyfth and seuenth moneth, now this threescore and ten yeeres, dyd yee fast vnto me? Jere.41.a. 3.Reg.25.b

6 When ye did eate also and drynke, dyd ye not eate and drinke for your owne selues?

7 Are not these the wordes whiche the Lorde spake by his prophets aforetime, when Hierusalem was yet inhabited, and wealthy, she and the cities round about hir, when ther dwelt men both towarde the South, and in the playne countries? B

1. The conuersion of the Gentiles. 9. The comming of Christ sitting on an Asse.

1 The burden of the worde of the Lorde in the lande of Hadrach and Damascus shall be his rest, when the eyes of man, euen of all the tribes of Israell shall be towardes the Lorde.

2 The borders of Hemath shall be hard therby, Tyrus also and Sydon, for they are verie wyse.

Ioel.4.a. 3 Tyrus shall make hir selfe strong, heape vp siluer as the sande, and golde as the clay of the streetes.

Exod.14.c. 4 Beholde, the Lorde shall spoyle hir, he shal smyte downe hir power in the sea, and shee shall be consumed with fyre.

Ier.47.a. Amos.1.b. 5 This shall Ascalon see, and bee afrayde: Gaza shall be verie sorie, so shal Accaron also, bycause hir hope is come to confusion: For the king of Gaza shall perishe, and at Ascalon shal no man dwell.

6 Straungers shall dwell at Asdod, & as for the pride of the Philistins, I shal rot it out.

B 7 Their blood will I take away from theyr mouth, and their abhominations from betweene their teeth: Thus they that shall be left, shal be for our God, he shalbe as a prince in Iuda, and Accaron lyke as a Iebusite.

Iere.15.b.

a. God is strog inough to defend his churche agaynst all his aduersaries.

8 And I will pitche a campe (a) about myne house against the armie, agaynste hym that passeth by, & against him that returneth, and no oppressor shal come vpon them any more: for nowe I haue seene with myne eyes.

Esai.62.c. 9 Reioyce thou greatly, O daughter Sion, be glad, O daughter Hierusalem: For lo, the king cōmeth vnto thee, euen ỹ righteous and sauiour, lowly and simple is he, he rydeth vpon an Asse & vpon the foale of an asse.

Mal.3.b. 10 I will rote out the charrets from Ephraim, and the horse from Hierusalem, the battaile bowes shalbe destroied, he shal giue the doctrine of peace vnto the heathen: & his dominion shall bee from the one sea to the other, & from the riuer to the end of ỹ world.

11 Thou also (shalt be saued) through the blood of thy couenant: I haue losed thy prisoners out of the pit wherin is no water.

12 Turne you nowe to the strong holde, yee that be in prison, and long sore to be deliuered: euen this day I bring thee word that I will rewarde thee double agayne.

13 For Iuda haue I bent as a bow for me, Ephraim (his hand) haue I filled, and thy sons O Sion, will I rayse vp against the Grekes, and make thee as a Giants sworde.

14 The Lorde God shalbe seen aboue them, & his dartes shall goe forth as the lightning: the Lord God shall blowe the trumpet, and shal come forth as a storme out of ỹ south.

15 The Lord of hosts shall defend them, they shal consume & deuoure and subdue thē with sling stones, they shall drinke and rage as it were through wine, they shall be filled lyke the basons, and as the hornes of the aulter. Zach.2.a. 1.Re.17.f.

16 The Lorde their God shal deliuer them in that daye as the flocke of his people: for as pretious stones of a Diademe, they shall be set vp ouer his lande.

17 O howe prosperous and goodly a thyng shall that bee? for the corne shall make the yong men chearefull, and the newe wyne the maydens.

The.x.Chapter.

1. The people is moued to require the doctrine of truth of the Lord. 3. The Lord promiseth to visite and comfort the house of Israel.

1 Pray the Lord then betimes to giue the latter rayn, so shal the lord make bright cloudes, and giue you raine inough, and to euery one grasse in the field. A Deut.28.b.

2 For vaine is the aunswere of idolles, the sothsayers see lyes, and the dreamers tell but vayne thyngs, the comfort that they giue, is nothing worth: therfore they went awaye lyke a flocke of sheepe, and were troubled, bicause they had no shepheard. Ezec.13.a.

3 My wrathefull displeasure was moued against the shepeherds, and I will visite the goates: for the Lorde of hostes wyll visite his flocke the house of Iuda, and will make them as a goodly faire horse in the battayle.

4 Out of Iuda shall come the corner, the nayle, the battaile bowe, and the appointer of tribute also. Gen.49.b. Esai.22.b.

5 They shall be as Giantes, whiche in the battayle treade downe their enimies in the myre of the streetes: they shal fyght, for the Lorde shall be with them, and the horsemen shall be confounded.

6 I will comforte the house of Iuda, and preserue the house of Ioseph, I will bryng them agayne, for I pitie them, and they shall be lyke as they were when I had not cast them off: for I the Lord am their God, and will heare them.

7 Ephraim shall bee as a Giant, and their heart shall be chearefull as through wyne: yea, their children shall see it, and be gladde, and their heart shall reioyce in the Lord. B

8 I will hisse for them, and gather them together, for I will redeeme them: they shall encrease, as they encreased afore.

9 I will sowe them among the people, that they maye thynke vppon mee in farre countreyes, they shall lyue with theyr children, and turne agayne.

10 I will bring them agayne alſo from the lande of Egypte, and gather them oute of Aſſyria: I will carrie them into the land of Gilead, and to Libanus, and place (a) ſhall not be founde for them.

1. The deſtruction of the temple. 4. The care of the faythfull is committed to Chriſt by the father. 6. A grieuous viſion againſt Hieruſalem and Iuda.

I 1 OPen thy dores, O Libanus, that the fire may conſume thy Cedar trees, 2 Howle ye fyrre trees, for the Cedar is fallen, yea all the prowde are waſted awaye: Howle, O ye oke trees of Baſan, for the myghtie ſtrong wood is cut downe.

3 Men maye heare the ſhepeheardes mourne, for their glorie is deſtroyed: men may heare the Lions whelpes roare, for the pryde of Iordane is waſted away.

4 Thus ſayth the Lorde my God, Feede the ſheepe of the ſlaughter.

5 Which haue bin ſlayne of thoſe that poſſeſſed them, yet they (tooke) it for no ſinne, but they that ſolde them, ſayde, The Lorde bee thanked, for I am riche: yea, theyr owne ſhepheardes ſpare them not.

6 Therefore will I no more ſpare thoſe that dwell in the lande ſayth the Lord: But loe, I will delyuer the people, euery man into his neighbors hand, and into the hande of his king, that they may ſmite the lande, and out of their handes I will not deliuer them.

B 7 I my ſelfe fedde the ſlaughter ſheepe, a poore flocke verily, and toke vnto mee two ſtaues: the one called Beautie, the other called Bandes: and ſo fedde the ſheepe.

8 Three ſhepheardes I put out of office in one moneth, for I myght not awaye with them, neither had they any delight in mee.

9 Then ſayde I, I will feede you no more: the thing that dyeth, let it die, & that that wil periſhe, let it periſhe: and let the remnaunt eate euery one the fleſhe of his neighbour. Apo. 22. a.

10 I toke alſo my ſtaffe (euen) Beautie, and brake it, that I might diſanull the couenant which I made with all people.

11 And ſo it was broken in that daye: then the poore ſimple ſheepe that had a reſpecte vnto mee, knewe thereby that it was the Oſea. 2. c. woorde of the Lorde.

12 And I ſayde vnto them, If yee thynke it good, bryng hyther my wages: if no, then leaue. So they weyghed downe thirtie ſiluer pence, the value that I was priſed at. Mat. 27. c.

13 And the Lorde ſayde vnto me, Caſt it vnto the potter, a goodly price for me to be valued at of them. And I toke the thirtie ſiluer pence, and caſt them to the potter in the houſe of the Lorde.

14 Then brake I my other ſtaffe alſo (namely) Bandes, that I myght loſe the brotherhode betwixt Iuda and Iſraell. C

15 And the Lorde ſayde vnto mee, Take thee alſo the ſtaffe of a foliſhe ſhepeheard:

16 For lo, I wyl rayſe vp a ſhepeheard in the land, which ſhall not ſeeke after the thynges that be loſt, nor ſeeke after the lambes, he ſhall not heale the wounded, he ſhall not nouriſhe the thyngs that are whole: but he ſhall eate the fleſhe of ſuche as be fatte, and teare their clawes in peeces.

17 O idoll ſheapherd that leaueth the flocke, the ſwoord ſhall come vpon his arme, & vpon his right eye: his arme ſhall be cleane dried vp, and his right eye ſhall be ſore blinded.

Of the deſtruction and buylding agayne of Hieruſalem.

1 THe heauie burthen which the Lord hath deuiſed for Iſrael. Thus ſaith the Lorde whiche ſpreade the heauens abroade, layd the foundation of the earth, and gaue man the breath of lyfe. I Eſaie. 10.

2 Behold, I will make Hieruſalem a cup of ſurfet vnto all the people that are rounde about hir: yea, Iuda himſelfe alſo ſhall be in the ſiege againſt Hieruſalem. Zach. 14.

3 At the ſame tyme will I make Hieruſalem an heauie ſtone for all people, ſo that all ſuch as lift it vp, ſhall be ſore and rent, and all the people of the earth ſhall bee gathered together againſt it. Ibdi. 1. c.

4 In that day ſayth the Lorde, I wil make all horſes aſtonyed, and thoſe that ryde vpon them to be out of their wittes: I will open myne eyes vpon the houſe of Iuda, & ſmite all the horſes of the people with blindneſſe.

5 And the princes of Iuda ſhall ſaye in their heartes, The inhabiters of Hieruſalem ſhal giue mee conſolation in the Lord of hoſtes their God.

6 In that tyme will I make the Princes of Iuda like an hot burning ouen with wood, and lyke a fyrebrande among the ſtrawe, ſo that they ſhall conſume all the people round about them, both vpon the ryght hande and the left: Hieruſalem alſo ſhall bee inhabited agayne, agayne, (namely) in the same place where Hierusalem standeth.

B 7 The Lorde shall preserue the tentes of Iuda as aforetime, so that the glorie of the house of Dauid, & the glorie of the citizens of Hierusalem, shall not be exalted against Iuda.

8 In that day shal the Lorde defende the citizens of Jerusalem, so that the weakest then among them shall be as Dauid, & the house of Dauid shall be as Gods house, and as the angell of the Lorde before them. 1.Reg.17.f

9 At the same tyme will I go about to destroy al such people as come against Hierusalem.

10 Moreouer, vpon the house of Dauid, and vpon the citizens of Hierusalē, will I poure out the spirite of grace & compassion, so that they shall looke vppon mee, whom they haue pearsed, and they shall lamente for him as men mourne for their only begotten sonne: yea, and be sorie for him, as men are sory for their fyrst childe. Ezech.36.c

Luke.23.c. 11 Then shall there bee a greate mourning at Hierusalem, like as the lamentation at Adadremmon, in the field of Mageddon. 2.Par.35.c

12 And the lande shall bewayle, euery kinred by themselues alone: the kinred of the house of Dauid by themselues, and theyr wiues by themselues: the kinred of the house of Nathan themselues, & their wiues by themselues: 2.Reg.21.

13 The kinred of the house of Leui themselues alone, & their wiues by themselues: the kynrede of the house of Semei themselues alone, and theyr wyues by themselues.

C 14 In like manner, all the other generations euery one by themselues alone, & theyr wiues by themselues.

The.xiij.Chapter.

1. Of the wel of grace & truth. 2. Of the cleane riddance of idolatrie, and of false prophets.

A 1 IN that time shal the house of Dauid, & the citizens of Hierusalem haue an open wel to washe off sinne and vncleannesse. Ezech.47.a. Zach.14.b. Iohn.19.d.

2 And then, sayth the Lorde of hostes, I will destroy the names of the idols out of the lād: so that they shall no more be put in remembrance. As for the false prophetes also, and the vncleane spirites, I will take them out of the lande. Esai.2.c. Ezech.30.c. Gen.14.c.

3 So that if any of them prophesie any more, hys owne father and mother that begate hym, shall say vnto hym, Thou shalt dye, for thou speakest lyes vnder the name of the Lorde: yea, hys owne father and mother that begate hym, shall wounde hym, when he prophesieth. Deut.13.b.

4 And then shall those prophets be confounded euery one of hys vision when he prophesieth: neyther shall they weare heare cloth any more, to deceyue men withal.

5 But he shal be sayne to say, I am no prophete, I am an husbandman: for so am I taught by man from my youth vp. Amos.7.c. Gene.3.d.

6 And if it be sayde vnto hym, Howe came these woundes then in thyne handes? he shall answeare, Thus was I wounded in the house of myne owne friendes.

7 Aryse, O thou swoorde, vpō my shepeheard, and vpon the man that is my felowe, sayth the Lorde of hostes: Smite the shepeheard, and the sheepe shal be scattered abrode: and so will I turne mine hande to the litle ones. B Mat.26.c.

8 And it shal come to passe, sayth the Lorde, that in al the lande two partes shal be rooted out, but the thirde part shal remayne therein. Amos.9.b Iob.13.a

9 And the same thyrde parte will I bryng through the fyre, & wyll cleanse them as the siluer is cleansed, yea, and trie them lyke as golde is tryed: then shall they call vpon my name, & I will heare them: I will say, It is my people, and they shal say, Lord my God. Esai.43.a Ptal.17.a 1.Pet.1.b Sapi.3.a Eccle.2.a Prou.17.

The.xiiij.Chapter.

1. The wasting of the Church, vnder the figure of Hierusalē. 9. Of the kingdome of the lord.

1 BEhold, the day of the Lorde cōmeth, and thy spoyle shall be diuided in the middest of thee. A

2 For I will gather together all the heathen to fight against Hierusalem, so that the citie shal be wonne, the houses spoyled, & the women defiled: the halfe of the citie shall goe into captiuitie, and the residue of the people shall not be caryed out of the citie.

3 After that, shal the Lord goe forth to fight against those heathen, as men vse to fight in the day of battayle.

4 Then shal his feete stand vpon the mount Oliuete, that lieth vpon the east side of Hierusalem, and the mount Oliuete shal cleaue in two, eastwarde & westwarde, so that there shall be a great valley: and the halfe mount shall remoue towarde the north, and the other towarde the south.

5 And yee shall flee vnto the valley of my hilles, for the valley of the hylles shall reache vnto Asal: yea, flee shall ye, lyke as ye fledde for the earthquake in the dayes of Oziah king of Iuda: and the Lord my God shal come, and all the saintes with him. Amos.1.a

6 In that day shall there be no cleare light, but darke.

7 This shalbe a special day which is knowē vnto the Lorde, neyther day nor night: but about the euenyng time it shal be light. B Mat.24.c

Zach.13.a. Apoc.22.a.

8 In that tyme ſhal there waters of life run out from Hieruſalem: the half part of them towarde the eaſt ſea, and the other halfe towarde the vttermoſt ſea, and ſhal continue both ſommer and winter.

Abdi.1.d.

9 And the Lorde himſelfe ſhal be kyng ouer all the earth: at that tyme ſhall there be one Lorde onely, and hys name ſhal be but one.

10 All the lande ſhall be turned as a playne from Gibea to Remmon, towards the ſouth of Hieruſalem: ſhe ſhal be ſet vp, and inhabited in hyr place, from Beniamins porte, vnto the place of the firſt porte, and vnto the corner porte, and from the towre of Hananeel vnto the kings wineprelles.

2.Eſd.3.a. Ierr.41.k.

11 There ſhall men dwel, and there ſhal be no more deſtruction, but Hieruſalē ſhal be ſafely inhabited.

12 This ſhal be the plague wherwith the lord wil ſmite al people that haue fought againſt Hierualem: Their fleſhe ſhall conſume away, though they ſtande vpon theyr feete, theyr eyes ſhal be corrupt in theyr holes, and theyr tongue ſhall conſume in their mouth.

13 In that day ſhall the Lorde make a great ſedition among them: ſo that one man ſhall take another by the hande, and lay his hands vpon the hands of his neyghbour.

C 14 Juda ſhal fight againſt Hieruſalem, and the armies of all the heathen ſhal be gathered together round about, with golde and ſiluer, and a very great multitude of apparel.

15 And this plague ſhal go ouer horſes, Mules, Cammels, Aſſes, & all the beaſts that ſhal be in the hoſt, lyke as yonder plague was.

16 Euery one that remayneth then of all the people whiche came againſt Hieruſalem, ſhal goe vp early to worſhip the king, (euen) the Lorde of hoſtes, and to keepe the feaſt of tabernacles.

Leuit.23.k. Num.29.

17 And loke what generation vpon the earth goeth not to Hieruſalem for to worſhyp the kyng the Lorde of hoſtes, vppon the ſame, ſhal come no rayne.

18 If the kynrede of Egypt goe not vp, and come not, it ſhall not (rayne) vpon the: This ſhal be the plague wherwith the Lorde will ſmyte all the heathen, that come not vp to keepe the feaſt of tabernacles, 19 Yea, this ſhal be the plague of Egypt, and the plague of all people that goe not vp to keepe the feaſt of tabernacles.

20 At that tyme ſhall the rydyng geare of the Horſes be holy vnto the Lorde: the kettels in the Lordes houſe, ſhal be lyke the baſons before the aulter.

21 Yea, all the kettels in Hieruſalem and Juda ſhal be holy vnto the Lorde of hoſtes: and all they that ſlay offerings, ſhall come and take of them, and ſeethe therein: and at that tyme there ſhal be no mo Chanaanites in the houſe of the Lorde of hoſtes.

The ende of the propheſie of Zacharias.

The booke of the prophet Malachias.

A complaynt againſt Iſrael, and chiefly the prieſts.

I 1 THe (a) burden of the worde of the Lorde to Iſrael by the miniſtery of Malachi.

a. That is, the greeuous and threatning propheſie.

2 I haue loued you, ſayth the Lord, yet ye ſay, Wherein haſte thou loued vs? (b) Was not Eſau Jacobs brother, ſayth the Lorde, yet loued I Jacob?

b. In our election is Gods great loue to vswarde declared.

3 And I hated Eſau, and made his mountaynes waſte, and his heritage a wyldernelle for dragons.

4 Though Edom ſay, We are impouerished but we wil returne, & buyld the deſolate places: yet, ſayth the Lord of hoſtes, they ſhal builde, but I will deſtroy, and they ſhall call them, The border of wickednelle, & the people with whom the Lorde is angry for euer.

5 And your eyes ſhal ſee: and you ſhall ſay, The Lord will be magnified vpon the borders of Iſrael.

6 A ſonne honoreth his father, and a ſeruant hys maiſter: If then I be a father, where is mine honour? If I be a mayſter, where is my feare, ſayth the Lord of hoſtes to you, O ye prieſtes that deſpiſe my name? and ye ſay, Wherein haue we deſpiſed thy name?

7 Ye offer vpon mine aulter (c) vncleane bread, and ſay, Wherein haue we polluted thee? In that ye ſay, The table of the Lorde is not to be regarded.

c. Vnpure ſacrifices: for by bread in ſcripture, are figured al things that nourish.

8 When yee bryng the blynde for ſacrifice, (you ſay) It is not euil: and when ye bryng the lame and ſicke, (you ſay) It is not euill: offer it now (d) to thy prynce, wyll he be content with thee, or accept thy perſon, ſayth the Lorde of hoſtes?

d. Thou offereſt that to me, whiche thou art aſhamed to giue to a mortal man: ſo greatly doeſt thou eſteme my lawe.

9 And

9 And now I praye you, praye before God, that he may haue mercy vpō vs: (This (euil) hath bin done by our meanes) wil he regard your persons, sayth the Lord of hostes?

10 Who is there euen among you that wold shut the dores, and kindle not fyre on myne aultar in vayne? (c) I haue no pleasure in you sayth the Lord of hostes, neyther will I accept an offering at your hande.

11 From the rising of the sunne, vnto the going downe of the sunne, my name is greate among the Gentiles, and in euery place (f) incense shall be offered to my name, & a pure offering: for my name is greate among the verie heathen, sayth the Lord of hostes?

12 But ye haue (g) polluted it, in that ye say, The table of the Lorde is polluted, and the fruite thereof, (euen) his meate is not to be regarded.

13 And ye sayde, Behold, (it is) a wearynesse, and you haue snuffed at it, sayth the Lord of hostes, and ye haue offered the stollen, and the lame, and the sicke ye haue offered an offering: shoulde I accept this of your handes, sayth the Lorde?

14 Cursed be the deceytfull, whiche hath in his flocke a male, and voweth, and sacrificeth a corrupt thing to the Lorde: bycause I am a greate kyng, sayeth the Lorde of hostes, and my name is fearefull among the heathen.

c. Against all those that follow religion for lucres sake

f. All nations shall call vpon my name: for incense doeth signifie the worship of God.

g. The Gentiles shal honor thee: but you defile my name. Thus are you far worse than they who you iudge most vile.

The.ij. Chapter.

Three things against the Priests, being seducers of the people.

1 AND now, O ye Priests, this commaundement is for you.

2 If ye will not heare it, nor regarde it, to giue the glorie to my name, sayth the Lorde of hostes, I will send a curse vpon you, and will curse your blessings, yea I haue cursed them alreadie, bycause ye doe not consider it in your heart.

3 Behold, I will (a) corrupt your seed, & cast (b) dounge on your faces, (euen) the dounge of your solemn feasts, & you shalbe like vnto it.

4 And you shall know that I haue sente this commaundement vnto you, that my couenant, which I haue made with Leui, might stande, sayth the Lorde of hostes.

5 My couenant was with him of life & peace, and I gaue them him (for) the feare wherewith he feared mee, and was afrayde before my name.

6 The lawe of truth was in his mouth, and there was no iniquitie founde in his lips, he (c) walked with me (d) in peace, & (e) in equitie, and he turned many from their iniquitie.

a. God is the author of scarcitie, lest they shoulde impute it to anye other cause.

b. I will bring you to confusion & shame.

c. To walke with God, is to walke accordig to his wil.

d. Towardes God, and towards men.

e. All peace is not commended, but that which is in equitie: the consent of the wicked is to be auoided, bycause it is not in truth.

7 (f) For the Priestes lippes shall kepe knowledge, and they shall seeke the lawe at his mouth: bicause hee is the messenger of the Lorde of hostes.

8 But ye haue gon out of ỳ way, ye haue caused many to fal by ỳ law: ye haue corrupted ỳ couenāt of Leui, sayth the Lord of hostes.

9 Therfore haue I also made you despised, and vile before al the people, bicause you kept not my ways, but haue bin partiall in the lawe.

10 Haue we not all one father? hath not God made vs all? why then is euery one deceyued of his brother, to violate the couenaunt of our fathers?

11 Juda hath offended, and abhomination is committed in Israel and in Hierusalem: for Juda hath defiled the holynesse of the Lord which he lolued, and hath maried the daughter of a straunge God.

12 The Lord will destroy the man that doth this, both the rayser vp, and the answearer, out of the Tabernacle of Jacob, and him that offreth an offring to the Lord of hostes.

13 (g) And this againe haue ye done, in couerying the aultar of the Lorde with teares, with weping and mourning, and therefore there is no more respect to ỳ offering, neither acceptable receiuing of it at your handes.

14 Yet ye say, Wherin? Bicause the Lorde hath bin witnesse betweene thee and the wife of thy youth, against whom thou hast transgressed, yet is she thyne owne companion, and the wyfe of thy couenant.

15 And did not he make one? yet had hee abundance of spirite: and wherfore one? Bicause he sought a godly seede: therfore keepe your selues in your spirit, and let none transgresse against the wife of his youth.

16 If thou hatest hir, put hir away, sayth the Lord God of Israell: yet he couereth the iniurie vnder his garment, sayth the Lord of hostes, and be ye kepte in youre spirite, and transgresse not.

17 Yee haue wearyed the Lorde with youre wordes, and you haue sayde, Wherin haue we wearied him? whylest you say, Euery one that doeth euyll, is good in the syght of the Lorde, and hee is pleased in them: or where is the God of iudgement?

f. The priest therfore must be learned in the law, otherwise the people seeke an answere at his mouth in vain.

g. Not contented with one wickednesse, you will fully fall into an other.

The.iij. Chapter.

Of the Messenger of the Lord Iohn Baptist, and of Christes office.

1 BEholde, I will send my messenger, and he shal prepare the way before me, and the Lorde (a) whome ye seeke shall speedily come to his temple, and the messenger of the couenant whome ye delyte, beholde he commeth sayth the Lorde of hostes.

a. Though not as you should: for you seeke an earthlye Messias, and a worldly kingdoma

2 But who shall abyde the day of his comminge, and who shall stande when he appeareth? for he is lyke a purginge fyre, and lyke Fullers sope.

3 And he shall sit downe to fyne and fine the syluer, and he shal purge the children of Leui, and purifie them as golde and syluer: and they shall bring vnto the Lorde offerings in righteousnesse.

4 Then shall the (b) offerings of Iuda and Hierusalem be acceptable vnto the Lord, as in olde tyme, and as in the yeares afore.

5 And I will come neare vnto you in iudgement, and I will be a (c) swifte witnesse against the (d) sorcerers, and against the adulterers, and against false sweerers, and against those that wrongfully keepe backe the hyrelynges wages, and vexe the widowe, and the fatherlesse, and oppresse the straunger, and feare not mee, sayeth the Lorde of hostes.

6 For I am the Lorde, I chaunge not: and you sonnes of Iacob are not consumed.

7 From the dayes of your fathers, ye are gone away from myne ordinances, and haue not kept them: turne you to mee, and I will turne to you, sayth the Lorde of hostes. And ye sayde, Wherin shal we returne?

8 Will a man (e) spoyle his gods? yet ye haue spoyled me: and ye say, Wherein haue we spoyled thee? In tithes and offerings?

9 Ye are cursed with a curse, and me haue ye spoyled, euen this whole nation.

10 Bring euery tythe into the storehouse, that there maye bee meate in my house, and proue mee withall, sayth the Lord of hosts, if I will not open the windowes of heauen vnto you, and powre you oute a blessing without measure.

11 And I will rebuke the deuourer for your sakes, and he shall not destroye the fruite of the grounde, neyther shall your vine be barrein in the field, saith the Lord of hostes.

12 And all nations shall call you blessed: because you shall be a pleasant lande, sayth the Lorde of hostes.

13 Your wordes haue ben stoute against me, sayth the Lorde: and you sayde: Wherein haue we spoken agaynst thee?

14 Ye haue sayde (It is but) vayne to serue God, and what profite (is it) that we haue kept his commaundement, and that wee haue walked humbly before the face of the Lorde of hostes?

15 And now we cal the proud happie: yea, the workers of wickednesse are sette vp, and also they that tempte God, yea, they are deliuered.

16 Then they that feared God, sayd euery one to his neighbour, and the Lorde considered and heard, and there was written a booke of remembrance before hym, for them that feared the Lorde, and for them that thynke vpon his name.

17 And they shall be to mee, sayth the Lorde of hostes, in that day wherein I shall doe (iudgement) a flocke: and I will spare them, as a man spareth hys owne sonne which serueth him.

18 Then shall yee returne, and discerne betweene the iuste and the wicked, betweene him that serueth God, and him that serueth hym not.

The iiii. Chapter.

The day of the Lorde, before the which Elias shoulde come.

1 BEhold, the day commeth, burnyng lyke an Ouen: and all the proude, and all that worke wickednesse, shall be stubble, and the day that is for to come, shall burne them, saith the Lord of hostes, and shal leaue them neyther rote, nor branche.

2 But to you that feare my name, shall that sunne of righteousnesse aryse, and healthe shall be vnder his wings: and ye shall goe forth, and skippe lyke fat calues.

3 And ye shall treade downe the vngodly, for they shall be dust vnder the soales of youre feete, in the day that I shall doe this, sayeth the Lord of hostes.

4 Remember the lawe of Moyses my seruant, which I commaunded hym in Horeb, for all Israell, with the ordinances and iudgementes.

5 Behold, I will sende you Elias the prophete, before the comming of the great and fearefull day of the Lorde.

6 He shall turne the hearte of the fathers to their children, and the hearte of the children to their fathers, least I come and smyte the earth with curling.

The ende of the Propheſie of Malachias, and consequently of all the Prophetes.

b. Whē Christ shall haue clensed his, and reconciled them to his father againe: then shal their seruice be accepted.

c. Offenders thinke them selues safe, if they maye denie their fault: but when the iudge himself is a witnesse against them they shall neuer escape.

d. Soothsaying, not vnlawful to adulterie, swearing, and such like vices with whom it is here numbred.

e. Such regard hath God to his ministers and poore members, that he thynketh himself robbed, whē they are defrauded.

1. Iosias appoynteth Priests, and keepeth the Passeouer. 7. Offerings for the Priests, and the people. 11. The order of the Leuites. 23. The vpright lyfe of Iosias. 25. Hys death, and the occasion thereof, and the lamentation for him. 34. Ioachas is appoynted King. 53. the destruction of Hierusalem.

1 AND Iosias helde the feast of Easter in Hierusalem vntoo hys Lorde, and offered the Passeouer ẏ fourtenth day of the firste moneth.

Par. 25. a. Re. 23. c.

2 He set the Priests also in order, accordyng to theyr dayly courses, being arayed in long garmẽts, in the temple of ẏ Lord.

3 And he spake vnto the Leuites, the holy ministers of Israell, that they should hallow themselues vnto the Lorde, to set the holy arke of the Lorde, in the house that King Salomon the Sonne of Dauid had builded,

4 And sayde, Yee shall no more beare the arke vpon your shoulders: and now serue the Lorde your God, and take the charge of his people Israel, and prepare you after your byllages and tribes,

5 Accordyng as King Dauid the king of Israell hath left in writing, and "accordyng as Salomon his Sonne hath honorably prepared: And standing each of you in that degree of authoritie, which in the distribution was appointed vnto your fathers the Leuites, in the presence of your brethren the children of Israell:

"ẏ, according to Salomon his sonnes greate liberalitie.

6 Offer the Passeouer in order, and make ready the sacrifices for your brethren, and keepe the Passouer, accordyng to the commaundement of the Lord, which was gyuen vnto Moses.

7 And vnto the people that was founde ther, Iosias gaue thirtie thousand Lambs and Kiddes, and three thousande Calues. These things wer giuẽ of the kings owne possessions, accordyng as he promised to the people, to the Priestes, and to the Leuites.

8 And Helkias, and Zacharias, & Siel, ẏ gouernours of ẏ temple, gaue to ẏ priests for the Passeouer, two thousande and fiue hundred Sheepe, & three hundred Calues.

9 Moreouer, Iechonias, and Samaias, and Nathanael his brother, and Sabias, and Ochiel, and Iozam, Captaines ouer thousandes, gaue to the Leuites, for the Passeouer, fiue thousande Sheepe, and seuen hundred Calues.

10 And when these thinges were brought to passe, the priests and Leuites stood godly in their order, and had the vnleauened bread throughout the tribes.

11 And after the degrees of preheminence appoynted to their fathers, to offer to the Lord in the sight of the people, accordyng as it is written in the booke of Moses: and thus did they in the morning.

12 And they rosted the Easter Lamb with fire, as accordyng was: As for ẏ offerings, they dight them in kettels and pots with good sauours, 13 And set thẽ before al them of the people, & afterward they prepared for thẽselues & ẏ priests their brethren, ẏ sonnes of Aaron.

14 For the priestes offered the fat, "vntill the time was expired, and the Leuites prepared for themselues, and for the priestes their brethren, the children of Aaron. C "or, vntill the euening time.

15 The holy singers also the children of Asaph, stode in their orders, accordyng as Dauid deuised, to wit, Asaph, "Zacharias, and Idythum, which was appoynted by the king.

"or, Azares, and Eddinus

16 Moreouer, the (porters and) dorekeepers stode by the dores (and that diligently,) so that none went out of his "standing and seruices, for their brethren the Leuites prepared for them.

"or, his watch or turne, and course.

17 Thus were all things performed, that belonged to ẏ offering of ẏ Lorde in that day, that they might hold the Passeouer, 18 And offer sacrifices vppon the aulter of the Lord, accordyng to the commaundement of king Iosias.

19 So the childrẽ of Israel which wer then present, held a (honourable) Passeouer, and the feast of sweete bread, seuen days long.

20 Yea suche a Passeouer was not kept in Israel, frõ the time of ẏ prophet Samuel.

21 And al the kings of Israel held not such an Easter, as this which king Iosias held, and the priestes, the Leuites, the Iewes, and all Israel, of all them that "were at Hierusa-

"or, found dwelling at Hierusalem.

Hierusalem.

22 In the eightenth yeere of the raigne of Iosias was this Passouer kept.

23 And with an hart full of godlinesse, did king Iosias rightly order all his workes before the Lord.

24 And the thinges that came to passe in his time, they were written of olde before those days, concerning those that sinned, & were vngodly against the Lord, aboue all people & kingdomes, and howe they greeued him in seruing sensible things, so that ỳ words of ỳ Lord rose vp against Israel.

25 Now after all these actes of Iosias, it came to passe, that Pharao the king of Egypt came to Charchamis vpon Euphrates, to moue warre: and Iosias went out against him.

26 But the king of Egypte sente to hym, saying, What haue I to do with thee, O king of Iudea?

E 27 I am not sent of ỳ Lorde God against thee, for my warre is vpon Euphrates, and now the Lord is with me, yea the Lorde maketh diligent "or, haste. speede with me: departe from me, and be not against the Lorde.

28 How be it, Iosias woulde not turne backe his chariot from him, but vndertoke to fyght with him, and hearkened not to the words of the prophet Ieremie, spoken by the mouth of the Lord:

29 But pitched a battayle agaynst hym in the field of "or, Megiddo Mageddo: And the princes prelled to king Iosias.

30 Then sayd the king vnto his seruantes, Carie me away out of the battayle, for I am very weake And immediatly his seruantes tooke hym away out of the frunt of the battayle.

31 Then gate he vp vppon the second charet, came to Hierusalem, died, and was buried in his fathers sepulchre.

32 And in all Iurie they mourned for Iosias, yea Ieremie the prophet lamented for Iosias, and ỳ rulers also with their wiues made lamentation for him vnto this day: and it became a custome to be done continually in all the kinred of Israel.

33 These thinges are written in the booke of the stories of the kings of Iuda: and all the actes of Iosias, and his glory, and vnderstanding in the law of the Lord, & the things which he had done before, and that was now (recited) are written in the booke of the kings of Israell and Iuda.

34 And the people toke Iechonias the son of Iosias, and made him king in stede of Iosias his father, when he was twentie and three yeeres olde. 3 Reg. 23. k. 2. Par. 26. a.

35 And he raigned in Iuda and in Ierusalem, three moneths, and then the kyng of Egypt put him downe from raigning in Ierusalem: f

36 And rayled vp a tare of the people, namely an hundred talents of siluer, and one talent of golde.

37 The king of Egypt also made Ioachim his brother king of Iuda and Ierusalem.

38 (a) And (thus) he "2. This p... is corrupt, ... thus seeme... to be: As so... Ioachim a... his rulers, ... bound, and ... uing taken ... brother Z... cen, led th... way into E... gypt. "or, stadi... 4. Re. 24. bound Ioachim, and his gouernours: but Zaracen his brother he apprehended, and led away with hym into Egypt.

39 Fiue and twentie yeeres olde was Ioachim, when he was made king in the land of Iuda and Hierusalem, and he did euill before the Lord.

40 Wherefore against him Nabuchodonosor the king of Babylon came vp, and bound him with bands of iron, and caried him vnto Babylon.

41 Nabuchodonosor also tooke of the holy vessells of the Lorde, caried thẽ away, & set them in his owne temple at Babylon.

42 But all his actes, and his prophanatiõ, and reproch, are written in the Chronicles of the kings. G

43 And Ioachim his sonne raigned in his stede: he was made king being eightene yeeres old,

44 And raigned but three monethes and tenne dayes in Hierusalem, and did euill before the Lord. "or, Iehoiachin

45 So after a yere, Nabuchodonosor sent, and cauled him to be brought vnto Babylon, with the holy vessels of the Lord, 46 And made Zedechias king of Iuda & Hierusalem, when he was one and twẽtie yeeres old, and he raigned a leuen yeeres.

47 And he did euill also in the sight of the Lord, and cared not for the wordes that were spoken vnto him by the prophete Ieremie, from the mouth of the Lord, Iere. 26. a.

48 And where he had made an othe vnto king Nabuchodonosor, he forsware hym selfe by the name of the Lord, and hardened his necke and harte, and transgressed the lawes of the Lord God of Israel.

49 The gouernours also of the people and priestes, dyd many thinges against the lawes, and passed all the pollutions of all nations, & defiled the temple of the Lorde, which was sanctified in Hierusalem.

50 Wherefore the God of their fathers sent his messenger to call them backe, because he spared them, & his tabernacle also.

51 But they had his messengers in derisiõ:

and

and loke when the Lord spake vnto them, they made a sport of hys prophets.

52 This drew on so lōg, till the Lord was wroth with his people for their great vngodlynesse, so that he caused the kinges of the Chaldees to come vp against them:

53 Whiche slue their young men with the sword, yea euen in " the compasse of theyr holy temple, and spared no body, neyther young man nor mayden, olde man nor childe among them:

54 But they were all deliuered into theyr hands, and all the holy vessels of the Lord both great and smal, with the vessels of the arke of God: and they tooke and caried away the kinges treasure into Babylon.

55 As for the house of the Lord, they went vp into it, & brent it, brake down ỳ walles of Jerusalem, set fire vpon hir towres, 56 Destroyed all hir " noble buildings, and brought them to nought, and the people that were not slayne with the sworde, he caried vnto Babylon:

57 Which became seruants to him and his children, till the Persians raigned: to fulfill the word of the Lorde, (spoken) by the mouth of Jeremias:

58 Till the lande had fully " taken hir ease from them, which toke that ease all ỳ tyme she lacked hir inhabitants, to the ende and tearme of seuentie yeeres.

The. ij. Chapter.

1. Cyrus gaue leaue to the Iewes too returne. 10. He sent the holy vessels. 13. The names of them that returned. 16 Their aduersaries dyd let their building, and the kings letters for the same.

A 1 NOw when king Cyrus raigned ouer the Persians in his firste yeere, when the Lord would perfourme the word that he had promised by the mouth of (the prophet) Jeremie:

2 The Lord rayled vp the spirite of Cyrus the king of the Persians, so that he caused his writing to be proclaymed throughout his whole Realme,

3 Saying, Thus sayeth Cyrus king of the Persians, The Lorde of Israel, that high Lorde, hathe made me king of the whole worlde:

4 And commaunded me to build hym an house at Jerusalem in Jurie.

5 If ther be any now of you that are of his people, let the Lord, euen his Lord, be with him, and let him go vp to Jerusalem that is in Judea, and build the house of ỳ Lord of Israell, that is, the Lorde that dwelleth in Jerusalem.

6 And al they that dwell round about that place shall helpe hym, all that dwell in hys place, I say, whether it be with gold, with siluer, 7 With giftes, with horses, and necessary B cattayle, and all other thinges that are brought with a free will to the " house of the Lord at Hierusalem.

8 Then the principall men out of the tribes and villages of Juda and Beniamin stood vp: so did the priests also and the Leuites, and all they whose minde the Lorde had moued to goe vp, and to build the house of the Lord at Hierusalem.

9 And they that dwelt about them, helped them in all thinges, with siluer and golde, horses and cattayle, and with " manye free gifts of many men, whose minds were stirred vp thereto.

10 King Cyrus also brought forth the vessels and ornamentes that were halowed vnto the Lorde, whiche Nabuchodonosor had caried away from Jerusalem, and consecrated them to his idoll (and image.)

11 And hauing brought them forth, he deliuered them to Mithridates his treasourer.

12 And by him they were deliuered to Abassar the deputie in Jurie.

13 And this was the number of them: a thousand golden cuppes, and a thousande of siluer, basens of siluer nine and twentie, for the sacrifices, vials of golde thirtie, and of siluer two thousand, foure hundred and tenne, and a thousande other vesselles.

14 So all the vesselles of golde and syluer C which they caried away, were fiue thousād foure hundred threescore and nine.

15 These were brought by Salmanasar, with them of the captiuitie, from Babylon to Jerusalem.

16 But in the time of Artaxerxes king of the Persians, Belemus, & Mithridates, and Tabelius, and Rathumus, and Beeltethmus, and Semellius the secretary, with other that were ioyned to them, dwelling in Samaria and other places, wrote vnto him against them that dwelt in Jurea and Jerusalem, these letters following:

To the king Artaxerxes our Lorde.

17 Thy seruauntes, Rathumus the story writer, and Semellius the secretarie, and the rest of their counsell, and the iudges that are in Coelosyria and Phenice:

18 Be it now knowen to our Lord ỳ king, ỳ the Iewes which are come vp from you

" or, temple.

" or, sundry vowes of sundry men.

vnto vs into the rebellious and wicked citie, beginne to builde the market places, and to make vp the walles about it, and to set vp the temple a newe.

19 Nowe if this citie, and the walles therof be set vp agayne, they shall not only refuse to giue tributes (and taxes) but also rebell vtterly agaynst kings.

20 And for so muche as they take this in hande nowe about the temple, we thought it reason to thinke no skorne of it:

D 21 But to shew it vnto our Lord the king, to the intent that if it please the king, he maye cause it to be sought in the bookes of olde, 22 And thou shalt finde in recordes hereof written, and shalte vnderstande that this citie hath alway bin rebellious and disobedient, that it hath troubled kings & cities.

23 And that the Iewes were rebellious, and raysed alwayes warres therein: for the which cause this citie is wasted.

24 Wherefore nowe we certifie our Lorde the king, that if this citie be builded (and occupyed) agayne, and the walles thereof set vp a newe, thou canst haue no passage into Coelosyria and Phenice.

25 Then wrote the king to Rathumus the "oz, register. "scribe, to Beeltethmus, to Semellius the scribe, and to the other officers and dwellers in Samaria, and Syria, and Phenice, after this manner.

26 I haue read the epistle whiche ye sente vnto me: therefore I commaunded to make diligent search, and haue founde that this citie hath euer resisted kings.

E 27 That the same people are disobedient, and haue caused muche warre, and that mightie kinges haue reygned in Ierusalem, which also haue raysed vp taxes of Coelosyria and Phenice.

28 Wherefore I haue commaunded to forbid those men, that they shall not build vp the citie, and beede to be taken, that there be no more done in it:

29 And that they proceed no further in those wicked workes, for so much as it might be occasion of trouble vnto princes.

30 Nowe when Rathumus, and Semellius the scribe hadde read the writing of king Artaxerxes, they gat them together, and came in all the haste to Ierusalem, with an host of horsemen, and with muche people on foote, 31 And forbad them to builde: And so they left of from building of the temple, vnto the seconde yeere of king Darius, king of the Persians.

The. iij. Chapter.

1. The feast of Darius. 16. The three wise sentences.

1 KIng Darius made a great feast vnto A his "seruantes, vnto all his courte, and "oz, subiectes to all the officers of Media and Persia.

2 Yea to al the gouernours, and captaines, and lieftetenantes, that were vnder him, from India vnto Ethiopia, an hundred and twentie and seuen "countreys. "oz, prouinces

3 So when they had eaten and dronken, beying satisfied, and were gone home agayne, Darius the king went into his chamber, layde him downe to sleepe, and after that awaked.

4 Then the three yong men that "kept the "oz, were the garde.
kings person, and watched his body, (communed among them selues, and) spake one to another.

5 Let euery one of vs speake a sentence, and loke who shall ouercome, and whose sentence may seeme wiser than the others, vnto him shall king Darius giue great gyftes, & great things, in token of victory:

6 As to weare purple, to dринke in golde, and to sleepe in golde, and a chariot with brydles of golde, and an "heade tyre of fine "oz, a golden bonnet.
linnen, and a chayne about his necke:

7 Yea, he shall sit next to Darius, bycause B of his wisedome, and shall be called Darius cousin.

8 So euery one wrote his "meaning, sealed "oz, sentence it, and layd it vnder king Darius pelow.

9 And sayde, When the king aryseth, they woulde giue him the writings, and loke whose worde the king and the three princes of Persia shall iudge to be the moste wisely spoken, the same shall haue the victorie as it was appoynted.

10 One wrote: wine is a strong thing.

11 The second wrote: The king is strong,

12 The thirde wrote: Women haue very much strength: but aboue all thinges, the trueth beareth away the victory.

13 Nowe when the king was risen vp, they toke their writings, and deliuered them vnto him, and so he read them.

14 Then sent he forth to call all his chiefe C
Lordes of Persia, and of Media, and the rulers, and the captaynes, and lieftenants, and consuls:

15 And when he had set him downe in the counsel, the writings were read before thē.

16 And he commaunded to call for ỹ yong men, that they might declare their "meanings "oz, sentences themselues by mouth. So they they were sent for,and came in.

17 And then he sayde vnto them, Shew vs, and make vs to vnderstande, what the thinges are that ye haue written. Then beganne he first, which had spoken of the strength of wine, 18 And sayde thus,O ye men,how strong is wine,that deceiueth al men which drink it?

19 It maketh the kings minde and the fathers to be both one, the bondmans and the free,the poore mans and the riche.

20 It turneth also euery thought into ioye and gladnesse, so that a man remembreth neither heauinesse nor debt.

D 21 And it maketh euery heart(thinke it selfe) riche, so that a man remembreth neyther king nor gouernour,and it maketh to speak all things by talentes.

22 Moreouer, when men haue drunke, they forget all friendeship & brotherly faythfulnesse, & a litle after they draw out swords.

23 And afterwardes when they are from the wine,they remẽber nothing what was don.

24 O ye men,is not wine the strongest,that thus enforceth men to doe? And when hee had spoken this,he helde his peace.

The.iiij. Chapter.

1. Of the strength of a king. 13. Of the strength of women. 34. Of the strength of trueth, which sentence is approued. 47. And his petition graunted.

A 1 Then the seconde that had spoken of the strength of the king, began to say,

2 O ye men,are not men the strongest of al, that conquere both by lande and sea, and all the things that are in them?

3 Nowe is the king stronger,as Lord of all these thinges, and that hath the dominion ouer them: and loke what he commaundeth them,it is all done.

4 If he byd them the one against the other to make warre, they doe it: if he sende them out against the enimies,they goe and breake down mountaines,walles,& towers.

5 They slaye,and are slayne, and ouerpasse not the kynges commaundement: if they get the victorie, they bryng all to the king, so well the spoyle as other things.

6 Likewise, the other that meddle not with warres and fighting,but till the grounde: when they haue sowen and reaped, they bring to the kyng, and compell one another to paye his trybute vnto the king.

B 7 And if the king,though he be but one man, commaunde to kyll, they kyll, if he commaunde to "forgiue,they forgiue:

8 If he commaunde to smite, they smyte, if he byd "dryue away, they driue awaye, if he commaunde to builde,they builde:

9 If he commaunde to breake downe, they breake downe, if he commaunde to plant, they plant.

10 "So the common people, and the rulers are obedient vnto him, and the king in the meane season sitteth him downe, eateth, and drynketh, and taketh his reast.

11 And these keepe him rounde about, and not one of them dare geat him out of the way,to do his owne businesse," but must be obedient vnto the king at a worde.

12 Judge ye nowe,O ye men,howe shoulde not the king goe farre aboue, when in such sort he is obeyed? And(when he had spoken thus)he helde his tong.

13 The third(whose name was Zorobabel) which had spoken of women,and of trueth, began to say(after this maner,)

14 O ye men, it is not the great king, it is C not the multitude of men,neither is it wine that excelleth. Who is it then that ruleth them,or hath the lordeship ouer them? is it not women?

15 Women haue borne the kyng, and all the people,which beare rule by sea & by land.

16 And euen of them were they borne, and they brought those vp that planted the vines,whereof the wine commeth.

17 They make garmentes for men, they get honoure vnto men, and without women,can not men continue:

18 Yea, if they haue gathered together gold and siluer,or any other precious thing, doe they not loue a womã for hir cõmely shape and beautie?

19 And letting all those things goe, do they not gape, and euen with open mouth, fixe their eyes fast on hir? and haue not al men more desire vnto hir,thã vnto siluer & gold, or any maner of precious thing?

20 A man leaueth his owne father that Gene.2. b. brought him vp,leaueth his owne naturall Mat.19.a. countrey,and cleaueth vnto his wife. 1.Cor.6.D.

21 Yea, he "ieopardeth his life with his wife, Ephes.5.g. and remembreth neither father nor mother, "or,passeth. nor countrey.

22 By this also ye must needes knowe, that D women haue dominion ouer you: doe ye not labour and trauayle, and giue and bring all to the woman?

23 A man taketh his sworde, and goeth his way to steale, (to kill,) to murder, to sayle vpon the sea,and vpon riuers.

24 And seeth a Lio, and goeth in the darknesse: and when he hath stolne,"deceiued,& "or, spoyled

"or, make waste, they make waste.

"or,so all his people and al his armies obey vnto one.

"or,neither disobey they him in any thing.

robbed, he bringeth it vnto his loue.

25 Wherfore, a man loueth his wife better than father and mother.

26 Yea manye there bee that runne out of their wittes, and become bondmen for their " wiues sakes.

" or, for womens.

E 27 Many one also haue perished, haue erred, and sinned also for women.

28 And now doe ye not beleeue me? is not the king great in his power? do not all regions feare to touch him?

29 Yet dyd I see him, & Apame ỹ daughter of the great king Bartacus the kinges concubine, sate beside the king vppon the right hande, 30 And toke off his crowne from his head, and set it vpon hir owne head, and stroke the king with hir left hand.

31 And therewhile stedily the king loked vpon hir with open mouth: if she laughed vpon him, he laughed also: but if she toke any displeasure with him, the king was fayne to flatter hir, (and to giue hir good words) till he had gotte hir fauour againe.

32 O yee men, are not women then stronger, that do these things?

33 Then the king and the princes loked one vppon another: So hee beganne to speake of the truth.

Eccle. 1. a. 34 O ye me, are not wome stroger? Great is the earth, high is the heauen, swifte is the course of the sunne, he compasseth the heauen rounde aboute, and fetcheth hys course again to his own place in one day.

F 35 Is he not excellente that maketh these things? Therefore great is the trueth, and stronger than all things.

36 All the earth calleth vpon truth, the heauen prayseth it, all workes shake and treble at it, and with it is no vnrighteous thing.

37 Wine is wicked, the king is wicked, women are wicked, all the children of men are wicked, yea and such are all their wicked workes, and there is no truth in them, in their vnrighteousnesse also shall they (be destroyed and) perish:

Esai. 40. a. Psal. 117. a. 38 As for the trueth it endureth and is alway strong, it liueth and conquereth for euermore worlde without ende.

39 With hir there is no exception or difference of persons, but she doth that iust is, & refrayneth fro all vniust & wicked things, and all men do well like of hir workes.

40 In the iudgement of it, there is no vnrighteous thing, and shee is the strength, kingdome, power, and maiestie of al ages: Blessed be the God of truth.

41 And with that he helde his peace: and all the people cryed, and then sayde, Great is truth, and aboue all.

42 Then sayde the king vnto him, Aske what thou wilte, more than is appointed in the writing, and we shall giue it ther, for thou art found wiser (than thy companions) thou shalte sit next me, and shalt be called my kinsman.

43 Then sayd he vnto the king, Remember thy (promise and) vowe which thou hast vowed, (and promised) in the daye when thou camest to the kingdome, to builde vp Jerusalem: G

44 And to send agayn all the vesselles (and iewels) that were taken away out of Jerusalem, whiche Cyrus set apart, when he vowed to destroy Babylon, and to sende them againe thyther.

45 And thy mind was also to build vp the temple, whiche the Edomites burnt when Judea was destroyed by the Chaldees.

46 And now this only (O king) is the thing that I require and desire of thee, thys is the princely liberalitie that I aske of thee: I desire therefore, that thou performe the vowe which thou with thine owne mouth hast made vnto the king of heauen.

47 Then Darius the king stode vp, and kissed him, wrote him letters vnto all the Deputies and Lieftenantes, to all the Lords and Nobles, that they should conuay him forth, and all them that went vp with him to build Jerusalem. 2. Esd. 2. h. 3. Esd. 6. d.

48 He wrote letters also vnto al the Lieftenants that wer in Coelosyria and Phenices, and vnto them in Libanus, ỹ they should bring Cedar trees from Libanus vnto Jerusalē, and build the citie wt hym.

49 Moreouer, he wrote for all the Jewes that were gone out of his " Realme into Jurie, concerning their freedome, that no Officer, no Ruler nor Lieftenante, nor Steward, should enter into their dores: " or, kingdom

50 And that all their land which they kept, shoulde bee free, and not tributarie: and that the Edomites shoulde gyue ouer the (cities and) vyllages of the Jewes whiche they had taken in:

51 Yea, & that there should be yeerely giue twentie talents to the building of the temple, vntill the time that it were finished:

52 And to maintayne the burnt offerings vpon the aulter euery day, (as they had a commaundement to offer seuentene) other tenne talents euery yeere.

53 And that all they which come from Babylon to builde the citie shoulde haue free libertie, they and their children, and all the Priests

Priestes that went away.

54 He wrote also concerning the charges, & the priests garment wherin they minister.

55 And likewise for ỳ charges of ỳ Leuites to be gyuen them, vntyll the daye that the house were finished, & Jerusalē builded vp.

56 And hee commaunded that all they that watched the citie, should haue their pentions and wages.

57 He sent away also al ỳ vessels that Cyrus had separated from Babylon: and all that Cyrus had giuen in cōmaundement, the same charged he also that it shoulde be done, and sent to Jerusalem.

58 Nowe when this yong man was gone forth, he lifted vp his face to heauē toward Jerusalem, & prayed the king of Heauen.

Eccle.1.a. 59 And sayde, of thee commeth victorie, of thee commeth wisedome, and thine is the glorie, and I am thy seruant.

60 Blessed art thou whiche hast gyuen mee wisedome, for to thee I acknowledge it, O Lorde (thou God) of our fathers.

61 And so he toke the letters, and went out and came vnto Babylon, and tolde it all his brethren.

62 And they prayed the God of their fathers, that hee had gyuen them freedome and libertie.

Esd.2.b. Esd.6.d.

"or, where his name is renowmed. 63 To go vp, and to buylde Jerusalem, and the temple, "wherin the name of the Lord is called vpon: and they reioyced with instrumentes of musicke and gladnesse seuen dayes long.

35 All the ministers of the temple, and the sonnes of the seruants of Solomõ, were three hundred, seuentie and two.

36 These came vp from Thelmelah, and Thelharsa, Carathalat, & Aar, leading them:

37 Neither could they shewe their families, noz their stocke, howe they were of Israell. The sonnes of Dalaias, the sons of Thubia, the sonnes of Necodan, six hundred, fiftie and two.

38 Of the pziestes that executed the office of the pziesthode, and were not founde, the sonnes of Hobia, the sonnes of Hacoz, the sonnes of Addus, which maryed Augia, one of the daughters of Barzeleus, 39 And was named after him: the wryting of the same kinred was sought in the register of their generation, but it was not founde, and therefoze were they forbidden to execute the office of the pziesthod.

40 Foz vnto them sayd Nehemias and Atharias, that they should haue no poztion in the sanctuarie, till there rose vp an highe pziest that were well instruct in the plaine clearenesse and trueth.

41 So of Israel, from them of twelue yeres old, & childzẽ, they were al in nũber foztie & two thousande, three hundred & threescoze, besides men seruantes & women seruants.

42 Their seruauntes and handmaydens were seuen thousand, three hundred, foztie and seuen. The singing men and singing women, two hundred foztie and fiue, 43 Foure hundred thirtie and fiue camels, seuen thousand thirtie and six hozses, two hundred foztie and fiue mules, fiue thousande fiue hundred twentie and fiue beastes vsed to the yoke.

44 And of their rulers also after their families, when they came to the temple of God that is in Hierusalẽ, there were that vowed to set vp the house agayne in his owne place, accozding to their abilitie:

45 And to giue into the holy treasure of the wozkes, a thousande poundes of golde, fiue thousande of siluer, and an hundred pzecious garmentes.

46 And so dwelt the pziestes and the Leuites and the people in Jerusalem, and in the countrey, (there about.) the singers also and ẏ porters, & al Israel in their vilages.

1.Esd.5.a. 47 But when the seuenth moneth came, & when the chyldren of Israel were euery man in his owne, they came all togyther with one consent into the open place of ẏ gate, which is towardes the east.

48 And there Jesus the sonne of Josedec, and his brethren the priestes, and Zorobabel the sonne of Salathiel, and his brethren, rysing vp, made readie the aulter of the God of Israel.

49 To offer burnt sacrifices vpon it, so as it is written in the law of Moses the man of God.

50 And thyther were gathered agaynste them, diuers of other nations of the land: but they dressed ẏ aulter in his own place, although all the nations in the land were enimies to them, and vexed them: and they offered sacrifices to the Lorde bothe morning and euening.

51 And also they holde the feast of tabernacles as it is "commaunded in the law, and sacrifices dayly as it was appertayning.

52 And after ẏ also the continual oblatiõs, and the offerings of the Sabboths, and of the newe monethes, & of all holy feastes.

53 And al they which had made any vow to God, began to offer sacrifice to God, from the firste daye of the seuenth moneth, although the temple of the Lorde was not yet built vp.

54 And they gaue vnto the Masons and Carpenters, money, meate, & drinke, with chearefulnesse.

55 Unto them of Sidon also & Tyre, they gaue carres, that they shoulde bryng Cedar trees from Libanus, whiche should be brought by flote to the hauen Joppe, according as it was commaunded them by Cyrus the king of the Persians.

56 And in the second yeere and second moneth, came into the temple of God at Jerusalē, Zorobabel the sonne of Salathiel, Eccle.29.b. and Jesus the sonne of Josedec, and their brethren, and the priestes & Leuites, and al they that were come vnto Jerusalem out of the captiuitie (of Babilon.)

57 And they layde the foundation of the house of God in the "newe mone of the seconde moneth, in the seconde yeere that they were come to Jurie and Jerusalem.

"or, in the firste day.

58 And they appointed the Leuites ẏ were aboue twentie yeeres olde, ouer ẏ workes of the Lord: So Jesus, and his sonne and brethren, assisted, & Cadmiel also his brother, & the sonnes of Madiabon, with the sonnes of Joda the sōne of Eliadon, & his sonnes & brethren, euen al ẏ Leuites wt one accord, followed on earnestly to aduaūce ẏ workes in the house of God: so the workmen buylt vp the temple of the Lorde.

59 And the priestes stode, & had their garmentes, with musicall instrumentes, and trumpets, and the Leuites the sonnes of Alaph had Cymbales.

60 Gyuing thankes and prayses vnto the Lorde, according as Dauid the King of Israel had ordeyned. 1.Par.16.d.

61 And they song wt loude voyces songs, to the prayse of the Lord, bicause his mercie and glorie is for euer in Israel.

62 And all the people blew out with trumpets, and cryed with loude voyce, praysing the Lorde togyther, for the rearyng vp of the house of the Lorde.

63 There came also from among ẏ priestes and Leuites, and of the chiefest according to the tribes of the kinredes, to wit, the elders which had seene the former house. 1.Esd.5.a.

64 To the buylding of this with great cry, & great mourning, many also with trumpets & (great) ioy cryed with loude voyce:

65 Insomuch that the trumpets might not well be heard for the weeping and mourning of the people: yet there was a greate multitude that blewe trumpets maruelously, so that it was heard farre of.

66 Wherfore, when the enimies of ẏ tribes of Juda and Beniamin heard it, they came to knowe what that noyse of trumpets should meane. 1.Esd.4.a.

67 And they perceyued ẏ they whiche were come againe out of captiuitie, built the tẽple vp a new vnto ẏ Lord God of Israel.

68 So they went to Zorobabel and Jesus, & to the rulers of the vilages, & sayde vnto them, Shall we buylde with you also?

69 For we likewyse, as you, do obey your Lorde, and do sacrifice vnto him, from the dayes of Asbazareth the king of Assyria, whiche brought vs hyther.

70 Then Zorobabel, and Jesus, and the rulers of the vilages of Israel, sayde vnto them, It doeth not agree that yee shoulde buylde the temple of our God with vs.

71 We our selues alone wyll buylde vnto the Lorde of Israel, as is meete, and lyke as Cyrus the kyng of the Persians hath commaunded vs. 1.Esd.1.a.

72 But the heathen in the land, made them sluggishe that were in Jurie, and sundred them, and letted their buyldings.

73 And by their inbushmentes, seditions, & conspiracies, stopped, that the buylding coulde not be finished all ẏ time that king

Cyrus lyued: so that they put of the buildyng for the space of two yeeres, vntill the raygne of king Darius.

The.vi. Chapter.

1. Of Aggeus and Zacharias. 2. The buylding of the Temple. 3. Sisinnes woulde lette them. 7. His letters to Darius. 23. The Kings answere to the contrary.

A 1 NOtwithstanding, in the second yeere of the raigne of Darius, Aggeus, and Zacharias the sonne of Addo, the Prophetes, prophesied vnto the Iewes, and to them in Iurie and Ierusalem, euen in the name of the Lorde God of Israel.

1. Esd. 5. a.

Agge. 1. c. 2 Then Zorobabel the sõne of Salathiel, and Iesus the sonne of Iosedec, stode vp, and began to buyld the house of the Lorde at Ierusalem, when the prophetes of the Lorde were with them, and helped them.

3 At the same tyme came Sisinnes the gouernour of Syria and Phenice, with Sathrabusanes and his companions, & sayde vnto them,

4 Who hath bydde (and commaunded) you to buyld this house, to make this rofe and all other things agayne? And who are the "worckemen that buylde them?

"or, buylders that did these things.

5 Neuertheleſſe, the elders of the Iewes had (suche) grace of the Lord, after he had visited the captiuitie,

6 That they were not letted from buylding, vntyll the tyme that king Darius was certified thereof, and an answere receyued (from him.)

B 7 The copie of the letter which he wrote, & sent vnto Darius, Sisinnes gouernour of Syria and Phenice, and Sathrabusanes, with their companions, which are head rulers in Syria and Phenice, send their salutation vnto Darius the king.

8 We certifie our Lorde the king, that wee came into the lande of Iurie, and went to Ierusalem, where we found the auncients of the Iewes, that were of the captiuitie, in the citie of Ierusalem,

9 Buylding an house vnto the Lord, great and new, of hewen & costly stones, and the tymber already layde vpon the walles:

10 Yea, they make greate haste with the worke, and it goeth forth prosperously in their hands, and with great diligence and worshyp is it made.

11 Then asked wee the elders, saying, By whose commaundement buylde you vp this house, and lay the fundacions of these workes?

12 Which we demaunded of them, to ỹ intent that we myght giue knowledge vnto thee, & write vnto thee of those that gouerned it: & we required of them their names in writing, ỹ were their chiefe leders to it.

13 So they gaue vs this answere, We are the seruauntes of the Lorde whiche made heauen and earth.

14 And as for this house, it was buylded C many yeeres agone, by a king of Israel, 3. Reg. 6. i. great and strong, and was finished.

15 But when our fathers prouoked God vnto wrath, and sinned agaynst the Lorde of Israel, which is in heauen, he gaue them ouer into the power of Nabuchodonosor, 4. Reg. 24. Iere. 39. king of Babylon, of the Chaldees:

16 Which brake down the house, and burnt it, and caryed awaye the people prysoners vnto Babylon.

17 Neuertheleſſe in the first yeere that king 1. Esd. 5. i. Cyrus raygned ouer the countries of Babylon, Cyrus ỹ king wrote (and commaunded) to buylde vp this house (agayne.)

18 And the holy vessels of golde & of syluer, that Nabuchodonosor had caryed awaye out of the house at Ierusalem, & had dedicated thẽ in his own temple: those brought Cyrus forthe agayne out of the temple at Babylon, and delyuered them to Zorobabel, and to Sanaballarus the ruler:

19 Commaunding him that he should carrie away those same vessels, and put them in the temple at Ierusalem, and that the temple of the Lorde should be buylt in his (owne) place.

20 Then the same Sanaballarus, beeyng D come hyther, layde the foundacions of the house of the Lorde at Ierusalem, and from that to this, being still a buylding, it is not yet fully ended.

21 Nowe therefore, O king, if thou thinkest it good, let it be sought in the libraries (and rolles) of king Cyrus:

22 And if it be founde then that the buylding of the house of the Lorde at Ierusalem hath bene done with the (counsel and) consent of king Cyrus, and if our Lorde the kyng be so minded, lette him gyue answere vnto vs thereof.

23 Then cõmaunded king Darius to seeke 1. Esd. 6. b. in the kings libraries at Babylon: and so 2. Esd. 4. f. at Ecbatane, a towre in the region of Medea, there was founde a place where these things were layde vp for "memorie.

"or, remembrance.

24 In the first yeere of the raigne of Cyrus, (the same) king Cyrus commaunded that the house of the Lord at Ierusalem should be buylded againe, where they do sacrifice with with the continuall fire.

25 Whose heygth shalbe sixtie cubites, and the breadth sixtie cubites, with three rowes of hewen stones, and one rowe of woodde, newe, and of that countrey, and the expenses thereof, to be giuen out of the house of king Cyrus:

26 And the holy vessels of the house of the Lorde, bothe of golde, and of siluer, that Nabuchodonosor tooke out of the house at Jerusalem, and brought to Babylon, shoulde bee restored to the house at Jerusalem, and be set in the place where it was (before.)

E 27 And also he commaunded, that Sisinnes, the gouernour of Syria and Phenice, and Sathrabuzanes, with their companions, and others, constituted rulers in Syria and Phenice, shoulde take heede not to meddle with that place, but to suffer Zorobabel the seruaunt of the Lorde, and gouernour of Judea, and the elders of the Jewes, to buylde that house of the Lorde in that place.

28 I haue commaunded also to haue it buylt vp whole agayne, and that they bee diligent to helpe those that bee of the captiuitie of the Jewes, tyll the house of the Lorde be finished.

29 And out of the tribute of Coelosyria, and Phenice, a portion diligently to be gyuen those men, vnto the offerings of the Lord, and the same to be deliuered vnto Zorobabel the officer, that he therewithall may ordeyne Oxen, Rammes, Lambes,

30 And also corne, salte, wine, and oyle, and that continually euery yeere, after the expences whiche the Priestes that be at Jerusalem shal testifie to be made dayly (this shalbe gyuen vnto them) without delay,

1.Eld.6.b. 31 That they may offer sacrifices dayly to the hyghest God, for the King, and for his children, and to pray for their lyues.

32 And he commaunded also that whosoeuer shoulde breake any poynte of the foresayde and foredecreed things, or make it voyde, of his owne goodes shoulde a tree be taken, and he thereon be hanged, and all his goods sealoned vnto the King.

33 The Lord therfore, whose name is there called vppon, rote out, and destroy euery king & nation that stretcheth out his hande to hinder, or (hurt and) endomage that house of the Lorde in Jerusalem.

34 I Darius the king haue ordeyned, that according to these things it be done, with diligence.

The.vij. Chapter.

1. Sisinnes and his companions folow the kings commandement, and helpe the Iewes to build the temple. 5. The tyme that it was buylte. 10. They keepe the Passouer.

1 THen Sisinnes the gouernour in Coelosyria and Phenice, and Sathrabuzanes, with their companions, obeyed the things that king Darius had ordeyned. A

2 And were diligent assisters in the holye workes, working with the auncients and gouernours of the sanctuarie.

3 And so the holy workes went forth, and prospered, when Aggeus and Zacharias the Prophetes prophesied.

4 And they performed al things thorow the commaundement of the Lorde God of Israell, and with consent of Cyrus, Darius, and Artaxerxes king of Persia.

5 And thus was the holy house finished in the three and twentieth daye of the moneth Adar, in the sixth yeere of Darius king of the Persians.

6 And the children of Israel, the priestes, & the Leuites, & other that were of the captiuitie, that had any charge, did according to the things written in ỹ booke of Moses.

7 And to the dedication of the temple of the Lord, they offered an hundred "oxen, two hundred rammes, foure hundred lambes, B "or, bulles.

8 And twelue Goates, for the sinnes of all (the people of) Israel, after the number of the chiefe of the tribes of Israel.

9 The priestes also, and the Leuites, stode arayed in their long robes after their kinreds, in all the workes of the Lord God of Israel, according to the booke of Moses, and the porters at euery dore.

10 And the children of Israel, with those that were come out of captiuitie, helde the Passouer the fourteenth daye of the first moneth, after that the priestes and the Leuites were sanctified.

11 They that were of the captiuitie, were not all sanctified together: but the Leuites were all sanctified together.

12 And so they offered the Passouer for all them of the captiuitie, and for their brethren the priestes, and for themselues.

13 And the children of Israel that came out of captiuitie did eate, al they that had separated themselues from ỹ abhominatios of the people of the land, & sought the Lorde.

14 And they kept the feaste of vnleauened C bread seuen dayes long, making merry before the Lorde.

15 That the Lorde had turned the counsell of of the king of Illyria towardes them, to ſtrengthen their hands vnto the worke of the Lord God of Iſrael.

The viij. Chapter.

1. Eſdras commeth from Babylon to Hieruſalem. 10. The copie of the commiſsion gyuen by king Artaxerxes. 29. Eſdras giueth thanks to the Lord. 32. The number of the heads of the people that came with hym. 76. Hys prayer and confeſsion.

A 1 NOw after theſe things, when Artaxerxes the king of the Perſias raigned, there went vnto him Eſdras the ſonne of Saraias, the ſonne of Ezerias, the ſonne of Helchias, the ſonne of Salum,

1. Eſd. 7. d.

2 The ſonne of Sadoch, the ſonne of Achitob, the ſon of Amarias, the ſon of Ezias, the ſon of Meraioth, the ſon of Saraias, the ſon of Saueas, the ſon of Boccas, the ſon of Abiſum, the ſon of Phinees, the ſon of Eleazar, the ſonne of Aaron the firſte prieſt:

3 This Eſdras wente vp from Babylon, being a Scribe of good vnderſtanding in the lawe of Moſes, that was giuen by the Lord God of Iſrael.

4 And the king fauoured him, and did him greate (woorſhip and) honour, " after all his deſires.

" or, in all his suites.

5 There went vp with him alſo certaine of the children of Iſrael, of the prieſtes, of the Leuites, of the ſyngers, porters, and miniſters of the temple, vnto Hieruſalem.

6 In the ſeuenth yeere of the raigne of king Artaxerxes, in ẏ fifth moneth, which was the ſeuenth yeere (for they went from Babylon in the fyrſte daye of the firſte moneth,

B 7 And came to Hieruſalem, according as God gaue them ſpeede in their iourney,) 8 For Eſdras had gotte great knowledge to omit nothing of that was in the lawe and the commaundementes of the Lorde, and to teach all Iſrael all the " ordinaunces and iudgements.

" or, righteouſnesse.

9 The copie of the commiſſion which Artaxerxes the king wrote, & that was giuen to Eſdras the prieſt, and reader of the law of the Lord, this is it that followeth.

10 King Artaxerxes ſendeth his greeting vnto Eſdras the prieſte, and reader of the law of the Lord.

11 I hauing wayed things with pitie, haue (ordeyned and) charged, if there be any of the Iewes, of the prieſtes and Leuites in my " realme, which deſireth, & is content to goe with thee vnto Iſrael, ẏ he may do it.

" or, kingdome.

12 Therefore ſo many as long thereafter, lette them departe together, and go with thee, like as I am contente, and my ſeuen friends my counſaylers,

13 To ſee what they doe at Hieruſalem, and in Iurie, conueniently, according as thou haſt in the law of the Lord:

14 And to bring the gyftes vnto (God) the C Lorde of Iſrael, that I and my friendes haue " promiſed to Hieruſalem, and al the ſyluer and golde that in the countrey of Babylon may be founde (pertayning) to the Lord in Hieruſalem,

" or, vowed.

15 With the thing that is giuen of the people to the Lord their Gods temple at Hieruſalem: that the ſame ſiluer and gold may be gathered, for Oxen, Rammes, Sheepe, and Goates, and other that belong to theſe things, 16 That they may offer ſacrifices vnto the Lord, vpon the aulter of the Lorde theyr God which is at Hieruſalem.

17 And what ſo euer thou and thy brethren will doe with the ſiluer and golde, that do according to the will of thy God:

18 And the holy veſſels of the Lord, which are giuen thee for the ſeruice of the temple of thy God which is in Hieruſalem, thou ſhalt ſet thē before thy God in Hieruſalē.

19 And what ſoeuer thing els thou ſhalte remēber for ẏ vſe of the temple of thy god, thou ſhalt giue it out of ẏ kings treaſure.

20 And I king Artaxerxes haue alſo commaunded the keepers of the treaſures in D Syria and Phenice, that whatſoeuer Eſdras the prieſt, and the reader of the lawe of the higheſt God ſhall ſend for, they ſhuld giue it him with ſpeede:

21 Euen to the Summe of an hundred talents of ſyluer: of corne alſo an hundred " meaſures, and till an hundred " veſſels of wine, and other things abundantly.

" or, cores. " or pecces.

22 Let all things be done after the lawe of God diligently, vnto the higheſt God, that wrath come not vpō the kingdome of the king, and of his ſonnes.

23 I commaund you alſo, that ye require no tax nor tribute of the prieſts, Leuites, holy Singers, Porters, and Miniſters of the temple, nor of any that haue doinges in this temple, and that no man haue authoritie to put any impoſt vpon them.

24 As for thee, O Eſdras, ſet thou iudges and arbitrers to iudge in the whole land of Siria and Phenice after the wiſedome of God, all ſkilfull in the lawe of God, and teach ſuch as are ignorant.

25 And let al thē which ſhal offend againſt

the lawe of God and the King, bee diligently punished, whether it be by death or other payne, by punishment in money, or else by banishment.

Eſd.7.8. 26 Then sayde Eſdras the Scribe, Blessed be the onely Lord God of my fathers, that hath giuen so good a minde and wyll into the hart of the King, to magnifie his house that is at Jerusalem.

" or, honored me. 27 And hath " made mee to be accepted in the sight of the King, of his counsayle, of his frindes, and of his Nobles.

" or, of a good courage. 28 And so I was " stedfast in my mind, according as ẏ lord my God helped me, & I gathered vp men of Israel to go vp w̄ me.

☞ 29 And these are the guides after their families and orders of dignities, that went vp with me from Babylon, in the raigne of King Artaxerxes.

Eſd.8.b. 30 Of the sōnes of Phinees, Gersom: of ẏ sōnes of Ithamar, Gamaliel: of the sons of Dauid, Hattus the sōne of Cechemah.

31 Of the sonnes of Phares, Zacharias, & with him there returned agayne an hundred and fiftie men.

32 Of the sonnes of Pahath, Moab, Elioenai, the sonne of Zacharias, and with him two hundred men.

33 Of the sonnes of Zathoe, Shechenias the sonne of Jezolus, and with him three hundred men: and of the sonnes of Idin, Obed the sonne of Jonathan, and with him two hundred and fiftie men.

34 Of the sōnes of Elam, Jesias, sonne of Gotholias, and with him seuentie men.

35 Of the sonnes of Zapathias, Zarias, sōne of Machael, & with him seuēty men.

36 Of the sonnes of Joab, Badias, sonne of Jezelus, and with him two hundred and twelue men.

F 37 Of the sonnes of Banid, Asalimoth, sonne of Jolaphias, & with him an hundred and threescore men.

38 Of the sonnes of Babi, Zacharias, sōne of Bebai, & with him eyght and .xx. men.

39 Of the sonnes of Astath, Johannes, sonne to Acatan, and with him an hundred and ten.

40 Of the sonnes of Adonicam the laste: & these are the names of thē, Eliphalet, Jeouel, & Maias, & with them seuentie men.

41 Of the sonnes of Bagouthi, sonne of Iscacourus, and with him seuentie men.

42 All these called I togither by the water ☞ Thia, where we pitched our tentes three dayes, and there I mustred them.

43 As for the sonnes of the Priestes and Leuites, I found none there.

44 Then sent I vnto Eleazer, and behold there came Maasman, and Maloban.

45 And Alnathā, and Samaian, and Joribon, and Nathan, Ennatan, Zacharian, and Mosollamon the chiefe & best learned.

46 And I bade them that they shoulde go vnto Daddeus the captaine, which was in the place of the treasurie.

47 And cōmanded them that they shoulde G speake vnto Daddeus, and to his brethren, and to those that were the Treasurers, to sende vs suche men as myght execute the priestes office in the house of our Lord.

48 And with the mighty hand of our Lord (God) they brought vnto vs men of good " experience, from among the sonnes of Moli, the sonne of Leui, the sonne of Israel, Seredia, and his sonnes, and his brethren, which were eyghteene. " or, learning.

49 And Asebia and Amon, and Osaian his brethren, of the sonnes of Canaineus, their sonnes were twentie men.

50 And of them that serued in the Temple whom Dauid had ordeyned, and the principal men to the worke of the Leuites that were ministers in the temple, two hundred and twentie, whose names are all signed vp in writing.

51 And then commanded I a fasting vnto the yong men before ẏ Lord, that I might desire of him a prosperous iourney (and a good way) bothe for vs and them that were with vs, for our children, & for the cattaile.

52 For I feared to desire of the King men of horse and of fote, to conuey vs safely agaynst our enimies.

53 For we had sayde vnto the king, that the power of the Lord our God shold be with them ẏ seeke him, to direct thē in al things.

54 And therfore we besought our Lorde againe as touching these things, and found him fauourable vnto vs.

55 Then I separated from among ẏ chiefe of the tribes, and from the priestes, twelue men (to wit) Esebrias, and Assanias, and ten men of their brethren with them.

56 And I wayed them the gold and the siluer, and the holy vessels of the house of our Lorde, which the king & his counsaile, and his princes, and whole Israel had giuen.

57 And when I had wayed it, I deliuered it vnto them, fiue hundred and fiftie talentes of siluer, and an hundred talentes in siluer vessels, and an hundred talentes of golde.

58 And .xx. golden basons, & twelue vessels of brasse, cut fine brasse, like shining gold.

59 And I sayd vnto them, Ye are holy vnto the Lorde, and the vessels are holy, and the golde

"or, bowed. golde and the syluer is promised " vnto the Lord (God) of our fathers.

"or, watche. 60 Be " diligent now, and keepe it vntill the time that ye deliuer it to the chiefe of ỳ Priests and Leuites, and to the principall men of the families of Israel in Ierusalē, in the chambers of the house of our God.

1. Esd. 8. a. 61 So the Priestes and the Leuites which receyued of me the golde, the syluer, and the vesselles, broughte it vnto Ierusalem vnto the temple.

62 And from the riuer Thia we brake vp the twelfth day of the fyrst moneth, according to ỳ mighty hand of our Lord which was with vs, and from the beginning of our iourney the Lord deliuered vs from euery enimie, so ỳ we came vnto Ierusalē.

63 And when the third day was past there, the wayed golde and syluer was deliuered in the house of the Lord on ỳ fourth daye, vnto Marimoth the Priestes, & son of Jozi.

64 And with him was Eleazar the sonne of Phinees, and with them were Josabdus the sonne of Jesu, and Moeth the son of Sabbanus, Leuites: all was deliuered them by number and weight.

65 And all the weight of them was written vp the same houre.

66 After that, they that were come out of captiuitie, offered sacrifice vnto the Lord God of Israel, euen twelue Oxen for all Israel, fourescore and sixteene Rammes.

67 Threescore and twelue sheepe, twelue gotes for saluatiō, al in sacrifice to ỳ lord.

68 And the kings cōmission deliuered they vnto the kings stewards, and to the gouernours of Coelosyria and Phenice, who honoured the people & the temple of God.

2. Esd. 9. a. 69 Now when these things were done, the rulers came vnto me, and sayde, 70 The nation of Israel, the princes, the priestes, and Leuites, haue not put away from them the strange people of the land, nor the vncleannesse of the Gentiles, to wit, of the Chanaanites, Hethites, Pherezites, Jebusites, and the Moabites, Egyptians, and Edomites.

71 For both they and their sonnes haue mingled them selues with the daughters of them, and the holy seede is mixt with the strange people of the lande: and since ỳ beginning of ỳ affayres, ỳ rulers & head mē haue bin partakers of this wickednes.

2. Esd. 9. a. 72 And as sone as I hadde heard these thinges, immediatly I rente my clothes, and the holy garmente, and pulled out the heare of my head and my beard, and sate me downe sorowfull and heauie.

73 So all they that were moued through the word of the Lord God of Israel, came vnto me whiles I wept for the iniquitie: but I sate still, full of heauinesse, vntill the euening sacrifice.

74 Then stode I vp from fasting, hauing rent clothes and the holy garmente, and kneled downe vpon my knees, and helde out my hands vnto the Lord, 75 And sayde, O Lord, I am confounded and ashamed before thy face.

76 For our sinnes are become many, euen aboue our heads, and our ignorances are lifted vp euen vnto heauen:

77 For since the time of our fathers, we are in great sinne vnto this day.

78 And for ỳ sinnes of vs and our fathers, we with our brethren, & with our kinges, and with our priest, haue bin giuen vp vnto the kings of the earth, into the sworde, and into captiuitie, and became a spoyle with confusion (and shame) vnto this day.

79 And nowe, O Lorde God, how greate is the mercie that we haue gotten of thee? in that thou hast lefte vs a rote, & a name in the place of thy sanctuary, 80 And that thou hast discouered to vs a light in the house of the Lorde oure God, and hast giuen vs meate in the time of our seruitude.

81 And when we were in captiuitie, wee were not forsaken of the Lorde our God, but he made the kinges of Persia gratious and fauourable vnto vs, so that they gaue vs victuals (and meate.)

82 Yea, and honoured the temple of oure Lorde, and repayred the walled places of Sion, and gaue vs assurance in Jurie and Hierusalem.

83 And now, O Lord, what shall we saye, hauing al these thyngs (in possession?) For we haue broken thy commaundementes, whiche thou gauest vnto vs, by the handes of thy seruantes the prophets saying,

84 Because the lande which ye goe to possesse as an heritage, is a lād defiled with ỳ vncleannesse (and filthinesse) of the strangers of the lād, and with their abhomination they haue polluted it altogyther:

85 Therefore now shall ye not ioyne your daughters vnto youre sonnes, neyther marrie your daughters to their sonnes.

86 Moreouer, ye shall neuer seeke to make "or, wexe strong, and eate the good things of the lande. peace with them, that yee maye " increase and eate the best in the lande, and that ye may leaue the inheritance of the land vnto your children for euermore.

87 Is for ỳ things that are come to passe, they they come all for our wicked workes and great sinnes: for thou, O Lord, hast made our sinnes lyght.

88 And giuen vs such a rote: but we haue turned backe againe, so that we haue broken thy lawe, and mingled ourselues with the vncleannesse of ẏ outlandish heathen.

89 Mightest not thou be angry with vs, to destroy vs? so that thou shouldest leaue vs neyther rote, seede, nor name?

90 O Lorde God of Israel, thou art true: for our rote endureth yet vnto this present day.

91 And beholde, nowe are we before thee in our sinnes, neyther can wee stande before thee for them,

1.Es. 10. a 92 And when Esdras with his prayer had knowledged the sinne, weeping and lying flatte vpon the grounde before the temple, there gathered vnto him from Jerusalem, a great multitude of men and women, of yong men and maydens: for there was a very greate (weeping and) mourning among the multitude.

93 Then Jechonias the sonne of Jeheli, one of the children of Israel, cryed out, & sayd, O Esdras, wee haue sinned agaynste the Lorde God, (bycause) wee haue marryed strange women of the nation of the land.

94 And nowe al Israel hangeth in doubt:

" or, strangers. 95 We will sweare an oth therefore vnto the Lorde, that wee shall put awaye all our wyues whiche we haue taken of the " heathen, with their children.

95 Like as it may seeme good to thee: and to all those that obey the law of the Lord.

96 Stande vp, and put it in execution: for to thee doth this matter appertayne, and we are with thee, to adde thee strength.

97 So Esdras arose, & toke an othe of the chiefe of the priests & Leuites of al Israel, to do after these things: and they sware.

The. ix. Chapter.

7. After Esdras hadde reade the lawe for the strange wyues, 18. they promised to put them away.

1 THen Esdras rysing from the courte of the temple, went to the chamber of Joannan, the sonne of Eliasib,

" or, water. 2 And remayned there, & did eate no meat, nor drunke " drinke, weeping for ẏ greate wickednesse of the people.

3 And there was made a proclamation in all Jurie, and at Jerusalem, for all them that were of the captiuitie, that they shold gather togither at Jerusalem.

4 And that whoso euer met not there within two or three dayes, according as the elders that bare rule appoynted, their cattell shoulde be sealed to the vse of the temple, and hee bee excluded from them that were of the captiuitie.

5 And in three dayes were all they of the tribe of Juda and Beniamin, gathered togither at Jerusalem, the twentieth daye of the ninth moneth.

6 And the whole multitude sate trembling in the " court of the temple, for it was winter. " or, the large roome.

7 So Esdras arose vp, and sayde vnto B them, Yee haue done vnryghteously, in that yee haue taken " outlandishe wyues to marriage, and so to encrease the sinnes of Israel. " or, strange.

8 And nowe knowledge the same, and gyue prayse vnto the Lorde God of our fathers:

9 And perfourme his will, departing from the heathen of the lande, and from the " outlandishe wyues. " or, strange.

10 Then cryed the whole multitude, and sayde with a loude voyce, Lyke as thou hast spoken, so will we do.

11 But forsomuche as the people are many, and winter season, so that wee may not stande withoute the house: and bycause this worke is not a thing that can be finished in a day or two, seeyng we be many that haue sinned in these things:

12 Ordeyne therefore, that the rulers of the multitude, and they of our families, that haue strange wiues, tarrie.

13 And let the priestes and iudges come out of euery place in their time appoynted, till they swage the wrath of the Lorde in this businesse.

14 Then Jonathas the sonne of Azaiel, C and Ezechias the sonne of Thecan, receyued the charge of this matter, and Mosollam, and Leuis, and Sabatheus, helped them thereto.

15 And they that were of the captiuitie, dyd according to all these things.

16 And Esdras the priest chose vnto him the principal men from among ẏ fathers, and them all by name: and in the first day of the tenth moneth they sate togither, to examine this matter.

17 And so the matter was a determining, concerning the men that hadde marryed strange wyues, vntill the newe Mone of the first moneth:

18 And of ẏ priests that had mixt themselues with " outlādish wiues, there were founde, D " or, strange,

1.Esd.10.f. 19 Of the sonnes of Jesus, ỳ sonne of Josedec, and his bretheren, Mathelas, Elezar, Joribus, and Joadanus:
20 Which offered themselues to put away their wyues, and to offer a Ramme vnto reconcilement for their purgation.
D 21 And of ỳ sonnes of Emmer, Ananias, and Zabdeus, and Canes, and Sameius, and Hierecl, and Azarias.
22 And of the sonnes of Phaisu, Ellionas, Massias, Elmaelus, and Nathanael, and Ocidelus, and Talsas.
23 And of the Leuites, Jozabadus, and Semis, and Colius, who was called Calitas, & Patheus, & Doudas, and Jonas.
24 Of the holy singers, Eliazurus, Bacchurus.
25 Of the porters, Sallumus, and Tolbanes.
26 Of them of Israel, of ỳ sonnes of Phorus, Hiermas, and Eddias, and Melchias, and Maelus, and Elcazar, and Asibias, and Banaias.
27 Of the sonnes of Ela, Matthanias, Zacharias, and Hierelas, & Hieremoth, and Jedias.
E 28 And of ỳ sonnes of Zamoth, Eliadas, Elisimus, Othonias, Jarimoth, and Sabatus, and Sardeus.
29 Of the sonnes of Bebai, Joannes, and Ananias, and Josabad, and Ematheus.
30 Of the sonnes of Mani, Olamus, Mamuchus, Jedaias, Jasubus, Jasael, and Jeremoth.
31 And of the sonnes of Addi, Naathus, Moolias, Laccunus, and Naidus, and Matthanias, and Selchel, and Balnuus, and Manasseas.
32 And of the sonnes of Annas, Elionas, and Aseas, and Melchias, and Sabbeus, and Simon a Chosamite.
33 And of the sonnes of Asom, Altaneus, and Matthias, and Banaias, Eliphalet, and Manasses, and Semei.
34 And of ỳ sonnes of Maani, Jeremias, Momdis, Omairus, Inel, Mamai, and Baclias, and Amos, Carabasion, and Euasibus, and Mammimatanaius, Eliasis, Uamus, Eliali, Samis, Selemias, Nathanias: and of the sonnes of Ozoras, Sesis, Esril, Ezailus, Samatas, Sambis, Josiphus.
F 35 And of the sonnes of Ethna, Mazitias, Zabadias, Ethes, Inel, Banaias.
"or, strange. 36 All these had taken "outlandish wome to marryage, and they put them awaye with their children.
37 And the priestes and Leuites, and (all) they that were of Israel, dwelt at Jerusalem, and throughout all the land, in their "newe Mone of the seuenth moneth: and the children of Israel were in their "dwellings.
" or, first day
" or, owne houses.
38 And the whole multitude came together with one accorde, into the wyde place before the east gate of the temple.
39 And they spake vnto Esdras the hyghe priest and reader, that hee woulde bring the lawe of Moses, which had bene giuen of the Lorde God of Israel.
40 So Esdras the hygh priest brought the lawe vnto the whole multitude, to man, & woman, and to all priestes, that they might heare the lawe, in the "newe mone of the seuenth moneth.
2. Esd 3.1
" or, beginning.
41 And he read in the first wyde place that is before the porte of the temple, from the morning early, vnto midday, before men and women: and they applied their minde all vnto the lawe.
42 And Esdras the priest and reader of the lawe, stode vp vppon a pulpit of woodde, whiche was made therefore:
43 And vppon his right hande, there stode by him Mathathias, Samus, Ananias, Azarias, Urias, Ezechias, and Balasan:
44 Vppon his lefte hande stode Faldeus, & Sael, Melchias, Iothasaphus, and Nabarias.
45 Then toke Esdras the booke of the law, before the whole multitude (for hee was the principall, and had in moste honour of them all.)
46 And when he expounded the lawe, they stode all straight vpon their feete, So Esdras "prayed the Lorde the moste hyghe God, the almightie God of hostes.
" or, blessed
47 And all the people answered, Amen.
48 And Jesus, Inus, Sarabias, Adimus, Iacobus, Bataias, Autumas, Maianias, Calitas, Azarias, Iohalabdus, Ananias, & Biatas, the Leuites, lifte vp their handes, and fell downe on the grounde, and worshipped the Lorde.
49 And taught the lawe of the Lorde, and were earnestly occupyed togyther in the reading thereof.
50 Then spake Atharates vnto Esdras the high priest and reader, and to the Leuites that taught the multitude, saying:
51 This day is holy vnto the Lord: and all when they heard the law, wept.
52 (So Esdras sayde,) Departe your waye therefore, and eate the fatte meates, and drinke the sweete drinkes, and sende giftes vnto them that haue nothing.
2. Esd. 8.1

53 For this day is holy vnto the Lorde, and be not ye ſory: for the Lord will bring you to honour.

54 So the Leuites " publyſhed all theſe things to the people, ſaying, This day is holy to the Lorde, be not ſory.

55 Then went they their way euery one to eate and drinke, and were merry, and ſent preſentes to them that had nothing, and made very good cheere:

56 For they were as yet " fylled with the woordes that had beene taughte them, and for the whiche they hadde beene aſſembled.

The. ij. Chapter.

2. The Synagogue findeth faulte with hir owne children. 18. The Gentiles are called.

1 THus sayeth the Lorde, I brought this people oute of bondage, I gaue them my commaundementes by my seruantes the prophetes, whome they woulde not heare, but despised my counsailes. I

2 The mother that bare them, sayeth vnto them, Go your way yee children, for I am a widowe, and forsaken.

3 I broughte you vp with gladnesse, but with sorowe and heauinesse haue I losse you: for yee haue sinned before the Lorde your God, and done that thing that is euill before him.

4 But what shall I nowe do vnto you? I am a wydowe, and forsaken: Go your waye, O my children, and aske mercie of the Lorde.

5 As for me, O father, I cal vpon thee for a witnesse ouer the mother of these children, whiche woulde not keepe my couenant:

6 That thou bring them to confusion, and their mother to a spoyle, that shee beare no more.

7 Let their names be scattered abroade a- B mong the heathen, lette them be put out of the earth: for they haue "thought scorne of my couenant. "or, despised pitche, and heapes of asshes: Euen so also wyll I do vnto all them that heare mee not, sayeth the almightie Lorde.

8 Wo be vnto thee Assur, thou that hydest the vnrighteous in thee; thou wicked people, remember what I did vnto Sodome and Gomorre, Gen.19.

10 Thus sayth the Lord vnto Esdras, Tel my people that I wil giue them the kingdome of Jerusalem, which I woulde haue gyuen vnto Israel.

11 Their glory also will I take vnto mee, and gyue them the euerlasting tabernacles which I had prepared for those.

12 They shall haue the tree of lyfe at wyll, as in the sweete sauour of oyntment, they shall neyther labour, nor be weery.

13 Go ye your way, and ye shall receiue it: Praye that there may bee but fewe dayes, and the long tyme may bee shortened for thee: The kyngdome is already prepared for you, therefore watche.

C 14 Take heauen and earth to witnesse, for I haue broken the euill in peeces, and created the good: for I lyue, sayth the Lorde.

15 Mother embrace thy children, and bring them vp with gladnesse, make their feete as faste as a piller: for I haue chosen thee, sayth the Lorde.

16 And those that be deade, will I rayse vp againe from their places, and bring them out of the graues: for I haue knowen my name in Israel.

17 Feare not thou mother of ỹ children: for I haue chosen thee, sayth the Lorde.

18 And for thy help, I shal send thee my seruants Esai & Jeremie, after whose counsaile I haue sanctified & prepared for thee twelue trees laden with diuers fruites, 19 And as many fountaines flowing with mylke and honie, & seuen mightie mountaynes, whereupon there growe Roses and Lilyes, whereby I will fill thy children with ioy.

20 Execute iustice for the widow, iudge for the fatherlesse, giue to the poore, defende the fatherlesse, cloth the naked,

D 21 Heale the wounded and sicke, laugh not a lame man to scorne, defende the creeple, and let the blinde come into the lyghte of my clearenesse.

22 Keepe the olde and yong that are within thy walles:

Tobi.1.b. 23 Whersoeuer thou findest the dead, take them and burie them, & I shall giue thee the firste place in my resurrection.

24 Abyde still, O my people, and take thy reste, for thy quietnesse shall come.

25 Feede thy children, O thou good nurse, stablishe their feete.

26 As for the seruants whom I haue giuen thee, there shall not one of them perishe: for I wyll seeke them out among thy number.

27 Be not weery: for whē the day of trouble and heauinesse commeth, other shall weepe and be sorowfull, but thou shalt bee merrie and plenteous.

28 The heathen shall bee lesse (as it) but they shall be able to do nothing agaynste thee, sayth the Lorde.

29 My hands shal couer thee, so ỹ thy children shall not see the "fire euerlasting. "or, hell.

30 Bee ioyfull, O thou mother with thy children, for I will deliuer thee, sayth the Lorde.

31 Remember thy children that sleepe, for I shall bring them out of the sides of the earth, and shewe mercie vnto them: for I am mercifull, sayth the Lorde almightie.

32 Embrace thy children vntil I come, and shewe mercie vnto them: for my "welles runne ouer, and my grace shall not fayle. E "or, fountaynes.

33 I Esdras receiued a charge of the Lorde vpon the mount Oreb, that I shoulde go vnto Israel: but whē I came vnto them, they sette mee at naught, and despised the commaundementes of the Lorde.

34 And therfore I say vnto you, O ye heathen, that heare and vnderstande, "Looke for your shepheard, he shall giue you euerlasting reste: for he is nygh at hande that shall come in the ende of the worlde. "or, Wayte.

35 Bee readie to the rewarde of the kingdome, for the euerlasting lyght shall shine vpon you for euermore.

36 Flee the shadowe of this worlde, receiue the ioyfulnesse of your glory: I testifie my sauiour openly.

37 O receiue the gift that is giuen you, & be glad, giuing thankes vnto him that hath called you to the heauenly kingdome.

38 Aryse vp, and stande faste: beholde the number of those that be sealed "in ỹ feaste "or, fold. of the Lorde.

39 Whiche are departed from the shadowe of the worlde, and haue receiued glorious garmentes of the Lorde.

40 Take thy number, O Sion, and shutte vp "thy purified, whiche haue fulfilled the lawe of the Lorde. "or, those of thine, that are clothed in white.

41 The number of thy children whom thou longedst for, is fulfilled: beseeche the power of the Lorde, that thy people whiche haue bene called from the beginning, may bee halowed. F

42 I Esdras saw vpon the mount Sion a greate people, whome I could not number: and they all prayed the Lorde with songs (of thankesgiuing.) Apoc.7.a.

43 And in the middest of them, there was a yong man of an high stature, more excellent than all they, and vpon euery one of their heades he set crownes, and was euer "higher and higher, whiche I marueyled at greatly.

"or, and was higher thā the other.

44 So I asked the Angel, and sayde, Sir, What are these?

45 He answered, and saide vnto me: These bee they that haue put off the mortall clothing, and put on the immortall, and haue "testified and knowledged the name of God: Nowe are they crowned, and receyue the "rewarde.

"or, haue confessed.

46 Then sayde I vnto the Angell, What yong person is it that crowneth them, and giueth them the palmes in their handes?

47 So he answered, and sayde vnto me, It is the sonne of God, whome they haue "knowledged in the worlde: Then began I greatly to commende them, that stode so stiffely for the name of the Lorde.

"or, confessed.

48 Then the Angel sayde vnto me, Go thy way, and tell my people what manner of things, and howe greate wonders of the Lorde thy God thou hast seene.

The. iij. Chapter.

4. The woonderous woorkes whiche God dyd for the people, are recited. 31. Esdras mar ueleth that god suffered the Babyloniās to haue rule ouer his people, which yet are sinners also.

1 IN the thirtieth yeere after the fall of the citie, I was at Babylon, and lay troubled vpon my bed, and my thoughtes came vp ouer my heart:

2 For I sawe the desolation of Sion, and the plenteous wealth of them that dwelt at Babylon.

3 And my spirite was sore moued, so that I began to speake fearefull woordes to the moste highest, and sayde,

4 O Lorde, Lorde, thou spakest at the beginning, when thou plantedst the earth, (and that thy selfe alone) and gauest commaundement vnto the people,

5 And a body vnto Adam without soule, whiche was a "creature of thy handes, and hast breathed in him the breath of life, and so he lyued before thee.

"or, woorkemanshippe.

6 And thou leddest him into Paradise, whiche thy right hande had planted, or euer the earth brought fruites.

B 7 And vnto him thou gauest commaundement to loue thy way, whiche he transgressed, and immediatly thou appointedst death in him, and in his generations: of whome came nations, tribes, people, and kinredes, out of number.

8 And euery people walked after their own wyll, and did woonderfull things before thee: and as for thy commaundementes they despised them. Gen 6.b.

9 But "in processe of tyme, thou broughtest the water flood vpon those that dwelt in the worlde, and destroyedst them: Gen. 7. b. "or, at time appointed.

10 So that by ẏ flodde, that was wrought in eche of them, ẏ was by death in Adam.

11 Neuertheless, one of them thou leftest, namely, Noe with his household, of whom came all ryghteous men.

12 And it "happened, that when they that dwelt vpon the earth, began to multiplie, and had gotten them many children, and were a greate people, they beganne to bee more vngodly than the firste. "or, came to passe.

13 Now when they lined so wickedly before thee, thou didst chose thee a man from among them, whose name was Abraham.

14 Him thou louedst, and vnto him onely thou shewedst thy will. C

15 And madest an euerlasting couenaunte with him, promising him that thou wouldest neuer forsake his seede.

16 And vnto him thou gauest Isahac: vnto Isahac also thou gauest Jacob and Esau. As for Jacob thou didst chose him to thee and put backe Esau: And so Jacob became a greate multitude. Gen. 21. f. Gen. 25. f. Gen. 32. f.

17 And it came to passe, that when thou leddest his seede oute of Egypte, thou broughtest them vp to the mount Sina, Exo. 19. f. Deut. 4. b.

18 Bowing downe the heauens, "setting fast the earth, mouing the grounde, making the deapthes to shake, and "troubling the worlde. "or, abasing. "or, astonishing.

19 And thy glorie went throughe foure "portes of fire, & earthquakes, and windes, and colde: that thou myghtest gyue the lawe vnto the seede of Jacob, and "diligence vnto the generation of Israel. "or gates. "or, and the which the generation of Israel should keepe with diligence.

20 And yet tookest thou not awaye from them that wicked hart, that thy law might bring forth fruite in them.

21 For the firste Adam bearing a wycked hart, transgressed and was ouercome: and so be all they that are borne of him. D

22 Thus remained weakenesse stil, and the lawe in the heartes of the people, with the wickednesse of the rote: so that the good departed away, and the euill abode still. Rom. 8. f. 1. Reg. 15. f.

23 So the tymes passed awaye, and the yeeres were brought to an ende: Then diddest thou rayse thee vp a seruant called Dauid. 3. Reg. 5. f.

14 Whom thou commaundedst to buyld a citie vnto thy name, & to offer vp incense and sacrifice vnto thee therein.

25 When this was done nowe manye yeres, then the inhabitours of the citie forsoke them, 26 And in al things, did euen as Adam and and all his generations had done: for they also had a wicked heart.

℈ 27 And so thou gauest the citie ouer into the handes of thine enimies.

28 But do they of Babylon then any thing better, that they should therefore haue the dominion in Sion?

29 For when I came thither, & sawe there so great wickednesse, that it coulde not be numbred: then my soule sawe many euill dwers in this thirtieth yeere, so that my hart fayled mee:

30 For I sawe howe thou suffredst therein such vngodlinesse, and sparedst the wicked dwers: but thyne owne people hast thou rooted out, and preserued thine enimies, & this hast thou not shewed "or, it. me.

"or, commeth to passe. 31 I cannot perceiue how this "happeneth. Do they of Babylon then better than they of Sion?

32 Or is there any other people that knoweth thee, sauing the people of Israel? or what generation hath so beleeued thy "couenantes, as Jacob? "or, testimonies.

33 And yet their rewarde appeareth not, and their labour hath no fruite: for I haue gone here and there through the heathen, and I see that they be "rich & wealthie, and thinke not vpon thy commaundementes. "or, flowe in wealth.

34 Waygh thou therefore our wickednesse nowe in the ballance, and theirs also that dwell in the worlde: and so shal thy name be no where founde but in Israel.

35 Or when was it that they which dwell vpon earth, haue not sinned in thy sight? or what people hath so kept thy commanmentes?

36 Thou shalt finde, that Israel by name hath kept thy preceptes: but not the (other people and) heathen.

The.iiij. Chapter.

The Angel reproueth Esdras, bicause he seemed to enter into the profound iudgementes of God.

A 1 AND the Angel that was sent vnto me, whose name was Uriel, gaue mee an answere,

2 And sayde, thy heart hath taken to muche vpon it in this world, and thou thinkest to comprehende the way of the highest.

3 Then sayd I, Yea my Lord. And he answered me, and sayde, I am sent to shewe thee three wayes, and to set forth three similitudes before thee:

4 Whereof if thou canst declare me one, I will shew thee also the way that thou desirest to see: and I shall shewe thee from whence the wicked heart commeth.

5 And I sayd, Tel on my Lord. Then sayde he vnto mee, Go thy way, waygh mee the waygt of the fire, or measure me the blast of the wind, or cal me againe the day that is past.

6 Then answered I, and sayde, What man borne, is able to do that, that thou shouldest aske suche things of mee?

7 And he sayde vnto me, If I should aske B thee how deepe dwallings are in the middest of the sea, or how great water springs are in the beginning of the deepe, or howe greate water springs are vpon the streatching out of the heauens, or which are the outgoings of Paradise: "or, borders.

8 Peraduenture thou wouldest say vnto me, I neuer went down yet into y deepe, nor hel, neither did I euer clime vp into heauē.

9 Neuertheless, nowe haue I asked thee but only of fire, and winde, and of the day, wherethrough thou hast trauayled, and from the whiche thou canst not be separated: and yet canst thou giue mee no answere of them.

10 He sayd moreouer vnto me, Thine owne things, and suche as are growen vp with thee, canst thou not knowe:

11 Howe shoulde thy vessell then be able to comprehende the way of the highest: and nowe outwardly in the corrupt worlde to vnderstande the corruption that is euident in my sight?

12 Then sayde I vnto him, It were better that we were not at al, thā that we should lyue in wickednesse, and to suffer, and not to knowe wherefore.

13 He answered me, and sayde, I came to a Iud.9.b. forrest in a plaine, and the trees toke suche 2.Par.25.c. a deuise,

14 And sayde, Come, let vs go, and fight a- C gaynst the sea, that it may depart awaye before vs, & that wee may make yet more woodes, 15 The floodes of the sea also in like manner toke counsaile, and sayde, Come, lette vs go vp, and fight agaynste the trees of the woode, that there wee may make vs another countrey.

16 The thought (and deuise) of the woodde was but vayne (and nothing woorth:) for the fire came and consumed it.

17 The thought of the floodes of the Sea came likewise to nought also: for ỹ lande stode vp, and stopped them.

18 If thou were iudge nowe betwixt these two, whome wouldest thou iustifie, or whome wouldest thou condemne?

19 I answered, and sayd, Verily it is a fowlishe thoughte that they bothe haue deuised: for the grounde is gyuen vnto the woodde, and the sea also hath his place to beare his floodes.

20 Then answered he mee, and sayd, Thou hast gyuen a ryght iudgement: but why iudgest thou not thy selfe also?

D 21 For like as the grounde is gyuen vnto the wood, and the sea to his floodes: euen so they that dwell vpon earth, may vnderstande nothing but that whiche is vppon earth: and he that dwelleth aboue the heauens, maye onely vnderstande the thinges that are aboue the heauens.

Esai. 45. c. John. 3. c. 1. Cor. 2. b.

22 Then answered I, and sayde, I beseeche thee, O Lord, let me haue vnderstanding.

D 23 For it was not my mynde * to bee curious of thy highe things, but of suche as wee dayly meddle withall, namely, as wherefore Israel is gyuen vp as a reproche to the heathen, and for what cause the people whome thou hast loued, is gyuen ouer vnto vngodly nations, and why the lawe of our forefathers is brought to nought, and the written * couenauntes come to none effect?

* Or, desire to enquire

* Or, promises.

24 And we passe awayout of the world as the Grashoppers, and our lyfe is a very feare, and we are not worthie to obteyne mercie.

25 What wyll hee dow then vnto his name whiche is called vppon ouer vs? Of these thinges haue I asked question.

26 Then answered he mee, and sayde, The more thou searchest, the more thou shalt marueyle, for the worlde hasteth fast to passe away, 27 And cannot comprehend the things that are promised to the ryghteous in tyme to come: for this worlde is full of vnrighteousnesse, and weakenesse.

2. Ioh. 5. c.

28 But as concerning the things whereof thou askest mee, I will tell thee: The euill is sowen, but the destruction thereof is not yet come.

E 29 If the euill nowe that is sowen bee not turned vpside downe, and if the place where the euyll is sowen passe not away: then cannot the thing come, that is sowen with good.

30 For the corne of euyll seede hath beene sowen in the hearte of Adam from the beginning: and howe muche vngodlynesse hath hee brought vp vnto this tyme? and howe muche shall he yet bring forth, vntill he come into the barne?

31 Ponder nowe by thy selfe howe greate frute of wickednesse the corne of euil seede bringeth forth.

32 And when the stalkes shalbe cut downe, whiche are without number, howe greate a barne shall it fill?

33 Then I answered and sayde, How and when shall these things comme to passe? Wherefore are our yeeres fewe and euyll?

34 And he answered mee, saying, Hast not thou to much aboue the moste highest: for thy haistynesse to bee aboue him, is but vayne, though thou dow all that thou canst for it. Apoc. 6. d.

35 Did not the soules also of the ryghteous aske question of these things in their chãbers, saying, Howe long shall I hope on this fashion? when commeth the fruite of my barne, and our rewarde?

36 And vppon this, Jeremiel tharchangel gaue them answere, & sayde. Euen when the number of the seedes is filled in you: for he hath wayghed the worlde in the balance.

37 In measure & number hath he measured the tymes, and moueth it not, nor shaketh it, vntill the sayde measure be fulfilled.

38 Then answered I, and sayde, O Lorde, Lorde, nowe are we all full of sinne.

39 And for our sake peraduenture it is, that the barne of the ryghteous are not fulfilled, bicause of the sinnes of them that dwel vpon the earth.

40 So he answered me, and sayde, Go thy way to a woman with childe, and aske of hir when shee hath fulfilled hir nyne monethes, if hir wombe may keepe the byrth any longer within hir?

41 Then sayde I, No Lorde, that can shee not. And he sayde vnto me, In the graue, the secrete places of soules are lyke the wombe of a woman.

42 For lyke as a woman that trauayleth, maketh haste to escape the necessitie of the trauayle: euen so do these places haste to delyuer those things that are committed vnto them.

43 Loke what thou desirest to see, it shalbe shewed thee from the beginning.

44 Then answered I, and saide, If I haue

founde fauour in thy ſight, and if it be poſſible, and if I be meete therefore,

45 Shewe me then whether there be more to come, than is paſt, or more paſt than is for to come.

46 What is paſt, I knowe: but what is for to come, I knowe not.

C 47 And he ſayde vnto me, Stand vp vpon the right ſide, and I ſhall expounde the ſimilitude vnto thee.

48 So I ſtode, and beholde, an hote burning Ouen paſſed by before me: & it happened that when the flame was gone by, I looked, and behold the ſmoke had the vpper hande.

49 After this, there paſſed by before me a water cloude, and ſent downe much rayne with a ſtorme: and when the ſtormie raine was paſt, " the drops remained ſtill.

" or, the little droppes came after.

50 Then ſayde he vnto me, Conſyder with thy ſelfe: like as the rayne is more than the droppes, and as the fire exceedeth the ſmoke: euen ſo the meaſure of the thinges that are paſt, hath the vpper hand, and the drops and ſmoke worke much in quantity.

51 Then I prayed, and ſayde, May I lyue, thinkeſt thou, vntill that tyme? or what ſhall happen in thoſe dayes?

52 He anſwered me, and ſayde, As for the tokens whereof thou aſkeſt me, I may tell thee of them in part: but as touching thy life, I am not ſent to ſhew thee: for I do not knowe it.

The.v. Chapter.

1. In the latter times trueth ſhall be hydde. 6. Vnrighteouſneſſe and all wickedneſſe ſhall raigne in the worlde. 23. Iſraell is reiected, and God delyuereth them. 35. God doth all things in ſeaſon.

I 1 MEeuertheleſſe, as concerning the tokens (marke this:) Beholde, the dayes ſhall come, that they whiche dwell vpon earth ſhal be taken in a great number, and the way of the trueth ſhall be hyd, and the lande ſhall be barren from fayth:

Mat. 24. a. 2 But iniquitie ſhall be increaſed aboue that which nowe thou ſeeſt, or that thou haſt heard long agoe.

3 And the lande that thou ſeeſt now to haue rule, ſhalt thou ſhortly ſee waſte.

4 But if God graunt thee to lyue, thou ſhalt ſee after the thyrde trumpet, that the Sunne ſhall ſodainly ſhyne agayne in the night, & the Moone three times in the day:

5 And blood ſhall droppe out of wood, and the ſtone ſhall giue his voyce, and the people ſhall be vnquieted:

6 And euen he ſhall rule, whome they hope not that dwell vpon earth, and the foules that flitte:

7 And the Sodomitiſhe ſea ſhall caſt oute the fiſhe, and make a noyſe in the nyght, which manye haue not knowne, but they ſhall all heare the voyce thereof. B

8 There ſhall be a confuſion alſo in many places, and the fire ſhall be ofte ſent out againe: the wilde beaſts ſhal change their place, and menſtruous women ſhall beare monſters.

9 And ſalte waters ſhall be founde in the ſweete, and all friendes ſhall fight one againſt another: then ſhall all wit and vnderſtanding be hid, and put aſide into their ſecrete places:

10 And ſhall be ſought of manye, and yet not be founde: then ſhall vnrighteouſneſſe and " voluptuouſneſſe haue the vpper hande vpon earth.

" or, inconti-nencie.

11 One lande alſo ſhall aſke another, and ſaye, Is tyghteouſneſſe, " that maketh a man righteous, gone through thee? And it ſhall ſay, No.

" or, that iniquitie. or, that doth righteouſely.

12 At the ſame time ſhall men hope, but nothing obtayne: they ſhall labour, but their wayes ſhall not proſper.

13 To ſhew thee ſuch tokens I haue leaue: and if thou wilt pray agayne, and weepe as nowe, and faſt ſeuen dayes, thou ſhalte heare yet greater things.

14 Then I awaked, and a fearefulneſſe C went through all my body, and my mynd was feeble, ſo that I almoſt ſowned thall:

15 So the angell that was come to talke with me, helde me, comforted me, and ſet me vp vpon my feete.

16 And in the ſecond night it came to paſſe, that Salathiel, the captayne of the people, came vnto me, ſaying. Where haſt thou bene? and why is thy countenaunce ſo heauie?

17 Knoweſt thou not that Iſraell is committed vnto thee in the lande of their captiuitie?

18 Vp then, and eate, and forſake vs not, as the Shepheарde that leaueth his flocke " of, cruell. in the handes of " wicked wolues.

19 Then ſayd I vnto him, Get thy wayes from me, and come not nighe me. And he hearde it, and as I ſayde, ſo went he his way from me.

20 And ſo I faſted ſeuen dayes, mourning D and weeping, like as Vriel the angell commaunded me.

21 And after ſeuen dayes it was ſo that the thoughtes of my heart were very grieuous vnto me agayne,

22 And my soule receyued the spirite of vnderstanding, and I beganne to talke with the most highest againe,

23 And sayde, O Lorde, Lorde, of euerie wood of the earth, & ofall the trees therof, thou hast chosen thee one onely vineyard:

24 And of all landes of the whole worlde, thou hast chosen one pit, and of all floures of the grounde, thou hast chosen thee one Lilye:

25 And of all the depthes of the sea, thou hast filled thee one riuer: and of all builded cities, thou hast halowed Sion vnto thy selfe:

26 And of all the foules that are created, thou hast named thee one Doue: and of al the cattell that are made, thou hast prouided thee one Sheepe:

E 27 And among all the multitudes of peoples, thou hast gotten thee one people: and vnto this people whome thou louedst, thou gauest a lawe that is proued of all.

28 And nowe, O Lorde, why hast thou giuen ouer this one people vnto many? and vpon the one wote thou haste "prepared others, and why haste thou scattered thy only people among many?

"or, let.

29 Which treade them downe, yea which haue euer withstande thy promyses, and neuer beleeued thy couenantes.

30 If thou diddest so much hate thy people, yet shouldest thou punish them with thine owne handes.

31 Now when I had spoken these wordes, the angell that came to me the night afore, was sent vnto me, 32 And sayde vnto me, Heare me, and I will instructe thee: hearken to the thing that I saye, and I shall tell thee more.

33 And I sayd, Speake on my Lord. Then sayde he vnto me, Thou art sore troubled in mynd for Israels sake: louest thou that people better than he that made them?

34 And I sayd, No Lord, but of very grief (and compaſsion) haue I spoken: for my reynes payne me euerie houre, bycause I would "haue experience of the waye of the most highest, and seeke out parte of hys iudgement.

"or, comprehende.

"or, canst not.

35 And he sayde vnto me, That thou "mayest not. And I sayd, Wherfore Lord? wherevnto was I borne then? or why was not my mothers wombe then my graue, that I might not haue seene the miserie (and trouble) of Jacob, and the wearying out of the stocke of Israell?

36 And he sayde vnto me, Number me the things that are not yet come, gather me together the droppes that are scattered abroad, make me the floures greene againe that are withered, 37 Open me the places that are closed, and bring me forth the wyndes that in them are shut vp, shew me the image of a voice: and then I will declare to thee the thing that thou laboures to knowe.

38 And I sayde, O Lorde, Lord, who may knowe these things, but he that hath not his dwelling with men?

39 As for me, I am vnwise: howe maye I then speake of these things, whereof thou askest me?

40 Then sayde he vnto me, Like as thou canst do none of these things that I haue spoken of: euen so canst thou not find out my iudgement, or in the ende, the loue that I haue promysed vnto my people.

41 And I sayde, Beholde, O Lorde, yet art thou nygh vnto them that be reserued tyll the end: and what shall they do that haue bene before me, or we that be nowe, or they that shall come after vs?

42 And he sayde vnto me, I will lyken my iudgement vnto a ryng: lyke as there is no slacknesse of the last, euen so there is no swiftnesse of the first.

43 So I answered and sayde, Couldest thou not make those that haue bene made and be nowe, and that are for to come, at once, that thou mightest shewe thy iudgement the sooner?

44 Then answered he me, and sayde, The creature may not haste "aboue the maker, neyther may the world holde them at once, that shall be created therein.

"or, before.

45 And he sayde, As thou hast sayde vnto thy seruant, that thou which quickenest all things, hast geuen life at once to the creature (or woorke) that thou hast created, and the creature bare it: euen so myght it nowe also beare them that be nowe present at once.

46 And he sayde vnto me, Aske the wombe of a woman, and saye vnto hir, If thou bringest forth children, why beres thou it not together, but one after another? Pray hir therefore to bring forth tenne children at once.

47 And I sayde, She can not, but must do it by distance of time.

48 Then sayde he vnto me, Euen so haue I diuided by distance of time, the thyrde bed of the earth, for those that be sowen vpon hir.

49 For like as a yong chyld may not bring forth the things that belong to the aged:
euen so haue I ordeyned "or, the time. the world which I created.

50 And I asked, and sayde, Seeing thou hast nowe giuen me the way, I will pro-ceede to speake before thee: for our mother, of whome thou haste tolde me that she is yong, draweth she nowe nigh vnto age?

51 He answered me, and sayde, Aske a woman that beareth children, and she shal tell thee.

52 Saye vnto hir, Wherefore are not they whome thou hast brought forth, like those that were before thee, but lesse of stature?

53 And she shall answere thee, They that be borne in the youth of strength, are of one fashion: and they that are borne in the time of age (when the wombe fayleth) are otherwise.

54 Consider nowe thy selfe, howe that ye are lesse of stature, than those that were before you:

55 And so are they that come after you lesse than ye, as the creatures which nowe beginne to be olde, and haue passed ouer the strength of youth.

56 Then sayde I, Lorde I beseech thee, if I haue founde fauour in thy sight, shew thy seruaunt by whome thou visitest thy "or, worke-manship. creature?

The. vi. Chapter.

1. God hath foreseene all things in his secrete counsayle, and is authour thereof, and hathe created them for his children. 25. The felicitie of the age to come.

1 AND he sayde vnto me, In the beginning, when the "or, compasse of the earth. grounde was made, before the dores of the world stode, or euer
the windes blewe.

2 Before it thundred and lightned, or euer
the foundations of Paradise were layde,

3 Before the fayre floures were seene, or e-uer the moueable powers were stablished, before the innumerable "or, armies. multitude of angels were gathered together,

4 Or euer the highnesses of the ayre were lyfted vp, afore the measures of the fyrmament were named, or euer the chimneys in Sion were hote,

5 And or the present yeres were sought out, and or euer the inuentions of them that nowe sinne, were "or, turned away. put aside, before they were sealed that haue gathered fayth for a treasure:

6 Then did I consider, and ponder al these thinges, and they all were made through me alone, and through none other: by me also they shal be ended, and by none other.

7 Then answered I, and sayd, What shal B be "or, diuision. the parting a sunder of the times? or when shall be the ende of the first, and the beginning of it that followeth.

8 And he sayde vnto me, From Abraham vnto Isahac, when Jacob and Esau were borne of him, Jacobs hande helde first the heele of Esau:

9 For Esau is the end of this world, & Jacob is the beginning of it that followeth.

10 The hande of man betwixte the heele and the hande: other question, Esdras aske thou not.

11 I answered then, and sayde, O Lorde,
Lord, if I haue founde fauour in thy sight,

12 I beseeche thee "or, make an end to these thy tokens. shewe thy seruaunt the ende of thy tokens, whereof thou shewedst me part the last night.

13 So he answered and sayde vnto me, Stande vp vpon thy feete, and heare "or, mightie. a perfect voice and sounde.

14 There shall come a "or, an earth-quake. great motion: but the place where thou standest shall not be moued. C

15 And therefore when "or, when he speaketh. thou hearest the wordes, be not afrayde: for of the ende shall the worde be, and of the foundation of the earth shall it be vnderstande:

16 And why? the worde thereof trembleth, and quaketh: for it knoweth that it must be changed at the ende.

17 And it hapned, that when I had heard it, I stode vp vpon my feete, and hearkened: and beholde, there was a voyce that spake, and the sounde of it was like to the sounde of many waters,

18 And it sayde, Beholde, the dayes come that I wyll beginne to draw nigh, and to visite them that dwell vpon earth:

19 And will beginne to make inquisition of them, what they be that haue hurte vniustly with their vnrighteousnesse, and when the lowe estate of Sion shall be ful-fylled.

20 And when the worlde that shall vanishe away shall be ouerstaled, then wyll I doe these tokens: the bookes shall be opened before the "or, heauen. fyrmament, and they shall see altogether.

21 And the children of a yeere olde shall D speake with their voyces, the women with childe shall bring forth vntimely children of three or foure monethes olde, and they shall lyue, and be rayled vp,

22 And sodeynly shall the sowen places ap-peare

peare as the vnsowen, the full store houses shall sodenly be founde emptie:

23 And the trumpet shall giue a sounde which when euery man heareth, they shall be hastily afrayde.

Mich. 7.a. Mat.10.c. 24 At that time shall friendes fight one against another like enimies, and the earth shall stand in feare with them: the springs of the welles shall stande still, and in three houres they shall not runne.

25 Who so euer remayneth from all these things that I haue told thee, "or, he shalbe saued. shall escape, and see my saluation, and the end of your world.

26 And the men that are receiued shall see it, they that haue not tasted death from their byrth: and the heart of the "or, inhabiters. inwellers shall be changed and turned into another meaning.

27 For euill shall be put out, and deceyte shall be quenched.

28 As for fayth, it shall florishe, corruption shall be ouercome, and the trueth whiche hath bene so long without fruite, shall be "or, shewed foorth. declared.

29 And when he talked with me, beholde, I loked a litle and a litle vpon him, before whome I stode, 30 And these wordes sayde he vnto me, I am come to shewe thee the time of the night for to come.

31 If thou wilt praye yet more, and fast seuen dayes agayne, I shall tell thee more things, and greater than before, whiche I haue heard by the day.

32 For thy voyce is heard before the highest: for why? the mightie hath seene thy righteous dealing, he hath seene also thy chastitie which thou hast had euer since thy youth:

33 And therefore hath he sent me to shewe thee all these things, and to say vnto thee, Be of good comfort, and feare not:

34 And haste not with the tymes that are past, to thynke vayne thinges, that thou mayest not hasten from the latter times.

35 And it came to passe after this, that I wept agayne, and fasted seuen dayes in like maner, that I myght fulfyll the three workes which he tolde me.

36 And in the eyght night was my hearte vexed within me agayne, and I began to speake before the highest.

37 For my spirite was greatly set on fire, and my soule was in distresse, 38 And I sayd, O Lorde, thou spakest vnto thy creature from the beginning, euen the fyrst day, and saydest, Let heauen and earth be made: and thy worde was a perfect worke.

39 And then was there the spirite, and the darkenesses were yet on euerie syde, and silence: there was no mans voyce as yet from thee.

40 Then commaundedst thou a faire light "or, bright. to come forth out of thy treasures, that thy worke might appeare, and be seene.

41 Upon the seconde daye thou madest the spirite of the firmament, and commanndedst it to part asunder, and to make a diuision betwixte the waters, that the one part might remayne aboue, and the other beneath.

42 Upon the thyrde day thou broughtest to passe that the waters were gathered in the seuenth part of the earth: fiue partes hast thou dryed vp, and kepte them, "to the intent that men might sowe and occupie husbandrie therein. "or, to the intent that of them there might be some ministred before the sowen God, & tyl

43 As sone as thy worde went forth, the worke was made.

44 For immediately there was great and innumerable fruite, & many dyuers pleasures for the taste, and flowers of vnchangeable coloure, and odours of wonderfull smell: and this was done the third day.

45 Upon the fourth daye thou commaundedst that the sunne should giue his shine, and the moone hir lyght, the starres didst thou set in order: Gen.1.d.

46 And gauest them a charge to do seruice, euen vnto a man that was for to be made. Deut.4.d.

47 Upon the fifth day thou saydst vnto the seuenth parte, where the waters were gathered, that it shoulde bring forth (diuers) beastes, foules, and fyshes: and so it came to passe. Gen.1.f.

48 For the dumbe water & without soule, brought forth liuing things at the commaundement of God, that "all people might prayse thy wonderous workes. "or, the wondrous.

49 Then diddest thou ordeyne two soules: the one thou calledst "Enoch, and the other Leuiathan, "or, Behemoth.

50 And dyddest separate the one from the other: for the seuenth part, (namely, where the water was gathered together) might not holde them both.

51 Unto "Enoch thou gauest one part which was dryed vp the thyrd day, that he should dwell in the same part wherein are a thousande hylles. "or, Behemoth.

52 But vnto Leuiathan thou gauest the seuenth part, namely the moyst, and hast kept him to deuour what thou wilt, and when.

53 Upon the sixth daye thou gauest commaundemaundement vnto the earth, that before thee it should bring forth beastes, cattell, and all that creepe :

54 And beſydes this, Adam alſo, whome thou madeſt Lorde of all thy creatures: of him come we al, and the people alſo whom thou haſt choſen (eſpecially vnto thy ſelfe.)

55 All this haue I ſayde nowe, and ſpoken before thee, (that I might ſhewe howe) that the worlde is made for our ſakes.

56 As for the other people which alſo come of Adam, thou haſt ſayde that they are nothing, but bee like vnto ſpittle, & haſt likened the abundance of them vnto a droppe that falleth from a veſſell.

57 And now, O Lorde, beholde, the heathen which haue euer bene reputed as nothing, haue begunne to be Lordes ouer vs, and to deuour vs :

58 But we thy people (whom thou haſt called thy firſt borne, thy onely begotten, and thy feruent louer) are gyuen into their handes and power.

59 If the world now be made for our ſakes, why haue we not the inheritaunce of the world in poſſeſſion? Howe long ſhall this endure?

The. vij. Chapter.

5. VVithout tribulation none can come to felicitie. 12. God aduertiſeth all in time. 28. the comming and death of Chriſte. 32. The reſurrection and laſt iudgement. 43. After the which all corruption ſhall ceaſe. 47. All fell in Adam. 49. The true life. 59. The mercies and goodneſſe of God.

1 AND when I had made an ende of ſpeaking theſe wordes, there was ſent vnto me an angell, which had bin ſent vnto me alſo the nightes afore.

2 And he ſayde vnto me, Up Eſdras, and heare the wordes that I am come to tell thee.

3 And I ſayde, Speake on (Lord) my God. Then ſayde he vnto me, The ſea is ſet in a wyde place, that it might be deepe and great.

4 But put caſe the entrance is narow and ſmall, like a ryuer :

5 Who then could goe into the ſea, to loke vpon it, and to rule it? If he went not through the narowe, howe might he come into the brode?

6 Item "another. A citie is buylded and ſet vpon a broade fielde, and is full of all good things : "or, again.

7 The entrance thereof is narowe, and is ſet in a dangerous place to fall, like as if there were a fyre at the right hande, and a deepe water at the left,

8 And as it were onely one ſtrait path betwixt them both, euen betwene the fire and the water, ſo ſmall, that there coulde but one man goe there at once :

9 If this citie were giuen vnto a man for an inheritance, and he neuer went thorow the perylous way before, howe ſhoulde he receiue his inheritance?

10 And I ſayde, It is ſo Lorde. Then ſayd he, Euen ſo alſo is Iſraels portion.

11 And why? for their ſakes haue I made the worlde: and when Adam tranſgreſſed my ſtatutes, the was the thing ſo appointed as nowe is done.

12 Then were the entrances of the worlde made narowe, full of ſorowe and trauell: they are but fewe and euill, full of perils, and labour.

13 For the entraunces of the fore worlde were wyde and ſure, and brought immortall fruite.

14 If then they which are lyuing, enter not diligently through theſe ſtraite and brittle things, they can not receyue the things ſo layde vp in ſecrete. C

15 Why diſquieteſt thou thy ſelfe then, ſeeing thou arte but a corruptible man? And why arte thou moued, where as thou arte but mortall?

16 And why haſte thou not receyued into thyne hearte the things that are to come, rather than them that are preſent?

17 Then ſayde I, O Lord, Lord, thou haſt ordeyned in thy lawe, that the ryghteous ſhoulde inherite theſe things, but that the vngodly ſhould periſh :

18 Neuertheleſſe, the righteous ſhall ſuffer ſtraight things, and hope for wide: for they that haue lyued vngodly, and ſuffered ſtraight things, ſhall not ſee the wyde.

19 And he ſayd vnto me, There is no iudge aboue God, and none that hath vnderſtanding aboue the highell.

20 For there be manye that periſhe in this life, becauſe they deſpiſe the lawe of God that is "ſet before them : "or, appointed them.

21 For God hath giuen ſtraight commaundement to ſuche as came, ſo ofte as they came, what they ſhould do to haue life, and what they ſhould keepe to auoyde puniſhment. D

22 Neuertheleſſe, they were not obedient vnto him, but ſpake againſt him, and imagined vayne things :

23 And deceyued them ſelues by wicked deedes, deedes, and denyed the power of the moſt high, and regarded not his wayes.

24 But his lawe haue they deſpiſed, and denyed his promiſes, in his ſtatutes and ordinaunces haue they not bene faythfull and ſtedfaſt, and haue not perfourmed his workes.

25 And therefore Eldras, for the emptie, are the emptie things, and for the full, are the full things.

26 Beholde, the time ſhall come that theſe tokens which I haue tolde thee ſhall come to paſſe, and the bryde ſhall appeare, and the coming forth, ſhall be ſeene, that nowe is vnder the earth:

E 27 And whoſoeuer is delyuered from the forſayde euils, ſhall ſee my wonders.

28 For my ſonne Jeſus ſhall be openly declared, with thoſe that be with him: and they that remayne, ſhall be mery within foure hundred yeeres.

29 After theſe ſame yeeres, ſhall my ſonne Chriſt dye, and all men that haue life:

30 And the worlde ſhall be turned into the olde ſilence ſeuen days, like as in the forſe iudgements, ſo that no man ſhal remaine.

31 And after ſeuen days, the world that yet awaketh not, ſhall be rayſed vp, and that ſhall dye that is corrupt.

32 And the earth ſhall reſtore thoſe that haue ſlept in hir, and ſo ſhall the duſt thoſe that dwell therein in ſilence, and the ſecret places ſhall deliuer thoſe the ſoules that were committed vnto them.

33 And the moſt highest ſhall be openly declared vpon the ſeate of iudgement, and al miſerie ſhal vaniſh away, and long ſuffering "or haue an ende. ſhall be gathered together.

34 But the iudgement ſhall continue, the trueth ſhall remayne, and fayth ſhall ware ſtrong, 35 The worke ſhall follow, and the reward ſhall be ſhewed, the "righteouſneſſe ſhall watch, and the vnrighteouſneſſe ſhal beare no rule. "or, the good deedes ſhalbe of force.

36 Then ſayde I, Abraham prayed firſt for the Sodomites, and Moſes for the fathers Gen.18.c. Exod.32.c. that ſinned in the wilderneſſe, 37 And they that came after him, for Iſrael, in the time of Achas and Samuell,

2.Sa.24.b. 38 And Dauid for the deſtruction, and 2.Chr0.6.c. Solomon for them that came into the ſanctuarie,

3.Re.17.d. 39 And Helias for thoſe that receiued raine, and for the deade, that he might liue,

4.Re.19.c. 40 And Ezechias for the people in the time of Sennacherib, and diuers other in lyke maner, which haue prayed for many.

41 Euen ſo nowe, ſeeing the "corrupt is grown vp, and wickednes increaſed, and the righteous haue prayed for the vngodly: wherefore ſhall it not be ſo nowe alſo? "or, vice.

42 He anſwered me, and ſayde, This preſent lyfe is not the ende, oft times honour is retayned in it: therfore haue they prayed for the weake.

43 But the daye of doome ſhall be the ende of this time, and the beginning of the immortalitie for to come, wherein all corruption ſhall be vaniſhed:

44 Intemperancie ſhall be loſed, infidelity be cut off, righteouſneſſe growe, and the veritie ſpring vp.

45 Then ſhall no man be able to ſaue him that is deſtroyed, nor to oppreſſe him that hath gotten the victorie.

46 I anſwered then and ſayd, This is my firſt and laſt ſaying, that it had bene better not to haue giuen the earth vnto Adam: or elſe when it was giuen him, to haue kepte him that he ſhould not haue ſinned.

47 For what profite is it for men nowe in this preſent time to liue in heauineſſe, and after death to "looke for puniſhment? "or, feare.

48 O thou Adam, what haſte thou done? For though it was thou that ſinned, thou arte not falne alone, but we all that come of thee.

49 For what profite is it vnto vs, if there be promiſed vs an immortall "time, whereas we doe the workes that bring death: "or, lyfe.

50 And that there is promiſed vs an euerlaſting hope, whereas our ſelues are euyll and vayne:

51 And that there is layde vp for vs dwellings of healthe and ſafetie, whereas we haue lyued wickedly:

52 And that the glorie of the higheſt is kept to defende them which haue led a patient life, whereas we haue walked in the moſte wicked wayes of all:

53 And that there ſhould be ſhewed a Paradyſe, whoſe fruite endureth for euer, wherein is "freedome & medicine, whereas we ſhall not go in? "or, ſafetie & health.

54 (For we haue walked in vnpleaſaunt places,)

55 And that the faces of them which haue abſteyned, ſhall ſhyne aboue the ſtarres: whereas our faces ſhall be blacker than darkeneſſe.

56 For whyle we lyued and dyd vnrighteouſly, we conſidered not that we ſhoulde ſuffer therefore after death.

57 Then anſwered he me, and ſayde, This is the

is the maner of the battell which man that is borne vpon the earth shall fight, 58 That if he be ouercome, he shall suffer as thou hast sayde: but if he get the victorie, he shall receyue the thing that I say.

Deut. 30. d. 59 For this is the life whereof Moses spake vnto the people whyle he liued, saying, Chose thy life, that thou maist liue.

60 Neuertheless, they beleeued him not, neither the prophetes after him, no nor me which haue sayde vnto them, 61 That heauinesse shoulde not so be vnto their destruction, like as ioy is for to come ouer those "that haue suffered them selues to be enfourmed in saluation.

"or, to whom saluation is permitted.

62 I answered then, and sayde, I knowe Lorde, that the highest is called mercifull, in that he hath mercie vpon them whiche are not yet come vnto that world,

Rom. 2. a. 63 And vpon those also that walke in his lawe,

64 And that he is patient: for he long suffereth those that haue sinned, as his creatures,

65 And that he is liberall, to giue whereas it requireth,

66 And that he is of great mercie: for he palleth in mercy much, both those that are present, and that are passe, and also them which are for to come.

67 For if he multiplyed not his mercies, the world coulde not continue hys being with those that haue inheritaunces therein.

"or, forgiueth 68 He "giueth also: for if he gaue not of his goodnesse, that they whiche haue done euill might be eased from their wickednesse, the tenne thousandth part of menne should not remayne lyuing.

69 And if he, being iudge, forgaue not those that be healed with his word, and take not away the multitude of contentions.

70 There shoulde be verie fewe left, peradventure in an innumerable multitude.

1 AND he answered me, saying, The most highest made this world for manye, but the world to come for fewe.

2 I will tell thee a similitude, Esdras. As when thou askest the earth, it shall saye vnto thee that it giueth muche "mouldе

4 Then answered I, and sayd, Then swalowe vp the wit (O my soule) and deuoure the vnderstanding.

5 For thou arte agreed to hearken, and to gyue care, and wylling to prophesie: for thou hast no longer space but this life gyuen thee.

6 O Lorde, if thou suffer not thy seruaunt to intreate thee, that thou mayest gyue seede vnto our heart, and buylde our vnderstanding, that there may come fruite of it, whereby eache man maye liue that is corrupt: then who shall steppe forth in the place of man?

7 For thou art alone, and we all one worke B manshyp of thy handes, lyke as thou hast sayde.

8 For when the bodie is fashioned nowe in the mothers wombe, and thou gyuest the members, thy creature is preserued in fire and water, and nyne monethes doth thy worke suffer thy creature which is fashyoned in hir.

9 But the things that keepeth, and that is kept, shall both be preserued: and when the time commeth, the wombe preserued, deliuereth vp the things that growe in it.

10 For thou hast commaunded the parts of the body, euen the breastes, to giue mylke vnto the fruite of the breasts:

11 That the thing which is created and fashioned, maye be nourished for a time, tyll thou disposest & ordrest it with thy mercy.

12 And then thou bringest it vp with thy righteousnesse, nurturest it in thy law, and reformest it with thy vnderstanding, 13 "Mortifyest it as thy creature, and ma- "or, slayest. kest it lyuing as thy worke.

14 Seeing then that thou destroyest hym C whiche with so great labours is created and fashyoned through thy commaundement, thou couldest lightly ordeyne also that the thing whiche is made myght be preserued.

15 Nowe therefore Lorde I will speake (for concerning all men in generall thou shalte rather prouide) but touching thy people, for whose sake I am sory.

16 And thyne inheritaunce, for whose cause I mourne, and Israell, for whome I am wofull, and Iacob, for whose sake I am grieued:

17 Therfore begin I to pray before thee for my

" or, ſodayne comming.

18 But I haue heard the " ſwiftneſſe of the iudge which is to come.

19 Therefore heare my voyce, and vnderſtand my wordes, and I ſhall ſpeake before thee. This is the beginning of the wordes of Eſdras, before he was taken vp.

20 O Lorde, thou that dwelleſt in euerlaſtingneſſe, whiche beholdeſt from aboue things in the heauen, and in the ayre:

D 21 Whoſe throne is ineſtimable, whoſe glorie (and maieſtie) may not be comprehēded, before whome the hoſtes of angels ſtande with trembling,

22 Whoſe keeping is turned in winde and fire, whoſe word is true, whoſe ſayings are ſtedfaſt, whoſe commaundement is ſtrong, whoſe ordinance is fearefull,

23 Whoſe loke dryeth vp the deapthes, whoſe wrath maketh the mountaynes to melte awaye, " and whoſe trueth beareth witneſſe:

" or, as the effect it ſelfe beareth witneſſe.

24 O heare the prayer of thy ſeruant, and marke with thine eares the petition of thy creature.

25 For whyle I lyue, I wyll ſpeake, and ſo long as I haue vnderſtanding, I wyll anſwere.

26 O loke not vpon the ſinnes of thy people, rather than on them whiche ſerue thee in trueth.

E 27 Haue no reſpect vnto the wicked ſtudies of the heathen: but to the deſire of thoſe that keepe thy teſtimonies with afflictiōs.

28 Thinke not vpon thoſe that haue walked ſaynedly before thee: but remember them whiche accordyng to thy will haue knowne thy feare.

29 Let it not be thy will to deſtroye them whiche haue had beaſtly manners: but to loke vpon them that haue clearely taught thy lawe.

30 Take thou no indignation at thē which " are worſe than beaſtes: but loue thē that alway put their truſt in thy righteouſneſſe and glory.

" or, appeare

31 For we and our fathers haue al the ſame ſickneſſe (and diſeaſe:) but bycauſe of vs ſinners, thou ſhalt be called mercifull.

32 For if thou haſte mercie vpon vs, thou ſhalte be called mercyfull to vs that haue no workes of righteouſneſſe.

33 For the righteous whiche haue layde vp many good workes together, ſhall out of their deedes receyue rewarde.

34 But what is man, that thou ſhouldeſt take diſpleaſure at him? Or what is this corruptible and mortall generation, that thou ſhouldeſt be ſo rough towardes him?

35 For of a trueth, there is no man among them that be borne but he hath dealt wickedly, and among the " faithfull there is none which hath not done amiſſe.

36 For in this, O Lorde, thy righteouſneſſe and thy goodneſſe ſhall be prayſed (and declared) if thou be mercifull vnto thē which " are not ryche in good workes.

" or, haue the ſubſtaū of good workes.

37 Then anſwered he me, and ſayd, Some things haſt thou ſpoken aright: and accordyng vnto thy wordes it ſhall be.

38 For I will not verily conſider the workes " of them whiche haue ſinned before death, before iudgement, before deſtruction:

" or, of the wicked. Gen. 4. 2.

39 But I will reioyce ouer the worke and thought of the ryghteous, I will remember alſo the pilgrimage, the ſaluation and the reward that they ſhall haue.

40 Like as I haue ſpoken nowe, ſo ſhall it come to paſſe.

41 For as the huſbandman ſoweth muche ſeede vpon the grounde, and planteth many trees, and yet alwaye the thing that is ſowen or planted, is not all kepte ſafe, neither doth it all take rote: euen ſo is it of them that are ſowen in the worlde, they ſhall not all be ſaued.

42 I anſwered then and ſayde, If I haue founde grace, then let me ſpeake.

43 Like as the huſbandmans ſeede periſheth, if it come not vp, and receiue not thy rayne in due ſeaſon, or if there come to much rayne vpon it, and corrupt it:

44 Euen ſo perysheth man alſo, whiche is created with thy handes, and is like vnto thine own image, and to thy ſelf, for whoſe ſake thou haſt made all things, and likened him vnto the huſbandmans ſeede.

45 Be not wroth with vs (O Lorde) but ſpare thy people, and haue mercie vppon thine owne inheritance: for thou wylte be mercyfull vnto thy creature.

46 Then anſwered he me, & ſayd, Things preſent, are for the preſent, and things to come, for ſuch as be to come.

47 For thou lackeſt yet much, ſeeyng thou canſt loue my creature aboue me: but I haue ofte time drawne nigh vnto thee, and vnto it, but neuer vnto the vnrighteous.

48 In this alſo thou art maruellous before the higheſt, 49 In that thou haſte humbled thy ſelfe as it becommeth thee, and haſte not iudged thy ſelf worthy to be much glorified amōg the righteous.

50 For many and great miſeries remayne

for them that in the latter time shall dwell in the world, bycause they "haue walked in great pryde.

51 But vnderstande thou for thy selfe, and seeke out the glory for such as be like thee.

52 For vnto you is Paradise opened, the tree of life is planted, the time to come is prepared, plenteousnesse is made ready, the citie is builded (for you) and rest is prepared, yea, perfect goodnesse and wisedome.

53 The rote of euill is "marked from you, the weakenesse and moth is hid from you, and into hell fleeth corruption in forgetfulnesse.

54 Sorrowes are banished awaye, and in the ende is shewed the treasure of immortalitie.

55 And therefore aske thou no more questions concerning the multitude of them that perishe.

56 For when they had taken libertie, they despysed the highest, thought skorne of his lawe, and forsoke his wayes.

57 Moreouer, they haue troden downe his righteous.

58 And sayde in their heart, that there is no God, "yea and that wittingly, for they dye.

59 For like as the thing that I haue spoken of, is made ready for you, euen so is thirst and payne prepared for them: for it was not "his will that man should "come to nought.

60 But they which be created, haue defyled the name of him that made them, and are vnthankefull vnto him which prepared life for them.

61 And therefore is my iudgement nowe at hande.

62 These things haue I not shewed vnto all men, but vnto fewe, namely vnto thee, and to suche as be like thee. Then answered I, and sayde.

63 Beholde, O Lorde, nowe haste thou shewed me the multitude of the wonders which thou wilte beginne to doe in the last times: but at what time (and when) thou hast not shewed me.

5. All thinges in this worlde haue a beginning and an ende. 10 Tormentes for the wicked after this life. 15. The number of the wicked, is more than of the good. 29. The Iewes ingratitude. 36. Therefore they perishe. 38. The vision of a woman lamenting.

1 HE answered me then, and sayd, Measure thou the time diligently in it selfe: and when thou seest that one parte of the tokens come to passe, which I haue tolde thee before, A

2 Then shalt thou vnderstand, that it is the very same time wherin the highest will begin to visit the world which he made.

3 Therefore when there shall be seene an earthquake, and vprore of the people in the worlde.

4 Then shalt thou well vnderstande, that the most highest spake of those things from the dayes that were before thee, euen from the beginning.

5 For like as all that is made in the world, hath a beginning and ende, and the ende is manifest:

6 Euen so the times also of the highest haue plaine beginnings in wonders and signes, and end in "worcking and in tokens. "or, effect and myracles.

7 And euery one that shall be saued, & shall be able to escape by his workes, and by fayth wherein ye haue beleeued, B

8 Shall be preserued from the sayde perils, and shall see my "sauioure in my lande, and within my borders: for I haue halowed "me from the world. "or, saluatio. "or, my selfe.

9 Then shall they pitie them selues, which nowe haue abused my wayes: and they that haue cast them out despitefully, shall dwell in paynes.

10 For suche as in their life haue receyued benefites, and haue not knowne me:

11 And they that haue abhorred my lawe while they had yet "freedome, and when they had yet open leysure of amendment & conuersion, vnderstood not, but despised it: "or, libertie.

12 The same muste knowe it after death in payne.

13 And therefore be thou no more "carefull howe the vngodly shall be punished: but inquire howe the righteous shall be saued, and whose the worlde is, and for whome the world is, and when (it is.) "or, curious to knowe.

14 Then answered I, and sayd, C

15 I haue sayde before, and now I speake, and wil speake it also hereafter: that there be many moe of them which perishe, than of them which shall be saued: 4. Esd. 8. b.

16 Like as the floud is greater than a drop.

17 And he answered me, saying, Lyke as the fyelde is, so is also the seede: as the floures be, so are the coloures also: such as the workeman is, such is also the worke: and as the husbandman is him selfe, so is his husbandrie also: for it was the time of the worlde.

C. 18 And

18 And when I prepared for them that are now, or euer the world was made, wherein they should dwell: then was there no man that spake against me.

19 For then euery one (obeyed) but now the maners of them which are created in this world that is made, are corrupted by a perpetuall seede, and by a lawe whereout they can not rid them selues.

D 20 So I considered the world, and behold, there was peryll, bicause of the "thoughts that were come into it.

" or, deuices.

21 And I sawe, and spared them greatly, and haue kept me a "wineberie of grapes, and a plant of a great people.

" or, grape of the cluster.

22 Let the multitude perysshe then whiche are growne vp in vaine, and let my grape (and wineberie) be kept, and my plant: for with great labour haue I made it vp.

23 Neuertheles, if thou wilt ceasse yet seuen dayes moe, but thou shalt not taste in them:

24 Go thy way then into a field of floures, where no house is builded, and eate onely of the floures of the fielde, taste no flesshe, drinke no wine, but eate floures only.

25 And praye vnto the highest continually, so will I come and talke with thee.

26 So I went my way, and came into the fielde whiche is called Ardath, like as he commaunded me, and there I sat among the floures, and did eate of the herbes of the fielde, and the meate of the same satisfied me.

E 27 After seuen days, I sat vpon the grasse, and my hearte was vexed within me lyke as before.

28 And I opened my mouth, and beganne to talke with the most highest, and sayde, Exod. 19. b. K 24. a. Deut. 4. b.

29 O Lord, thou that shewest thy selfe vnto vs, thou hast declared and opened thy selfe vnto our fathers in the wildernesse, in a place where no man dwelleth, in a barren place, when they came out of Egipt.

30 And thou spakest, saying, Heare me, O Israell, and marke my wordes thou seede of Jacob.

31 For behold, I sowe my lawe in you, and it shall bring fruite in you, and ye shall be honoured in it for euer.

32 But our fathers, whiche receyued the lawe, kept it not, and obserued not thy ordinances and statutes, and the fruit of thy lawe did not appeare, neither could: for why? it was thine.

Deut. 32. k.

33 For they that receiued it, perished, bicause they kept not the thing that was sowen in them.

34 And loe, it is a custome when the ground receiueth seede, or the sea a shippe, or a vessell meate and drinke: that when it perisheth or is broken wherein a thing is sowen, or wherein any thing is put,

35 The things also perishe and are broken which are sowen or put therein and receiued, and the things that are receiued, remayne not then with vs: but in vs it hath not hapned so.

36 For we that haue receiued the lawe, perishe in sinne, and our heart which also receiued lawe. f

Esai. 45. d. 2. Tim. 2. d.

37 Notwithstanding, the lawe perysheth not, but remayneth in his force.

38 And when I spake these thinges in my hearte (after this manner) I loked about me with myne eyes, and vppon the ryght side I sawe a woman whiche mourned sore, made great lamentation, and weapt with loude voyce, and was grieued in hart, and rent hir clothes, and she had ashes vpon hir heade.

4. Es. 10. d.

39 Then let I my thoughts go that I was in, and turned me vnto hir, 40 And sayde, Wherefore weepest thou? why art thou so sorie in mynde?

41 And she said vnto me, Sir, let me alone, that I maye bewayle my selfe, and take yet more sorrowe: for I am sore vexed in my minde, and brought verie lowe.

42 And I sayde vnto hir, What ayleth thee? (or who hath done any thing to thee?) tell me.

43 She sayde vnto me, I thy seruant haue bin vnfruitefull and barren, and haue had no chylde, though I haue had an husbande thirtie yeeres.

44 And these thirtie yeeres I doe nothing else daye and night, and all houres, but make my prayer to the highest.

45 After thirtie yeeres, God heard me thy handmayden, loked vppon my miserie, consydered my trouble, and gaue me a sonne: and I was gladde of him, so was my husband also, and all my neighbours, and we gaue great honoure vnto the almightie.

46 And I nourysshed hym with greate trauell.

47 So when he grewe vp, and came to the time that he should "haue a wife, I made a feast. " or, take.

The. x. Chapter.

Esdras and the woman that appeareth vnto him, commune together.

I 1 AND it so came to passe, that when my sonne went into his chamber, he fell downe and dyed:

2 Then ouerthrewe we all the lightes, & all my neighbours rose vp to comfort me, the toke I my rest vnto ỳ secõd day at night.

3 And when they had all left off to comfort me, that I shoulde be quiet: then I rose vp by night and fled, and am come hither into this fielde, as thou seest:

4 And am purposed not to returne into the citie, but to remayne here, and neyther to eate nor drynke, but continually to mourne, and to fast, vntill I dye.

5 Then let I my meditation and thoughts fall that I was in, and spake to hir in displeasure, saying,

6 Thou foolishe woman aboue all other, seest thou not oure heauinesse and mourning, and what happeneth vnto vs?

B 7 How Sion our mother is all wofull and sorie, & how she is cleane brought downe, and mourneth extremely?

8 Seeing we be all nowe in heauynesse, and make mone, for we all be sorowfull: art thou so heauie for one sonne?

9 Demaunde the earth, and she shall tell thee, that it is she which ought (by reason) to mourne for the fall of so manye that growe vpon hir.

10 For from the beginning all menne are borne of hir, and other shall come: and beholde, they walke almost all into destruction, and the multitude of them shall be rooted out.

11 Who should then (by reason) make more mourning, than she that hath lost so great a multitude, and not thou which arte sory but for one?

12 But if thou wouldest say vnto me, My mourning is not like the mourning of the earth, for I haue lost the fruite of my "body, which I brought forth with heauinesse, and bare with sorowes:

"Or, wombe.

13 But the earth is according to the manner of the earth, & the present multitude goeth again into hir, "as it is come to passe.

"Or, as it is accustomed.

14 Then say I vnto thee, Like as thou hast borne with trauell and sorowe, euen so the earth also from the beginning, giueth hir fruite vnto man, euen to him that laboured hir.

C

Heb. 12. a.

15 And therefore withholde thy sorowe and heauinesse by thy self, and take what happeneth vnto thee, beare it "strongly.

"Or, constantly

16 For if thou iudgest the matter and ende of God to be righteous and good, and receyuest his counsell in time, thou shalte be commended therein.

17 Goe thy waye then into the citie to thy husbande.

18 And she sayd vnto me, That will I not doe: I will not goe into the citie, but here will I dye.

19 So I communed more with hir, and sayde,

20 Do not so, but be counselled, and folow me: for howe manye falles hath Sion? Be of good comfort because of the sorrow of Jerusalem.

21 For thou seest that our sanctuarie is laid waste, our aulter broken, our temple destroyed,

22 Our playing of instrumentes is layde D downe, and songes are put to sylence, our myrth is vanyshed awaye, the lyght of our candlestickes is quenched, the arke of our couenant is taken from vs, all our holy things are defyled, and the name that is called vpon ouer vs, is almost dishonoured: our children are put to shame, our priestes are brent, our Leuites are caried awaye into captiuitie, our virgins are defyled, and our wyues rauyshed, our righteous men spoyled, and our children destroyed, our yong men are brought in bondage, and our strong worthies are become weake:

23 And Sion our scale, which is the greatest of all, is losed vp from hir worshippe: for she is deliuered into the handes of them that hate vs.

24 And therefore shake off thy great heauinesse, and put awaye the multitude of sorowes, that the mightie may be mercifull vnto thee, & that the highest may giue thee rest and ease from thy labour and trauell.

25 And when I was talking with hir, hir face and beautie shined sodaynely, and hir countenaunce glistered, so that I was afraid of hir, and mused what it might be.

26 And immediately she cast out a greate voyce, verie fearefull, so that the earthe shoke at the noyse of the woman.

27 And I loked, and beholde, the woman appeared vnto me no more: but there was a citie builded, and a place was shewed from the grounde and foundation: then was I afrayde, and cryed with a loude voyce, and sayde, 28 Where is Uriel the angell, which came to me at the first? For he hath caused me to come in many considerations and hyghe thoughtes, and myne end is turned to corruption, and my prayer to rebuke.

4. Esd. 4. a.

29 And as I was speaking these wordes, he came vnto me, and loked vpon me:

30 And loe, I lay as one that had bin dead, and myne vnderstanding was altered: and he toke me by the right hande, and comforted me, and set me vpon my feete, and sayde vnto me,
31 What ayleth thee? and why is thyne vnderstanding vered, and the vnderstanding of thyne heart? and wherefore arte thou sory?
32 And I saide, Bicause thou hast forsaken me, and I haue done according vnto thy wordes, I went into the fielde, and there haue I seene thinges, and see that I am not able to expresse.
33 He sayd vnto me, stand vp, and be manly, and I shall giue thee exhortation.
F 34 Then said I, Speake on to me my lord, forsake me not, least I dye through my rashnesse:
35 For I haue seene that I knewe not, and heare that I do not know.
36 Or is my vnderstanding deceyued, or doth my soule dreame?
37 Now therefore, I beseech thee, that thou wilt shewe thy seruant of this wonder.
38 He answered me then and sayde, Heare me, and I shall enkourme thee, and tell thee wherefore thou art afrayd: for the highest hath opened many secret things vnto thee.
39 He hath seene that thy "way is right, for that thou takest sorrowe continually for thy people, and makest great lamentation for Sion.
" or, purpose.
40 And therefore vnderstande the vision whiche thou sawest a litle while ago, after this maner.
41 Thou sawest a woman mourning, and thou begannest to comfort hir.
42 Neuertheless, nowe seest thou the likenesse of the woman no more, but there appeared vnto thee a citie builded:
43 And where she tolde thee of the fall of hir sonne, so is this the solution of it.
44 This woman whome thou sawest, is Sion: and wheras she tolde thee, euen she whome thou seest now as a citie builded.
G 45 And as touching that she said vnto thee, that she hath beene thirtie yeeres vnfruitfull and barren: those are the thirtie yeeres wherin there was no offering made in hir.
46 But after thirtie yeres Solomon builded the citie, and offered offerings: and the bare the barren a sonne.
47 And where as she tolde thee that she nourished him with labour: that was the dwelling in Jerusalem.
48 And whereas thee tolde thee that hir sonne dyed, as his chaunce was, when she came into hir chamber: that is the fall that is come to Jerusalem.
49 And beholde, when thou sawest hir like one that mourned for hir sonne, and begannest to comforte hir of these thinges which haue chaunced: these are to be opened vnto thee.
50 For nowe the moste highest seeth that thou arte sory in thy mynde, and sufferest from thy whole heart for hir, and so hath he shewed thee hir clearenesse, & the fairenesse of hir beautie.
51 And therfore I bade thee remayne in the fielde, where no house was builded.
52 For I knewe that the highest would shewe this vnto thee:
53 Therfore I commaunded thee to go into the field, where no foundation nor building is.
54 For in the place where the highest beginneth to shewe his citie, there can no mans building be able to stand.
55 And therefore feare not, and let not thine heart be afraide: but goe thy way in, and see the beautie and greatnesse of the building, as much as thine eyes be able to see:
56 And then shalt thou heare as muche as thine eares may comprehend.
57 For thou art blessed aboue many other, and art called with the highest, as the few.
58 But to morowe at night thou shalte remayne here.
59 And so shall the highest shew thee visions of the high things, which he will doe vnto thē that dwell vpon earth in the last days. So I sleapt the same night and another, like as he commaunded me.

The.xi. Chapter.

1. The vision of an Eagle comming foorth of the sea, and of hir feathers. 37. Of a Lion comming out of the forrest.

1 Then sawe I a dreame, and beholde, there came vp from the sea an Eagle, which had twelue feathered wings, and three heades: I
2 And I sawe, and beholde, she spread hir wings ouer al the earth, and all the winds of the ayre blew on hir, and gathered them together.
3 And I beheld, and out of hir feathers there grewe other contrarie feathers, and they became litle feathers and small.
4 But hir heades remained still, the heade in the middest was greater than the other, yet yet rested it with the residue.

5 Moreouer, I saw that ý Egle flewe with hir wings, and raigned vppon earthe, and ouer all them that dwelt vpon the earth.

6 And I sawe that all things vnder heauen were subiect vnto hir, and no man spake agaynste hir, no not one creature vpon earth.

B 7 I sawe also that the Eagle stode vp vpon hir clawes, and " gaue a sounde with hir feathers, and a voyce saying after this manner.

" or, spake to hir feathers saying.

8 Watche not altogither, sleepe euery man in his owne place, and watche by course.

9 But let ý heades be preserued for the last.

10 Neuertheless, I sawe that the voyce went not out of hir heades, but from the middest of hir body.

11 And I numbred hir contrarye feathers, and behold, there were eyght of them.

12 And I loked, and behold, vpon the right side there arose one feather, and raigned ouer all the earth.

13 And so it was, that when it raigned, the ende of it came, & the place thereof appeared no more: So the next folowing stode vp, and raigned, and had a great tyme.

C 14 And it happened, that when it raigned, the ende of it came also like as the firste, so that it appeared no more.

15 Then came there a voyce vnto it, and sayde,

16 Heare thou that halte kepte the earth so long, this I say vnto thee before thou beginnest to appeare no more:

17 There shal none after thee atteyne vnto thy time, neither vnto the halfe thereof.

18 Then arose the third, and raigned as the other afore: and appeared no more also.

19 So went it with all the residue one after another, so that euery one raigned, and then appeared no more.

20 Then I loked, and beholde, in processe of time, the feathers that folowed stod vp on the right side, that they might rule also, and some of them ruled: but within a while they appeared no more.

21 For some of them were set vp, but ruled not.

D 22 After this, I loked, and beholde, the twelue feathers appeared no more, nor the two wings.

23 And there was no more vpon the Egles body, but two heades that rested, and fire wings.

24 Then sawe I also that two wings diuided themselues from the fire, and remayned vnder the heade that was vppon the right syde: for the foure continued in their place.

25 So I loked, and beholde, the feathers that were vnder the wing, thoughte to set vp themselues, and to haue the rule.

26 Then was there one set vp, but shortly it appeared no more.

27 And the seconde was sooner away than the firste.

28 And I beheld, and loe, the two that remayned, thoughte also in themselues to raygne.

29 And when they so thought, behold, there E awaked one of the heades that were at reste, namely it that was in the myddest: for that was greater than the two other heades.

30 And then I sawe that the two heades were ioyned with him:

31 And the heade was turned with them that were with him, and did eate vp the two vnder wings that would haue raigned.

32 But this heade put the whole earthe in feare, and bare rule in it ouer all those that dwelt vpon the earth with muche labour: and he had the gouernaunce of the worlde ouer all the wings that had bene.

33 After this I loked, and behold, the head that was in the middest sodaynely appeared no more, like as the wings.

34 But there remayned the two heades, whiche ruled vppon earth, and ouer those that dwelt therein.

35 And I beheld, and loe, the heade vppon the right side, deuoured it that was vppon the left side.

36 Then I heard a voyce which sayde vnto mee, Loke before thee, and consider the thing that thou seest.

37 Then I sawe, and beholde, as it were a Lion that roareth, running hastily oute of the wood: and I sawe that hee sent out a mans voyce vnto the Eagle, and sayde,

38 Heare thou, I wyll talke with thee, and the highest shall say vnto thee, 39 "Is it not thou that halte the residue of the four beastes whome I made to raigne (vpon earth, and) in my worlde, that the ende of their tymes myghte come through them?

" or, art not thou he that remainest of the foure beastes.

40 And the fourth came, and ouerranne all the beastes that were paste, and had power ouer the worlde, with greate fearefulnesse, and ouer the whole compasse of the earth, with moste wicked oppression, and so long time dwelt he vpon the earth with deceyte.

41 For the earth hast thou not iudged with mercy.
42 For thou hast troubled the meeke, thou hast hurt the peaceable (and quiet,) thou hast loued lyers, and destroyed the dwellings of them that brought forth fruite, and hast cast downe the walles of suche as did thee no harme.
43 Therfore is thy wrongfull dealing (and blasphemie) come vp vnto the hyghest, and thy pryde vnto the mightie.
44 The highest also hathe loked vpon the proude times, and beholde they are ended, and their abhominations are fulfilled.
45 And therefore appeare no more thou E-gle, and thy horrible wings, and thy wicked feathers, and thy vngrations heads, & thy sinfull clawes, and all thy vaine body: 46 That the earth maye be refreshed, (and come againe to hir selfe) when she is deliue-red from thy violence, and that she maye hope for thy iudgement and mercie of him that made hir.

The.xij. Chapter.

The declaration of the former visions.

A 1 AND it hapned when the Lion spake these words vnto the Eagle, I sawe:
2 And beholde, the head that afore had the vpper hande, appeared no more: neyther did the foure wings appeare anye more that came to him, & were set vp to raigne, and their kingdome was small, and full of vprore.
3 And I sawe, and beholde, they appeared no more, and the whole body of the Eagle was burnt, so that the earth was in great feare: Then awaked I out of ỹ trouble & trauce of my minde, and from great feare, and sayde vnto my spirite,
4 Loe, this hast thou giuen me, in that thou searchest out the wayes of the highest.
5 Loe, yet am I wearie in my mynde, and very weake in my spirit: and litle strength is there in me, for the great feare that I receiued this night.
6 Therefore will I nowe beseech the highest, that he will comfort me vnto the end.
B 7 And I sayde, Lorde, Lorde, if I haue founde grace before thy sight, and if I am iustified with thee before many other, and if my prayer in deede be come vp before thy face:
8 Comfort me then, and shewe me, thy seruant, the interpretation and playne difference of this horrible sight, that thou mayest perfectly comfort my soule:
9 For thou hast iudged me worthy to shew me the last of times.
10 And he sayde vnto me, This is the interpretation of this sight.
11 The Eagle whome thou sawest come vp Dan. 7.c.
from the sea, is the kingdome which was seene in the vision of thy brother Daniell:
12 But it was not expounded vnto him, therefore nowe I declare it vnto thee.
13 Beholde, the dayes will come, that there shall rise vp a kingdome vpon earth, and it shall be feared aboue all the kingdomes that were before it.
14 In " the same kingdome shall twelue C kings raigne, one after another. "or, it.
15 Wherof the second shal begin to raigne, and shall haue more time than the other twelue.
16 And this doe the twelue wings signifie, which thou sawest.
17 As for the voice that thou heardest speak, and that thou sawest not to goe out from the heades, but from the middes of the body thereof, it betokeneth, 18 That after the time of that kyngdome, there shal arise great striuings, and it shal stande in peryll of falling: neuertheless it shall not then fall, but shall be restored a-gayne into his beginning.
19 And the eight feathers vnder the wings, which thou sawest hang vnto hir wings, betoken.
20 That in him there shal arise eight kings, whose time shall be but small, and their yeeres swift, and two of them shall perish.
21 But when the middest time commeth, there shall be foure kept for a time, whyles
" his time beginneth to come that it maye "or, eache his time beginneth.
be ended: but two shall be kepte vnto the ende.
22 And whereas thou sawest three heades D resting, this is the interpretation:
23 In his last dayes shall the most hyghe rayse vp three kingdomes, and call many things againe into them, and they shall haue the dominion of the earth.
24 And of those that dwell therein, with much " labour aboue all those that were "or, griefe.
before them: therefore are they called the heades of the Eagle.
25 For it is they that shall " bring forth his "or, accomplish his wickednesse.
wickednesse againe, and that shall per-forme and finishe his last.
26 And whereas thou sawest, that the great heade appeared no more, it signifieth, that one of them shal dye vpon his bed, and yet with payne.
27 For the two that remaine, shal be slaine with with the swoꝛde.

28 Foꝛ the swoꝛde of the one shall deuoure the other: but at the laste shall he fall thoꝛowe the swoꝛde him selfe.

29 And whereas thou sawest two feathers vnder the wings, palling toward the head that is on the ꝛyght side,

E 30 It signifieth, that it is they whome the hyghest hath kepte vnto their ende: this is the small kingdome, and full of trouble, as thou sawest.

31 And ỳ Lion, whome thou sawest rising vp out of the wood, and roꝛing, and speaking vnto the Egle, and rebuking hir foꝛ hir vnrighteousnesse, with all the woꝛdes which thou hast heaꝛde,

32 Is the winde, whiche the hyghest hathe kept foꝛ them, and foꝛ their wickednesse vnto the ende: he shall repꝛoue them, and caste befoꝛe them their owne spoylings:

33 Foꝛ he shal set them aliue in iudgement, and shall rebuke them, and coꝛrect them.

34 Foꝛ the residue of my people shall he deliuer by trouble, those that be pꝛeserued vpon my boꝛders, and hee shall make them ioyfull, vntyll the comming of the day of iudgement, whereof I haue spoken vnto thee from the beginning.

35 This is the dꝛeame that thou sawest, & these are the interpꝛetations.

36 Thou only hast bene meete to know this secrete of the highest.

F 37 Therfoꝛe wꝛite al these things that thou hast seene in a booke, and hide them, 38 And teach them to the wise of the people, whose heaꝛtes thou knowest may compꝛehende and keepe these secretes.

39 But wayte thou heere thy selfe yet seuen dayes moe, that it may bee shewed thee whatsoeuer it pleaseth the hyghest to declare vnto thee. And with that he went his way.

40 And when all the people pꝛeceyued that the seuen dayes were past, and I not come agayne into the citie, they gathered them altogither, from the leaste vnto the moste, and came vnto mee, and sayde, 41 What haue we offended thee? & what euil haue we done agaynste thee, that thou foꝛsakest vs, and sittest heere in this place?

42 Foꝛ of all the people thou onely art lefte vs, as a grape of the vine, & as a candle in a darke place, and as an hauen oꝛ shippe pꝛeserued from the tempest.

43 Haue we not els aduersitie ynough?

44 If thou shalt foꝛsake vs, were it not better foꝛ vs that we had bin burnt w̄ Sion?

G 45 Foꝛ wee are not better than they that dyed there. And they weapt with loude voyce. Then answered I them, and sayd, 46 Be of good comfoꝛt, O Israel, & be not heauy thou house of Jacob:

47 Foꝛ the hyghest hath you in remembꝛance, and the mightie hath not foꝛgotten you in temptation.

48 As foꝛ me I haue not foꝛsaken you neyther am I departed from you: but am come into this place to pꝛay, bicause of the miserie of Israel, that I might seeke mercie foꝛ the low estate of your sanctuarie.

49 And nowe goe your waye home euery man, and after these dayes will I come vnto you, 50 So the people went their waye into the citie, like as I commaunded them.

51 But I remayned still in the fielde seuen dayes, as "the angel bad me, and did eate onely of the floures of the fielde, and had my meate of the herbes in those dayes. "oꝛ, he.

The.xiij. Chapter.

2. The vision of a winde comming forth of the sea. 3. whiche became a man. 5. His propertie and power against his enimies. 21. The declaration of this vision.

1 AND after the seuen dayes, I dꝛeamed a dꝛeame by night. A

2 And behold, there aꝛose a winde from the sea, that it moued all the waues thereof.

3 And I loked, and beholde, there was a stꝛong man with the thousandes of heauen: & when hee turned his countenance to loke, all the things trembled that were seene vnder him.

4 And when the voyce went out of his mouthe, all they burnt that heaꝛde his voyce, like as the earth falleth when it feeleth the fire.

5 After these I sawe, and behold, there was gathered togither a multitude of men out of number, from the foure windes of the heauen, to fight againste the mā that came out of the sea.

6 And I loked, and behold, he grawed him selfe a greate mountaine, and flew vp vpon it.

7 But I would haue seene the region oꝛ place whereout the hill was grauen, and I could not. B

8 And I saw after these, that al they which came to fyght agaynste him, were soꝛe afrayde: and yet durst they fight.

9 Neuertheless, when he sawe the fiercenesse & violence of the people that came, he neyther lyfte vp his hande, "noꝛ helde swoꝛde "oꝛ, foꝛ he helde no swoꝛd noꝛ any instrument of warre.

swoꝛd oꝛ any weapon:
10 But onely, as I sawe, he sent out of his mouth as it had beene a blast of fire, and out of his lips the wind of the flame, & out of his tong he caste out sparkes & stoꝛmes.
11 And they were all mixte together: the blast of fire, the winde of the flame, and the great stoꝛme: and fell with " a ruth vpon the people which was pꝛepared to fight, and burnt them vp euery one, so that of the innumerable multitude, there was nothing seene, but only dust & smel of smoke: When I sawe this, I was afrayde.
" oꝛ, violence.
12 Afterwarde saw I the same man come downe from the mountaine, and calling vnto him another peaceable " people.
" oꝛ multitude.
13 And there came much people vnto him, some were glad, some were soꝛie, some of thē were bounde, and other some bꝛought of them that were offered: then was I sicke thꝛough great feare, and I awaked, and sayde, ℄ 14 Thou haste shewed thy seruaunt these wonders from the beginnyng, and haste counted me woꝛthie, that thou mightest receiue my pꝛayer:
15 Shewe me nowe yet the interpꝛetation of this dꝛeame.
16 Foꝛ thus I consider in myne vnderstanding: woe vnto them that shall be lefte in those dayes, and muche moꝛe woe vnto them that are not left behinde:
17 Foꝛ they that were not lefte, were in heauinesse.
18 Nowe vnderstande I the thinges that are layde vp in the latter dayes, which shal happen vnto them, and to those that are left behinde:
19 Therefoꝛe are they come into great peryls, and many necessities, lyke as these dꝛeames declare.
20 Yet is it easier that he whiche is in danger fall (into these) and nowe to see that which shall chaunce hereafter, than to passe out of this woꝛlde as a cloude. Then answered he me, and sayde, 21 The interpꝛetation of the sight shall I shewe thee, and I will open vnto thee the thing that thou hast required.
D 22 Whereas thou hast spoken of them that are left behinde, this is the interpꝛetation.
23 He that beareth the peryll in that time, hath kept him selfe: they that be falne into daunger, are suche as haue woꝛkes and faith vnto the most mightie.
24 Know this therfoꝛe, that they which be left behind, are moꝛe blessed than they that be deade.
25 " This is the meaning of the vision: whereas thou sawest a man comming vp from the " deepe of the sea,
" oꝛ, their meaning
" oꝛ, middest.
26 The same is he whome God the highest hath kepte a great season, whiche by his owne selfe shall deliuer his creature, and he shall oꝛder them that are left behinde.
27 And whereas thou sawest that out of his mouth there came as a blast of winde, fire, and stoꝛme:
28 And howe that he lift vp neither swoꝛde noꝛ weapon, but ẏ the " rushing in of him destroyed the whole multitude that came to fight against him: it signifieth,
" oꝛ, fiercenesse.
29 That the dayes come, when the moste highest will beginne to deliuer them that are vpon earth.
30 And " in a trance of mynd shall he come vpon them that dwell in the earth.
" oꝛ, he that astonishe the harts of 31 And one shall vndertake to fight against another, one citie against another, one place against another, one people against another, one realme against another.
Mat. 24.
32 When this commeth to passe, then shall the tokens come that I shewed thee befoꝛe, and then shall my sonne be " declared whom thou sawest climbe vp as a man.
" oꝛ, reuealed
33 And when all the people heare his voyce, euery man shall in their owne lande leaue the battell that they haue one against another:
34 And an innumerable multitude shal be gathered together, as they that be willing to come, and to ouercome him by fighting. ℰ
35 But he shall stande vpon the toppe of the mount Sion.
36 And Sion shall come, and shall be shewed to all men, being pꝛepared and builded, like as thou sawest the hill grauē foꝛth without any handes.
37 And this my sonne shal rebuke those nations which are falne into the tempest, foꝛ their wickednesse and euill imaginations, 38 And into toꝛmētes like to flame, wherewith they shall be punished: and without any labour shall he destroye them, euen by the law, which is compared vnto the fire.
39 And whereas thou sawest that he gathered another peaceable people vnto him:
40 These are the ten tribes which were caried away pꝛisoners out of their own land in the time of Oseas the king, whom Salmanasar the king of Assyria toke pꝛisoners, and caried them " ouer the water, & so came they into another land. 4. Re. 17.
" oꝛ, beyonde the riuer.
41 But they toke this counsell among thē selues, that they would leaue the multitude of the heathen, and to goe foꝛth into a further further countrey, where neuer mankinde dwelt:

42 That they myght there keepe their statutes, which they neuer kept in their owne lande.

43 And so they entred in at the narrowe passages of the riuer Euphrates.

Exo.13.k. Iosue.3.d. 44 For the moste hyghest then shewed tokens for them, and held still the flodde tyll they were passed ouer.

45 For throughe the countrey there was a greate way, namely, of a yeere and a halfe iourney: and the same region is called Arsareth.

46 Then dwelt they there vntill the latter time: and when they come forth againe, 47 The hyghest shall holde still the springs of the streame agayne, that they may go through: therefore sawest thou the multitude with peace.

48 But they that be left behind of thy people, are those that are founde within my borders.

49 Nowe when hee destroyeth the multitude of the nations that are gathered together, he shall defende his people that remayne:

50 And then shall he shew them great wonders.

51 Then sayde I, O Lorde, Lord, shew me this, wherfore haue I seene the man comming vp from the "deepe of the sea.

"or, middest.

52 And hee sayde vnto mee, Lyke as thou canst neyther seeke oute nor knowe these things that are in the deepe of the sea: euen so can no man vpon earth see my sonne, or those that be with him, but in the tyme of the "day.

"or, that day.

53 This is the interpretation of the dreame which thou sawest, and wherby thou only arte here lightened:

54 For thou hast forsaken thine owne lawe, and applyed thy diligence vnto myne, and sought it.

55 Thy life hast thou ordered in wisedome, and hast called vnderstanding thy mother:

3.Re.3.a. Pro.7.a.

56 And therefore haue I shewed thee the treasures of the highest. After other three dayes I will shew thee more, and talke with thee more at large, yea heauy and wonderous things will I declare vnto thee.

57 Then went I forth into the fielde, giuing prayse and thankes greately vnto God, bycause of his wonders whiche he dyd in tyme, 58 And bicause he gouerneth the same, and suche things as fall in their seasons, and there I sate three dayes.

The.iiij. Chapter.

3. Howe God appeared to Moses in the bushe. 10. Al things decline to age. 16. The latter age woorse than the former. 29. The ingratitude of Israel. 35. The resurrection and iudgement.

1 A Vpon the third day I sate vnder an Oke tree, then came there a voyce vnto me out of the bushe, and sayde, Esdras, Esdras.

2 And I sayde, Heere am I Lorde: and stode vp vpon my feete.

3 Then sayde he vnto mee, In the bushe did I appeare vnto Moses, and talked with him when the people serued in Egypt, Exo.3.a.

4 And I sente him, and led my people out of Egypt, and brought him vp to the mounte Sina, where I helde him by mee a long season:

5 And told him many wonderous woorkes and shewed him the secretes of the tymes, and the ende, and commaunded him, saying:

6 These woordes shalt thou declare, and these shalt thou hyde.

7 And nowe I say vnto thee, B

8 That thou lay vp in thine heart ỹ signes that I haue shewed, and the dreames that thou haste seene, and the interpretations which thou hast hearde.

9 For thou shalt bee taken awaye from among all, and hencefoorth thou shalte remayne with my counsaile, and with suche as be like thee, vntill the times be ended.

10 For the woorlde hath loste his youth, and the times beginne to waxe olde.

11 For the woorlde is diuided into twelue partes, and ten partes of it are gone alredy, and halfe a tenth part:

12 And there remayneth there, that whiche is after the halfe of "the tenth part.

"or, that.

13 Therefore sette thine houle in order, and reforme thy people, comfort suche of them as be in trouble, and nowe renounce corruption.

14 Let go from thee mortall thoughts, cast C away the burdens of men, put of ỹ weake nature:

15 And set aside the thoughts that are most heauy vnto thee, and hast thee to flee from these tymes:

16 For as for suche euil (and wickednesse) as thou haste now seene happen, they shall do yet muche woorse.

17 For the weaker that the woorlde is, by reason of age, the more shall euils encrease vpon them that dwell therein. Mat.24.a. 1.Joh.2.c.

18 For the trueth is fled far away, and leasing is harde at hande: for nowe hasteth the vision to come, that thou hast seene.

19 Then answered I before thee, & sayde,

20 Beholde Lorde, I will go as thou hast commaunded mee, and reformme the people which are presente: but they that shalbe borne afterwarde, who wyll admonishe them? thus the world is set in darknesse, & they that dwell therein, are without light.

D 21 For thy lawe is burnt, therefore no man knoweth the things that are done of thee, or the workes that shalbe done.

22 But if I haue founde grace before thee, sende the holy ghost into mee. and I shall write all that hath ben done in the world since the beginning, whiche was written in thy lawe, that men may finde the path, and that they which will liue in the latter dayes, may lyue.

23 And he answered mee, saying, Go thy way, gather the people togyther, and saye vnto them, that they seeke thee not for fortie dayes.

24 But loke thou gather thee many bare trees, and take with thee Sarea, Dabria, Selemia, Ecanus, and Asiel, these fiue, whiche are ready to write swiftly:

25 And come hither, and I shal light a candle of vnderstanding in thine heart, which shall not be put out till ỹ things be perfourmed, which thou shalt begin to write.

26 And then shalte thou desire some things openly vnto the perfecte, and some things shalt thou shewe secretely vnto the wyse: to morrowe this houre shalt thou beginne to wrote.

E 27 Then went I forthe, as he commaunded mee, and gathered all the people togither, and sayde, 28 Heare these wordes, O Israel.

29 Oure fathers at the begynning were straungers in Egypte, from whence they were deliuered.

Deut.3.d. 30 And receyued the lawe of lyfe, whiche they kept not, whiche yee also haue transgressed after them.

31 Then was the lande, euen the lande of Sion parted among you by lotte (to possesse:) But your fathers, & ye your selues also haue done vnrighteousnes, and haue not kept the waies which the highest commaunded you.

32 And for so muche as hee is a ryghteous iudge, he toke from you in tyme, the thing that he had giuen you.

33 And nowe are ye here, and your brethren among you.

34 Therefore, if so be that yee wyll subdue your own vnderstanding, & reformme your heart, ye shalbe kept alyue, and after death shall ye obteyne mercie.

35 For after death shall ỹ iudgement come, when we shall liue agayne: and then shall the names of the righteous bee manifest, & the workes of ỹ vngodly shalbe declared.

36 Let no man therefore come nowe vnto me, nor seeke after me these fourtie dayes.

37 So I toke the fyue men, as hee commaunded mee, and went into the fielde, and remayned there. E

38 The next day, a voyce called me, saying Esdras, open thy mouth, and drinke that I giue thee to drinke. Ezec.3.2. Apo.10.b.

39 Then opened I my mouth, and beholde, he reached mee a full cup, whiche was full as it were with water, but the colour of it was like fire.

40 And I toke it, and dranke: and when I had dronken it, my hart had vnderstanding, and wisedome grewe in my breaste: for my spirit was strengthened in remembraunce.

41 And my mouth was opened, and shutte no more.

42 The highest gaue vnderstanding vnto the fiue menne, that they wrote the highe things of the night, which they vnderstode not.

43 But in the night they did eate bread: as for mee, I spake in the daye, and helde not my tongue by nyght.

44 In fourtie dayes they wrote two hundred and foure bookes.

45 And it came to passe, when the fourtie dayes were fulfylled, that the highest spake, saying, The firste that thou halte written, publishe openly, that the worthy and vnworthie may reade it:

46 But keepe the seuentie laste, that thou mayest delyuer them onely to suche as bee wise among thy people.

47 For in them is the spring of vnderstanding, the fountayne of wisedome, and the streame of knowledge.

48 And I did so.

The. xv. Chapter.

1. The prophecie of Esdras is certaine. 5. The euils that shall come on the world. 9. The Lord will auenge the innocent blood. 12. Egypt shal lament. 16. Sedition. 20. and punishment vpō the kings of the earth. 24. Curfed are they that sinne. 29. Troubles and wars vpon the whole earth. 53. God is the reuenger of his elect.

1 BEhold, speake thou in ỹ eares of my people the wordes of prophecie, which I

I will put in thy mouth, sayth the Lorde.
2 And cause them to be written in a letter:
" or, they are faythfull and true. " for it is the truth.
3 Feare not the imaginations against thee: Let not the vnfaythfulnesse of them trouble thee, that speake against thee.
4 For all the vnfaythfull shall dye in their vnfaythfulnesse.
5 Beholde (sayth the Lorde) I will bring plagues vpon the worlde, the swoord, hunger, death, and destruction:
6 For wickednesse hath the vpper hande in all the earth, and their shamefull workes are fulfilled.
Ezec. 5. & Apo. 10. b.
B 7 Therefore sayth the Lorde,
8 I will holde my tongue no more of their wickednesse whiche they dow so vngodlie, neyther will I suffer them in the things that they deale withall so wickedly: Beholde, the innocent and righteous bloodde Apoc. 6. b. & 19. a. cryeth vnto mee, and the soules of the iust complaine continually.
9 And therefore, sayth the Lorde, I will surely auenge, and receiue vnto me all the innocent blood from among them.
10 Beholde, my people is led as a flocke of sheepe to be slayne. I will not suffer them nowe to dwell in the lande of Egypt: Psal. 44. c. Rom. 8. c. 1. Cor. 4. b.
11 But will bring them out with a mightie hande, and a stretched out arme, and smite it with plagues as afore, and will destroy all the lande of it.
12 Egypt shall mourne, and the fundations of it shall be smitten with the plague and punishment that God shal bring vpon it.
13 They that till the ground shall mourne, for their seedes shall bee destroyed through the blasting and hayle, and by an horrible starre.
C 14 Wo worth the worlde, and them that dwell therein.
15 For the swoorde and their destruction draweth nygh, and one people shall stande vp to fight agaynst another, and swoordes in their handes.
" or, for there shalbe sedition among men. 16 " For men shall be vnstedfaste, and some shall do violence vnto other, they shall not regarde their king, and the Princes shall measure the way of their dwings by their power.
17 A man shall desire to go into a citie, and shall not be able.
18 For bicause of their pryde the cities shall be troubled, the houses shall tremble, and men shall be afrayde.
19 A man shall haue no pytie vpon his neyghbour, but shall destroy their houses with the swoorde, and spoyle their goodes, bicause of the " hunger of breade, & bicause of the great trouble. " or, lacke.
20 Beholde, sayth God, I call togither all the kings of the earth to reuerence mee, whiche are from the " vprysing, from the South, from the Easte, and Libanus, to turne vppon them, and restore the things that they haue done to them: " or, west.
21 Like as they dow yet this daye vnto my D chosen, so will I dow also, and recompence them in their bosome: Thus sayeth the Lorde God.
22 My right hande shall not spare the sinners, & my swoord shal not cease ouer them that shed the innocent blod vpon earth.
23 The fire is gone oute from his wrath, and hath consumed the fundations of the earth, and the sinners like the strawe that is kindled.
24 Wo worth them that sinne, & keepe not my commaundementes, sayth the Lorde.
25 I will not spare them: go your way ye children from the power, defyle not my sanctuarie:
26 For the Lorde knoweth all them that sinne agaynste him, and therefore deliuereth he them vnto death and destruction.
27 For nowe are the plagues come vppon E the worlde, and ye shall remaine in them: for God shall not delyuer you, bicause ye haue sinned against him.
28 Beholde, an horrible vision commeth from the East,
29 Where generations of dragons of Arabia shal come out with many charets, and the multitude of them shall bee carryed as the winde vppon earth, that al they which heare them, may feare and tremble,
30 Euen the Carmanies raging in wrathe, shal go forth as the wild Bores of the forrest, & with great power shall they come & stande fighting with them, and shal waste a portion of the lande of the Assyrians.
31 And then shall the dragons haue the vpper hande, and remembring their nature, shall turne aboute, conspiring togither in great power, to persecute them.
32 Then these shall be troubled, and keepe silence in their power, and shall flee.
33 And from the lande of the Assyrians shal the enimie besiege them, & consume some of them, and in their host shall be feare and dread, and strife among their kings.
34 Behold cloudes from the East, and from the North vnto the South, and they are very horrible to looke vppon, full of wrath and stormes.
35 They shall smite one vpon another, and they they shall smyte downe a great multitude of starres vpon the earth, euen their owne starre: and the bloodde shall bee from the swoorde vnto the belly,

36 And the dung of man vnto the Camels litter,

37 And there shalbe great fearefulnesse and trembling vppon earth: and they that see the wrath shalbe afraide, and a trembling shall come vpon them:

38 And then shall there come great raynes from the South, and from the North, and part from the West.

39 And strong windes shall aryse from the East, and shall open it, & the cloude which he rayseth vp in wrath, and the starre stirred to cause feare towarde the Easte and West winde, shalbe destroyed:

40 The greate cloudes shalbe lyfte vp, and the mightie cloudes full of wrath, and the starre, that they may make all the earth afrayde, and them that dwell therein, and that they may poure out ouer euery hyghe place, an horrible starre,

41 Fyre, and hayle, and fleeing swoordes, and many waters: that all fieldes may be full, and all ryuers with the abundance of greate waters.

42 And they shall breake downe the cities, and walles, mountaynes, and hilles, trees of the wood, & the grasse of the medowes, and all their corne.

43 And they shall go stedfaste vnto Babylon, and make hir afrayde.

44 They shal come to hir, and beseige hir, the [a] starre and all wrath shall they poure out vpon hir, then shal the dust and smoke go vp into the heauen, and all they that be about hir, shall bewayle hir.

45 And they that remayne vnder hir, shall do seruice vnto them that haue put hir in feare.

46 And thou Asia that comfortest thy selfe also vppon the hope of Babylon, and arte the glory of hir person:

47 Wo be vnto thee thou wretche, because thou hast made thy selfe like vnto hir, and hast deckt thy daughters in whoredome, that they might [b] triumphe and please thy louers, which haue alway desired to commit whoredome with thee.

48 Thou hast followed the abominable city in all hir workes and inuentions: therefore sayth God,

49 I will send plagues vpon thee, widowhood, pouertie, hunger, warres, and pestilence, to waste thy houses with destruction and death,

50 And the glory of thy power shalbe dried vp as a floure, when the heate ryseth that is sent [c] ouer thee:

51 Thou shalt be sicke as a poore wyfe that is plagued and beaten of women: so that the mightie and louers shall not be able to receue thee.

52 Would I so hate thee, sayth the Lorde,

53 If thou hadst not alway slaine my chosen, exalting ỹ stroke of thy hands, & sayd ouer their death when thou wast drunken,

54 Sette forthe the beautie of thy countenaunce?

55 The rewarde of thy whoredome shall be recompenced thee in thy bosome, therefore shalt thou receyue rewarde.

56 Like as thou hast done vnto my chosen, sayth the Lord: euen so shal God do vnto thee, & shall deliuer thee into the plague.

57 Thy children shall dye of hunger, & thou shalt fall throughe the swoorde: thy cities shall be broken downe, and all thine shall perishe with the swoorde in the fielde.

58 They that bee in the mountaynes shall dye of hunger, and eate their owne flesshe, and drinke their owne blood, for very hunger of bread, and thirst of water.

59 Thou, as vnhappie, shalt come through the sea, and receyue plagues againe.

60 In the passage they shall cast downe the slayne citie, and shall rote out one part of thy lande, and consume the portion of thy glorye; and shall returne to hir that was destroyed.

61 They shall treade thee downe like stubble, and they shalbe thy fire, 62 And shall consume thee, thy cities, and thy lande, and thy mountaynes: all thy woodes, and thy frutefull trees shall they burne vp with the fire.

63 Thy children shall they carry away captiue: and loke what thou hast, they shall spoyle it, and mar the beautie of thy face.

[a] or, constellation and tempest.

[b] or, please & glory in.

[c] or, vpon.

The.xvi. Chapter.

1. Agaynst Babylon, Asia, Egypt, and Syria. 18. 38. Of the euyls that shall come vppon the worlde, with admonition howe to gouerne themselues in afflictions. 54. To acknowledge their sinnes, and to commit themselues to the Lord. 55. whose mightie prouidence and iustice is to be reuerenced.

1 WO be vnto thee Babylon and Asia, I
Wo be vnto thee Egypt and Syria:

2 Gyrde your selues with clothes of sacke and heare, and mourne your children: bee sorye: for your destruction is at hande.

3 A swoꝛd is sent vpon you, and who will turne it backe?
4 A fyꝛe is sent among you, and who will quenche it?
5 Plagues are sent vnto you, and what is he that will dꝛyue them away?
6 May any man dꝛyue awaye an hungrie Lion in ẏ wood? Oꝛ may any man quẽch ẏ fire in stubble whẽ it hath begun to burne?
B 7 May one turne agayne the aꝛowe that is shot of a stꝛong Aꝛcher?
8 The mighty Loꝛd sendeth the plagues, & what is he that will dꝛyue them awaye?
9 The fire is kindled and gone foꝛth in his wꝛath, & what is he that may quenche it?
10 He shall cast lyghtnings, and who shall not feare? He shal thunder, & who shall not be afrayde?
11 The Loꝛd shall threaten, & who shall not vtterly be beatẽ to pouder at his presence?
12 The earth quaketh, and the fundations thereof, ẏ sea ariseth vp with waues from the deepe, and the waues of it are vnquiet, and the fishes therof also, befoꝛe ẏ Loꝛde, and befoꝛe the glozie of his powꝛer:
13 Foꝛ stꝛong is his right hande that bẽdeth the bowe, his aꝛꝛowes that he shooteth are sharpe, and shal not misse when they begin to be shot into the endes of the woꝛld.
C 14 Behold, the plagues are sent, & shall not turne againe tyll they come vpon earth.
15 The fire is kindled, & shal not be put out till it cõsume the fundations of the earth.
16 Like as an aꝛꝛowe whiche is shotte of a mightie aꝛcher, returneth not backwaꝛde: euen so the plagues that shalbe sent vpon the earth, shall not turne againe.
17 Wo is mee, wo is mee, who wil deliuer mee in those dayes?
18 The beginning of soꝛꝛowes and greate mourning, the beginning of dearth, and greate death, the beginning of wars, & the powers shall stand in feare, the beginning of euils, and they shall tremble euery one.
19 What shall I do in these things, when the plagues come?
20 Beholde, hunger, and plague, trouble, and anguishe, are sent as scourges foꝛ amendement:
D 21 But foꝛ all these things they shall not turne from their wyckednesse, noꝛ be alway mindfull of the scourges.
22 Behold, victayles shalbe so good cheape, vpon earth, that they shall thinke themselues to be in good case: and euen thẽ shall mischiefe grow vpon earth, warres, warth, and greate "oꝛ, cõfusion disquietnesse.
23 Foꝛ manye of them that dwell vppon earth, shall perish of hũger, & the other that escape the hunger, shal the swoꝛd destroy.
24 And the deade shalbe cast out as dung, and there shalbe no man to comfoꝛt them: foꝛ the earth shalbe wasted, and the cities shalbe cast downe.
25 There shall bee no man lefte to tyll the earth, and to sowe it.
26 The trees shall gyue fruite, and who shall plucke them off, and gather them?
27 The grapes shalbe ripe, & who shal tread thẽ? Foꝛ all places shalbe desolate of men. E
28 So that one man shall desire to see another, oꝛ to heare his voyce.
29 Foꝛ of one whole citie there shalbe ten left, and two of the fielde, which shall hide themselues in the thicke "bushes, and in the cliftes of stones, "oꝛ, woodes
30 Like as when there remayne three oꝛ foure Oliues in the place where Oliues gꝛow, oꝛ among other trees.
31 Oꝛ as when a Vineyarde is gathered, there are left some grapes of them that diligently sought through the vineyarde:
32 Euen so in those dayes, there shalbe three oꝛ foure left by them that search their houses with the swoꝛde.
33 And the earth shalbe left waste, and the fieldes therof shall waxe olde, & hir wayes & all hir pathes shall gꝛow full of thoꝛnes, bicause no mã shal trauaile there through.
34 The birgins shall mourne, hauing no bꝛidegꝛomes, ẏ women shal make lamentation, hauing no husbandes, their daughters shall mourne, hauing no helpers.
35 In the warres shall their bꝛidegꝛomes be destroyed, and their husbandes shal perishe of hunger.
36 But yee seruantes of the Loꝛde, heare these things, and marke them.
37 Beholde the woꝛde of the Loꝛde, & receyue it: beleeue not the goddes of whome the Loꝛde spake, F
38 Beholde the plagues dꝛawe nygh, and are not slacke in tarrying.
39 Like as a trauayling woman whiche in the nynth moneth bꝛingeth foꝛth a sonne, whẽ the houre of ẏ byrth is come, an houre two oꝛ three afoꝛe that, ẏ paines come vpõ hir body, & whẽ the child cõmeth to ẏ birth, they tary not the twinckling of an eye:
40 Euen so shall not the plagues be slacke to come vppon the earth, and the woꝛlde shal mourne, and soꝛowes shal come vpon it on euery side.
41 O my people, heare my woꝛde, make you ready to the battayle, and in all euyll be euen as pilgrimes vpon earth.

42 He

1.Cor.7.d. 42 He that selleth, let him be as he ẏ fleeth his way: & he ẏ buyeth, as one ẏ will leese.
43 Who so occupieth marchandise, as hee that winneth not: and he that buyldeth, as he that shall not dwell therein:
44 He that soweth, as one that shall not reape, he that cutteth the vineyarde, as he that shall not gather the grapes:
45 They that marrie, as they that shall get no children: and they that marrie not, as the widowes.
Psal. 71.a. Pro.10.c. 46 And therefore they that labour, labour, in vayne.
Eccle.11.b. 47 For straungers shall reape their fruites, & spoyle their goods, ouerthrow their houses, and take their children captiue: for in captiuitie & hunger shall they get children.
48 And they that occupy their marchandise with robbery, the more they decke their cities, their houses, their possessions, and their owne persons, 49 The more will I punish them for their sinnes, sayth the Lorde.
50 Like as an whore enuieth an honest and vertuous woman.
51 So shall righteousnesse hate iniquitie, when she decketh hir selfe, & shal accuse hir to hir face, when he commeth that shal bridle the auckhour of all sinne vpon earth.
52 And therefore be not yee like thereunto, nor to the workes thereof:
53 For or euer it bee long, iniquitie shall be taken awaye out of the earth, and righteousnesse shall raigne among you.
54 Let not the sinner say, that he hath not sinned: for coales of fire shall burne vpon his heade which sayth, Before the Lorde God and his glory, I haue not sinned.
55 Beholde, the Lorde knoweth all the workes of men, their imagination, their Gen.1.a. thoughtes, and their heartes.
56 For he spake but the worde, Lette the earth be made: and it was made, Let the Psal.146.a. heauen be made: and it was created.
57 In his worde were the starres made, and he knoweth the number of them.
58 He searcheth the grounde of the deepe, and the treasures thereof, he hath measured the sea, and what it containeth.
59 Hee hath shut the sea in the midst of the waters, and with his worde hath he hanged the earth vpon the waters.
60 He spreadeth out the heauen like a vault, vpon the waters hath he founded it.
61 In the deserte and drie wildernesse hath he made springs of water, and pooles vpon the top of the mountaines, that ẏ floodes might powre down from the stony rocks, to water the earth.
62 He made man, and put his heart in the middes of the body, and gaue him breath, lyfe and vnderstanding.
63 Yea, and the spirit of the almightie God which made all things, and hath searched the grounde of all the secretes of the earth.
64 Hee knoweth your imaginations and inuentions, and what ye thinke when yee sinne, and woulde hyde your sinnes.
65 Therefore hath the Lorde searched, and sought out all your workes, and he shall bewray you all.
66 And when your synnes are brought forth, ye shalbe ashamed before men, and your owne sinne shall be your accusers in that day.
67 What will ye do? Or how will ye hyde your sinnes before God and his angels?
68 Behold, God himselfe is the iudge, feare him: leaue off from your sins, and forget your vnrighteousnesse, & meddle no more with them: so shall God leade you forth, and deliuer you from all trouble.
69 For beholde, the heate of a greate multitude is kyndled ouer you, and they shall take away certaine of you, and shall slaye for meate to the idolls:
70 And they that consent vnto them, shalbee had in derision, laughed to scorne, and troden vnder foote.
71 For there shall be in euery place, and in the next cities, a greate insurrection vpon those that feare the Lorde.
72 They shall be like mad men, they shall spare no man, they shall spoyle and waste suche as yet feare the Lorde:
73 For their goddes shall they take from them, and shut them out of their houses.
74 Then shall it bee knowen who are my chosen, and they shalbe tryed as the golde in the fire.
75 Heare, O ye my beloued, sayth the Lord: beholde, the dayes of trouble are at hande, but I will deliuer you from the same.
76 Be not ye afrayd, despayre not: for God is your captayne.
77 Who so keepeth my commaundements and precepts, sayth the Lorde God, let not your sinnes wayght you down, and let not your vnrighteousnesse be lyft vp.
78 Wo be vnto them that are bounde with their sinnes, & couered with their wickednesse, like as a fielde is hedged in with bushes, and the pathe thereof couered with thorns, that no man may trauaile through: it is shutte vp, and is calle into the fire, for euer to be consumed therewith.

¶ The booke of Tobias.

¶ The firſte Chapter.

1. Tobias parentage. 3. His godlyneſſe. 6. His equitie. 8. His charitie and proſperitie. 23. He fleeth, and his goods are confiſcate. 25. and after reſtored.

A 1 TObias was of the tribe & citie of Nepthali, whiche lyeth in the hygh countreyes of Galilee aboue Naaſſon, beſide the waye that leadeth to ỹ weſt, hauing the citie of Sephet vppon the lefte ſide.

2 Though hee was taken priſoner in the dayes of Salmanaſar king of the Aſſyrians, neuertheleſſe, beeing in captiuitie, he forſoke not the way of trueth:

3 In ſo muche, that whatſoeuer he myght gette, he parted it dayly with his felowe priſoners and brethren that were of his kinred.

4 And though hee were yonger than all in the tribe of Nepthali, yet dyd not he behaue him ſelfe childiſhly in his workes.

5 And when all the other went to the golden Calues, whiche Jeroboam the kyng of Iſrael had made, he alone fled all their companies,

6 And gate him to Hieruſalem vnto the temple of the Lord, and there worſhipped the Lorde God of Iſrael, faithfully offering of all his firſt frutes and tithes.

B 7 So that in the thirde yeere hee miniſtred all the tithes vnto the ſtraungers and conuertes.

8 Theſe and ſuche like thinges, dyd he obſerue, according to the lawe of God, when he was yet but yong.

9 But when he was a man, he toke out of his owne tribe a wife, called Anna: and of hir he begate a ſonne, whome he called after his owne name,

10 And taught him from his youth vp to feare God, and to refraine from all ſinne.

11 Now when he, with his wife, his ſonne, and with all his "kynred, was come in captiuitie vnto the citie of Niniue, "Or, tribe.

12 What time as they did eate of ỹ meates of the heathen, he kept his ſoule, and was neuer defiled in their meates.

13 And for ſo muche as hee was mindefull of the Lorde in all his hart, God gaue him fauour in the ſighte of Salmanaſar the King.

14 Whiche gaue him power to goe where C he woulde, & ſo had he libertie to do whatſoeuer he woulde.

15 So wente Tobias vnto all them that were in captiuitie (and comforted them,) and gaue them wholſome exhortations.

16 And when he came to Rages, a citie of the Medes, hauing ten talentes of ſiluer, (of the things wherwith the king had honoured him)

17 And ſawe among a greate companie of people of his kinred, one Gabelus, whiche was of his owne tribe, being in neceſſitie, he gaue him the ſayde wayght of ſiluer, vnder an hande writing.

18 After a long ſeaſon, when Salmanaſar the king was deade, and Sennacherib his ſonne raygned in his ſteede, whiche hated the children of Iſrael:

19 Tobias went dayly throughout all his kinred, and comforted them, and gaue of his goodes to euery one of them, as muche as he might.

20 He fedde the hungrie, clothed the naked, and buryed the deade and ſlayne, and that diligently.

21 And when Sennacherib the king came D agayne, and fledde out of Iurie (what tyme as God puniſhed hym for his blaſphemie) and in his wrath ſlewe many of the children of Iſrael, Tobias buried their bodyes.

22 But when it was tolde the Kyng, hee commaunded to ſlay him, and toke away all his goodes.

23 Neuertheleſſe, Tobias with his ſonne and with his wife, fledde away naked, and was hidde: for there were many that loued him.

24 But after fourtie and fyue dayes, the king was ſlayne of his owne ſonnes:

25 Then came Tobias againe to his houſe and all his goods were reſtored vnto him.

The

The.ij. Chapter.

1. Tobias calleth the faythfull to his table. 3. He leaueth the feast to bury the dead. 10. How he became blinde. 13. His wife laboureth for his liuing. 17. She reprocheth him bytterly.

A 1 AFter those things, vpon a solempne day of the Lord, Tobias made a good feast in his house,

2 And sayde vnto his sonne, Go thy way, & bring hither som of our tribe, such as feare God, that they may make mery with vs.

3 And when he was gone, he came againe, and tolde his father, that one of the chyldren of Israel lay slayne vpon the streete.

4 And immediatly he leapt from his table, lefte the feaste, came fasting to the deade coarse, toke him, and bare him priuilye into his house, that when the sunne was downe, he might safely bury him.

5 And when hee had hyd the coarse, he dyd eate his meate with mourning and feare,

6 Remembring the wordes that the Lorde sayde by the Prophete Amos: Your hygh feastes shall be turned to sorowe and heauinesse. Amos. 8. c.

B 7 But when the sunne was downe, he wēt his way, and buryed him.

8 Then al his "neighbours reproued him, saying, It is not long since it was commaunded to slay thee, bicause of this matter, & hast scarse escaped ỳ danger of death: and buryest thou the deade agayne? "or, his nexte of kynne.

9 Neuertheless, Tobias fearing GOD more than the king, toke the bodies of the slayne, and hid them in his house, & buried them at mydnightes.

10 It hapned vpon a day, that he had buryed the dead, & was weery, came home, & layde him downe by the wall, and slept.

11 And whyle hee was asleepe, there fell downe vpon his eyes warme dung out of the swallowes nest, so that he was blinde.

12 This temptation did God suffer to happen vnto him, that they whiche came after, myghte haue an example of his patience, like as of holy Job.

13 For in so muche as hee euer feared God from his youth vp, & kept his commaundementes, he grudged not agaynste God, that the plague of blindnesse chaunced vnto him.

C 14 But remained stedfast in ỳ feare of god, and thanked God all the dayes of his life.

15 For like as blessed Job was had in derision of kings: euen so was he laughed to scorne of his elders and kinsfolkes, which sayde vnto him, 16 Where is thy hope, for the whiche thou hast done almes, and buryed the dead?

17 But Tobias rebuked them, and spake, Say not so:

18 For we are the chyldren of holy men, and looke for the life which God shal giue vnto them that neuer turne their beliefe from him.

19 And Anna his wyfe went dayly to the weauing worke:

20 And looke what lyuing she coulde gette with the labour of hir handes, she brought it. And it happened that she toke a kidde, and brought it home:

21 And when hir husbande heard it crye, he sayde, looke that it be not stolen: restore it agayne to the owners, for it is not lawfull for vs to eate, or to touche any thing of theft.

22 Then was his wyfe angrie, and sayde, Nowe is thy hope become vayne openly, and thy almes deedes are manifest.

23 With these and suche like wordes, dyd she cast him in the teeth.

The.iij. Chapter.

3. The prayer of Tobias. 7. Sara Raguels daughter, and the things that came vnto hir. 12. Hir prayer heard. 19. The Angel Raphael sent.

1 THen Tobias "toke it heauily, & with teares began to make his prayer, I "or, sighed

2 Saying, O Lord, thou art righteous, and all thy iudgementes are true: yea all thy wayes are mercie, faythfulnesse, & iudgement.

3 And nowe, O Lorde, be mindfull of me, and take no vengeance of my sinnes, neyther remember my mysdeedes, neyther the mysdeedes of my forefathers.

4 For we haue not bene obedient vnto thy commaundements: therfore are we spoyled, brought into captiuitie, into death, into derision and shame vnto all nations, among whome thou hast scattered vs.

5 And nowe, O Lorde, thy iudgements are great, for we haue not done according to thy commaundementes, neyther haue wee walked innocently before thee.

6 And now, O Lord, deale with me according to thy will, & commaunde my spirite to be receyued in peace: for more expedient were it for me to dye, than to lyue.

7 At the same time it happened, that Sara B the daughter of Raguel at Rages, a citie of the Medes, was also reproched by one of hir fathers handmaydes, 8 That she had had seuen husbandes, which as soone as they were gone in vnto hir, were slaine of the diuell, called Asmodeus.

9 Therefore, when she reproued the mayden for hir fault, she answered hir, saying, God let vs neuer see sonne nor daughter of thee more vpon earth, thou kyller of thy husbandes.

10 Wilt thou slaye me also, as thou hast slayne seuen men? At this voyce went Sara into an highe chamber of hir house, and three dayes and three nightes she neither ate nor dranke.

11 But continued in prayer, and besought God with teares, that he woulde deliuer hir from this rebuke.

12 Upon the thirde daye it came to passe, that when she had made an end of prayer, she praysed the Lorde, 13 Saying, Blessed be thy name, O God of our fathers, whiche when thou arte wroth, shewest mercie, and in time of trouble, thou forgiuest the sinnes of them that call vpon thee.

C 14 Unto thee, O Lorde, turne I my face, vnto thee lift I vp mine eyes.

15 I beseeche thee, O Lorde, lose me out of the bondes of this rebuke, or else take me vtterly away from off the earth.

16 Thou knowest Lorde, that I neuer had desire vnto man, and that I haue kept my soule cleane from all vncleanly lust:

17 I haue not kepte companie with those that passe their time in sport, neyther haue I made my selfe partaker with them that walke in light behauiour.

18 An husbande haue I consented to take, not for my pleasure, but in thy feare.

19 Now peraduenture, eyther I haue bene vnworthy of them, or else were they vnmeete for me: for thou happyly hast kepte me to another husbande.

20 For why? thy counsell is not in the power of man.

D 21 But euerie one that serueth thee, is sure of this, that if his life be in trying, it shall be crowned: and if he be in trouble, that God (no doubt) shall deliuer him: and if his life be in chastening, that he shall haue leaue to come vnto thy mercy.

22 For thou hast no pleasure in our "damnation: and why? after a storme, thou makest the weather fayre and styll, after weeping & heauinesse, thou giuest great ioy.

"or, destruction.

23 Thy name, O God of Israell, be praysed for euer.

24 At the same time, were both their prayers heard, in the sight of the maiestie of the highest God.

25 And Raphaell the holye Angell of the Lorde, was sent to helpe them both, whose prayers " came at one time together before God.

" or, were recited at one time together

The. iiij. Chapter.

Preceptes and exhortations of Tobias to his sonne.

1 AND when Tobias thought his prayer to be heard, that he might die, he called vnto him his sonne Tobias, A

2 And sayde vnto him, My sonne, heare the wordes of my mouth, and laye them in thyne heart as a foundation.

3 When God taketh away my soule, burie thou my bodye: and holde thy mother in honour, all the dayes of hir life.

4 For thou oughtest to remember what, and howe great perils she suffered for thee in hir wombe.

5 And when she also hath fulfilled the time of hir life, burie hir "beside me.

" or, about.

6 Haue God in thy thought, all the dayes of thy life, and beware least at any time thou consent vnto sinne, and least thou let slippe the commaundements of the Lorde our God.

7 Giue almes of thy goods, and turne neuer thy face from the poore: and so shall it come to passe, that the face of the Lorde shall not be turned away from thee. B

8 Be mercifull after thy power.

9 If thou haue muche, giue plenteously: if thou haste litle, doe thy diligence gladly to giue of that litle:

10 For so gatherest thou thy selfe a good reward in the day of necessitie.

11 For mercy deliuereth from all sinne, and from death, and suffereth not the soule to come into darkenesse.

12 A great cõfort is mercy before the highe God, vnto all them that shew it.

13 My son, keepe thee wel from all whoredome: and beside thy wife, suffer not thy selfe to knowe of sinne.

14 Let neuer pryde haue rule in thy mynd, C nor in thy worde: for in pryde beganne al destruction.

15 Whosoeuer worketh any thing for thee, immediately giue him his hire, and loke that thy hyred seruantes wages remayne not at all with thee.

16 Loke that thou neuer doe vnto another man, the thing that thou wouldest not another man should do vnto thee.

17 Eate thy breade with the hungrie and poꝛe, & couer the naked with thy cloathes.

18 Set thy breade and wyne vpon the burial of the righteous, and do not thou eate and drinke therof with the sinners.
19 Alke euer counsell at the wise.
20 Be alway prayeng of God, and beseech him, that he will ordeꝛ thy wayes, and that whatsoeuer thou deuisest, oꝛ takest in hand, it may remaine in him.
*Oꝛ, direct.
D 21 I certifie thee also, my son, that whē thou wast yet but a babe, I deliuered ten talēts of siluer vnto Gabelus at Rages a citie of ỹ Medes, & his hād writing haue I by me.
22 And therefoꝛe, seeke some meanes howe thou mayest come by him, and receyue of him the sayde waight of siluer, and gyue him his hande writing againe.
23 My sonne, be not afrayde: truely it is we leade heere a poꝛe lyfe, but great good shall we haue, if we feare God, and depart from all sinne, and doe well.

The. v. Chapter.

2. Tobias is sent to Rages. 5. He meeteth with the Angell Raphaell, which did conduct him.

A 1 THen answered Tobias his father, and saide, Father, all that thou hast cōmaūded me will I do, and that diligētly.
2 But howe I shall require this money, I can not tell, neither doth he know me, noꝛ I him: What tokē shal I giue him? And as foꝛ the way thither, I neuer knew it.
3 Then his father answered him, & sayde, I haue his hand wryting by me, which whē ỹ shewst him, immediatly he wil pay thee.
4 But goe thy waye nowe, and get thee some faythfull man to go with thee foꝛ an hyre, that thou mayest receiue the money while I am yet liuing.
5 Thē went Tobias out, & vpō ỹ streete he found a fayre yong mā stāding, girded vp, & as it were one ready to take his iourney.
6 And he knewe not that it was an Angel of God, but saluted him, and sayde, From whence art thou, thou good yong man?
B 7 He answered, Of ỹ childrē of Israell, And Tobias said vnto him, Knowest ỹ ỹ way ỹ leadeth vnto the countrey of the Medes?
8 He answered, I knowe it well, and all those *streetes haue I gone oft times, and haue lodged with our bꝛother Gabelus, ỹ dwelleth in Rages, a citie of the Medes, which lyeth vpon the mount Ecbatanis.
*Oꝛ, wayes.
9 Tobias said vnto him, I pray thee tary foꝛ me, til I haue told my father these things.
10 Then went Tobias in, and told his father al: At the which his father marueled, & prayed that he wold come in vnto him.
11 Nowe when he came in, he saluted him, and sayde, Joy be with thee foꝛ euermoꝛe.
12 And olde Tobias said, What ioy can I haue that sit here in darkenesse, and see not the light of heauen?
13 The yong man sayde vnto him, Be of good cheare, God shall helpe thee shoꝛtly.
14 And Tobias said vnto him, Canst thou bꝛing my sonne to Gabelus, vnto the citie of Rages in Medea? and when thou commest againe, I shall pay thee thy hyre. C
15 And the Angell sayde vnto him, I shall leade thy son, & bryng him to thee againe.
16 Thē Tobias ānswered him, Tel me, I pray thee, of what house, oꝛ of what tribe art ỹ?
17 The Angell Raphaell sayde vnto him, Seekest thou after the kinred of an hireling, oꝛ an hyred man him selfe, foꝛ thy sonne to go with him?
18 But that I make thee not carefull, I am Azarias the sonne of great Hananias.
19 And Tobias answered, Thou arte come of a great kinred: but, I pray thee, be not displeased ỹ I desire to know thy kinred.
20 The Angel sayde vnto him, Thy sonne shall I leade foꝛth safely, and bꝛing him whole and sounde to thee againe.
21 Then answered Tobias, and said, Wel, go on your way, & God be in your iourney, and his Angell beare you company. D
22 So when they had prepared all thing that they would take with thē in their iourney, Tobias bad his father & mother farewel: & they went on their way both together.
23 Now when they were gone, his mother began to weepe, and said, The staffe of our age hast ỹ taken away, & sent him from vs.
24 Would God that money had neuer bin, foꝛ the which thou hast sent him away.
25 Foꝛ our pouertie was sufficient foꝛ vs, why we shoulde haue counted it riches, that we saw our sonne here.
26 Then said Tobias vnto hir, Weepe not, our sonne shal go safely, and come to vs againe sound, and thine eyes shall see him.
27 Foꝛ I trust that the good Angell of God shall beare him company, and oꝛder well al the things that he doeth, so that hee shall come to vs againe with ioy. E
28 At these woꝛdes his mother left off from weeping, and held hir peace.

The. vi. Chapter.

2. Tobias deliuered from the fishe. 8. Raphael sheweth him certaine medicines. 19. He conducteth him toward Sara.

1 SO Tobias went on his way, & a dog folowed him: and the first night they abode by the water of Tigris.

2 Then went he out to washe his feete, and beholde, there came forth an horrible fishe to deuoure him.

3 Of whome Tobias was afrayde, & cried with a loude voyce, saying, Lord, he commeth vpon mee.

4 And the angel sayd vnto him, Take him by the gille, and drawe him to thee. And he did so, and drewe him vpon the lande: and the fishe began to leape at his feete.

5 Then sayde the Angel vnto him, Take out the bowels of this fish: and as for the hart, the gall, and the lyuer, keepe them by thee: for these things are necessarie & good for medicines.

6 Tobias did so, and rosted the fleshe, and they toke it with them in their iourney: the residue they salted, as muche as was sufficient for them, til they came to Rages a citie of the Medes.

B 7 Then Tobias asked the Angel, and sayd vnto him, I pray thee brother Azaria, tell mee whereto are these things good of the fishe that thou hast bidden me keepe.

8 The Angel answered him, and sayde, If thou layest a peece of the hart vpon the coales, the smoke thereof driueth away all manner of euyll spirites, whyther it bee from man or from woman, so that from hencefoorth, the same shall come no more vnto them.

9 The gall is good to annoynt or to strike the eyes withal, where as there is any blemishe in them, so that they shalbe whole.

10 And Tobias sayde vnto him, Where wilt thou that wee remayne? The Angel answered, 11 And sayde, Here is a nygh kinsman of thine, & of thy tribe, one Raguel by name, which hath a daughter called Sara, & hath neyther sonne nor daughter but hir.

12 All his good belongeth vnto thee, & thou must marry hir.

13 And therefore desire hir of hir father, and he shall giue hir thee to wife.

C 14 Then answered Tobias, and sayde, As I vnderstande, thee hath beene married vnto seuen husbandes, & they all are dead: and I haue heard saye, that the deuyll slue them.

15 I am afrayde therfore, least such things happen vnto me also: which if it came to passe, seeing I am the only sonne of my father and my mother, I shoulde bring them in their age with sorow to their graues.

16 Then said the angel Raphael vnto him, Heare mee, and I will tell thee what they be, of whome the deuill hath power.

17 Namely, they that receiue marriage after such a fashion, that they shut God out from them, and from their heart, and giue themselues to their owne lust, euen as it were an Horse and Mule, whiche haue no vnderstanding: vppon such hath the deuill power.

18 But when thou takest hir, and art come into the chamber, withholde thy selfe from hir three dayes, & gyue thy diligence vnto nothing, but vnto prayer with hir.

19 And in the first night, rost the lyuer of the fishe, & the deuill shalbe driuen awaye.

20 The second night shalt thou be receyued D into the companie of the holy patriarches.

21 The third night shalt thou obteyne the blessing of God, so that whole chyldren shalbe borne of you. "or, sounde.

22 After the third night, take the mayden in the feare of God, and more for the desire of children, than for any fleshly lust, that in the seede of Abraham, thou mayest obteine the blessing in children.

The. vii. Chapter.

Tobias marrieth Sara, Raguels daughter.

1 THen went they in to Raguel, which A receyued them ioyfully.

2 And when Raguel loked vpon Tobias, he sayde vnto Anna his wife, How like is this yong man vnto my sisters sonne?

3 And when he had spoken this, he sayde, Whence be ye, ye yong men and our brethren? They sayde, Of the tribe of Nephthali, out of the captiuitie of Ninive.

4 Then sayde Raguel vnto them, Knowe ye my brother Tobias? They sayde, Yea, we knowe him well.

5 And whē he had spokē much good of him, the angel sayde vnto Raguel, Tobias of whome ÿ talkest, is this yong mans father.

6 Then Raguel bowed himselfe downe, and wept, and toke him about the necke, and kissed him,

7 And sayde, Gods blessing haue thou my B sonne, for thou art the sonne of a good vertuous man.

8 And Anna his wife, & Sara his daughter wept also.

9 Nowe when they had talked together, Raguel bade kill a weather, and to make a feaste: and when he had exhorted them to sit downe to dinner,

10 Tobias sayde, I wyll neyther eate nor drinke here this day, except thou firſt graūt me my petition, and promiſe me to giue me thy daughter Sara.

11 When Raguell heard this, he was aſtonied, for he knewe what had happened vnto the other ſeuen men that went in vnto hir: and he beganne to feare that it ſhould chaunce vnto him alſo in like maner. And while he ſtode ſo in doubt, and gaue the yong man no anſwere, 12 The Angell ſayd vnto him, Feare not to giue him thy daughter, for vnto this man that feareth God, belongeth thy daughter to wife: therefore might none other haue hir.

13 Then ſayde Raguell, I doubt not but God hath accepted my prayers and teares in his ſight:

℣ 14 And I beleue he cauſed you to come vnto me for the ſame intent, that this daughter of myne myght bee marryed in hir owne kinred, according to the lawe of Moſes: and nowe doubt thou not but I will giue hir vnto thee.

Num. 36. c.

15 So he toke the right hand of his daughter, and gaue hir into the right hande of Tobias, and ſayd, The God of Abraham, the God of Iſahac, and the God of Jacob be with you, ioyne you together, and fulfill his bleſſing in you.

16 And they toke a letter, and made a writing of the maryage.

17 And then made they merry, and prayſed God.

18 And Raguel called Anna his wife vnto him, and bade hir prepare another chāber.

19 And thither he brought Sara his daughter, and ſhe wept.

20 Then ſayde he vnto hir, Be of good cheare my daughter: the Lorde of heauen giue thee ioye, for thy heauineſſe that thou haſt ſuffered.

The. viij. Chapter.

2. Tobias driueth away the euill ſpirite. 4. He prayeth to God with his wife. 11. Raguel prepareth a graue for his ſonne in lawe. 16. Raguell bleſſeth the Lorde.

I 1 NOwe after that they had ſupped, they brought the yong man in to hir.

2 Then thought Tobias vpon the wordes of the Angell, and toke out of his bagge a peece of the lyuer of the fiſhe, and layde it vpon the hote coales.

3 So the Angell Raphael toke holde of the diuell, and ſent him away, and bounde him in ỹ wildernelle of the higher Egipt.

4 Then ſpake Tobias vnto the virgin, and ſayde, Up Sara, let vs make our prayer vnto God to day, to morowe, and "ouermorowe: for theſe three nightes will we "reconcile our ſelues with God, and when the thirde holy night is paſt, we ſhal ioyne together in the ſtate of maryage.

" or, the third day.
" or, ioyne our ſelues to god.

5 For we are the children of holy men, and we maye not come together as the heathen that knowe not God.

6 Then ſtode they vp both together, and beſought God earneſtly " that he would preſerue them.

" or, that he might be gouern them.

7 And Tobias ſayde, O Lord God of our fathers, prayſed be thou of heauen and earth, of the ſea, welles, and floudes, and of all thy creatures that be therein. B

8 Thou madeſt Adam of the moulde of the earth, and gaueſt him Eua for an helper. Gen. 2.

9 And nowe Lorde, thou knoweſt that it is not becauſe of voluptuouſneſſe that I take this ſiſter of myne to wife, but onely for the loue of children, in whom thy name may be bleſſed for euer.

10 And Sara ſayde, Haue mercie vpon vs, O Lorde, haue mercie vpon vs, and let vs both come whole and ſounde together to a good age.

11 And about the cocke crowing, it came to paſſe, that Raguel called his ſeruantes:

12 And they wēt with him to make a graue.

13 For he ſayde, It is chaunced nowe vnto him peraduenture, as it did vnto the other ſeuen men that went in vnto hir.

℣ 14 Nowe when they had made the graue, Raguel came again to his wife, and ſaid vnto hir, Sende one of thy maydens to loke if he be deade, that I may burie him afore it be light day.

15 So ſhe ſent a mayden to ſee: whiche when ſhe came into the chamber, founde them whole and ſound, ſleeping together.

16 And ſo ſhe came agayne, and brought good tydings: Then Raguell and Anna his wife prayſed the Lorde, 17 And ſayde, Prayſed be thou, O Lorde God of Iſrael, that it is not happened vnto vs, as we thought.

18 For thou haſt dealt mercifully with vs, and put awaye from vs the enimie that perſecuted vs, 19 And haſte ſhewed mercie vnto yonder two, the onely borne children of their parentes: O Lorde, cauſe them to magnifie thee more perfectly, and to offer the ſacrifice of thy prayſe, and of their health: that all people may knowe, that thou only arte God in all the earth.

20 And

20 And immediatly Raguel commaunded his seruants to fill the graue that they had made, with earth, afore it was light, 21 And bade his wyfe prepare a feaste, and to make ready all things that were necessarie for meate, to such as went by ẏ way.

22 He caused two fat kine also, & four weathers to be slayne, and meates to be prepared for all his neyghbours and freendes.

23 And Raguel charged Tobias to remaine with him two weekes.

24 As for all the good that he had, he gaue Tobias the halfe of it, and made this writing, that ẏ halfe which remayned, should fall vnto Tobias after their death.

The.ix. Chapter.

The Angel goeth to Gabelus, at the desire of Tobias, whiche delyuereth the letter, and receyueth the money.

1 Then Tobias called vnto him the Angel, whome he thought to haue bene a man, and sayde vnto him, Brother Azarias, I pray thee harken vnto my wordes,

2 If I shoulde giue my selfe to be thy seruant, I shall not deserue thy prouidence.

3 Neuertheless, I beseeche thee that thou wilt take the beastes and the seruantes, & go vnto Gabelus in Rages the citie of ẏ Medes, and deliuer him his hand writing, and receyue the money of him, and praye him to come to my mariage.

4 For thou knowest thy selfe, that my father doth number the dayes: and if I tarie one daye to long, he wyll be sory in his minde.

5 Nowe seest thou how earnestly Raguel hath required mee, so that I can not saye him nay.

6 Then toke Raphael foure of Raguels seruauntes, and two Camels, and went vnto Rages the citie of the Medes: and when he had found Gabelus, he gaue him his hande writing, and receyued all the money.

7 He tolde him also of Tobias, the sonne of Tobi, howe all things had happened: and caused him to come with him to the marryage.

8 Nowe when he came into the house of Raguel, he founde Tobias sitting at the table: & he leaped vp, and they kissed one another, and Gabelus wept, and prayed God,

9 And sayde, The blessing of the God of Israel haue thou, for thou arte the sonne of a right vertuous and iuste man, and of one that feareth God, and gyueth greate almes:

10 And blessing haue thy wyfe, and your elders,

11 That ye may see your children, and your childers children, vnto the third and fourth generation: and your seede be blessed of ẏ God of Israel, whiche raygneth worlde without ende.

12 And when they all had sayd, Amen, they went to the feaste: but with the feare of the Lorde held they the feast of the maryage.

The.x. Chapter.

1. Tobias and his wyfe thinke long for theyr sonne. 10. Raguel sendeth away Tobias and Sara.

1 Nowe while yong Tobias made long tarying, by reason of the marryage, his father was full of care and heauinesse, saying, Canst thou thinke what should be the cause that my sonne taryeth so long? or why he should be kept so long there?

2 Thinkest thou Gabelus is deade, and no man will gyue him the money?

3 Thus beganne he to be very sorowfull, he and Anna his wyfe with him: and began to weep both togither, because their sonne was not come againe vnto them at the day appoynted.

4 As for his mother, shee wept with discomfortable teares, and sayde, Wo is mee my sonne. Oh what ayled vs to send thee away into a strange countrey, thou lyght of our eyes, thou staffe of our age, thou comforte of our lyfe, thou hope of our generation?

5 Seeing all the things that we haue are onely in thee, we should not haue sent thee away from vs.

6 Then Tobias (comforted him, and) sayde, Hold thy peace, & be not discomforted, our sonne is whole & sounde: the man that we sent him withall, is faythfull ynough.

7 Neuertheless, shee myght in no wyse be comforted: but daily went out, looked about, & went about all the streetes, whereby shee thought he shoulde come againe: that if it were possible, she myght see him comming a farre off.

8 But Raguel sayde vnto his sonne in lawe, Tarrie here, & I shall sende a messenger vnto thy father Tobias, to tell him that thou art in good health.

9 Tobias sayde vnto him, I am sure that my father & my mother count euery daye, and that their hearts are sory.

10 So when Raguel had prayed Tobias with many wordes, and he wouldē in no wyse heare him, hee delyuered Sara vnto him, and the halfe parte of all his good, in seruantes and handmaydens, in sheepe, in cammelles, and in kine, and much money: and so sent him away frō him with health and ioy.

11 And sayde, The holy Angel of the Lord bee with you in your iourney, and bryng you forth safe and sounde, that yee may finde all things in good case with your elders, & that mine eyes may see your children afore I dye.

12 So the elders embraced their daughter, kissed hir, and let hir go.

13 Exhorting hir to hon our hir father and mother in lawe, to loue hir husbande, to rule well hir housholde, to keepe hir house in good order, & to shew hir selfe faultlesse.

The.xi. Chapter.

1. The returne of Tobias to his father. 11. Howe he was receyued. 15. His father hath his sight restored, and prayseth the Lorde.

1 ¶ So they nowe were going homewarde Magayne, vppon the eleuenth daye they came to Charran, which lyeth in the halfe way toward Niniue.

2 And the Angel sayde, Brother Tobias, thou knowest, howe thou hast left thy father.

3 Therfore, if it please thee, we two will go before, and let the household with thy wyfe and the cattell come faire & softly after vs.

4 And when Tobias was content, that they should go before, Raphael sayde vnto him, Take of the gall of ỹ fishe with thee, for it shall be necessarie. So Tobias toke of the gall, and they went their way.

5 But Anna the mother of Tobias sate dayly by the way syde vppon the toppe of an hill, from whence she might see farre about hir.

6 And whyle she was wayting ther for his comming, she loked a farre off, and anone she perceyued his sonne comming, & ranne and tolde hir husbande, saying. Beholde, thy sonne commeth.

B 7 And Raphael sayde vnto Tobias, Assoone as thou commest into the house, immediatly worshippe the Lorde thy God, and giue thankes vnto him: then go to thy father, and kisse him.

8 And straight wayes annoynte his eyes ouer with the gall of the fishe that thou hast brought with thee: For bee sure that his eyes shall straight way be opened, and thy father shall see the lyght of heauen, & shall reioyce at the sight of thee.

9 Then the dogge that had ben with them in their iourney, ranne before, and came as a messenger, and wagged his tayle for gladnesse.

10 So the blinde father arose, and beganne to runne, and stumbled with his feete: and gaue a seruaunte his hande, and ranne to meete his sonne, 11 Receiued him, and kissed him, he and his wife, & they both began to weepe for ioy.

12 Nowe when they had worshipped and thanked God, they sate downe.

13 Then toke Tobias of the fishes gal, and annoynted his fathers eyes:

14 And taryed halfe an houre, and then began the blemishe to go out of his eyes, like as it had bin the white skinne of an egge. C

15 Which Tobias toke, and drew from his eyes, & immediatly he receyued his sight.

16 Then they praysed God, he & his wyfe, and all they that knewe him.

17 And Tobias sayd, O Lord God of Israel, I giue thee prayse & thankes, for thou hast chastened mee, and made mee whole: and lo, now do I see my sonne Tobias.

18 After seuen dayes came Sara his sones wyfe also whole and sounde, with all the housholde and cattell, with Cammelles, and muche money of his wyues, and with the money that hee had receyued of Gabelus.

19 And he told his father and his mother al the benefites which God had done for him by the man that led him.

20 Achior also, and Nabath Tobias sisters sonnes came, and were glad and reioyced with him, by reason of all the good things that God had shewed vnto him: And so for the space of seuen dayes they made merry, and were right ioyfull euery one.

The.xii. Chapter.

2. Tobias declareth to his father the pleasures that Raphael had done him. 5. The which he woulde recompence. 11. Raphael declareth that he is an Angel sent of God.

1 ¶ Then Tobias called his sonne vnto him, and sayde, What may we geue this holy man, that went with thee? I

2 Tobias answered his father, and sayde, Father, what rewarde shall wee geue him? Or what thing can deserue his benefites?

3 He hath beene my guyde, and brought mee

B 7 And the childrē of Iſrael did as Eliacim the prieſte of the Lorde had commaunded them.

8 And all the people cryed vnto the Lorde earneſtly, and humbled their ſoules with faſting and prayers, they and their wiues:

9 The prieſtes put on haitie clothes, and layde the yong babes before the temple of the Lorde, and couered the aulter of the Lord with an hairie cloth:

10 And with one accorde they cryed vnto the Lorde God of Iſrael, that their children ſhould not be giuen into a praye, and their wiues into a ſpoyle, that their citie ſhoulde not be layd waſte, and that their "or, holy things. ſanctuarie ſhoulde not be vnhalowed, and ſo they to be a ſhame and rebuke vnto the heathen.

11 Then Eliacim the hyghe prieſte of the Lorde went rounde about all Iſrael, and ſpake vnto them, 12 Saying, Be ye ſure that the Lorde will heare your petitions, if ye continue ſtedfaſt in faſtings and prayers in the ſight of the Lorde.

13 Remember Moſes the ſeruaunt of the Lorde, which ouerthrewe the Amalechites that truſted in their might and power, in their hoſt, in their ſhieldes, in their charets and horſemen, not with wepons, but with holy prayers.

C 14 Euen ſo ſhall the enimies of Iſrael be, if ye continue in this worke that ye haue begonne.

15 So vpon this exhortation they continued in prayer before the Lord:

16 In ſo much, that they which offred burnt ſacrifices vnto the Lorde, offred ẏ offrings vnto the Lorde, being arayed in hayrie clothes, and had aſhes vpon their heades.

17 And they all beſought God from their whole heart, that he would viſite his people of Iſrael.

The.v. Chapter.

Achior the Ammonite doth declare to Holophernes the maner of the Iſraelites.

I 1 NOw worde came to Holophernes the prince of the warre of the Aſſyrians, that the children of Iſrael prepared them ſelues to make reſiſtance, and howe they had ſtopped ẏ ways betwixt ẏ mountains.

2 Then was he exceeding wroth, and called all the princes of Moab, and the captaines of Ammon,

3 And ſayde vnto them, Tell me what people is this that keepeth the mountains? or what manner, and howe great citie is theirs? What is their power? Or what maner of hoſte haue they? Who is their captaine?

4 And why doe they deſpyſe vs more than all thoſe that dwell in the Eaſt, and come not forth to meete vs, that they might receiue vs with peace?

5 Then Achior the captaine of the Ammonites, anſwered, and ſayd, Syr, if it pleaſe thee to heare, I will tell the trueth before thee, concerning this people that dwell in the mountaynes, and there ſhall no vntrueth go out of my mouth.

6 This people is of the generation of the Chaldees:

7 They dwelt firſte in Meſopotamia, for B they would not folowe the gods of their fathers that were in the land of the Chaldees,

8 And ſo forſooke they the cuſtome of their forefathers, whiche had many goddes, and worſhipped one God that made heauen
9 and earth, which alſo commaunded them Gen. 12. a. that they ſhould go from thence, and dwel at Charran.

Now when there came a dearth into the whole lande, they went downe to Egypt, Gen. 15. c. and there they dwelt foure hundred yeres, Act. 7. a. in the which they multiplyed greatly, that Exod. 12. f. their hoſt might not be nombred. Gala. 3. c.

10 And when the king of Egypt oppreſſed them, and poked them in building of his cities, with making of clay and brick, they cryed vnto God their Lorde, which puniſhed the whole lande of Egypt with diuers plagues.

11 And when the Egyptians had call them out, and the plague ceaſed from them, and they followyng after them, to take them, and to bring them againe into their bondage:

12 While they were fleeing away, the God of heauen opened the ſea, ſo that the waters ſtode faſte vpon both the ſides as a wall, and theſe went through the bottome of the ſea dryſhod.

13 In the whiche place, when an innumerable people of the Egyptians followed vppon them, they were ſo ouerwhelmed with the waters, that there remayned B not one to tell them that came after howe it happened.

14 So when this people was paſſed thorowe the red ſea, they came into the wil- C derneſſe of mount Sina, where neuer man might dwell afore, and where the ſonne of man had neuer reſted.

15 There were the bitter waters made ſweet for them, that they might drinke, and fortie yeeres had they meate from heauen.
16 Wherſoeuer they went, without bowe & arrowe, without buckler or ſworde, their God fought for them, and cauſed them to haue the victorie.
17 Yea, no man was able to hurt this people except it were whē they departed vnfaithfully from the worſhipping of the Lorde their God.
18 But as oft as they worſhipped any other beſide their God, he gaue them ouer to be ſpoyled, to be ſlayne, & to be put to confuſio.
19 Neuertheleſſe, as often as they were ſorie for their departing frō the worſhip of their God: the ſame God of heauen gaue them power & ſtrength to withſtand (their enimies.)
Joſu.12.c. 20 Moreouer, they ſlue the king of ỳ Chanaanites, Iebuſites, Pherezites, Hethites, Heuites, & Amorites, and al the mighty in Heſebon, and toke their landes and cities in poſſeſſion:
D 21 And ſo long as they ſinned not in the ſight of their God, it went well with them: for their God hateth vnrighteouſneſſe.
Jud.2.b. 4.Re.25.a. 22 For in times paſte when they went out of the waye which God had giuen them, that they ſhould walke in it, they were deſtroied in diuers battels of many nations, and many of them were caried awaye priſoners vnto a ſtraunge countrey.
1.Eſd.1.a. 23 But nowe lately they haue turned themſelues againe vnto the Lorde their God, and are come together againe out of the countreys where they were ſcattered abroade: and thus they conquerred theſe mountaynes, and dwell therein: and as for Jeruſalem, where their ſanctuarie is, they haue it againe in poſſeſſion.
24 And therefore my Lorde, make diligent inquiſition, if this people haue done wickednelle in the ſight of their God, then let vs go vp againſt them: for doubtles their God ſhall deliuer them into thy handes, and ſubdue them vnto thy power.
25 But if this people haue not diſpleaſed their God, we ſhall not be able to withſtand them: for their God ſhal defēd them, and ſo ſhal we be a ſhame to al the world.
E 26 Now when Achior had ſpoken out theſe wordes, all the great men of Holophernes were wroth, and thought to ſlay him, and ſayde one to another, 27 What is he this, which dare ſaye that the children of Iſrael are able to withſtande Nabuchodonoſor the king, and his hoſtes? where as they are an vnweaponed people, without ſtrength or vnderſtanding of the feates of warre?
28 That Achior therefore may knowe that he hath deceiued vs, we will go vp into the mountaines: and when the mightie men of them are taken, he with them ſhall be ſtickt with the ſworde:
29 That al the people may know that Nabuchodonoſor is the God of the earth, and that there is none other beſide him.

The.vi. Chapter.

1. Holophernes blaſphemeth God, whome Achior confeſſed. 14. Achior is deliuered into the handes of them of Bethulia. 18. The Bethulians crie vnto the Lorde.

1 SO when they had left off ſpeaking, Holophernes toke ſore indignation, and ſayde vnto Achior. F
2 For ſo much as thou haſt prophelied vnto vs, ſaying, That the people of Iſrael ſhall be defended of their God: I wil ſhew thee that ther is no God but Nabuchodonoſor,
3 Yea, when we ſlaye them all as one man, thou alſo ſhalt periſhe with them through the ſworde of the Aſſyrians, and all Iſrael ſhall be deſtroyed with thee:
4 And then ſhalt thou feele that Nabuchodonoſor is the Lorde of the whole earth: then ſhall the ſword of my knyghthood go through thy ſides, and thou ſhalt fal down ſtickt among the woūnded of Iſrael, and "ſhalt not come to thy ſelfe againe, but be vtterly deſtroyed with them. "or, ſhall not draw breath again.
5 Furthermore, if thou thinkeſt thy prophecie to be true, why doeſt thou then chaunge thy colour? why art thou afraid? Thinkeſt thou that my wordes are not able to be performed?
6 But that thou mayeſt knowe that thou ſhalt feele theſe things with them, behold, from this houre forth will I ſend thee vnto yonder people, that when the puniſhement of my ſworde (which they haue worthyly deſerued) falleth vpon them, thou mayeſt be puniſhed with them.
7 So Holophernes commaunded his ſeruauntes to take Achior, and to carie him vnto Bethulia, and to deliuer him into the handes of the children of Iſrael. B
8 Then Holophernes ſeruantes toke him, and went through the playne fielde: but when they drew nigh vnto the mountaines, the ſling caſters came out againſt them.
9 Neuertheleſſe they gat them away by the ſide of the mountaine, and bounde Achior hande and foote to a tree, and ſo left him bounde bounde withes, and turned againe vnto their Lorde.

10 After that, the children of Israell went downe from Bethulia, came vnto him, losed him, brought him into Bethulia, set him in the middest of the people, and asked him what the matter was, that the Assyrians had left him bound?

11 Ozias the sonne of Micha, of the tribe of Simeon, and Charmi, which is also called Gothoniell, were the principall rulers at the same time.

12 Now when Achior stode in the middest of the Senatours, and before them all, he tolde them what answere he gaue Holophernes to the thing that he asked him, and howe Holophernes people wolde haue slaine him for so saying:

13 And howe Holophernes him selfe was wroth, and commaunded him for the same cause to be deliuered vnto the Israelites: that when he ouercame the chyldren of Israell, he might commaunde Achior also to be put to death with diuers tormentes, bicause he said, The God of heauē is their defender.

¶ 14 And when Achior had playnely tolde out all these thinges, all the people fell down vpon their faces, prayeng the Lord, and powred out their prayers together vnto the Lord, with a generall complaint and weeping,

15 And sayd, O Lorde God of heauen and of earth, beholde their pryde, and loke vpon our lowlynesse, and consider howe it standeth with thy sainctes, and make it to be knowne that thou forsakest not those which hold them fast by thee: and how that thou bringest them lowe that presume of them selues, and make their boast in their owne strength.

16 So when the weeping and prayer of the people (which they had made ỹ whole day long) was ended, they comforted Achior, 17 Saying, The God of our fathers, whose power and strength thou hast praysed, shal so reward thee, that thou shalte rather see their destruction.

18 When the Lord our God then shall giue his seruauntes this libertie, God be also with thee among vs: so that as it shall please thee, so thou, with all thine, mayest dwell with vs:

19 Now when Ozias had ended the counsell, he toke him into his house, and made a great supper, 20 Called the elders to it: and so they refreshed them selues after the fasting.

21 And afterward was all the people called together, which made their prayers all the night long "in the congregation, and besought the God of Israell for helpe.

"or, within the Church.

The.vij. Chapter.

1. Holophernes doth besiege Bethulia. 8. The counsell of the Idumeans and other againste the Israelites. 23. The Bethulians murmure against the gouernours for lacke of water.

1 The next day Holophernes cōmaūded A his host to go vp agaynst Bethulia.

2 There were an hundred & twentie thousande fighting men on foote, and two and twentie thousand horsemen, beside the preparing of them that were wonne, and came to them on euery side out of the cōtreys and cities which he had taken.

3 All these prepared them selues vnto the battell against the Israelites, and came on by the hill side, vnto the toppe that loketh ouer against Dothain, from the place whiche is called Belma, vnto Chelmon, that lieth toward Esdrelon.

4 Now when the chyldren of Israell sawe so great a multitude of the Assyrians, they fell downe flat vpon the ground, strawed ashes vpon their heades, and prayed with one accord, that the God of Israell would shew his mercy vpon his people.

5 And so they toke their weapons, and sate betwixte the mountaines in the narowe place, and kept the way day and night.

6 But while Holophernes was going rounde about, he found the water spryng, whiche from the South syde was conueyed into the citie by a conduite, and hee commaunded their conduyte to be cut in sunder.

7 There were welles also not farre from B
the walles, which they vsed secretely, more for pleasure than for necessitie.

"or, than to drinke them.

8 Then went the Ammonites and the Moabites vnto Holophernes, and sayde, The children of Israell trust neyther in speare nor arrowe, but haue taken in, and keepe the mountaynes, and steepe hilles defende them.

9 That thou mayest ouercome them therefore without the stryking of any battell, set men to keepe the welles, that they drawe no water out of them, so shalte thou destroye them without sworde, or at the least they shall be so feeble, that they muste be fayne to giue ouer the citie, whiche they thinke not able to be wonne, for so muche as it lieth in the mountaines.

10 These

15 There were the bitter waters made sweet for them, that they might drinke, and for the yeeres had they meate from heauen.

16 Whersoeuer they went, without bowe & arrowe, without buckler or swoorde, their God fought for them, and caused them to haue the victorie.

17 Yea, no man was able to hurt this people except it were whē they departed vnfaithfully from the worshipping of the Lorde their God.

18 But as oft as they worshipped any other beside their God, he gaue them ouer to be spoyled, to be slayne, & to be put to confusio.

19 Neuertheless, as oft as they were sorie for their departing frō the worship of their God: the same God of heauen gaue them power & strength to withstand (their enimies.)

Iosu. 12. c. 20 Moreouer, they slue the king of ỳ Chanaanites, Iebusites, Pherezites, Hethites, Heuites, & Amorites, and al the mighty in Hesebon, and toke their landes and cities in possession:

D 21 And so long as they sinned not in the sight of their God, it went wel with them: for their God hateth vnrighteousnesse.

Iud. 2. b. 4. Re. 25. a. 22 For in times paste when they went out of the waye which God had giuen them, that they should walke in it, they were destroied in diuers battels of many nations, and many of them were caried awaye prisoners vnto a strange countrey.

1. Esd. 1. a. 23 But nowe lately they haue turned them selues againe vnto the Lorde their God, and are come together againe out of the countreys where they were scattered abroade: and thus they conquered these mountaynes, and dwell therein: and as for Ierusalem, where their sanctuarie is, they haue it againe in possession.

24 And therefore my Lorde, make diligent inquisition, if this people haue done wickednesse in the sight of their God, then let vs go vp against them: for doubtles their God shall deliuer them into thy handes, and subdue them vnto thy power.

25 But if this people haue not displeased their God, we shall not be able to withstand them: for their God shal defēd them, and so shal we be a shame to al the world.

E 26 Now when Achior had spoken out these wordes, all the great men of Holophernes were wroth, and thought to slay him, and sayde one to another, 27 What is he this, which dare saye that the children of Israell are able to withstande Nabuchodonosor the king, and his hostes? whereas they are an vnweaponed people, without strength or vnderstanding of the feates of warre?

28 That Achior therefore may knowe that he hath deceiued vs, we will go vp into the mountaines: and when the mightie men of them are taken, he with them shall be slickt with the swoorde:

29 That al the people may know that Nabuchodonosor is the God of the earth, and that there is none other beside him.

The. vi. Chapter.

1. Holophernes blasphemeth God, whome Achior confessed. 14. Achior is deliuered into the handes of them of Bethulia. 18. The Bethulians crie vnto the Lorde.

1 SO when they had left off speaking, Holophernes toke sore indignation, and sayde vnto Achior. A

2 For so much as thou hast prophesied vnto vs, saying, That the people of Israell shall be defended of their God: I wil shew thee that ther is no God but Nabuchodonosor,

3 Yea, when we slaye them all as one man, thou also shalt perishe with them through the swoorde of the Assyrians, and all Israel shall be destroyed with thee:

4 And then shalt thou feele that Nabuchodonosor is the Lorde of the whole earth: then shall the swoord of my knyghthood go through thy sides, and thou shalt fal down slickt among the wounded of Israell, and "shalt not come to thy selfe againe, but be vtterly destroyed with them.

" or, shalt not draw vp thy breath again.

5 Furthermore, if thou thinkest thy prophesie to be true, why doest thou then chaunge thy colour? why art thou afraid? Thinkest thou that my wordes are not able to be performed?

6 But that thou mayest knowe that thou shalt feele these things with them, behold, from this houre forth will I send thee vnto yonder people, that when the punishement of my swoorde (which they haue worthyly deserued) falleth vpon them, thou mayest be punished with them.

7 So Holophernes commaunded his seruauntes to take Achior, and to carie him vnto Bethulia, and to deliuer him into the handes of the children of Israell. B

8 Then Holophernes seruantes toke him, and went through the playne fielde: but when they drew nigh vnto the moūtaines, the sling casters came out against them.

9 Neuertheless they gat them away by the side of the mountaine, and bounde Achior hande and foote to a tree, and so lefte him bounde bounde withes, and turned againe vnto their Lorde.

1 The next day Holophernes cõmaũded A his host to go vp agaynst Bethulia.

2 There were an hundred & twentie thousande fighting men on fote, and two and twentie thousand horsemen, beside the preparing of them that were wonne, and came to them on euery side out of the cõtreys and cities which he had taken.

3 All these prepared them selues vnto the battell against the Israelites, and came on by the hill side, vnto the toppe that loketh ouer against Dothain, from the place whiche is called Belma, vnto Chelmon, that lieth toward Esdrelon.

4 Now when the children of Israell sawe so great a multitude of the Assyrians, they fell downe flat vpon the ground, strawed ashes vpon their heades, and prayed with one accord, that the God of Israell would shew his mercy vpon his people.

5 And so they toke their weapons, and sate betwirte the mountaines in the narowe place, and kept the way day and night.

6 But while Holophernes was going rounde about, he found the water spryng, whiche from the South syde was conueyed into the citie by a conduite, and hee commaunded their conduyte to be cut in sunder.

7 There were welles also not farre from B
the walles, which they vsed secretely, more for pleasure than for necessitie. "or, than to drinke them.

8 Then went the Ammonites and the Moabites vnto Holophernes, and sayde, The children of Israell trust neyther in speare nor arrowe, but haue taken in, and keepe the mountaynes, and steepe hilles defende them.

9 That thou mayest ouercome them therefore without the stryking of any battell, set men to keepe the welles, that they drawe no water out of them, so shalte thou destroye them without sworde, or at the least they shall be so feeble, that they muste be fayne to giue ouer the citie, whiche they thinke not able to be wonne, for so muche as it lieth in the mountaines.

10 These

10 These wordes pleased Holophernes well, and all his men of warre, and he set an hūdred at euery well rounde about.

11 And whē this watch had endured twentie dayes, the cesterns, and al that had water, fayled them that dwelte in the citie of Bethulia, so that in the whole citie they had not drinke inough for one day, for the people had water giuen them dayly in a measure.

12 Then came the men and women, yong persons and children, all vnto Ozias, and sayde all with one voyce, 13 God be iudge betwixte vs and thee, for thou hast dealt euill with vs: thou wouldest not speake peaceably with the king of the Assyrians, therefore hath God solde vs into their handes.

14 And there is no man to helpe vs, whereas we are brought downe before their eyes, in thirst, and great destruction. C

15 Therefore gather nowe together all the people that be in the citie, that we may all yeelde our selues willingly vnto the people of Holophernes.

16 For better it is that we be captiue, and prayse the Lorde with our lyues, than to be slaine and perishe, and to be laughed to skorne, and shamed of euery man, when we see our wiues & children die before our eyes.

17 We take heauen and earth this daye to record, & the God of our fathers, which punisheth vs according to (the deseruing of) our sinnes, (and giue you warning,) that ye giue vp the citie nowe into the power of Holophernes hoste, that our ende may be short with the sworde, which else shall endure long for want of water, & for thirst.

18 When they had spoken out these wordes, there was a great weeping and howling in the whole congregation (and that of euerie man,) and they cried a" whole houre long vnto God with one voyce, "or, many houres.

19 Saying, We haue sinned with our fathers, we haue done amisse, we haue dealt wickedly.

20 Thou that art gratious, haue mercy vpon vs, or punish our vnrighteousnesse with thine owne scourge, and giue not those ouer that knowledge thee, vnto a people which know thee not: D

21 That they may not say among the heathen, Where is their God?

22 And when they were so wearie with this crying & weeping, that they held their peace,

23 Ozias stode vp with watrie eyes, & said, O take good harts vnto you, deare brethrē, (and be of good cheare,) and let vs wayte yet these fiue dayes for mercy of the Lord:

24 Peraduenture he shall put away his indignation, and giue glory vnto his name.

25 But if he helpe vs not when the fiue dayes are past, we shall do as ye haue sayd.

The.viii. Chapter.

1. The parentage, life, and conuersation of Iudith. 11. She rebuketh the faintnesse of the gouernours. 12. She sheweth that they shoulde not tempt God, but waite vpon him for succour. 33. Hir enterprise against the enimies.

1 AND it happened, when these wordes came to the eares of Judith a widow, which was the daughter of Merari, that is sonne of Idor, the sonne of Joseph, the sonne of Ozia, the sonne of Elai, the sonne of Jamnor, the sonne of Gedeon, the sone of Raphaim, the sonne of Achitob, the sonne of Melchia, the sonne of Enan, the sonne of Nathania, the sonne of Salathiel, the sone of Simeon, the sonne of Ruben: I

2 And hir husbande was called Manasses, which dyed in the dayes of the barlyharuest.

3 For while he was binding the sheaues together in the field, the heate came vpon his head, and he died at Bethulia his citie, and there was he buried beside his fathers.

4 Now was Judith his desolate widowe, three yeres and fiue monethes.

5 And in the higher partes of hir house she made hir selfe a priuie chamber, where she dwelt, being closed in with hir maidens.

6 She ware a smocke of haire, and fasted all the dayes of hir life, except the Sabboths, and new Moones, and the solemne dayes that the people of Israell kept.

7 She was a verie fayre and beautiful person, hir husband also had left hir great ryches, a plenteous houshold, great vnmoueable possessions, and many cattell. B

8 This Judith was a woman of verie good reporte with euery one, for she feared the Lord greatly: and there was no body that spake an euill word of hir.

9 When this Judith heard how Ozias had promised the people, that after the fifth day he would giue vp the citie vnto the Assyrians, she sent for the elders, Chabri and Charmi.

10 And when they came to hir, she sayde, What thing is this, wherein Ozias hath consented, that if God helpe not within fiue dayes, he will giue ouer the citie vnto the Assyrians?

11 What are ye, that ye tempt the Lord:

12 This deuise obteineth no mercy of God:

but

but prouoketh him vnto wrath & displesure
13 Will ye let the mercy of the Lord a time, and appoint him a day after your will?
C 14 Neuertheleſſe, for ſo much as the Lorde is patient, let vs rather repent in this, powring out teares, and beſeeching him of grace.
15 For God threatneth not as a man, neyther will he be prouoked vnto wrath, as the children of men.
16 And therefore let vs hartily fall downe before him, & ſerue him with a meke ſpirit.
17 And with weeping eyes ſaye vnto the Lorde, that he deale with vs according to his owne will ſpeedily in mercy: that like as our heart is nowe vexed and brought lowe through the pryde of them, it " maye ſo be comforted through his grace:
" we maye glory.
18 In ſo much as we folowe not the ſinnes of our fathers, which forſoke their God, and worſhipped other goddes:
19 For the whiche ſinne they perylſhed with the ſworde, were ſpoyled, and brought to ſhame, of all their enimies: as for vs we know none other God but only him.
20 For whoſe comforte let vs tarie wyth meekeneſſe, and he ſhall require and make inquiſition for our bloud from the vexations of our enimies: he ſhall bring downe al the heathen that riſe vp againſt vs, and put the to diſhonor, eue the Lord our god.
D 21 Therefore deare brethren, ſeeing ye are the (honourable and) elders in the people of God, and their life hangeth all vpon you, lift vp their hearts with your exhortation, that they maye call to remembrance howe our fathers alſo in times paſt were tempted, that they might be proued, if they worſhipped their God aright.
Gen.22.a 22 They ought to remember, howe our father Abraham being tempted, and tryed through many tribulations, " was founde a louer and friend of God.
" was made.
23 So was Iſaac, ſo was Jacob, ſo was Moſes: and all they that pleaſed God, paſſed ſtedfaſt in fayth through manyfold troubles.
24 Agayne, they that receyued not their temptations with the feare of God, but put them ſelues forth with vnpatiencie and murmuring againſt God, 25 Periſhed of the deſtroyer, and were ſlain of ſerpents.
26 And therefore ſhoulde not we vndertake to be auenged for the things that are done vnto vs:
E 27 But to conſider that all theſe punyſhementes are farre leſſe than our ſinnes and miſdeedes, and beleeuing that this correction commeth vnto vs as to the ſeruantes of God, for amendment, and not for our deſtruction.
28 Then ſayde Ozias and the elders vnto Judith, All that thou ſpeakeſt is true, and no man can reproue thy wordes.
29 Praye thou for vs nowe therefore (vnto God,) for thou arte an holy woman, and feareſt God.
30 And Judith ſayde vnto them, Seeing ye knowe that my wordes are of God, 31 Then proue my counſell and deuiſe if it be of God: and beſeeche God that he will bring my counſell to good ende.
32 (Thus haue I deuiſed,) Ye ſhall ſtande this night before the porte, and I will goe forth with Abra my mayden: and praye ye therefore vnto God, that he wyll graciouſly remember his people of Iſrael within fiue dayes, as ye haue ſayde.
33 As for the thing that I goe in hande withall, aſke ye no queſtions of it: and tyll I bring you worde agayne of it, doe ye nothing elſe but praye vnto the Lorde our God for me.
34 Then Ozias the prince of the people of Juda, ſayde vnto hir, Goe thy waye in peace, the Lord be with thee, that we may be auenged of our enimies. And ſo they went from hir againe.

The.ix. Chapter.

1. Iudith humbleth hir ſelfe before the Lorde, and maketh hir prayers for the delyuerance of hir people. 7. Agaynſt the pryde of the Aſſyrians, 11. God is the helpe of the humble.

1 NOw when they were "gone their way, Judith went into hir cloſet, put on a hairie ſmock, ſtrawed aſhes vpon hir head, fell downe before the Lord, and cryed vnto him, ſaying, " or, gone by.
2 O Lorde God of my father Simeon, which gaueſt him a ſworde for "a defence againſte the enimies that vſed violence in their vncleanneſſe, and that raviſhed the virgin, (and) put hir to ſhame and confuſion:
Gen.34.c. " or, to reuēgement of the ſtrangers.
3 Thou that gaueſt their wyues into a praye, and their daughters into captiuitie, and all the praye for a ſpoyle vnto thy ſeruantes, which bare a zeale vnto thee: helpe me wydowe, O Lorde my God, I beſeeche thee.
4 For thou haſte made the firſt things: and after that, loke what thou haſte taken in hande hand and deuised, it came euer to passe.

5 For all thy wayes are prepared, and thy iudgementes are put in thy euerlasting foreknowledge.

or, tentes. 6 Oloke nowe vpon the armies of the Assyrians, like as it was thy pleasure sometimes to loke vppon the hoste of the Egyptians, when they being weaponed, persecuted thy seruants, and put their trust in their charets, horsemen, and in the multitude of their men of warre.

23 7 But thou lokedst vpon their host, calking a thicke darkenesse before them.

8 And when they came into the deepe, the waters ouerwhelmed them.

9 Euen so Lorde, let it goe with these that trust in the power & multitude of their mē of war, in their charets, arrows, & speares.

10 And know not that thou onely arte our God, which destroyest warres from the beginning, and that thou arte the Lorde.

or, and that it appertayneth to thee, to be called Lord.

11 O lifte vp thine arme (nowe,) like as euer from the beginning, & in thy power bring their power to nought: cause their might to fall in thy wrath, whiche make their boast, that they will vnhalowe and defile thy sanctuarie, and to waste the tabernacle of thy name, and to cast downe the horne of thyne aulter with their sword.

12 Bring to passe, O Lorde, that the pride of the enimie may be cut down with his owne sword:

or, of this mā

13 That he may be taken with the snare of his eyes in me, and that thou mayest smyte him with the lippes of my loue.

C 14 O giue me a stedfast mynd, that I may despise him and his strength, and that I may destroy him.

15 This shall bring thy name an euerlasting remembrance, if the hande of a woman ouerthrow him.

16 For thy power, O Lord, standeth not in the multitude (of men,) neyther haste thou any pleasure in the strength of horses, neyther was there frō ỹ beginning any proud persons that pleased thee: but in the prayer of the humble and meeke, hath thy pleasure bene euermore.

17 O thou God of the heauens, thou maker of the waters, and Lorde of all creatures, heare me poore woman calling vpon thee, and putting my trust in thy mercy.

18 Remember thy couenant, O Lorde, and minister wordes in my mouth, and stablish this deuice in my heart, that thy house may continue still in holynesse:

19 And that all the heathen may know that ỹ art God, & ỹ there is none other but ỹ.

The.x. Chapter.

1. Iudith decketh hir selfe, and goeth foorth of the citie. 11. She is taken of the watch of the Assyrians, and brought to Holophernes.

1 AND when she had left off crying vnto the Lord, she rose vp from the place where she had lyen flat before the Lord, I

2 And called hir mayden Abra, went down into hir house, layde the hairie cloth from hir, put off ỹ garments of hir widowhod.

3 Washed hir bodye, annoynted hir selfe with precious thinges of sweete sauour, brayded and platted hir haire, set a coyfe vpon hir heade, and put on suche apparell as belonged vnto gladnesse, slippers vpon hir feete, bracelets, spangs, earings, finger rings, and decked hir selfe with all hir best araye.

4 The Lorde gaue hir also a speciall beautie and fairenesse: for all this decking of hir selfe was not done for any voluptuousnesse, but of a right discretion and vertue, therefore did the Lorde encrease hir beautie, so that she was exceeding amiable and well fauoured in all mens eyes.

5 She gaue hir mayden Abra also a bottell of wine, a pot with oyle, pottage, cake, bread and cheese: and went hir way.

6 Nowe when they came to the port of the citie, they founde Ozias and the elders of the citie wayting there:

7 Which whē they saw hir, they were astonied, & maruelled greatly at hir beautie. B

8 Neuertheless, they asked no question at hir, but let hir go, saying, The God of our fathers giue thee grace, and with his power perfourme all the deuise of thy heart, that Ierusalem may reioyce ouer thee, and that thy name maye be in the number of the holy and righteous.

9 And all they that were there, sayde with one voyce, So be it, so be it.

10 Iudith made hir prayers vnto the Lord, and went out at the port, she and hir maid Abra.

11 And as she was going downe the mountaine, it happened that about the spring of the day, the spies of the Assyrians met with hir, and toke hir, saying, Whence commest thou? or whither goest thou?

12 She answered, I am a daughter of the Hebrues, and am fledde from them: for I knowe that they shall be giuen vnto you to be spoyled, because they thought skorne to yeelde them selues vnto you, that they might finde mercie in your sight.

13 There-

13 Therefore haue I deuised by my self after this maner: I will go before the prince Holophernes, and tell him all their secrets, and will shewe him howe he may come by them, and winne them: so that not one man of his hoste shall perishe.

C 14 And when these men hadde heard his wordes, and considered his fayre face, they were astonied (for they wondred at his excellent beautie,)

15 And sayde vnto him, Thou hast saued thy life, by finding out this deuise, that thou wouldest come downe to our Lorde.

16 And be thou sure, that when thou commest vnto him, he shall entreate thee well, and thou shalt please him at the heart. So they brought him in to Holophernes pauilion, and tolde him of him.

17 Now when she came in before him, immediately hee was ouercome and taken with his beautie.

18 Then sayde his seruantes, Who would despise the people of the Iewes that haue so fayre women? should we not by reason fight against them for these?

19 So when Judith sawe Holophernes sitting in a canapie ỹ was wrought of purple silke, gold, smaradge, & precious stones.

20 She loked fast vpon him, bowed him self, and fell downe vpon the earthe: and Holophernes seruantes toke him vp agayne, at their lordes commaundement.

The. xi. Chapter.

1. Holophernes comforteth Iudith. 3. and asketh the cause of his comming. 5. She deceiueth him by his fayre wordes.

I 1 Then sayde Holophernes vnto him, Be of good cheare, and feare not in thyne heart: for I neuer hurt man that would serue Nabuchodonosor the king.

2 As for thy people, if they had not despyted me, I should not haue lyfte vp my speare against them.

3 But tell me nowe what is the cause that thou arte departed from them, and wherefore art thou come vnto vs?

4 And Judith sayde vnto him, Syr, vnderstande the wordes of thy handmayden: for if thou wilt do after the wordes of thy handmayden, the Lorde shall bring thy matter to a prosperous effect.

5 As Nabuchodonosor the king of the earth lyueth, and as his power lyueth whiche is in thee, to the punishment of all men that goe wrong, all men shall not only be subdued vnto him through thee, but all the beastes also of the fielde.

6 For all people speake of thy prudent actiuitie, and it hath euer bene reported, howe thou onely art good and mightie in all his kingdome, and thy "discretion is commended in all landes. " or, disciplina

7 The thing is manifest also that Achior B spake, and it is well knowne what thou commaundest to do vnto him.

8 For this is playne, and of a suretie, that our God is so wroth with vs, by the reason of our sinnes, that he hath shewed by his prophetes vnto the people, howe that for their sinnes hee will deliuer them ouer (vnto the enimie.)

9 And for so much as the children of Israell knowe, that they haue so displeased their God, they are sore afrayde of thee.

10 They suffer greate hunger also, and for want of water they are deade nowe in a manner,

11 Moreouer, they are appoynted to slay all their cattel, that they may drinke the blond of them:

12 And are purposed to spende the holye thinges of their God, which hee hath forbidden them to touch, (as) of corne, wyne, and oyle, & they will consume those things which they ought not to touche with their handes: seeing nowe that they doe these things, it is a playne case that they muste needes be destroyed.

13 Whiche when I thy handmayden perceiued, I fled from them: and the Lorde hath sent mee to shewe thee these things.

14 For I thy handmayden worship God, C euen here nowe beside thee, and thy handmayden shall goe forth, and I will make my prayer vnto God:

15 And he shal tell me when he will reward them their sinne, then shall I come and shewe thee, and bring thee through the middest of Jerusalem, so that thou shalte haue all people of Israell, as sheepe without a shephearde, and there shall not so much as one dogge barke against thee.

16 For these things are shewed me by the prouidence of God.

17 And for so much as God is displeased with them, he hath sent me to tell thee the same.

18 These wordes pleased Holophernes, and al his seruantes: which marueiled at the wisdome of hir, and sayde one to another.

19 There is not such a woman vpon earth, in fauor, in beautie, and discretion of wordes.

20 And Holophernes sayde vnto hir, God hath done well, that he hath sent thee hyther before thy people, that thou mayest giue them into our handes.

21 And for so much as thy promise is good, if thy God performe it vnto me, he shall be my God also, & thou shalt be excellent & great in the courte of Nabuchodonosor, & thy name shall be spoken of in al the land.

The.xij.Chapter.

1. Iudith woulde not pollute hir selfe with the meate of the Gentiles. 5. Shee maketh hir request that shee might goe out by night to pray. 11. Holophernes causeth hir to come to the banquet.

1 Then commaunded hee hir to goe in where his treasure lay, and charged that she shoulde haue hir dwelling there, and appoynted what should be giuen hir from his table.

2 Iudith answered him, and sayde, As for the meate that thou hast commaunded to giue me, I may not eate of it as now, lest I displease my God: but will eate of such as I haue brought with me.

3 Then sayde Holophernes vnto hir, If these things that thou hast brought with thee fayle, what shall we do vnto thee?

4 And Iudith sayde, As thy soule lyueth, my Lord, thy handmayden shall not spend all this, till God hath brought to passe in my hande, the things that I haue deuised. So his seruants brought hir into the tent, whereas he had appoynted.

5 And as she was going in, she desired that she might haue leaue to goe forth by night and before day to hir prayer, and to make intercession vnto the Lorde.

6 Then commaunded Holophernes his chamberlaynes, that she shoulde goe out and in at hir pleasure, to praye vnto God those three dayes.

B 7 And so in the night season, she went forth into the valley of Bethulia, and washed hir selfe in the well water.

8 And comming vp, she besought the Lorde God of Israell, that he would prosper hir way for the deliuerance of his people.

9 And so she went in, and remained cleane in hir tente, till she toke hir meate in the euening.

10 Vpon the fourth daye it came to passe, that Holophernes made a supper vnto his seruantes, and sayde vnto Vagao his chãberlayne, Goe thy way, and counsell this Hebruelle, that she may be willing to cõsent to keepe company with me:

11 For it were a shame vnto all the Assyrians, that a woman should so laugh a man to skorne, that she were come from him vnmedled withall.

12 Then went Vagao vnto Iudith, and sayd, Let not the good daughter be afrayde to come in to my Lorde, that she may be honoured before him, that she may eate and drinke wine, and be merry with him.

13 Vnto whome Iudith answered, Who am I, that I should say my Lord nay?

14 Whatsoeuer is good and best before his eyes, I shall doe it: and loke what is his pleasure, that shall I thinke well done as long as I liue. C

15 So she stode vp, and deckt hir selfe with hir apparell, and wente in, and stode before him.

16 And Holophernes hart was whole moued: for he brent in desire toward hir.

17 And Holophernes sayd vnto hir, drinke now, and sit down, and be merry, for thou hast found fauour before me.

18 Then sayde Iudith, Syr, I will drinke, for my mynde is merrier to day, than euer it was in all my life.

19 And she toke, and did eate, and dranke before him, the things that hir mayden had prepared for hir.

20 And Holophernes was merrie with hir, and dranke more wine, than euer he did afore in his life.

The.xiij.Chapter.

7. Iudith prayeth for strength. 10. She smiteth off Holophernes head. 12. She returneth to Bethulia, and reioyceth hir people.

1 NOwe when it was late in the night, his seruantes made haste euery man to his lodging: and Vagao shut the chãber dores, and went his way: A

2 For they were all ouerladen with wine. Eccle.19

3 So was Iudith alone in the chamber.

4 As for Holophernes, he laye vpon the bed (all drunken) and of verie drunkennesse fell asleepe.

5 Then commaunded Iudith hir mayden to stand wont before the dore, & to waite.

6 And Iudith stod before the bed, making hir prayer with teares, and moued hir lips secretly.

7 And sayde, Strengthen me, O Lorde God of Israell, and haue respect vnto the workes of myne handes in this houre, that thou mayest set vp thy citie of Jerusalem, like as thou hast promised: and graunt that I may performe the thing, which in hope that it may be done by thee, I haue deuised. B

B 8 And when she had spoken this, she went to the piller that was at Holophernes beds heade, and losed his swoorde that hanged vpon it, and drewe it out:

9 And when she had take it out of the scabberd, she toke holde of the hairy lockes of his heade, and sayde, Strengthen me, O Lorde God, in this houre.

Reg. 7. g. 10 And with that she gaue him two strokes vpon the necke, and smote off his heade: Then toke she the canapie away from the pillers, and rolled the dead body alde.

11 Immediatly she gat hir forth, and deliuered the heade of Holophernes vnto hir mayden, and bade hir put it in hir wallet.

12 And so these two went forth together after their custome, as though they would pray: and so passed by the hoste, and came about through the valley, vnto the porte of the citie.

13 And Iudith cryed a farre off vnto the watchmen vppon the walles, Open the gates (sayd she,) for God is with vs, which hath shewed his power in Israell.

C 14 And when they hearde hir voyce, they called the elders of the citie (together.)

15 And they came all to meete hir, little and greate, yong and olde: for they thought not that she should haue come so soone.

16 So they lighted candles, and gathered about hir euery one: but she went vp into an high place, and caused silence to be proclaymed.

17 And when euery man nowe helde his peace, Iudith sayde, O prayse the Lorde our God, for he hath not despised nor forsaken them that put their trust in him:

18 And in me his handmayden he hath performed his mercy, which he promised vnto the house of Israell: Yea, in my hande this same nyght hath he slayne the enimie of his people.

19 And with that she toke forth the head of Holophernes out of the wallet, and shewed it them, saying, Behold the head of Holophernes the captaine of the armie of the Assyrians, & this is his canapie wherin he lay in his drunkennesse, where the Lorde vnto God hath slaine him by the hande of a woman.

20 But as the Lord liueth, his angell hath kept me going thyther, remayning there, and comming hither againe from thence: And the Lord hath not suffred me his handmayden to be defiled, but without any defiling of sinne, hath he brought me againe vnto you: and that with great victorie, so that I am escaped, and ye deliuered.

21 O giue thankes vnto him euery one, for he is gratious, and his mercy endureth for euer.

22 So they prayed the Lorde altogether, D (and gaue thanks vnto him,) and to hir they sayde, The Lorde hath blessed thee in his power, for through thee he hath brought our enimies to nought.

23 And Ozias the chiefe ruler of the people of Israell saide vnto hir, Blessed art thou of the Lorde the highe God, aboue all women vpon earth.

24 Blessed be the Lorde, the maker of heauen and earth, which hath guided thee aright, to wounde and to smite off the heade of the captaine of our enimies.

25 For this day he hath made thy name so honorable, that thy prayse shall neuer come out of the mouth of men, which shall alway remember the power of the Lorde, seeing thou haste not spared thine owne selfe, (but put thee in ieopardie) considering the anguishe and trouble of thy people: and so haste helped their fall before God our Lorde.

26 And all the people sayde, Amen, Amen. E

27 Achior also was called, and hee came: Then sayde Iudith vnto him, The God of Israell, vnto whome thou gauest witnesse, that he wold be aurnged of his enimies, euen hee hath this night through my hand, smitten off ẏ hed of al ẏ vnfaithful.

28 And that thou mayst see that it so is, beholde, this is the heade of Holophernes, which in his presumptuous pryde, despysed the God of the people of Israell, and threatned thee with destruction, saying, When the people of Israell is take, I shal cause thee also to be stickt with the swoord.

29 When Achior sawe Holophernes head, he fell downe vpon his face to the ground for verie anguishe and feare, so that hee sowned withall.

30 But after that he was come againe to him selfe, he fell downe before hir, & prayed hir, saying,

31 Blessed art thou of thy God, in al the tabernacles of Iacob: for all the people that heare thy name, shall prayse the God of Israell, bycause of thee. D man his weapon, and fall out violently:

not as though ye would goe beside them,
but to runne vpon them with violence.
3 When the spyes see this, they shall of ne-cessitie be compelled to flee backward, and to rayse vp their captaine to the battell.
4 So when their captaines come into Ho-lophernes pauilion, and finde ỹ deade bo-dye wrapped in the bloude, fearefulnesse shall fall vpon them:
5 And when ye perceyue that they flee, followe them without all care, for God shall
"or, the Lord shall breake them vnder your feete. "deliuer them vnto you to be destroyed.
6 Then Achior seeing the power of God, whiche hee had shewed vnto the people of Israell, fell off from his heathenish beliefe, and put his trust in God, and let him selfe be circumcised, and so was he numbred among the people of Israell, he and all his posteritie vnto this day.
B 7 Nowe as sone as it was day, they stickt vp Holophernes heade vppon the walles, and euery man toke his weapon, and so they went out with an horrible crye.
8 When the spies saw that, they ranne vnto Holophernes tent.
9 And they that were within the tent, came before his chamber, and made a greate rushing by arte, that Holofernes might awake, not by stirring him vp, but by their noyse:
10 For there durst not one of the Assyrians knocke, goe in, nor open.
11 But when the captaynes and princes, and all the chiefe in the king of the Assyrians hoste came together, they sayde vnto
the chamberlaynes,
12 Goe your way in, and wake him vp: for the myce are crept out of their holes, and dare prouoke vs vnto battell.
13 Then went Bagao into his chamber, stoode before the "bedde, and clapped with "or, curtaine. his handes: for he thought he had bene sleeping with Iudith.
C 14 But when he hearkened perfectly with his eares, and coulde perceiue no stirring,
"or, curtaine. he went nigher to the "bedde, and lyfte it vp, and when hee sawe the deade bodye of Holophernes lying there without a head, weltered in his bloude vpon the earth, hee cryed with a loude voyce, and with weeping rent his clothes.
15 And went into Iudiths tent, and found hir not.
16 And so he leapt out vnto the people, and sayde, One woman of the Iewes, hathe brought all Nabuchodonosors people to shame: for loe, Holophernes lyeth vppon the grounde, and hath no head.
17 When the chiefe of the Assyrians hoste hearde that, they rent their clothes, and there fell an intollerable feare and trembling vppon them, so that their myndes were sore afrayde.
18 And there was an exceeding great crye in "the whole hoste. "or, midst of the hoste.

The.xv. Chapter.

1. The Assyrians are afrayde and flee. 6. The Israelites pursue them. 9. Ioachim the highe priest commeth to Bethulia to see Iudith, and to prayse God for hir.

1 NOwe when all the hoste hearde that A Holophernes was beheaded, their mynde and counsell fell from them: and being amased with feare onely and trembling, they saued them selues by fleeing away.
2 One spake not to another, but hanged downe their heades, left all behynde them, and made hast to escape frō the Hebrues:
for they hearde that they were hasting to come after with their wepons, and so they fled by the ways of the fields, and through all the sote pathes of the "dales. "or, valeys
3 And when the children of Israell sawe that they fled, they folowed vpō them, and went downe with trumpets, blowing and making a great crye after them.
4 As for the Assyrians they had no order, and kept not them selues together but fled their way: Neuertheless, the children of Israell fell vpon them with one company and order, and discomfited as many as they might get.
5 And Ozias sent messengers vnto all the cities and countreys of Israell.
6 So all the regions, and euery citie sente out their best men after them in harnesse, and smote them with the swoorde, till they came to the vttermost part of their borders
7 And the other that were in Bethulia B came into the tentes of the Assyrians, and toke all that they which were fled had left behinde them, so they fonnde great good.
8 And they that came againe to Bethulia from the battell, toke with the such things as had bene theirs: there was no number of the cattel, and of al costly iewels, so that from the lowest vnto the highest, they were all made rich of the spoyles of them.

9 And Joachim the high prieſt, came from Jeruſalem to Bethulia, with al the elders, that they might ſee Judith.

10 Nowe when ſhe came out vnto them, they beganne all to prayſe hir with one voyce, ſaying. Thou worſhip of the citie of Jeruſalem, thou ioye of Iſraell, thou honour of our people.

11 Becauſe thou haſt done manly, and thy heart is comforted, and for that thou haſte loued cleanlyneſſe and chaſtitie, and haſte knowne no man, but thine own huſband: therefore hath the hande of the Lorde comforted thee, and bleſſed ſhalt thou be for euer.

12 And al the people ſayd, Sobeit, Sobeit.

13 In thirtie days could the people of Iſraell ſcarce gather vp the ſpoyles of the Aſſyrians.

C 14 But all that belonged vnto Holopherne, and had beene his ſpecially (whether it were golde, ſiluer, precious ſtone, clothing, and al ornaments) they gaue it vnto Judith, and it was deliuered vnto hir of the people.

15 And all the people reioyced, both wome, maydens, and yong people, with pypes, and harpes.

The.xvi. Chapter.

1. Iudith prayſeth God with a ſong. 23. She offereth to the Lorde Holophernes ſtuffe. 26. Hir continencie, life, and death. 29. All Iſraell lamenteth hir.

A 1 Then ſang Judith this ſong vnto the Lorde, ſaying,

2 Beginne vnto the Lorde vpon the tabrets, ſing vnto the Lorde vpon the Cymbales, O ſing vnto him a newe ſong of thankſgiuing, be ioyfull, and call vpon his name.

3 It is the Lorde that deſtroyeth warres, euen the Lorde is his name.

4 Whiche hath pitched his tentes in the middeſt of his people, that he might deliuer vs from the hande of all our enimies.

5 Aſſur came out of the mountaines of the North, in the multitude of his ſtrength: his people ſtopped the water brookes, and their horſes couered the valleys.

"or, borders. 6 He purpoſed to haue brent vp my "lande and to ſlay my yong men with the ſword.

B 7 He would haue caried away my children and virgins into captiuitie, but the almightie Lorde hindred him, and deliuered him into the handes of a woman, "whiche brought him to confuſion.

"or, which did ſtricke him through.

8 For their mightie was not deſtroyed of the yong me, it was not the ſonnes of Titan that ſlue him, neyther haue the great giants ſet the ſelues againſt him: but Judith the daughter of Merari, with hir faire beautie hath diſcomfited him, (and brought him to nought.)

9 For ſhe layde awaye hir widowes garment, and put on the apparel of gladneſſe, to the reioycing of the children of Iſraell.

10 She annoynted hir face with oyntment, and bounde vp hir haire in a coyffe, and toke a newe ſtole to beguile him.

11 Hir ſlippers raviſhed his eyes, hir beautie captiuated his mynde, with the ſworde ſmote ſhe off his necke.

12 The Perſians were aſtonied at hir ſtedfaſtneſſe, and the Medes at hir boldneſſe.

13 The howled the armies of the Aſſyrians, when my ſimples appeared, drie of thirſt.

14 The ſonnes of the daughters haue pearſed them through, and ſlayne them as fugitiue children: they periſhed in the battel, "for the verie feare of the Lord my God. C "or, from the face.

15 Let vs ſing a ſong of thankeſgiuing vnto the Lorde, a newe ſong of prayſe wyll we ſing vnto our God.

16 Lorde, Lorde, thou arte a great God, mightie in power, whome no man maye ouercome.

17 All thy creatures muſt ſerue thee: for thou ſpakeſt but the worde, and they were made, thou ſenteſt thy ſpirit, and they were created, and no mā can wtſtand thy voice. Geneſ. Pſal. 32. b.

18 The mountaines ſhall moue from the foundations with the waters, the ſtony rockes ſhall melt before thee like ware.

19 But they that feare thee, ſhall be great with thee in all things.

20 Wo vnto the people that riſe vp againſt my generation: for the almightie Lorde will auenge him ſelfe of them, and in the day of iudgement wyll he viſite them.

21 For hee ſhall giue fire and wormes in their fleſhe, that they may burne and feele it for euermore.

D 22 After this it happened, that after the victory, all the people came to Jeruſalem, to giue praiſe and thankes vnto the Lord: and when they were purified, they offered all their burnt ſacrifices, and their vowes, and their promiſed offerings.

23 And Judith offered all Holophernes weapons (and all the iewels) that the people had giuen hir, and the canapie that ſhee toke from his bed, and hanged them vp "vnto the Lord. "the olde interpretation hath In anathema oblitionis.

24 The people were ioyfull, as the vſe is:

and this ioy with Judith, by reason of the victorie, endured three monethes.

25 So after these dayes euery man went home againe, and Judith was in great reputation at Bethulia, and right honourably taken in all the lande of Israell.

26 Unto hir vertue also was chastitie ioyned, so that after hir husbande Manasses dyed, she neuer knew man all the dayes of hir life.

27 Upon the high solemne dayes, she went out with great worship.

E 28 She dwelte in hir husbandes house an hundred and fiue yeeres, and left hir handmayden Abra free, 29 And dyed, and was buryed beside hir husbande in Bethulia: and all the people mourned for hir seuen dayes.

30 So long as she liued, there was none that troubled Israell, and many yeeres also after hir death.

31 The day wherein this victorie was gotten, was solemnly holden, and reckened of the Jewes, in the nũber of the holy dayes, and it is yet greatly holden of the Jewes euer since, vnto this day.

The dreame of Mardocheus.

I 1 MArdocheus the sonne of Jari, the sõne of Semei, the sonne of Cis, of the tribe of Beniamin,

2 A Jew which had hys dwelling in the citie of Susis, a man of great reputation, and excellent among all them that were in the kings court.

4.Re.24.d. Jere.24.a. 3 Neuertheleſſe, he was one of the prisoners whome Nabuchodonosor the king of Babylon had caryed away frõ Jerusalẽ vnto Babylõ, with Jechonias ẏ king of Juda.

4 In the second yeere of the raigne of great Artaxerxes, in the firſte day of the moneth Nisã, had this Mardocheus such a dream.

5 He thought he heard a great tempeſt, horrible thunderclaps, earthquakes, and great vproare in the lande,

6 And that he saw two great dragons ready to fight one against another.

B 7 Their cry was great: at the which roaring and crye, all the heathen were vp to fight against the righteous people.

8 And the same day was full of darkenesse, and derke vncleare, full of trouble and anguish, yea, a great fearefulnesse was there in the lande.

9 The righteous were amased, for they feared the plague and euill that was deuised ouer them, and were at a point with themselues to dye: So they cryed vnto God.

10 And while they were crying, the litle well grewe into a great ryuer, and into many waters.

11 And with that it was day, and the sunne rose vp againe: & the lowely were exalted, and deuoured the glorious and proude.

12 Now when Mardocheus had seene this dreame, he awoke, and mused stedfastly in his heart what God woulde doe, and so he desired to knowe all the matter, and his minde was there vpon vntill night.

The.xij. Chapter.

Mardocheus vttreth the treason deuised against the king, and is therfore rewarded of him.

1 AT the same time dwelte Mardocheus I with Bagatha & Thara, in the kings court, the kings chamberlaynes and porters of the palace.

2 But when hee hearde their deuise, and had diligently considered their imaginations, he perceyued that they went about to lay their (cruell) handes vpon the kyng Artaxerxes, and so hee certified the kyng thereof.

3 Then

3 Then caused the king to examine the two *or, chamberlaynes, " gelders with tormentes: and when they had graunted it, they were put to death.
4 This the king caused to be put in the Chronicles, for an euerlasting remembraunce, and Mardocheus wrote vp the same matter.
5 So the king commaunded that Mardocheus shoulde remayne in the courte, and for this faithfulnesse of his, her gaue him a rewarde.
6 But Aman the sonne of Amadathu, the Agagite, whiche was holden in great honour and reputation in the kings courte, vndertoke to hurte Mardocheus, and his people, bicause of the two chamberlaynes, that were put to death.

The.xiij.Chapter.

1. The copie of the letters of Artaxerxes against the Iewes. 9. The prayer of Mardocheus.

1 THE great king Artaxerxes, whiche raigneth from India, and Ethiopia, ouer an hundred and twentie and seuen lands, sendeth his friendly salutation vnto all the princes and deputies of the countrey, whiche be subiects vnto his dominion.
2 When I was made Lorde ouer many people, and had subdued the whole earth vnto my dominion, my mynde was not with crueltie and wrong to exalt my selfe by the reason of my power: but purposed with equitie alway and gentlenesse to gouerne those that be vnder my iurisdiction, and wholly to set them in a peaceable life, and thereby to bring my kingdome vnto tranquilitie, that men might safely goe through on euery side, and to renue peace againe, which all men desire.
3 Nowe when I asked my counsellours howe these thinges might be brought to a good ende, there was one by vs excellent in wisdome, whose good will, truth and faithfulnesse, hath oft bene shewed and proued, (which was also the principall and nexte to the king) Aman by name.
4 Which certified vs, how that in all lands there was scattered abroade a rebellious folke, that made statutes and lawes against all other people, and haue alwaye despysed the proclaymed cõmaundements of kinges, and howe that for this cause, it were not to be suffered, that suche rule shoulde continue by you, and not to be put downe.
5 Seeing nowe we perceyue the same, that this people alone, are contrary vnto euery man, vsing strange and other manner of lawes, and withstand our statutes and doings, and goe about to stablishe shrewde matters, that our kingdome should neuer come to good estate (and stedfastnesse:)
6 Therefore haue we commaunded, that all they that are appoynted in writing, & shewed vnto you by Aman, whiche is ordeyned and set ouer all our lands, and the most principall next vnto the king, and in maner as a father: shall with their wiues and children be destroyed and rooted out with the swoorde of their enimies and aduersaries, and that there shall be no mercie shewed, and no man spared: and this shall be done the fourteenth daye of the moneth called Adar, of this yeere.
7 That they which of olde, and nowe also, ℂ haue euer bene rebellious, may in one day with violence be thrust down into the hell, to the intent that after this maner, our empire may haue peace and tranquilitie.
8 But Mardocheus thought vpon all the workes and noble actes of the Lorde, and made his prayer vnto him, 9 Saying, O Lorde, Lorde, thou valiant and almightie king, for all things are in thy power: and if thou wilt help and deliuer Israel, there is no mã that can withstand, nor let thee.
10 For thou hast made heauen and earth, and what wonderous thing soeuer is vnder the heauen.
11 Thou arte Lorde of all things, and there is no man that can resist thy maiestie, O Lorde.
12 Thou knowest all things, thou wotest Lorde, that it was neyther of malice nor presumption, nor for any desire of glorie, that I would not bowe downe my selfe, nor worshippe yonder proude presumptuous Aman:
13 For I would haue bene content, and that with good will, if it myght haue done Israell any good, to haue kist euen his lowe steppes.
14 But that I did it, bycause I would not ℂ set the honoure of a man, in the steade of the glorie of God, and bycause I would worshippe none, but only thee my Lorde: and this haue I done in no pryde nor presumption.
15 And therefore, O Lorde, thou God and King, haue mercie vppon thy people, for they imagine howe they may bring vs to nought, yea their mynde and desire is to destroy and to ouerthrowe thy people that hath euer bene thine inheritance of olde.

16 O despise not thy portion whiche thou hast deliuered, and brought out of Egipte for thine own selfe.

17 Heare my prayer, and be mercifull vnto thy people, whome thou hast chosen for an heritage vnto thy selfe: Turne our complaint and sorowe into ioye, that we may liue, O Lorde, and prayse thy name: O Lorde suffer not the mouthes of them that prayse thee, to be destroyed.

18 All the people of Israell in like manner cryed as earnestly as they coulde vnto the Lorde: for their death and destruction stoode before their eyes.

The.xiiij.Chapter.

The prayer of Esther, for the deliuerance of hir and hir people.

1 Queene Esther also bring in the "battell of death, resorted vnto the Lord,

"or, perill.

2 Layde away hir glorious apparell, and put on the garmentes that serued for sighing, and mourning: in ỹ stead of precious oyntment, she scattered ashes and dung vpon hir heade: and as for hir bodye, she humbled it with fasting, & brought it very lowe: All the places where she was wont to haue ioy afore, those filled she with hir owne haire that she pluckt off.

3 She prayed also vnto the Lorde God of Israell, with these wordes: O my Lorde, thou onely art our king, helpe me desolate woman, which haue no helper but thee.

4 For my misery and destruction is harde at my hande.

5 Fro my youth vp I haue heard out of the kinred of my father, that thou tokest Israell from among al people, and so haue our fathers of their fore elders, that they shuld be thy perpetuall inheritance, and loke what thou diddest promise them, thou hast made it good vnto them.

6 Nowe Lord we haue sinned before thee, therfore hast thou giuen vs into the hands of our enimies,

B 7 Bycause we worshipped their goddes, Lorde thou art righteous.

8 Neuertheles, it satisfieth them not that we are in bitter and heauie captiuitie, and oppressed among them, but thou hast layde their hands vpon the hands of their gods.

9 So that they beginne to take awaye the thing, that thou with thy mouth haste ordeyned and appoynted, to destroye their inheritance, to shut and to stop the mouths of them that prayse thee, to quench the glory and worshyp of thy house & thine aulter.

10 And to open the mouthes of the heathen, that they maye prayse the power and vertue of the gods, and to magnifie the fleshly king for euer.

11 O Lord giue not thy scepter vnto them that be nothing, least they laughe vs to skorne in our miserie and fall: but turne their deuise vpon them selues, and punishe him that hath begunne the same ouer vs, and set him to an example.

12 Thinke vpon vs, O Lord, and shew thy selfe vnto vs in the time of our distresse, and of our trouble: strengthe me, O thou king of goddes, thou Lord of all power.

13 Giue me an eloquent and pleasant speach in my mouth before the Lion: turne his hart into the hate of our enimies, to destroy him, and all such as consent vnto him.

14 But deliuer vs with thy hand, and help me thy handmayd, which haue no defence nor helper, but only the Lord. C

15 Thou knowest all thinges, thou wottest that I loue not the glorie and worshyp of the vnrighteous, and that I hate and abhorre the bed of the vncircumcised, and of all heathen:

16 Thou knowest my necessitie, that I hate the token of my preheminence & worshyp, which I beare vpon my head, what time as I must shew my self and be seene, and that I abhor it as an vncleane cloth, and that I weare it not when I am quiet, and alone by my selfe.

17 Thou knowest also, that I thy handemayden, haue not eaten at Amans table, and that I haue had no pleasure nor delight in the kings feaste, that I haue not dronke the wine of the drinke offerings.

18 And that I thy handmayden haue no ioy since the day that I was brought hyther vnto this day, but onely in thee, O Lorde, O thou God of Abraham.

19 O thou mightie God aboue al, heare the voice of them that haue no other hope, and deliuer vs out of the hande of the wicked, and deliuer me out of my feare.

The.xv.Chapter.

1. Mardocheus moueth Esther to goe in vnto the king, and make intercession for hir people. 9. And she performed his request.

1 Mardocheus also bade Esther goe in vnto the king, and praye for hir people, and for hir countrey.

2 Remember (sayth he) the dayes of thy low estate, how thou wast nourished vnder my I hande:

hande: for Aman which is next vnto the king, hath giue sentence of death against vs.

3 Cal ꝑ therefore vpon the Lord, & speak for vs vnto the king, & deliuer vs from death.

4 And vpon the thirde day it hapned, that Esther laid away the mourning garmets, and put on hir glorious apparell,

5 And decked hir selfe goodly (after that she had called vpon God, whiche is the beholder and sauiour of all things) (and) toke two maydens with hir:

6 Upon the one she leaned hir selfe, as one that was tender:

B 7 The other followed hir, and bare the traine of hir vesture.

8 The shine of hir beautie made hir face rose coloured, the similitude of hir face was chearefull and amiable: but hir heart was sorowfull for great feare.

9 She went in through all the dores, and stode before the king: the king sate vpon the throne of his kingdome, & was clothed in his goodly aray, all shining with gold, and set with precious stones, and he was very terrible.

10 He lift vp his face that shone in the clearnesse, and loked grimly vpon hir: then fell the quene downe, was pale and faint, leaned hir selfe vpon the head of the mayd that went with hir.

11 Neuertheless, God turned the kinges mynde that he was gentle, that he leaped out of his seate for feare, and gat hir in his armes, and held hir vp till she came to hir selfe againe, he gaue hir louing words also, and sayde vnto hir,

12 Esther, what is the matter? I am thy brother, be of good cheare:

13 Thou shalt not dye, for our commaundement toucheth the commons, and not thee; Come nygh.

C 14 And with that hee held vp his golden rod, and layd it vpon hir necke, 15 And imbraced hir friendly, and sayde, Talke with me.

16 Then sayde she, I sawe thee (O Lorde) as an Angel of God, & my hart was troubled for feare of thy maiestie & clearnesse.

17 For excellent and wonderfull arte thou, O Lord, and thy face is full of amitie, 18 But as she was thus speaking vnto him, she fell downe againe for faintnesse:

19 For the which cause the king was afraid, and all his seruantes comforted hir.

The.xvi. Chapter.

The copie of the letters of Artaxerxes, whereby he reuoketh those which he first sent forth

1 The greate king Artaxerxes, whiche raigneth from India vnto Ethiopia, ouer an hundred and twentie and seuen landes, sendeth vnto the princes and rulers of the same landes, suche as loue him, his friendly salutation. A

2 There be many that for the sundry friendships and benefits which are diuerslye done vnto them for their worshippe, be euer the more proude and high mynded:

3 And vndertake not onely to hurt our subiectes, (for plenteous benefites may they not suffer, and beginne to imagine something against those that do them good,

4 And take not onely all thankfulnesse away from men) but in pride and presumption, as they that be vnmyndfull and vnthankfull for the good deeds, they go about to escape the iudgement of God that seeth all things, whiche iudgement hateth and punisheth all wickednesse.

5 It happeneth oft also, that they which be set in office by the higher power, and vnto whome the businesse and causes of the subiectes are committed to be handled, ware proude, and defile them selues with shedding of innocent bloude, which bringeth them to intollerable hurt.

6 Whiche also with false and deceitfull wordes, and with lying tales, deceiue and betray the innocent goodnesse of princes.

7 Nowe is it profitable and good that we take heede, make searche thereafter, and consider not onely what hath hapned vnto vs of olde, but the shamefull, vnhonest, and noysome things, that the deputies haue nowe taken in hande before our eyes: B

8 And thereby to beware in time to come, that we make the kingdome quiet and peaceable for all men, and that we might sometime drawe it to a change.

9 And as for the thing that nowe is present before our eyes, to withstande it, & to put it downe after the most friendly maner.

10 What time nowe as Aman the sonne of Amadathu the Macedonian, a straunger verily of the Persians bloude, and farre from our goodnesse, was come in among vs as an aliant,

11 And had obteined the friendship that we beare towarde all people, so that hee was called our father, and had in high honour of euery man, as the nexte and principall vnto the king:

12 He could not forbeare him selfe from his pryde, hath vndertaken not only to robbe vs of the kingdome, but of our life:

13 With manifolde deceyte also hath he deſyred to deſtroye Mardocheus our helper and preſeruer, whiche hathe done vs good, in all thinges, and innocente Eſther, the like partaker of oure kyngdome, with all hir people.

¶ 14 For his minde was (when he had taken them out of the way, and robbed vs of thē) by thys meanes to tranſlate the kingdome of the Perſians, vnto them of Macedonia.

15 But we finde that the Jewes (whiche were accuſed of ỹ wicked, that they might be deſtroyed) are no euill doers, but vſe reaſonable and right lawes:

16 And that they be the children of the moſt high liuing God, by whome the kingdome of vs, and of our progenitours, hath beene well ordered hytherto.

17 Wherefore, as for the letters and commaundementes that were put forthe by Aman the ſonne of Amadathu, ye ſhall doe well if ye hold them of none effect:

18 For hee that ſet them vp, and inuented them, hangeth at Suſis, before the porte, with all his kinred: and God which hath all thinges in his power, hath rewarded him after his deſeruing.

19 And vpon this, ye ſhall publiſhe and ſet vp the copie of this letter in all places, that the Jewes may freely and without hynderance holde them ſelues after their own ſtatutes:

20 And that they maye be helped, and that vpon the thirtenth daye of the twelfth moneth Adar, they may be auenged of them, which in the time of their anguiſh & trouble would haue oppreſſed them.

21 For the God that gouerneth all things, D hath turned to ioy the day wherin the choſen people ſhould haue periſhed.

22 Moreouer, among the high ſolemne days that ye haue, ye ſhall holde this day alſo with all gladneſſe:

23 That nowe, and in time to come, this day may be a remembrance of good, for all ſuch as loue the proſperitie of the Perſiās: but a remembrance of deſtruction, to thoſe that be ſeditious vnto vs.

24 All cities and landes that doe not this, ſhal horribly periſh, and be deſtroyed with the ſworde and fire, and ſhall not onely be no more inhabited of men, but be abhorred alſo of the wilde beaſtes and foules.

4 For why? wiſedome ſhall not enter into a wicked ſoule, nor dwell in the body that is ſubiect vnto ſinne.

5 For the holy ſpirit of diſcipline fleeth frō deceite, and withdraweth him ſelfe from thoughtes that are without vnderſtāding, & is declared when wickedneſſe commeth.

6 For the ſpirit of wiſdome is louing, and will not abſolue him that blaſphemeth with his lippes, for God is witneſſe of his reynes, and a true beholder of his heart, and an hearer of his tong.

7 For the ſpirit of the Lord filleth the round B cōpaſſe of the world, & ỹ ſame ỹ vpholdeth al things hath knowledge alſo of ỹ voice.

8 Therefore he that ſpeaketh vnrighteous things can not be hid, neyther ſhall the iudgement of reproofe let him eſcape.

9 And why? inquiſition ſhall be made for the thoughts of the vngodly, and the ſound of his words ſhall come vnto God, ſo that his wickedneſſe ſhall be puniſhed.

10 For the eare of ielouſie heareth al things, & the noyſe of ỹ grudgings ſhal not be hid.

11 Therefore beware of murmuring, which is

is nothing worth, and refrayne your tong from slaunder: for there is no worde so secrete that it shall goe for nought, and the mouth that speaketh lyes, slayeth the soule.

12 ✠ seeke not your owne death in the error of your life, destroy not your selues through the workes of your owne hands:

13 For God hath not made death, neyther hath hee pleasure in the destruction of the lyuing.

✠ 14 For hee created all thinges, that they might haue their being, and "the generations of the world were helthfull, and there is no poyson of destruction in them, nor the kingdome of hell vpon the earth.

15 For righteousnesse is (euerlasting and) immortal: but vnrighteousnes bringeth death.

"or, beginning

"to wit, death

16 Neuertheless, the vngodly call "it vnto them both with workes and wordes, and while they thinke to haue it their friende, they come to nought, and they haue made an agrement with it, for they are worthy to be of hir part.

The. ij. Chapter.

The imaginations and desires of the wicked, and their counsell against the faithfull.

✠ 1 For the vngodly say, reasoning with themselues, but not aright, Our life is short and tedious, and in the death of a man there is no remedie, neyther is there any man knowne to haue returned from the graue.

2 For we are borne at all aduenture, and we shall be heere by more fortune after, as though we had neuer bene: for our breath is as a smoake in our nosthrils, and words as a sparke raysed out of our hearts:

3 Which being extinguished, our bodye shall be turned into ashes, and our spirite shall vanish as the soft ayre.

4 Our life shall passe away as the trace of a cloude, and come to nought as the myst that is driuen away with the beames of the sunne, and put downe with the heate thereof: our name also shall be forgotten by litle and litle, and no man shall haue our workes in remembrance.

5 For our time is a very shadowe that passeth away, and after our ende there is no returning: for it is fast sealed, so that no man commeth agayne.

6 Come on therefore, let vs enioy the pleasures that are present, and let vs chearfully vse the creatures, like as in youth:

✠ 7 Let vs fill ourselues with good wine and oyntment, and let there no floure of the time escape vs:

8 Let vs crown our selues with rose buds, afore they be withered:

9 (a) Let there be no fayre medowe, but our lust goe through it. Let euery one of vs be partakers of our voluptuousnesse, let vs leaue some token of our pleasure in euery place: for that is our portion, and this (onely) out lot.

a. This sentence of the medow is not in the greeke.

10 Let vs oppresse the poore righteous, let vs not spare the wydow nor olde man, let vs not regard ẏ heades that are grey for age.

11 Let the lawe of vnrighteousnesse be our strength: for the thing that is feeble, is nothing worth.

12 Therefore let vs defraude the righteous, and why? he is not for our profite, yea, he is cleane contrarie to our doings, hee checketh vs for offending against the law, and slandereth the faultes of our manner of lyuing.

13 Hee maketh his boast to haue the knowledge of God, yea, he calleth himself Gods sonne.

14 Hee is made vnto vs for reproofe of our thoughtes. ✠

15 It grieueth vs also to looke vpon him, for his life is not like other mens, his ways are of an other fashion.

16 Hee counteth vs but "vayne persons, hee withdraweth him selfe from our wayes as from filthynesse, he commendeth greatly the latter ende of the iust, and maketh his boast that God is his father.

"or, counterfet coyne.

17 Let vs see then if his words be true, let vs proue what shal happē in ẏ end of him.

18 For if the iust man be the sonne of God, he will receyue him, and deliuer him from the handes of his enimies.

19 Let vs examine him with dispitefull rebuke and tormenting, that we may know his meekenesse, and proue his patience.

20 Let vs condemne him with the moste shamefull death: for as him selfe sayth, He shall be rewarded (of God.)

21 Such things doe they imagine, and goe ✠ astraye, for their owne wickednesse hath blinded them.

22 As for the mysteries of God, they vnderstande them not, they neyther hope for the reward of righteousnesse, nor regarde the worshyp that holy soules shall haue.

23 For God created man to be vndestroied, Gen. 4. b. yea, after the image of his owne likenesse made he him.

24 Neuertheless, through enuie of the deuill, came death into the world, and they that holde of his side, do finde it.

The

The.iiij.Chapter.

1. The conseruation and assurance of the righteous. 7. The rewarde of the faithfull. 11. VVho are miserable.

A 1 BVt the soules of the righteous are in the hande of God, and there shall no torment touch them.

2 In the sight of the vnwise they appeared to die, & their end is taken for miserie,

3 And their departing from vs to be vtter destruction: but they are in rest.

4 For though they suffer payne before men, yet is their hope full of immortalitie.

5 They are punished but in fewe thinges, neuertheleſſe, in many things shall they be well rewarded: for God proueth them, and findeth them meete for him selfe.

6 As golde in the furnace doth he trie them, and receyueth them as a burnt offering: and when the time commeth, they shall be loked vpon.

B 7 They shall shine and runne through, as the sparkles among the stuble.

8 They shall iudge the nations, and haue dominion ouer the people: and their Lord shall raigne for euer.

9 They that put their truste in him, shall vnderstand the truth, and such as be faithfull shall persteuer with him in loue: for his saintes haue grace and mercie, and he hath care for his elected.

10 But the vngodly shall be punished according to their owne imaginations, for they haue despysed the righteous, and forsaken the Lorde.

11 For who so despyseth wisedome and " nurture, hee is " vnhappie, and as for the hope of such, it is but vayne, their labours vnfruitfull, and their workes vnprofitable.

" or, discipline " or, he is miserable.

12 Their wiues are vndiscrete, and theyr children most vngodly.

13 Their ofspring (or progenie) is cursed: wherefore blessed is the barren that is vndefiled, which hath not knowne the sinfull bed, she shall haue fruite in the visitation of soules,

C 14 And the gelded which with his handes hath wrought no vnrighteousnesse, nor imagined wicked things against God: for vnto him shall be giuen the special gift of fayth, and the moste acceptable portion in the temple of God.

15 For glorious is the fruit of good labour, & ý root of wisdome shal neuer fade away.

16 As for the children of adulterers, they shall not come to a perfect ende, & the seede of an vnrighteous bed shall be rooted out, 17 And though they liue long, yet shal they be nothing regarded, and their laste age shall be without honour.

18 If they dye quickly, they haue no hope, neyther comfort in the day of inquirie.

19 For horrible is the ende of the vnrighteous generation.

The.iiij.Chapter.

Of vertue, and the commoditie thereof. 10. The death of the righteous, and the condemnation of the vnfaithfull.

1 GHow fayre is a chaſt generation with vertue? the memoriall thereof is immortall: for it is knowne with God and with men. A

2 When it is present, men take example at it, and if it goe away, yet they desire: it is crowned, and euer triumpheth, when it hath wonne the rewarde of the vndefyled battels.

3 But the multitude of the vngodly abounding in children, shall profite nothing, nor giue deepe rote by the seede of adulterie, nor lay any fast foundation.

4 For though they budde forth in the branches for a time, yet shall they be shaken with the wynde, for they stande not faste: and through the behemencie of the wynde they shall be rooted out.

5 The vnperfecte branches shall be broken, their fruite shall be vnprofitable, and soure to eate, yea meete for nothing.

6 And why? all the children that are borne of the wicked bed, must beare record of the wickednesse against their fathers and mothers when they be asked:

7 But though the righteous be ouertaken with death, yet shall he be in rest. B

8 For honourable age is not that whiche standeth in length of time, nor that that is measured by number of yeeres:

9 But a mans wisedome is the gray haire, and an vndefiled life is the olde age.

10 Hee pleased God, and was beloued of him, so that whereas he lyued among sinners, he translated him.

11 Yea, speedyly was he taken away, to the intent that wickednesse shoulde not alter his vnderstanding, and that deceyt should not beguile his soule. Gen.5.d.

12 For wickednesse with bewitching doth darken the honest thinges: and the lightnesse of " voluptuous desire " turneth aside the single minde. " or, concupiscence. " or, chaungeth or, alieneth.

13 Though he was sone deade, yet fulfilled he much time:

C 14 For his soule pleased God, therefore hasted he to take him away " from among the wicked.

" or, from out of the midst of wickednes

15 This the people see, and vnderstande it not, they lay not vp suche things in their heartes, howe that the louing fauour and mercy (of God) is vpon his saintes, and that he hath respect vnto his chosen.

16 Thus the righteous that is deade, condemneth the vngodly which are lyuing: and the youth that is soone brought to an end, the long life of the vnrighteous.

17 For they see the end of the wise: but they vnderstande not what God hath deuised for him, and wherfore the Lord hath taken him away to be in saftie.

18 And why? they see him, and despise him, therfore shal God also laugh thē to scorne.

19 So that they them selues shall dye hereafter without honor, yea, in shame among the deade for euermore: for without any voyce shall he burst those that be pufte vp, and shake them from the foundations, so that they shall be layde as vtterly wasted: they shall be in sorrowe, and their memoriall perysshe.

20 So they shall come afrayde in remembrance of their sinnes, and their owne iniquities before their face shal conuince thē.

The.v. Chapter.

1 The constantnesse of the righteous before their persecutours. 14. The hope of the vnfaithfull is vayne. 15. The blessednesse of the saincts and godly.

A 1 Then shal the righteous stand in great boldenesse before the face of suche as haue dealt extreamely with them, and taken away their labours.

2 When they see it, they shalbe vexed with horrible feare, & shal wonder at his health, so farre beyonde all that they looked for.

3 And chaunging their opinion with groning for the vexacion of mynde, they shall say, This is he whome we sometime had in derision, and iested vpon.

4 We fooles thought his life very madnes, and his end to be without honour:

5 But lo howe he is counted among the children of God, and his portion is among the saintes.

6 Therefore haue I erred from the way of trueth, the light of righteousnesse hath not shined vnto vs, and the sunne of vnderstanding rose not vp vpon vs.

B 7 We haue wearied our selues in the way of wickednesse and destruction, yea we haue gone through tedious desertes: but as for the way of the Lorde, we haue not knowne it.

8 What good hath pryde done vnto vs? or what profite hathe the pompe of ryches brought vs?

9 All those things are passed away like a shadow, and as a poste that hasteth by:

10 As a ship that passeth ouer the waues of the water, which when it is gone by, the trace thereof can not be found, neyther the path of it in the floudes:

11 Or as a byrde that fleeth through in the ayre, and no man can see any token where she is flowen, but onely heareth the noyse of hir wings beating the light winde, parting the ayre through the behemencie of hir going, & fleeth on shaking hir wings, whereas afterwarde no token of hir way can be found:

12 Or like as when an arrowe is shot at a marke, it parteth the ayre, which immediately commeth together againe, so that a mā can not know where it went through:

13 Euen so we in like maner assone as we were borne, began immediatly to draw to our end, & haue shewed no tokē of vertue, but are consumed in our own wickednes.

14 Suche wordes they that haue sinned, speake in the hell:

This verse is only in the olde interpreter.

15 For the hope of the vngodly, is like a " dye thistle floure that is blowen awaye with the wind, like a thin " slumme that is scattered abroade with the storme, like as the smoake which is dispersed here and there with the winde, and as the remembraunce of a stranger that tarieth but a day, and then departeth.

" or, dust.
" or, some.

16 But the vyghteous shall liue for euermore, their rewarde also is with the Lord, and the care for them is with the highest.

17 Therefore shall they receyue a glorious kingdome, and a beautifull crowne of the Lordes hande: for with his right hande shall hee couer them, and with his arme shall he defende them.

18 His iealousie also shall take on harnesse, and he shall arme the creature to be reuenged of his enimies.

19 He shal put on righteousnesse for a brest-plate, and take vnfayned iudgement in steede of an helmet.

20 The inuincible shield of equitie shall he take.

21 His fierce wrath shall hee sharpen for a D swoorde, & the whole compasse of the world shall fight with him against the vnwise.

22 Then shall the thunder boltes go " right out of the lightnings, and come as out of

" or, straight,

the

the well bent bowe of the cloudes to the place appoynted,

2 And as from an angrie caster of stones, there shall fall thicke hayles, and the water of the sea shall be wroth against them, and the floudes shall runne roughly together.

24 Yea, a mightie winde shall stande vp against them, and a storme shall scatter the abroade: thus vnrighteous dealing shall bring all the lande to a wyldernesse, and wickednesse shall ouerthrowe the royall seates of the mightie.

" or, thrones.

The.vi. Chapter.

2. The calling of kings, princes, and iudges, which are also exhorted to search wisdome.

A 1 WYsdome is bettter than strength, and a man of vnderstanding is more worth than one strong.

This verse is only in the old interpreter.

2 Heare therefore, (O ye kings) and vnderstande, O learne ye that be iudges of the endes of the earth.

3 Giue care ye that rule the multitudes, and glorie in the number of peoples.

4 For the power is giuen you of the Lord, and the strength from the highest, whiche shal trie your workes, and search out your imaginations:

5 Howe that ye being officers of his kingdome, haue not giuen true iudgement, haue not kept the lawe of ryghteousnesse, nor walked after the will of God.

6 Horribly, and that right sone, shal he appeare vnto you: for an harde iudgement shall they haue that beare rule.

B 7 Mercy is graunted vnto the lowest: but they that be in authoritie shall be sore punished.

8 For he which is Lord ouer all, shall " except no mans person, neyther shal he stand in awe of any mans greatnesse: for hee hath made the small and great, and careth for all alike.

" or. feare, or, spare.

9 But the mightie shall haue the sorer trial.

10 Vnto you therefore (O ye kings) doe I speake, that ye may learne wisedome, and not go amisse.

11 For they that keepe holynesse " holyly, shall be iudged holy: and they that haue learned such things, shall finde defence.

" or, holy things

12 Wherefore, " set your delight vpon my wordes, and desire them, so shall ye " come by nurture.

" or, conet my wordes. " or, be instructed & learned.

13 Wisedome is a noble thing, and neuer fadeth awaye: yea she is easily seene of them that loue hir, and founde of suche as seeke hir.

14 She preuenteth them that desire hir, that she may shew hir selfe vnto them. C

15 Who so awaketh vnto hir betimes, shall haue no great trauell: for he shall finde hir sitting ready at his dores.

16 To thinke therefore vpon hir, is perfect vnderstanding: and who so watcheth for hir, shall quickly be dispatched of care.

17 For she goeth about seeking suche as are meete for hir, sheweth hir selfe cheerefully vnto them in " their goings, and meeteth them with " all diligence.

" or, in their wayes. " or, euery thought.

18 For the vnfayned desire of " reformation is hir beginning: to care for nurture is loue

" or, discipline

19 And loue is the keping of hir lawes, and the keeping of hir lawes is the assurance of immortalitie:

20 And immortalitie maketh a man familiar with God.

21 And so the desire of wisedome leadeth to the kingdome (euerlasting.) D

22 If your delight be then in royall seates and scepters (O ye kings of the people) set your " lust vpon wisedome, that ye maye raigne for euermore.

" or, how

This verse is only in the old interpreter.

23 O loue the light of wisedome all ye that be rulers of the people.

24 As for wisedome, what she is, and how she came vp, I will tell you, and will not hyde the mysteries of (God) from you: but will seeke hir out from the beginning of hir natiuitie, and bring the knowledge of hir into light, and will not keepe backe the trueth.

25 Neyther will I haue to do with consuming enuie: for suche a man shall not be partaker of wisedome.

26 But the multitude of the wise, is the welfare of the worlde: and a wise kyng is the " vpholding of the people.

" or, stay.

27 O receyue nurture then through my wordes, and it shall do you good.

The.vij. Chapter.

VVisedome ought to be preferred aboue all things.

1 IMy selfe also am a mortall man, like as all other, and am come of the earthy generatiō of him that was first made, I

2 And in my mothers wombe was fashioned to be flesshe in the time of tenne monthes, being wrought together in blood, through the seede of man, and the pleasure that came with sleepe.

3 And when I was borne, I receyued like ayre as other men, and fell vpon the earth which is of like nature, crying and weeping ping at the first as all other do.

4 I was wrapped in swadling clothes, & brought vp with cares.
5 For there is no king that hath had any other beginning of byrth.
6 All men then haue one entrance vnto lyfe, and one going out in like manner.
B 7 Wherfore I desired, and vnderstanding was giuen mee: I called, and the spirit of wisdome came into mee.
8 I set more by hir than by kingdomes & royall seates, and counted riches nothing in comparison of hir.
9 As for pretious stone, I compared it not vnto hir: for all gold is but a litle grauel vnto hir, and siluer shall be counted but clay before hir syght.
10 I loued hir aboue "welfare and beautie, and purposed to take hir for my lyght: for hir lyght cannot be quenched. "or, health.
11 All good things togyther came to mee with hir, and innumerable ryches through hir handes.
12 And I was glad in all things, bycause wisdome went before them: and I knewe not that she was the mother of them.
13 And I my selfe learned vnfaynedly, and make other men partakers of hir without enuie, and hyde hir ryches from no man.
C 14 For she is an infinite treasure vnto men: which who so vse, become partakers of the loue (and friendship) of God, and are accepted vnto him for the gifts of "wisdom. "or, knowledge.
15 God hath graunted me to speake what my minde conceyueth, and to thinke as is meete for the things that are giuen mee: for it is he that leadth vnto wisdome, and teacheth to vse wisdome aryght.
16 For in his hande are bothe wee and our wordes, yea all our wisdome and knowledge of (his) workes.
17 For he hath giuen mee the true science of the things that are, so that I knowe howe the world was made, and the powers of the elementes.
18 The beginning, ending, and middest of the times, howe the times alter, howe one goeth after another, and howe they are fulfilled,
19 The course of the yeere, the ordinaunces of the starres, 20 The natures of lyuing things, the furiousnes of beastes, the power of ỹ windes, the imaginations of men, the diuersities of yong plantes, the vertues of rootes:
D 21 And all suche things as are either secret or manifest, them haue I learned.
22 For wisdome, whiche is the worker of all things, hath taught mee: for in hir is the spirit of vnderstanding, which is holy, one onely, manifolde, subtile, "quicke moning, cleare, vndefyled, playne, sweete, louing the thing that is good, sharpe, whiche cannot be letted, doing good, "or, liuely.
23 Kinde to man, stedfaste, sure, free from care, hauing all "vertues, "circumspect in all things, and passing through all vnderstanding, cleane and subtile spirites. "or, power. "or, hauing regarde of.
24 For wisdome is nimbler than al nimble things, she goeth through, and atteyneth to all things, bicause of hir cleannesse.
25 For she is the breath of ỹ power of God, and a pure influence flowing from ỹ glorie of the almightie (God:) therefore can no defiled thing come vnto hir.
26 For she is the brightnesse of the euerlasting light, the vndefiled mirrour of ỹ maiestie of God, & the image of his goodnesse.
27 And beeing (but) one, shee can do all things: and remayning in hir selfe, shee renueth all, and in all ages of tymes entring into holy soules, she maketh Gods friendes, and prophetes:
28 For God loueth none, if hee dwell not E with wisdome.
29 For she is more beautifull than ỹ sunne, "and giueth more lyght than the starres, & the day is not to be compared vnto hir. "or, aboue all the order of starres.
30 For vpon "the day, commeth night: but wickednesse cannot ouercome wisdome. "or, it.

The.viij.Chapter.

The effectes of VVisdome.

1 A "Wisdome reacheth from one ende to another mightily, and "louingly doth she order all things. "or, the. "or, profitably.
2 I haue loued hir, and "laboured for hir, euen from my youth vp: I did my diligence to marry my selfe with hir, such loue had I vnto hir beautie. "or, sought.
3 That shee hath the company of God, it commendeth hir nobility: yea, the Lord of all things himselfe loueth hir.
4 For she is the scholemaistres of the nurture of God, and the chooser oute of his workes.
5 If "a mã would desire riches in this life, what is rycher than wisedome that worketh all things? "or, if riches be a possession that a man would desire.
6 For if prudencie worke: what is it among all things that worketh better?
7 And if a man loue ryghtuousnesse, hir labours are but vertues: for why? she teacheth sobernesse and prudence, "ryghteousnesse and strength, whiche are suche B things, "or, iustice, & manhood.

things, as men can haue nothing more profitable in their lyfe.

8 If a man desire muche "knowledge, he can tell the things that are paste, and discerne things for to come: he knoweth the subtilties of wordes, and can expound darke sentences: he foreseeth signes and wonders yer euer they come to passe, and the "endes of all tymes and ages.

9 Therefore I purposed after this maner: I will take hir into my company, that she may lyue with me, knowing for certaynty she shall gyue mee good counsaile, and speake comfortably vnto me in my carefulnesse and griefe.

10 For hir sake shal I be wel (and honestly) taken among the cõmons, & with honour among the elders, though I be yong.

11 I shall be founde to be of sharpe iudgement, so that I shalbe marueylous in the syght of greate men: (a) and the faces of princes shall wonder at me.

a. This parte of the eleuẽth verse is onely in the olde translation.

12 When I hold my tongue, they shal bide my leysure, and when I speake, they shall gyue good eare vnto mee, and if I talke muche, they shall laye their handes vppon their mouth.

13 Moreouer, by the meanes of hir, I shall obteyne immortalitie, and leaue behinde me an euerlasting memorial among them that come after me.

14 I "shall set the people in order, and the nations shalbe subdued vnto me.

℣ 15 Horrible tyrantes shalbe afrayde when they dow but heare of me, among the multitude I shalbe counted good, and mighty in battaile.

16 When I come home, I shall finde reste with hir: for hir company hath no bytternesse, and hir felowshyp hath no tediousnesse, but myrth and ioy.

17 Nowe when I considered these things by my selfe, & pondered them in my heart, howe that to be ioyned vnto wisedome is immortalitie, 18 And greate pleasure to haue hir friendshyp, and that in the workes of hir handes are infinite riches, and that who so "keepeth companie with hir shalbe wise, and that he which talketh with hir, shall come to honour: I went about seeking how to get hir vnto me.

21 Neuertheleſſe when I perceyued that I could not enioy it, except god gaue it (me) and that was a poynt of wisdome also to know whose gift it was, I stepped vnto ỹ Lorde, and besoughte him, and with my whole hart I sayde after this manner.

The. ix. Chapter.

A prayer of Solomon to obteyne wisdome.

4 Giue me wisedome, which is euer sitting about thy seate, and put me not out from among thy children.

5 For I thy seruaunt & sonne of thy handmayden, am a feeble person, and of a short time, "and to yong to the vnderstanding of iudgement and lawes. " or, and vnlesse in.

6 And though a man be neuer so perfect among the children of men, yet if thy wisedome be not with him, he shalbe nothing regarded.

7 Thou hast chosen me to be a king vnto thy people, and the iudge of thy sonnes and daughters. ℣

8 Thou hast commaunded me to buylde a temple vpon thy holie mount, and an aulter in the citie wherein thou dwellest, a likenesse of thy holy tabernacle, whiche thou hast prepared from the beginning.

9 And thy wisdom with thee, which knoweth thy workes, which also was with thee when thou madest the worlde, and knewe what was acceptable in thy sight, & right in thy commaundementes.

10 O sende hir out of thy holye heauens, and from the throne of thy maiestie, that she may be with me, and labour (with me) that I may knowe what is acceptable in thy sight.

11 For she knoweth and vnderstandeth all things, & she shall leade me soberly in my workes, & preserue me "in hir power. " or, by.

16 Very hardly can we discerne the things that are vpon earth, " and greate labour haue we or we can finde the things which are before our eyes: and who hath then sought out the grounde of the things that are done in heauen?

17 (Oh Lorde,) who can haue knowledge of thy " (vnderstanding and) meaning, except thou giue wisdome, and send thy holy ghost from aboue?

18 For so the wayes of them whiche lyued in the earthe were reformed, and men haue learned the things that are pleasant vnto thee, and were preserued thorowe wisedome.

The.x. Chapter.

The delyueraunce of the ryghteous, and destruction of the enimies, commeth through wisedome.

A 1 She preserred the firste fourmed father of the world that was created alone, and brought him out of his fall:

Gen.2.c. 2 And gaue him power to rule all things.

Gen.4.b. 3 But when the vnrighteous went away in his wrath from hir, he perished by ỹ furious desire to murther his brother.

Gen.7.b. 4 For whom when the water destroyed the whole worlde, wisdome agayne preserued it, hir selfe gouerning the iuste man by no costly worke of wood.

Gen.11.a. 5 Moreouer, when the nations were confounded (or ioyned togyther) in their malicious confederacie, she founde oute the ryghteous, and preserued him faultlesse vnto God, and kept him strong agaynste the loue of his sonne.

Gen.19.c. 6 Shee preserued the ryghteous when hee fled from the vngodly that perished, what tyme as the fire fell downe vppon the fyue cities.

B 7 Like as yet this day the (vnfruitful) waste (and) smoking lande giueth testimonie of their wickednesse: yea the " vnripe & vntimely fruites that grow vpon the trees, & for a token of a remembrance of the vnfaithfull soule, there standeth a piller of salt.

8 For all suche as regarded not wisedome, gate not onely this hurte, that they knewe not the things whiche were good: but also left behind them vnto men, a memorial of their folishnes, so that in ỹ things wherin they sinned, they could not be hid.

9 But as for suche as toke heede vnto wisedome, she hath delyuered them from sorowe.

10 When the ryghteous fled because of his brothers wrath, " wisedome ledde him the right waye, shewed him the kingdome of god, gaue him knowledge of holy things, made him riche in his labours, & brought to passe the things that he went about. Gen.28.a. " or, she.

11 In the " deceyptfulnesse of suche as defrauded him, she stode by him, and made him riche. " or, couetousnesse.

12 She saued him from the enimies, and defended him from the " deceyuers: in a strong battaile shee gaue him the victorie, that he might knowe howe that the feare of God is stronger than all things. " or, lyers in wayte.

13 When the righteous was solde, she forsoke him not, but delyuered him from synne: She went downe with him into the " dungeon. Gen.37.k. Actes. 7.b. " or, prison.

14 And sayled him not in the bands, tyl she had brought him ỹ scepter of the Realme, and power agaynste those that oppressed him: as for them that had accused him, she declared them to be lyers, & brought him to perpetuall " worshyp. Gen.41.k. C " or, glory.

15 She deliuered the ryghteous people and faultlesse seede, from the nations that oppressed them. Exod.1.b.

16 She entred into the soule of the seruant of the Lord, and stode by him in wonders & tokens against the dreadfull kings. Exod.3.c.

17 She gaue the " ryghteous the rewarde of their labours, & led them forth a marueylous way: on the day tyme she was a shadowe vnto them, and a light of starres in the nyght season. " or, the saintes.

18 She brought them through the red sea, & carved them through the great water. Exo.14.c.

19 But she drowned their enimies (in the sea) but brought them out of the botome of the deepe.

20 So the righteous toke the spoyles of the vngodly, and praysed thy holie name, O Lord, and magnified thy victorious hand with one accorde. Exo.12.c. Exo.15.a.

21 For wisdome openeth the mouthe of the dumbe, and maketh the tongues of babes to be eloquent. Psal.18.a. Matth.21.c.

The.xi. Chapter.

1. The myracles done for Israel. 13. The vengeance of synners. 28. The greate power and mercie of God.

A 1 She " ordred their works in the hands of the holy prophete: " or, directed, or, prospered.

Exod.16.a. 2 (So that) they went thorowe the wildernesse that was not inhabited, and pitched their tentes in the waste desert.

3 They stode agaynst their enimies, and were auenged of their aduersaries.

Exod.17.c. Num.20.b 4 When they were thirstie, they called vpō thee, and water was giuen them out of ẏ (most) hyghe rocke, and their thyrste was quenched out of the harde stone.

5 For by the things where through their enimies were punished, were the "childzen of Israel helped in their neede.

"or, they, that is, the Israelites.

6 For in steede of a fountayne of the perpetuall running flowde al troubled with gorie blowde,

B 7 In reprochе of the commaundement published to murder the infants, thou gauest vnto them abundance of water, and that not loked for neyther.

8 Declaring by that thirst then, howe thou hadst punished thine aduersaries.

Deut.8.a. 9 For when they were tryed, and nurtured with (fatherly) mercie, they knew how the vngodly were iudged, and punished in the wrath (of God.)

10 For these hast thou exhorted as a father, & prowed them: but vnto the other thou hast bene a boysterous king, "layed harde to their charge, and condemned them.

"or, examined them straitly

11 Whether they were absent or present, their punishment was alike.

12 For their griefe was double, & mourning for the remembrance of things past.

13 For when they perceyued that their punishmentes did them good, they "thought vpon the Lorde.

"or, they feite

C 14 For whome, in his casting out before, as an abiect they had denyed with derision, him in the ende, when they saw what happened, they wondered at: for they were of another thirst than was the iust.

15 But for the folishe deuises of their wickednesse, wherewith being deceyued, they worshipped serpentes that had not the vse of reason, and vile beastes, thou sentest a multitude of vnreasonable beastes vppon them for reuengeance:

16 That they might know, that loke wherewithall a man sinneth, by the same also shall he be punished.

Leui.26.d. Sap.16.a. Ier.8.f. 17 For vnto thy almightie hand that made the world of nought, it was not vnpossible to sende among them an heape of Beares, or wood Lions.

18 Or cruell beastes of a strange kind, such as are vnknowen, or spout fire, or cast out a smoking breath, or shote horrible sparks out of their eyes:

19 Whiche myght not onely destroye them with hurting, but also kill them with their horrible sight.

20 Yea without these (beastes) myght they haue bene slayne with one winde, beeing persecuted by the reuengeance, & scattered abroade through the breathe of thy power: Neuertheless, thou hast ordered all things in measure, number, and wayght. D

21 For thou hast euer had greate strength and myght, and who may withstande the power of thyne arme?

22 For why? like as the small thing that the ballaunce wayeth, so is the worlde before thee: yea as a droppe of the morning dewe that falleth downe vpon the earth.

23 But thou hast mercie vpon all, for thou hast power of all things, and makest thee as though thou sawest not the sins of men, bycause they should amende. Rom.11.

24 For thou louest all the things that are, and hatest none of them whome thou hast made: for thou wouldest not haue made any thing if thou hadst hated it.

25 Yea howe myght any thing endure, if it were not thy wyll? or howe coulde any thing be preserued, except it were called of thee?

26 But thou sparest all: for they are thyne (O Lorde) thou louer of soules.

The.xij.Chapter.

2. The mercie of God toward sinners. 14. The woorkes of God are vnreprouable. 19. God giueth leasure to repent.

1 FOr thy vncorruptible spirite, O Lord, is in all things. I

2 Therfore chastenest thou them measurably that go wrong, and warnest them by putting them in remembrance in what things they haue offended, that leauing their wickednes, they may beleeue on thee, O Lorde.

3 As for those olde inhabitours of thy holy land, thou mightest not away with them. Deut.9.d. 12.d.31.d

4 For they cōmitted abhominable workes (agaynst thee) as witchcraft, sorcerie, and wicked sacrifices.

5 They slue their owne childzen without mercie, they dyd eate vp the bowels of mens flesche, and deuoured the blowde in abhominable banketes, and had their mad fanaticall priestes:

6 And the fathers were the chiefe murderers of the soules destitute of helpe, (these doers) thou wouldest destroy by the hādes of our fathers:

7 That the lande whiche thou louest aboue all other, might be a meete dwelling for the children of God.

8 Neuertheleſſe, thou ſparedſt them alſo as men, and ſendeſt the forerunners of thine hoſte, euen hornets to deſtroy them out by little and little.

9 Not that thou waſt vnable to ſubdue the vngodly vnto the righteous in battayle, or with cruell beaſtes, or with one roughe worde to deſtroy them togither.

10 But thy minde was in puniſhing them by little and little, to giue them place for amendement, knowing well that it was an vnrighteous nation, and wicked of nature, and that their thought might neuer be altered. Exo. 23. d. Deut. 7. d.

11 For it was a curſed ſeede from the beginning: yet haſt thou not pardoned their ſinnes wherin they offended, for that thou feareſt any man.

12 For who will ſtande againſt thy iudgement? or who will blame thee for the nations that periſhe, whom thou haſt made? or who will come before thy face to be reuenged for the vnrighteous men?

1. Pet. 5. a. 13 For there is none other God but thou, that careſt for all things: that thou mayſt declare howe that thy iudgemente is not vnright.

14 There dare neyther king nor tyrante in thy ſight, require accompts of them whom thou haſt deſtroyed.

"or, puniſhed

15 Forſomuche then as thou art righteous thy ſelfe, thou ordereſt all things righteouſly, thinking it vnſeemely for thy power to condemne him that hath not deſerued to be puniſhed. Iob. 9. a.

16 For thy power is the beginning of righteouſneſſe, and becauſe thou art Lorde of all things, it maketh thee to be gratious vnto all.

17 For when men thinke thee not to be of a full ſtrength, thou declareſt thy power, and reprouеſt the boldneſſe of the wiſe.

"or ruling. 18 But thou "maiſtring thy power, doeſt iudge with equitie, and ordereſt vs with great fauour: for thou mayeſt vſe power when thou wilt.

19 By ſuche workes now haſt thou taught thy people, that the iuſt man ſhould be louing, and haſt made thy children to bee of a good hope, becauſe thou giueſt repentance for ſinnes.

20 For in ſomuche as thou haſte puniſhed, and with ſuche deliberation and obteſtation, the enimies of thy ſeruantes, whiche were worthy to dye, wherethrough thou gaueſt them tyme and place of amendemente, that they myght turne from their wickednеſſe:

21 With howe greate circumſpection then puniſheſt thou thyne owne children, vnto whoſe fathers thou haſt ſworne, and made couenantes of good promiſes?

22 So wher as thou doeſt chaſten vs, thou "puniſheſt our enimies a thouſand times more: to the intent that when we puniſhe, we ſhoulde diligently thinke of thy goodneſſe, and when we our ſelues are "puniſhed, we ſhould hope for mercie, D "or ſcourgeth "or, iudged.

23 Wherefore, where as men haue lyued diſſolutely and vnrighteouſly, thou haſte puniſhed them ſore with their owne abominations.

24 For they went aſtray very "long in the wayes of error, & helde the beaſtes (whiche euen their enimies deſpiſed) for gods, deceiued as children of no vnderſtanding. "or, farre. Sap. 11. c. Rom. 1. c.

25 Therefore haſt thou ſent them thy iudgement in ſcorne, as to chyldren voyde of reaſon.

26 As for ſuche as wil not be reformed by thoſe ſcornes (and rebukes,) they ſhall feele the worthie "puniſhment of God. "or, iudgement

27 For loke in what things they "offended when they "ſuffered for their ſakes, whome they counted goddes, ſeeing them ſelues puniſhed in the "ſame, they perceiued that he was in deede the true God, whome before they had denyed to knowe, and therefore came extreme damnation vpon them. "or, murmuring & grudging. "or, were chaſtened. "or, murmuring.

The. xiij. Chapter.

1. All things be vaine, except the knowledge of God. 10. Idolaters & idols are mocked.

1 SVrely vayne are all men by nature, whiche were ignorant of God, and coulde not oute of the good things that are ſeene, knowe him that of him ſelfe is (euerlaſting,) neyther toke ſo muche regarde of the workes that are made, as therby to knowe who was the craftesman of them: I

2 But ſome toke the fire, ſome the winde or ſwift ayre, ſome y courſe of the ſtarres, ſome the running water, (ſome toke ſunne and moone) or the lightes of heauen, for gods that rule the worlde.

3 But though they had ſuche pleaſure in their beautie, that they thought them to haue bene goodes, yet ſhoulde they haue knowen howe muche more "fayrer he is that made them: for the "maker of beautie "or, excellent "or, the firſte author.

hath ordeyned all these things.

4 Or if they marueyled at the power and worke of them, they shoulde haue perceyued thereby, howe muche he whiche made these things is mightier than they.

5 For by the greatnesse of the beautie, and of the creatures, the maker therof compared with them, may plainely be "knowen.

"or, seene.

6 Notwithstanding, they are theleſſe to be blamed that seeke God, and woulde finde him, and yet peraduenture "misse.

"or, erre.

B 7 For they being occupyed in his workes, do seeke him diligently, and are perswaded by the syght, bycause the things are beautifull that are seene.

8 Howe be it, yet neyther are they to be excused.

"or, cõiecture

9 For if their vnderstãding (and knowledge) be so greate, that they can "discerne the worlde (and the creatures) why do they not rather finde out the Lord thereof?

"or, in deade things.

10 But miserable are they, and "among the deade is their hope, that call them goddes, which are but the workes of mens hands, golde, siluer, and the thing that is founde out by "cunning, the similitude of beastes, or any vayne stone that hath bene made by hande of olde.

"or, arte.

11 Or as when a carpenter cutteth downe a tree meete for the purpose, & pareth off all the barke cunningly, and so by art comely maketh a vessel profitable to ỹ vse of lyfe:

12 And with that which is cut off from his worke, doth dresse his meate to fyll his belly:

13 And as for the other parte that is lefte, whiche is profitable for nothing (for it is a crooked peece of wood, and full of knobs) he carueth it diligently by leasure, and according to the knowledge of his cunning, he giueth it some proporcion, fashioneth it after the similitude of a man.

C 14 Or maketh it like some vyle beaste, streaketh it ouer with redde, and paynteth it, and loke what foule spotte is in it, he casteth some colour vpon it.

"or, an houſe worthy of it.

15 Then maketh he a "conuenient tabernacle for it, setteth it in the wall, and maketh it falle with yron.

16 Prouiding so for it, lest it happen to fall, "for it is wel knowen, that it cannot helpe it selfe: for why? it is but an image, and muſt of necessitie be helped.

"or, for he knoweth wel

17 Then making prayer for his goodes, for his mariage, & for children, he is not ashamed to speake to that whiche hath no soule.

18 For health, he maketh his petition vnto him that is "sicke: for life he hũbly praieth "or, sorake.

vnto him that is dead: he "calleth vppon him for help, that hath no experience at al: and to send him a good iourney, he prayeth him that may not go.

"or, maketh supplication vnto him.

19 And for gaine, for worke, & for successe of his affaires, he asketh power of him, which is without all manner of power.

The.xiiij. Chapter.

1. The detestation & abhomination of images. 8. A curse of them, and of him that maketh them. 14. Whereof idolatrie proceeded. 23. What euils come of Idolatrie.

A 1 Agayne, another man purposing to sayle, & "beginning to take his iourney through the raging "sea, calleth for helpe vnto a stocke, that is farre weaker than the vessell that beareth him.

"or, prepare and make ready. "or, asmuch, eyeth for helpe.

2 For as for it, couetousnesse of money hath founde it out, and the craftesman made it with his cunning.

3 But thy prouidence, O father, gouerneth it: for thou hast made a way euen in the sea, and a sure pathe in the middest of the waues,

4 Declaring thereby, that thou hast power to helpe "in all things, yea though a man went to the sea without "shippe.

"or, euery way. "or, art,

5 Neuertheleſſe, thou wouldest not that the workes of thy wisdom should be in vaine: and therefore do men commit their lyues to a small peece of wood, passing ouer the stormie sea in a ship, and are saued.

6 For in the old time also when the proude giantes perished, he in whome "the hope was left to increase the worlde, went into the shippe whiche was gouerned through thy hande, and so lefte seede behinde him vnto the worlde.

Gen. 7. d. "or, the hope of the world

B 7 For "happye is the tree, wherethrough righteousnesse commeth:

"or, blessed.

8 But cursed is "(the idol) that is made with handes, yea both it, and he that made it: He, bicause he made it: and it, bicause it was called God, where as it is but a "fraile thing.

"or, the thing Psal. 115. d. Baruc. 6. b. "or, corruptible. Psal. 7. d.

9 For the vngodly, and his vngodlinesse, are both like abhominable vnto God.

10 (Euen so) the worke, and he that made it also, shalbe punished togither.

11 Therfore shall there a plague come vpon the idols of the heathen: for out of ỹ creature of God, they are become an abhomination, a "teptation vnto ỹ soules of men, and a snare for the feete of the vnwise.

"or, a stone & offence, or stumbling blocke.

12 For why? the "seeking out of idols, is the beginning of whoredome, & the "bringing "or, deuising "or, making vp

vp of them, is the "destruction of lyke.

13 For they were not from the beginning, neyther shall they continue for euer.

14 The vayne glorye of men, hath founde them out vppon earth, therefore shall they come shortly to an ende.

15 For whē a father mourned heuily for his sonne, "sodaynely taken away from him, he made him an image: and him whiche then was but a deade man, he nowe began to worship as a god, and ordeyned for his "seruantes ceremonies and sacrifices.

16 Thus by processe of tyme, this "vngratious custome beeing waxen strong, was kept as a lawe, & images were worshipped by commaundement of tyrants.

17 As for those that were so farre off, that men myght not worshippe them present, their vilage being drawen out from farre off, was made as the "cleare image of an honorable king, that they might with "affection flatter as well the absent as the present.

18 Agayne, the singular ambition of the craftes man, gaue ỹ ignorant also a great occasion to increase the superstition.

19 For he willing to please one, peraduenture that "bare rule, laboured with all his cunning, to make the image of the belle fashion.

20 And so through the beautie of the work, the "common people being therto allured, toke him nowe for a god, whiche a little before was but honoured as a man.

21 And this was to the deceyuing of mans life, when men either with calamitie or tyrannie oppressed, ascribed vnto stones and stockes that name (of God) whiche ought not to be giuen vnto any thing (else.)

D 22 Moreouer, this was not ynough for thē, that they erred in the knowledge of God: but whereas they liued in the great warre of ignorance, those so (many and) greate "plagues called they peace.

23 For eyther they slue their owne children, and offered them in sacrifice, or vsed secret ceremonies, or followed madde drunken dissolutenesse of rites in sacrifice:

24 So that they kept neyther life nor mariage cleane: but eyther one slew another traiterously, or greeued him by adultery.

25 So that there raygned in all men without exception, blod, manslaughter, theft, "dissimulation, corruption, vnfaithfulnes, sedition, periurie,

26 Misusing of good men, vnthākfulnes, defiling of soules, chāging of birth, disordering of mariages, adulterie, & vncleanesse, 27 For why? the honouring of "abominable images, is the beginning, the cause, and ende of all euill.

28 For (they that worship idols,) either they are madde when they be merry, or prophesie lyes, or liue "vngodly, or els lightly forsweare themselues.

29 For insomuche as their trusse is in the idols whiche haue no "soule, though they sweare falsely, yet they thinke it shall not hurt them.

30 Therfore commeth a great plague vpon them, and that worthily, for both causes: for they haue an euill opinion of God, that giue hede vnto idols, and they sweare vniustly in deceite, despising holinesse.

31 For it is not the power of thē, by whome they sweare: but it is the iuste "vengeance of sinners, that punisheth alwayes the offence of the vngodly doers.

The.xv. Chapter.

The voyce of the faithfull, praysing the mercy of God, by whose grace they serue not idols.

1 BVt thou, O our God, art gracious, A true, and long suffering, and in mercie orderest thou all things.

2 Though we sinne, yet are we thine, for we knowe thy strength: but we will not sinne, bicause we knowe we are counted thyne.

3 For to knowe thee, is perfect righteousnesse: yea, to knowe thy power, is the rote of immortalitie.

4 As "for the thing that men haue founde out through their euill science, it hath not deceyued vs, nor the paynters vnprofitable labour, (to wit) an image "spotted with diuers coloures.

5 Whose sight entiseth the ignorant to lust after it, and hee desireth the "picture of a dead image that hath no breath.

6 Both they that make them, they that desire them, and they that worshippe them, loue euills, and are worthy to haue suche things to trust vpon.

7 For the potter tempereth softe earth, laboureth it, and gyueth it the fashion of whatsoeuer vessell serueth for our vse: and of the selfe same claye he maketh bothe the vessels that serue for cleane vses, and also suche as serue to the contrary: Wherevnto euery vessel serueth, the potter him selfe being the iudge.

10 But not the very teeth of venemous dragons did ouercom thy childrē: for thy mercie was euer by them, and healed them.

11 For they were pricked, becauſe they ſhoulde remember thy wordes, but ſpeedely were they healed againe, leaſte they ſhoulde fall into ſo deepe forgetfulneſſe, that they myght not be called backe by thy benefite.

12 For it was neyther herbe nor playſter that reſtored them to healthe: but thy worde, O Lorde, whiche healeth all things.

13 It is thou, O Lorde, that haſt the power of lyfe and death, thou leadeſt "vnto deathes dore, and bringeſt vp agayne.

Exod.9.d

16 For the vngodly that would not knowe thee, thee, were punished by the strength of thine arme: with strange raynes, hayles, and showres, were they persecuted, that they coulde not auoyde, and through fire were they consumed.

17 For it was a wonderous thing that fire might dw more than water, whiche quencheth all things: but the worlde is the auenger of the ryghteous.

18 For sometimes was the fire so tame, that the beastes which were sent to punishe the vngodly, brent not, and that bicause they shoulde see, and know that they were persecuted with the punishment of God.

19 And sometime brent the fire in the middest of the water, that it might destroy the fruites of the vniust lande.

Exod. 16. c. 20 In stede wherof, thou hast fed thine own people with angels fode, & sent thē breade ready from heauen, without their labour, "being very pleasant, and of gwd taste.

"or, bring of all pleasures, & agreeing to euery taste.

21 For this thy substance vnto thy children, declared thy sweetenesse, and seruing to his appetite that toke it, tempered it selfe according to his desire.

D

22 But the snowe and yse abode the violence of the fire, and melted not, that they might knowe that the fire burning in the hayle, and sparkling in the rayne, destroyed the fruite of the enimies.

Exod. 9. d.

Exo. 10. d.

23 The fire also forgate his owne strength agayne, that the righteous might be nourished.

24 For the creature that seruyth thee, which art the maker, is fierce in punishing the vnrighteous, but is easie (and gentle) to dw gwd vnto suche as put their truste in thee.

25 Therefore did it alter at the same tyme into all fashions, and was obedient vnto thy grace, which is the nurse of all things, according to the desire of them that hadde neede thereof.

Deut. 8. a. Mat. 4. a. 26 That thy children, O Lord, whom thou louest, might know that it is not ý "growing of fruites that feedeth men, but that it is thy worde whiche preserueth them that put their truste in thee.

The. xvij. Chapter.

The iudgementes of God agaynste the wicked.

A Rom. 11. b.

1 FOr greate are thy iudgementes, (O Lorde,) and cannot be expressed: therfore men dw erre that will not bee reformed (by thy wisedome.)

2 For when the vnrighteous thought to haue thy holye people in subiection, they were bounde with the bandes of darknesse & long nyght, shut vp vnder rofes, and lay there to escape the eternall prouidence.

3 And whyle they thought to be hyd in the darknesse of their sinnes, they were "scattered abroade in the very middest of the darke couering of forgetfulnes, put to horrible feare, and wonderously vexed.

"or, astonyed with sightes of strāge apparitions.

4 For the corner where they lay hid, might not keepe thē from feare, bicause ý sounde came round about them, and vexed them, yea, many terrible and "straunge visions appeared vnto them.

"or, phātasies with wofull countenāces.

5 No power of the fire myght giue them light, neither might the cleare flames of the starres lighten the horrible nyght.

6 But there appeared vnto them a suddaine fire only, very dreadfull: at ý whiche sight, wherein they saw nothing throughly, they were so afrayde, that they thought the thing which they sawe, to be the more "fearefull.

"or, the worse. B

7 As for the illusions of the magicall arte, they came to nought: and it was a moste shamefull reproche of the pryde that they had of their owne wisdome.

8 For they that promised to driue awaye the feares & troubles from the sicke soule, were sicke themselues with feare, worthy to be laughed at.

9 For though no terrible thing dyd feare them, yet were they afrayde at the beastes whiche passed by them, and at the hissing of the serpentes.

10 Insomuche, that with trembling they "sowned, and" sayde they sawe not the ayre, which no man yet may escape.

"or, dyed. "or, and denyed euen to see the ayre.

11 For malice is a dreadfull thing, that is condempned by his owne witnesse: and being pressed with conscience, it euer "suspecteth cruell things.

"or, forecasteth.

12 For feare is nothing els but a "betraying of the succours which reason offereth.

"or, a forsaking & reuolting of the helpes which reason suggesteth.

13 And loke howe much the lesse his hope is within, the greater doth he recount his ignorance of that cause that bringeth the torment.

14 But they (that did endure) the nyght that in deede was intollerable, and that came from the dungeons of intollerable hell, sleeping the same sleepe, 15 Were sometymes chased with monsterous apparations, & sometimes they sowned, as their owne soules had betrayed them: for an hastie feare, and that was not loked for, came vpon them.

16 And thus, whosoeuer was there fallen, he was in prison, but without chaynes:

17 For whether a man had occupyed husbandrie, or had bene an heardman, or labourer in the "wooddes, if he were taken, he suffered "intollerable necessitie.

" or, alone, or in the deserts.
" or, that could not be escaped

18 For they were all bound with one chaine of darkenesse: whether it were a blasing winde, or a sweete song of the birds amõg the thicke branches of the trees, or the vehemencie of hastie running water.

19 Or great noyse of the falling downe of stones, or the running of playing beastes, which they sawe not, or the mightie noyse of roring wilde beasts, or "the sounde that answered againe in ẏ holownes of mountaynes: these terrible things made them sowne (for very feare.)

" or, ecco.

" or, woride.

20 For al ẏ "earth shined with cleare light, and no man was hindered in his labour.

21 Only vpõ them there fel a heauy night, an image of darknesse that was to come vpon them: yea, they were vnto theselues more heauy than darknesse.

The. xviij. Chapter.

3. The firie pyller that the Israelites had in Egypt. 8. The deliuerance of the faythfull. 10. The Lorde smote the Egyptians. 20. The sinne of the people in the wildernesse. 21. Aaron stoode betwene the liuing and the deade with his censure.

1 Neuertheless, thy saintes had a very greate lyght, whose voyce they hearing, and not seeing their figure, for that they suffered not the same things, they thought them blessed.

2 And for that they did not hurt them now, of whome they had bene wronged before, they thanked them, and besought thẽ pardon of that they had bene enimies.

3 Therefore thou gauest them a burning piller of fyre, to leade thẽ in the vnknowen waye, and the sunne not to hurte them in their honorable iourney.

4 But reason it was that they should leese the light, and be put in the prison of darknesse, which had kept thy children "shut vp, by whome the vncorrupt light of the lawe was to be giuen vnto the worlde.

" or, in bõdage

5 After, when they thought to slaye the babes of the saintes, one childe beyng cast out, and preserued to reprowue them, thou tookest away the whole multitude of their children, and destroyedst them altogither in a mightie water. Exod. 1. & 2. 8.

6 Of that night were our fathers certified afore, that they knowing vnto what othes they had giuen credence, myght be of good cheare. Exod. 14. and. 24.

7 Thus thy people receyued ẏ health of the righteous, but ẏ vngodly were destroyed. B

8 For like as thou hast "reuenged our enimies, so hast thou promoted vs whom thou hast called.

" or, punish.

9 For the ryghteous chyldren of the good men offered secretly, & made a godly lawe with one consent, that the saintes shoulde in like manner receyue togyther both good and euill, and that the fathers now should firste sing prayses.

10 But ther was heard a disagreeing voice of the enimyes, and there was a miserable lamentation for children that were bewayled.

11 The maister and the seruaunt were punished after one manner: and like as the king, so suffered the common people.

12 So they hadde innumerable that dyed with one kind of death altogither: neyther were the lyuing sufficient to burye "the deade, for in the twinckling of an eye, the noblest ofspring of them was destroyed. Exod. 12.

" or, them.

13 For whereas they woulde discredite all things, by reason of the inchauntmentes, in the destruction of the firste borne, they acknowledged that this people was the children of God.

14 For while al things were still in silence, and when the nyght was in the myddest of hir course, thy almightie worde, O Lorde, lept downe from heauen out of thy royall throne., C

15 As a "rough man of warre in the middest of the lande that was destroyed, " or, fierce.

16 And broughte thyne vnfayned commandement as a sharp sworde, and standing vp, fylled all things with death, yea, it stode vpon the earth, and reached vnto the heauen.

17 Then the syghtes of the euyll dreames vexed them sodainely, and fearefulnesse came vpon them vnwares.

18 Then lay there one heere, another there, halfe deade (halfe quicke,) and shewed the cause of his death.

19 For the visions that vexed them, shewed them these things afore, that they might not be ignorant wherefore they perished.

20 Yea the temptation of death touched the righteous also, and "among the multitude in the wildernesse there was "insurrection: but thy wrath endured not long.

21 For the blamelesse man went in all the hast, and toke the battel vpon him, brought forth the weapon of his ministration, euē prayer, & the reconciliation of incense, set him selfe against the wrath, and so brought the miserie to an ende, declaring (thereby) that he was thy seruant.

22 For hee ouercame not the "multitude with bodyly power, or force of weapons: but with the worde hee subdued him that "vexed, alledging the othe and couenant made vnto the fathers.

23 For when the deade were fallen downe by heapes one vpon another, hee stode in the middest, "pacified the wrath, and "parted the way, that it might not come to the lyuing.

24 And why? in his long garment was all the beautie, and in the foure rowes of the stones, was the glorie of the fathers grauen, and thy maiestie was written in the "crowne of his head.

The. xix. Chapter.

1. The death of the Egiptians, and the great ioy of the Hebrues. 11. The meate that was giuen at the desire of the people. 17. All the elements serue to the will of God.

1 AS for the vngodly, the wrath came vpon them without mercy vnto the end: for he knewe before what shoulde happen vnto them:

2 Howe that when they had consented to let them goe, and had sent them out with great diligence, they woulde repent, and "folowe vpon them.

3 For whiles they were yet mourning, and making lamentation by the graues of the deade, they deuised another folishnesse, so that they persecuted them in their in fleeing, whom they had (a) cast out afore with prayer.

4 For the "necessitie which they had deserued, brought them vnto this end, and made them forget the things that had alreadie happned, that they might by tormentes fulfill their punishment which remayned:

"or, pursue them.
Exo. 14. a.
a. That is the children of Israell, whome they before had desired & prayed for to go their way.
"or, destinie.

5 And that thy people might fry a maruellous passage: and these myght finde a straunge death.

6 For euery creature in his kynde, was fashioned againe of newe, seruing the peculiar offices, as was commaunded them, that thy children might be kept wout hurt:

7 For the cloud ouershadowed their tents, B and the drye earth appeared, where afore was water: so that in the redde sea there was a way without impediment, and the great deepe became a greene fielde:

8 Wherethrough all the people went that were defended with thy hande, seeing thy maruellous straunge wonders.

9 For as the horses, right so they neyed, and leaped like lambs, praysing thee, (O Lord) which hadst deliuered them.

10 And why? they were yet mindefull of the thinges that were done whyle they dwelt in the strange land, how the ground brought forth flyes in steade of cattell, and how the ryuer scrawled with ỹ multitude of frogges in steade of fyshes.

11 But at the last they sawe a newe generation of byrdes, what time as they were stirred with lust, & desired delicate meates. Exo. 16. c. Num. 11. g.

12 For why? the quayles came vp to them from the sea, for their comfort: but punishmentes came vpō the sinners, not without the signes whiche came before to passe by vehemencie of the thicke lightnings: for they suffered worthyly, according to their wickednesse, bicause they dealt so churlishly, and with an hate of strangers.

13 For some woulde not receiue "men that came vnto them, and were vnknown: and some brought the strangers into bondage that did them good. "or, ghestes vnknowne.

14 Nor onely so, but if they had beene any where regarded, they coulde not suffer it: for they intreated strangers very dispytefully. C

15 Others that hadde receiued them with great solemnitie, when they were admitted vnto their "societie, they afflicted them with greeuous labours. "or, right.

16 Therfore were they stricken with blindnesse, like as when they that were couered with sodayne darknesse at the dores of the righteous, sought euery one of them the entrance of his dores. Gen. 19. c.

17 Thus the elementes being chaunged, agreed among them selues, like as when tunes are chaunged vppon an instrument of muslike, and yet keepe still a melodie: which may easily be perceyued by the sight of the things that are come to passe.

18 For the earthy things were turned vnto watrie: and the thing that before swam in the water, now went vpon the ground.

19 The fire had power in the water, forgetting his owne vertue: and the water forgat his owne kinde to quench (the fire.)

D 20 Againe, the flames hurted not the flesh of the corruptible liuing things, though they walked therein, neyther melted they that ysse kynde of immortall meate, that was of nature apt to melt.

21 For in all things haste thou promoted thy people (O Lorde) and brought them to honoure, thou haste not despysed them, but alway and in all places, haste thou "or, assisted them. stande by them.

The ende of the booke of VVisdome.

Many and great men haue declared wisedome vnto vs out of the lawe, and of the prophets, and out of other that folowed them: in the which things Israell ought to be commended, by the reason of doctrine and wisedome: Therefore they that haue it, and reade it, should not only them selues be wise therethrough, but serue other also with teaching and writing. After that my Grandfather Iesus had giuen diligent labour to reade the lawe, the prophetes, and other bookes that were left vs of our fathers, and had well exercised him selfe therein: he purposed also to write something of wisedome and good manners, to the intent that they which were willing to learne, and to be wise, might haue the more vnderstanding, and be the more apt to leade a good conuersation. Wherefore I exhort you to receiue it louingly, to reade it with diligence, and to take it in good worth, though our wordes be not so eloquent as the famous Orators. For the thing that is written in the Hebrue tong, soundeth not so well when it is translated into another speache: not only this booke of myne, but also the lawe, the prophetes, and other bookes sounde farre otherwise, than they do when they are spoken in their owne language.

Nowe in the eight and thirtieth yeere, when I came into Egypt, in the time of Ptolomie Euergetes, and continued there a long season, I founde bookes there left, full of great and profounde learning: wherefore I thought it good and necessarie to bestowe my diligence and trauell to interpret this booke: and considering that I had time, I labored and did my best to perfourme this booke, and to bring it vnto light, that the strangers also which are disposed to learne, myght apply them selues vnto good manners, and liue according to the lawe of the Lorde.

¶ The first Chapter.

1. VVisedome commeth of God. 11. A prayse of the feare of God. 29. The meanes to come by wisedome.

1

All wisedome (cõmeth) of God the Lorde, and hath beene euer with him, and is "before all time.

3. Reg. 3. b. Iob. 18. c. Iacob. 1. a. "or, and is with him for euer.

2 Who hath numbred the sande of the sea, the droppes of the rayne, and the dayes of "or, the world time? Who hath measured the heigth of heauen, the breedth of the earth, and the deepenesse of the sea?

3 Who hathe sought out the grounde of Gods wisedome, which hath beene before all things?

4 Wisedome hath beene created before all things, and the vnderstanding of prudence from euerlasting.

Rom. 11. c.

5 (Gods worde in the heigth, is the well of wisedome, and the euerlasting commaundements, are the entrance of hir.

6 Vnto whome hath the rote of wisedome beene declared? or who hath knowne hir witte? Rom. 11. d.

7 Vnto whome hath the doctrine of wisedome beene discouered and shewed? and who hath vnderstande the manyfolde entrance of hir? B

8 There is one, euen the highest, the maker of all things, the almightie, the king of power, of whome men ought to stande greatly in awe, which sitteth vppon his throne, being a God of dominion.

9 He

9 Hee hath created hir through the holy Ghost, he hath seene hir, numbred hir, and measured hir.

10 Hee hath powred hir out vpon all his workes, and vpon all flesche, according to his gifte, he gyueth hir richely vnto them that loue him.

11 The feare of the Lorde is worship and triumph, gladnesse, and a ioyefull crowne.

12 The feare of the Lorde maketh a merry heart, giueth gladnesse, ioy, and long life.

13 Who so feareth the Lorde, it shall goe well with him at the last, and in the day of his death, he shall be blessed.

C 14 The loue of God is honourable wysedome: vnto whom it appeareth they loue it, for they see what wonderous thinges it doth, Psal.111.b. Pro.9.c. 15 The feare of the Lorde is the beginning of wisedome, and was made with the faythfull in the mothers wombe, it shall goe with the chosen women, and shall be knowne of the righteous and faythfull.

16 The feare of the Lord, is the right Gods seruice, 17 That preserueth and iustifieth the heart, and giueth myrth and gladnesse.

18 Who so feareth the Lorde, shall be happie, and when he hath neede of comfort, he shall be blessed.

19 She hath built hir euerlasting foundations with men, and is giuen to be with their seede.

20 To feare God, is the wysedome that maketh rich, & bringeth all good with hir.

D 21 She filleth the whole house wyth hir gifts, and the garners with hir treasure.

22 The feare of the Lorde, is the crowne of wisedome, and giueth plentious peace, and health: hee hath seene hir, and numbred hir: both these are the giftes of God.

23 Knowledge and vnderstanding of wisdome hath he powred out as rayne, and them that holde hir fast, hath he brought vnto honour.

24 The feare of the Lorde, is the rote of wisdome, and hir branches are long life.

25 In the treasures of wisedome is vnderstanding and deuotion of knowledge, but wisedome is abhorred of sinners.

26 The feare of the Lord driueth out sinne, and when she is present, she driueth away anger.

E 27 For he that is without feare, can not be made righteous, and his wilfull boldnesse is his owne destruction.

28 A patient man will suffer vnto the time, and then shall he haue the reward of ioy.

29 A good vnderstanding will hyde his worde for a time, and many mens lippes shall speake of his wisdome.

30 In the treasures of wisedome is the declaration of doctrine: but the sinner abhorreth the worship of God.

31 My sonne, if thou desire wisedome, keepe the commaundement, and God shall giue hir vnto thee:

32 For the feare of the Lorde, is wysedome and nurture: he hath pleasure in faith and louing meekenesse, and he shal fill the treasures therof.

33 Be not obstinate and vnfaythfull to the feare of the Lorde, and come not vnto him with a double heart.

34 Be not an hypocrit in the sight of men, and take good heede what thou speakest.

35 Exalte not thy selfe, lest thou happen to fall, and bring thy soule to dishonour, and so discouer thy secretes, and cast thee downe in the myddest of the congregation: bycause thou wouldest not receiue the feare of God, and bycause thy heart is full of vayneglorie and deceyt.

The. ij. Chapter.

2 Settle thyne heart, and be patient, bowe downe thyne eare, receyue the wordes of vnderstanding, and shrinke not away whē thou arte assaulted.

3 Holde thee fast vpon God, ioyne thy selfe vnto him, and suffer that thy life may encrease at the last.

4 What soeuer happeneth vnto thee, receiue it: suffer in heauinesse, and be patient in thy trouble.

5 For like as golde and siluer are tryed in the fire, euen so are acceptable men in the furnace of aduersitie. Sapi.3.a. Pro.17.a.

6 Beleeue in God, and he shall helpe thee: order thy waye aright, and put thy truste in him: holde fast his feare, and growe therein.

7 O ye that feare the Lord, take sure holde of his mercy, shrinke not away from him, that ye fall not. B

8 O ye that feare the Lorde, beleeue hym, and your reward shall not be emptie,

a. That is, loke for good things, & truste to haue the reward of euerlasting life, promised to the that with patience continue in his feare.

9 O ye that feare the Lorde, (a) truste in good things, and mercy shall come vnto you for pleasure.

10 O ye that feare the Lorde, set your loue vpon him, & your hearts shal be lightened.

11 Consider the olde generations of men, (O ye children) and marke them well: was there euer any one confounded that put his trust in the Lord? Who euer continued in his feare, and was forsaken? Or whome did he euer despise, that called faythfully vpon him?

Psal.31.a. Esai.26.b.

12 For God is gratious and mercyfull, he forgiueth sinnes in the time of trouble, and is a defender for all them that seeke him in the trueth.

b or double.

13 Wo be vnto them that haue a (b) fearefull heart, wicked lippes, and euill occupyed handes, and to the sinner that goeth two maner of wayes.

14 Wo be vnto them that are faint harted, which put not their trust in God, and therfore shall they not be defended of him.

15 Wo be vnto you that haue lost patience, forsaken the right wayes, and are turned back into froward ways: what will ye do when the Lorde shall begin to visite you?

John.14.c.

16 They that feare the Lord, will not disobey his worde, and they that loue him, will keepe his commaundements.

Rom.13.c.

17 They that feare the Lord, will seeke out the things that are pleasant vnto him: and they that loue him, be fulfilled with his lawe.

18 They that feare the Lorde, will prepare their heartes, and humble their soules in his sight.

19 They that feare the Lorde, keepe his commaundements, and will be patient till they see him selfe,

The.iij. Chapter.

2. To our father and mother ought we to giue double honour. 10. Of the blessing and curse of the father and mother. 22. No man ought ouercurioully to searche out the secretes of God.

A 1 The children of wisdome are a congregation of the righteous, and their offspring is obedience and loue.

2 Heare your fathers iudgement (O my deare children) and doe thereafter, that ye may be safe.

3 For the Lord will haue the father honoured of the children: and loke what a mother commaundeth hir children to doe, he will haue it kept.

Exo.20.a. Deut.5.d.

4 Who so honoureth his father, his sinnes shall be forgiuen him: and he shal abstaine from the, and shall haue his dayly desires.

5 And he that honoureth his mother, is like one that gathereth treasure together.

Ephe.6.a.

6 Who so honoureth his father shall haue ioy of his own children, and when he maketh his prayer, he shall be heard.

7 He that honoureth his father shall haue a long life: and he that is obedient vnto the Lord, shall comfort his mother.

B

8 He that feareth the Lorde, honoureth his father and mother, and doeth them seruice as it were vnto Lordes.

9 Honour thy father and mother, in deede, in worde, and in all patience, that thou mayest haue Gods blessing: and his blessing shall abyde with thee at the last.

Exo.20.c. Deut.5.

10 The blessing of the father stablisheth the houses of the children: but the mothers curse rooteth out the foundations.

Gen.27. Deut.27.

11 Reioyce not whē thy father is reproued: for it is not honour vnto thee, but a shame.

12 For the worshipp of a mans father, is his owne worshipp: and the reproch of the mother, is the dishonestie of the sonne.

13 My sonne, make much of thy father in his age, & greue him not as long as he liueth.

14 And if his vnderstanding fayle, haue patience with him, and despise not him in thy strength.

C

15 For the good deed that thou shewest vnto thy father, shall not be forgotten: and when thou thy selfe wantest, it shall be rewarded thee: and for thy mothers offence, thou shalt be recompenced with good, yea, it shalbe founded for thee in righteousnes.

Dal.

16 And in the day of trouble, thou shalt be remembred: thy sinnes also shall melt awaye, like as the yse in the fayre warme weather.

17 He that forsaketh his father, shall come to shame, and he that defieth his mother, is cursed of God.

18 My sonne, perfourme thy workes with louing meekenesse, so shalt thou be loued aboue other men.

19 The greater thou arte, the more humble thy selfe in all things, and thou shalt finde fauour in the sight of God.

The.iiij. Chapter.

1. Almes muſt be done with gentleneſſe. 12. The ſtudie of wiſdome, and hir fruite. 20. An exhortation to eſchue euill, and to do good.

A 1 MY ſonne, defraude not the poore of Deut.15.b. his almes, and turne not away thine eyes from him that hath neede.
2 Deſpiſe not an hungrie ſoule, and defie not the poore in his neceſſitie.
3 Greeue not the hart of him that is helpeleſſe, and withdrawe not the gift from the needefull.
4 Refuſe not the prayer of one that is in trouble, turne not away thy face from the needie.
5 Caſte not thine eyes aſide from the poore for any euill will, that thou giue him not occaſion to ſpeake euyll of thee.
6 For if he complayne of thee in the bitter-neſſe of his ſoule, his prayer ſhall be heard:
euen he that made him, ſhall heare him.
7 Be curteous vnto the company of the B poore, humble thy ſoule vnto thy elder, and bowe downe thy heade to a man of worſhip.
8 Let it not greeue thee to bowe downe thyne eare vnto the poore, (a) but paye thy debt, and giue him a friendly anſwere, and that with meekeneſſe.
9 Deliuer him that ſuffereth wrong, from the hande of the oppreſſour: & be not faynt harted when thou ſitteſt in iudgement.

trueth: (b) for there is a shame that bringeth sinne, and there is a shame that bringeth worshipp and fauour.

22 Accept no person after thine owne will, that thou be not confounded to thine own decaye: be not ashamed of thy neighbour in his aduersitie.

23 And keepe not backe thy counsell when it may do good, neyther hyde thy wisdome in hir beautie.

24 For in the tong is wisdome knowne, so is vnderstanding, knowledge, and learning in the talking of the wise, and stedfastnesse in the workes of righteousnesse.

25 In no wise speake against the worde of truth: but be ashamed of the lyes of thine owne ignorance.

26 Shame not to confesse thine errour, and resist not the course of the ryuer.

E 27 And submit not thy selfe vnto a foolishe man, neyther accepte the person of the myghtie.

28 And striue thou not against the streame: but for righteousnesse take paynes with all thy soule, and for the trueth, striue thou vnto death, and God shall fight for thee against thine enimies.

29 Be not hastie in thy tong, neither slacke and negligent in thy workes.

30 Be not as a Lion in thine owne house, destroying thy houshold folkes, and oppressing them that are vnder thee.

4 And saye not, I haue sinned, and what euill hath happened me? For the almightie is a patient rewarder.

Rom.7.a. 5 Because thy sinne is forgiuen thee, be not therefore without feare, neyther heape one sinne vpon another.

Eccle.21.a. 6 And say not, Tush, the mercy of the lord is great, he shall forgiue me my sinnes be they neuer so many: for like as he is mercifull, so goeth wrath from him also, & his indignation cõmeth downe vpon sinners. Eccle.16.d.

The.vi.Chapter.

1. It is the propertie of a sinner, to be euill tonged. 4. Of friendship. 23. Desire to be taught.

1 BE not of a friende an enimie, (a) for such a man getteth an euill name, shame, and rebuke: and who so euer beareth enuie, and a double tong, offendeth.

2 Be not proude in the deuise of thine own vnderstanding, least thy soule rent thee as a (b) bull.

3 And least thy leaues wyther, and thy fruit be destroyed, and so thou be left as a dyre tree in the wildernesse,

4 For a wicked soule destroyeth him that hath it, maketh him to be laughed to skorne of his enimies, & bringeth him to the portion of the vngodly.

5 A sweete worde multiplyeth friends, and pacifieth

Eccle.20.b. pacifieth them that be at variance: and a thankfull tong will be plenteous in a good man.

6 Holde friendshyp with many, neuerthelesse, haue but one counseller of a thousand.

B 7 If thou gettest a friend, proue hym first, and be not hastie to giue him credence.

Deut.13.b. Mich.7.a. 8 For some man is a friende but for his owne turne, and will not abyde in the day of trouble.

Mat.10.c. 9 And there is some friende that turneth to enmitie, and taketh part against thee: and if he knowe any hurte by thee, he telleth it out.

Eccle.37.a. 10 Againe, some friende is but a companion at the table, and in the day of neede he continueth not.

11 But in thy prosperitie, he will be as thou thy selfe, and deale playnely with thy houshold folke.

12 If thou be brought lowe, he will be against thee, & will be hidden from thy face.

13 Depart from thyne enimies, yea, and beware of thy friendes.

C 14 A faithfull friend is a strong defence, who so findeth such one, findeth a treasure.

15 A faithfull friende hathe no peere, the waight of golde and siluer, is not to be compared to the goodnesse of his fayth.

16 A faythfull friende is a medicine of lyfe and immortalitie, and they that feare the Lorde, shall finde him.

17 Who so feareth the Lorde, shall prosper with friendes: and as he is him selfe, so shall his feiende be also.

18 My sonne, receyue doctrine from thy youth vp, so shalt thou finde wisdome tyll thou be olde.

19 Goe to hir as one that ploweth and soweth, and wayte patiently for hir good fruites: for thou shalt haue but little labour in hir worke, but thou shalte eate of hir fruites right sone.

20 O howe exceeding sharpe is wisedome to vnlearned men? an vnstedfast bodye will not remayne in hir.

D 21 Vnto such she is as it were a touchstone, and he casteth hir from him in all the hast.

22 For wisedome is with him but in name, there be but fewe that haue knowledge of hir.

24 Giue eare my sõne, receiue my doctrine, and refuse not my counsell.

Mat.11.d. 25 Put thy foote into hir linckes, and take hir yoke vpon thy necke.

26 Bowe downe thy shoulder vnder hir, beare hir patiently, and be not weerie of hir bandes.

27 Come vnto hir with thy whole heart, and keepe hir wayes with all thy power.

28 Seeke after hir, and she shall be shewed thee, & when thou hast hir, forsake hir not.

29 For at the last, thou shalt find rest in hir, and that shall be turned to thy great ioy.

30 Thẽ shall hir fetters be a strong defence for thee, and hir yoke a glorious rayment.

31 For there is a golden ornament in hir, and hir bandes are laces of purple colour.

32 Thou shalte put hir on as a robe of honour, and shalte put hir about thee as a crowne of ioy.

53 My sonne, if thou wilt take heede, thou shalt haue vnderstanding, and if thou wilt apply thy mynde, thou shalt be wise.

34 If thou wilt bowe downe thyne eare, thou shalt receyue doctrine: and if thou delite in hearing, thou shalt be wise.

35 Stande with the multitude of such elders as haue vnderstanding, and consent vnto their wisedome with thine heart.

36 That thou mayest heare all godly sermons, and that the worthy sentences escape thee not. Eccle.8.a.

37 And if thou seest a man of discrete vnderstanding, get thee sone vnto him, and let thy foote treade vpon the steppes of his dores.

38 Let thy mynde be vpon the commaundementes of God, and be earnestly occupied in his lawes: so shall he stablishe thy heart, and giue thee wisedome at thyne owne desire. Psal.1.a.

The.vij. Chapter.

2. VVe muste forsake euill, and yet not iustifie our selues. 13. The behauiour of the wise toward his wife, his friende, his children, his seruantes, his father and mother.

1 DO no euill, so shall there no harme I happen vnto thee.

2 Depart away from the thing that is wicked, and no misfortune shall meddle with thee.

3 My sonne, sowe no euill things in the forowes of vnrighteousnesse, so shalte thou not reape them seuen folde.

4 Laboure not to the Lorde for preheminence, neyther vnto the king for the seate of honour.

13 Vse not to make any manner of lye: for the custome thereof is not good.

C 14 Make not many wordes when thou art

Mat.6.a. among the elders: and when thou prayest make not much babling.

Rom.22.b. 15 Let no labourous workes be tedious vnto thee, neither the husbandry which the almightie hath created.

16 Make not thy boast in the multitude of thy wickednesse: but humble thy selfe euen from thy heart, 17 And remember that the wrath shal not be long in tarying, and that the vengeãce of the flesshe of the vngodly is a verie fyre and worme.

18 Giue not ouer thy friende for any good, nor thy faithfull brother for the best golde.

19 Departe not from a discrete and good woman that is fallen vnto thee for thy portion in the feare of the Lorde: for the gyft of hir honestie is aboue golde.

Luke.19.c. 20 Where as thy seruant worketh truely, intreat him not euill, nor the hyreling that is faythfull vnto thee.

D 21 Loue a discrete seruant as thyne owne soule, defraude him not of his libertie, neither leaue him a poore man.

Deut.25.b. 22 If thou haue cattell, loke well to them: and if they be for thy profite, keepe them.

Eccle.30.a. 24 If thou haue daughters, keepe their bodye, and shewe not thy face cheerefull towarde them.

25 Marry thy daughter, and so shalt thou perfourme a waighty matter: but gyue hir to a man of vnderstanding.

26 If thou haue a wyfe after thyne owne mynde, forsake hir not: but commit not thy selfe to the hatefull.

27 Honor thy father from thy whole hart: Eccle.3.a. and forget not the sorrowfull trauell that Tobi.4. thy mother had with thee.

28 Remember that thou waste borne thorowe them, and howe canst thou recompence them the thinges that they haue done for thee? E

29 Feare the Lorde with all thy soule, and honour his ministers.

30 Loue thy maker with all thy strength, Deut.12. and forsake not his seruants.

31 Feare the Lorde with all thy soule, and honour his priestes: gyue them their portion of the first fruites, and increase of the earth, lyke as it is commaunded thee: and reconcile thy selfe of thy negligence wyth thy little flocke, giue them the shoulders, and their appoynted offerings, and fyrstlings.

32 Reach thyne hande vnto the poore, that God may blesse thee with plenteousnesse.

33 Be liberall vnto all men lyuing: yet let not, but doe good euen to them that are (a) deade.

34 Let not them that weepe be without comfort, but mourne with such as mourne.

35 Let it not greeue thee to visite the sicke, for that shall make thee to be beloued.

The.ix. Chapter.

1. Of iealousie. 12. An old friende is to be preferred before a newe. 18. Righteous men should be bydden to thy table.

A 1 BE not iealous ouer the wife of thy bosome, ỹ she shew not some shrewde point, (a) leaste thou teach hir an euill lesson against thy selfe.

a. Let hir not haue rule ouer thee, for then will she be contrarie vnto thee, take away thy hart and strength, & bring thee to confusiõ among thine enimies, as did Eue to Adam, Dalila to Sampson, & strange woms to Solomon.

2 Gyue not the power of thy lyfe vnto a woman, leaste she come in thy strength, and so thou be confounded.

3 Looke not vppon a woman that is desyrous of many men, leaste thou fall into hir snares.

4 Vse not the companie of a woman that is a player and a dauncer, & heare hir not, leaste thou perish through hir entising.

8 Turne away thy face from a beautifull woman, and loke not vpon the fairenesse of other: many a man hath beene deceyued through the beautie of women, for through it, the desire is kindled as it were a fire. Mat.5.c. Gene.34.a. 1.Reg.11.a Iud.16.17. 13.

9 An adulterous woman shall be troden vnder foote as myre, of euerie one that goeth by the way.

10 Many a man wondering at the beautie of a straunge woman, hath bene cast out: for hir wordes kindle as a fire.

11 Sit not with another mans wife by any meanes, lye not with hir vpon the bed, make no words with hir at the wine: leaste thine heart consent vnto hir, and so thou with thy bloud fall into destruction.

12 Forsake not an olde friende, for the newe shall not be lyke vnto him: a newe friend is newe wyne, let him be olde, and thou shalt drinke him with pleasure.

13 Desyre not the honour and ryches of a sinner: for thou knowest not what destruction is for to come vpon him.

14 Delight not thou in the thing that the vngodly haue pleasure in, being sure that the vngodly shall not be accepted vntyll their graue. C

15 Keepe thee from the man that hath power to slay, so needest thou not to be afraid of death: and if thou commest vnto him, make no fault, leaste he happen to take away thy life: remember that thou goest in the midst of snares, & vpon the bulwarkes of thy citie.

The.x. Chapter.

1. Of kinges and iudges. 7. Pryde and couetousnesse are to be abhorred. 28. Laboure is prayſed.

A 1 A Wiſe iudge wil order his people with diſcretion: & where a man of vnderſtãding beareth rule, there goeth it well.

Prou.29.a. 2 As the iudge of the people is him ſelfe, euen ſo are his officers: and loke what maner of man the ruler of the citie is, ſuch are they that dwell therein alſo.

3.Reg.11.a Prou.28.b. 3 An vnwiſe king deſtroyeth his people: but where they that be in authoritie are men of vnderſtanding, there the citie proſpereth.

C.29.a. 4 The power of the earth is in the hande of God, and al iniquitie of the people is to be abhorred: and when his time is, he ſhal ſet a profitable ruler vpon it.

Leuit.19.a. 5 In the hande of God is the proſperitie of man, and vpõ the perſon of the ſcribe ſhal he lay his honour.

6 Be not angry for any wrõg of thy neighbour, and meddle thou with no vnrighteous workes.

B 7 Pryde is hatefull before God and man, (a) and all wickednelle of the heathen is to be abhorred.

a. That is, chiefly idolatry in falſe religion, & wãtonneſſe and vanitie in life.

8 Bicauſe of vnrighteous dealing, wrong, blaſphemies, and diuers deceits, a Realme ſhalbe tranſlated frõ one people to another

9 There is nothing worſe than a couetous man: why art thou proude O thou earth and aſhes? There is not a more wicked thing than to loue money: and why? ſuch one hath his ſoule to ſell, yet is he but fylthy dung whyle he lyueth.

10 All tyrannie is of ſmall endurance, and the diſeaſe that is harde to heale, greeueth the phiſition.

11 And though the phiſition ſhew his helpe neuer ſo long, yet in concluſion it goeth after this manner, To day a king, to morowe deade.

12 For when a man dyeth, he is the heyre of ſerpentes, beaſtes, and wormes.

13 The beginning of mans pryde, is to fall away from God: and why? his heart is gone from his maker.

C 14 For pryde is the originall of all ſynne: who ſo taketh holde thereof, ſhall be fylled with curſings, and at the laſt it ſhal ouerthrowe him: therefore hathe the Lorde brought the congregations of the wicked to diſhonor, and deſtroied them to the end.

Bapt.6.b. 15 God hath deſtroyed the ſeates of proude princes, and ſet vp the meeke in their ſteed.

Luke.xiv. 14.c.4.18.b. 16 God hathe wythered the rootes of the proude heathen, and planted the lowely for them.

Gene.29.b. 17 God hathe ouerthrowne the landes of the heathen, and deſtroyed them vnto the grounde: hee hath cauſed them to wyther away, hee hath brought them to nought, and made the memoriall of them to ceaſſe from out of the earth.

18 God hathe deſtroyed the name of the proude, and lefte the name of the humble of mynde.

19 Pride was not for man, neyther wrothfulneſſe for mens children.

20 The ſeede of men that feareth God, ſhal be brought to honour: but the ſeede which tranſgreſſeth the commaundements of the Lorde, ſhall be ſhamed.

D 21 He that is the ruler among brethren, is holden in honour among them: and hee that regardeth ſuche as feare the Lorde, is acceptable in his ſight.

22 The feare of the Lorde cauſeth that the kingdome fayleth not: but the kingdome is loſt by crueltie and pryde.

23 The glorie of the ryche, of the honourable, and of the poore, is the feare of God.

24 Deſpiſe not thou the iuſt poore man that hath vnderſtanding, and magnifie not the riche vngodly.

25 Great is the iudge, and mightie in honour, yet is there none greater than hee that feareth God.

The.xi. Chapter.

1. The prayse of humilitie. 2. After the outwarde appearance ought we not to iudge. 7. Of rashe iudgement. 14. All things come of God. 29. All men are not to be brought into thyne house.

A 1 THE wisdome of him that is brought lowe shall lift vp his heade, and shall make him to sit among great men.

2 Commende not thou a man in his beautie, neyther despise a man in his vtter appearance.

3 The Bee is but a small beast among the foules, yet is hir fruite exceeding sweete.

Iesus.12.d. 4 Be not proude of thy rayment, and exalt not thy selfe in the day of thy honour: for the workes of the highest onely are wonderful: yea glorious, secret, and vnknown are his workes.

1.Reg.15.f. Esther.6.a. 5 Many tyrantes haue been fayne to syt downe vpon the earth, and the vnlykely hath worne the crowne.

6 Many myghtie men haue beene brought lowe, and the honourable haue beene deliuered into other mens handes.

B 7 Condemne no man before thou haue tried out the matter: and when thou haste made inquisition, then reforme ryghteously.

Pro.18.c. 8 Giue no sentence before thou hast heard ỳ cause: but first let men tel out their tales.

9 Striue not for a matter that toucheth not thy selfe, and stande not in the iudgement of sinners.

Mat.19.c. 1.Tim.6.b. 10 My sonne, meddle not with many matters: and if thou gayne muche, thou shalt not be blamelesse, and if thou followe after it, thou shalt not attaine it: and though thou runnest thy way afore, yet shalt thou not escape.

Pro.10.c. Psal.128.a. 11 There is some that laboureth, and taketh paine, and the more he weerieth him selfe, the lesse he hath.

12 Agayne, some man is slouthfull, hathe neede of helpe, wanteth strength, and hath great pouertie:

Iob.42.c. 13 And Gods eye loketh vpon him to good, setteth him vp from his lowe state, and lifteth vp his head: so that many men marueil at him, and giue honour vnto God.

C Iob.1.c. Ezec.28.b. 14 Prosperitie and aduersitie, life and death, pouertie and riches, come al of the Lord.

15 Wisedome, nurture, and knowledge of the law are with God, loue, and the ways of good, are with him.

16 Errour and darkenesse are made for sinners, and they that exalte them selues in euill, waxe olde in euill.

17 The gift of God remaineth for the righteous: and his good will shall giue prosperitie for euer.

18 Some man is riche by his care and nygardship, and that is the portion of his rewarde:

19 In that he sayth, Nowe haue I gotten rest, and nowe will I eate and drinke of my goods my selfe alone: and yet he considereth not that the tyme draweth nyghe, and death approcheth, that he muste leaue all these things vnto other men, and dye him selfe. Luke.12.b.

20 Stand thou fast in thy couenant, and exercise thy selfe therein, and remayne in the worke vnto thy age.

21 Maruell not at the workes of sinners, but put thy trust in God, and byde in thy labour: for it is but an easie thing in the sight of God, to make a poore man ryche, and that sodainely.

22 The blessing of God hasteth to ỳ reward D of the righteous, and maketh his fruites sone to flourishe and prosper.

23 Say not, What helpeth it me? and what good thing shall I haue hereafter?

24 Agayne, say not, I haue ynough, howe can I want?

25 When thou arte in welfare, forget not aduersitie: when it goeth not well with thee, haue a good hope that it shalbe better: Eccle.18.f.

26 For it is but a small thing vnto God in the day of death, to reward euery man according to his wayes.

27 The aduersitie of an houre maketh one to forget all pleasure: and when a man dyeth, his workes are discouered.

28 Iudge no man blessed before his death: for a man shall be knowne in his children.

29 Bring not euery man into thyne house: for the deceitfull layeth wayte diuerslie, (a) and are like stomackes that belche filthily.

a. That is, after they know thy secretes, vtter the same with filthy railings.

30 Like as a Partrich in a maund, so is the heart of the proude: and like as a spy that loketh vpon the fall of his neighbour.

31 For he turneth good vnto euill, and slandreth the chosen.

32 Of one sparke is made a great fire, and of one deceitfull man is bloude increased: and an vngodly mā laieth wait for bloud.

33 Beware of the deceitfull, for he imagyneth wicked things, to bring thee into a perpetuall shame.

34 If thou takest an aliant vnto thee, he shal destroy thee in vnquietnesse, and drive thee from thine owne wayes.

The.xij. Chapter.

1. Vnto whome we ought to doe good. 10. Enimies ought not to be trusted.

A 1 When thou wilte doe good, knowe to whome thou doest it, and so shalt thou be greatly thanked for thy benefites.

Gala.6.a. 2 Doe good vnto the righteous, and thou
1.Tim.5.a. shalt finde great rewarde, though not of him, yet (no doubt) the Lord him selfe shall rewarde thee.

3 He standeth not in a good case, that is alway occupied in euill, & giueth no almes: for the highest hateth the sinners, and hath mercy vpon them that shewe the workes of repentance.

4 Giue thou vnto such as feare God, and receiue not a sinner.

5 As for the vngodly and sinners, he shall recompence vengeance vnto them, and keepe them to the day of wrath.

6 Giue thou vnto the good, and receiue not the sinner, do well vnto him that is lowly, but giue not to the vngodly: Let not the breade be giuen him, that he be not mightier than thy selfe therein: for so shalt thou receiue twice as much euil, in all that good that thou dost vnto him.

B 7 And why? the highest hateth sinners, and shall reward vengeance to the vngodly.

8 In prosperitie a friend shall be knowne, & in aduersitie an enimie shall not be hid.

9 For when a man is in welth, it grieueth his enimies: but in heauinesse and trouble a mans very friend will depart from him.

10 Trust neuer thine enimie: for as like an yron rusteth, so doth his wickednesse.

11 And though he make much crouching and kneeling, yet keepe well thy mynde, and beware of him: and thou shalt be to him as he that wypeth a glasse, and thou shalte knowe that all his rust hath not bene well wyped away.

12 Set him not by thee, neyther let him syt at thy right hande: least he turne him, get into thy place, take thy rome, and seeke thy seate, and so thou at the last remember my wordes, and be pricked at my sayings.

Eccle.7.a. 13 Binde not two sinnes together: for there

C 14 Who wil haue pitie of the charmer that is stinged of the serpent, or of all suche as come nygh the beastes?

15 Euen so is it with him that kepeth company with a wicked man, and lappeth him selfe in his sinnes.

16 For a season will he bide with thee: but if thou stumble, he tarieth not.

17 An enimie is sweete in his lippes, he can Iere.41.b.
make many wordes, and speake many good things: yea he can weepe with his eyes, but in his hart he imagineth how to throw thee into the pit: and if he may finde opportunitie, he wil not be satisfied with blood.

18 If aduersitie come vpon thee, thou shalte finde him there first, and though he pretend to doe thee helpe, yet shall he vndermyne thee.

19 He shall shake his heade, and clappe his handes ouer thee for verie gladnesse: and whyle he maketh many wordes, hee shall disguise his countenance.

The.xiij. Chapter.

1. The companyes of the proude and of the riche, are to he eschued. 15. The loue of God. 17. Like do company with their like.

1 Who so toucheth pitche, shall be defiled A withall: and he that is familiar with the proud, shall clothe him selfe with pride.

2 He taketh a burthen vpon him that accompanyeth a more honourable man than him selfe, therefore keepe no familiaritie with one that is richer than thy selfe: howe agree the kettle and the pot together? for if one be smytten against the other, it shall be broken.

3 The ryche dealeth vnrighteously, and threatneth withall: but the poore being oppressed and wrongfully dealt withall, sufkereth scarsenesse, and giueth faire wordes. If the riche haue done wrong, yet must he be entreated: but if the poore haue done it, he shall straight wayes be threatned.

4 If thou be for his profite, he vseth thee: but if thou haue nothing, he shall forsake thee.

5 As long as thou hast any thing of thyne owne, he shall be a good felowe with thee: yea, he shall make thee a bare man, and not be sorie for thee.

6 If he haue neede of thee, he shall defraud thee, and with a priuie mocke shall he put thee in an hope, and giue thee all good wordes, and say, What wantest thou?

7 Thus shall he shame thee in his meate, B vntill he haue supte thee cleane vp twyce or thrice, and at the laste shall he laughe thee to skorne: afterwarde, when he seeth that thou hast nothing, he shal forsake thee, and shake his head at thee.

8 Submit thy selfe vnto God, and wayte vpon his handes.

9 Beware that thou be not deceyued and brought downe in thy simplenesse: be not to humble in thy wiſdom, leaſt when thou art brought low, thou be deceiued through fowlishneſſe.

10 If thou be called of a mightie man, abſent thy ſelfe, ſo ſhall he call thee to him the more oft.

11 Preaſſe not thou vnto him, that thou be not ſhut out: but goe not thou farre off, leaſt he forget thee.

12 Withdraw not thy ſelf from his ſpeach, but beleeue not his many wordes: for with much communication ſhall he tempt thee, and with a priuie mocke ſhall he queſtion with thee of thy ſecretes.

13 The vnmercyfull mynde of his, ſhall marke thy wordes, he ſhall not ſpare to do thee hurt, and to put thee in priſon.

14 Beware and take good heede to thy ſelf, for thou walkeſt in peril of thy ouerthrowing: Now when thou heareſt his wordes, make thee as thoughe thou waſte in a dreame, and wake vp.

15 Loue God all thy life long, and call vpō him in thy neede.

16 Euery beaſt loueth his like: euen ſo let euery man loue his neighbour.

17 All fleſh wil reſort to their like, and euery man will keepe company with ſuch as he is him ſelfe.

18 But as the woolfe agreeth with the lambe: ſo dothe the vngodly with the righteous.

19 (a) What peace is there betwene Hyena and a dogge? Howe can the riche and the poore agree together?

20 The wilde Aſſe is the Lions pray in the wildernesſe: euen ſo are the poore men the meate of the riche.

21 Like as the proude may not away with lowlyneſſe: euen ſo doth the rich abhorre the poore.

22 If a riche man fall, his friendes ſet him vp agayne: but when the poore falleth, his acquaintance forſake him.

23 If a ryche man fall into an errour, hee hath many helpers, hee ſpeaketh proude wordes, and yet men iuſtifie him: but if a poore man goe wrong, hee is puniſhed, yea, though hee ſpeake wyſely, yet can it haue no place.

24 When the rich man ſpeaketh, euery bodye holdeth his tong, and loke what he ſayth, they prayſe it vnto the cloudes: but if the poore man ſpeake, they ſaye, What felowe is this? and if he doe amiſſe, they ſhall deſtroy him.

25 Riches are good vnto him that hath no ſinne in his conſcience: & pouertie is a wicked thing in the mouth of the vngodly.

5 He that is wicked vnto him ſelfe, howe ſhould he be good vnto other men? howe can ſuche a one haue any pleaſure of his goodes.

6 There is nothing worſe than when one diſfauoureth him ſelfe: and this is a reward of his wickedneſſe.

7 If he doe any good, he doth it not knowing thereof, and againſt his wyll, and at the laſt he declareth his vngratiouſneſſe. B

The.xvi.Chapter.

1. Of vnhappie and wicked children. 19. No man can hide him selfe from God. 24. An exhortation to the receiuing of instruction.

1 DElite not thou in ẏ multitude of vn- I godly children, and haue no pleasure in them, if they feare not God.

2 Trust not thou to their life, and regarde not their labours.

3 For

3 For one sonne that feareth God, is better than a thousande vngodly: and better it is for a man to dye without children, than to leaue behinde him suche children as are vngodly.

4 For by one that hath vnderstanding, may a whole citie be vpholden: but though the vngodly be many, yet shall it be wasted through them.

5 Many such things hath myne eye seene, and greater things thã these haue I heard with myne eares.

Exod.21.b. 6 In the congregation of the vngodly shal a fire burne, and among vnfaythfull people shall the wrath be kindled.

B 7 The olde giantes obteyned no grace for Gen.6.a. their sinnes, which were destroied, trusting to their owne strength:

8 Neyther spared he them among whome Lot was a stranger: but smote them, and Gen.19.c. abhorred them, because of the pryde of their wordes.

9 He had no pitie vpon thē: but destroyed all the people that were so stout in sinne.

Num.14.c. 10 And for so much as he ouersawe the fyre hundred thousand that gathered them selues together in the hardnesse of their hart, in afflicting them, in pyping them, in smyting thē, and healing thē with mercie and chastisement: it were maruell if one being hardnecked, should be free.

Exod.5.a. 11 For mercy and wrath is with him, he is both mightie to forgiue, and to powre out displeasure.

12 Like as his mercie is great, euen so is his punishment also: he iudgeth a man according to his workes.

13 The vngodly shal not escape in his spoile, and the long patience of him that sheweth mercie, shall not byde behinde.

C 14 He will make a place for euery merciful deede, and euery man shal finde according to his workes.

15 The Lorde hardened Pharao that hee should not know him, and that his works might be knowne vpon the earth vnder the heauen.

16 His mercie is knowne to all creatures, he hath separated his light from the darknesse with an Adamant.

17 Say not thou, I will hyde my self from God: for who will thinke vpon me from aboue? I shall not be knowne in so great an heape of people: for what is my soule among so many creatures?

18 Beholde, the heauen, yea, the heauen of heauens of God, the depe, the earth, and all that therin is, shal be moued at his presence.

19 The mountaines, the hilles, and the foundations of the earth, shall shake for feare, when God visiteth them.

20 These things doth no heart vnderstand worthily: but he vnderstandeth euery hart.

21 And who vnderstandeth his wayes? No man seeth his formes, and the most parte of his workes are secrete.

22 Who wil declare the works of his righ- D teousnesse? or who shall be able to abide them? for the couenant is farre from some, and trying out of men is in the end.

23 He that is humble of heart, thinketh vpon such things: but an vnwise and erroneous man, casteth his mynde vnto foolishe things.

24 My sonne, hearken thou vnto me, and learne vnderstanding, & marke my words with thine heart: I will giue thee a sure doctrine, and playnly shall I instruct thee.

25 Marke my wordes then in thyne heart: for in righteousnesse of the spirite doe I speake of the wonders that God hath shewed among his workes from the beginning, and in the trueth doe I shewe the knowledge of him.

26 God hathe set his workes in good order from the beginning, and part of them hath he sundered from the other.

27 Hee hath garnished his workes from euerlasting, and their beginnings according to their generations: they are not hungry, nor weeried in their labours, nor ceasse from their offices.

28 None of them hyndered another, neither E was any of them disobedient vnto his wordes.

29 After this, God loked vpon the earth, and filled it with his goodnesse.

30 With all manner of lyuing beastes hath he couered the grounde, and they all shall be turned vnto earth agayne.

3 He made all flesh to stand in awe of him, so that he had the dominion of all beastes and foules.

Gene.2.d. 4 He made out of him an helper lyke vnto him selfe, and gaue them discretion, and tong, eyes, and eares, and a heart to vnderstande.

5 He gaue them a spirite, and a speache to declare his workes, and filled them with instruction and vnderstanding.

6 He created for them also the knowledge of the spirite, filled their harts with vnderstanding, and shewed them good and euill.

B 7 He set his eye vpon their harts, declaring vnto them his great and noble workes.

8 That they shoulde praise his holy name together, reioyce of his wonders, and be telling of his noble actes.

D 21 At the last shall he awake, and rewarde euery man vpon his heade, and shall turne them together into the neathermost partes of the earth.

Actes.3.c. 22 But vnto them that will repent, he hath giuen the waye of righteousnesse: as for such as be weake, he comforteth them, sufferеth them, and sendeth them the portion of the veritie.

23 O turne then vnto the Lorde, forsake thy sinnes, make thy prayer before the Lorde, doe the lesse offence.

24 Turne againe vnto the Lord, for he will bring thee from darkenesse vnto wholesome lyght, forsake thine vnrighteousnesse, be an vtter enimie to abhomination, 25 Learne to knowe the righteousnesse and iudgementes of God, stande in the portion that is set forth for thee, and in the prayer of the most high God.

26 Goe in the portion of the holy worlde, with suche as be liuing, and gyue thankes vnto God.

27 Who will prayse the Lord in the hell? E abide not thou in the errour of the vngodly, but giue him thankes before death, Psal.7.a.

28 As for the deade, thankfulnesse perisheth from him as nothing: giue thou thankes in thy lyfe, yea, whyle thou art liuing and whole shalt thou giue thankes, and prayse God, and reioyce in his mercy.

29 O howe great is the louing kyndenesse of the Lorde, and his mercifull godnesse vnto such as turne vnto him?

30 For all things may not be in man, and why? the sonne of man is not immortall, and he hath pleasure in the vanitie of wickednesse.

31 What is more cleare than the sunne? yet shall it fayle.

32 Or what is more wicked than the thing that flesh and bloud hath imagined? and that same shall be reproued.

33 The Lorde seeth the power of the highe heauen, and all are but earth and ashes.

The.xviij. Chapter.

1. The maruellous workes of God. 67. The miserie and wretchednesse of man. 9. Against God ought we not to complaine. 21. The performing of vowes.

1 HE that liueth for euermore, made all A things together: God only is righteous, and there is none other but he, and remayneth a victorious king for euer. Gen.1.a.

2 Hee ordereth the worlde with the power of his hande, and all things obey his will: for he gouerneth all things by his power, and diuideth the holye thynges from the prophane.

3 Who shall be able to expresse the workes of him? who will seeke out the ground of his noble actes? Psal.105.a.

4 Who shal declare ỹ power of his greatnesse? or who will take vppon him to tell out his mercie?

5 As for the wonderous workes of the Lorde, there may nothing be taken from them, nothing may be put vnto them, neither may ỹ ground of them be found out.

6 But when a man hath done his beste, he must beginne againe: and when he thinketh to be come to an ende, he muste go agayne to his labour.

B 7 What is man? whereto is hee worth: what good or euill can he do?

Psal.110.a. 8 If the number of a mans dayes be almost an hundred yeeres, it is muche: and no mã hath certaine knowledge of his death.

9 Like as the droppes of rayne are vnto the sea, & as a grauell stone is in comparison of the sande: so are these few yeeres to the dayes of euerlasting.

2.Pet.3.b. 10 Therfore is the Lord patient with them, and powreth out his mercie vpon them.

11 He sawe and perceyued the thoughtes & imaginations of their hart, that they were euill, therefore heaped he vp his mercifull goodnesse vpon them, and shewed them the way of righteousnesse.

12 The mercie that a man hath, reacheth to his neyghbour, but the mercie of God is vpon all flesh: he chasteneth, he teacheth, & nurtureth: yea, euen as a shepheard turneth againe his flocke, so doth he all them that receiue chastening, nurture, & doctrine.

Esai.66.a. 13 Merciful is he vnto them that diligently seeke after his iudgementes.

C 14 My sonne, when thou doest good, make no grudging at it: and whatsoeuer thou giuest, speake no discomfortable wordes.

15 Shall not the dewe cole the heate? euen so is a worde better than a gift.

Pro.18.a. 16 Is not a freendly worde a good honest gift? but a gratious man giueth the both.

Ecclc.41.b. 17 A fole shall cast a man in the teeth, and that roughly: and a gyfte of the nigarde puttreth out the eyes.

18 Get thee righteousnesse before thou come to iudgement, learne before thou speake, & go to phisicke or euer thou be sicke.

1.Cor.11.c. 19 Examine and iudge thy selfe before the iudgement come, and so shalt thou finde grace in the sight of God.

20 Humble thy selfe afore thou be sicke: and whilest thou mayest (a) sinne, shewe thy conuersation

a. For he is more perfect that maysinne & dooth resist it, than he that dooth followe after it.

21 Be not let to pay thy vow in good time, and tary not to be iustified vnto thy death: for the rewarde of God endureth for euer.

D 22 Before thou prayest, prepare thy soule, and be not as one that tempteth God.

23 Thinke vpon the wrathful indignation that shalbe at the ende, & the houre of vengeance, when he shal turne away his face.

24 When thou hast ynough, remember the time of hunger: and when thou art riche, thinke vpon ỹ time of pouertie and scarsenesse. Eccle.11.d.

25 From the morning vntyll the euening, the tyme is chaunged, and all suche things are sone done in the sight of God.

26 A wise man feareth God in all things, and in the dayes of transgression he keepeth him selfe from sinne: but the fole doth not obserue the tyme.

27 A discrete man hath pleasure in wysedome, and hee that findeth hir, maketh muche of hir.

28 They that haue had vnderstanding, haue E dealt wisely in wordes, haue vnderstande the truth & righteousnesse, and haue sought out wise sentences and iudgementes.

29 The chiefe authoritie of speaking, is of the Lorde alone: for a mortall man hath but a dead heart.

30 Followe not thy lustes, but turne thee Rom.6.b. from thine owne wyll.

31 For if thou giuest thy soule hir desires, it shall make thyne enimies to laughe thee to scorne.

32 Take not thy pleasure in greate voluptuousnesse, & meddle not to muche withall.

33 Make not to greate cheare of the thing that thou hast wonne by aduantage, leaste thou fall into pouertie, & haue nothing in thy purse, els thou shouldest slaunderously lye in wayte for thine owne lyfe.

The.xix.Chapter.

minded, and doth against him selfe.

5 Who so reioyceth in wickednesse, shal be punished: but he that refuseth pleasures, crowneth his owne soule: he that refrayneth his toung, may lyue with a troublesome man: he that hateth to bee reuourmed, his life shal be shortened: and he that abhorreth babling of wordes, quencheth wickednesse.

6 Hee that offendeth agaynste his owne soule, shall repent it, and he that reioyceth in wickednesse, shall be punished.

B 7 Rehearse not a wycked and churlyshe word twise, & thou shalt not be hindered.

8 Shewe thy secretes neither to friende nor foe: & if thou hast offended, tell it not out.

9 For he shall hearken vnto thee, and marke thee: and when he fyndeth opportunitie, he shall hate thee, and so shall he be alway about thee.

Eccle. 22. c. 10 If thou hast hearde a worde against thy neyghbour, let it be dead within thee: & be sure thou shalt haue no harme thereby.

11 A fole trauayleth with a worde, like as a woman that is payned with bearing of a childe.

12 Like as an arrowe shotte in a thygh of flesshe, so is a worde in a foles heart.

Leui. 19. d. 13 Tell thy friend his fault, lest he be ignorant, and say, I haue not done it: or if he haue spoken, that he do it no more.

C 14 Reproue thy neyghbour, that he keepe his tongue: and if he haue spoken, that he say it no more.

15 Tell thy neyghbour his faulte, for ofte times an offence is made: and gyue not credence to euery worde.

Eccl. 14. a. 16 A man falleth somtime with his tongue, but not with his will: for what is he that hath not offended in his tongue?

17 Gyue thy neyghbour warning before thou threaten him: and giue place vnto the lawe of the Lorde.

18 The feare of the Lord is the first degree to be receiued of him: and wisedome obteyneth his loue.

19 The knowledge of the commandemētes of the Lorde, is the doctrine of lyfe: and they that obey him, shall receyue the fruite of immortalitie.

20 The feare of God is al wisdome: and he that is a righteous man, keepeth the lawe.

D 21 If a seruant say vnto his maister, I wil not do as it pleaseth thee: though afterwarde he do it, he shall displease him that nourisheth him.

22 As for the doctrine of wickednesse, it is no wisedome, and the prudence of sinners is no good vnderstanding: it is but wickednesse and abhomination, and a blaspheming of wisedome.

23 A simple man of small vnderstanding, that feareth God, is better than one that hath muche wisedome, and transgresseth the lawe of the highest.

24 A craftie subtill man can be wise, but he is vnrighteous, and with giftes wrasteth the eyen and manifest lawe: againe, there is that is wise, and iudgeth righteously.

25 A wicked man can behaue himself humbly, and can ducke with his head, and yet is he but a deceiuer within: he hydeth his face, and disguiseth it, & because he should not be knowen, he preuenteth thee. Math. 6. b.

26 And though hee be so weake that he can do thee no harme, yet when hee may finde opportunitie, he shall do some euill. Eccle. 18.

2 It is muche better to giue warning and to reproue, than to beare euill wyll: for he that knowledgeth him selfe openly, shal be preserued from hurt and destruction.

3 Like as when a gelded man through desire and lust defileth a mayden: euen so is it with him that vseth violence & vnrighteousnesse in the lawe.

4 O howe good a thing is it, a man that is reproued to shewe openly his repentance: for so shalt thou escape wilfull sinne.

5 Some man keepeth silence, and is founde wise: but he that is not ashamed what he sayeth, is hatefull.

9 Some man hath oftimes prosperitie in wicked things: againe, some man getteth muche, and hath harme and losse.

10 Ther is some gift that is nothing worth: & againe, there is some gyft whose reward is double.

11 There is an humilitie for glories sake, & some cometh to worship from low estate.

12 Some man buyeth muche for a little price, and must pay for it seuenfolde.

Eccle.3.b. 13 A wise man with his wordes maketh himselfe to be beloued: but the mery tales of fooles shalbe powred out.

14 The gyftes of the vnwise shall do thee no good, nor yet of the enuious, for his importunitie is seuen folde: for he looketh to receyue many things for one.

Eccle.18.b. 15 He shal geue litle, and lay he gaue muche: he openeth his mouth, and cryeth out, as it were one that cryed out wyde.

16 To day he lendeth, to morrow asketh he againe: and such a man is to be hated of God and man.

17 The foole sayeth, I haue no friende, I haue no thake for all my good deedes: yea, euen they that eate my breade, speake no good of me: O how oft, and of how many shall he be laughed to scorne?

18 He taketh a more perilous fall by such wordes, than if he fell vpon the ground: euen so shall the fall of wicked men come hastily.

19 In the mouthe of him that is vntaught, are manye vnconuenient and vnmete wordes.

20 A wyse sentence shall not be allowed at the mouth of the foole: for he speaketh it not in due season.

D 21 Some man sinneth not, bicause he hath not wherewithall, and in his rest he shall be stinged.

22 Some man there is that destroyeth his owne soule with shame, and for an vnwyse bodyes sake destroyeth hee it, and with accepting of persons shall hee vndo himselfe.

23 Some man promiseth his friende a gyft for very shame: and getteth an enimie of him for nought.

24 A lye is a wicked shame in a man: yet shall it be euer in the mouth of the vnwise.

25 A theefe is better than a man that is accustomed to lye: but they bothe shall haue destruction to heritage.

26 The conditions of lyers are vnhoneste: and their shame is euer with them.

Ecc.41.k. 27 A wise man shal bring himself to honor with his wordes: and he that hath vnderstanding, shalbe set by among great men.

28 He that tylleth his lande, shall encrease his heape of corne: he that worketh righteousnesse shalbe exalted, and he that pleaseth great men, shal escape muche euyll. Pro.12.b.

29 Rewardes and gyftes blind the eyes of the wyse, and make him dumbe, that he can not tell more their faultes. Eccle.23.a.

30 Wyssedome that is hydde, and treasure that is hoarded vp, what profite is in them both?

31 Better is he y hideth his ignorance secrete, than a man that hideth his wisdom. Eccle.41.f.

32 The necessary patience of him that followeth the Lorde, is better than he that gouerneth his lyfe without the Lord.

3 The wickednesse of man, is as a sharpe two edged swoorde, which maketh suche woundes, that they cannot be healed.

4 Stryfe and wrongfull dealing shall waste away a mans goodes, and through pryde, a ryche house shall be brought to nought: so the riches of the proude shall be rooted out.

5 The prayer of the poore goeth out of the mouth, and commeth vnto the eares, and his vengeance (or defence) shall come hastily. Exod.3.b.

6 Who so hateth to be reproued, it is a token of an vngodly person: but he that feareth God, will remember him selfe.

7 A mightie man is knowen a farre off by his tongue: but hee that hath vnderstanding, perceyueth that he shall haue a fall. K

8 Who so buyldeth his house with other mens coste, (a) is like one that gathereth stones to make his graue.

9 The congregation of the vngodly, is like stubble gathered togither, their ende is a flambe of fire.

Eccle.16.a.

12 He that is not wise, will not be taught in good, but the vnwise man aboundeth in wickednesse: and where bitternes is, there is no vnderstanding.

13 The knowledge of the wise shall flowe like water that runneth ouer, & his counsell is like a pure fountayne of life.

¶ 14 The heart of a fole is like a broken vessell, he can kepe no wisedome.

15 When a man of vnderstanding heareth a wise worde, he shall commende it, and make muche of it: but if a voluptuous mã heare it, he shall haue no pleasure therein, but cast it behinde his backe.

16 The talking of a fole, is like an heauy burden by the waye: but to heare a wise man speake, it is pleasure.

17 Where a doubt is in the congregation, it is asked at the mouth of the wise, & they shall ponder his wordes in their hearts.

18 Like as is a house that is destroyed, euen so is wisdome vnto a fole: as for the knowledge of the vnwise, it is but darke wordes.

19 Doctrine is vnto him that hath no vnderstãding, euen as fetters about his feete, and like manicles vpon his right hande.

Eccle.19.a. 20 A fole lyfteth vp his voyce with laughter: but a wise man shall scarse laughe secretely.

D 21 Learning is vnto a wise man a iewell of golde, and like an armelet vppon his right arme.

22 A foolish mãs foote is sone in his neighbours house: but one that hath experience, shalbe ashamed at ẏ person of ẏ mightie.

23 A fole will peepe in at the window into the house: but hee that is well nurtured, will stande without.

24 A foolishe man standeth hearkening at the dowe: but he that is wise, wyll bee ashamed.

25 The lyppes of the vnwyse, wyll be telling foolishe things: but the wordes of suche as haue vnderstanding, shal be wayed in the balance.

26 The hearte of fooles is in their mouthe: but the mouth of the wise is in their heart.

Leui.19.d. 27 When the vngodly curseth the (b) blasphemer, he curseth his owne soule.

The.xxij. Chapter.

1. Of the sluggard. 12. Not to speake much to a foole. 15. A good conscience feareth not.

1 A Slouthfull body is moulded (a) of a stone of claye, & euery man will speake to his dispayse.

2 A slouthfull body is made of the dong of Oxen, and euery one that toucheth him, must washe his hands agayne.

3 A misnurtured sonne, is the dishonoure of the father: a foolishe daughter shall bee little regarded.

4 A wise daughter is an heritage vnto hir husbande: but she that commeth to dishonestie, bringeth hir father in beggarnesse.

5 A daughter that is past shame, dishonoureth both hir father and hir husbande: the vngodly shall regarde hir, but they bothe shall despise hir.

6 A tale out of time, is as musike in mourning: but wisedome knoweth the seasons of correction and doctrine.

7 If children liue honestly, & haue wherewithall, they shall put awaye the shame of their parentes.

8 But if children be proude, with hawtynesse and foolishnesse, they blot out the nobilitie of their kinred.

9 Who so teacheth a fole, is euen as one that gleweth a potsharde togither, as one that telleth a tale to him that heareth him not, and as one that rayseth a man out of an heauy sleepe.

10 Who so telleth a fole of wisedome, is euen as a man whiche speaketh to one that is a sleepe: when he hath tolde his tale, he sayeth, What is the matter?

11 When one dyeth, lamentation is made for him, bycause the lyght fayleth him: euen so, let men mourne ouer a fole, for he wanteth vnderstanding. Make but little weeping bycause of the deade, for he is come to reste: but the lyfe of the fole is worse than the death.

12 Seuen dayes do men mourne for him that is dead: but the lamentation ouer the vnwise and vngodly, should endure al the dayes of their lyfe.

13 Talke not much with a fole, and go not with him that hath no vnderstanding: beware of him, least it turne thee to trauaile, & thou shalt not be defiled wt his sinne. Depart frõ him, & thou shalt finde rest, & shalt not be drawen backe into his foolishnesse.

22 If he speake sourely, feare not: for ye may be agreed together agayne, except it be ỹ thou blaspheme him, disdeyne him, opẽ his secrets, & wounde him trayterously: for all suche things shall dryue away a friende.

23 Be faythfull vnto thy neyghbour in his pouertie, that thou mayest reioyce with him also in his prosperitie: abyde stedfast vnto him in the tyme of his trouble, that thou mayest be heyre with him in his heritage: for pouertie is not alwayes to be contemned, nor the ryche that is foolishe to be had in estimation.

24 Like as the vapour & smoke goeth out at the ouen before the fire: euen so ryll wordes, rebukes, and threatnings go before blodshedding.

25 Be not ashamed to defende thy friende, as for mee, I will not hyde my face from him, though he should do me harme: who soeuer heareth it, shall beware of him.

26 A shamefull reporte shall she leaue be-hinde hir, and hir dishonour shall not bee put out.
27 And they that remayne, shal know that there is nothing better than the feare of God, and that there is nothing sweeter than to take heede vnto the commaunde-mentes of the Lorde.
28 A great worshipp is it to folow ẏ Lord:
for long lyfe shall he receyued of him.

The. xxiiij. Chapter.

1. A prayse of wisedome proceeding foorth of the mouth of God. 6. Of hir woorkes, and place where she resteth.

1 WIsedome shall prayse hir selfe, and be honoured in God, and reioyce in the I middest of the people.
2 In the congregation of the hyghest, shall she open hir mouth, and triumph in the beholding of his power.
3 In the middest of hir people shal she be exalted, & wondred at in the holy fulnesse.
4 In the multitude of the chosen she shal be commended, and among such as be blessed she shall be praysed, and shall say.
5 I am come out of the mouth of the highest, firste borne before all creatures.
6 I caused the lyght that fayleth not to aryse in the heauen, and couered all the earth as a cloude.
7 My dwelling is aboue in the heygth, and B my seate is in the piller of the cloude.
8 I my selfe alone haue gone round about the compasse of heauen, and pearsed the grounde of the deepe.
9 I haue walked in the floodes of the sea, and haue stand in all landes, my dominion is in euery people and in euery nation, and with my power haue I troden downe
the heartes of all, both hye and lowe.
10 In all these things also I sought reste, and a dwelling in some inheritance.
11 So the creator of all things gaue mee a commaundement, and he that made mee, appoynted me a tabernacle, and sayd vnto mee, Lette thy dwelling be in Jacob, and thyne inheritance in Israel, and rote thy selfe among my chosen.
12 I was created from the beginning, and Pro.8.f.
before the worlde, and shall not leaue off vnto the worlde to come: in the holy habitation haue I serued before him, and so Exo.31.d
was I stablished in Sion.
13 In the holy citie rested I in like maner, Psal.131.d.
and in Hierusalem was my power.
14 I toke rote in an honorable people, euē C in the portion of the Lord, and in his heritage, & kept me in the fulnesse of ẏ saintes.
15 I am set vp an hygh, like a Cedar vpon Libanus, and as a Cipres tree vppon the mount Hermon.
16 I am exalted like a Palme tree in Cades, and as a Rose plant in Jericho, as a fayre Olive tree in the feeld, & am exalted like as a Plantane tree by the water side.
17 I haue giuen a smell in the streetes, as the Cynamom and Balme that hathe so good good a ſauour, yea a ſweete odour haue I giuen, as it were myrre of the beſt: I haue made my dwellings to ſmell as it were of Roſin, Galbanum, of Cloues, Incenſe, & as Libanus when it is not hewen down, and mine odour is as the pure Balme.

Terebint, a harde tree great abode, ech long oughes, here out of ich the ſtalke, el- ſeda pure turpentine, ſtalke clean- ſtalke ſto- ſtalke of pu- ſtalked hu- mors, & pu- ſtalk the ſtalkes: ſo the ſtalkelome or God declared in his ſcrip- tures ſprea- ceth abrode ſtalke manifolde ſtalkes of knowledge & vnderſtading, to purge the inward cares and corruptiō of the ſoule.

18 As the (a) Terebint haue I ſtretched out my branches, & my branches are the branches of honour and louing fauour.

19 As the vine haue I brought forth fruite of a ſweete fauour, and my flowres are the fruite of honour and rychelle.

20 I am the mother of beautie, of loue, of feare, of knowledge, and of holy hope: I giue eternall things to all my chyldren to whome God hath commaunded.

21 In me is all grace of lyfe and trueth, in mee is all hope of lyfe and vertue.

22 O come vnto me all ye that be deſyrous of me, & fyll your ſelues with my fruites.

23 For my ſpirit is ſweeter than hony, and ſo is myne inheritance more than the hony combe: the remembrance of me endureth for euermore.

24 They that eate mee, ſhall haue the more hunger: and they that drynke mee, ſhall thyrſt the more.

25 Who ſo hearkeneth vnto mee, ſhall not come to confuſion, and they that worke in me, ſhall not offende: they that take me to be knowen, ſhall haue euerlaſting lyfe.

Exo. 20. & Deu. 24. a.

26 All theſe things are the booke of lyfe, the couenant of the hygheſt, & the knowledge of the truth: Moſes commanded the lawe in the preceptes of ryghteouſneſſe, for an heritage vnto the houſe of Jacob, & committed the promiſe vnto Iſrael.

E 27 Be not weery to behaue your ſelues valiantly with the Lorde, that he may alſo confirme you: cleaue vnto him, for the Lorde almyghtie is but one God, and beſides him there is none other ſauiour.

Pſal. 131. b. Acts. 2. d.

28 (Out of Dauid his ſeruant, he ordeyned to rayſe vp a moſt mightie king, ſitting in the ſeate of honour for euermore.)

Deut. 4. a. Pſal. 19. b.

29 This filleth with wiſedome, like as the flodde of Phiſon, & as the flod of Tigris when the newe fruites are a growing.

Joſue. 3. c.

30 This bringeth a plenteous vnderſtāding like Euphrates, & filleth it vp as Jordane in the tyme of harueſt.

31 This maketh nurture to breake forth as the lyght, and as the water Gehon in the harueſt.

32 The firſt hath not knowen hir perfectly: no more ſhall the laſt ſeeke out the ground of hir.

33 For hir thoughte is fuller than the ſea, and hir counſell is profounder than the great deepe.

34 I wiſedome haue caſte out floddes, I am as a greate water broke out of the ryuer, I am as the ryuer Dozir, and as a water conduit am I come out of the garden of pleaſure.

35 I ſayde, I will water the garden of my yong plants, & fil the fruite of my byrth: ſo my water broke became exceeding greate, and my ryuer approched vnto the ſea.

36 For I make doctrine to be vnto all men as light as the fayre morning, and I ſhall make it to be euer the clearer.

37 I will pearſe throughal the lower parties of the earth, I will loke vpon all ſuch as be aſleepe, and lyghten all them that put their truſt in the Lorde.

38 I ſhal yet powre out doctrine like as prophecie, & leaue it vnto ſuche as ſeeke after wiſedome, & their generations ſhall I neuer fayle vnto the holy euerlaſting world.

39 Beholde howe that I haue not laboured for my ſelfe only: but for all them that ſeeke after the trueth. Eccle. 33. b.

The. xxv. Chapter.

1. Of three things whiche pleaſe God, and of three whiche he hateth. 7. Of nyne things that be not to be ſuſpect, and of the tenth. 15. Chiefely of the malice of a woman.

1 THree things there are that my ſpirite fauoureth, which be alſo allowed before God and men: the vnitie of brethren, the loue of neyghbours, a man and wyfe that agree well togither. A Gen. 13. b. Rom. 12. b. Eccle. 40. d.

2 Three things there bee whiche my ſoule hateth, and I vtterly abhorre the lyfe of them: a poore man that is proude, a ryche man that is a lyer, and an olde body that doteth, and is vnchaſte.

3 If thou haſte gathered nothing in thy youth, what wylt thou finde then in thine age? Gen. 18. b.

4 O how pleaſant a thing is it, when gray headed men are diſcrete, and when the elders can giue good counſell?

5 O how comely a thing is wiſdome vnto aged men? yea, vnderſtanding and counſel to men of honour is a glorious thing.

6 The crowne of old men, is to haue much experience: and the feare of God, is their worſhip.

7 There bee nyne things whiche I haue iudged in my heart to be happie, and the tenth will I tell forth vnto men with my tongue: a man that whyle he lyueth hath ioy B ſoy of his children, and ſeeth the fall of his enimies.

Eccle. 19.c. and.24.a. James.3.c. 8 Well is him that dwelleth with an houſwife of vnderſtanding, and that hath not fallen with his tongue, & that hath not bin fayne to ſerue ſuch as are vnmeet for him.

or, prudent. 9 Well is him that fyndeth a faythfull friende: and well is him whiche talketh of wiſedome to an eare that heareth him.

10 O how great is he that findeth wiſdome and knowledge? Yet is he not aboue him that feareth the Lorde.

11 The feare of God hath ſet it ſelfe aboue all things.

12 Bleſſed is the mã vnto whom it is grãted to haue the feare of God: vnto whome ſhall he be likened that keepeth it faſt?

13 The feare of God, is the beginning of his loue: and the beginning of fayth, is to cleaue faſt vnto it.

℄ 14 The heauineſſe of the hart is all the puniſhment, and the wickedneſſe of a womã goeth aboue all.

15 All puniſhmente and plague is nothing in compariſon of the plague of the heart: euen ſo, all wickedneſſe is nothing to the wickedneſſe of a woman.

16 Whatſoeuer happeneth vnto a man, is nothing in compariſon of it that his cupll willers dw vnto him: and all vengeance is nothing to the vengeance of the enimie.

17 There is not a more wicked heade than the heade of the ſerpent: and there is no wrath aboue the wrath of a woman.

Pro.21.a. 18 I will rather dwell with a Lion & Dragon, thã to kepe houſe with a wicked wife.

19 The wickednelle of a woman changeth hir face, ſhe ſhall muffle hir countenaunce as it were a Beare, and as a ſacke ſhal ſhe ſhewe it among the neyghboures.

20 Hir huſband is brought to ſhame amõg his neyghboures bicauſe of hir: and when he heareth it, it maketh him to ſighe.

D 21 All wickednelle is but little to the wickednelle of a woman: the portion of the vngodly ſhall fall vpon hir.

22 Like as the clyming vp a ſandy waye is to the feete of the aged: euen ſo is a wyfe full of wordes to a ſtill quiet man.

Eccle. 42.a 2.Re. 11.a. and.13.a. 23 Looke not to narrowly vpon the beautie of a woman, leaſt thou be prouoked in deſire towarde hir.

24 The wrath of a woman is diſhonor and great confuſion: if a woman get the maiſterie, then is ſhe contrary to hir huſband.

Gen.3.c. 2.Tim.2.b. 25 A wicked wyfe maketh a ſory heart, an heauy countenaunce, and a dead wounde: weake handes and feeble knees, is a woman that hir huſbande is not ỹ better for.

26 Of the woman came the (a) beginning of ſinne, and thrugh hir we all are dead. a. 1.Tim.2.a. Adam was not deceyued. But to the Rom. he ſayeth. By one man ſinne entred into the worlde. The occaſion was offered by the woman, but the ſinne was finiſhed by man conſenting therto.

27 Giue thy water no paſſage, no not a little, neither giue a wicked woman hir wil.

28 If ſhe walke not after thy hand, ſhe ſhal confounde thee in the ſyght of thyne enimies: cut hir off then from thy fleſhe, that ſhe dw not alway abuſe thee.

The.xxvi. Chapter.

1. The prayſe of a good woman. 5. Of the feare of three things, and of the fourth. 6. Of the ielouſie and drunkenneſſe of a woman. 28. Of twoo things that cauſe ſorowe, of the thirde which moueth wrath.

1 HAppie is the man that hath a vertuous wife: for the number of his yeeres ſhal be double. A

2 An honeſt woman maketh hir huſband a ioyfull man, and ſhe ſhall fill the yeeres of his lyfe in peace.

3 A vertuous woman is a noble gift, which ſhall be giuen for a good portion vnto ſuch as feare God.

4 Whether a man be ryche or poore, he may haue euer a merry hearte, and a chearefull countenance.

5 There be three things that my harte feareth, and my face is afrayde of the fourth: treaſon in a citie, a ſeditious people, and noyſome tongues: all theſe are heauyer than the death.

6 Whẽ one womã is iealous ouer another, it bryngeth payne & ſorowe vnto the hart: and a woman that telleth out all things, is a ſcourge of the tongue.

7 When one hath an cupll wyfe, it is euen as when an vnlyke payre of Oxen muſte drawe togyther: he that getteth hir, getteth a ſcorpion. B Jud.15.d.

8 A drunken woman is a greate plague: for ſhe cannot couer hir owne ſhame.

9 The whoredome of a woman may bee knowen in the pride of hir eyes & eyelyds.

10 If thy daughter be not ſhamefaſt, holde hir ſtraytely, leaſte ſhe abuſe hir ſelfe thorowe ouermuch libertie. Eccle.14.

11 Beware of all the diſhoneſtie of hir eyes, and marueyle not if ſhe dw agaynſt thee.

12 As a wayfayring man that is thyrſtie, whẽ he hath found a well, drinketh of euery water: ſo will ſhe ſit down by euery hedge, and make hir ſelfe common to euery man that paſſeth by. D D

13 A louing wife reioyceth hir huſband, and feedeth his bones with hir wiſedome. Sapi.3 1.Pet.

14 A

C 14 A woman of fewe wordes is a gyfte of God: to al nurtured mindes may nothing be compared.

15 An honeſt and mannerlye woman is a gyfte aboue other gyftes: and there is no wayght to be compared vnto a minde that can rule it ſelfe.

16 Like as the ſunne when it aryſeth, is an ornament in the hyghe heauen of the Lord: ſo is a vertuous wife the beautie of all hir houſe.

17 Like as the cleare lyght is vpon the holy candelſticke: ſo is the beautie of the face vpon an honeſt body.

Lam.5.d. 18 Like as the golden pillers are vppon the ſockets of ſiluer: ſo are the faire feete vpon a woman that hath a conſtant minde.

19 Perpetuall are the foundations that bee layde vpon a whole ſtony rocke: ſo are the commandementes of God vpon the heart of an holy woman.

D 20 There bee two things that greeue my heart, and in the third is diſpleaſure come vpon mee: when an expert man of warre ſuffereth ſcarſeneſſe and pouertie, when men of vnderſtanding and wiſedome are not ſet by, and when one departeth from ryghteouſneſſe vnto ſynne: who ſo doeth ſuche, the Lorde hath prepared him vnto the ſwoorde.

21 There be two manner of thinges whiche mee thinke to be harde & perilous: a marchant cannot lyghtly kepe him frō wrong, neither a tauerner him ſelfe from ſinne.

The.xxvij. Chapter.

3. Of the poore that woulde be ryche. 5. The probation of the man that feareth God. 13. The vnconſtantneſſe of a foole. 16. The ſecretes of a friende, are not to be vttered. 20. The wicked imagineth euill, whiche returneth vpon him ſelfe.

A 1 BEcauſe of pouertie, haue manye one offended: and he that ſeeketh to bee riche, turneth his eyes aſide.

2 Like as a nayle in the wall ſticketh faſte betwixt two ſtones: euen ſo doeth ſinne ſticke betwixt the buyer and the ſeller.

3 If he hold him not diligently in the feare of the Lorde, his houſe ſhall ſoone be ouerthrowen.

4 Like as whē one ſifteth, the filthineſſe remayneth in the ſiue: ſo remayneth there ſome vncleane thing in ỹ thought of man.

Eccl.3.a. 1.Pet.3.b. 5 The ouen proueth the Potters veſſell: ſo doeth temptation of trouble trye ryghteous men.

6 The tree of the feelde, is knowen by his fruite: ſo is the thought of mans hearte knowen by his wordes. Mat.7.b.

7 Prayſe no man, except thou haue hearde him: for a man is knowen by his wordes. B

8 If thou foloweſt ryghteouſneſſe, thou ſhalt get hir, and put hir vppon thee as a fayre garment: and thou ſhalt dwell with hir, and ſhe ſhall defende thee for euer, and in the daye of knowledge thou ſhalt finde ſtedfaſtneſſe.

9 The byrdes reſorte vnto their lyke: ſo doeth the trueth turne vnto them that bee occupyed withall.

10 The Lion wayteth the praye: ſo doeth ſynne vppon them that worke vnryghteouſneſſe.

11 The talking of him that feareth God, is nothing but wiſedome: as for a fole, he changeth as the moone.

12 If thou be among the vndiſcrete, keepe thy wordes to a conuenient time: but among ſuche as be wiſe, ſpeake on hardily.

13 The talking of fooles is abhomination, and their ſporte is voluptuouſneſſe and miſnurture.

14 Muche ſwearing, maketh the heare to ſtande vp: and to ſtriue with ſuche, ſtoppeth the eares. C Eccle.22.b.

15 The ſtrife of the proude is bloodſhedding, and their blaſpheming is heauy to heare.

16 Who ſo diſcouereth ſecretes, leeſeth his credence, & findeth no friend after his wil. Eccle.19.b. and.22.b.

17 Loue thy friende, and bynde thy ſelfe in faythfulneſſe with him: but if thou bewrayeſt his ſecrets, thou ſhalt not get him agayne.

18 For like as the mā is that deſtroyeth his enimie: ſo is hee alſo that dealeth falſely in the friendſhip of his neyghbour.

19 Like as one that letteth a byrde go out of his hande, can not take hir agayne: euen ſo thou, if thou giue ouer thy friende, thou canſt not get him agayne.

20 Yea, thou cāſt not come by him, for he is to far off: he is vnto thee as a Roe eſcaped out of the ſnare, for his ſoule is wounded.

21 As for woundes, they may be bounde vp agayne, and an euyll woorde may be reconcyled: but who ſo bewrayeth the ſecretes of a friende, there is no more hope to be had vnto him. D

22 He that wynketh with the eyes, imagineth ſome euil: and he that knoweth him, will let him alone. Pro.9.b.

23 When thou art preſent, he ſhall hyghly commende and prayſe thy wordes: but at the laſte hee ſhall turne his tayle, and slaunder thy saying.

24 Many things haue I hated, but nothing so euill: for the Lorde him selfe also abhorreth such a one.

Exod.21.b. 25 Who so casteth a stone on hygh, it shall fall vpon his owne head: and he that smiteth with guile, woundeth him selfe.

26 Who so diggeth a pit shall fall therein, and he that layeth a stone in his neighbours way, shall stumble thereon, and he that layeth a snare for another, shall be taken in it him selfe.

Deut.7.d. Psal.7.d. Pro.26.c. 27 Who so giueth a wicked noysome counsell, it shall come vpon him selfe, and he shall not knowe from whence.

Eccle.10.a. 28 The proude blaspheme, and are skorneful: but vengeance lurketh for thē as a lio.

29 They that reioyce at the fall of the righteous, shall be taken in the snare: anguishe of heart shall consume thē before they die.

30 Anger and rigorousnesse are two abhominable things, and the vngodly hath thē both vpon him.

The.xxviij. Chapter.

1. VVe ought not to desire vengeance, but to forgiue the offence. 13. Of the vices of the tong, and of the dangers thereof.

A 1 HE that seeketh vengeance, shall finde vengeance of the Lorde, which shall surely keepe him his sinnes.

Deut.32.a. Rom.12.c. Mat.5.b. 6.b.18.b. 2 Forgiue thy neighbour the hurte that he hath done thee, and so shall thy sinnes be forgiuen thee also when thou prayest.

3 A man that beareth hatred againste another, howe dare he desire forgiuenesse of God?

4 Hee that sheweth no mercye to a man which is like vnto him selfe, howe dare hee aske forgiuenesse of his sinnes?

5 If he that is but flesh, beareth hatred, and keepeth it, who will intreate for his sinnes?

6 Remember the end, and let enmitie passe, which seeketh death and destruction, and abyde thou in the commaundements.

B 7 Remember the commaundementes, so shalt thou not be rigorous ouer thy neighboure: thinke vpon the couenant of the highest, and forgiue thy neighbours ignorance.

Eccle.28.a. 8 Beware of strife, and thou shalt make thy sinnes fewer.

9 For an angry man kyndleth variance: & the vngodly disquieteth friendes, and putteth discord among them that be at peace.

Pro.26.c. 10 The more wood there is, the more vehement is the fire, and the mightier that men be, the greater is the wrath: according to his riches his anger encreaseth, & the lōger the strife endureth, the more it burneth.

11 An hastie brawling kindleth a fire, & an hastie strike, sheddeth bloude: a tong also that beareth false witnesse, bringeth death.

12 If thou blowe the sparke, it shall burne, if thou spyt vpon it, it shall goe forth, and both these come out of the mouth.

13 The slaunderer and double tonged, is cursed: for many one that be friendes, setteth he at variance. Eccle.11.d.

14 The "thyrde tong hath disquieted many one, and dryuen them from one lande to another: strong cities of the riche hath it broken downe, and ouerthrowne the houses of great men: the strength of the people hath it brought downe, and bin the decay of mightie nations.

"or, a double toung, which layeth, & mistaith, or speaketh one thig and thinketh an other. The thirde toung do some take for that whiche speaketh neyther vse of the new nor the olde testamēt, is of their owne brayne.

15 The thirde tong hath cast out many an honest woman, and robbed them of their labours. C

16 Who so hearkeneth vnto suche, shall neuer finde rest, and neuer dwell safely.

17 The stroke of the rodde, maketh pyntes in the skynne: but the stroake of the tong smyteth the bones in sunder.

18 There be many that haue perished with the swoorde: but many moe through the tong.

19 Well is him that is kept from an euyll tong, and commeth not in the anger thereof, which draweth not the yoke of such, and is not bound in the bandes of it.

20 For the yoke thereof of is yron, and the bande of it of "steele. "or, brasse. D

21 The death thereof is a verie euill death: hell were better for one than such a tong.

22 But the fire of it may not oppresse them that feare God, and the flame thereof may not burne them.

23 Suche as forsake the Lorde, shall fall therein, and it shall burne them, and no man shall be able to quench it: it shall fall vpon them as a Lion, and deuoure them as a Leoparde.

24 Thou hedgest thy goodes with thornes: why dost thou not rather make dores and barres for thy mouth?

25 Thou wayest thy golde and silver: why dost thou not waigh thy woordes also vpon the balance, and make a dore, and barre, and a sure bridle for thy mouth?

26 Beware that thou slide not thy tong, and so fall before thine enimies that laye wayte for thee, and thy fall be incurable, euen vnto death.

The.xxix.Chapter.

1. Howe we ought to lende our mony, and doo almes. 15. Of a faythfull man anſwering for his friende. 22. Of liberalitie and hoſpitalitie.

A 1 Who ſo will ſhewe mercie, let him lend vnto his neyghbour: and he that is able, let him keepe the commandements.
Deut.15.a. Luke.6.d.

2 Lende vnto thy neighbour in time of his nede, and pay thou thy neyghbour againe in due ſeaſon.

3 Keepe thy woꝛde, and deale faythfully with him: and thou ſhalt alway finde the thing that is neceſſarie foꝛ thee.

4 There haue beene many, that when a thing was lente them, reckened it to bee founde, and made them trauayle and labour that had helped them.

5 Whyle they receyue any thing, they kiſſe the handes of ſuche as gyue them, and foꝛ their neyghboures good they humble their voyce: but when they ſhoulde pay agayne, they keepe it backe, and giue euill woꝛdes, and make many excuſes by reaſon of the tyme.

6 And though he be able, yet gyueth hee ſcarſe the halfe agayne, and reckeneth the other to be founde: and if he withhold not his money, yet hath he an enimie of him, and that vndeſerued: he payeth him with curſing and rebuke, and gyueth him euyll woꝛdes foꝛ his good deede.

B 7 There be many one which are not gladde foꝛ to lende, not bicauſe of euyll: but they feare to loſe the thing that they lende.

8 Yet haue thou patience with the ſimple, and withholde not mercie from him.

9 Helpe the poꝛe foꝛ the commandementes ſake, and let him not go emptie from thee, bicauſe of his neceſſitie.

10 Loſe thy mony foꝛ thy brother & neyghbours ſake, and burie it not vnder a ſtone, where it ruſteth and coꝛrupteth.

Math.9.c. Luke.12.d. 1.Tim.6.d. Tob.4.d. 11 Gather thy treaſure after the commaundement of the higheſt, and ſo ſhall it bring thee moꝛe profite than golde.

12 Lay vp thine almes "in the hand of the poꝛe, and it ſhall keepe thee from all euyll.
"a, in the ſecret chabers.

Dan.4.d. Luke.12.d. Acts.10.a. 13 A mans almes is as a purſſe with him, and ſhall keepe a mans fauour as the apple of an eye: and afterwarde ſhall it ariſe and pay euery man his rewarde vpon his head.

C 14 It ſhall fight foꝛ thee againſt thine enimies, better than the ſhielde of a giant, oꝛ ſpeare of the mightie.

15 A good honeſt man is a ſuertie foꝛ his neyghboure: but a wicked perſon letteth him come to ſhame.

16 Foꝛget not the friendſhip of thy ſuertie: foꝛ he hath giuen his ſoule foꝛ thee.

17 The vngodly deſpiſeth the good deede of his ſuertie.

18 (a) The wicked will not become ſuertie, and the vnthankefull & ignoꝛant, leaueth his ſuertie in danger.
a. As he is a foole that is ſuertie for euery man: ſo is he vngodly that in no caſe wil be ſuertie for one man.

19 Some man pꝛomiſeth foꝛ his neygbour: and when he hath loſt his honeſtie, he ſhall foꝛſake him.

20 Suertiſhyppe hath deſtroyed manye a ryche man, and remoued them as the waues in the ſea: mightie people hath it dꝛiuen away, and cauſed them to wander in ſtrange countries.

21 An vngodly man tranſgreſſing the cõmaundement of the Loꝛde, ſhall fall into an euill ſuertiſhippe: and though he foꝛce him ſelfe to get out, yet ſhall he fall into iudgement. D

22 Helpe thy neighbour out after thy poꝛwer, and beware that thou thy ſelfe fall not in ſuche debte.

23 The chiefe thing that keepeth in the life, is water, and bꝛead, clothing, and lodging to couer the ſhame. Eccleſ.39.

24 Better is it to haue a poꝛe lyuing in a mans owne houſe, than delicate fare among the ſtrange.

25 Be it little oꝛ muche that thou haſt, hold thee content withall: and thou ſhalt not be blamed as a vagabonde. Pſal.36.b. 1.Tim.6.b Heb.13.a.

26 Foꝛ a miſerable life is it to go frõ houſe to houſe, and where a man is (b) fremde, he dare not open his mouth.
b. That is, ſtrãger without acquaintance, or kynrede.

27 Though one be lodged, and haue meate and dꝛinke, yet ſhall hee be taken as vnwoꝛthie, and heare many bytter roughe woꝛdes (namely thus:)

28 Go thy way thou ſtranger, and pꝛepare a table foꝛ thy ſelfe, and feede mee alſo of that thou haſt. E

29 Giue place thou ſtranger to an honoꝛable man, my bꝛother commeth into my houſe: and ſo telleth him the neceſſitie of his houſe.

30 Theſe things are beaupe to a man that hath vnderſtanding: (namely) the foꝛbidding of the houſe, and that the lender caſteth him in the teeth.

The.xxx.Chapter.

1. Of the correction of children. 14. Of the cõmoditie of health. 17. Death is better than a ſoꝛowfull lyfe. 18. Of hyd wiſedome. 22. Of the ioy and ſoꝛowe of the heart.

Pro.13.k. and.23.b.

1 WHo so loueth his childe, holdeth him still vnder correctiō, that he may haue ioy of him afterwarde, and that he grope not after his neyghboures doores.

Deut.6.a.

2 He that teacheth his sonne, shall haue ioy in him, and nede not to be ashamed of him among his acquaintance.

3 Who so enfourmeth & teacheth his sōne, greeueth the enimie: & before his friendes he may haue ioy of him.

4 Thoughe his father dye, yet is he as though he were not deade: for he hath left one behinde him that is like him.

5 In his lyfe he sawe him, and had ioye in him, and was not sory in his death, neyther was he ashamed before the enimies.

6 For he lefte behinde him an auenger agaynst his enimies, and a good doer vnto the friendes.

B 7 For the lyfe of childzen, he shall binde the woundes togither, and his hart is grieued at euery crye.

8 An vntamed horse wyll be harde, and a wanton childe will be wilfull.

9 If thou bring vp thy sonne delicately, hee shal make thee afrayde: and if thou playe with him, he shal bring thee to heauinesse.

10 Laugh not with him, leaste thou weepe with him also, and least thou gnashe with thy teeth at the laste.

Eccle.7.c.

11 Giue him no libertie in his youth, and excuse not his follie.

12 Bow downe his necke while he is yong, hit him vpon the sides whyle he is yet but a childe, least he ware stubborne, and gyue no more force of thee, & so shalt thou haue heauinesse of soule.

13 Teache thy childe, and be diligent therein, least it be to thy shame.

C 14 Better is the poore beeing whole and strong, than a man to be riche, and not to haue his health.

15 Health and welfare is aboue all golde, and a whole body aboue all treasure.

16 There is no riches aboue a sound body, and no ioy, aboue the ioye of the hart.

17 Death is better than a bitter lyfe, and eternal rest, better than continuall sickenesse.

18 (a) The good things that are put in a close mouthe, are like as when meate is layde vpon the graue.

19 What good doth the offering vnto an idol? for he can neither eate, taste, nor smel: euen so is he that is chased of the Lord, and beareth the rewardes of iniquitie.

20 He seeth with his eyes, and groneth like a gelded man, that lyeth with a virgine, and sygheth.

21 Gyue not ouer thy minde into heauinesse, and vexe not thy selfe in thine owne counsell. Pro.22.d. 15.b.17.d.

22 The ioy and chearefulnesse of the heart; D is the lyfe of man, and a mans gladnesse Eccle.38.c is the prolonging of his dayes. Pro.14.b.

23 Loue thine owne soule, & comfort thyne hart: as for sorowe and heauinesse driue it farre from thee, for heauinesse hath slayne many a man, and bringeth no profite. 2.Cor.7.

24 Zeale and anger shorten the dayes of the lyfe: carefulnesse and sorowe bring age before the time. Psal.7

25 Unto a merry heart, euery thing hath a good taste that he eateth.

The.xxxi. Chapter.

1. VVe ought to giue diligent heede to honestie. 2. Of them that take payne to gather ryches. 8. The prayse of the ryche man without a fault. 12. VVe ought to flee drunkennesse, & folowe soberneste.

1 I Rauayle and carefulnesse for riches, taketh away the sleepe, and maketh the flesshe to consume. 1.Tim.6

2 When one lyeth and taketh care, he waketh euer vp, like as a greate sickenes breaketh the sleepe. Eccle.37

3 The ryche hath greate labour in gathering his riches togyther, and then with the pleasure of his riches, he taketh his rest, and is refreshed.

4 But who so laboureth, and prospereth not, he is poore: and though he leaue off, yet is he a begger.

5 He that loueth riches, shal not be iustified: and who so folowyth corruption, shal haue ynough thereof. Rom.12

6 Many one are come in great misfortune by the reason of gold, and haue found their destruction before them. Eccle.14

7 It is a tree of falling vnto them that offer B it vp, and al such as be foolishe, fall therin.

8 Blessed is the riche which is found without blemishe, & hath not gone after golde, nor hoped in money and treasures.

9 Where is there suche a one, & we shall cōmend him, and call him blessed? for wonderfull things doth he among his people.

10 Who so is tryed, and founde perfect in suche things, shall be commended & praysed; who might offende, and hath not offended? who coulde do euill, and hath not done it? Pro.22.

11 Therefore shall his good bee stablyshed, and the whole congregation shall declare his almes.

12 If thou ſit at a greate mans table, open not thy mouth wyde vpon it, and ſay not, there is muche meate on it.

13 Remember that an euill eye is a ſhrewe: what thing created, is worſe than a wicked eye? therefore weepeth it before euery mans face.

C 14 Lay not thyne hande vpon euery thing that thyne eye ſeeth: and ſtriue not with him in the diſhe.

Prou.7.a. 15 Ponder by thy ſelfe what thy neyghbour woulde fayne haue, and be diſcrete in euery poynt.

16 Eate the thing that is ſette before thee mannerly, as it becommeth a man, and eate not to muche, leaſt thou be abhorred.

17 Leaue thou off firſt of al bicauſe of nurture, leaſt thou be he whome no man may ſatiſfie, which may turne to thy decay.

18 When thou ſyttest among manye men, reache not thine hande out firſt of all, neyther call thou firſt for drinke.

Eccle.37.c. 19 O how wel content is a wiſe man with a little wyne? ſo that in ſleepe thou ſhalt not be ſicke thereof, nor feele any payne.

20 A ſweete wholeſome ſleepe ſhall ſuche a one haue, and feele no inwarde greefe, he ryſeth vp betymes in the morning, and is well at eaſe in himſelfe: but an vnſatiable eater ſleepeth vnquietly, and hath ache and payne of the body.

D 21 If thou feeleſt that thou haſte eaten to muche, aryſe, go thy way, caſt it out of thy ſtomacke, and take thy reſte, and it ſhall eaſe thee, ſo that thou ſhalt bring no ſickeneſſe vnto thy body.

Rom.12.c. 22 My ſonne, heare me, and deſpiſe me not, and at the laſt, thou ſhalt finde as I haue tolde thee: in all thy workes bee diligent and quicke, ſo ſhall there no ſickneſſe happen vnto thee.

23 Who ſo is liberall in dealyng oute his meate, many men ſhall bleſſe him, & prayſe him with their lyppes: and the ſame is a ſure token of his loue and faythfulneſſe.

24 But he that is vnfaythfull in meate, the whole citie ſhall complaynte of him: and that is a ſure experience of his infidelitie and wickedneſſe.

25 Shew not thy valiantneſſe in wine, for wine hath deſtroyed many a man.

26 The fire proueth the hard yron: euen ſo doth wine proue the hearts of the proude, when they be drunken.

Pro.22.a. 27 Wine ſoberly drunken, quyckeneth the lyfe of man: if thou drynkeſt it meaſurably, thou ſhalt be temperate: what is the lyfe of him that is ouercome with wyne? what taketh away the lyfe? euen death.

28 Wine was made from the beginning to E make men glad, and not for drunkennelle: wine meaſurably drunken, is a reioycing of the ſoule and body: a meaſurable drinking, is health to ſoule and body.

29 But if it be drunken with exceſſe, it maketh bitternelle & ſorowe vnto the minde.

30 Drunkennelle filleth the mind of the fooliſhe with ſhame, and ruine, miniſheth the ſtrength, and maketh woundes.

31 Rebuke not thy neighbour at the wine, Eccle.20.a.
and deſpiſe him not in his mirth: giue him no deſpiteful wordes, and preaſſe not vpon him with contrary ſayings.

2 And when thou haſte done all thy duetie, E ſit thee downe, that thou mayeſt be merye with them, & receiue a crowne of honour.

3 Speake thou that art the elder, for it becommeth thee, but with ſure knowledge: hinder not muſicke.

4 Speake not where there is no audience: Eccle.3.d.
& powre not forth wiſedome out of tyme, at an importunitie.

5 Like as the Carbuncle ſtone ſhineth that is ſet in golde: ſo doth a ſong garniſh the wine feaſte.

6 And as the Smaradge that is ſet in golde: ſo is the ſweeteneſſe of muſicke, by the myxth of wine.

7 Giue care and be ſkyll, and for thy good B behauiour thou ſhalt be loued.

8 Thou yong man, ſpeake that becommeth thee, and that is profitable, and yet ſcarſe when thou art twiſe aſked.

9 Comprehend much with fewe wordes, in many things be as one that is ignorant: giue care, and hold thy tongue withall.

10 If thou be among men of high authoritie, deſire not to compare thy ſelfe vnto them: and when an elder ſpeaketh, make not thou many wordes therein.

11 Before the thunder, goeth lyghtning: and before nurture and ſhamefaſtnes, goeth loue and fauour.

12 Stande vp betimes, and be not the laſt: but get thee home ſone.

13 And there take thy paſſyme, and do what thou wilt: ſo that thou do no euyll, and deſie no man.

14 But for al things giue thanks vnto him that hath made thee, and repleniſhed thee with his goodes.

15 Who ſo feareth the Lorde, will receyue his doctrine: and they that gette them to him betimes, ſhall finde grace.

16 He that ſeketh the lawe, ſhall be fylled withall: as for him that is but faigned, he will be offended thereat.

17 They that feare the Lord, ſhall finde the iudgement, and their ryghteouſneſſe ſhall be kindled as a lyght.

18 An vngodly man will not be reformed, but can helpe him ſelfe with the example of other in his purpoſe.

19 A man of vnderſtanding deſpyſeth no good counſayle: but a wilde and proude body hath no feare, yea, euen when he hath dealte raſhly with another man: but his owne doings ſhall be his rebuke.

20 My ſonne, do nothyng withoute aduiſement: ſo ſhall it not repent thee after the deede.

D 21 Go not in the waye where thou mayeſt fall, nor where thou mayſt ſtumble againſt the ſtone: agayne, neither truſt thou to the way that is playne.

22 And beware of thyne owne chyldren: and take heede of them that bee of thyne owne houſholde.

23 In all thy workes put thy truſt in God, from thy whole hart: for that is the keeping of the commaundementes.

24 Who ſo beleeueth Gods worde, taketh heede to the commaundements: and hee that putteth his truſte in the Lorde, ſhall want nothing.

The.xxxiij.Chapter.

1. The deliuerance of him that feareth God. 4. The anſwere of the wiſe. 5. The little diſcretion of a foole. 12. Man is in the hande of God, as the earth is in the hande of the Potter. 25. VVe ought not to diſpoſe our ſelues to become ſubiect to other.

a. As a ſhip in the ſurging wawes without a guyde, daſheth agaynſte the rockes, or rūneth on the ſandes: ſo the hipocrite that is not ſtayde vppon Gods word, is ouerthrowen with euery blaſt of trouble and temptation.

1 THere ſhall no euyll happen vnto him that feareth God: but when he is in temptation, the Lorde ſhall delyuer him, & keepe him from euill.

2 A wiſe man hateth not the lawe, but an hypocrite (a) is as a ſhip in raging water.

3 A man of vnderſtanding giueth credence vnto the lawe of God, and the lawe is faithfull vnto him.

4 Be ſure of the matter, then talke therof: be firſt wel inſtruct, then mayeſt thou giue anſwere.

5 The hearte of the foliſhe is like a Carte wheele, and his thoughtes runne aboute like the axeltree.

6 (b) Like as a wylde horſe that neyeth vnder euery one that ſitteth vpon him, ſo is it with a ſcornefull friende.

b. As a horſe careth euery man, and yet neyeth after euery Mare: ſo is a ſcornefull friende that will flatter and ſerue euery man, and yet laugh him to ſcorne.

7 Why doth one day excel another, ſeing al the dayes of the yeere come of the ſunne?

8 The wiſedome of the Lord hath ſo parted them aſunder, and ſo hath he ordeyned the times and ſolempne feaſtes.

9 Some of them hath he choſen and halowed before other dayes.

B Gen. 2, 8.

10 And all men are made of the grounde, & out of the earth of Adam: in the multitude of ſcience hath the Lorde ſundered them, & made their wayes of diuers faſhions.

11 Some of them hath hee bleſſed, made muche of them, halowed them, and claymed them to himſelfe: but ſome of them hath he curſed, brought them low, and put them out of their eſtate.

12 Like as the clay is in the Potters hand, and al the ordering therof at his pleaſure: ſo are men alſo in the hande of him that made them, ſo that he may giue them as liketh him beſt.

13 Againſt euill is good, and againſt death is lyfe: ſo is the vngodly againſt ſuche as feare God.

c. Bicauſe of the contrary qualities which keepeth the vniuerſall harmony of al things, one counteruayling another, in number, weyght, and meaſure, or els would one getting the gouernment, deſtroy all the reſte: ſo the cōlde dooth temper the heat, moiſture the drouth, lightnes, heauines, brightneſſe, darkeneſſe, and contrariwiſe, ſo that all things do ſtande or concorde and diſcorde.

14 Beholde, theſe are the workes of the higheſt, and (c) there are euen two againſt two, and one ſet againſt another.

15 I am awaked vp laſte of all, as one that gathereth after in harueſt: in the gyftes of God, and in his bleſſing I am increaſed, and haue filled my wine preſſe like a grape gatherer.

16 Beholde howe I haue not laboured only for my ſelfe, but for all ſuch as loue nurture and wiſedome.

17 Heare me, Ye great men of the people, and hearken with your eares, ye rulers of the congregation.

18 (Giue not thy ſonne, & wife, thy brother and friend, power ouer thee whyle thou liueſt: and giue not away thy ſubſtance and good to another, leaſt it repent thee, & thou be fayne to aſke of them agayne.

19 As long as thou liueſt and haſt (d) breath, let no man change thee.

d. Let no miſe thee as his ſeruant, when thou haſt committed all the goodes into his hande.

20 For better it is thy chyldren to pray thee, than that thou ſhouldeſt bee fayne to looke in their handes.

21 In all thy workes, be excellent, that thy honour be neuer ſtayned.

22 At the tyme when thou shalt ende thy dayes, and finishe thy lyfe, distribute thine inheritances.

D 23 The fodder, the whippe, and the burden, belongeth vnto the Asse: meate, correction, and worke, vnto the seruant.

24 If thou set thy seruant to labour, thou shalt finde rest: but if thou let him go idle, he shall seeke libertie.

25 The yoke and the whyppe bowe downe the harde necke: but tame thou thy cuyll seruant, with bondes and correction.

26 Sende him to labour, that he go not ydle: for idlenesse bringeth much cuyll.

27 Sette him to worke, for that belongeth vnto him, and becommeth him well.

28 If he be not obedient, bynde his feete: but do not to much vnto him in any wise, and without discretion do nothing.

E 29 If thou haue a (faythfull) seruant, lette him be vnto thee as thine owne soule: entreate him as a brother, for in bloodde hast thou gotten him: if thou haue a seruant, holde him as thy selfe, for thou hast neede of him, as of thy selfe.

30 If thou intreatest him cuyll, and keepest him harde, and makest him to bee proude, and to runne away from thee, thou canst not tell what way thou shalt seeke him.

The.xxxiiij. Chapter.

1. Of dreames, diuinations, and enchantments. 6. We ought to confute vayne hope, and lying. 13. The prayse of them that feare God. 22. Of diuers workes of men. 27. God doth not allowe the workes of an vnfaithful man.

A 1 VNwyse people beguyle them selues with vayne and deceytfull hope, and fooles truste in dreames.

'Of, dreames make fooles to haue wings: for loue, riches, pictures & suche like, are but as dreames, wherein fooles doo glory, for when they awake from their long sleepe, this thing shall be vanquished cleane away.

2 Who so regardeth dreames, is like him that will take holde of a shadowe, and folowe after the winde.

3 Euen so is it with the appearinges of dreames: before the face, is the likenesse of a face.

4 Who can be cleansed of the vncleane? Or what trueth can be spoken of a lyer?

5 Soothsaying, witchcraft, sorcerie, & dreaming is but vayne: like as when a woman trauayleth with childe, and hath many fantasies in hir hart.

6 Where as such visions come not of God, set not thine heart vpon them:

B 7 For dreames haue deceyued many a mã, & they fayled that put their trust therein.

8 The law shal be fulfilled without lyes, & wisdome is sufficient to a faithful mouth:

what knowledge hath he that is not tried?

9 A wise man that is well instruct, vnderstandeth muche: and he that hath good experience, can talke of wisedome.

10 He that hath no experience, knoweth little, and he that erreth, causeth muche wickednesse: he that is not tryed, what things knoweth he? he that hath bene deceyued, is full of subtiltie.

11 When I was yet in errour, I learned muche also: yea, I was so learned, that I coulde not expresse it all.

12 And came oft in perill of death therfore, tyll I was deliuered from it throughe the grace of God.

13 Nowe I see that they which feare God, haue the right spirite, for their hope standeth in him that can helpe them: and the eyes of the Lorde are on them that loue him.

14 Who so feareth the Lorde, standeth in C awe of no man, and is not afraide: for the Lorde is his hope and comfort.

15 Blessed is the soule of hym that feareth the Lorde: in whome putteth he his trust? who is his strength?

16 For the eyes of the Lorde haue respecte vnto them that loue him, he is their mightie protection and strong grounde: a defence for the heate, a refuge for ỹ hot nowne day, a succour for stumbling, and an helpe for falling.

17 He setteth vp the soule, and lyghteneth the eyes: he giueth lyfe and blessing.

18 He that giueth an offering of vnrighteous good, his offering is refused: and the scornefull dealings of the vnrighteous, please not God.

19 The Lord is theirs onely that patiently abyde him in the way of the trueth, and of ryghteousnesse.

20 The highest doth not allow the giftes of D the wicked: and God hath no delyght in the offerings of the vngodly, neither may sinne be reconciled in the multitude of oblations.

21 Who so bringeth an offering out of the goodes of the poore, doth euen as one that killeth the sonne before the fathers eyes.

22 The bread of the needefull, is the lyfe of the poore: he that defraudeth him therof, is a man of bloodde.

23 Who so robbeth his neighbour of his liuing, doth as greate sinne as though hee slue him to death: he that defraudeth the labourer of his hyre, is a blood shedder.

24 When one buyldeth, and another breaketh downe: what profite haue they then but labour?

2. When a riche man, hauing gotten his goodes by robberie, extortiō, briberie, or craft, & ſubtiltie, vſurie, or ſimonie, or withholding ſeruantes or labourers wages, & of that wil offer a gift vnto God, that he may heare his prayer: on the other part the poore whiche is oppreſſed or defrauded, prayeth to God to ſee and iudge his cauſe: whoſe prayer thinke you, wil God moſt chiefly heare?

25 (a) When one prayeth, and another curſeth, whoſe prayer will the Lorde heare?
26 He that waſheth him ſelfe bycauſe of a dead bodie, and then toucheth the dead againe, what doth his waſhing?
27 So is it with a man that faſteth for his ſinnes, and doth them agayne: who wyll heare his prayer? or what doth his faſting helpe him?

The.xxxv. Chapter.

1. It is well done to praye and to doo ſacrifice. 14. The prayer of the fatherleſſe, and of the widowe, and of him that humbleth himſelfe.

1 Who ſo keepeth the lawe, bringeth offerings ynough: he that holdeth faſt the commaundement, offereth the right healthy offering.
2 He that is thankful, & recompenceth, offereth fine floure: who ſo is mercifull, & giueth almes, ỳ is the right thanke offering.

2.Cor 9.b. 9 In all thy gyfts ſhew a chearefull countenance, and halowe thy tythes vnto God with gladneſſe.
Tobi. 4.b. 10 Gyue vnto God accordyng as he hathe enryched and proſpered thee: and loke what thyne hande is able, gyue with a chearefull eye.
11 For the Lorde recompenceth, and giueth thee ſeuen tymes as muche agayne.
12 Gyue no vnryghteous gyftes, for ſuche will he not receyue: beware of wrong offerings, for the Lord is a righteous iudge, and regardeth no mans perſon.
13 He accepteth not the perſon of the poore: but he heareth the prayer of the oppreſſed.
C 14 He deſpiſeth not the deſire of the fatherleſſe, nor the widowe when ſhee powreth out hir prayer before him.
Judith.4.b 15 Doth not God ſee ỳ teares that runne downe the cheekes of the widdowe? Or heareth he not the complaynte ouer ſuche as make hir to weepe? for from hir cheekes dow the teares go vp into heauen, and the Lorde whiche heareth them, doth accept them.
16 Who ſo ſerueth God after his pleaſure, ſhall be accepted: and his prayer reacheth vnto the cloudes.
Tre.3.d 17 The prayer of him that humbleth him ſelfe, goeth through the cloudes: tyll thee come nygh, ſhe will not be comforted, nor go hir waye till the hyghеſt God haue reſpect vnto hir, giue true ſentence, and perfourme the iudgement.
End.4. 18 And the Lord will not be ſlacke in comming, nor tarrie long, till he haue ſmitten in ſunder the backes of the vnmercifull, and auenged himſelfe of the heathen, tyll he haue taken away the multitude of the cruell, and broken the ſcepter of the vnryghteous, tyll he gyue euery man after his workes, and rewarde them after their doings, tyll he haue deliuered his people, mainteined their cauſe, and reioyced them in his mercie.
1.Par.6. 19 O how fayre a thing is mercy in ỳ time of anguiſh & trouble? It is like a cloude of rayne that commeth in the time of drouth.

The.xxxvi. Chapter.

1. A prayer to God, in the perſon of all faythful men. 22. The prayſe of a good woman.

Num.6. 2 And ſende thy feare among the heathen, & ſtrangers whiche ſeeke not after thee, that they may knowe that there is no God but thou, and that they may ſhewe thy wonderous workes.
1.Cor. 3 Lyft vp thine hande ouer the outlandiſhe heathen, that they may learne to know thy myght and power.
4 Like as thou arte halowed in vs before them: ſo bryng to paſſe that thou mayeſt be magnified alſo in them before vs.
5 That they may knowe thee, like as wee knowe thee: for there is none other God but onely thou, O Lorde.
6 Renue the tokens, and change the wonderous workes: ſhewe thyne hande and thy ryght arme gloriouſly.
7 Rayſe vp thine indignation, & powre out thy wrath: take away the aduerſarie, and ſmite the enimie. B
8 Make the time ſhort, remember thy couenaunt, that thy wonderous workes may be prayſed.

9 Let the wrath of the fire conſume them that liue ſo carelesse: and let them perysshe that do thy people hurt.

10 Smite in ſunder the heade of the Princes that be our enimies, and ſay, There is none other but we.

11 Gather all the tribes of Jacob together agayne, that they may knowe howe that there is none other God but onely thou, that they may ſhewe thy wonderous worckes: and be thou thy peoples heritage, like as from the beginning.

End.4.c. 12 O Lorde haue mercie vppon the people that hath thy name, and vpon Iſraell whō thou haſt likened to a firſt borne ſonne.

1.Par.6.g. 13 O be mercifull vnto Jeruſalem the citie of thy ſanctuarie, the citie of thy reſt.

¶ 14 Fill Sion with thyne vnſpeakeable vertues, and thy people with thy glory.

15 Giue witneſſe vnto thy creature whome thou madeſt from the beginning, and raiſe vp the prophecies that haue bene ſhewed in thy name.

16 Rewarde them that waite for thee, that thy prophetes may be founde faithfull.

17 O Lord heare the prayer of thy ſeruants, Num.6.b. according to the bleſſing of Aaron ouer thy people, and guyde thou vs in the way of righteouſneſſe: that all they which dwel vpon the earth, may knowe that thou arte the Lorde the eternall God, which is from euerlaſting.

18 The bellie deuoureth all meates: yet is one meate better than another.

1.Cor.1.b. 19 Like as the tong taſteth veniſon, ſo doth an hearte of vnderſtanding marke falſe wordes.

20 A frowarde heart giueth heauineſſe: but a man of experience liſteth him vp againe.

21 The woman receiueth euerie man: yet is one daughter better than another.

D 22 A fayre wife reioyceth hir huſband: and a man loueth nothing better.

23 If there be in hir tong, gentleneſſe, mekeneſſe, and wholſome talke: then is not hir huſbande like other men.

24 He that hath gotten a vertuous womā, hath a goodly poſſeſſion: ſhe is vnto him a helpe and piller whereupon he reſteth.

25 Where no hedge is, there the goods are ſpoyled: and where no huſwife is, there the friendleſſe mourneth.

26 Like as there is no credence giuen to a robber that goeth from one citie to another: ſo is not the man beleeued that hath no neſt, and muſt turne in where he maye abyde in the night.

The.xxxvij.Chapter.

1 Howe a man ſhoulde knowe friendes and counſellers. 12. and ſearch the companie of an holy man.

1 EVery friende ſayth, I will be friendly vnto him alſo: but there is ſome friende which is only a friend in name. A

2 Remayneth not there heauineſſe vnto death, when a companion and friende is turned to an enimie?

3 O moſt wicked preſumption: from whēce art thou ſprong vp to couer the earth with falſhode and deceit?

4 There is ſome cōpanion, which in proſperitie reioyceth with his friende: but in the time of trouble, he taketh part againſt hym. Eccle.7.b.

5 " There is ſome companion that mourneth with his friende for the bellyes ſake: but when trouble commeth, he taketh hold of the ſhielde. " or, there is ſome cōpanion that helpeth his friend for the bellies ſake, & taketh vp the buckler againſt the enimie.

6 Forget not thy friende in thy mynde, and thinke vpon him in thy riches.

7 Seeke no counſell at thy kinſemen, and hyde thy counſell from ſuch as beare thee no good wyll.

8 Euery counſeller prayſeth his counſell: B neuertheleſſe, there is ſome that counſelleth but for his owne profite. Eccle.8.k.

9 Beware of the counſeller, and be aduiſed afore whereto thou wilt vſe him (for he will counſell for him ſelfe) leaſt he caſt the lot vpon thee,

10 And ſay vnto thee, Thy way and purpoſe is good: and afterwarde he ſtande againſt thee, and loke what ſhall become of thee.

11 Aſke no counſell at him that ſuſpecteth thee for an enimie, and hyde thy counſell from ſuche as hate thee: aſke no counſell for religion, of him that is without religion, nor for iuſtice, of him that hath no iuſtice: aſke no counſell at a woman, touching hir of whome ſhe is iealous, nor at a fearefull and faint hearted body in matters of warre: or at a Marchant howe deare he will cheape thy wares towarde his: or at a buyer, of ſelling: or at an enuious man, of thankeſgiuing: or at the vnmercifull, of louing kindneſſe: or at an vnhoneſt man, of honeſtie: or at the ſlouthfull, of working: or at an hyreling which hath no houſe, of profite or wealth: or at an idle body, of muche laboure: take no ſuch folkes to counſell.

12 But be diligent to ſeeke counſell at a vertuous man that feareth God, ſuch a one as thou knoweſt to be a keeper of the commaundements, which hath a mynde after thyne owne mynde, and is ſorye for thee when thou ſtumbleſt.

13 And holde thy counſell faſt in thine hart: for there is no man more faythful to keepe it than thou thy ſelfe.

C 14 For a mans mynd is ſomtime diſpoſed to tell out more, than ſeuen watchmen that ſit aboue in an highe place loking about them.

15 And aboue all this, pray the higheſt that he will leade thy way in faythfulneſſe and trueth.

16 Before al thy workes aſke counſell firſt: and or euer thou doeſt any thing, be well aduiſed.

17 There be foure things that declare a changed heart, whereout there ſpringeth euyll and good, death and lyfe, and a maiſterfull tong that babbleth much.

18 Some man is apte and well inſtructed in many things, and yet very vnprofitable vnto him ſelfe.

19 Some man there is that can giue wyſe and prudent counſell, and yet is he hated, and continueth a begger.

20 For that grace is not giuen him of God to be accepted.

D 21 Another is robbed of all wiſedome: yet is he wiſe vnto him ſelfe, and the fruite of vnderſtãding is cõmendable in his mouth

22 A wiſe man maketh his people wiſe, and the fruites of his wiſedome faile not.

23 A wiſe man ſhall be plenteouſly bleſſed of God: and all they that ſee him, ſhall ſpeake good of him.

24 The lyfe of man ſtandeth in the number of the dayes: but the dayes of Iſrael are innumerable.

25 A wiſe man ſhall obteyne faythfulneſſe and credence among his people, and hys name ſhall be perpetuall.

26 My ſonne, proue thy ſoule in thy ſelfe, and if thou ſee any euill thing, giue it not vnto hir:

1.Cor.6.c. 27 For all things are not profitable for all men, neyther hath euery ſoule pleaſure in euery thing.

28 Be not greedie in euery eating, and be not to haſtie vpon all meates.

Eccle.30.b. 29 For exceſſe of meates bringeth ſickneſſe, and glutonie commeth at the laſte to an vnmeaſurable heate.

30 Through ſurfet haue many one peryſhed: but he that dyeteth him ſelfe temperately, prolongeth his life.

The.xxxviij.Chapter.

1. A Phiſition is commendable, 6. To burie the dead. 24. The wiſdome of him that is learned.

1 HOnour the Phiſition, honor him with A that honor ẏ is due vnto him, bycauſe of neceſſitie: for God hath created him.

2 For of the higheſt commeth medicine, and he ſhall receiue giftes of the king.

3 The wiſdome of the Phiſition bringeth him to great worſhip, and in the ſight of the great men of this world, he ſhall be honourably taken.

4 The Lorde hath created medicine of the earth: and he that is wiſe wyll not abhorre it. 1.Reg.

with a tree, that men might learn to know the vertue thereof.

6 The Lorde hath giuen men wyſedome and vnderſtanding, that he might be honoured in his wonderous workes.

7 With ſuch doth he heale men, and taketh B away their paynes:

8 Of ſuch doth the Pothecarie make a confection, yet can no man perfourme all his workes: for of the Lorde commeth proſperous wealth ouer all the earth.

9 My ſonne, deſpiſe not this in thy ſick- 2.Chr.16.d. neſſe: but pray vnto the Lord, and he ſhal make thee whole.

10 Leaue off from ſinne, & order thy hands aright, cleanſe thyne heart from all wyckednelſe.

11 Giue a ſweete ſauoured offering, and the fine floure for a token of remembrance: make the offering fat, as one that giueth the firſt fruites, 12 And giue rome to the Phiſition, for the Lorde hath created him, let him not goe from thee, for thou haſt neede of him.

13 The houre may come, that the ſicke may be helped through them,

14 When they pray vnto the Lord, that he C may recouer and get health to liue longer.

15 He that ſinneth before his maker, ſhall fall into the handes of the Phiſition.

16 My ſonne, bring forth thy teares ouer Eccle.22.c.
the deade, and begin to mourne, as if thou haddeſt ſuffered great harme thy ſelf: and then couer his bodye after a conuenient maner, and deſpiſe not his buriall.

17 Enforce thy ſelfe to weepe, and prouoke 2.Thel.4.
thy ſelf to mourne and make lamentation expediently, and be earneſt in mourning, and vſe lamentation as he is worthy, and that a day or two, leaſt thou be euill ſpoke of:

of: and then comfort thy selfe, because of the heauinesse.

18 For of heauinesse commeth death, the heauinesse of the heart, breaketh strength.

19 Heauinesse and pouertie, greeueth the hart in temptation and offence.

20 Take no heauinesse to heart, driue it away, and remember the last things.

21 Forget it not, for there is no turning agayne, thou shalt do him no good, but hurt thy selfe.

22 Remember his iudgement, thyne also shall be likewise: vnto me yesterday, vnto thee to day.

23 Let the remembrance of the deade ceasse in his rest, and comfort thee agayne ouer him, seing his spirit is departed from him.

24 The wisedome of the scribe is at conuenient time of rest: and he that ceaseth frō exercises and labour, shall be wise.

25 How can he get wisedome that holdeth the Plough, and he that hath pleasure in the goade, and in dryuing the oxen, and is occupied in their labours, and his talke is but of the breeding of bullockes?

26 He setteth his heart to make forrowes, and is diligent to giue the kyne fodder.

27 So is euery Carpenter also, and workmaister, that laboureth still night and day: he caruеth, graueth, cutteth out, and his desire is in sundrie cunning things, his heart imagineth how he may cunningly cast an image, his diligence also and watching perfourmeth the worke.

28 The yron Smyth in lyke manner bydeth by his stithie, and doth his diligence to labour the yron: the vapour of the fyre burneth his flesh, and he must fight with the heate of the furnace: the noyse of the hammer euer soundeth in his eares, and his eyes loke still vpon the thing that he maketh: he hath set his mynde thereupon, that he will make out his worke, and therfore he watcheth howe he may set it out, and bring it to an end.

29 So doth the Potter set by his worke, he turneth the wheele about with his feete, he is diligent and carefull in all doings, and maketh his worke in number.

30 He fashioneth the claye with his arme, and with his feete he tempereth it: his heart imagineth howe he maye make it pleasant, and his diligence is to cleanse the ouen.

31 All these hope in their handes, and euery one thinketh to be cunning in his worke.

32 Without these may not the cities be maynteyned, inhabited, nor occupied:

33 Yet come they not byghe in the congregation, neyther sit they vpon the iudgement seates: they vnderstande not the couenant of the lawe, they can not declare equitie and iudgement, they can not fynde out the darke sentences.

34 But through them shall the creature of the worlde be maynteyned, their desyre concerneth onely the worke and labour of cunning.

The.xxxix. Chapter.

1. A wise man. 16. The workes of God. 24. Vnto the good, things do profit: but vnto the euil, euen good things are euill.

1 HE that applyeth his mynde to vnderstande the lawe of God, doth diligently seeke out the wisedome of them of the olde time, and exerciseth him selfe in the prophetes.

2 He keepeth the sayings of famous men, and prealleth to the vnderstanding of darke sentences of wisedome.

3 He seeketh out the mysterie of secret sayings, and exerciseth him selfe therein continually.

4 He doth seruice among great men, and appeareth before the prince: he goeth into a strange countrie, and trauelleth through it: loke what good or euill is among men, he proueth, and seeketh it out.

5 He purposeth in his heart to resorte early vnto the Lorde that made him, and to praye before the highest God: he openeth his mouth in prayer, and prayeth for his sinnes.

6 When the great Lord will, he shal be filled with the spirit of vnderstanding, that he may then poure out wise sentences, and giue thankes vnto the Lord in his prayer.

7 He shall order his deuise, and leade his knowledge aryght, and giue him vnderstanding of secrete things.

8 Hee shall shewe forth the science of hys learning, and reioyce in the couenant of the lawe of the Lorde:

9 The whole congregation shall commend his wisedome, and it shall neuer be put out: the remembrance of him shall neuer be forgotten, and his name shall continue from one generation to another.

10 His wisedome shall be spoken of among the people, and the whole congregation shall openly declare his prayse. Eccle. 44.d

11 While he liueth, he hath a greater name than a thousande beside: and after death, the same name remayneth vnto him.

12 Yet

12 Yet will I ſpeake of more men of vnderſtanding, for I am full as the mone.

13 Hearken vnto me ye holy vertuous children, bring forth fruite as the roſe that is planted by the brookes of the fielde,

C 14 And geue ye a ſweete ſmell as incenſe, flouriſhe as the roſe garden, ſing a ſong of prayſe, O geue thankes vnto God ouer all his workes.

15 Giue magnificence vnto his name, and ſet him forth in his prayſe with your lips, and with muſicke and harmonie: yea euen with the ſong of your lippes, with harpes and playing, and in giuing thankes vnto him, ſay after this manner:

Gene.1.d. 16 All the workes of the Lorde are exceeding good, and all his commaundementes are meete and conuenient in due ſeaſon.

17 A man neede not to ſay, what is that? what is that? for at a time conuenient they ſhall all be ſought: at his commaundement the water was as a wall, at the worde of his mouth, the water ſtode ſtill.

Gen.7.b. 18 In his commaundement is euerie thing acceptable and reconciled, and his healthcan not be minished.

19 The workes of all fleſhe are before him, and there is nothing hyd from his eyes.

20 He ſeeth frō euerlaſting to euerlaſting, and there is nothing to wonderfull or high vnto him.

D 21 A man neede not to ſay then, What is this, or that? for he hath made al things to doe good vnto man.

Dee.14.b. Rom.8.d. 22 His bleſſing ſhall runne ouer as the ſtreame, and moyſture the earth like as a floude of water.

23 Lyke as he maketh the drouth: ſo ſhall his wrath fall vpon the heathen.

24 His wayes are playne and ryght vnto the iuſt: but the vngodly ſtumble at them.

25 (a) For the good, are good things created from the beginning, and euill things for the vngodly.

26 All things neceſſarie for the life of man, are created from the beginning: water, fire, yron, and ſalte, meale, wheate, and hony, mylke, and wyne, oyle, and clothing:

27 All theſe things are created for the beſte to the faythfull: but to the vngodly, ſhall all theſe things be turned to hurt & harme.

28 There be ſpirites that are created for vengeance, and in their rigorouſneſſe haue they faſtned their tormentes: in the tyme of ỹ end, they ſhal poure out their ſtrength & pacifie the wrath of him that made them.

Eccle.40.b 29 Fyre, hayle, hunger, and death: all theſe things are created for vengeance.

30 The teeth of wylde noyſome beaſtes, the ſcorpions, ſerpentes, and the ſworde, are created alſo for vengeance, to the deſtruction of the vngodly.

31 They ſhall be glad to do his commaundements, and when neede is, they ſhall be readie vpon earth: and when their houre is come, they ſhall not ouerpaſſe the commaundement of the Lorde.

32 Therefore haue I taken a good courage vnto me from the beginning, and haue thought to put theſe thinges in writing, and to leaue them behinde me;

33 All the workes of the Lord are good, and he giueth euery one in due ſeaſon, and when neede is. Gene.6.b.

34 So that no man neede not to ſay, This is worſe than that: for in due ſeaſon they are all pleaſant and good.

35 And therefore prayſe the Lorde with whole heart and mouth, and geue thankes vnto his name.

The.xl. Chapter.

1. Many miſeries light in a mans life. 11. All things paſſe away, but a firme and ſtable faith remayneth. 14. Of the bleſsing of the righteous, and prerogatiue of the feare of God.

1 A GReat trauell is created for all men, and an heauie yoke vpon all the ſones of Adam, from the daye that they goe out of their mothers womb, tyll they be buryed in (the earth) the mother of all thing.

2 (Namely) their thoughtes and imaginations, feare of the heart, counſell, meditations, longing and deſire, the day of death:

3 From the hyghest that ſitteth vppon the glorious ſeate, vnto the loweſt and moſte ſimple vpon the earth:

4 From him that is glorioully arayed, and weareth a crowne, vnto him that is but homely, and ſimply clothed.

5 There is nothing but wrath, zeale, fearefulneſſe, vnquietneſſe, and feare of death, rigorouſneſſe, anger, and ſtrife: and in the nyght when one ſhoulde reſt and ſleepe vpon his bed, the ſleepe chaungeth his vnderſtanding and knowledge.

6 A little or nothing is his reſt in the ſleepe, as well as in the day of labour: he feareth, and is diſquieted in the viſion of his hart, as one that runneth out of a battel.

7 And in the time of helth he awaketh, and marueileth that the feare was nothing. B

8 Such things happen vnto all fleſhe, both man and beaſt: but ſeuen folde to the vngodly.

9 More-

a. The creatures of God, are good by creation. But as good men vſe thē to the glory of God, the profite of others, & their owne neceſsitie: ſo the vngodly doe not acknowledge them as the good giftes of god, but abuſe them either in ryot and exceſſe, or els in miſerable keping of them, take them for their Gods: Mat.25.d.

Eccle.39.c. 9 Moreouer, death, bloudshedding, strife, and swoorde, oppression, hunger, destruction, and punishment:

Gene.7.d. 10 These things are all created agaynste the vngodly, and for their sakes came the floude also.

Gene.3.d. 11 All that is of the earth, shall turne to earth agayne, and all waters ebbe againe into the sea.

12 All bribes and vnrighteousnesse shall be put away: but faythfulnesse and trueth shall endure for euer.

13 The substance and goodes of the vngodly shall be dryed vp, and sincke away as a watrr floud,(a) and they shal make a sound like a great thunder in the rayne.

(a) That is, with great tumult and trouble shall they be dispersed, and scattered abroade like as the roaring thunder.

14 Like as the ryghteous reioyceth when he openeth his hande: so shall the transgressours be faint when their goods banish and consume away.

C Eccle.41.b. 15 The childre of the vngodly shall not obteyne many branches:

16 And the vncleane rootes vpon the byghe rockes, shall be rooted out before the grasse by the water syde, & vpon the riuer bankes.

17 Friendlynesse and liberalitie in the increase and blessing of God, is lyke a paradise and garden of pleasure: such mercie also and kyndnesse endureth for euer.

1.Tim.6.b. Phil.4.b. 18 To labour and to be content with that a man hath, is a sweete pleasant life: and that is, to finde a treasure of all treasures.

19 To beget children, and to repayre the citie, maketh a perpetuall name: but an honest woma, is more worth than they both.

20 Wine and minstrelsy reioyceth the hart: but the loue of wisdome is aboue the both.

D 21 Pyping & harping make a swete noyse: but a friendly tong goeth beyonde them both.

22 Thyne eye desireth fauour and beautie: but a greene seede time, rather than they both.

23 A friende and companion, come together at opportunitie: but aboue them bothe, is a wyfe that agreeth with hir husbande.

24 Brethren and helpes are profytable in tyme of trouble: but almes shall delyuer more than they both.

25 Golde and syluer fasten the feete: but a good counsell is more pleasant than they both.

26 Temporall substance and strength lyft vp the mynde: but the feare of the Lorde, more than they bothe: the feare of the Lorde wanteth nothing, and needeth no helpe.

27 The feare of the Lord is a pleasant garden of blessing, and nothing so beautifull as it is. E

28 My sonne, leade not a beggers lyfe: for better it were to dye than to begge.

29 The lyfe of him that loketh vpon another mans table, is not to be counted for a lyfe, for he defyleth his soule in other mens meate: but a wyse and well nurtured ma will beware thereof.

30 Begging is sweete in the mouth of the vnshamefast: but in his bellye there burneth a fire.

The.xli.Chapter.

1. Of the remembrance of death. 3. Death is not to be feared. 8. A curse vpon them that forsake the lawe of God. 12. Good name and fame. 14. An exhortation to giue heede vnto wisedome. 17. Of what things a man ought to be ashamed.

1 O Death (a) howe bitter is the remembrance of thee, to a man that seeketh rest and comforte in his substance and ryches, vnto the man that hath nothing to vexe him, and that hath prosperitie in all things, yea vnto him that yet is able to receiue meate? A

(a) Temporall death is bytter to foure sortes of men: one, to infideles that loke for no life after this: seconde, to them that set their plesure in their riches, from whence they now must needs depart: third, to the that neuer tasted of the crosse: fourth, to them that be strong & lustie in bodie, for that they strogly struggle with death: but sweete vnto the contrarie.

2 O death, howe acceptable and good is thy iudgement vnto the needefull, and vnto him whose strength fayleth, and that is nowe in his last age, and that in al things is full of care and carefulnesse, vnto him also that is in dispayre, and hath no hope nor patience?

3 Be not thou afrayde of death, remember them that haue bene before thee, and that come after thee: this is the iudgement of the Lorde ouer all flesh.

4 And why wouldest thou be agaynste this pleasure of the highest? whether it be tenne, an hundred, or a thousande yeres, " death asketh not howe long one hath lyued.

Gene.8.d. "or, there is no defence for life agaynste the graue.

5 The children of the vngodly are abhominable children, and so are they that keepe companie with the vngodly.

6 The inheritance of the vngodly children shall come to naught, and their posteritie shall haue perpetual shame and confusion. Eccle.11.c.

7 The children complayne of an vngodly father: and why? for his sake they are rebuked and despised. B

8 Wo be vnto you, O ye vngodly, which haue forsake the law of ỹ highest God: for though ye do increase, yet shal you perish.

9 If ye doe liue, ye shall be accursed: if ye dye, the curse shall be your portion.

10 All

Eccle.11.b. 10 All that is of the earth, shall turne to earth agayne: so goe the vngodly also out of the curse into destruction.

11 Though men mourne for their bodye: yet the name of the vngodly shall be put out, for it is nothing worth.

Eccle.22.a. 12 Laboure to get thee a good name: for that shall continue surer by thee, than a thousand great treasures of golde.

13 A good life hath a number of dayes: but a good name endureth euer.

℣ 14 My children, keepe wysedome in peace: for wisdom that is hid, and a treasure that is not seene, what profit is in them both?

Eccle.20.b. 15 A man that hydeth his folyshnesse, is better, thã a man that hideth his wisdome.

16 Therefore be ye turned at my wordes: for it is not good in all things and alway to be ashamed: (a) True fayth must proue and measure it.

17 Be ashamed of whoredome before father and mother: be ashamed of leasing before the prince and men of authoritie:

18 Of sinne, before the iudge and ruler: of offence, before the congregation and people: of vnrighteousnesse, before a companion and friende:

19 Of theft, before thy neighbours: as for the trueth of God and his couenant, be not ashamed thereof: (b) be ashamed to lie with thyne elbowes vpon the breade, or to be reproued for giuing or taking:

20 And of silence, vnto them that salute thee: be ashamed to loke vpon harlots:

21 Be ashamed to turne away thy face from thy kinsman, be ashamed " to take and not to giue:

22 Be ashamed also to loke vpon an other mans wife, and to make many trifling wordes with hir mayden, or to stande by hir bed syde.

25 Be ashamed to vpbrayde thy friende: when thou gyuest any thing, call him not in the teeth withall, 24 Or to reporte the matter that thou hast heard, or to disclose the secrete wordes: so shalt thou well be shamefast, and shalt find fauour with all men.

a. True fayth doth all things in season and oportunitie, when and how euery one ought to be ordered. For strong meate and hard bread nourisheth some, & straggleth other: som one herbe healeth some mãs disease, & encreaseth some againe.

b. Being bydden to another mans table, presume not to the highest place, be not so homely that thou lye with thyne elbowes vpon the table ouer thy bread for that is vnmanerly, Luke.14.

" or, to take away a gifte from any mã.

The.xlij. Chapter.

1. The lawe of God must be taught. 9. A daughter. 14. A woman. 18. God knoweth all things, yea, euen the secretes of the heart.

1 Of these things be not ashamed, and accept no person to offende, (Namely, of these things be not ashamed:)

2 Of the lawe of God, of the couenant, of iudgement, to bring the vngodly from his vngodlynesse vnto righteousnesse, and to make him a good man.

3 To deale faythfully with thy neyghbour and companion, to distribute the heritage vnto the friendes:

4 To be diligent to kepe true measure and waight: to be content whether thou getest much or little.

5 To deale truely with temporall goods in buying and selling, to bring vp children with diligence, to correct an euill seruant:

6 To kepe that thyne is from an euill wife, to set a locke where many handes are:

7 What thou deliueresst and giuest out to be kept, to tell it, and to wey it, to write vp all thy outgiuing and receiuing: ℣

8 To enfourme the vnlearned and vnwise of the aged that are iudged of the yong: if thou be diligent in these things, truely thou shalt be learned and wise, and accepted of all men.

9 The daughter maketh the father to watch secretely, and the carefulnesse that he hath for hir, taketh away his sleepe, yea in hir youth, least she should ouergrowe him, and when she hath an husband, least she should be hated:

10 Least she shoulde be defiled, or rauished in hir virginitie, or gotten with chylde in hir fathers house: or when she commeth to the man, least she behaue hir selfe not right, or continue vnfruitfull.

11 If thy daughter be wanton, kepe hir straightly, least she cause thyne enimies to laugh thee to skorne, and the whole citie to giue thee an euill reporte: and so thou be fayne to heare thy shame of euery man, and be confounded before all the people.

12 Beholde not euery bodyes beautie, and haue not much dwelling among women. Eccle.25.

13 For like as the worme and mothe commeth out of clothing: so doth wickednesse come of women. Gene.3.b.

14 It is better to be with an euill man, thã with a friendly wife that putteth one to shame and rebuke. ℣

15 I wil remember the words of the Lord, and declare the thing that I haue seene: in the wordes of the Lorde are his workes.

16 The sunne ouerlooketh all things with his shyne, " and all his workes are full of the clearenesse thereof.

" or, & all the worke thereof is full of the glory of the Lorde.

17 Hathe not the Lorde brought to passe, that his saintes shoulde tell out all hys wonderous workes, which the almightie Lorde hath stablished? All things endure in his glory.

18 He ſeeketh out the groundꝛ of the deepe, and the heart of men, and he knoweth all their imaginations and wiſedome: foꝛ the Lozde knoweth all ſcience, and he loketh into the token of the tyme.

19 He declareth the things that are paſt, and foꝛ to come, and diſcloſeth things that are ſecrete.

20 No thought may eſcape him, neyther may any wozde be hyd from him.

21 He hath garniſhed the hyghe excellent wozkes of his wiſedome, and he is from euerlaſting to euerlaſting: vnto him may nothing be added, neither can he be miniſhed, he hath no neede alſo of any mans counſell.

22 O howe amiable are his wozkes, and as a ſparke to loke vpon?

23 They liue all, and endure foꝛ euer: and whenſoeuer neede is, they are all obedient vnto him.

24 They are all double, one againſte another: hee hath made nothing that hathe fault oꝛ blemiſhe.

25 He hath ſtabliſhed the goodes of euerie one: (4) and who may be ſatiſfied with his glozy when he ſeeth it?

The.xliij. Chapter.

The ſumme of the creatiō of the works of God.

1 THe glozy of the heigth is the faire and cleare fyrmament, the beautie of the heauen is his glozious clearneſſe.

2 The ſunne when it appeareth, declareth the day in the going out of it, a maruellous wozke of the higheſt:

3 At noone it burneth the earth, and who may abyde foꝛ the heate thereof?

4 Who ſo keepeth an ouen when it is hot, three times moꝛe doth the ſunne burne vpon the mountaines: when it breatheth out the fire beames ſhyneth, with the bꝛightneſſe of it it blyndeth the eyes.

5 Great is the Lozde that made it, and in his commaundement he cauſeth it to run haſtyly.

6 The moone alſo in all things accozding to hir ſeaſon is a declaration of the tyme, and a ſigne foꝛ the wozlde.

7 The token of the ſolemne feaſte is taken of the moone, a lyght that miniſheth and encreaſeth againe.

8 The moneth is called after the moone, it groweth wonderoully in hir changing.

9 The armie of heauē alſo is in the heigth: in the firmament of heauen it giueth a cleare and a glozious ſhyne: this is the clearneſſe of the ſtarres, the beautifull apparell of heauen, the apparel that the Lozd lightneth in the heigth.

10 In his holy wozke they continue in their oꝛder, and not one of them fayleth in his watche.

11 Loke vpon the raynebowe, and praiſe him that made it: verie beautifull is it in his ſhyne. Gene.9.d.

12 He compaſſeth the heauen about with a glozious circle, the handes of the higheſt haue bended it.

13 Thꝛough his commaundement he maketh the ſnowe to fall, and the thunder of his iudgement to ſmyte haſtyly.

14 Thꝛoughe hys commaundement the treaſures are opened, and the cloudes flee as the foules.

15 In his power hath he ſtrengthened the cloudes, and bꝛoken the hayleſtones.

16 The mountaynes "leape at the ſight of him, the wynde bloweth accozding to his will. "oꝛ, mone.

17 The ſounde of his thunder beateth the earth, and ſo doth the ſtoꝛme of the Nozth: the whyrle wynde alſo lyghteth downe as a feathered foule, caſteth out and ſpꝛeadeth the ſnowe abꝛoade, and as the Graſſehoppers that deſtroy all, ſo falleth it downe.

18 The eye maruelleth at the beautie of the whiteneſſe thereof, and the heart is afrayd at the rayne of it.

19 He powꝛeth out the froſt vpon earth like ſalte, and when it is froſen, it is as ſharpe as the pꝛicke of a thiſtle.

20 When the colde Nozth wind bloweth, harde chꝛyſtall commeth of the water: he lighteth downe vpon all the gatherings together of water, and putteth on the water as a breſtplate.

21 He deuoureth the mountaynes, and burneth the wilderneſſes: and loke what is greene, he putteth it out like fire.

22 The medicine of all theſe is when a cloude commeth haſtily, and when a dew commeth vpon the heate, it ſhall be refreſhed agayne.

23 In his wozde he ſtilleth the wynde, in his counſell hee appeaſeth the deepe, and hath planted Ilandes in it.

24 They that ſayle ouer the ſea, tell of the perylles and harmes thereof, and when we heare it with our eares, we maruell thereat.

25 Foꝛ there be ſtrange wonderous wozks, diuers maners of nyce beaſtes, and whale fyſhes.

26 Through him are all things set in good order and perfourmed, and in his worde al things endure.

E 27 I speake much, but I can not sufficiently attayne vnto it: for he him selfe onely is the perfection of all wordes.

28 We should prayse the Lord after all our power, for he is great in all his workes.

Psal.116.a. 29 The Lord is to be feared, yea very great is he, and marueilous is his power.

Psal.106.a. 30 Prayse the Lorde, and magnifie him as much as ye may, yet doth he farre exceede all prayse: O magnifie him with all your power, and labour earnestly, yet are ye in no wise able sufficiently to prayse him.

Deut.5.c. John.1.b. 31 Who hath seene him, that he might tell vs? Who can magnifie him so greatly as he is?

32 For there are hyd yet greater things thã these be: as for vs, we haue seene but few of his workes.

33 For the Lorde hath made all things, and giuen wisdome to such as feare God.

The.xliij. Chapter.

1. The prayse of certaine holy men. 16. Enoch 17. Noe. 18. Abraham. 22. Isahac, and Iacob.

A 1 LEt vs commende the noble famous men, and the generation of our fore elders and fathers.

2 Many more glorious acts hath the Lord done in them, and shewed his great power euer since the beginning.

3 The noble famous men raygned in their kingdomes, and bare excellent rule in their wisdome and vnderstanding, they folowed the counsell shewed in the prophesies.

Exod.18.c. 4 They led the folke through the counsell and wisedome of the scribes of the people, wyse sentences are founde in their instruction:

5 They sought the sweetenesse and melodie of musicke, and brought forth the pleasant songs in scripture.

6 They were ryche also, and could comfort and pacifie those that dwelt with them.

B 7 All these were verie noble and honorable men in their generations, and were well reported of in their times.

8 These haue left a name behinde them, so that their praise shall alway be spoken of.

Gene.7.b. 9 Afterwarde, there were some whose remembrance is gone, they came to nought and perished as though they had neuer beene, and became as though they had neuer beene borne, yea, and their children also with them.

10 Neuertheless these are louing menne, whose righteousnesse shal neuer be forgotten, but continue by their posteritie.

11 Their chyldren are an holy good heritage: their seede endured fast in the couenant.

12 For their sakes shall their chyldren and seede continue for euer, and their prayse shall neuer be put downe.

13 Their bodyes are buried in peace, but their name lyueth for euermore. C

14 The people can speake of their wisedome, and the congregation can talke of their prayse. Eccle.44. Gene.5.c.

15 Enoch walked right and acceptable before the Lorde, therefore was he translated, for an example of amendment to the generations. Gene.6.a. Num.12. Exo.19.d. f.7.8.

16 Noe was a stedfast and righteous man, and in the time of wrath, he became a reconciling: therefore was he left a remnant vnto the earth when the floude came. Gene.9.d.

17 An euerlasting couenant was made with him, that all flesche shoulde perysh no more with the water. Gene.17.d

18 Abraham was a great father of many people, in glorie was there none lyke vnto him.

19 He kept the law of the highest, and came into a couenant with him.

20 Hee set the couenant in his flesche, and when hee was proued, hee was founde faithfull. Gene.22.a

21 Therefore swore God vnto him with an othe, that he woulde blesse all people in his seede, that he woulde multiply and increase him as the dust of the earth, and to exalte his seede as the starres: yea, and that his seede shoulde haue the possession and inheritance of the lande from sea to sea, and from the ryuer vnto the borders of the worlde. D Exo.18. Gene.26.b a. He did fo lowe him, and made him worthy and meet for the blessings of riches and increase: or els he made to be knowne by thus blessing (Labã his vncle so often changing his wages, yet the God prospered him) that it did well appeare, he bare a fauor to him as to Ioseph & Daniel &c. Exo.4

22 With Isahac dyd hee stablyshe the same couenant for Abraham his fathers sake: yea, that gratious blessing and healthy of all menne, and couenant did he stablyshe with Isahac, and made it rest vppon the head of Jacob.

23 (a) He knewe him in that he prospered him so well and rychly, and gaue him an heritage, and sundred his portion by it selfe, and parted among the twelue trybes.

24 Mercyfull men brought he out of hym, whiche founde fauour in the syght of all flesche.

The. xlv. Chapter.

1. The prayse of Moyses. 6. Aaron, and Phinehes.

I 1 MOyses beloued of God and menne, whose remembrance is in high praise:

Exod.11.a. Ecc.7.c. 2 Him that the Lorde made like in the glory of the saints, and magnified him, so that the enimies stode in awe of him.

3 Through his wordes he did great wonders: he made him glorious in the syght of kings, gaue him commaundement before his people, and shewed him glorious power.

Num.12.a. 4 Hee stablysshed him with faythfulnesse and meekenesse, and chose hym out of all men.

Exo.19.d. 5 For he hearde his voyce, and he led hym in the darke cloude, and there hee gaue him the commaundementes, yea the lawe of lyfe and wysedom: that he might teache Jacob the couenaunt, and Israell hys lawes.

6 He chose Aaron hys brother also out of the tribe of Leui, exalted him, and made him such like.

B 7 An euerlasting couenant made he wyth him, and gaue him the priesthode in the people: he made him glorious in beautifull araye, and clothed him with the garment of honour.

8 He put perfect ioy vpon him, and gyrded him with strength, he deckt him with side clothes and a tunicle, with an ouerbody coate also, and a gyrdle.

Exo.28.k. 9 Rounde about made hee him belles of golde, and that many: that when he went in, the sounde might be hearde, that they might make a noyse in the sanctuarie, and giue the people warning.

10 The holy garment was wrought and bordered with golde, yellowe sylke, and purple: and in the brestlappe there was a godly worke, wherein was fastened light and perfectnesse.

Exo.4.c. 11 Upon the same also, there was a worke fastened & set with costly pretious stones, all bound with golde, and this he brought in his ministration: the stones were fastened for a remembrance, after the number of the twelue tribes of Israell.

12 Upon his miter, there was a plate of pure golde, a grauen image of holynesse, a famous and noble worke, garnished and pleasant to loke vpon.

13 Before him, were there seene no suche fayre ornaments, and these it behoued him alway to vse: there might none other put them on, but only his children, and his childers children perpetually.

14 Dayly performed hee his burnt offerings two times. C

15 Moyses filled (a) his handes, and annoynted him with holy oyle: this was nowe confyrmed him with an euerlasting courenant, and to his seede as the dayes of heauen: namely, that his children shoulde alway minister before him, and performe the office of the priesthode, and wyshe the people good in his name. Leuit.8.a.

a. That was eyther he put into his hand the booke of the law written to reade vnto the people, or else some sacrifice that he might offer vnto God for their offences.

16 Before all men lyuing chose hee hym that hee shoulde offer incense before the Lorde, and make odours for a sweete sauour and remembrance, that hee shoulde reconcile the people of the Lorde with him agayne.

17 Hee gaue him authoritie also in his commaundements, and in the couenaunt, that he shoulde teache Jacob the statutes and testimonies, and to enfourme Israell in the lawe. Deut.17.f. e.19.a. Mal.2.a.

18 Therefore there stode vp certayne agaynste him, and had enuie at him in the wyldernesse: namely, they that were of Dathan and Abirons side, and the furious congregation of Core. Num.16.d.

19 This the Lorde sawe, and it displeased hym, and in his wrathfull indignation were they consumed: a great wonder did he vpon them, and consumed them with the fyre.

20 Besides this, he made Aaron yet more honourable and glorious, hee gaue him an heritage, and parted the first fruites vnto him: vnto him specially he appoynted the breade of sustenance. Exo.25.k. Leui.24.b. Deut.12.b. e.18.

21 For the priestes did eate of the offerings of the Lorde: this gaue he vnto him, and his seede. D

22 Else had he no heritage nor portion in the land, and with the people: for the Lord him selfe is his portion, and inheritance. Ezk.14.b.

23 The thirde noble and excellent man, is Phinehes the sonne of Eleazer, whiche pleased the God of Israell, bycause he had the zeale and feare of the Lorde: for when the people were turned backe, he put him selfe forth right sone, and that with a good will, to pacifie the wrath of the Lord towarde Israell. Num.15.b.

24 Therefore was there a couenaunt of peace made with him, that he shoulde be the principall among the righteous in the people, that he and his posteritie shoulde haue the office of the priesthode for euer.

25 Like as there was made a couenant with Dauid of the tribe of Juda, that from among his ſonnes only there ſhould be a king: and that Aaron alſo and his ſeede ſhoulde be an heritage, to gyue vs wiſedome in our hart, to iudge his people in righteouſneſſe, that his gwdes ſhoulde not come into forgetfulneſſe, and that their honour might endure for euer.

1. The praiſe of Ioſua.9.Caleb.13.Samuel.

A 1 MAnly and ſtrong in battell was Ieſus the ſonne of Naue, and was the ſucceſſour of Moyſes in prophecies, and was giuen to be captayne of the people, whiche accwrding vnto his name, was a great ſauiour vnto the elect of God, to puniſhe the enimies that roſe vp againſt Iſraell, that Iſraell myght obteyne their inheritance.
Nu.27.d. Deut.34.b. Ioſua.12.f. Ioſua.1.a.

2 O howe great, noble, and excellent was he, when he lyfte vp his hande, and drewe out his ſwwrde againſt the cities?

3 Who ſtwde ſo manly before him? for the Lwrde him ſelfe brought in the enimies?

Ioſu.10.c. 4 Stwde not the ſunne ſtyll at his commaundement, and one daye was as long as two?

5 Hee called vppon the hygheſt and moſte mightie, when the enimies preaſſed vpon him on euery ſide, and the mightie Lwrde heard him with the hayleſtones.

6 They ſmote the heathenith people mightily, and in falling downe they ſlue all the aduerſaries: ſo that the heathen knewe his hoſt, and all his defence, that the Lwrd him ſelfe fought againſt them: for he folowed vpon the mightie men of them.

B 7 In the time of Moſes alſo, he and Caleb the ſonne of Jephune did a great wwrke, which ſtwde agaynſt the enimies, withheld the people from ſinne, and ſtilled the wicked murmuring.
Nu.24.a.

8 And of ſixe hundred thouſande people on fwte, they two were preſerued to bring the into the heritage, namely, a lande that floweth milke and honny.
Nu.26.g.

Ioſua.13.c. 9 The Lwrde gaue ſtrength alſo vnto Caleb, whiche remayned with him vnto his age: ſo that he went vp into the high places of the lande, and his ſeede conquered the ſame for an heritage:

10 That all the children of Iſraell myght ſee, howe gwd a thing it is to be obedient vnto the Lwrde.

11 And the iudges or rulers, euerie one after his name, whoſe hearte went not a whwring, nor departed from the Lwrde, and that forſwke not the Lwrde vnfaythfully, whoſe remembrance hath a gwd report:

12 Yea their bones flouriſhe out of their place, and their names ſhal neuer be changed: but honour remayneth ſtill with the children of thoſe holy men.

13 Samuell the prophete, beloued of the Lwrde his God, ordeyned a king, and annoynted the princes ouer the people. 1.Re.10.a 2.Reg.5.

14 In the lawe of the Lwrde ruled he, and iudged the congregation, and the Lwrde had reſpect vnto Jacob. C

15 The prophete was founde diligent in his faythfulneſſe: yea and hee is knowne faythfull in his wwrkes, becauſe he ſawe the God of light. 2.Par.16

16 He called vppon the Lwrde almyghtie, when the enimies preaſſed vpon him on euery ſide, what time as he offred the ſucking lambe. 1.Reg.7.d.

17 And the Lwrde thundred from heauen, and made his voyce to be hearde with a great noyſe: 2.Reg.

18 He diſcomfited the princes of Tyre, and all the rulers of the Philiſtines.

19 Before his laſt ende, he made proteſtation in the ſight of the Lwrde, and his annoynted, that he twke neyther ſubſtance nor gwd of any man, no not ſo much as a ſhoe: and no man might accuſe him. 1.Re.12.d. 3.Reg.

1. The prayſe of Nathan. 2. Dauid. 12. and Solomon.

1 AFterward in the time of king Dauid, there roſe vp a prophet called Nathan. I

2 For like as the fat is taken awaye from the offering: ſo was Dauid choſen out of the children of Iſraell.

3 He played with the Lions, as with kids, and with Beares, like as with lambes of ſheepe. 3.Re

4 Slue hee not a gyant when hee was yet but yong, and twke away the rebuke from his people, what time as he twke the ſtone in his hande, and ſmote downe proude Goliath with the ſling? 1.Re.17.f. 4.R

5 For hee called vppon the higheſt Lwrde, whiche gaue him ſtrength in his right hande, ſo that he ouerthrewe the mightie giant in the battell, that hee might set vp the horne of his people againe.

6 So he glorified him in tenne thousande, and made him to haue a good report in the prayse of the Lorde, that he should weare a crowne of glorie.

B 7 For hee destroyed the enimies on euerie side, rooted out the Philistines his aduersaries, and brake their horne in sunder, like as it is broken yet this day. 2.Reg.5.b.

8 In all his workes he praysed the hyghest and holyest, and ascribed the honour vnto him, with his whole heart did he prayse the Lord, and loued God that made him.

2.Par.16.a. 9 He set syngers also before the aulter, and in their time hee made sweete songs, that they might giue prailes euery day to God with songs.

10 Hee ordeyned to keepe the holy dayes worshipfully, and that the solemne feastes through the whole yeere shoulde be honorably holden, with praysing the name of the Lord, and with singing betimes in the morning in the sanctuarie.

2.Reg.12.d 11 The Lorde toke awaye his sinnes, and exalted his horne for euer: hee gaue him the couenant of the kingdome, and the throne of worship in Israell,

3.Reg.3.c. 12 After him there rose vp the wise sonne (called Solomon) who by him dwelt in a large possession, and for his sake he droue the enimies away farre off.

13 This Solomon raigned with peace in his time, and he obteyned glory: for God gaue him rest from his enimies on euerie side, that he might builde him an house in his name, and prepare the sanctuarie for euer.

C 14 Howe wise wast thou in thy youth, and filled with wisedome and vnderstanding, as it were with a water floude?

15 Thou coueredst and fylledst the whole lande with similitudes, and wyse prudent sentences.

16 Thy name went abroad in the Iles, bicause of thy peace thou wast beloued.

17 All landes maruelled at thy songs, prouerbs, similitudes, & at thy interpretatiõs.

3.Reg.10.b 18 And in the name of the Lord God, which is called the God of Israell, thou gatheredst golde as tinne, and thou hadst as much siluer as leade.

4.Re.11.a. 19 Thou wast moued in inordinate loue towarde women, and wast ouercome in affection.

20 Thou staynedst thy honour and worship, yea thy posteritie defiledst thou also, in bringing the wrath of the Lorde vpon thy children, & hast felt sorow for thy folly.

21 So that thy kingdome was diuided, and Ephraim became an vnfaithfull and a rebellious kingdome. 3.Re.12.c. D

22 Neuertheless, God forsoke not his mercy, neither was he vtterly destroyed bicause of his workes, that he should leaue him no posteritie: as for the seede that came vpon him, which he loued, he brought it not vtterly to nought, but gaue yet a remnant vnto Jacob, and a rote vnto Dauid out of him. 2.Re.7.a.

23 Thus rested Solomon with hys fathers, and out of his seede he left behynde him a verie foolishnesse of the people, and suche one as had no vnderstanding: euen Roboam, which turned away the people through his counsell, and Jeroboam the sonne of Nabat, which caused Israell to sinne, and shewed Ephraim the waye of vngodlynesse: 3.Re.12.b.

24 In so muche that their sinnes and myscleedes had the vpper hande so sore, that at the last, they were driuen out of the lande for the same: 3.Re.12.d.

25 Yea, hee sought out and brought vp all wickednesse, tyll the vengeance came vpon them.

3 Through the worde of the Lorde he shut the heauen, and three times brought he the fire downe. 3.Re.18.c.

4 O Elias, howe honourable arte thou in thy wonderous deedes? who may make his host to be like thee?

5 One that was deade, thou raysedst vp frõ death, and in the word of the highest, thou broughtest him out of the graue againe. 3.Re.17.c.

ther departed they from their ſinnes, tyll they were carryed awaye priſoners out of the lande, and were ſcattered abroade in all countreys, ſo that of them there remained but a very little people, and a prince

1. Of Simon the sonne of Onias. 22. An exhortation to the prayse of the Lorde.

I 1 SImon the sonne of Onias the hyghe Priest, whiche in his life set vp the house agayne, and in his dayes made faste the temple:

2 The heigth of the temple also was founded of him, the double buylding, and the hygh walles of the temple.

3 In his dayes, the welles of water flowed out, and were exceeding full as the sea.

4 He toke care for his people, and deliuered them from destruction: he kept his citie, and made it strong, that it shoulde not be besieged.

5 Howe honourable was his conuersation among the people, and when he came out of the house couered with the vayle?

6 He gaue light as the morning starre in the midst of the cloudes, and as the Mone when it is full:

B 7 He shyned as the sunne in the temple of God, he is as bright as the raynebowe in the fayre cloudes.

8 And flourisheth as the floures and roses in the spring of the yeare, and as Lylies by the riuers of water, like as the branches vpon the mount of Libanus in the time of sommer:

9 As a fire and incense that is kindled, like as an whole ornament of pure golde, set with all manner of precious stones,

10 And as an Olyue tree that is fruitfull, and as a Cypres tree which groweth vp an hygh.

11 When he put on the garment of honour, and was clothed with all beautie, when hee went to the holy aulter, hee made the garment of holynesse honourable.

12 When hee toke the portions out of the priestes hande, hee him selfe stode by the hearth of the aulter, and his brethren round about in order: as the branches of a Cedar tree vpon the mount Libanus, so stode they rounde about him:

13 And as the branches of the Olyue tree, so stode all the sonnes of Aaron in their glorie, and the oblations of the Lorde in their handes, before all the congregation of Israell.

14 And that he might sufficiently performe his seruice vpon the aulter, and garnysshe the offering of the highest God, C

15 He stretched out his hande, and toke of the drinke offering, and powred in of the wine: so he powred vpon the bottome of ỹ aulter, a good smel, vnto ỹ highest prince.

16 Then beganne the sonnes of Aaron to sing, and to blowe with trumpets, and to make a great noyse, for a remembrance and prayse vnto the Lorde.

17 Then all the people together were hasted, and fell down to the earth vpon their faces, to worshippe the Lorde their God, and to giue thanks to the almightie God.

18 They song godly with their voyces, so that there was a pleasaunt noyse in the great house of the Lorde.

19 And the people in their prayer, besought the Lorde the highest, that he woulde be mercifull, till the honour of the Lord were perfourmed, and they had ended their ministration and seruice.

20 Then went he downe, and stretched out his handes ouer the whole multitude of the people of Israell, that they should giue prayse and thankes out of their lippes vnto the Lorde, and to reioyce in his name.

21 He beganne yet once also to praye, that he might openly shewe the thanksgiuing before the highest. D

22 (Namely thus) O giue praise and thanks all ye vnto the Lorde our God, which hath euer done noble and great things, which hath encreased our dayes from our mothers wombe, and dealt with vs according to his mercy,

23 That hee will giue vs the ioyfulnesse of heart, and peace for our time in Israell:

24 Which faythfully keepeth his mercy for vs euermore, and alway deliuereth vs in due season.

25 There be two manner of people that I abhorre from my hearte, as for the thyrde whome I hate, it is no people:

26 They that syt vpon the mountaine of Samaria, the Philistines, and the foolishe people that dwelt in Sichimis.

27 I Jesus the sonne of Sirach, Eleazarus of Jerusalem, haue tokened vp these informations, and documentes of wysedome and vnderstãding, in this booke, and powred out the wisedome of my hart. E

28 Blessed is hee that exercyseth him selfe therein: and who so taketh such to heart, ſhall be wiſe for euer.

29 If he doe theſe things, he ſhall be ſtrong in all: for the light of the Lorde leadeth him which giueth wiſedome to the godly: the Lorde be praiſed for euermore, ſo be it, ſo be it.

The.li. Chapter.

The prayer of Ieſus the ſonne of Sirach.

A 1 I Will thanke thee, O Lorde and king, and praiſe thee O God my ſauiour: I will yeelde praiſe vnto thy name.

2 For thou art my defender and helper, and haſt preſerued my bodye from deſtruction, from the ſnares of trayterous tongs, and from the lips that are occupied with lyes.

3 Thou haſt beene my helper from ſuche as ſtoode vp againſt me, and haſt deliuered me after the multitude of thy mercie, and for thy holy names ſake, from the roaring of them that prepared them ſelues to deuour me, out of the handes of ſuch as ſought after my life, from the multitude of them that troubled me,

4 And from them that went about to ſet fyre vpon me on euery ſide, ſo that I am not brent in the middeſt of the fire:

5 From the deepe of hell, from an vncleane tong, from lying wordes, from falſe accuſation to the king, and from an vnrighteous tong.

6 My ſoule ſhall praiſe the Lorde vnto death: for my lyfe drewe nyghe vnto hell downewarde.

B 7 They compaſſed me rounde about on euerie ſide, and there was no man to helpe me: I loked about me if there were any man that woulde ſuccoure me, but there was none.

8 Then thought I vppon thy mercye, O Lorde, and vpon thy actes that thou haſte done euer of olde: (namely,) that thou deliuereſt ſuche as put their truſt in thee, and riddeſt them out of the hands of the heathē.

9 Thus lift I vp my prayer from the earth, and prayed for deliuerance from death.

10 I called vpon the Lord, the father of my Lorde, that he would not leaue me without helpe in the day of my trouble, and in the time of the proude.

11 I will praiſe thy name continually, yelding honour and thankes vnto it: and ſo my prayer was heard.

12 Thou ſauedſt me from deſtruction, and deliuereſt me frō the vnrighteous time: therefore will I acknowledge and praiſe thee, and magnifie the name of the Lord.

13 When I was yet but yong, or euer I went aſtray, I deſired (a) wiſedome openly in my prayer. C

14 I came therefore before the temple, and ſought hir vnto the laſt: then floriſhed ſhe vnto me, as a grape that is ſone rype.

15 My heart reioyced in hir, then went my fote the right way: yea, from my youth vp ſought I after hir.

16 I bowed downe mine eare, and receiued hir: I founde me muche wiſedome, and proſpered greatly in hir.

17 Therefore will I aſcribe the glory vnto him that giueth me wiſdome.

18 For I am aduiſed to doe thereafter, I will be ſealous to cleaue vnto the thing that is good, ſo ſhall I not be confounded.

19 My ſoule hath wreſtled with hir, and I haue beene diligent to be occupied in hir: I lyft vp myne handes on high, then was my ſoule lightened through wiſdome, that I knowledged my foliſhneſſe.

20 I ordered my ſoule after hir, ſhe and I were one heart from the beginning, and I founde hir in cleanneſſe, and therfore ſhall I not be forſaken.

21 My heart longed after hir, and I gat a good treaſure. D

22 Through hir, the Lorde hath giuen me a new tong, wherewith I will praiſe him.

23 O come vnto me ye vnlearned, and dwel in the houſe of wiſedome. Eſai.55.8.

24 Withdrawe not your ſelues from hir, but talke and commune of theſe things: for your ſoules are verie thirſtie.

25 I opened my mouth, and ſpake, O come and buye wiſdome without money.

26 Bow downe your necke vnder hir yoke, and your ſoule ſhall receiue wiſedome: ſhe is hard at hande, & is content to be found.

27 Beholde with your eyes, howe that I haue had but little labour, and yet haue founde much reſt. Eccle.6.l.

28 O receiue wiſedome, and ye ſhall haue plenteouſneſſe of ſyluer and golde in poſſeſſion. E

29 Let your mynde reioyce in his mercie, and be not aſhamed of his praiſe.

30 Worke his worke betimes, and he ſhall giue you your rewarde in due ſeaſon.

(a) Wiſedom is obteyned one of theſe three meanes firſt by prayer as Solomon did, and Iacob. ſecondly by diligent reading of Gods booke, where wiſedome is conteyned. Pſal.19. Thirdly, by godly conuerſation, & continuing in the feare of God. Pro.2. Iohn.7. If any man will doe my will, he ſhall knowe my doctrine.

The ende of the booke of Ieſus the ſonne of Sirach, whiche is called in Latine Eccleſiaſticus.

¶ The booke of the prophete Baruch.

¶ The first Chapter.

1. Baruch wrote a boke during the captiuitie of Babylon, which he red before Iechonias and all the people. 10. The Iewes sent the booke with money vnto Ierusalem, to their other brethren, to the intent that they should pray for them.

I 1 ND these are the wordes of ỹ booke whiche were (a) written by Baruch the sonne of Nerias, the sonne of Maasias, the one of Sedechias, the sonne of Helchias, at Babylon.

a. Baruch was secretarie to Jeremie the prophete, of whome in Jeremie is often made mentiõ.

2 In the fifth yeere, and in the seuenth day of the moneth, what time as the Chaldees toke Jerusalem, and brent it vp with fire.

3 And Baruch did reade the wordes of this boke, that Jechonias the sonne of Joachin king of Juda might heare, and in the presence of all the people that were come to heare the boke,

4 And before al the nobles, the kings sons, and before the elders, and before the whole people, from the lowest vnto the highest: before all them that dwelt at Babylon, by the water of " Sody,

" or, Sud.

5 Which when they heard it, weapt, fasted, and prayed before the Lord.

6 They made also a collection of money, according to euery mans power.:

B 7 And sent it to Jerusalem vnto Joachin the sonne of Helchia, the sonne of Salom priest, with the other priests, and to all the people which were with him at Jerusalẽ,

8 (What time as they had gotte̅ the " vessels of the temple of the Lorde that were taken away out of the temple, that they myght bring them agayne into the lande of Juda, the tenth day of the moneth (b) Siuan (namely,) syluer vessels, which Sedechias the sonne of Josias the king of Juda had made,

" or, ornamẽts

b. Siuan containeth parte of May, and part of Iune, it is the thirde moneth, after the reckning of the Iewes.

9 After that Nabuchodonosor king of Babylon, had taken Jechonias with all his princes, lordes, and all the people, and led thẽ captiue from Jerusalẽ vnto Babylõ:)

Deut. 14. c.

10 And they sayde, Beholde, we haue sent you money to buye you burnt offerings and incense withall, prepare a meate offering, and offer for sinne vpon the aulter of the Lorde our God:

11 And (c) pray for the prosperitie of Nabuchodonosor king of Babylon, and for the welfare of Balthasar his son, ỹ their days may be vpõ earth, as the days of heauen:

1. Tim. 2. b

c. By this example we are taught to pray for kings and princes, as 1. Tim. 1.

12 That God also maye giue vs strength, and lighten our eyes, that we maye liue vnder the defence of Nabuchodonosor king of Babylon, and vnder the protection of Balthasar his sonne, that we maye long doe them seruice, and fynde fauour in their sight.

13 Pray for vs also vnto the Lord our God: for we haue sinned against the Lorde our God, and vnto this day is not his wrath turned yet away from vs.

14 And see that ye reade this boke whiche we haue sent vnto you, to be rehearsed in the temple of the Lorde, vppon the highe dayes, and at time conuenient. C

15 Thus shall ye say, the Lorde our God is righteous, but we are worthy of confusion and shame, like as it is come to passe this daye vnto all Juda, and to euery one that dwelleth at Jerusalem. Baruc. 2. b.

16 To our kings, princes, priests, prophets, and to our fathers.

17 We haue sinned before the Lorde our God, we haue not put our trust in him, nor giuen him credence, 18 We haue not obeyed him, we haue not hearkened vnto the voyce of the Lord our God, to walke in the commaundementes that he gaue vs openly.

19 Since the day that he brought our forefathers out of the lande of Egypt, vnto this present day, we haue bene euer a misbeleeuing, and an vnfaythfull people vnto the Lorde our God, destroying our selues vtterly, and shrinking backe, that we shuld not heare his voyce.

20 Wherfore, there are come vpon vs great plagues and dyuers curses, like as the Lorde deuised by Moyses his seruaunt, which brought our fathers out of the land of Egypte, to giue vs a lande that floweth with mylke and honny, like as it is to see this day. Leuit. 26. Exod. 12.

21 Neuertheles, we haue not hearkened

vnto the voyce of the Lorde our God, according to all the wordes of the prophets, whome he sent vnto vs, (and to our rulers:)

22 But euerie man followed his own mind and wycked imagination, to offer vnto strange gods, and to doe euill in the sight of the Lorde our God.

The.ij.Chapter.

1. The Iewes confesse that they iustly suffer for their sinnes. 2. The true confession of the Christian. 11. The Iewes desire to haue the wrath of God turned from them. 21. The lord will that we obey vnto princes, although they be euill. 32. He promiseth that he will call againe the people from captiuitie, and giue them a newe and an euerlasting testament.

A 1 FOr the which cause, the Lorde our God hath performed his deuise, wherof he certified vs, and our heads that ruled in Ierusalem, yea, & our kings, our princes, with all Israell and Juda: Dani.9.b.

Deut.28.f. 2 And such plagues hath the Lord brought vpon vs, as neuer came to passe vnder the heauen, like as it is fulfilled in Ierusalem, according as it is written in the lawe of Moses,

3 That a man shoulde eate the flesshe of his owne sonne, and the flesshe of his owne daughter.

4 Moreouer, he hath deliuered them into the handes of all the kings that are round about vs, to be confounded and desolate, and scattered them abroade in all landes and nations.

5 Thus are we brought beneath, and not aboue, because we haue synned agaynste the Lorde our God, and haue not beene obedient vnto his voyce.

Baruc.1.d. 6 Therefore the Lorde our God is ryghteous, and we with our fathers (as reason is) are brought to open shame, as it is to see this day.

B 7 And as for these plagues that are come vpon vs alreadie, the Lorde hath deuised them for vs:

8 Yet woulde we not pray vnto the Lorde our God, that we might euery man turne from his vngodly wayes.

9 So the Lorde hath caused such plagues to come vpon vs: for he is righteous in al his workes whiche hee hath commaunded vs:

10 Which we also haue not done, nor harkened vnto his voyce, for to walke in the commaundementes of the Lorde, that he hath giuen vnto vs.

11 And nowe, O Lorde God of Israell, thou that hast brought thy people out of the lande of Egypt with a mightie hand, with tokens and wonders, wyth thy great power and outstretched arme, and hast gotten thy selfe a name, as it is come to passe this day: Dani.9.c. Exod.7.d.

12 O Lorde our God, we haue synned, we haue done wickedly, we haue behaued our selues vngodly in all thy righteousnesses.

13 Turne thy wrath from vs, (we beseeche thee,) for we are but a fewe lefte among the heathen, where thou hast scattered vs.

14 Heare our prayers, O Lorde, and our petitions, bring vs out of captiuitie for thyne owne sake, get vs fauour in the sight of them which haue led vs away: C 2.Par.6.f.

15 That all landes may knowe that thou arte the Lorde our God, and that Israell and his generation calleth vpō thy name.

16 O Lorde, loke downe from thy holye house vpon vs, enclyne thyne eare, and heare vs. Deut.6.f. Deut.4

17 Open thine eies, and behold, for the dead that be gone downe to their graues, and whose soules are out of their bodyes, ascribe vnto the Lorde neyther prayse nor righteousnesse: Psal.115.

18 But the soule that is vexed for the multitude (of hir synnes,) which goeth on heauyly and weakely, whose eyes beginne to fayle, yea, suche a soule ascribeth prayse and righteousnesse vnto the Lorde.

19 For we powre out our prayers before thee, and require mercie in thy syght, O Lorde our God, not for any godlynesse of our fathers:

20 But because thou hast sente out thy wrath and indignation vpon vs, according as thou diddest threaten vs by thy seruantes the prophetes, saying,

21 Thus sayth the Lorde, Bowe downe your shoulders and neckes, and serue the king of Babylon: so shall ye remayne still in the land that I gaue vnto your fathers. Iere.27.a.

22 But if you will not heare the voyce of the Lorde your God, to serue the king of Babylon, D Hebr.

23 I will destroy you in the cities of Juda, within Ierusalem and without: I will also take from you the voyce of mirth, and the voyce of ioye, the voyce of the bryde-grome, and the voyce of the bryde, and there shal no man dwel more in the land.

24 But they would not hearken vnto thy voyce to do the king of Babylon seruice: and therefore hast thou performed the wordes that thou spakest by thy seruantes

the

the propheles: (namely,) that the bones of our kings, and the bones of our fathers, should be translated out of their places:

25 And loe, nowe are they layde out in the heate of the sunne, and in the colde of the nyght, and deade in great miserie, with hunger, with swoorde, (with pestilence,) and are cleane cast forth.

26 As for the temple wherein thy name was called vpon, thou hast layde it waste, as it is to see this day, & that for the wickednesse of the house of Israell, and the house of Juda.

27 O Lorde our God, thou hast intreated vs after all thy gwdnesse, and accoording to all that great louing mercy of thyne.

E 28 Like as thou spakest by thy seruant Moses, in the day when thou diddest cõmaund him to write thy lawe before the children of Israell, saying.

Deut.4.d. 29 If ye will not hearken vnto my voyce, then shall this great multitude be turned into a very small people among the nations, for I will scatter them abroade.

30 Notwithstanding, I am sure that this folke will not heare me, for it is an harde necked people: but in the lande of their captiuitie, they shal remember themselues.

31 And learne to know that I am the Lord their God, when I giue them an heart to vnderstand, and eares to heare:

32 Then shall they prayse me in the lande of their captiuitie, and thinke vppon my name:

33 Then shall they turne them from their harde backes, and from their vngodlynesse: then shall they remember the thyngs that happened vnto their fathers, whiche sinned against me.

34 So will I bring them againe into the lande which I promised with an othe vnto their fathers, Abraham, Isahac, and Jacob, and they shall be Lordes of it, yea, I will encrease them, and not minish the.

F 35 And I will make another couenaunt with them, suche one as shall endure for euer: (namely,) that I will be their God, and they shall be my people: and I will no more driue my people the chyldren of Israell out of the lande that I haue gyuen them.

Hebr.8.c.

The.iij. Chapter.

1. The people continueth in their prayer begunne for their deliuerance. 9. He prayseth wysedome vnto the people, shewing that so great aduersities came vnto them for the despising thereof. 36. Onely God was the fynder of wisedome. 37. Of the incarnation of Christe.

1 AND nowe, O Lorde almightie, thou God of Israell, our soule that is in trouble, and our spirite that is vexed, cryeth vnto thee: I

2 Heare vs, O Lorde, and haue pitie vpon vs, for thou art a mercifull God, be gratious vnto vs, for we haue sinned before thee.

3 Thou endurest for euer: shoulde we then vtterly perishe?

4 O Lord almightie, thou God of Israel, heare nowe the prayer of the dead Israelites, and of their children, which haue sinned before thee, and not hearkened vnto the voyce of the Lord their God, for the which cause, these plagues hang nowe vpon vs. Ephes.2.a. Dani.3.c. Jere.2.c. 3.c.f.5.c.

5 O Lorde remember not the wickednesse of our forefathers, but thinke vppon thy power and name nowe at this time:

6 For thou arte the Lorde our God, and thee, O Lorde, will we prayse.

7 For thou hast put thy feare in our harts, to the intent that we should call vpon thy name, and prayse thee in our captiuitie, and that we might turne from the wyckednesse of our forefathers that synned before thee. B Nu.14.a. Psal.77.a.

8 Beholde, we are yet this day in our captiuitie, where as thou hast scattered vs to be an abhomination, curse, and subiecte to exactions: like as it hath happened vnto our fathers also, bycause of all their wickednesse, and departing from thee. Psal.79.a.

9 O Israell, heare the commaundementes of life, ponder them wel with thine eares, that thou mayest learne wisedome.

10 But howe happeneth it Israell, that thou art in thyne enimies lande? thou art waxen olde in a strange countrey, and defiled with the deade.

11 Why art thou become like them that go downe to their graues?

12 Euen because thou hast forsaken the wel of wisedome. Jere.2.b.

13 For if thou haddest walked in the waye of God truely, thou shouldest haue remayned still safe in thyne owne lande. C

14 O learne then where is wysedome, where " vertue is, where vnderstanding is: that thou mayest knowe also from whence commeth long continuance and life, the light of the eyes, and quietnesse. Pro.11.a. and.3.a. " or, strength. Psal.19.b. and.119.a.

15 Who euer founde out his place? or who came euer into his treasures?

16 Where are the princes of the heathen become, and suche as ruled the beastes vpon the earth?

17 They that had their pastyme with the foules of the ayre, they that hoorded vp siluer and golde, wherein men trust so much, and made no end of their gathering?

18 What is become of them that coyned siluer, and were so carefull, and could not bring their workes to passe?

19 They be rotted out, & gone down to hel, and other men are come vp in their steeds.

20 Yong men haue seene light, and dwelt vpon earth: but the way of reformation haue they not knowne.

D 21 Nor vnderstand the pathes thereof: neither haue their children receyued it, yea, right farre is it from them.

22 It hath not beene heard of in the lande of Chanaan, neyther hath it beene seene at Theman.

23 The Agarenes sought after wisedome, but that which is earthly, like as the marchants of the lande doe: they of Theman are cunning also, they labour for wisdome and vnderstanding, but the way of true wisdome they knowe not, neyther do they thinke vpon the pathes thereof.

24 O Israell, howe great is the house of God? and howe large is the place of his possession?

Deut.4.f. 25 Great is he, and hath none ende: yea, hygh and vnmeasurable.

Iere.23.b. Psal.145.a. 26 What is become of those famous gyantes, that were so great of bodyes, and so worthy men of warre?

E 27 Those hath not the Lord chosen, neither haue they found the way of reformation:

28 Therefore were they destroyed, and for so much as they had no wisdome, they perished because of their foolishnesse.

29 Who hath gone vp into heauen, to take wisedome there, and brought hir downe from the cloudes?

30 Who hathe gone ouer the sea to fynde hir, and hath chosen hir aboue golde, and so brought hir hyther?

31 No man knoweth the wayes of wisedome, neyther is there any that can seeke out hir pathes.

Gene.1.d. 32 But he that wotteth al things, knoweth hir, and hath founde hir out with his foreknowledge: this same is he which prepared the earth at the beginning, and filled it with all maner of foules and beastes.

Iosu.1.c. Esai.38.b. 33 When he sendeth out the light, it goeth: and when he calleth it againe, it obeyeth him with feare.

34 The starres keepe their watch, and giue their light, yea, and that gladly: when he calleth them, they say, Here we be: and so with cheerefulnesse they shewe light vnto him that made them.

35 This is our God, and there shall none other be compared vnto him. Psal.14.b. Deut.4.a.

36 It is he that hath founde out all wysedome, and hath gyuen hir vnto Jacob his seruant, and to Israell, his beloued.

1. The rewarde of them that keepe the lawe, and the punishment of them that despise it. 12. A comforting of the people being in captiuitie. 19. A complaint of Ierusalem, and vnder the figure thereof, of the Church. 25. A consolation and comforting of the same.

1 THis is the booke of the commaundements of God, and the lawe that endureth for euer: all they that keepe it, shal come to life, but suche as forsake it, shall come to death. A

2 Turne thee, O Jacob, and take holde of it, walke by this way, through his brightnesse and shine.

3 Gyue not thyne honour to another, and thy worship to a strange people.

4 O Israell, how happy are we, seing that God hath shewed vs suche things as are pleasant vnto him? Psal.93.b.

5 Be of good cheere, thou people of God, O thou auncient Israell.

6 Nowe are ye solde among the heathen, howbeit, not for your vtter destruction: but because ye prouoked God the Lord to wrath and displeasure, therefore were ye deliuered vnto your enimies. 4.Re.17.b. and.25.

7 For ye displeased the euerlasting GOD B that made you, offering vnto deuils, and not to God.

8 Ye haue forgotten him that brought you vp, and ye haue greeued Jerusalem that nursed you.

9 When she sawe that the wrathe of God was comming vpon you, she sayde, Hearken O ye that dwell about Sion, for God hath brought me into great heauinesse.

10 And why? I see the captiuitie of my people, of my sonnes and daughters, which the euerlasting God wil bring vpon them.

11 With ioy did I nourish them, but nowe must I leaue them with weping & sorow.

12 Let no man reioyce ouer me wydowe, and forsaken, which for the synnes of my childzen

childzen am desolate of euery man: for why? they departed from the law of God.

13 They would not knowe his rightcousnesse, nor walke in the way of his comandementes: and as for the pathes of truth & godlynesse, they had no lust to go in them.

C 14 O ye dwellers about Sion, come and let vs call to remembrance the captiuitie that the euerlasting God hath brought vpon my sonnes and my daughters.

Deut.28.c. Jer.5.b. 15 He hathe brought a people vppon them from farre, an vncurteous people, and of a strange language: which neither regarde the olde, nor pitie the yong.

16 These haue caried away the deare beloued of my widowes, leauing me alone, both desolate and childlesse.

17 But alas, what can I helpe you?

18 Now he that brought these plagues vpon you, deliuer you also from the hands of your enimies.

19 Goe your way, O my childzen, goe your way, for I am desolate and forsaken.

Deut.4.b. and.30.a. Psal.130.a. 20 I haue put off the clothing of peace, and put vpon me the sackcloth of prayer, and for my time, I wil cal vpō ỹ most highest.

21 Be of good cheere, O my childzen, crye vnto the Lord, and he shall deliuer you frō the power of the princes, your enimies.

D 22 For verily I haue euer a good hope of your prosperous health, yea, a very gladnesse is come vpon me from the holy one, bycause of the mercy that he shall haue of our euerlasting sauiour.

23 With mourning and weeping did I let you goe fro me: but with ioy and perpetuall gladnesse shall the Lord bring you agayne vnto me.

24 Like as the neyghbours of Sion sawe your captiuitie from God: euen so shall they also see shortly your health in God, which shall come on you with great honor and euerlasting worship.

2.Reg.16.b. 25 O my childzē, suffer patiently the wrath that shall come vpon you: for the enimie hath persecuted thee, but shortly thou shalt see his destruction, and shalt treade vpon his necke.

26 My dearlings haue gone rough harde wayes, for they are led away as a flocke that is scattered abroad with the enimies.

E 27 But be of good comfort, O my childzen, and crye vnto the Lorde: for he that led you away, hath you yet in remembrance.

Esai.60.b. 28 And like as ye haue beene mynded to swarue from your God: so shall ye now endeuour your selues tenne times more to turne agayne, and to seeke him.

29 For he that hath brought these plagues vpon you, shall bring you euerlasting ioye agayne, with your health.

30 Take a good heart vnto thee, O Jerusalem: for he which gaue thee that name, exhorteth thee so to doe.

31 The wicked doers that nowe put thee to trouble, shall perishe: and such as haue reioyced at thy fall, shall be punished. Jerr.50.a. b.c.

32 The cities whom thy childzen serue, and that haue caryed away thy sonnes, shal be corrected.

33 For like as they be nowe glad of thy decaye, and reioyce at thy fall: so shall they mourne in their owne destruction.

34 The ioy of their multitude shalbe taken away, and their cheere shall be turned to sorrowe.

35 For a fire shall fall vppon them from the euerlasting God long to endure, and it shall be inhabited of diuels for a greate season.

36 O Jerusalem, loke about thee towarde the East, and behold the ioy that commeth vnto thee from God.

37 For loe, thy sonnes whom thou hast forsaken, and that were scattered abroade, come gathered together from the East and West, reioycing in the worde of the holy one, vnto the honour of God.

The.v. Chapter.

1. Ierusalem is moued vnto gladnesse for the returne of hir people, and vnder the figure therof, the Church.

1 PVT of thy mourning clothes, O Jerusalem, and thy sorrowe, and decke thee with the worshippe and honour that commeth vnto thee from God, with euerlasting glory. I

2 God shall put the garment of rightcousnesse vpon thee, and set a crowne of euerlasting worship vpon thyne head:

3 For vpō thee wil God declare his brightnesse, that is vnder the heauen.

4 Yea an euerlasting name shall be gyuen thee of God, with peace of righteousnesse, and the honour of Gods feare.

5 Aryse O Jerusalem, stande vp on hyghe, loke about thee towarde the East, and beholde thy childzen gathered from the East vnto the Weast, which reioyce in the holy word, hauing God in remembrance.

6 They departed from thee on foote, and were led away of their enimies: but nowe shall the Lord bring them caryed with honour, as childzen of the kingdome.

7 For

B 7 For God is purposed to bring downe all stoute mountaines, yea, and al high rocks, to fill the valleys, and so to make them euē with the grounde, that Israell may be diligent to liue, vnto the honour of God.
8 The woodes and all pleasant trees, shall ouershadowe Israell at the commaunde-ment of God.
9 For hither shall God bring Israell with ioyfull myrth, and in the light of his maiestie, with the mercie and righteousnesse that commeth of him selfe.

The.vi. Chapter.

A copie of the Epistle that Ieremie sent vnto the Iewes, which were led away prisoners by the king of Babylon: wherein he certifieth thē of the thing that was commaunded him of God.

A 1 BEcause of the synnes that ye haue done against God, ye shall be led away captiue vnto Babylon, euen of Na-buchodonosor the king of Babylon.

2 So when ye be come into Babylon, ye Iere.25.a.
shall remayne there many yeeres, and for a long season, (namely) (a) seuen generations: and after that will I bring you away peaceably from thence.
a. That is, seuentie yeres.
3 Nowe shall ye see in Babylon, gods of golde, of siluer, of wood, and of stone, borne vpon mens shoulders, to cast out a fearefulnesse before the heathen.
4 But loke that ye do not as the other: be not ye afraid, and let not the feare of them ouercome you.
5 Therefore when ye see the multitude of Deut.6.c.
people worshipping them behinde and before, say ye in your hearts: O Lorde, it is thou that oughtest only to be worshipped.
6 Mine Angell also shall be with you, and I my selfe will care for your soules.
B 7 As for the "timber of those gods, the car-"or, tong.
penter hath pulliſhed them: yea gilted be they, and layde ouer with siluer, yet are they but vaine things, and can not speake.
8 Like as a wench that loueth paramours is trimly deckt: euen so are these made and hanged with golde.
9 Crownes of gold verily haue their gods vpon their heades: so the priests themselues take golde and siluer from them, and put it to their owne vses:
10 Yea they giue of the same vnto harlots,
and trimme their whores withal: againe, they take it from the whores, and decke their gods therewith:
Iere.10.a. 11 Yet cā not these gods deliuer them selues from rust and mothes.
12 When they haue couered them with clothing of purple, they wype their faces for the duste of the temple, whereof there is much among them.
13 One hath a scepter in his hand, as though he were iudge of the countrey, yet can he not slay such as offende him.
14 An other hath a swoorde or an axe in his C hand: for al ỹ, he is neither able to defende him selfe from battel, nor from murderers.
15 By this ye may vnderstand, that they be no gods: therefore see that ye neither worship them, nor feare them.
16 For like as a vessell that a man vseth, is nothing worth when it is broken, euen so is it with their gods: when they be set vp in the temple, their eyes be full of duste through the feete of those that come in.
17 And like as the dores are shut in round about, vppon him that hath offended the king, or as it were a dead body kept beside the graue: euen so, the priestes keepe the dores with barres and lockes, least their Exod.5.
gods be spoyled with robbers.
18 They set vp candles before them, yea be-rily and that many, whereof they can not see one: but euen as blockes, so stande they in the temple.
19 It is said, that the serpents and wormes which come of the earth, gnawe out their heartes, eating them and their clothes also, and yet they feele it not.
20 Their faces are blacke, through the smoake that is in the temple.
21 The owles, swalowes, and birdes flee D vpon them, yea and the cattes runne ouer their heades.
22 By this ye may be sure that they are not gods, therefore feare them not.
23 The golde that they haue, is to make them beautifull: for all that, except some body dight off their rust, they will giue no shyne, and when they were caste into a fourme, they felt it not.
24 They are bought for money, and haue no breath of life within them.
25 They muste be borne vpon mens shoulders, as those that haue no feete, whereby they declare vnto menne, that they be nothing worth: confounded be they then that worship them.
26 For if they fall to the grounde, they can not ryse vp agayns of them selues: yea, though one helpe them vp, and set them right, yet are they not able to stand alone, Psal.114.d.

but must haue proppes set vnder them like deade men.

27 As

E 27 As for the thing that is offered vnto thē, their priestes sell it, and abuse it, yea the priestes wiues take thereof: but vnto the sicke and poore, they giue nothing of it.

28 The women with chylde, and the menstruous lay handes of their offerings: by this ye may be sure that they are no gods, therefore be not ye afrayde of them.

29 From whence commeth it then that they be called gods? the women sit before the gods of siluer, golde, and wood,

30 And the priestes sit in their temples, hauing open clothes, whose heds and beards are shauen, and haue nothing vpon their heads.

31 Roaring and crying vpon their gods, as men do at the feast when one is dead.

32 The priests also take away the garments of the images, and decke their wiues and children withall.

33 Whether it be good or euill that any mā do vnto them, they are not able to recompence it: they can neyther set vp a king, nor put him downe.

34 In like manner, they may neyther giue riches, nor reward euill: though a man make a bowe vnto them, and keepe it not, they will not require it. Eccle. 5. a.

35 They can saue no man from death, neyther deliuer the weake from the mightie.

36 They can not restore a blynd man to his sight, nor helpe any man at his neede.

F 37 They can shewe no mercy to the wydowe, nor do good to the fatherlesse.

38 Their goddes of wood, stone, golde, and siluer, are but euen as other stones that be hewen off the mountayne: they that worship them, shall be confounded.

39 How shuld they then be taken for gods? yea, how dare men call them gods?

40 And though the Chaldees worshipped them not, hearing that they were but dumbe, and could not speake:

41 Yet they them selues offer vnto Bel, and would fayne haue him to speake: as who say, they could feele, that may not moue.

42 But when these men come to vnderstāding, they shal forsake them, for their gods haue no feeling.

☞ G 43 A great sort of womē girt with cords, sit in the streetes, and burne "Oliue be- "Or, straw.

G calleth the neyghbours in the teeth, bycause she was not worthyly reputed, nor ☜ G her corde broken.

44 What soeuer is done for them, it is but in vayne and lost: howe may it then be thought or sayde, that they are goddes?

45 Carpenters and goldsmithes make thē: neyther be they any other thing, but euen what the workemen will make of them.

46 Yea the Goldsmythes them selues that make them, are of no long continuance: how should then the things that are made of them, be gods?

47 Vayne therefore are the things, yea berie shame is it that they leaue behynde thē for their posteritie.

48 For as sone as there commeth any war or plague vpon them, then the priestes imagine where they may hyde them selues with them.

49 Howe can men thinke then that they be goddes, which neyther may defende them selues from warre, nor deliuer them from misfortune?

50 For seeing they be but of wood, of stone, of siluer, and of gold, all people and kings shall knowe hereafter, that they be but vayne things: yea it shall be openly declared that they be no gods, but euen the very workes of mens handes, and that God hath nothing to do with them.

51 It is manifest then that they are no goddes, but the workes of mens handes, and no worke of God in them.

52 They can set no king in the lande, nor giue rayne vnto men.

53 They can giue no sentence of a matter, neyther defende the lande from wrong: for they are not able to doe so muche as a Crow that fleeth betwixt heauen & earth.

54 When there happeneth a fyre into the house of those goddes of woode, and siluer, and of golde, the priestes will escape and saue them selues, but the goddes burne as the balkes therein.

55 They can not withstande any king or battell: howe may it then be thought or graunted that they be goddes?

56 Moreouer, these gods of wood, of stone, of golde and siluer, may neyther defende them selues from theeues nor robbers:

57 Yea the verie wicked are stronger than they: these strippe them out of their apparell that they be clothed withall, these take their gold and siluer from them, and so get them away, yet cā they not help thē selues.

58 Therefore it is much better for a man to be a king, and so to shewe his power, or else a profitable vessell in a house, wherein he that oweth it, might haue pleasure, yea or to be a dore in a house, to keepe suche things safe as be therein, than to be suche a vayne god.

59 The

59 The sunne, the moone, and all the starres, seeing they giue their shine and light, are obedient, and do men good.
60 When the lightning glistereth, all is cleare.
61 The winde bloweth in euerie countrey: and when God commaundeth the clouds to goe rounde about the whole worlde, they do as they are bidden.
62 When the fire is sent down from aboue and commaunded, it burneth vp hylles and woodes: but as for those goddes, they are not like one of these things, neither in beautie, neither in strength.
63 Wherefore men shoulde not thinke nor say that they be goddes, seeing they can neyther giue sentence in iudgement, nor doe men good.
64 For so muche nowe as ye are sure that they be no goddes, then feare them not:
65 For they can neither speake euyll nor good of kings.
66 They can shewe no tokens in heauens for the heathē, neither shine as the sunne, nor giue light as the moone:
67 Yea the vnreasonable beasts are better than they: for they can get them vnder the roofe, and do them selues good.
68 So can ye be certified by no manner of meanes that they be gods, therefore feare them not.
69 For like as a scarcrowe in a garden of herbes keepeth nothing: euen so are their gods of wood, of siluer, and golde.
70 And like as a white thorne in an Orcharde, that euerie byrde sitteth vpon, yea like as a deade bodye that is cast in the darke: euen so is it with those goddes of wood, siluer, and golde.
71 By the purple and skarlet, whiche they haue vpon them, and sone fadeth awaye, ye may vnderstande that they be no gods: yea they them selues shall be consumed at the last, whiche shall be a great confusion of the lande.
72 Blessed is the godly man that hath no images, and worshippeth none: for hee shall be farre from reproofe.

The ende of the booke of the prophete Baruch, which is not in the Canon of the Hebrue.

¶ The song of the three children, which *were put into the hot burning ouen. The cōmon tran-*slation readeth this song in the third Chapter of Daniel.

25. The prayer of Azarias. 46. The crueltie of the king. 48. The flame deuoureth the Chaldeans. 49. The Angell of the Lorde was in the furnace. 51. The three children prayse the Lord, and prouoke all creatures to the same.

24 AND they walked in the midst of ỹ flame, praising God, and magnifying the Lorde.
2 Then Azarias stood vp, & prayed on this manner: euen in the midst of the fire opened he his mouth, and sayde, 26 Blessed be thou, O Lorde God of our fathers, right worthy to be praysed & honored is that name of thine for euermore:
27 For thou art righteous in all the things that thou hast done to vs, yea, faythfull are all thy workes, thy wayes are right, and all thy iudgements true.
28 In al the things that thou hast brought vpon vs, and vpon the holy citie of our fathers, euen Jerusalem, thou hast executed true iudgement: yea according to right and equitie hast thou brought all these things vpō vs, bicause of our sinnes.
29 For why? we haue offended, and done wickedly, departing from thee.
30 In all things haue we trespassed, and not obeyed thy commaundementes, nor kept them, neyther done as thou hast bidden vs, that we may prosper. Dani.9.a.
31 Wherefore all that thou hast brought vpon vs, and euerie thing that thou hast done to vs, thou hast done them in true iudgement: Baruc.2.b.
32 As in deliuering vs into the handes of our enimies, among vngodly and wicked abhominations, and to an vnrighteous king, yea the most frowarde vpon earth.
33 And nowe we may not open our mouthes, we are become a shame and reproofe vnto thy seruantes, and to them that worship thee.

34 Yet

34 Yet for thy names ſake (we beſeche thee) giue vs not vp for euer, breake not thy couenant.

35 And take not awaye thy mercie from vs for thy beloued Abrahams ſake, for thy ſeruant Iſahacks ſake, and for thy holy Iſraels ſake:

Gen.15.c. Gen.10.D. 36 To whom thou haſt ſpoken, and promiſed, that thou wouldeſt multiplie their ſeede as the ſtarres of heauen, and as the ſande that lyeth vpon the ſea ſhoare.

F 37 For we, O Lorde, are become leſſe than any people, and be kept vnder this day in all the worlde, becauſe of our ſinnes.

38 So that nowe, we haue neither prince, duke, prophete, burnt offering, ſacrifice, oblations, incenſe, nor ſanctuarie before thee.

39 Neuertheleſſe, in a contrite hart, and an humble ſpirite, let vs be receyued, that we may obteyne thy mercie.

40 Like as in the burnt offering of rãmes, and bullockes, and like as in thouſandes of fat lambes: ſo let our offering be in thy ſight this day, that it may pleaſe thee: for there is no confuſion vnto them that put their truſt in thee.

1.Pet.2.A. Rom.10.C. Eſai.28.D. Rom.9.G. 41 And nowe we folowe thee with all our hart, we feare thee, and ſeeke thy face.

42 Put vs not to ſhame: but deale with vs after thy louing kindneſſe, and accoꝛding to the multitude of thy mercies.

43 Deliuer vs by thy miracles, O Lorde, and get thy name an honour: that all they whiche doo thy ſeruants euill, may be confounded.

44 Let them be aſhamed through thy almightie power, and let their ſtrength bee broken:

45 That they may knowe, howe that thou only art the Lord God, and honour woꝛthie throughout all the worlde.

G 46 And the kings ſeruantes that put them in, ceaſſed not to make the ouen hot with (2) wylde fire, drye ſtrawe, pitch, towe, and fagottes:

2. Whiche is called Naphtha, which is a certaine kinde of fat & chalkie clay.

47 So that the flame went out of the ouen vpon a fourtie and nine cubites:

48 Yea, it toke awaye, and brent vp thoſe Chaldees that it gate hold vpon beſide the ouen.

49 But the angel of the Lord came down into the ouen to Azaria and his felowes, & ſmote the flame of the fire out of the ouen, 50 And made the middes of the ouen as it had bene a colde winde blowing: ſo the fire neyther touched them, greeued them, nor did them hurt.

51 Then theſe three, as out of one mouthe, prayſed, honoured, and bleſſed God in the furnace, ſaying,

52 Bleſſed be thou, O Lord God of our fathers: for thou art prayſe and honour woꝛthie, yea, & to be magnified for euermoꝛe. 1.Mac.4.B

53 Bleſſed be the holy name of thy glorie: for it is woꝛthy to be prayſed and magnified in all woꝛldes. Pſal.72.b.

54 Bleſſed be thou in the holy temple of thy glory: for aboue all things thou art to be prayſed, yea and moꝛe than woꝛthie to be magnified for euer.

55 Bleſſed be thou in the throne of thy kingdome: for aboue all thou art woꝛthie to be well ſpoken of, and to be moꝛe thã magnified for euer.

56 Bleſſed be thou that lokeſt through the deepe, and ſitteſt vpon the Cherubims: for thou art woꝛthie to be prayſed, and aboue all to be magnified for euer.

57 Bleſſed be thou in the firmament of heauen: for thou art prayſe and honour woꝛthie for euer.

The ſtory of Suſanna, whiche is the thirtenth Chapiter of Daniel, after the Latine.

8. The two gouernours are taken with the loue of Suſanna. 19. They take hir alone in the garden. 20. They ſolicite hir to wickedneſſe. 23. She chooſeth rather to obey God, though it be to the danger of hir lyfe. 34. She is accuſed. 45. Daniel doeth deliuer hir. 62. The gouernours are put to death.

1 THere dwelte a man in Babylon, called Joacim,
2 That toke a wyfe whoſe name was Suſanna, ye daughter of Helcia, a very fair woma, & ſuch one as feared god.
3 Hir father and hir mother alſo were good people, and taught their daughter accordyng to the lawe of Moſes.
4 Nowe Joacim (hir husband) was a great riche man, and had a fayre Orcharde ioyning vnto his houſe: and to him reſorted the Iewes commonly, becauſe hee was a man of reputation among them.
5 The ſame yeere was there made two Iudges, ſuche as the Lorde ſpeaketh of, The wyckednelle of Babylon commeth from the elders (that is,) from the Iudges whiche ſeeme to rule the people.
6 Theſe came oft to Joacims houſe: and al ſuche as had any thing to do in the lawe, came thyther vnto them.
7 Nowe when the people departed awaye at noone, Suſanna went into hir huſbads Orcharde to walke. B
8 The two elders ſeeing this, that ſhe went in dayly and walked, they burned for luſte to hir.
9 Yea, they were almoſt out of their wits, and caſt downe their eyes, that they ſhould not not ſee heauen, nor remember that God is a ryghteous iudge.

10 For they were both wounded with the loue of hir, neyther durſt one ſhewe another his griefe.

11 And for ſhame they durſt not tell hir their inordinate luſte, that they woulde fayne haue had to do with hir.

12 Yet they layde wayte for hir earneſtly from day to day, that they myght (at the leaſt) haue a ſight of hir.

13 And the one layde to the other, Up, let vs go home, for it is dinner time. So they went their way one from another.

C 14 When they returned againe, they came togyther, enquiring out the matter betwixte them ſelues, yea, the one tolde the other of his wicked luſt: then appoynted they a tyme when they myght take Suſanna alone.

15 It happened alſo, that they ſpyed out a conuenient time, when ſhe went forth to walke, as hir manner was, and no bodie with hir, but two maidens, and thought to waſh hir ſelfe in the garden: for it was an hot ſeaſon.

Exod. 2. c.

16 And there was not one perſon there, except the two elders that had hid thẽſelues to beholde hir.

17 So ſhe ſayd to hir maydens, Go fetche mee oyle and ſope, and ſhut the Orchard dore, that I may waſhe mee.

18 And they dyd as ſhe bad them, and ſhut the Orchard dore, and went out themſelues at a backe dore, to fetche the thing that ſhe hadde commaunded: but Suſanna knewe not that the elders lay there hyd within.

19 Nowe when the maydens were gonne forthe, the two elders gate them vp, and ranne vpon hir, ſaying,

20 Nowe the Orchard dores are ſhutte, that no man can ſee vs, wee haue a luſte vnto thee, therefore conſent vnto vs, and lye with vs:

D 21 If thou wylt not, we ſhall bring a teſtimoniall againſte thee, that there was a yong felowe with thee, and that thou haſt ſent away thy maydens from thee for the ſame cauſe.

22 Suſanna ſighed, and ſayde, Alas, I am in trouble one euery ſide: though I folow your minde, it will be my death: and if I conſent not vnto you, I can not eſcape your handes.

23 Well, it is better for me to fal into your hande, without the deede doing, than to ſinne in the ſight of the Lorde.

24 And with that ſhe cried out with a loud voyce: the elders alſo cried out againſt hir.

25 Then ranne there one to the Orchard dore, and ſmote it open.

26 Now when ẏ ſeruãts of the houſe heard the cry in ẏ Orchard, they ruſhed in at the backe dore, to ſee what the matter was.

27 So whẽ the elders told them, ẏ ſeruants E were greatly aſhamed: for why? ther was neuer ſuche a report made of Suſanna.

28 On the morow after came the people to Joacim hir huſbande, and the two elders came alſo, ful of miſchieuous imaginatiõs againſt Suſãna, to bring hir vnto death, 29 And ſpake thus before the people: Send for Suſanna ẏ daughter of Helchias, Joacims wife, & immediatly they ſent for hir.

30 So ſhe came, with hir father, and mother, hir children, and all hir kynred.

31 Nowe Suſanna was a tender perſon, and marueylous fayre of face.

32 Therefore the wycked men commaunded to take hir clothes from hir face (for ſhee was couered) that at the leaſte they myght ſo be ſatiſfied in hir beautie.

33 Then hir friendes, yea, and all they that knewe hir, beganne to weepe.

34 Theſe two elders ſtode vp in the midſt F of the people, and layde their hands vpon Leuit. 24. c. the head of Suſanna.

35 Whiche wepte, and loked vp towarde heauen: for hir heart had a ſure truſte in the Lorde.

36 And the elders ſayd, As wee were walking in the Orchard alone, this woman came in with hir two maydens, whome ſhe ſent awaye from hir, and ſparred the Orchard dores:

37 With that a yong felowe whiche there was hid, came vnto hir, and lay with hir.

38 As for vs, wee ſtode in a corner of the Orchard: and when we ſawe this wyckednes, we ranne to them, and we ſawe them as they were together.

39 But we coulde not hold him, for he was ſtronger than wee. Thus hee opened the dore, and gate him away.

40 Nowe when we had taken this womã, we aſked hir what yong felowe this was, but ſhee woulde not tell vs. This is the matter, and we be witneſſes of the ſame.

41 The cõmon ſort beleeued them, as thoſe G that were the elders & Iudges of the people, and ſo they condemned hir to death.

42 Suſanna cryed out with a lowde voice, Heb. 4. b and ſayde, O euerlaſting God, thou ſearcher of ſecretes, thou ẏ knoweſt al things before they come to paſſe:

43 Thou wotteſt that they haue borne falſe witneſſe agaynſt mee, and beholde I muſt dye, whereas I neuer did any ſuch things as theſe men haue malicioully inuented agaynſt mee.

44 And the Lorde heard hir voyce.

45 For when ſhe was led forthe to death, the Lorde rayſed vp the ſpirite of a yong childe, whoſe name was Daniel,

2.Re.3.k. 46 Which cryed with a loude voyce, I am cleane from this blod.

47 Then all the people turned towarde him, and ſayde, What meane theſe wordes that thou haſt ſpoken?

G 48 Daniel ſtode in the myddeſt of them, and ſayde, Are ye ſuche fooles, O ye children of Iſrael, that ye cannot diſcerne nor knowe the trueth? Ye haue here condemned a daughter of Iſrael vnto death, and knowe not the trueth wherefore.

49 Go ſit in iudgement agayne: for they haue ſpoken falſe witneſſe agaynſt hir.

50 Wherefore the people turned agayne in all the haſte: and the Elders (that is, the principall heades) ſayde vnto him, Come ſit downe heere among vs, and ſhewe vs this matter, ſeeyng God hath giuen thee as great honour as an Elder.

3.Re.3.d. 51 And Daniel ſayde vnto them, Put theſe two aſide one from another, & then ſhall I examine them.

52 When they were put aſunder one from another, he called one of them, and ſayde vnto him, O thou old cancarde carle, that haſte vſed thy wickednelle ſo long, thyne vngrations deedes whiche thou haſte done afore, are nowe come to lyght.

53 For thou haſt gyuen falſe iudgementes, thou haſt oppreſſed the innocent, and letten the gyltie goe free: whereas yet the Exod.23.a. Lorde ſayeth, The innocent and righteous ſee thou ſlaye not.

54 Well then, if thou haſt ſeene hir, tel mee vnder what tree ſaweſt thou them companying togither? He anſwered, Vnder a "Mulbery tree.

55 And Daniel ſayd, very well, nowe thou lyeſt euen vpon thine heade: loe, the meſſenger of the Lorde hath receyued the ſentence of him, to cut thee in two.

56 Then put hee him aſyde, & called for the other, & ſayd vnto him, O ye ſeede of Chanaan, but not of Juda, fayrnes hath deceiued thee, & luſt hath ſubuerted thyne heart.

57 Thus dealt ye afore with the daughters of Iſrael, and they for feare, conſented vnto you: but the daughter of Juda would not abyde your wickednelle.

58 Now tel me then, Vnder what tree didſt thou take them companying togither? He anſwered, Vnder a "Pomegranate tree.

59 Then ſayde Daniel vnto him, Verye well, now thou lyeſt alſo euen vpon thyne head: the meſſenger of the Lorde ſtandeth wayting with the ſworde to cut thee in two, and ſlay you both.

60 With that, al the whole multitude gaue a great ſhout, & praiſed God, which alway deliuereth thē that put their truſt in him. Pſal.114

61 And they came vpon ẏ two elders, whō Daniel had conuict vō their owne mouth, that they had giuen falſe witneſſe,

62 And dealte with them euen likewiſe as they woulde haue done with their neyghbours, yea, they did accoyding to the lawe of Moſes, and put them to death: thus the innocent blod was ſaued the ſame day. Deu.19.d.

63 Then Helcias and his wife prayſed God for their daughter Suſanna, with Joacim hir huſbande, and all the kinred, that there was no diſhoneſtie founde in hir.

64 From that day forth was Daniel had in great reputation in the ſight of ẏ people.

65 And king Aſtiages was layd vō his fathers, and Cyrus of Perſia raigned in his ſtede.

The ende of the ſtory of Suſanna.

The ſtory of Bel and the Dragon, which is the.xiiij. Chapter of Daniel after the Latine.

A 1 Daniel dyd eate at the kings table, & was had in reuerence aboue all his friendes.

2 There was at Babylō an image called Bell, and there were ſpent (a) vpon him euery daye (b) twelue cakes, fourtie ſheepe, and ſixe great (c) pottes of wine.

3 Him dyd the king worſhippe him ſelfe, and went dayly to honour him, but Daniel worſhipped his owne God: and the king king sayde vnto him, Why doest thou not worship Bell?

4 He answered, and sayd, Bycause I may not worshippe things that be made with handes, but the liuing God whiche made heauen and earth, and hathe power vpon all flesshe.

5 The king sayde vnto him, Thinkest thou not that Bell is a liuing God? or seest thou not how much he eateth and drinketh euery day?

Ieui.10.c. 6 Daniell smyled, and sayde, O king, deceyue not thy selfe: for this is but made of clay within, and of brasse without, neither eateth he euer any thing.

B 7 Then the king was wroth, and called for his priestes, and sayde vnto them, If ye tell me not who is this that eateth vp these expences, ye shall dye:

8 But if ye can certifie me that Bell eateth them, then Daniell shall dye: for hee hath spoken blasphemie against Bell. And Daniell sayde vnto the king, Let it so be, according as thou hast sayde.

9 The priestes of Bell were threescore and tenne, besides their wiues and children: and the king went with Daniell into the temple of Bell.

10 So Bels priestes sayd, Loe, we will go out: and set thou the meate there, O king, and poure in the wine, then shut the doore fast, and seale it with thine owne signet:

11 And to morowe when thou commest in, if thou findest not that Bell hath eaten vp all, we will suffer death: or else Daniell, that hath lyed vpon vs.

12 The priestes thought them selues sure inough; for vnder the " aulter they had made a priuie entrance, and there went they in euer, & did eate vp what there was.

13 So when they were gone forth, the king set meates before Bell: nowe Daniell had commaunded his seruants to bring ashes, and these he " sifted throughout al the temple, that the king might see: then went they out, and sparred the doore, sealing it with the kings signet, and so departed.

C 14 In the night came the priests, with their wiues and children, as they were wont to do, and did eate and drinke vp all.

15 In the morning betimes at the breake of the daye, the kyng arose, and Daniell with him.

16 And the king sayde, Daniell, are the seales whole yet? He answered, Yea, O king, they be whole.

17 Nowe as soone as hee had opened the doore, the king looked vnto the " aulter, and cryed with a loude voyce, Greate art thou, O Bel, and with thee is no deceyte.

18 Then laughed Daniel, and helde the king that he should not go in, and sayde, Behold the pauement, marke well, whose footesteppes are these?

19 The king sayde, I see the footesteppes of men, women, and children.

20 Therfore the king was angry, and toke the priestes with their wyues and children, and they shewed him ŷ priuy doores where they came in, and did eate vp suche things as were vpon the aulter.

21 For the whiche cause the king slue them, D and deliuered Bell into Daniels power, Iere.51.f. whiche destroyed him and his temple. Elai.46.a.

22 And in that same place there was a greate Dragon, whiche they of Babylon worshipped.

23 And the king sayde vnto Daniel, Sayest thou not that this is but a God of brasse also? Lo, he liueth, he eateth & drinketh, so that thou canst not say that hee is no lyuing God: therefore worshippe him.

24 Daniel sayd vnto ŷ king, I wil worship the Lorde my God, hee is the true lyuing God: as for this, he is not ŷ God of lyfe.

25 But giue me leaue, O king, and I shal destroy this Dragon without sworde or staffe. The king sayde, I giue thee leaue.

26 Then Daniel toke pitch, fatte, & hearie woll, and did seethe them togither, and made lumpes thereof: this hee put in the Dragons mouth, & so the Dragon burste in sunder. And Daniel sayde, Loe, there is he whome ye worshipped.

27 Whē they of Babylon heard that, they E toke greate indignation, and gathered them togyther agaynste the king, saying, The king is become a Iewe, and he hath destroyed Bel, he hath slaine the Dragon, and put the priestes to death.

28 So they came to the king, and sayd, Let vs haue Daniel, or els wee will destroye thee and thyne house.

29 Nowe when the king sawe that they Dani. 6.f. rushed in so fore vpon him; and that necessity constrayned him, he deliuered Daniel vnto them:

30 Whiche cast him into the Lions denne, where he was sixe dayes.

31 In the denne there were seuen Lyons, and they had giuen them euery day two bodyes, and two sheepe: which then were not gyuen them, to the intent that they myght deuoure Daniel.

32 There was in Iurie a Prophete called Habacuc, whiche had made potage, and broken bread in a bolle, and was going into the field, for to bring it to the reapers.

33 But the Angell of the Lorde sayde vnto Habacuc, Goe carie the meate that thou hast, into Babylon vnto Daniell, whiche is in the Lions denne.

34 And Habacuc sayde, Lord, I neuer saw Babylon, and as for the denne, I knowe it not.

35 Then the Angell of the Lorde toke him Eze. 8. a. by the toppe, and bare him by the hayre of the heade, and through a mightie winde set him in Babylon vpon the denne.

36 And Habacuc cryed, saying, O Daniell, 3. Re. 17. a. thou seruãt of God, haue, take the "breakfast that God hath sent thee. "or, dinner.

37 And Daniell sayde, O God, hast thou F thought vpon me? well, thou neuer failest them that loue thee.

38 So Daniell arose, and did eate. And the Angell of the Lorde set Habacuc in his owne place agayne immediatly.

39 Upon the seuenth day, the king went to beweepe Daniell: and when he came to the denne, he loked in, and behold, Daniel sate (in the midst of the Lions.)

40 Then cried the king with a loud voyce, saying, Great art thou, O Lorde God of Daniell, & there is none other beside thee.

41 And he drew him out of the Lions den, and cast those that were the cause of his Iere. 37. destruction into the denne, and they were deuoured in a moment before his face.

42 After this, wrote the king vnto all people, kinreds, and tongs, that dwelt in al countreys.

43 Saying, Peace be multiplyed with you: My commandement is in all the dominion of my realme, that men feare and stande in awe of Daniels God, for he is the liuing God, whiche endureth for euer.

44 His kingdome abideth vncorrupt, and his power is euerlasting:

45 It is he that can deliuer and saue, he doth wonders and maruellous workes in heauen & in earth: for he hath saued Daniell from the power of the Lions.

¶ The prayer of Manasses king of Juda, when he vvas holden captiue in Babylon.

O Lord almightie, God of our fathers, Abraham, Isahac, and Iacob, and of the righteous seede of them: which hast made heauen and earth, with al the ornament thereof, which hast "ordeyned the sea by the worde of thy commaundement, "or, bounde the sea. which hast shut vp the depe, and hast sealed it for thy feareful and laudable name, which al men feare, and tremble before the face of thy power, and not for the anger of thy threatning, the whiche is importable to sinners, but the mercy of thy promise is great and vnsearchable: for thou art the Lorde God most high aboue all the earth, long suffering, and exceeding mercyfull, and repentant vpon the malice of men: Thou Lorde after thy goodnesse hast promised repentance of the remission of sinnes, and thou that art the God of the righteous, hast not put repentance to the righteous Abraham, Isahac, and Iacob, vnto them that haue not sinned against thee: but because I haue sinned aboue the number of the sandes of the sea, and that myne iniquities are multiplied, I am "humbled with many bandes of yron, and there is in me no breathing, "or, crooked. I haue prouoked thine anger, and haue doone euill before thee, in committing abhominations, and multiplying offences: And nowe I bowe the knees of my heart, requiring goodnesse of thee, O Lorde. I haue sinned Lord, I haue sinned, and knowe mine iniquitie, I desire thee by prayer, O Lorde forgiue me, forgiue me, and destroy me not with mine iniquities, neither do thou alwayes remember mine euils to punish them: but saue me (which am vnworthy) after thy great mercy, and I will praise thee euerlastingly all the dayes of my life: for all the power of heauen praiseth thee, and vnto thee belongeth glory, world without end. Amen.

A neceſſarie table for the knowledge of the ſtate of Iuda, from the beginning of the Monarchie of the Greekes,

(where the table that we haue ſet forth vpon Eſdras endeth) vntill the death and paſsion of Ieſus Chriſte.

The.70.weekes foreſhewed, Daniel.9. | The Monarchie of the Greekes. | The ſtate of the Iewes.

The angel of the Lorde ſent to Daniel, ſayde that it was.70. weekes of yeeres, that is to ſay, foure hundred ſeuen, whiche commeth to. 490. from the going forth of the commaundement, that Ieruſalem ſhoulde be buylded agayne and reedified, vntill Chriſt the Prince. This cõmandement was giuen foorth by the mouth of Darius Long hand, monarchie of the Perſians, the ſeuenth of his raigne, as it is written in Nehemias.2. Therfore the ſayde.70. weekes ought to beginne there, though all agree not therein: for ſome begyn it in the ſecond yeare of the ſayd Darius: other the firſt yeere of Cyrus. So that from the beginning of the ſayd weekes, tyll the time that Alexander vſurped the monarchie, were.434. yeares and. 18. weekes, whiche make.490. yeeres. To ſhewe the verifying of the ſayd weekes, according to the aforeſayd prophecie of Daniell the. 9. we will proportion them with the yeeres in whiche the Kings of Syria, (ſette in order on the right ſyde) haue ruled the kingdome, eche of them in order.

Alexander the great, ſonne to Philip king of Macedonia, conquered the Monarchie of the Perſians from Darius, the. 192. yeere of Cyrus the firſt Monarchie, and tranſported it to the Grekes: he raigned. 6. whole yeres, and the ſeuenth died, leauing diuers ſucceſſours, to whõ hee diuided the ſayde Monarchie before his death. That is, the kingdomes of Syria, Aſia, Egypt, and Macedonia. We will here treate of his ſucceſſours, the kings of Syria only, becauſe the ſcripture maketh mention thereof, and maketh the ſupputation of the yeeres, by the tyme that the ſaide kings reigned, beginning at the firſt: as appereth in the firſt booke of the Machabees. And we will orderly ſette their names, and the time that eche of them hath raigned, to conferre them with the number of the weekes, placed on the leſte ſyde of this table, to the ende that the ſayde weekes may be verified, and that the propheſie of Daniell may be plainly vnderſtode, touching the comming and death of our ſauiour Chriſt.

After the people of the Lorde were deliuered from the captiuitie of Babilon by Cyrus, & returned vnto their lande vnder the conduct of Zorobabel, there was no more name of king Iuda, but of prince and gouernour: which were for the moſt parte of the line of Iuda, and are theſe that folowe.

1 Zorobabel raigned. 38. yeres.
2 Reſa Meſyllam. 66. yeres.
3 Ioanna Ben-reſa. 53. yeres.
4 Judas Hyeanus. 24. yeres.

The yeres of the gouernment of eche gouernour.

All which time amounteth to. 191. yeres that the Monarchie of the Perſians dured.

5 Ioſeph was gouernour the firſt yere of Alexander the great, and raigned. 7. yeeres, in his time the ſayd Alexander had the temple and ſacrifice in great honour.

6 Abner Semei ruled with Ioſeph, and raigned 11. yeres. In his time Ptolome the firſt king of Egipt after Alexander, tooke Ieruſalem by deceit, ſpoyled the temple, and caried a great number of the people into Egipt.

7 Mathathias Heli, gouerned. 12. yeres.

8 Aſer Maath, gouerned 9 yeres.

9 Nagid Arphaxat raigned. 10. yeeres. In his time Eleazar the high prieſt, ſent the. 70. interpreters to Ptolome Philadelphe, the ſeconde king of Egipt, and ſonne to the aforeſaid Ptolome, to tranſlate the holy ſcripture out of Hebrue into Greek: and the ſaide Ptolome deliuered all the Iewes that his father had holden captiue.

10 Agar Eli ſucceeded him, and raigned. 8. yeares.

11 Maſlot Naum gouerned. 7. yeres.

12 Amos Syrach. 14. yeres.

13 Mathathias Siloi. 10. yeres.

14 Ioſeph Arſes. 66. yeres.

In his time Ptolome Philopator. 4. king of Egipt, entered into Iurie, and killed. 60000. Iewes, and reſtored the countrey into the handes of Antiochus the greate, whiche deliuered it againe to Ptolome the ſucceſſour of the ſaid Philopator, for the friendſhip betweene them.

15 Ianna Hircanus was the laſt of the line of Iuda, and raigned. 16. yeres, he was ſlaine by Antiochus the tyrant.

16 After Ianna, ſucceeded a kinred of the prieſts, named Aſmodus. The firſt was Iudas Machabeus, raigned 6. yeres, with great proweſſe and vertue.

17 Ionathas his brother, raigned in great proweſſe and vertue. 18. yeres.

18 Simon his brother, raigned. 8. yeres vertuouſly.

19 Iohn Hircanus his ſonne, raigned. 34. yeeres, he & the predeceſſours of his kinred held both the kingly authoritie, & the prieſtly dignitie together.

20 Ariſtobulus ſonne to Iohn, raigned one yere, he tooke againe the crowne and title of king for him ſelfe, and his ſucceſſours.

21 Alexander king, raigned. 27. yeres. and left the kingdome to Alexandra his wife, which held it. 9 yeeres, but lefte the prieſthood to Hircanus his ſon, which raigned. 3. yeres after his death. Then Ariſtobulus, brother to the ſayde Hircanus, driue him from the crowne & the prieſthood, & raigned in his place. 3. yeres. Pompei with the armie of the Romanes hauing taken al Syria, led Ariſtobulus captiue, leauing Hircanus in the prieſthod, & Antiparor, Herods father, gouerned in Iurie. And the 51. yere after, Herod was proclaimed king, and the ſcepter taken from Iuda, Chriſt our ſauiour [illegible]

The first booke of the Machabees.

¶ The first Chapter.

1. After the death of Alexander the king of Macedonia, 11. Antiochus taketh the kingdome. 12. Many of the children of Israel make couenant with the Gentiles. 21. Antiochus subdueth Egypt and Ierusalem vnto his dominiō. 43. Ierusalem being burnt, they make lawes of their owne, and forbid to keepe Gods lawes. 50. Antiochus setteth vp an idol ouer the aulter of God.

A 1 Fter that Alexander king of Macedonia, son of Philip, went forth of the lād of " Cethim, € (a) slewe Darius king of the Persians, and Medes, and raigned for him as he had don before in Gretia:

"or, Chettim, a. The first battel with the Carthaginenses, was fought at this time

2 It happened that he toke great warres in hande, wanne very many strong cities, and slue many kings of the earth,

3 Going through to the endes of ẏ world, and getting many spoyles of the people, insomuche that the whole world stode in awe of him, and therefore was he proude in harte.

Judit. 1. b. b. The beginnig of the kingdome of Egypt.

4 (b) Now when he had gathered a mighty strong host,

5 And subdued the landes and people with their princes, so that they became tributaries vnto him,

6 Then he fel sicke: and when he perceiued that he must needes dye,

B Dani. 7. a.

7 He called for his noble estates, which had bin brought vp with him of children, and parted his kingdome among them, whyle he was yet aliue.

8 So Alexander raigned twelue yeres, and then dyed.

c. The beginning of the kingdome of Syria.

9 (c) After his death fell the kingdome vnto his princes, and they obteyned it euery one in his rome,

10 And caused them selues to be crowned as kinges: and so did their children after them many yeeres, and much wickednesse increased in the world.

"or, Epiphanius. 1. Mac. 8. a.

11 Out of these came the vngratious rote, " noble Antiochus, the sonne of Antiochus ẏ king, which had bin a pledge at Rome: and he raigned in the hundred thirtie and seuenth yere of ẏ Empyre of the Grekes.

d. The beginning of the kingdome of the Parthians.

12 (d) In those dayes wēt there out of Israel wicked men, which moued much people with their counsel, saying, Let vs goe and make a couenant with the heathē that are rounde about vs: for since we departed frō them, we haue had much sorowe.

Deut. 7. a, Iere. 44. f.

13 So this deuise pleased them wel,

14 (e) And certaine of the people toke vpon them for to goe vnto the king, whiche gaue thē licence to do after the ordinance of the heathen.

e. Iosephus, Lib. 12. cap. 6. C

15 (f) Then set they vp an opē sowle at Ierusalem of the lawes of the heathen:

1. Mac. 4. f. The wicked fal headlong into mischief.

16 (g) And made themselues vncircumcised, but forsoke the holy testament, and ioyned them selues to the heathen, and were cleane solde to do mischiefe.

g. Epiphanius libro de ponderibus & mensis, sayth, that it was by drawing the skinne ouer that put, that was circumcised.

17 So when Antiochus began to be mightie in his kingdome, he went about to obtayne ẏ land of Egypt also, that he might haue the dominion of two realmes.

1. Mac. 5. b.

18 Upon this entred he into Egypt, with a strong host, with charettes, Elephantes, horsemen, and a great number of shippes.

19 (h) And beganne to warre agaynst Ptolome the king of Egypt: but Ptolome was afrayde of him, and fledde, and many of his people were wounded to death.

h. The second battel with the Carthaginenses.

20 Thus Antiochus wanne many strong cities, and toke away great good out of the lande of Egypt.

21 And after that Antiochus had smitten Egypt, he turned agayne in the hundred fourtie and three yeere, and went towarde Israel,

1. Mac. 5. f. D

22 And came vp to Ierusalē, with a mightie people,

23 And entred proudly into the sanctuarie, and toke away the golden aulter, the candelsticke, and all the ornamentes thereof, the table of the shewbread, ẏ pouring vessels, the chargers, the golden spones, the vayle, the crownes, and golden apparel of the temple, and brake downe all in peeces,

24 He toke also the siluer and golde, the pretious iewels, and the secrete treasures that he founde.

25 And when he had taken away altogether ther, caused a great murther of men, and spoken verie proudly, he departed into his owne lande.

26 Therefore there was a great lamentation throughout all Israell.

E 27 The princes and the elders of the people mourned, the yong men and the maydens were " defiled, and the fayre beautie of women was changed:

" or made feeble.

28 The brydegrome and the bryde toke them to mourning,

29 The lande and those that dwelt therein was moued: for all the house of Iacob was brought to confusion.

i. The battel of Macedonia

30 (i) After two yeeres the king sente hys chiefe treasurer vnto the cities of Juda, whiche came to Jerusalem with a greate multitude of people,

31 Speaking peaceable wordes vnto them, but all was deceyte: for when they had giuen him credence,

32 He fell sodeinly vpon the citie, and smote it sore, & destroyed much people of Israell:

1.Mac.7.b. 33 And when he had spoyled the citie, he set fire on it, casting down houses and walles on euery side.

34 The women and their children toke they captiue, and led away their cattell.

F 35 Then builded they the citie of Dauid with a great and thicke wall, and with mightie towres, and made it a strong holde for them.

36 Besides all this, they set wicked people, and vngodly men to keepe it.

37 Stored it with weapons, and victuals, gathered the gods of Jerusalem, and layd them vp there: thus became it a thecuishe castell.

38 Thus they became a heauy burthen, laying wayte for the people that wente into the sanctuarie, and for the cruell destruction of Israell.

39 Thus they shed innocent bloode on euerie side of the sanctuarie, and defiled it:

40 Insomuch that the citizens were fayne to depart, and the citie became an habitation of stragers, being desolate of hir own seede: for hir owne natiues were fayne to leaue hir.

Tobi.11.a. 41 Hir sanctuarie was cleane wasted, hir holy dayes were turned into mourning, hir sabbothes were had in diriſion, and hir honour brought to nought.

k. Iosephus lib.12. Cap.6. & 7. 42 (k) Loke how great hir glorie was before, so great was hir confusion, and hir ioy turned into sorowe.

2.Mac.6. 43 Antiochus also the king, sent out a commission vnto all his kingdome, that all the people should be one.

44 Then they left euery man his law, and all the heathen agreed to the commaundement of king Antiochus:

45 Yea, many of the Israelites consented therevnto, offering vnto idols, and defyling the Sabboth.

46 So the king Antiochus sent his messegers with his commission vnto Jerusalem, and to all the cities of Juda, that they should folow the lawes of the heathen:

47 And forbad either burnt offering, meat offering, or peace offering, to be made in the temple of God, and that there shoulde no Sabboth nor high feast day be kept:

48 But commaunded that the sanctuarie, & the holy people of Israel, shuld be defiled:

49 He commaunded also, that there should be set vp other aulters, temples, and idols, to offer vp Swines flesshe, and other vncleane beastes:

50 That men shoulde leaue their children vncircumcised, to defile their soules with all maner of vncleānesse & abhominatiōs:

51 That they might so forget the lawe, and change all the holy ordinances of God, 52 And that whosoeuer woulde not do according to the commaundement of kyng Antiochus, should suffer death.

53 In lyke manner commaunded he throwout al his realme, and set rulers ouer the people, for to compell them to do these things:

54 Commaunding al the cities of Juda, to do sacrifice vnto idols.

55 Then went the people vnto the heathen by heapes, forsoke the lawe of the Lorde, and committed much euill in the lande.

56 And he droue the Israelites into secrete places, euen where so euer they coulde flee for succour.

57 The fyftenth day of the moneth " Casleu, in the hundred threescore and fifth yeere, set king Antiochus an " abhominable idoll of desolation vpon the aulter of God, and the buylded aulters throughout all the cities of Juda, on euery side,

" November. Daniel.9. Matth.24.

58 Before the dores of the houses, and in the streetes, where they burnt incense, and dyd sacrifice.

59 And as for the bokes of the law of God, they burnt them in the fire, (l) and rent thē in peeces.

Iere.36.c. l. It is a manifest note of the enimies of god to burne the bookes of the lawe. Hist. ecclesiast. lib.8. Cap.2.

60 What so euer hee was that had a booke of the testament of the Lorde founde by him, yea, whosoeuer endeuoured him selfe to keepe the lawe of the Lorde, the kinges commaundement was, that they shoulde put him to death.

61 And through his authoritie, they executed these things euery moneth, vpon the people of Israel, that were found in the cities.

62 The twentie and fift day of the moneth, what time as they did sacrifice vppon the aulter, which stode in the steede of the aulter of the Lorde: 2. Mac. 6. b.

63 Accoʒding to the commaundement of king Antiochus, they put certayne women to death, whiche had caused their childʒen to be circumcised:

64 Not only that, but they hanged vp the childʒen by the neckes throughout all their houses, and slue the circumcisers of them.

65 Yet were there many of the people of Israell, which determined in themselues that they would not eate vncleane things: but chose rather to suffer death, than to be defiled with vncleane meates.

66 So because they woulde not breake the blessed law of god, they were cruelly slain.

67 And this great tyʒannie encreased verie soʒe vpon the people of Israell.

The. ij. Chapter.

1. The mourning of Mathathias and his sonnes for the destruction of the holy citie. 19. They refuse to doe sacrifice vnto idols. 24. The zeale of Mathathias for the lawe of God. 33. They are slayne, and will not fight agayne. bycause of the Sabboth day. 49. Mathathias dying, commaundeth his sonne to sticke by the worde of God, after the example of the fathers.

A 1 IN those dayes there did stande vp one Mathathias, the sonne of John, the sonne of Simeon the prieſt, out of the kinred of Joarib, from Jerusalem, and dwelt vpon the mount of Modin.

2 And had fiue sons: John, called Gaddis.

3 Simon, called Thasi,

4 Judas, otherwise called Machabeus,

5 Eleazer, otherwise called Abaron, and Jonathan, whose syrname was Apphus.

6 These sawe the euill that was done among the people of Juda, and Jerusalem.

B 7 And Mathathias sayde, Wo is me, alas that euer I was borne, to see this miserie of my people, and the pitious destruction of the holy city, and thus to sit so still, it being deliuered into the handes of the enimies.

8 Hir sanctuarie is come into the power of strangers, hir temple is as it were a man that hath lost his good name: 1. Mac. 2.

9 Hir pretious ornaments are caried away captiue, hir olde menne are slayne in the streets, and hir yong me are slaine through the swoʒde of the enimies.

10 What people is it that hath not some possession in hir kingdome? oʒ who hath not gotten some of hir spoyles?

11 All hir glory is taken awaye, she was a free woman, and nowe she is become an handmayde.

12 Behold, our sanctuarie, our beautie, and honour, is wasted away, and defiled by the Gentiles.

13 What helpeth it vs then to liue?

14 And Mathathias rent his clothes, hee and his sonnes, and put sackcloth vppon them, and mourned very soʒe. C

15 Then came the men thyther, which were

16 sent of king Antiochus, to compell suche as were fled into the citie of Modin, foʒ to do sacrifice, and to burne incense vnto idols, and to foʒsake the lawe of God.

16 So many of the people of Israell consented, and enclined vnto them: but Mathathias and his sonnes remained stedfast.

17 Then spake the Commissioners of king Antiochus, and sayde vnto Mathathias, Thou art a noble man, of hygh reputation, and great in this citie, hauing many fayʒe childʒen, and bʒethʒen:

18 Come thou therefoʒe first, and fulfill the kings commaundement, like as all the heathen haue done, yea and the menne of Juda, and such as remaine at Jerusalem: so shalte thou and thy childʒen be in the kings fauour, and enriched with golde, siluer, and great rewardes.

19 Mathathias answered, and spake with a loude voyce, Though all nations obey the king Antiochus, and fall away euerye man, from keeping the lawe of their fathers, though they consent to his commandementes:

20 (a) Yet will I, and my sonnes, and my bʒethʒen, not fall from the lawes of our fathers. a. The fa promiseth his children that they serue God, doth Iosue his houshold Iosu. 24.

21 God foʒbid we shoulde: that were not good foʒ vs that we should foʒsake the law and ordinances of God, and to agree vnto the commaundement of king Antiochus. D Pro. 4. f.

22 Therefoʒe we will do no suche sacrifice, neither bʒeake the statutes of our lawe, to goe another way.

23 And when he had spoken these woʒdes, there came one of the Jewes, which openly in the sight of all, dyd sacrifice vnto the idols vpon the aulter in the citie of Modin, accoʒding to the kings commaundement.

24 When Mathathias sawe this, it gree-thoke withall, and his wrath kindled for very zeale of the lawe: with that hee start vp, and kylled the Iewe beside the aulter:

Exo.22. 3.Reg.19. 25 Yea, and slue the kings cõmissioner that compelled him to do sacrifice, and destroyed the aulter at the same tyme.
26 Suche a zeale had hee vnto the lawe of God, like as Phinehes did vnto Zambri the sonne of Salomi.
27 And Mathathias cryed with a lowde voyce through the citie, saying, Who so is feruent in the lawe, and will keepe the couenant, let him folowe mee,
1.Mac.5.c. 28 So hee and his sonnes fledde into the mountaynes, and left all that euer they had in the citie.
E 29 Many other godly men also, whiche liued iustly and vprightly, departed into the wildernesse, with their children, their wiues, and their cattell, and remayned there: for the tyrannie increased sore vpon them.
30 Now when the kings seruants, and the host whiche was at Ierusalem in the citie of Dauid, hearde that certayne men had broken the kings commaundement, and were gonne their waye to the wildernesse into secrete places:
31 Then many pursued after them, and after they had ouertaken them, they camped them selues, and set the battell in araye against them in the Sabboth day, 32 And sayde vnto them, Will ye yet rebel? Get you hence, and do the commandemẽt of king Antiochus, and ye shall liue.
Iosue.5.c. 33 They answered, we will not go (for thee,) neither will we do the kings commandement, to defyle the Sabboth day.
34 Then beganne they to fyght agaynste them:
35 But the other gaue them none other answere, neither caste they one stone at them, nor made fast their priuie places:
36 But sayde, We will dye all in our innocencie, heauen and earth shall testifie with vs, that ye put vs to death wrongfully.
F 37 Thus they fought agaynste them vppon the Sabboth, and slue bothe men and cattell, their wyues and their children, to the number of a thousand people.
38 When Mathathias and his freendes hearde this, they mourned for them ryght sore, 39 And sayde one to another, If so be that we all do as our brethren haue done, and fyght not for our liues and for our lawes agaynst the heathen, then shall they the sooner rote vs out of the earth.
40 So they concluded among them selues at the same time, saying,
41 What soeuer he be that cõmeth to make battell with vs vppon the Sabboth daye, we will fyght against him, and not dye all as our brethren that were murdered in the wildernesse.
42 Vpon this came the assembly of the Assideans vnto them, which were of the strõgest men in Israel, and all suche as were feruent in the lawe:
43 And all they that were fledde for persecution, came to helpe them, and to stande by them:
44 In so muche that they gathered an host of men, and slue the wicked doers in their iealousie, and the vngodly men in theyr wrath: but the rest fled vnto the heathen, and escaped.
45 Then Mathathias & his frindes went about, and destroyed the aulters.
46 And circumcised the children that had not yet receyued circumcision, as many as they founde within the coastes of Israel,
47 And folowed mightily vpon the proude men: & this acte prospered in their handes, G
48 In so muche that they kept the lawe agaynste the power of the Gentiles and the kings, and gaue not ouer their dominion vnto wicked doers.
49 After this, when the tyme drewe on fast that Mathathias should dye, he sayde vnto his sonne: Nowe is pride and persecution increased, nowe is the time of destruction and wrathfull displeasure:
50 Be herefore, O my sonnes, be ye feruent in the lawe, and ieopard your lyues for the testament of the fathers.
51 Call to remembrance what actes our fathers dyd in their tyme, so shall ye receyue great honour, and an euerlasting name.

Mat.10.d. Esai.40.a. E.51.c. 1.Pet.1.b. James.1.b. Eccle.14.b. Psal.26.c. 62 Feare not ye then the wordes of an vngodly man, for his glorie is but dung and wormes:

63 To day is he set vp, and to morow is he gone: for he is turned into earth, and his memoriall is come to nought.

64 Wherefore, O my sonnes, take good hearts vnto you, and quit your selues like men in the lawe: for if ye doe the things that are commaunded you in the lawe of the Lord your God, ye shall obteyne great honour therein.

65 And beholde, I know that your brother Simon is a man of wisedome: see that ye giue care vnto him alway, he shall be a father vnto you.

66 As for Judas Machabeus, he hath euer beene mightie, and strong from his youth vp: let him be your captayne, and order the battell of the people.

67 Thus shall ye bring vnto you all those that fauor the law, and see that ye auenge the wrong of your people.

68 And recompence the heathen agayne, and apply your selues wholly to the commaundement of the lawe.

69 So he gaue them his blessing, and was layde by his fathers:

70 And dyed in the hundred fortie and fiue yeere at Modin, where his sonnes buryed him in his fathers sepulchre, and all Israell made great lamentation for him.

The.iij. Chapter.

1. Iudas is made ruler ouer the Iewes. 11. He killeth Apollonius, and Seron the prince of Syria. 44. The confidence of Iudas towarde God. 55. Iudas determineth to fight agaynst Lysias, whome Antiochus had made captaine ouer his hoste. 60. The prayer of the absteyners.

1 Then stode vp Judas Machabeus in his fathers steade.

Iose.cap.8. 9.10.11.12. antiqui. 2 And all his brethren helped him, and so did all they that helde with his father, and fought with chearefulnesse for Israell.

3 So Judas gat his people great honour: He put on a brestplate as a giant, and arayed him selfe with his harnesse, and defended the host with his swoorde.

4 In his actes he was like a Lion, and as a Lions whelpe roaring at his pray.

5 He was an enimie to the wicked, and hunted them out, and burnt vp those that vexed his people: Psal.101.b. 1.Mac.8.a.

6 So that his enimies fled for feare of him, and all the workers of vngodlinesse were put to trouble: suche lucke and prosperitie was in his hande.

7 This greeued diuers kings, but Jacob was greatly reioyced through his actes, and he gat him self a great name for euer. B

8 He went through the cities of Juda, destroying the vngodly out of them, turning away the wrath from Israell, 9 And receiuing suche as were oppressed: and the fame of him went vnto the vttermost part of the earth.

10 Then Apollonius (a prince of Syria) gathered a mightie great host of the heathen, & out of Samaria, to fight against Israel:

11 Which when Judas perceiued, he went forth to meete him, fought with him, slue him, and a great multitude with him: the remnant fled, and he toke their substance.

12 Judas also toke Apollonius owne swoord, and fought with it al his life long.

13 Nowe when Seron, a prince of the armie of Syria, hearde say that Judas had gathered vnto him the congregation and Church of the faythfull.

14 He sayde, I will get mee a name, and a prayse throughout the realme: for I wyll goe fight with Judas, and them that are with him, as many as haue despised the kings commaundement. C

15 So he made readie, and there went with him a great mightie host of the vngodly, to stande by him, and to be auenged of the children of Israell.

16 And when they came nigh vnto Bethoron, Judas went forth against them with a small companie. Ma.6.

17 And when his people sawe such a great host before them, they sayde vnto Judas, Howe are we able being so fewe, to fight against so great a multitude, & so strong, seeing we be so weery, and haue fasted all this day?

18 But Judas sayde, It is a small matter for many to be ouercome with fewe: yea there is no difference to the God of heauē, to deliuer by a great multitude, or by a small companie: 1.Re.14.d.

19 For the victorie of the battel standeth not in the multitude of the host, but the strēgth commeth from heauen. 2.Par.13.b.

20 Be-

20 Beholde, they come agaynſte vs with a cruell and proude multitude, to deſtroy vs, our wiues, and our childrē, and to rob vs:
D 21 But we will fight for our liues, and for our lawes.
22 And the Lord him ſelf ſhal deſtroy them before our face: therefore be not ye afrayde of them.
23 As ſoone as he had ſpoken theſe wordes, he leapt ſuddainely vpon them: thus was Seron ſmitten, and his hoſt put to flight, 24 And Judas folowed vpon them beyond Bethoron vnto the plaine fielde, where there were ſlaine eyght hundred men of them: and the reſidue fled into the lande of the Philiſtines.
25 Then all the heathen on euerie ſide, were afrayde of Judas and his brethren.
26 So that the rumour of him came vnto the kings eares, for all the gentiles couldе tell of the warres of Judas.
E 27 So when king Antiochus heарde theſe tydings, he was angry in his mind: wherfore he ſent forth, and gathered an hoſte of his whole realme, very ſtrong armies:
28 And opened his treaſurie, and gaue his hoſte a yeeres wages in hande, commaunding them to be readie at all times.
29 Neuertheleſſe, when he ſawe that there was not money ynough in his treaſuries, and that through the diſorde and perſecution whiche hee made in the lande to put downe the lawes that had beene of olde times, his cuſtomes and tributes of the lande were miniſhed:
30 Hee feared that hee was not able for to beare the coſtes and charges any longer, nor to haue ſuche giftes to giue ſo liberally as he did afore, more than the kings that were before him.
Wa.6.a. 31 Wherefore he was heauie in his mynde, and thought to goe vnto Perſides, for to take tributes of the lande, and ſo to gather much money.
32 So hee left Lyſias, a noble man of the kings bloud, to ouerſee the kings buſineſſe, from the water Euphrates, vnto the borders of Egypt:
33 And to keepe well his ſonne Antiochus, till he came againe.
F 34 Moreouer, hee gaue him halfe of hys hoſte, and Elephantes, and committed vnto him euerie thing, and gaue hym the charge of all things that he woulde haue done, concerning thoſe whiche dwelte in Juda and Jeruſalem:
35 That hee ſhoulde ſende out an armie againſt them, to deſtroye, and to rote out the power of Iſrael, and the remnaunt of Jeruſalem, to put out their memoriall from that place, 36 To ſet ſtrangers for to inhabite all their quarters, & to part their land among them.
37 Thus the king toke the other parte of the hoſte, and departed from Antioche, a citie of hys realme, ouer the water Euphrates, in the hundred and fourtie and ſeuenth yeere, and went through the hyghe countreys. Ioſe.cap.10. lib.antiq.
38 And Lyſias choſe vnto him Ptolome the ſonne of Dorymenius, Nicanor, and Gorgias, mightie men, and the kings friends. 1.Mac.8.b.
39 Theſe hee ſent, with fourtie thouſande fotemen, and ſeuen thouſande horſemen, for to goe into the lande of Juda, and to deſtroy it, as the king commaunded.
40 So they went forth with all their power, and came to Emmaus, into the playne fielde.
41 When the marchantes of the countrey heарde the rumour of them, they and their ſeruants toke verie much ſyluer and gold, for to buy the children of Iſrael to be their bondemen: there came vnto them alſo yet moe men of warre on euerie ſide, out of Syria, and from the Paleſtines.
42 Nowe when Judas and his brethren ſawe that trouble increaſed, and that the hoſte drewe nyghe vnto their borders, conſydering the kynges wordes whiche hee commaunded vnto the people (namely,) that they ſhoulde vtterly waſte and deſtroy them: G
43 They ſayde one to an other, Let vs redreſſe the decay of our people, let vs fight for our folke, and for our ſanctuarie.
44 Then the congregatiō were ſone redy gathered to fight, to praye, and to make ſupplycation vnto god, for mercy & grace.
45 As for Jeruſalem, it lay voyd, and was as it had beene a wildernеſſe: there went no man in nor out at it, and the ſanctuarie was troden downe, the aliantes kepte the caſtell, there was the habitation of the heathen, the myrth of Jacob was taken away, the Pipe and the Harpe was gone from among them. 1.Mac.1.b.
46 The Iſraelites gathered them together, and came to Maſpha before Jeruſalem: for in Maſpha was the place where they prayed afore time in Iſrael. 1.Re.7.b.
47 So they faſted that day, and put ſackeclothes vppon them, caſt aſhes vppon their heades, rent their clothes.
48 And layde forth the bookes of the lawe, whereout the heathen ſought to paynte the the likeneſſe of their images:

Num.6.b. 49 And brought the prieſtes ornaments, the firſtlings, and the tithes: they ſet there alſo the Nazarites, whiche had accompliſhed their vowes before God:

50 And cryed with a loude voyce towarde heauen, ſaying, What ſhal we do wt theſe? and whither ſhall we cary them away?

51 For thy ſanctuarie is troden downe, and defiled, the prieſtes are come to heauineſſe and diſhonour.

52 And beholde, the heathen are come togither for to deſtroy vs: thou knoweſt what things they imagine againſt vs.

53 Howe may we ſtand before them, except thou (O God) be our helpe?

54 Then they blewe out the trumpet alſo with a loude voyce.

Exod.28. 55 Then Judas ordeyned captaynes ouer the people, ouer thouſands, ouer hundredes, ouer fiftie, and ouer tenne.

56 But as for ſuche as buylded them houſes, maryed wynes, planted them vineyardes, and thoſe that were fearefull, he commaunded them euery man to go home agayne, according to the lawe.

Deu.20.a. Jud.7.a. 57 So the hoſt remoued, and pitched vpon the South ſide of Emmaus.

58 And Judas ſayde, Arme your ſelues, be ſtrong, O my children, make you ready againſte to morowe in the morning, that ye may fight with theſe people, whiche are agreed togither, to deſtroy vs and our ſanctuarie.

59 Better is it for vs to dye in battel, than to ſee our people and our ſanctuarie in ſuche a miſerable caſe.

The.iiij. Chapter.

1. Iudas goeth againſt Gorgias, whiche lyeth in wayte. 14. He putteth Gorgias and his hoſt to flight. 28. Lyſias inuadeth Iurie, 29. But Iudas driueth him out. 43. Iudas purifieth the temple, and dedicateth the aulter.

Ioſe.li.12.cap.10. 1 THen toke Gorgias fiue thouſande men of warre, and a thouſande of the beſt horſemen, & remoued out of the campe by nyght,

2 To come nye where the Iewes hoſt lay, and ſo to ſlay them ſodenly: (Nowe the men that kept the caſtel, were the conueyers of them.)

3 Nowe when Judas heard this, he remoued, and al the ſtrong men that were with him, to ſmyte the cheefe and principall of the kings hoſt at Emmaus.

4 For the armie was not yet come togither.

5 In the meane ſeaſon, came Gorgias by nyght into Judas tentes, and when he found no man there, he ſought them in the mountaines, and thought they had beene fledde away bicauſe of him.

6 But when it was daye, Judas ſhewed him ſelfe in the fielde with three thouſande men onely, which had neither harneſſe, nor ſwordes to their mindes.

7 But on the other ſide, they ſawe that the B heathen were mightie, and well harneſſed, and their horſemen aboute them, and all theſe well expert in feates of warre.

8 Then ſayd Judas to the men that were wt him, Feare not ye the multitude of them, be not afrayde of their violent running.

14 So they buckled togethe, and the hea- C then were diſcomfited, and fledde ouer the playne feelde: 2.Mac.7.

15 But the hyndmoſt of them were ſlayne with the ſworde: for they folowed them vnto Aſſaremoth, and into the feeldes of Idumea, towarde Azot and Jamnia: ſo that ther were ſlayne of them vpon a three thouſande men. or, Gazm

16 So Judas turned againe with his hoſt.

17 And ſayd vnto the people, Be not gredy of the ſpoiles, we haue yet a battaile to fight:

18 For Gorgias and his hoſt, are here by vs in the mountaines, but ſtande ye faſte againſte our enimies, and ouercome them, then may ye ſafely take the ſpoyles.

19 As Judas was ſpeaking theſe wordes, beholde, there appeared one parte of them vpon the mount.

20 But when Gorgias ſawe, that they of his partie were fled, and the tentes brent vp (for by the ſmoke they myght vnderſtande what was done) they perceyuing this, this, were verie sore afrayde:

21 And when they sawe also that Judas and his hoste were in the fielde readie to strike battell, 22 They fled euery one into the land of the heathen.

23 So Judas turned agayne to spoyle the tentes, where they gat much golde, and siluer, pretious stones, purple, & great riches.

24 Thus they wente home, and song a Psalme of thankes giuing, and praysed God in heauen. For he is gratious, and his mercye endureth for euer.

25 And so Israell had a great victorie in that day.

26 Now all the heathen that escaped, came and tolde Lysias euerie thing that hadde happened:

27 Wherfore Lysias was sore afrayd, and greeued in his mynde, bycause Israell had not gotten suche misfortune as he woulde they should, neither as the king comanded.

28 The next yeere folowing, gathered Lysias threescore thousande chosen men of fote, and fiue thousande horsemen, to fight against Jerusalem.

29 So they came into Jurie, and pitched their tentes at Bethoron: where Judas came against the with ten thousand men.

30 And when he saw so great and mightie an hoste, hee made his prayer, and sayde, Blessed be thou, O sauiour of Israell, whiche dyddest destroye the violent power of the giant, in the hande of thy seruant Dauid, and gauest the hoste of the heathen, into the hande of Jonathan the sonne of Saule, and of his harnesse bearer:

31 Put this hoste now into the hande of thy people of Israell, and let them be confoūded in their multitude and horsemen.

32 Make them afrayde, and discomfite the boldnesse of their strength, that they may be moued through their destruction.

33 Cast them downe through the sworde of thy louers, then shall all they that knowe thy name, prayse thee with thanksgiuing.

34 So they stroke the battell, & there were slaine of Lysias hoste fiue thousande men.

35 Then Lysias seeing the discomfiting of his men, and the manlynesse of the Jewes, howe they were readie eyther to liue, or to dye like men: he went vnto Antioche, and chose out men of warre, that when they were gathered together, they might come agayne into Jurie.

36 Then sayde Judas and his brethren, Beholde, our enimies are discomfited, let vs nowe goe vp to cleanse, and to repayre the sanctuarie.

37 Upon this, all the hoste gathered them together, and went vp into the mount Sion. 2. Ma. 10. b.

38 Nowe when they sawe the sanctuarie layde waste, the aulter defiled, the dores brent vp, the shrubs growing in the courts like as in a wood, or vpon mountaynes, yea, and that the priestes chambers were broken downe:

39 They rent their clothes, and made great lamentation, cast ashes vpon their heads, 40 Fell down flat to the ground vpon their faces, made a great noyse with the trumpets, and cryed toward heauen.

41 Then Judas appoynted certayne men, to fight against those which were in the castell, till they had cleansed the sanctuarie.

42 So he chose priests that were vndefiled, such as had pleasure in the lawe of God:

43 And they cleansed the sanctuarie, and bare out the defiled stones into an vncleane place.

44 And for so muche as the aulter of burnt offerings was vnhalowed, he toke aduisement what he might do withall: G

45 So he thought it was best to destroy it, least it shoulde happen to dos them any shame, for the heathen had defiled it: and therefore they brake it downe.

46 As for the stones, they layd them vp vpon the mountaine by the house in a conuenient place, till there came a prophete to shewe what should be done with them.

47 So they toke whole stones, according to the lawe, and buylded a newe aulter, such one as was before, Exo. 20. b. Deut. 27. a Josu. 8. g.

48 And made vp the sanctuarie within and without, & halowed the house & the courts:

49 They made new holy ornaments, and brought the candlesticke, the aulter of incense, and the table into the temple:

50 The incense layd they vpon the aulter, and lighted the lampes which were vpon the candlesticke, that they myght burne in the temple:

51 They set the shew breade vpon the table, and hanged vp the vayle, and finished all the workes which they had begun to make,

52 And vpon the twentie and fifth daye of the nynth moneth (which is called the moneth of "Casleu) in the hundred fortie and eyght yeere: 2. Ma. 10. b. " Nouember.

53 They rose vp betimes in the morning, for to do sacrifice according to the law, vpō the newe burnt offering aulter that they had made.

54 After the time and season that the heathen had defiled it, the same daye was it set set vp agayne, with songs, pypes, harpes, and cymballes.

55 And all the people fell vpon their faces, worshipping and thanking the god of heauen, which had giuen them the victory.

56 So they kept the dedication of the aulter
2 Par. 7. b. eyght dayes, offering burnt sacrifices and thanke offerings with gladnesse:

57 They deckt the forefront of the temple also with crownes and shieldes of golde, and halowed the portes and celles, and hanged dores vpon them.

58 Thus there was very great gladnesse among the people, bicause the blasphemie of the heathen was put away.

59 So Iudas and his brethren, with the whole congregation of Israell, ordeyned
John. 10. c. that the time of the dedication of the aulter, should be kept in his season from yere to yere, by the space of eyght dayes, from the twentie and fifth daye of the moneth f November. Casleu with myrth and gladnesse.

60 And at the same time buylded they vp the mount Sion, with highe walles and strong towres roūd about, least the gētiles should come and treade it downe, as they did afore.

1. Mac. 6. b. 61 Therefore Iudas set men of warre in it, to keepe it, and made it strong for to defend Bethsura, that the people might haue a refuge against the Edomites.

The. v. Chapter.

3. Iudas vanquisheth the heathen that go about to destroy Israell, and is holpen of his brethrē Simon and Ionathas. 50. He ouerthroweth the citie of Ephron, bicause they denied him passage thorowe it.

A 1 It happened also, that when the heathen rounde about hearde, howe that Iose. cap. 12. lib. 13. the aulter and the sanctuarie were set vp in their old estate, it displesed them very sore.

2 Wherefore, they thought to destroye the generation of Jacob that was among thē: in so muche that they beganne to slay and to persecute certaine of the people.

Exe. 25. b. Ier. 49. a. 3 Then Iudas fought against the children of Esau in Idumea, at Arabathane: for they dwelt rounde about the Israelites, where he slue and spoyled a great multitude of them.

4 He thought also vpon the malice and vnfaythfulnesse of the children of Beam, how they were a snare and stoppe vnto the people, and howe they layde wayte for them in the high way:

5 Wherefore he shut them vp into towres, and came vnto them, besieged them, and destroyed them vtterly, and brent vp their towres, with all that were in them.

6 Afterwarde went he against the children of Amon, whereof he founde a mightie power, and a great multitude of people, with Timothie their captaine.

7 So hee stroke many battels with them, B which were destroyed before him.

8 And when he had slaine them, he wanne Gazer the citie, with the townes belonging thereto, & so turned againe into Iurie.

9 The heathen also in Galaad, gathered them together against the Israelites that were in their quarters, to slay them: but they fled to the castel of Dathemam,

10 And sente letters vnto Iudas and his brethren, saying, The heathen that are about vs, are gathered against vs on euerie side to destroy vs.

11 And nowe they make them readie for to come and lay siege to the castel wherevnto we are fled, and Timothie is captayne of their hoste:

12 Come therefore, and deliuer vs out of their hands, for there is a great multitude of vs slayne alreadie.

13 Yea and our brethren that were at Tubin, are slayne and destroyed, welnigh a thousande men, and their wiues, their children, and their goods haue the enimies led away captiue.

14 While these letters were yet a reading, C beholde, there came other messengers from Galilee with rent clothes, which told euen the same tydings, 15 And sayde, that they of Ptolomais, of Tyrus, and of Sidon, were gathered against them and that all Galilee was filled with enimies, to destroy Israell.

16 When Iudas and the people heard this, 2. Ma. 8. they came together a great congregation, to deuise what they might doe for their brethren that were in trouble, and besieged of their enimies.

17 And Iudas sayde vnto Simon his brother, Chose thee out certaine men, and go deliuer thy brethren in Galilee: as for me and my brother Jonathas, we will go into Galaaditim.

18 So he left Iosephus the sonne of Zachari, and Azarias, to be captaines of the people, to keepe the remnant of the hoste in Iewrie, 19 And commaunded them, saying, Take the ouerlight of this people, and see that ye make no warre against the heathen, vntill the time that we come againe.

20 And

10 And vnto Simon hee gaue three thousand men, for to goe into Galilee: but Judas himselfe had eyght thousand in Galaaditim.

D 11 Then went Simon into Galilee, and stroke diuers battayles with the heathen, whome he discomfited.

12 And followed vpon them into the port of Ptolomais: and there were slayne of the heathen almost three thousande men.

13 So he toke the spoyles of them, and caryed awaye the Israelites that were in Galilee and Arbatis, with their wiues, their children, and all that they had, and brought them into Iewrie wyth greate gladnesse.

14 Judas Machabeus also and his brother Jonathas wente ouer Jordane, and trauelled three dayes iourney in the wyldernesse?

15 Where the Nabathees met them, and receyued them louingly, and tolde them euerie thing that had happened vnto their brethren in Galaaditim:

16 And howe that many of them were besieged in Barasa, Bosor, Alimis, Calbon, Mageth, and Carnaim (al these are strong walled and mightie great cities,)

17 And that they were kept in other cities of Galaaditim also, and to morowe they are appoynted to bring their hostes vnto these cities, to take them, and to destroye them in one day.

E 18 So Judas and his host turned in all the haste in the wildernesse towarde Bosor, and wanne the citie, slue al the males with the swoord, toke all their goods, and set fire vpon the citie:

19 And in the night they toke their iourney from thence, and came to the castel, 20 And betimes in the morning, when they looked vp, behold, there was an innumerable people bearing ladders and other instruments of warre, to take the castell, and to ouercome them.

21 When Judas sawe that the battayle beganne, and that the noyse thereof wente vp and rang into the heauen, and that there was so great a cry in the citie,

22 He sayde vnto his hoste, Fyght this daye for your brethren:

23 And so came behinde their enimies in three companies, and blewe vp the trumpets, and cryed in their prayer to God.

24 But so soone as Timotheus hoste perceiued that Machabeus was there, they fled from him: and he slue them downe right lore, so that there were killed of them the same day almost eyght thousand men.

25 Then departed Judas vnto Malpha, layde siege vnto it, and wan it, slue all the males in it, spoyled it, and set fire vpon it.

26 From thence went hee, and toke Calbon, Mageth, Bosor, and the other cities in Galaaditim.

27 After this, gathered Timothie another host, which pitched their tentes before Raphon, beyond the water. 2. Ma. 10. d.

28 Judas also sent to spy the host, and they brought him worde agayne, saying, All the heathen that be rounde about vs, are gathered vnto him, & ỹ host is very great: F

29 Yea, they haue hyred the Arabians to helpe them, and haue pitched their tentes beyonde the water, and are readie to come and fight against thee. So Judas went on to meete them.

30 And Timothie said vnto the captaines of his hoste, When Judas and his hoste come nighe the ryuer, if he goe ouer fyrst, we shall not be able to withstand him: for why? he will be to strong for vs.

31 But if he dare not come ouer, so that he pitch his tent beyonde the water: then will we goe ouer, for we shal be strong inough against him.

32 Nowe as soone as Judas came to the ryuer, hee appoynted certayne scribes of the people by the ryuer, and commaunded them, saying, See that ye leaue none behynde vpon this side of the ryuer, but let euery man come to the battayle.

33 So he went fyrst ouer vnto them, and all his people after him, and al the heathen were discomfited before him, and let their weapons fall, and came into the temple that was at Carnaim, 34 Which citie Judas wanne, and brent the temple, with al that were in it: so was Carnaim subdued, and might not withstande Judas.

G 35 Then Judas gathered all the Israelites that were in Galaaditim, from the least vnto the most, with their wiues and their children, a verie great hoste, for to come into the lande of Israel.

36 So they came vnto Ephron, which was a mightie great and strong citie, and laye in their way: for they could not go by it, neyther on the right hande, nor on the left, but must go throughit. 2. Mac. 7. a.

37 Neuertheless, they that were in the citie, would not let them goe through, but walled vp the portes with stones: and Judas sent vnto them with peaceable wordes, saying,

38 Let

48 Let vs passe through your lande, that we may go into our owne countrey, there shall no body doe you harme, we will but onely goe through on foote. But they would not let them in.

49 Wherefore Judas commaunded a proclamation to be made throughout the host, that euerie man should assault the citie in his order.

50 And so they did their best, like valiant men: and Judas besieged the citie all that day, and all that night, and so wanne it.

51 Where they slue as many as were males, and destroyed the citie, and spoyled it, and went through all the citie ouer them that were slayne.

52 Then went they ouer Iordane, into the playne fielde before Bethsan.

53 And Judas helped those forwarde that came behynde, and gaue the people good exhortation all the way through, till they were come into the lande of Juda.

2.Par.20.a 54 Thus they went vp into the mount Sion, where they offered burnt offrings with myrth and thankesgiuing, bicause there were none of them slayne, but came home agayne peaceably.

55 Nowe what time as Judas and Jonathas were in the land of Galaad, and Simon their brother in Galilee before Ptolomais:

56 Then Ioseph the sonne of Zachari, and Azarias, the captaynes, hearing of the actes that were done, and of the battayles that were stricken, sayde, 57 Let vs get vs a name also, and go fight against the heathen y are round about vs.

58 So they gaue their host a commaundement, and went towarde Jamnia:

59 Then came Gorgias and his men out of the citie, to fight against them:

60 Ioseph also and Azarias were chased vnto the borders of Iewrie, and there were slaine that day of the people of Israel two thousand men: so that there was a great miserie among the people of Israell,

2.Ma.5.d. 61 And all bicause they were not obedient vnto Judas and his brethren, but thought they should quite them selues manfully.

62 Neuertheles, they came not of the seed of these men, by whom Israel was helped.

63 But the men that were with Judas, were greatly commended in the sight of al Israell, and all the heathen, where soeuer their name was heard vpon.

64 And the people came vnto them, bydding them welcome.

65 After this, went Judas forth with his brethren, and fought against the children of Esau, in the land that lyeth toward the South, where he wanne the citie of Hebron, and the townes that lye beside it: and as for the walles and towers rounde about, he brent them vp.

66 Then remoued he to goe into the lande of the Philistines, and went through Samaria.

67 At the same time were there (many) priestes slaine in the battell, which wilfully and without aduisement, went out for to fight, to get them honour.

68 And when Judas came to Azot, in the Philistines lande, he brake downe their aulters, brent the images of their idolles, spoyled the cities, and came againe into the lande of Juda. Deut.6.d

The.vi. Chapter.

1. Antiochus willing to take the citie of Elymas for a pray, is driuen away of the citizens. 8. He falleth into sickneſſe, and dyeth. 17. His sonne Antiochus is made king. 34. The besieging of the tower of Sion. Eupater commeth into Iewrie with a great armie. 43. The boldneſſe of Eleazar.

1 NOwe when king Antiochus trauelled thorugh the highe countreys, he heard that Elymas in Persia was a noble and plenteous citie in siluer and golde. I

2 And that there was in it a very rich temple, where as were clothes, coate armours, and shieldes of golde, whiche Alexander the sonne of Philip king of Macedonia, that raigned first in Grecia, had lefte behinde him. 1.Mac.1 Iosep.ca lib.12.

3 Wherefore he went about to take the citie, and to spoyle it, but he was not able: for the citizens were warned of it, and fought with him:

4 And so he fled, and departed with greate heauinesse, and came againe into Babylo.

5 Moreouer, there came one which brought him tydings in Persia, that hys hostes whiche were in the lande of Juda, were driuen away. 1.Ma.1.d

6 And howe that Lysias went forth first with a great power, and was driuen away of the Iewes, howe that they hadde wonne the victory, and gotten great gods out of the hostes that perished,

7 Howe they had broken downe the abhomination which he set vp vpon the aulter at Jerusalem, and fenced the sanctuarie with high walles, like as it was afore, yea and Bethsura his citie also. B 1.Mac.1.f

8 So it chaunced, that when ý king heard these wordes, he was afrayde, and greeued very sore: wherefore he layde him downe vpon his bed, and fel sicke for very sorow, and all bycause it had not happened as he had deuised.

9 And there continued he long: for his griefe was euer more and more, so that he sawe he must needes dye.

10 Therefore he sente for all his friendes, and sayde vnto them, The sleepe is gone from myne eyes, for the very sorowe and vexation of harte that I haue.

11 For when I consider in my minde the greate aduersitie that I am come vnto, and the flouds of heauinesse whiche I am come in, where as afore time I was so merry, and so greatly set by, by reason of my power:

12 Agayne consydering the euill that I haue done at Jerusalem, from whence I toke all the riches of gold and siluer that were in it, and sent to destroy the inhabitours of Jurie without any reason why:

13 I know that these troubles are come vpon me for the same cause: ¶ behold, I must dye with great sorowe in a strange land.

C 14 Then called he for one Philip, a friende of his, whome hee made ruler of all hys realme, 15 And gaue him the crowne, his robe, and his ryng, that he shoulde take his sonne Antiochus vnto him, and bring him vp, til he might raigne him selfe.

16 So the king Antiochus dyed there, in the hundred fourtie and nine yeere.

2.Mac.9.a. Iosep.cap.14. lib.12. 17 When Lysias knew that the king was dead, hee ordeyned Antiochus hys sonne, whom he had brought vp, to raigne in his fathers steede, and called him Eupator.

18 Nowe they that were in the castel at (Ierusalem) kept in the Jewes rounde about the sanctuarie, and sought euer styl to doe them harme, for the strengthnyng of the heathen.

19 Wherefore Judas thought to destroy them, and called all the people together, that they might lay siege vnto them.

20 So they came togither in the hundred and fiftie yeere, and besieged them, laying forth their ordinaunce and instrumentes of warre.

D 21 Then certaine of them ý were besieged, went forth: vnto whome some vngodly men of Israel ioyned them selues also, 22 And went vnto the king, saying, How long will it bee or thou punishe, and auenge our brethren?

23 We haue euer bin minded to do thy father seruice, to walke in his statutes, and to obey his commaundementes, 24 Therefore our people fel from vs: and whersoeuer they founde any of vs, they slue them, and spoyled our inheritance.

25 And they haue not onely medled with vs, but with all our countreys.

26 And behold, this day are they besieging the castle at Jerusalem to take it, and haue made vp the strong holde in Bethsura: 1.Mac.4.¶

27 And if thou doest not preuent them right sone, they will do more than these, ¶ thou shalt not be able to ouercome them.

28 When the king hearde this, he was very angry, and called al his friendes, the captaines of his armie. and (al his footemē and) horsemen: E 2.Ma.13.d.

29 He hyred menne of warre also, of other realmes, partyennig to ý kings that were confederate with him, and of the Iles of the sea, which came vnto him.

30 And the number of his hoste was an hundred thousande footemen, and twentie thousande horsemen, and thirtie and two Elephantes wel exercised to battel.

31 These came through Idumea vntō Bethsura, and besieged it a long season, and made diuers instrumentes of warre against it: but the Jewes came out, and brent them with fyre, ¶ fought like men. 1.Mac.4.¶

32 Then departed Judas from the castel (at Ierusalem) and remoued the hoste towarde Bethzacaran, ouer agaynste the kings armie.

33 So the king arose before the day, and brought the power of his host into the way to Bethzacaran: where the hostes made them ready to the battayle, blowing the trumpettes.

34 And to prouoke the Elephantes for to fight, they shewed them the sappe of redde grapes, and mulberies,

35 And diuided the Elephantes among the hoste: so that by euery Elephante there stode a thousande menne well harnessed, and helmets of steele vppon their heades: yea, vnto euery one of the Elephantes also were ordeyned fiue hundred horsemen of the best. F

36 Which wayted on the Elephant, going whersoeuer he went, ¶ departed not from hym.

37 Euery Elephant was couered with a strong towre of wood, fastened thereon with instrumentes, whereupon were thirtie and two valiant men with weapons to fight, and within was a man of Inde, to rule the beast.

38 As for the remnant of the horsemen, he set them vpon both the sides in two partes with trumpets, to prouoke the host, and to stirre vp such as were slowe in the armie.

39 And when the sunne shone vppon their shieldes of gold and steele, the mountaines glistered agayne at them, and were as bright as the cressets of fyre.

40 The kings host also was diuided, one part vpon the high mountaines, the other lowe beneath: so they went on, taking good heede, and keeping their order.

41 And all they that dwelt in the lande, were afrayde at the noyse of their hoste, when the multitude went forth, and when the weapons smote together: for the hoste was both great and mightie.

42 Iudas also and his host entered into the battayle, and slue sixe hundred men of the kings armie:

43 Nowe when Eleazar the sonne of Saura did see one of the Elephantes decked with the kinges badge, and was a more goodly beast than the other, he thought the king should be vpon him, 44 And ieoparded him selfe to deliuer his people, and to get him a perpetual name.

45 Wherfore he ranne with a courage vnto the Elephant in the middest of the host, smiting them downe on both the sydes, and slue many about him.

46 So went he to the Elephants feet, and gate him vnder him, (a) and slue him: then fel the Elephante downe vpon him, and there he dyed.

47 Iudas also and his menne, seeing the power of the king, and the mightie violence of his hoste, departed from them.

48 And the kings armie went vp agaynst them toward Ierusalem, and pitched their tentes in Iurie beside mount Sion.

49 Moreouer, the king toke truce wyth them that were in Bethsura: but when they came out of the citie (because they had no vitayles, but were shut vp within, and the lande lay vntylled,)

50 The king toke Bethsura, and set men to keepe it, and turned his host to the place of the sanctuarie, 51 And layde siege to it a great while, where he made all manner ordinance, handebowes, fierie dartes, rackets to cast stones, scorpions to shote arowes, and slings.

52 The Iewes also made ordinãce against theirs, and fought a long season.

53 But in the citie there were no vitailes, for it was the seuenth yere of the warres: and those heathen that remayned in Iurie, had eaten vp all their store.

54 And in the sanctuarie were fewe men left: for the hunger came so vppon them that they were scattered abrode euery man to his owne place.

55 So when Lysias heard that Philip (whom Antiochus the king while he was yet liuing, had ordeined to bring vp Antiochus his sonne, that he might be king,) 2.Ma.6.

56 Was come againe out of Persia and Media with the kings host, and thought to obtayne the kingdome, with the gouernance of al things:

57 He gate him to the king in all the hall, and to the captaines of the host, and sayde, We decrease dayly, and our vitayles are but smal: agayne, the place that we lay siege vnto is very strong, and it were our part to see for the realme:

58 Let vs agree with these men, and take truice with them, & with all their people.

59 And graunt them to liue after their law, as they did afore: for they be greeued, and do all these things against vs, bycause we haue "despised their lawe. "or broken

60 So the king and the princes were content, and sent vnto them to make peace: and they receiued it.

61 Nowe when the king and the princes had made an othe vnto them, they came out of the castel,

62 And the king went vp to mount Sion: but when he sawe that the place was wel fenced, he brake the othe that he had made, and cõmaunded to destroy the wal rounde about. 1.Mac

63 Then departed he in all the hast, and returned vnto Antioch, where he founde Philip hauing dominion of the citie: so he fought against him, and toke the citie againe into his handes.

1 IN the hundred fiftie and one yeere came Demetrius the son of Seleucus from the citie of Rome with a smal compayne of men, vnto a citie of the sea coast, and there he bare rule. Plal.

2 And when he came to Antioch the citie

of his progenitours, his hoſt toke Antiochus & Lylias, to bring them vnto him.

3 But when it was tolde him, he sayde, Let me not see their faces.

4 So the hoſte put them to death. Nowe when Demetrius was set vpon the throne of his kingdome,

2.Ma.6. 5 There came vnto him wycked and vngodly men of Israel, whose captaine was Alcimus, that would haue bin made high priest:

6 These men accused the people of Israel vnto the king, saying, Judas and his brethren haue slayne thy friendes, and driuen vs out of our owne lande:

B 7 Wherefore, sende nowe some man, to whome thou giuest credence, that he may goe, and see all the destruction whiche hee hath done vnto vs, and to the kings land, and let him be punyshed, w̄ all his frendes and fauourers.

8 Then the king chose Bacchides, a friend of his, which was a man of great power in the realme beyonde the water, and faithfull vnto the king, and sent him (to see the destruction that Iudas had done.)

9 And as for that wicked Alcimus, hee made him high priest, and commaunded him to be auenged of ẏ children of Israel.

10 So they departed (from the king) and came with a great hoſte into the lande of Juda, sending messengers to Judas and his brethren, and speaking vnto them w̄ peaceable wordes, but vnder deceyte.

1.Mac.7. b. 11 Therefore Judas and his people beleued not their saying, for they sawe that they were come with a great hoſt.

12 After this, came the scribes together vnto Alcimus and Bacchides, to entreate of reasonable couenantes:

13 And the Assidians were the first among the children of Israel that required peace of them,

C 14 Saying, Alcimus the priest is come of the seede of Aaron, howe can he deceyue vs though he come with an armie?

15 So he gaue them louing wordes, and swore vnto them, and sayde, We will do you no harme, neither your friendes.

16 And they beleeued him: but the very same day toke he threescore men of them and slue them according to the wordes that are written,

Psal.79.a. 17 They haue cast the flesshe of thy saintes, and shed their blond rounde about Jerusalem, and there was no man that would bury them.

18 So there came a greate feare and dread among al the people saying, There is neither truthe nor righteousnesse in them: for they haue broken the appoyntment and othe that they made.

19 And Bacchides remoued his hoſt from Jerusalem, and pitched his tent at Bethzecha, where he sent forth, and toke many of them that had forsaken him: he slue many of the people also, and cast them into a great pit.

20 Then committed he the lande vnto Alcimus, and left men of warre with him to helpe him: and Bacchides him selfe went vnto the king.

21 And thus Alcimus defended his hygh priesthood. D

22 And all suche as vexed Israel, resorted vnto him: insomuche that they obteyned the lande of Juda, and did much euil vnto the Israelites.

23 Nowe when Judas sawe all the mischiefe that Alcimus and his company had done, (yea more than the heathen themselues) vnto the Israelites:

24 He went forth rounde aboute all the borders of Jurie, and punished those vnfaithfull rundagates, so that they came no more out into the countrey.

25 So when Alcimus sawe that Judas and his people had gotten the vpper hand, & that he was not able to abide them: he went agayne to the king, and sayde al the worst of them that he coulde.

26 Then the king sente Nicanor, one of his chiefe princes, which bare euil wil vnto Israel, and commaunded him, that he should vtterly destroy the people.

27 So Nicanor, came to Jerusalem with a greate hoſte, and sente vnto Judas and his brethren with friendly wordes, but vnder deceite, saying, 2.Mac.15.a

28 There shall be no warre betwixt me and you, I will come with a fewe men to see how ye do with friendship. E

29 Upon this he came vnto Judas, and they saluted one another peaceably: but the enimies were appointed to take Judas by violence.

30 Neuertheleſſe, it was tolde Judas, that he came vnto him but vnder deceite: wherefore he gate hym awaye from hym, and woulde see his face no more.

31 When Nicanor perceyued that his counsel was bewrayed, hee went out to fight agaynſt Judas, beside [a] Capharsalama: [a] or, Carphesalama.

32 Where there were slayne of Nicanors hoſte fiue thousande men: and the residue fledde vnto the castel of Dauid.

33 After this came Nicanor vp vnto mount Sion, and the priestes, with the Elders of the people, went forth to salute him peacrably, and to shewe him the burnt sacrifices that were offered for the king.

34 But he laughed them and the people to scorn, mocked them, defiled their offerings, and spake disdainefully:

2.Mac.14.a 35 Yea, and sware in his wrath, saying, If Judas and his host be not deliuered nowe into my hands, assone as euer I come again ℣ farewel, I shal burne vp this house. With that went he out in a great anger.

F 36 Then the priestes came in, and stood before the aulter of the Temple, weeping, and saying,

37 Forsomuche as thou O Lorde hast chosen this house, ỳ thy name might be called vpon therein, ℣ that it should be an house of prayer, and petition for thy people:

Esai.56.b. 38 Be auenged of this man, and his host, and let them be slayne with the sworde: remember the blasphemies of them, and sufer not them to continue any longer.

39 When Nicanor was gone from Jerusalem, he pitched his tent at Bethoron, and there an host met him out of Syria.

40 And Judas came to Adarsa with three thousande men, and made his prayer vnto God, saying.

Esai.37.f.f 41 O Lorde, bycause the messengers of king Sennacherib blasphemed thee, the angel went forth and slue an hundred, fourescore, and fiue thousande of them:

42 Euen so destroy thou this host before vs to day, that other people may knowe how that he hath blasphemed thy sanctuarie, and punish him according to his maliciousnesse.

2.Mac.15.d. 43 And so the hostes stroke the feelde the thirtienth day of the moneth "Adar: and Nicanors host was discomfited, and hee him selfe was fyrst slayne in the battel.

44 When Nicanors men of warre, sawe ỳ he was killed, they cast away their weapons, and fledde:

45 But the Jewes folowed vpon them a whole dayes iourney, from Adazer, vnto Gazara, blowing with the trumpettes, and making tokens after them.

G 46 So the Jewes came forth of all the townes round about, and blewe out their hornes vppon them, and turned agaynst them: thus were they all slayne, and not one of them left.

47 Then they toke their substance for a pray, and smote of Nicanors head, and his right hande which he helde vp so proudely, and brought it with them, and hanged it vp afore Jerusalem. 2.Mac.14.

48 Wherfore the people were exceedingly reioyced, and passed ouer that day in great gladnesse.

49 And Judas ordeyned that the same day, (namely) the thirtienth day of the moneth Adar, should be kept in myrth euery yere.

50 Thus the lande of Juda was in rest a little while.

The.viij. Chapter.

2. Iudas consydering the power and godly policie of the Romanes, maketh peace with them. 22. The rescript of the Romanes sente vnto the Iewes.

1 JUdas heard also the fame of the Romanes, that they were mightie, and valiant men, and agreeable to all things that are required of them, and make peace with al men which come vnto them, A

2 And howe they were doughtie menne of strength: besides that, it was tolde him of their battels and noble actes wh iche they did in Galatia, howe they had conquered thē, ℣ brought them vnder tribute,

3 And what great things they had donne in Spaine: how that with their wysedome and sober behauiour, they had won the mines of syluer ℣ golde that are there,

4 And obteyned all the lande, wyth other places farre from them: howe they hadde discomfited and slayne downe the kinges that came vpon them, from the vttermost part of the earth, and howe other people gaue them tribute euery yeere.

5 How they had slayne and ouercome Philip, and "Perses king of "Cethim, and other moe in battel, which had brought their ordinaunce against them: "or, the Macedonian

6 How they discomfited great Antiochus king of Asia, that woulde needes fyght with them, hauing an hundred and twentie Elephantes, with horsemen, charets, and a very great host:

7 How they toke him selfe alyue, and ordained him, with suche as should raigne B after him, to pay them a greate tribute, yea and to finde them good sureties and pledge besides al this:

8 Howe they had taken from him India, Media, and Lydia, his best lands, and giuen them to king Eumenus:

9 Agayne, howe they perceiuing that the Greekes were comming to vexe them,

10 Sent agaynste them a captayne of an host, hoste, which gaue them battel, slue many of them, led away their wiues and children captiue, spoyled them, toke possession of their lande, & destroyed their strong holdes, & subdued them to be their bondmen, vnto this day.

11 Moreouer, howe that as for other kingdomes and Iles, which sometime withstoode them, they destroyed them, & brought them vnder their dominion.

12 But kept amitie with their owne friendes, and those that were confederate with them, and conquered kingdomes both far and nigh: and that whosoeuer hearde of their renowme, was afrayde of them.

13 For whome they wolde helpe to their kingdomes, those raigned: and whom it liked not them to raigne, they put them downe: and how they were come to great preheminience,

¶ 14 Hauing no king among them, neyther any man clothed in purple to be magnified therethrough:

15 But had ordayned them selues a "parliament, wherein there sat three hundred and twentie Senatours dayly vpon the counsel, to dispatche euer the businesse of the people, and to kepe good order:

16 And howe that euery yeere they chose a "Mayre to haue gouernance of all their lande to whome euery man was obedient and there was neither cuill wil, nor dissention among them.

17 Then Iudas chose Eupolemus, the son of "Iohn, the sonne of Iacob, and Iason, the sonne of Eleazer, and sente them to Rome, for to make friendship, and a bond of loue with them, 18 That they might take from them the bondage of the Greekes: for the Iewes sawe that the Greekes would subdue the kingdome of Israel.

19 So they went vnto Rome, a very great iourney, and came vnto the "Parliament and sayde, 20 Iudas Machabeus, with his brethren, and the people of the Iewes, hath sent vs vnto you, to make a bonde of friendship and peace with you, and ye to note vs as louers and friendes.

D 21 And that matter pleased the Romanes your right wel.

22 Wherefore it was written vp: of the which the Romanes made a writing in tables of brasse, and sent it to Ierusalem, that they might haue by them a memorial of the same peace and bonde of frendship, after this manner.

23 God saue the Romanes and the people of the Iewes both by sea and by land, and keepe the swoorde and enimie from them for euermore:

24 If there come first any warre vpon the Romanes, or any of their friendes thorowout all their dominion, 25 The people of the Iewes shal helpe thē, as the time requireth, and that with all their hartes.

26 Also they shal neither giue nor send vnto their enimies vitayles, weapons, money, nor shippes: but fulfil their couenantes at the Ramanes pleasure, taking nothing of them therefore.

27 Agayne, if the people of the Iewes happen first to haue warre, the Romanes shal stande by them with a good wyll, according as the time will suffer:

28 Neyther shall they giue vnto the Iewes enimies vitayles, weapōs, money, or shippes: thus are the Romanes content to do, and shall fulfil their charge without any deceite. ¶

29 Accoording to these articles, ỳ Romanes made the bond with the Iewes.

30 Now after these articles (sayde they) if any of the parties wil put to them, or take any thing from them, they shall doe it with the consent of both: and whatsoeuer they adde vnto them, or take from them, it shal stande fast.

31 And as touching the euil that Demetrius hath donne vnto the Iewes, we haue written vnto him, saying, Wherfore layest thou thy heauie yoke vpon the Iewes our friendes and louers?

32 If they make any complaint of thee agayne vnto vs, we shall defende them, and fight with thee by sea and by lande, according to iustice.

The. ix. Chapter.

1. After the death of Nicanor, Demetrius sendeth his armie agaynste Iudas. 18. Iudas is slaine. 34. Ionathas is put in the steede of his brother. 47. The stryfe betweene Ionathas & Bacchides. 55. Alsimus is taken with the palsie, and dyeth. Bacchides returneth agayne vnto the king. 68. He commeth vpon Ionathas by the counsel of certaine wicked persons, and is ouercome. 70. The truce of Ionathas with Bacchides.

1 IN the meane season, when Demetrius hearde that Nicanor and his host was slayne in the fielde, he procreded further, to sende Bacchides, and Alcimus againe into Iurie and the chiefe strength of his hoste with them.

2 So they went forth by the way that leadeth vnto Galgala, and pitched their tentes before Masaloth (which is in Arbelis) and wan the citie, & slue much people.

3 In the first moneth of the hundred fiftie and two yeere, they brought their hoste, and layde their siege against Ierusalem:

4 But rayling their campe, they came to Berea with twentie thousand footemen, and two thousand horsemen.

or, Elena. 5 Nowe Iudas had pitched his tent at Laisa, with three thousande chosen men, 6 And when they sawe the multitude of the other armie, that it was so great, they were sore afraide, and many conueyed themselues out of the hoste, insomuch that there abode no more of them, but eyght hundred men.

B 7 When Iudas sawe that his hoste failed him, & that he must needes fyght, it brake his hart, that hee had no tyme to gather them together: wherefore the man was in extreme trouble.

8 Neuertheleſſe, he saide vnto them that remayned with him: vp, let vs goe against our enimies, peraduenture we shal be able to fyght with them.

9 But they would haue stopped him, saying, We shall not be able: therefore nowe let vs saue our liues, and turne againe to our brethren: for shoulde we fight against them, being so fewe?

a. He whiche was wont to pray and ouercome, is ouercome when he truſteth in his strength, and omitteth prayer.

10 And Iudas saide, (a) God forbid that we should flee from them: wherefore if our tyme become, let vs dye manfully for our brethren, & let vs not staine our honour.

11 Then the hoste remoued out of the tentes, and stoode against them, and the horsemen, were diuided in two partes: the slinge casters and archers went before the hoste, and all the mightie men were formost in the fielde.

12 Bacchides him selfe was in the right wing of the battell, and the hoste, drewe nigh in two parts & blew the trumpettes.

13 They of Iudas syde blewe the trumpets also, and the earth shooke at the noyse of the hostes: and they strake a fielde from the morowe til night.

C 14 And when Iudas sawe that Bacchides hoste was strongest on the right side, he toke with him al the hardie men, 15 And brake the right wing of their order, & folowed vpon the vnto mount Azot.

16 Nowe when they whiche were the left wyng, sawe that the right side was discomfited, they pursued Iudas and them that were with him harde at the heeles.

17 Then was there a sore battel: for many were slaine & wounded on both ỳ partes.

18 Iudas also him selfe was killed, and the remnant fledde.

19 So Ionathas and Simon toke Iudas their brother, and buried him in his fathers sepulchre in the citie of Modin.

20 And al the people of Israel made great lamentation for him, and mourned long, saying.

21 Alas, that this worthy should be slayne, D which deliuered the people of Israel.

22 As for other thinges pertayning to the battels of Iudas, the noble actes that he dyd and of his worthinesse, they are not written, for they were very many.

Iosephus 23 Nowe after the death of Iudas, wicked 3. lib. 13. men came vp in all the coastes of Israel, & there arose al such as did worke vngodlynesse.

24 In those dayes, was there a great dearth in the lande, and all the countrey gaue ouer thē selues & theirs vnto Bacchides.

25 So Bacchides chose wicked men, and made them Lordes in the lande.

26 These sought out and made search for Iudas friendes, and brought them vnto Bacchides, which auenged him selfe vpon them with greate dispite.

27 And there came so great trouble in Israel, as was not sinee the tyme that no prophete was seene there.

28 Then came all Iudas friendes toge- E ther, and sayde vnto Ionathas:

29 For so muche as thy brother Iudas is deade, there is none like him to goe forth against our enimies, against Bacchides, & such as are aduersaries of our own people.

30 Wherefore this day we chose thee for him, to be our prince and captaine, to order our battel.

31 And Ionathas toke the gouernance vpon him at the same tyme, & ruled in stede of his brother Iudas.

32 When Bacchides gate knowledge therof, he sought for to slay him.

33 But Ionathas and Simon his brother, perceiuing that, fledde into the wildernesse of Thecua, with all their companie, and pitched their tentes by the water poole of Asphar.

34 Whiche when Bacchides vnderstoode, he came ouer Iordane with all his hoste, vpon the Sabboth day.

35 Nowe had Ionathas sente his brother (Iohn) a captaine of the people, to praye his his freendes the Nabuthites, that they woulde lende them their ordinaunce, for they had muche.

a, Iambri. 36 So the children of "Iambri came out of Madaba, and toke John, and all that he had, and went their way withal, when they had taken it.

37 Then came worde vnto Jonathas and Simon his brother, that the children of Zambri made a great mariage, & brought the bride frō Madaba, with great pompe:
for she was daughter to one of the noblest princes of Chanaan.

F 38 Wherfore they remembred the blode of John their brother, and went vp, and hyd them selues vnder the shaddowe of the mountaine.

39 So they lyfte vp their eyes, and loked, & beholde, there was muche a do, and great preparation: for the bridegrome came forth, and his freendes, and his brethren met them, with tympanies, instruments of musicke, and many weapons.

40 Then Jonathas, & they that were with him, rose out of their lurking places against them, and slue many of them, and the remnant fledde into the mountaines, and they toke all their substance.

41 Thus ỳ mariage was turned to mourning, and the noyse of their melodie, into lamentation.

2. Blood doth require blood. 42 And so when they had auenged the (a) blod of their brother, they turned agayne vnto Jordane.

43 Bacchides hearing this, came vnto the verye border of Jordane with a greate power, vpon the Sabboth day.

44 And Jonathas sayde to his company,
Let vs get vp, and fight againste our enemies: for it standeth not with vs to day, as in time past.

45 Beholde, our enimies are in our way, the water of Jordane vpon the one side of vs, with bankes, fens, and woodes, on the other side, so that there is no place for vs to depart vnto.

2. Par. 10. a. 1. Mac. 4. b. 46 Wherfore crye nowe vnto heauen, that yee may bee deliuered from the power of your enimies: so they stroke the battel.

G 47 And Jonathas stretched out his hand to o smite Bacchides, but he fled backwarde.

48 Then Jonathas & they that were with him, leapt into Jordane, and swymmed ouer Jordane vnto the further banke: but the other woulde not passe ouer Jordane after him.

49 And there were slaine of Bacchides side that day a thousande men.

50 Therfore Bacchides with his host turned againe to Jerusalem, and built vp the castels & strong holds that were in Iurie, Jericho, Emaus, Bethorō, Bethel, Thamnata, "Phara, and "Thopo, with hyghe walles, with portes, and with lockes:

"or, Pharathoni. "or, Tephon.

51 And sette men to kepe them, that they might vse their malice vpon Israel.

52 He walled vp the citie Bethsura, Gaza-ra, and the castel, and prouided them with men and vittailes.

53 He tokealso the cheefest mens sonnes in the countrey for pledges, and put them in the castel at Jerusalem to be kept.

54 Afterwarde, in the hundred fiftie and three yeere, in the seconde moneth, Alci-mus commaunded that they shoulde destroy the walles of the inwarde court of the sanctuarie, and he pulled downe, and beganne to destroy the monumentes of the Prophetes.

55 But at the same time Alcimus was plagued, and smitten with a paulsie, and his enterprises were hindered, and his mouth was stopped (by God) so that he could no more speake, nor commaunde any of his house concerning his business.

56 Thus dyed Alcimus in great miserie at the same time.

57 And whē Bacchides saw that Alcimus was deade, he turned againe to the king:
and so the lande was in rest two yeeres.

58 Then all the vngodly men held a counsell, saying, Behold, Jonathas and his cō-panie are at ease, and dwell without care, wherefore let vs bring Bacchides hyther, and he shall take them all in one night.

59 So they went, and gaue Bacchides this counsell.

60 Which arose, to come with a great host, and sent letters priuily to his adherentes whiche were in Iurie, to take Jonathas and those that were with him: but they might not, for the other had gotten knowledge of their deuice.

61 And Jonathas toke fyftie men of the countrey, whiche were the ringleaders of them, and slue them.

62 Then Jonathas and Simon with their companie departed vnto the citie "Beth-basin, whiche lyeth in the wyldernesse, and repayred the decay thereof, and made it strong.

"or, Bethbessin.

63 When Bacchides knewe this, he gathered all his hoste, and sent worde to them that were in Iurie.

64 Then came he and layde siege to Beth-basin, and fought against it a long season, and made instrumentes of warre.

65 Nowe Jonathas left his brother Simon in the citie, and went forth him selfe into the countrey, and came with a certaine number, 66 And slue Odomeras, and his brethren, & the children of Phaleron in their tentes, so that hee beganne to be strong, and to increase in power.

67 As for Simon and his company, they went out of the citie, and brent vp the instrumentes of warre.

68 And fought against Bacchides, and discomfited him: and Bacchides was sore vexed, because his counsell and trauayle was in vayne.

69 Wherefore, he was wroth at the wicked men (a) that gaue him counsell to come into their lande, and slue manie of them: then purposed he with his companie to go away into his owne countrey.

70 Whereof when Jonathas had knowledge, he sent ambassadours vnto him, for to make peace with him, & that he shoulde deliuer his prisoners agayne.

71 To the whiche Bacchides consented gladly, & did according to his desire: yea, and made an othe that he should neuer do him harme, all the dayes of his life.

72 So hee restored vnto him all the prisoners that he had taken out of the lande of Juda, & then turned & went his way into his owne lande, neyther proceded he any further to come vnto ỹ borders of Juda.

73 Thus Israel had no more warre, & Jonathas dwelt at Machmas, and beganne there to gouerne the people, and destroyed the vngodly men out of Israel.

a. Wicked counsell falleth on the counsellours.

The.x.Chapter.

4. Demetrius desyreth to haue peace with Ionathas. 48. Alexander mooueth warre agaynst Demetrius. 50. Demetrius is slaine. 51. The freendshippe of Ptolomeus and Alexander.

1 IN the hundred and threescore yeere, came Alexander, the sonne of noble Antiochus, and toke Ptolomais, whose cytizens receyued him, and there hee raygned.

2 When Demetrius heard thereof, he gathered an exceeding greate host, and went forth agaynst him to fight.

3 Wherefore Demetrius sent letters vnto Jonathas with louing wordes, and praysed him greatly.

4 For he sayde: we will first make peace with him, before he bynde him selfe with Alexander agaynst vs:

5 Els he shall remember the euill that wee haue done agaynst him, his brother, and his people.

6 And so he gaue Jonathas leaue to gather an host, to make weapons, and to be confederate with him, and commaunded the pledges that were in the castel to bee deliuered vnto him.

7 Then came Jonathas to Hierusalem, & B read the letters in the audience of all the people, and of them that were in ỹ castel.

8 And therefore were they sore afrayde, because they hearde that the king had giuen him licence to gather an host.

9 Thus were the pledges deliuered vnto Jonathas, whiche restored them to their parentes.

10 Jonathas also dwelt at Jerusalem, and began to buyld vp, and to repayre ỹ citie:

11 Commaunding the workemen to wall it and the mounte Sion rounde about with free stone, to be a strong holde: and so they did.

12 As for the heathen that were in the castels, which Bacchides had made vp, they fledde:

13 So that euery man lefte the place, and went into his owne countrey.

14 Onely at Bethsura remayned certaine C of the Jewes, which had forsaken the law and commaundements of God, for Bethsura was their refuge.

15 Nowe when king Alexander hearde of the promises that Demetrius hadde made vnto Jonathas, & when it was tolde him of the battels and noble actes, whiche he, and his brethren had done, & of the greate trauayles that they had taken,

16 He sayde, Where shall we finde suche a man? well, we will make him our freend, and be confederate with him.

17 Upon this, he wrote a letter vnto him, with these wordes:

18 Kyng Alexander saluteth his brother Jonathas.

19 We haue heard of thee, that thou art a valiant man, and meete to be our friende:

20 Wherefore, this day we ordeyne thee to be the highe priest of thy people, and to be called the kings freende, (Upon this, he sent him a purple clothing, and a crowne of golde) that thou mayest consider what is for our profite, and keepe freendshippe towarde vs.

21 So in the seuenth moneth of the hundred and threescore yeere, vppon the solempne

lemne feast day of the tabernacles, Jonathas put the holy rayment vpon him: then gathered he an hoste, and prepared many weapons.

22 Which when Demetrius heard, he was maruellous sorie,

23 And sayde, Alas what haue we done, that Alexander hath preuented vs, in getting the friendship of the Iewes, for his owne defence?

24 Yet will I write louingly vnto them also, yea, and promise them dignities and rewardes, that they may be of my side.

25 Wherevpon hee wrote vnto them these wordes: King Demetrius sendeth greeting vnto the people of the Iewes:

26 Whereas ye haue kept your couenaunt towarde vs, and continued in our friendshippe, not enclining to our enimies, we were glad when we heard thereof.

27 Wherefore remaine still, and be faithful to vs, and we shal wel recompence you for the things that you haue done on our partie:

28 We shall release you of many charges, and giue you rewardes.

29 And nowe I discharge you and all the Iewes from tributes, I forgiue you the customes of salte, and release you of the crowne taxes, of the thirde part of seede,

30 And halfe the fruite of trees, whiche is myne owne dutie, I do release them from this day forth, so that they shall not be taken of the lande of Juda, nor of the three cities, whiche are added therevnto out of Samaria and Galilee, frō this day forth for euermore.

31 Jerusalem also, with all things belonging thereto, shall be holy and free, yea, the tithes, and tributes shall perteine vnto it.

32 As for the power of the castell whiche is at Jerusalem, I remit, and gyue it vnto the highe priest, that he may set in it suche men as he shal chose to keepe it.

33 I freely deliuer all the Iewes that are prisoners throughout all my realme, so that euery one of them shall be free from paying any tribute, yea, euē of their cattel.

34 All the solemne feastes, Sabbothes, newmoones, the dayes appoynted, the three dayes before and after the feast, shall be free for all the Iewes in my realme.

35 So that in them, no man shall haue power to do any thing, or to vexe any of thē in any manner of cause.

36 There shall thirtie thousande also of the Iewes be written vp in the kings hoste, and haue their wages payde as all other men of warre of the kings shoulde haue: and of them shall be ordeyned certayne to keepe the kings strong holdes.

37 Yea, and some of them shall be set ouer the kings secrete affayres: and their gouernours and princes shall be of them selues, and liue after their own lawes, as the king hath commaunded in the lande of Juda.

38 And the three cities that are falne vnto Jurie from the countrey of Samaria, shal be taken as Jurie, and be vnder one, neyther be subiect to any strange lorde, but to the highe priest.

39 As for Ptolomais and the lande perteining thereto, I giue it vnto the sanctuarie at Jerusalem, for the necessarie expences of the holie things. F.

40 Moreouer, I will giue euery yeere, fyfteene thousand sicles of siluer, of the kings reuenues, out of the places appertayning vnto me.

41 And all the ouerplus which they haue not paied for things due, as they did in the former yeeres, from henceforth they shall giue it, toward the workes of the temple.

42 And besides this, the fiue thousand sicles of siluer which they receyued yerely of the account appoynted, for the entertainment of the sanctuarie, these yeeres passed, euen these things shall be released, bicause they appertaine to the priestes that minister.

43 Item, who so euer they be, that flee vnto the temple at Jerusalem, or within the liberties thereof, whereas they are falne into the kings danger for any manner of businesse, they shall be pardoned, and all the goodes that they haue in my realme shall be free.

44 For the buylding also, and repayring of the worke of the sanctuarie, expences shall be giuen out of the kings reuenues:

45 Yea, and for the making of the walles rounde about Jerusalem, for the breaking downe of the olde, and for the setting vp of the strong holdes in Jurie, shall the costes and charges be gyuen out of the kings reuenues.

46 But when Jonathas and the people hearde these words, they gaue no credence vnto them, neither receiued them: for they remembred the great wickednesse that hee had done vnto Israell, and howe sore he had vexed them. 1.Mac.7.d.

47 Wherefore they agreed vnto Alexander, for he was a prince that had dealt friendly with them, & so they stode by him alway. Iose.cap.6.

48 Then gathered king Alexander a great hoste, and brought his armie against Demetrius:

49 So the two kings stroke battell together, but Demetrius hoste fled, and Alexander folowed after, and fell vpon them.

50 A mightie sore fielde was it, continuing till the sunne went downe: and Demetrius was slayne the same day.

51 And Alexander sent Ambassadours vnto Ptolomie, ý king of Egypt, with these wordes, saying,

52 For so muche as I am come agayne to my realme, and am set in the throne of my progenitours, and haue gotten the dominion, ouercommed Demetrius,

53 Conquered the lande, and striken a fielde with him, so that we haue discōfited both him, and his hoste, and sit in the throne of his kingdome:

54 Let vs nowe make friendshipp together, giue me thy daughter to wife, so shall I be thy sonne in lawe, and both giue thee rewards, & hir according to thy dignitie.

55 Ptolomie the king gaue answer, saying, Happy be the day wherein thou arte come agayne to the lande of thy progenitours, and set in the throne of their kingdome.

56 And now will I fulfill thy writing: but meete me at Ptolomais, that we may see one another, and that I may marry my daughter vnto thee, according to thy desire

57 So Ptolomie went out of Egypt with his daughter Cleopatra, and came vnto Ptolomais, in the hundred threescore and two yeere, 58 Where king Alexander met him, and he gaue Alexander his daughter Cleopatra, and marryed them at Ptolomais wyth great worshipp, like as the maner of kyngs is to be.

59 Then wrote king Alexander vnto Jonathas, that he should come and meet him.

60 So he wente honourably vnto Ptolomais, and there he met the two kings, and gaue them and their friends great presents of golde, and siluer, and founde fauour in their sight.

61 And there came together against Jonathas, certaine wicked men and vngratious persons of Israell, making complaints of him: but the king regarded them not.

62 As for Jonathas, the king commaunded to take of his garmentes, and to cloth him in purple: and so they did. Then the king appoynted him to sit by him.

63 And sayde vnto his princes, Goe wyth him into the midst of the citie, and make a proclamation that no man complayne againste him of any matter, and that no man trouble him for any maner of cause.

64 So it happened, that when his accusers sawe the worshipp which was proclaymed of him, and that he was clothed in purple, they fled euery one.

65 And the king made muche of him, wrote him among his chiefe friendes, made him a Duke, and partakee of his dominion.

66 Thus Jonathas went againe to Jerusalem, with peace and gladnesse. Iose. cap. lib. 13. antiq.

67 In the hundred threescore and fift yeere, came Demetrius, the sonne of Demetrius, from Creta, into his fathers lande:

68 Whereof when Alexander heard tell, he was right sory, & returned vnto Antioch.

69 And Demetrius chose Apollonius, which had the gouernance of Celosyria, to be his captaine: so he gathered a great hoste, and came vnto Jamnia, and sent worde vnto Jonathas the high priest, saying, 1. Mac. 3.

70 Darest thou withstande vs thy selfe alone? As for me, I am but laughed to skorne, and shamed, because thou diddest vaunt thy strength against vs in the mountaynes. 1. Ma

71 Now therefore, if thou trustest in thine owne strength, come downe to vs into the playne fielde, and there let vs trie the matter together, for thou shalt knowe, that I haue the strength of many cities.

72 And shalt knowe who I am, and the other that stande by me, whiche say, That your foote is not able to stande before our face, for thy fathers haue bene twice chased in their owne lande.

73 And nowe howe wilt thou be able to abide so great an hoste of horsmen and footmen in the field, whereas is neither rocke, stone, nor place to flee vnto?

74 When Jonathas heard the wordes of Apollonius, he was moued in his mynde, wherefore he chose tenne thousande men, and went out of Jerusalem: and Simon his brother met him, for to helpe him.

75 And they pitched their tentes at Joppa: but the citie kept him forth, for Apollonius garrison was in Joppa.

76 Then Jonathas layde siege to it, and they that were in the citie, for verie feare, let him in: & so Jonathas wanne Joppa.

77 Apollonius hearing of this, toke three thousande horsemen, with a great hoste on foote, and went to Azotus, as though he would go further, and came immediatly into the playne fielde, bycause he had so many horsmen, and put his trust in them. Iose. ca. lib. 13.

78 So Jonathas folowed vpon him to Azotus, and the armie skirmished wyth his reare-reareward, & there they stroke the battell.

79 Nowe had Apollonius left a thousand horsmen behynd them priuily in the tents.
80 And when Jonathas knewe that suche wayte was layde behinde them, they went rounde about the enimies hoste, and shot dartes at the people, from the morning to the euening.
81 As for Jonathas people, they kept their order, as hee had commaunded them, and the enimies horses were weery.
82 Then brought Simon forth his hoste, and set them agaynst the fortemen (for the horsemen were weery alreadie:) so he discomfited them, and they fled.
83 And they that were scattered in ỹ fielde, gate them to Azotus, and came into the temple of Dagon their idoll, that they might there saue their liues.
84 But Jonathas set fyre vppon Azotus, and all the cities round about it, and toke their goods, and brent vp the temple of Dagon, with all them that were fled into it.
85 Thus were slayne and brent well nygh eyght thousande men.
86 So Jonathas remoued the hoste from thence, and brought them to Ascalon, wher the men of the citie came forth, and met him with great worship.
87 After this, went Jonathas and his host again to Jerusalem, with great substance of good.
88 And when kyng Alexander hearde these things, he thought to do Jonathas more worship.
89 And sent him a coller of golde, as the vse is to be giuen vnto such as are of the kings next bloud: he gaue him also the citie of Ascaron, with the lands belonging therto, in possession.

Ioſe.cap.7. lib.13.

A 1 AND the king of Egypt gathered an hoste like the sand that lyeth vpon the sea shore, and many shippes, and went about throughe deceyte to obteyne the kingdome of Alexander, and to ioyne it vnto his owne realme.
2 Upon this, he toke his iourney into Syria, vsing gentle wordes, so that he was letten into the cities, and men came forth to meete him: for king Alexander had commaunded them so to doe, bycause hee was his father in lawe.
3 Nowe when Ptolomie entered into any citie, he lefte men of warre to keepe it: and this he did throughout all the cities.
4 And when he came to Azotus, they shewed him the temple of Dagon, and Azotus that was brent vp, with the other thinges which were destroyed, the dead bodies cast abroade, and the greues that they had made by the way syde for suche as were slayne in the fielde, 2.Ma.10.83
5 And tolde the king that Jonathas had done all these things, to the intent they myght get him euill will: but the kyng sayde not one word therto.
6 And Jonathas met the king with great honour at Joppa, where they saluted one an other, and toke their rest.
7 So when Jonathas had gone with the king, vnto the water that was called Eleutherus, he turned againe to Jerusalem. B
8 Nowe Ptolomie had gotten the dominion of the cities, vnto Seleucia vpon the sea coaste, imagining wicked counsels agaynst Alexander.
9 And sent Ambassadours vnto Demetrius, saying, Come, let vs make a bonde betwixt vs, so shall I giue thee my daughter that Alexander hath, and thou shalt raigne in thy fathers kingdome.
10 I repent that I gaue Alexander my daughter, for he goeth about to slay me.
11 And thus he slandered Alexander, bycause he would haue had his realme.
12 Thus he toke his daughter from him, gaue hir vnto Demetrius, and forsoke Alexander: so that his malice was openly knowne.
13 And Ptolomie came to Antioch, where he set two crownes vpon his owne heade, the crowne of Egypt, and of Asia.
14 In the meane season was king Alexander in Cilicia: for they that dwelt in those places had rebelled against him. C
15 But when Alexander hearde of this, he came to warre agaynst him: so king Ptolomie brought forth his hoste, and met him with a mighty power, & chased him away.
16 Then fled Alexander into Arabia, there to be defended: and king Ptolomeus honour increased,

17 And

27 And Zabdiel the Arabian, smote off Alexanders head, and sent it vnto Ptolomi.

28 But the third day after dyed king Ptolomi him selfe, and they whome he had set in the strong holdes, were slayne one of another.

29 And Demetrius raigned in the hundred threescore and seuenth yeere.

30 At the same time gathered Jonathas the that were in Jurie, to lay siege vnto the castell whiche was at Jerusalem, and so they made many instrumentes of warre against it.

31 Then went there certayne vngodly persons, which hated their owne people, vnto king Demetrius, and tolde him that Jonathas besieged the castell.

D 32 So when he hearde it, he was angrie, and immediately came vnto Ptolomais, and wrote vnto Jonathas, that he shoulde not lay siege to the castell, but come and speake with him at Ptolomais in all hast.

33 Neuertheless, when Jonathas hearde this, he commaunded to besiege it: he chose also certaine of the elders and priestes of Israell, and put him selfe in perill, 34 And toke with him golde, siluer, clothing, and diuers presentes, and went to Ptolomais vnto the king, and found him gratious.

35 And though certein vngodly men of his owne people made complaints vpon him,

1.Mac.10.d 36 Yet the king entreated him, like as his predecessours had done before, and promoted him in the sight of all his friendes, 37 Confirmed him in the highe priesthode, with all the worship that he had afore, and made him his chiefe freend.

E 38 Jonathas also desyred the king, that he
1.Ma.10.f. woulde make Jurie free, with the three head cities of Samaria, and the landes perteyning thereto: vpon this did Jonathas promise him three hundred talents.

39 Wherevnto the king consented & gaue Jonathas writing of the same, conteining these wordes:

40 King Demetrius sendeth greeting vnto his brother Jonathas, and to the people of the Jewes.

41 We sende you heere a copie of the letter which we did write vnto our chosen Lasthenes concerning you, that ye shoulde knowe it.

42 King Demetrius sendeth greeting vnto Lasthenes his father.

43 For the faithfulnesse that our friendes the people of the Jewes keepe vnto vs, and for the louing kyndnesse which they beare towarde vs, we are determined to doe them good.

44 Wherefore we assigne vnto the coastes of Judea, the three gouernmentes, Apherema, Lydda, and Ramatha, which are added vnto Jurie from Samaria, and all the landes perteyning therevnto, to be freely separated for suche as doe sacrifice in Jerusalem, both concerning the paymentes whiche the king toke yeerely afortime, and the fruite also of the earth and trees:

45 As for other tithes and tributes that belonged vnto vs, we discharge them thereof from this time forth. F

46 In like manner we graunt vnto them all the customes of salte, and crowne taxes, whiche were brought vnto vs: and this freedome shal they haue firme and stedfast, from this time forth for euermore.

47 Therefore, see that ye make a copie of these our letters, and deliuer it vnto Jonathas, that it may be set vpon the holie mount in a conuenient place.

48 After this, when Demetrius the king sawe that his lande was in rest, and that no resistance was made against him, hee sent away all his hoste, euery man to his owne place, excepte certaine bandes of straungers, whome hee brought from the Iles of the heathen: wherefore all his fathers hoste hated him.

49 Nowe was there one Tryphon that had 1.Mac.11.a
beene of Alexanders parte afore, whiche when he sawe that all the hoste murmured against Demetrius, hee went to Samalcue the Arabian, that brought vp Antiochus the sonne of Alexander, 50 And laye fore vpon him to deliuer him this yong Antiochus, that he might raigne in his fathers steed: he told him also what great euil Demetrius had done, and how his men of warre loued him not: and so remayned there a long season.

51 And Jonathas sent vnto kyng Demetrius, to driue them out which were in the castell at Jerusalem, and those that were in the fortresses, for they did Israell great harme.

52 So Demetrius sent worde vnto Jonathas, saying, I will not only doe these things for thee and thy people: but at time conuenient, I will doe both thee and thy people great worship.

53 But now thou shalt doe me a pleasure, if thou wilt sende me men to helpe me: for all myne armie is gone fro me.

54 So Jonathas sent him three thousande strong men vnto Antioch, and they came

vnto

vnto the king, wherefore the king was verie glad at their comming.

45 But they that were of the citie, euen an hundred and twentie thousande men, gathered them together in the middest of the citie, and would haue slayne the king:

46 Whiche fledde into his court, and the citizens kept the streates of the citie, and began to fight.

47 Then the king called for the Jewes help, which came vnto him altogether, and went abroad through the citie, 48 And slue the same day an hundred thousand men, set fire vpon the citie, and gate many spoyles in that daye, and deliuered the king.

49 So when the citizens sawe that the Jewes had gotten their wyll of the citie, and they themselues disappoynted of their purpose, they made their supplication vnto the king, saying,

50 Graunt vs peace, and let the Jewes cease from troubling vs, and the citie:

51 And vppon this, they caste away their weapons. Thus they made peace, and the Jewes gate great worship in the sight of the king, and in the sight of all that were in his realme, and were spoken of through out the kingdome: and so they came agayne to Jerusalem with great goods.

52 So the king Demetrius sat in the throne of his kingdome, and had peace in hys lande.

53 Neuertheleſſe, he dissembled in all that euer he spake, and withdrew him self from Jonathas, neyther rewarded him according to the benefites whiche he had done for him, but troubled him very sore.

54 After this came Tryphon agayne with yong Antiochus, which raygned, and was crowned king.

55 Then there gathered vnto hym all the men of warre whome Demetrius had put away, these fought against Demetrius: which fled, and turned his backe.

56 So Tryphon toke the Elephantes, and wanne Antioch.

57 And yong Antiochus wrote vnto Jonathas, saying, I confyrme thee in thy prieſthode, and make thee ruler of foure countreys, that thou mayeſt be a friende of the kings.

58 Upon this, he sent him golden vessels to be serued in, and gaue him leaue to drinke in golde, to be clothed in purple, and to weare a coller of golde.

59 He made his brother Simon also captayne, from the coastes of Tyrus, vnto the borders of Egypt.

60 Then Jonathas toke his iourney, and went through the cities beyonde the water of Jordane, and all the men of warre of Syria gathered them vnto him for to helpe him: so hee came vnto Ascalon, and they of the citie receiued him honourably.

61 And from thence went he to Gaza, but they would not let him in: wherefore he laid siege vnto it, burning vp and spoiling the places that were about the citie.

62 And the citizens of Gaza submitted them selues vnto Jonathas, which made peace with them: but toke of their sonnes to pledge, sent them to Jerusalem, and went through the coūtry vnto Damascus.

63 Now when Jonathas heard that Demetrius princes were come into Cades, which is in Galilee, with a great host, purposing to driue him out of the countrey:

64 He came agaynst them, and left Simon his brother in the lande.

65 And Simon came to Bethsura, and layd siege to it a long season, and discomfited them.

66 So they desired to haue peace with him: which he graunted them, and afterwarde put them out from thence, toke the citie, and set men to keepe it.

67 And Jonathas with his hoste came to the water of Genesar, and betymes in the morning gate them to the playne fielde of Azor:

68 And beholde, the hostes of the heathen met them in the fielde, and layde watche for them in the mountaines:

69 So that when Jonathas came against them, the other which were laide to watch, rose out of their places and fought,

70 And they that were of Jonathas syde fled euery man, and there was not one of them left, except Mathathias the sonne of Absalomus, and Judas the sonne of Calphie, the captaine of the hoste.

71 Then Jonathas rent his clothes, layde earth vpon his heade, (a) made his prayer, a. Behold the effect of praier.

72 And turned agayne to them in the field, where they fought together, and hee put them to flight.

73 Nowe when his owne men that were fledde, sawe this, they returned againe vnto him, and helped him to followe vpon all their enimies vnto their tentes, at Cades, and there they camped, 74 So there were slayne of the heathen the same day three thousand men, and Jonathas turned againe to Jerusalem.

The.xij.Chapter.

1. Ionathas sendeth Ambassadours to Rome. 2. and to the people of Sparta, to renue their couenant of friendship. 20. Ionathas putteth to flight the princes of Demetrius. 40. Tryphon taketh Ionathas by deceyte.

A 1 IOnathas seeing that the time was meete for him, chose certaine men, and 1.Ma.7.a. sent them vnto Rome, for to stablysh and to renue the friendship with them:
2 He sent letters also vnto Sparta, and to other places in like maner.
3 So they wente vnto Rome, and entred
" or, senate. into the " counsell, and sayde, Ionathas the high preest, & the people of the Iewes, sente vs vnto you, for to renue the olde friendship and bonde of loue.
4 Upon this, the Romanes gaue them free passportes, that men shoulde leade them home into the lande of Iuda peaceably,
5 And this is the copie of the letters that Ionathas wrote vnto the Spartians.
6 Ionathas the hygh preeste, with the elders, preestes, and the other people of the Iewes, sende greeting vnto the Spartians their brethren.
B 7 There were letters sent long agoe vnto
" or, Darius. Onias the high preest, from " Arius, which then raigned among you, that ye are our brethren, as the copie heere vnder written doth specifie.
8 And Onias entreated the Ambassadour that was sent honourably, and receiued the letters, wherein there was mention made of the bonde of loue and friendship.
9 But as for vs, we need no such writings, for why? we haue the holy bookes of scripture in our handes to our comfort.
10 Neuertheless, we had rather sende vnto you, for the renuing of the brotherhode and friendship, least we should be strange vnto you: for it is long since the time that ye sent word vnto vs.
11 Wherfore, in the sacrifices that we offer, and other ceremonies vpon the hyghe solemne dayes, and other, we alway remember you without ceassing, like as reason is, and as it becommeth vs to thinke vpon our brethren.
12 Yea, and are right glad of your prosperous honour.
13 And though we haue had great troubles and warres, so that the kings about vs, haue fought against vs:
C 14 Yet woulde we not be greeuous vnto you, nor to other of our louers and friendes in these warres.
15 For we haue had helpe from heauen that hath succoured vs, so that we are deliuered, and our enimies subdued.
16 Wherefore, we chose Numenius the sonne of Antiochus, and Antipater the sonne of Iason, and sente them vnto the Romanes, for to renue the olde " bonde of " or, league friendship and loue with them.
17 We commaunded them also to come vnto you, to salute you, and to deliuer you our letters concerning the renouation of our brotherhode.
18 And nowe ye shall do right well, to giue vs an answere therevnto.
19 And this is the copie of the writing which Arius the king of Sparta sent vnto Onias.
20 Arius the king of the Spartians, sendeth greeting vnto Onias the high preest.
21 It is founde in writing, that the Spar- D tians and Iewes are brethren, and come out of the generation of Abraham:
22 And nowe for so much as this is come to our knowledge, ye shall doe well to write vnto vs of your prosperitie.
23 As for vs, we haue written our mynde vnto you, our cattell and goods are yours, and yours ours: these things haue we commaunded to be shewed vnto you. .Ma.
24 When Ionathas heard that Demetrius princes were come forth to fight against him, with a greater host than afore, 25 He went from Ierusalem, and met them in the lande of Hemath: for he gaue them not space to come into his owne countrie.
26 And hee sente spyes vnto their tentes, whiche came againe, and tolde him that they were appoynted to come vpon him in the night season.
27 Wherefore, when the sunne was gone E downe, Ionathas commaunded his men to watche all the night, and to be readie with weapons for to fight, and set watchmen rounde about the hoste.
28 But when the aduersaries heard that Ionathas was ready with his men to the battell, they feared, and were afrayde in their harts, and kindled fires in their tents, brake vp, and gate them away.
29 Neuertheless, Ionathas and his companie knewe it not till the morning, for they sawe the fires burning.
30 Then Ionathas followed vpon them, but he myght not ouertake them, for they were gone ouer the water Eleutherus.
31 So Ionathas departed vnto the Arabians, which were called Zabadei, slue them and toke their goodes.

32 He

32 He proceeded further also, and came vnto Damascus, and went through all the countrey.

33 But Simon his brother toke his iourney, and came to Ascalon, and to the nexte strong holdes, departing vnto Joppa, and wanne it, 34 (For he heard that they woulde deliuer the holde to them that toke Demetrius part) wherefore he set men of warre in the citie to keepe it.

35 After this came Jonathas home againe, and called the elders of the people together, and deuised with them, for to buylde vp the strong holdes in Jurie.

36 And to make vp the walles of Jerusalē higher, to set vp an high wall betwixt the castel and the citie, for to separate it from the citie, that it might be alone, and that men shoulde neither buy nor sell in it.

E 37 Upon this, they came together for to builde vp the citie, and for so muche as the wall vpon the brooke of the east side, called Caphetetah was falne downe, repaired it.

38 And Simon set vp Idiada in Sephela, and made it strong, setting portes and lockes vpon it.

1.Ma.2.c. 39 Now when Tryphon purposed to raigne in Asia, to be crowned, and to slaye the king Antiochus:

40 He was afrayde that Jonathas would not suffer him, but fyght againste him: wherefore he went about to take Jonathas, and to kyll him: so he departed, and came vnto Bethsan.

41 Then went Jonathas forth againste him to the battell, with fourtie thousande chosen men, and came vnto Bethsan also:

42 But when Tryphon sawe that Jonathas came with so great an host to destroy him, he was afrayde:

43 And therefore he receyued him honorably, commended him vnto all his friendes, and gaue him rewardes, and commaunded his men of warre to be as obedient vnto him, as to him selfe:

44 And sayde vnto Jonathas, Why hast thou caused this people to take such trauel, seeing there is no warre betwixt vs?

45 Therefore sende them home againe, and chose certayne men to wayte vpon thee, and come thou with me to Ptolomais: for I will gyue it thee, with the other strong holdes, men of warre, and their officers; as for me, I must depart, this is only the cause of my comming.

F 46 Jonathas beleeued him, and did as he sayde, putting away his hoste, which went into the lande of Juda.

47 Hee kept but three thousande by hym, whereof he sent two thousande into Galilee, and one thousand went with him selfe.

48 Now as soone as Jonathas entred into Ptolomais, the citizens sparred the gates of the citie, and toke him, and slue al them with the swoord that came in with him.

49 Then sent Tryphon an hoste of foote men and horsemen into Galilee, and into the great playne fielde, to destroy all Jonathas company:

50 But when they knewe that Jonathas was taken, and all they slayne that wayted vpon him, they toke counsell together, and encouraged one another, and came forth against them ready to fight.

51 So when they which folowed vpon thē, sawe that it was a matter of life, they turned backe agayne.

52 As for the other, they went into the land of Juda peaceably, and bewayled Jonathas, and them that were with him right sore: and Israel made great lamentation.

53 Then all the heathen that were rounde about them, sought to destroy them:

54 For they sayd, Nowe haue they no captayne, nor any man to helpe them, therefore let vs ouercome them, and rote out their name from among men.

5 And

5 And nowe let not me spare myne owne life in any maner of trouble, for I am no better than my brethren:
6 But wyll auenge my people, and the sanctuarie, our chyldren and our wiues:
for all the heathen are gathered together to destroy vs, of very malice.
B 7 At these wordes the heartes of the people were kindled together,
8 So that they cryed with a loude voyce, saying, Thou shalte be our captayne, in steede of Judas and Jonathas thy brethrē:
9 Order thou our battell, and what so euer thou commaundest vs, we shall do it.
10 So hee gathered all the men of warre, making hast to finish al the walles of Jerusalē, which he made strong round about.
11 Then sent he Jonathas the sonne of Absalomus, with a freshe hoste, vnto Joppa, which droue them out that were in the castell, and remayned there him selfe.
12 Tryphon also remoued from Ptolomais with a great armie, to come into the lande of Juda, and Jonathas with him in ward.
13 And Simon pitched his tents at Iddus, for, Addidis.
before the playne fielde.
C 14 But when Tryphon knewe that Simon stode vp in the steede of his brother Jonathas, and that he woulde warre against him, he sent messengers vnto hym, saying,
15 Where as we haue kept Jonathas thy brother, it is for money that he is owing in the kings account, concerning the businesse that he had in hande.
16 Wherefore sende nowe a hundred ta-lentes of syluer, and his two sonnes for suretie (that when hee is letten forth, hee shall not forsake vs) and we shall send him agayne.
17 Neuertheless, Simon knewe that hee dissembled in his wordes: yet commaunded he the money and chyldren to be delyuered vnto him, least the Israelites might haue hated him,
18 And sayde, Bycause hee sent him not the money and the chyldren, therefore is Jonathas dead.
19 So Simon sent him the chyldren, and an hundred talentes: but hee dissembled, and would not let Jonathas goe.
20 Afterwarde came Tryphon into the lande to destroy it, and went round about by the way that leadeth vnto Ador: but wheresoeuer they went, thyther went Simon and his host also.
D 21 Nowe they that were in the castell, sent messengers vnto Tryphon, that he should make hast to come by the wyldernesse, and to sende them victuals.
22 And Tryphon made readie all his horsemen, to come the same night: neuerthelesse, it was a very great snowe, so that he came not, bicause of the snowe, but he remoued, & went into the cuntry of Galaad.
23 And when hee drewe nygh Baschama, he slue Jonathas and his sonnes there, 24 And then turned for to goe home into his owne lande.
25 Then sent Simon for to fetche his brothers dead coarse, and buried it in Modin his fathers citie.
26 So all Israell bewayled him with great lamentation, and mourned for hym verie long.
27 And Simon made vpon the sepulchre of E his father and his brethrē: a building high to loke vnto, of free stone, behind, & before, 28 And set vp seuen pyllers vpon it one against another, for his father, his mother, and foure brethren,
29 And set great pillers round about them, with armes vpon them, for a perpetuall memorie, and carued shyppes beside the armes, that they myght be seene of men sayling in the sea.
30 This sepulchre which he made at Mo-din, standeth yet vnto this day.
31 Now as Tryphon went forth to walke Iose. capa with the yong king Antiochus, he slue him lib. 13.
trayterously,
32 And raigned in his steede, crowned him selfe king of Asia, and did muche euill in the lande.
33 Simon also buylt vp the castels in Ju-rie, making them strong with high towres great walles, portes, and lockes, and layd vp victuals in the strong holdes.
34 And Simon chose certain men, and sent them to king Demetrius, to desire him that he would discharge the land from all bondage, for Tryphon had spoiled it very sore.
35 Wherevpon Demetrius the kyng answered him, and wrote vnto hym, after this manner,
36 Demetrius the kyng, sendeth greeting
vnto Simon the hygh priest his friende, with the elders and people of the Iewes:
37 The golden crowne, and precious stone
F that ye sent vnto vs, haue we receiued, and are readie to make a stedfast peace with you, yea and to write vnto our officers for to release you, cōcerning the things wher-in we maye you free.
38 And the appoyntment that we make with you, shall be firme and stable: the strong strong holdes which ye haue buylded, shall be your owne.

39 As for any ouersight or fault committed vnto this day, we forgiue it, & the crowne taxe that ye ought vs also: and where as was any other tribute in Jerusalem, it shall nowe be no tribute:

40 And loke who are meete among you to be in our court, let them be written vp, that there may be peace betwixt vs.

41 Thus the yoke of the heathen was taken from Israell, in the hundred and seuentith yeere.

42 And the people of the Iewes beganne to wryte in their letters and actes on this maner: In the fyrste yeere of Simon the high priestе, a gouernour and prince of the Iewes. Mac.13.d.

43 In those dayes went Simon vnto Gaza, and besieged it rounde about, where he set vp ordinance of warre, and wanne a towre, which he toke.

44 So they that gat into the towre, leapt into the citie, which was in a great feare.

45 In so muche that the people of the citie rent their clothes, and clymed vp vpon the walles, with their wiues and children, beseeching Simon to be at one with them, saying,

46 O rewarde vs not after our wickednesse, but be gratious vnto vs, (and we shal doe thee seruice.)

47 Then Simon for verie pitie, woulde fight no more against them, but put them out of the citie, and caused the houses wherein the images were, to be cleansed, and so entred the citie with psalmes of prayse, giuing thankes vnto the Lorde.

48 So when he had cast all abhominations out of the citie, he set such men in it as kept the law of God, and made the citie strong, and buylded a dwellyng place for hym selfe.

49 Nowe when they in the castell at Jerusalem were kept so straightly, that they coulde not come forth, nor goe into the countrey, and myght neyther buy nor sell, they were verie hungry, and many of them famished to death.

50 In so muche that they besought Simon to be at one with them, which he graunted them: so he put them out from thence, and cleansed the castell from fylthynesse.

51 And vpon the twentie and three daye of the seconde moneth, in the hundred threescore and eleuenth yeere, they entred into it with thankesgiuing, and branches of Palme trees, with Harpes, Croudes, Cymbales, and Lutes, singing Psalmes and songs of prayse vnto God, for that the great enimie of Israell was ouercome.

52 And Simon ordeined that the same day should be kept euery yeere with gladnesse.

53 And made strong the hyll of the temple that was beside the castell, where he dwelt him selfe with his company.

54 Simon also perceyuing that John his sonne was a mightie man of armes, made him captayne of all the hoastes, and caused him to dwell at "Gaza. "or, Gazaris.

The.xiiij. Chapter.

1. Demetrius is ouercome of Arsaces. 11. Simon being captayne, there is great quietnesse in Israell. 18. The couenant of friendship with the Romanes, and with the people of Sparta is renued.

1 IN the hundred threescore and twelfth yeere, gathered king Demetrius his hoaste, and departed vnto Media, to get hym helpe for to fight against Tryphon. A

2 Nowe when Arsaces the king of Persia and Media, heard that Demetrius was entred within his borders, hee sent one of his princes to take him alive, (and to bring him vnto him.)

3 So hee went and slue Demetrius hoast, toke him selfe, brought hym to Arsaces, which kept him in warde.

4 And all the lande of Juda was in rest so long as Simon lyued, for hee sought the wealth of his people, therefore were they glad to haue him for their ruler, and to doe him worship alway.

5 Simon wanne the citie of Joppa also for an hauen towne, and made it an entrance into the Iles of the sea:

6 Hee enlarged the borders of his people and conquered them more lande.

7 Hee gathered vp manye of theyr people that were prysoners, he had the dominion of Gaza, Bethsura, and the castell which he cleansed from fylthynesse, and there was no man that resisted him. B

8 So that euery man tylled his grounde in peace, the land of Juda and the trees gaue their fruite and encrease.

9 The elders sat all in iudgemente, and toke their ease for the wealth of the lande, the yong men put on worship, and harnesse vpon them,

10 He prouided victuals for the cities, and made goodly strong holdes of them, so that the fame of his worship was spoken of vnto the end of the world.

Leuit.26.a. 11 For he made peace throughout the lande, and Israell was full of myrth and ioy.

12 Euery man sat vnder his vyne and fig trees, and there was no man to fray them away.

13 There was none in the lande to fyght against them, for then the kings were ouercome.

C 14 He helped those that were in aduersitie among his people, hee was diligent to see the lawe kept: as for suche as were vngodly and wicked, he toke them away.

15 He set vp the sanctuarie, and encreased the holy vessels of the temple.

16 When the Romanes and Spartians had gotten worde that Jonathas was dead, they were right sorie.

17 But when they hearde that Simon hys brother was made high priest in his stead, and how he had wonne the lande agayne, with the cities in it:

1. Mac.8.c. 18 They wrote vnto him in tables of brasse, to renue the friendship and bonde of loue, whiche they had made afore with Judas and Jonathas his brethren.

19 Whiche writings were read before the congregation at Jerusalem. And this is the copie of the letters that the Spartians sent:

20 The Senatours and cittizens of Sparta, sende greeting vnto Simon the great priest, with the elders, priests, and the other people of the Jewes their brethren:

D 21 When your Imbassadours that were sent vnto our people, certified vs of your worshipp, honour, and prosperous wealth: we were glad of their comming, 22 And haue written the ambassage in the publique recordes in this maner: (namely) that Numenius the sonne of Antiochus, and Antipater the sonne of Jason the Jewes Imbassadours, are come vnto vs, for to renue the olde friendshipp with vs.

23 Upon this the people consented, that the men shoulde be honourably intreated, and that the copie of their ambassage should be written in the speciall bookes of the people, for a perpetuall memorie vnto the Spartians, yea and that we shoulde sende a copie of the same vnto Simon the great priest.

24 After this, dyd Simon sende Numenius vnto Rome, with a golden shielde of a thousand pounde wayght, to confyrme the friendshipp with them.

25 Which when the Romanes vnderstood, they sayd, What thankes shall we recompence againe vnto Simon and his children?

26 For hee and his brethren, and the house of his father, hath stablyshed Israell, and ouercommed their enimies, wherefore they graunted hym to be free, and confyrmed the libertie thereof: therefore they wrote this in tables of brasse, and set it vpon pyllers in mount Sion.

27 The copie of the writing is this, The eyghteenth day of the moneth Elul, in the hundred threescore and twelfth yeere, in the third yeere of Simon the high priest, E

28 In the great congregation of the priests, rulers of the people, and elders of the countrey at "Saramell, were these wordes openly declared: "or, Jerusalem,

29 For so muche as there was muche warre in our lande, therefore Simon the sonne of Mathathias, come of the children of Jarib, and his brethren, put them selues in perill, and resisted the enimies of their people, that their sanctuarie & lawe might be mainteyned, and did their people great worshipp.

30 Jonathas in like maner, after that hee had gouerned his people, and beene their hyghe priest, dyed, and lyeth buryed besyde his elders.

31 After that woulde their enimies haue troden their holy things vnder fote, destroyed their lande, and vtterly wasted their sanctuarie.

32 Then Simon withstoode them, and fought for his people, spent muche of his owne money, weaponed the valiant men of his people, gaue them wages, 33 Made strong the cities of Juda, with Bethsura that lyeth vpon the borders of Jurie, where the ordinance of their enimies lay sometyme, and set Jewes there for to keepe it.

34 Hee made fast Joppa also, which lyeth vpon the sea, and "Gaza that bordereth vpon Azotus, where the enimies dwelte afore, and there he set the Jewes to keepe it: and what so euer was meete for the subduing of the aduersaries, that layde he therein. f "or, Gazara

35 Nowe when the people sawe the noble actes of Simon, and what worshipp hee purposed to doe for them, his godly behauiour and faythfulnesse which he kept vnto them, and howe he sought by all wayes the wealth of his people: because hee dyd all this, therefore they chose him to be their prince and high priest.

36 And in his time they prospered well by him, so that the heathen were taken out of their lande, and they also which were in in the citie of Dauid at Ieruſalem in the caſtell, where they went out and defiled al thinges that were about the ſanctuarie, and did great harme vnto cleanlyneſſe:

37 And Simon put men of the Iewes in it, for the defence of the land and citie, and let vp the walles of Ieruſalem.

38 And king Demetrius confirmed him in his high prieſthode.

39 For theſe cauſes, made hym his friende, and did him great worſhip:

40 For he hearde that the Romanes called the Iewes their friendes, louers, and brethren: howe honorably they receyued Simons Imbaſſadours:

41 Howe the Iewes and prieſtes conſented that he ſhoulde be their prince and hyghe prieſt perpetually, tyll God rayſed vp the true prophete:

42 And that he ſhould be their captayne, to care for the ſanctuarie, and to ſet officers vpon the workes thereof, ouer the land, ouer the weapons, ouer the houſes of defence, to make prouiſiõ for the holy things.

43 And to be obeyed of euery man, and all the writings of the lande to be made in his name, that he ſhould be clothed in purple and golde:

44 And that it ſhould be lawfull for none of the people nor prieſtes to breake any of theſe things, to withſtand his wordes, nor to cal any congregation in the land without him: that he ſhould be clothed in purple, and weare a coller of golde.

45 And if there were any which diſobeyed, or brake this ordinance, that he ſhoulde be puniſhed.

46 So all the people conſented to alowe Simon, & to do according to theſe words:

47 Simon alſo him ſelfe toke it vpon him, & was content to be the high prieſt, the captaine and prince of the Iewes and prieſts, and to gouerne them all.

48 And they commaunded to make this writing in tables of braſſe, and faſten it vnto the wall that compaſſeth the ſanctuarie, in an open place:

49 And to lay vp a copie of the ſame in the treaſurie, that Simon and his poſteritie might haue it.

The.xv. Chapter.

1. Antiochus maketh a couenant of friendſhip with Simon. 11. and Tryphon is perſecuted. 15. The Romanes write letters vnto kings and nations in the defence of the Iewes. 27. Antiochus refuſing the help that Simon ſent him, breaketh his couenant.

1 Moreouer, king Antiochus the ſonne of Demetrius, ſent letters from the Iles of the ſea, vnto Simon the hyghe prieſt and prince of the Iewes, and to all the people, I

2 Concerning theſe words: Antiochus the kyng ſendeth greeting vnto Simon the high prieſt, and to the people of the Iewes.

3 For ſo muche as certayne wicked menne haue gotten the kyngdome of our progenitours, I haue purpoſed to chalenge the realme agayne, and to reſtore it to the old eſtate: wherefore I haue gathered a great hoaſt, and made ſhippes of warre:

4 That I may goe through the countrey, and be auenged of them whiche haue deſtroyed our lande, and waſted many cities in my realme.

5 And therefore nowe I make thee free alſo from all thy tributes, whereof all kyngs my progenitours haue diſcharged thee, and from other cuſtomes wherefrom they haue releaſed thee, what ſo euer they be:

6 Yea, I gyue thee leaue to ſmyte money of thyne owne within thy lande.

7 As for Ieruſalem, I will that it be holie and free, and all the weapons and houſes of defence which thou haſte buylded, and keepeſt in thyne handes, ſhall be thyne. B

8 Whereas any thing is or ſhall be owing vnto the king, I forgyue it thee, from this time forth for euermore.

9 And when we haue obteyned our kingdome, we ſhall doe thee, thy people, and the temple, great worſhip: ſo that your honour ſhall be knowne throughout the whole worlde.

10 In the hundred threeſcore and fourteenth yeere, went Antiochus into his fathers land, and all the men of warre came together vnto him, ſo that fewe were left with Tryphon.

11 So the king Antiochus followed vpon him: but he fled vnto Doza, which lyeth by the ſea ſide:

12 For hee ſawe that there was miſchiefe comming vnto him, and that his hoaſt had forſaken him.

13 Then came Antiochus vnto Doza, with an hundred and twentie thouſand men of armes on foote, and eyght thouſand horſemen: ſo hee compaſſed the citie rounde about, and the ſhippes came by the ſea.

14 Thus they vexed the citie by lande and by water, in ſo much that they ſuffered no man to goe in, nor out. C

15 In the meane ſeaſon came Numenius, and they that had beene with hym, from 1. Ma. 14. b the citie of Rome, hauing letters written vnto the kings and prouinces, wherein were conteyned these wordes:

16 Lusius the Consull of Rome, sendeth greeting vnto Ptolomie the king.

17 The Imbassadours of the Iewes our friendes, being sent from Simon the high priest, and from the people of the Iewes, came vnto vs, for to renue the olde friendship and bonde of loue,

18 Brought a shielde of golde, weying a thousand pound:

19 Wherefore we thought it good to write vnto the kings and prouinces, to doe them no harme, nor to take part against them, their cities, nor countries, neither to maintaine their enimies against them:

20 And we were content to receiue of them the shielde.

D 21 If there be any wicked persons therefore fled from their countrey vnto you, deliuer them vnto Simon the high priest, that he may punishe them according to their own lawe.

22 The same wordes wrote the Romanes also vnto Demetrius the king, to Attalus, Araba, Arlaces, 23 And to all regions: as Samsanes, to them of Spartia, "Delo, "Mydo, Sidon, Caria, Samos, Pamphylia, Lycia, Alicarnassem, and to the Rhodes, to Faselidis, Coo, Side, Arado, Cortyna, Gnidum, to Cypres, and Cyren.

"or, Delus. "or, Mydus.

24 And of euerie letter, they sent a copie to Simon the high priest.

25 So Antiochus the king, brought hys hoast vnto Doza the seconde tyme, to take it, where hee made diuers ordinance of warre, and kept Tryphon in, that he should not go either in or out.

26 Then sent Simon vnto Antiochus, two thousand chosen men, to helpe hym, with gold, siluer, and other plenteous things.

E 27 Neuertheless, he would not receiue thē, but brake all the couenant which he made with Simon afore, and withdrewe hym selfe from him.

28 He sent Athenobius also, a friend of his vnto Simon, for to reason with him, saying: Ye withholde from me Joppa and Gaza, with the castell that is at Jerusalem, which are cities of my Realme, 29 Whose borders ye haue destroyed, & done great euill in the land, hauing the dominion in many other places of my kingdome.

30 Wherfore deliuer nowe the cities which ye haue taken, with the tributes of the places that ye haue rule vpon, without the borders of Jurie:

31 Or else giue me fiue hundred talentes of syluer: yea and for the harme that ye haue done in the cities, and for the tributes of the same, other fiue hundred talents: if no, we shall come and fight against you.

32 So Athenobius the kings friende came to Jerusalem, and when he saw the great worship and honour of Simon, in golde, siluer, and so great plentie of ornamentes, he maruelled, and told Simon as the king commaunded him. F

33 Then answered Simon, and sayd vnto him, As for vs, we haue neyther taken other mens landes, nor witholden them: but onely our fathers heritage, which our enimies had vnrighteously in possession a certayne time, Iud.11.

34 This heritage of our fathers haue wee chalenged in processe of time.

35 And where as thou complaynest concerning Joppa and Gaza, they dyd great harme to our people, and in our lande, yet wil we giue an hundred talents for them. Neuertheless, Athenobius answered hym not one worde:

36 But turned agayne wrothfully vnto the king, and tolde him all these wordes, and the great dignitie of Simon, with all that he had seene: & the king was very angry.

37 And in the meane time fled Tryphon by ship, vnto Orthosias.

38 Then the king made Cendebeus captayne of the sea coast, and gaue hym an hoast of fotemen and horsemen, G

39 Commaunding him to remoue the host towarde Jurie, and to buylde vp the citie of Cedron, to make vp the Portes, and to warre against the people of the Iewes: as for the king him selfe, hee folowed vpon Tryphon Mac.1

40 So Cendebeus came vnto Jamnia, and beganne to vexe the people, to tread down Jurie, to take the people prysoners, to slay them, 41 And to builde vp Cedron, where he set horsemen, and other men of warre, that they myght come forth, and goe through the streetes of Jurie, like as the kyng had commaunded him. 1.Ma.4.

The.xvi.Chapter.

I. Cendebeus the captayne of Antiochus hoast, is put to flyght of the sonnes of Simon. II. Ptolomeus the sonne of Abobus kylleth Simon and his two sonnes at a banket. 23. Iohn killeth them that lye in wayte for hys lyfe.

1 Then

1 Then came John vp from Gaza, and Ma.13.k. tolde Simon his father what Cendebeus had done (among their people.)
2 Upon this called Simon two of his el-deſt ſonnes, Judas and John, and ſayde vnto them: I and my brethren, and my fathers houſe, haue euer from our youth vp vnto this day, foughten againſte the enimies of Iſraell: and God gaue vs good fortune to deliuer Iſraell oftentimes.
3 And nowe for ſo much as I am olde, and ye by Gods goodneſſe are of a ſufficient age, be ye in ſteede of me and my brother, to goe forth to fight for our people: and the helpe of God be with you.
4 So he choſe twentie thouſande fighting men of the countrey, with horſemen alſo, which went forth againſt Cendebeus, and reſted at Modin.
5 In the morning they aroſe, and went into the playne fielde, and beholde a mightie great hoaſte came againſt them, both of footemen and horſemen: nowe was there a water broke betwixt them,
6 And John remoued the hoaſte towarde them: and when he ſawe that the people was afrayde to go ouer the water broke, he went ouer fyrſt him ſelfe: and the men ſeeing this, followed him.
B 7 Then John ſet his horſemen and footemen in order, the one by the other: for their enimies horſemen were very many.
8 But when they blewe vp the prieſtes trumpets, Cendebeus fled with his hoaſt:
whereof many were ſlayne, and the rem-nante gat to their ſtrong holdes.
Mac.15.k. 9 Judas alſo Johns brother was wounded at the ſame time, and John followed ſtill vpon the enimies, till he came to Cedron, which Cendebeus had builded.
10 The (enimies) fled alſo vnto the towres that were in the field of Azotus, and thoſe did John burne vp with fire: thus there were ſlayne two thouſande men of them, and John turned agayne peaceably into Jurie.
11 And in the field of Jericho was Ptolo-mie the ſonne of Abobus made captayne:
which, bycauſe he had abundance of ſiluer and golde, 12 (For he had maryed the daughter of Simon the high prieſt.)
13 Waxed proud in his mynd, and thought to conquere the lande, imagining falſhood againſt Simon and his ſonnes to deſtroy them.
14 Nowe as Simon was going about thorow the cities that were in the country of Jurie, and caryng for them, he came downe to Jericho with Mathathias and Judas his ſonnes, in the hundred three ſcore and ſeuentenly yeere, in the eleuenth moneth, called Sabat.
15 Then (Ptolomie) the ſonne of Abobus re-ceiued them, but with deceit, into a ſtrong houſe of his, called Dochus, which he had buylded, where he made them a banket, and had hid men there.
16 So when Simon and his ſonnes were merry, and had dronken well, Ptolomie ſtode vp with his men (whome he had hyd there) and toke their weapons, entred into the banket houſe, and ſlue Simon with his two ſonnes, and certayne of his ſer-uantes.
17 Suche great vnfaythfulneſſe dyd Pto-lomie in Iſraell, and recompenced euyll for good.
18 Then wrote Ptolomie theſe things, and ſent vnto kyng (Antiochus) requiring him that he ſhoulde ſende him an hoaſte to helpe him, and ſo ſhoulde he delyuer hym the lande, with the cities and tributes of the ſame.
19 He ſent other men alſo vnto Gaza for to take John, and wrote vnto the captaynes to come to him, and he ſhoulde gyue them ſiluer, golde, and rewardes.
20 And to Jeruſalem he ſent other, to take it, and the ſanctuarie.
21 Then ranne there one before, and tolde John in Gaza, that his father and his brethren were ſlayne, and howe that Pto-lomie had ſent to ſlay him alſo.
22 When John heard this, he was ſore abaſhed, and layde hands of them that were come to deſtroy him, and ſlue them: for he knewe that they went about to kill him.
23 As for other things concerning John, of his warres, of his noble actes wherein he behaued him ſelfe manfully, of the building of walles which he made, and other of his deedes,
24 They are written in the Chronicles of his prieſthode, from the time forth that he was made high prieſt after his father.

The ende of the firſt booke of the Machabees.

¶ The seconde booke of the Machabees.

¶ The first Chapter.

1. An Epistle of the Iewes that dwelt at Ierusalem, sent vnto them that dwelt in Egipt, wherein they exhort them to giue thankes for the death of Antiochus. 19. Of the fire that was hid in the pit. 24. The prayer of Nehemias.

1 THe brethren of ỳ Iewes which bee at Ierusalem, and in the lande of Iurie, wish vnto these brethren of the Iewes that are throughout Egypt, health and peace.

2 God be gratious vnto you, and thynke vpon his couenant that he made with Abraham, Isahac, and Jacob, his faythfull seruantes:

Deut.30.b. 3 And gyue you all suche an heart that ye may loue and serue him, yea and perfourme hys wyll with an whole heart, and a willing mynde:

4 He open your hearts vnto his lawe, and in his cõmaundements, & sende you peace.

5 Heare your prayers, be at one with you, and neuer forsake you in time of trouble,

6 For so muche as nowe we heere be praying for you.

B 7 What time as Demetrius raigned, in the hundred threescore and ninth yeere, we Iewes wrote vnto you in the trouble and violence that came vnto vs: in those yeres, after that Jason departed out of the holy lande and kingdome,

8 They brent vp the portes, and shed innocent blond: then made we our prayer vnto the Lorde, and were heard, we offered vp sacrifices and fine floure, setting forth cakes and breade:

Leuit.23.k. November. 9 And nowe come ye vnto the feast of tabernacles in the moneth Casleu.

10 In the hundred fourescore and eightenth yeere, the people that was at Ierusalem and in Iurie, the counsell, and Judas himselfe, sent this wholesome salutation vnto Aristobulus king Ptolomais master, whiche came of the generation of the annoynted priestes, and to the Iewes that were in Egypt:

11 Insomuch as God hath deliuered vs from great perils, we thanke him highly, no lesse at all than if we had banquished the king in battell.

12 For when he, with those that had fought against the holy citie, did set vpon Persia:

13 For as hee was in Persis (namely) the captayne with the great hoast, he perished in the temple of Naneas, being deceiued through the deuise of Naneas priestes.

14 For when Antiochus, as he that shoulde marry with hir, came, and his friendes with him, into the place to receyue by name of dowrie the money whiche the priestes of Naneas had set forth: C

15 Hee entred with a small companie into the compasse of the temple, and so they shut the temple.

16 Nowe when Antiochus entred by opening the priuie entrance of the temple, the priestes stoned the captayne to death, hewed them in pieces that were with him, smote off their heads, and threw them out.

17 In all things God be praysed, whiche hath deliuered the wicked into our handes (to be punished.)

18 Wheras we are now purposed to keepe the purification of the temple vpon the fiue and twentie daye of the moneth Casleu, we thought necessarie to certifie you thereof: that ye also might kepe the tabernacles feast day, and the day of the fire, which was giuen vs when Nehemias offered, after that he had set vp the temple & the aulter. Leuit.23. Nu.29. 3.Esd.

19 For what time as our fathers were led away vnto Persis, the priestes which then fought the honour of God, toke the fyre priuily from the aulter, and hid it in a valley, whereas was a deepe drye pit: and therein they kept it, so that the place was vnknowne to euery man. Deut.7 Reg. Ezech.

20 Nowe after many yeres, when it pleased God that Nehemias shoulde be sent from the king of Persia, he sent the children of those priestes whiche had hyd the fyre, to seeke it: and as they tolde vs, they found no fire, but thicke water. Leuit.8. 10.8.16.

21 Then commaunded he them to drawe it vp, and to bryng it hym, and the offerings wythall. Nowe when the sacrifices were layde on, and ordred, Nehemias comcommaunded the prieſtes to ſprinkle them and the wod with water.

22 Whē this was done, and the time come that the ſunne ſhone, which afore was hyd in the cloude, there was a great fire kindled, in ſo much, that euery man maruelled.

23 Nowe all the prieſtes prayed whyle the ſacrifice was making: Jonathas prayed fyrſt, and the other gaue anſwere.

24 And Nehemias prayer was after this manner: O Lorde God, maker of all thinges, thou fearefull and ſtrong, thou ryghteous and mercifull, thou that art only a gratious king,

25 Only liberall, onely iuſt, almightie and euerlaſting, thou that deliuereſt Iſraell from all trouble, thou that haſt choſen the fathers, and halowed them fauourably:

26 Receiue the offering for thy whole people of Iſraell, preſerue thine owne portion, and halowe it, 27 Gather thoſe together that are ſcattered abroade from vs, deliuer them that are vnder the heathens bondage, loke vpon them which are deſpiſed and abhorred: that the heathen maye knowe, and ſee howe that thou onely art God, which art our God.

28 Puniſhe them that oppreſſe, and proudly put vs to diſhonour.

29 Set thy people again in thy holy place, like as Moſes hath ſpoken. Deut.30.a.

30 And the prieſts ſong Pſalmes of thankſgiuing, ſo long as the ſacrifice endured.

31 Now when the ſacrifice was brent, Nehemias commaunded the great ſtones to be ſprinkled with the reſidue of the water.

32 Whiche when it was done, there was kindled a flame of them alſo: but it was conſumed through the light that ſhyned from the aulter. Iud.6.d. 3.Reg.18.c. Eccle.48.a.

33 So when this matter was knowne, it was tolde the king of Perſia, that in the place where the prieſtes which were led away had hyd fyre, there appeared water, and that Nehemias and his company had purified the ſacrifices withall.

34 Then the king conſidering and pondering the matter diligently, incloſed the place, and conſecrated a temple, to proue the thing that was done:

35 And when hee founde it ſo in deede, hee gaue the prieſtes many giftes, and diuers rewardes, yea, he toke them with his owne hande, and gaue them.

36 And Nehemias called the ſame place (a) Nephthar, which is as muche to ſay as a cleanſing: but many men call it Nephi.

(a) Ephthar which is to ſay, a ſhining: it is alſo called Nephi, or Nephthar, which is a cleanſing.

The.ij. Chapter.

4. Howe Ieremie hid the tabernacle, the arke, and the aulter, in the hil. 23. Of the fiue bokes of Iaſon conteyned in one.

1 IT is founde alſo in the writings of Ieremie the prophete, that hee commaunded them whiche were caryed away, to take fire, as it is ſayde afore. A

2 Hee commaunded them alſo that they ſhould not forget the lawe and commaundements of the Lord, and that they ſhould not erre in their myndes, when they ſee images of ſyluer and golde, with their ornamentes. 2.Mac.1.c. Iere.29.b. Baruc.6.a.

3 Theſe and ſuche other things commaunded he them, and exhorted them that they ſhould not let the lawe of God goe out of their heartes.

4 It is written alſo, howe the prophete at the commandement of God charged them to take the tabernacle and the arke with them: and he went forth vnto the mountaine where Moſes climed vp, and ſawe the heritage of God. Deut.34.a.

5 And when Ieremie came there, he founde an open caue, wherein he layde the tabernacle, the arke, and the aulter of incenſe, and ſo ſtopped the dore.

6 There came certayne men together alſo folowing him, to marke the place, but they could not finde it.

7 Which when Ieremie perceyued, hee reproued them, ſaying, As for that place, it ſhall be vnknowne, vntill the time that God gather his people together agayne, and receiue them vnto mercy. B

8 Then ſhall God ſhew them theſe things, and the maieſtie of the Lord ſhall appeare, and the cloude alſo, like as it was ſhewed vnto Moſes: and like as when Solomon deſired that the place might be honourably ſanctified, and it was ſhewed him. Exo.13.d. 1.Reg.8.b.

9 For hee being a wyſe man, handled honourably and wyſely, offering vnto God in the halowing of the temple when it was fynyſhed.

10 And lyke as when Moſes prayed vnto the Lorde, the fire came downe from heauen, and conſumed the burnt offeryng: euen ſo prayed Solomon alſo, and the fire came downe from heauen, and conſumed the burnt offering. Leui.10.d. 2.Par.7.a.

11 And Moſes ſayde, Becauſe the ſinne offering was not eaten, therefore it is conſumed.

12 In like maner, Solomon kept the dedication (or halowing) eight dayes.

Some reade Nehemias. 13 In the annotations and wrytings of Ieremie were these thinges put also: and howe he made a librarie, and howe he gathered out of all countreys the bookes of the kings, and of the prophets, and of Dauid, and the Epistles of the kings concerning the holy gyftes.

℄ 14 Euen so Iudas also, loke what he learned by experience of warre, and suche things as hath happened vnto vs, he gathered them all together, and so we haue them by vs.

15 If ye nowe desire to haue the same, sende some body to fetch them vnto you.

16 Whereas we then are about to celebrate the purification, we haue written vnto you: therefore ye shall do well, if ye keepe the same dayes.

17 We hope also, that the God which deliuered his people, and gaue them al the heritage, kingdome, priesthode, & sanctuarie, Deut.7.a. 18 That he promised them in the lawe, shall shortly haue mercie vpon vs, and gather vs together from vnder the heauen into his holy place: for he hath saued vs from great perils, and hath cleansed the place.

19 As concerning Iudas Machabeus and his brethren, the purification of the great temple, the dedication of the aulter:

1.Mac.6.a. 20 Yea, and of the warres that concerne noble Antiochus and Eupator his sonne:

D 21 And the myracles shewed from heauen by the valyant actes of those which defended the Iewes religion, so that a fewe ran through the whole countrey, and draue away the barbarous armies:

22 Repayred againe the temple that was spoken of throughout all the worlde, deliuered the citie, doing their best that the lawe of the Lorde, which was put downe, myght with all tranquillitie be restored againe vnto the Lorde, that was so mercifull vnto them.

23 As touching Iason also of Cyren, we haue vndertaken compendiously, to bring into one booke the things that were comprehended of him in fiue.

24 For we considering the multitude of the bookes, and how hard it should be for them that would meddle with stories and acts, and that because of so diuers matters:

25 Haue vndertaken so to comprehende the stories, that suche as are disposed to reade, might haue pleasure and passime therein: and that they whiche are diligent in suche things, might the better thinke vpon them: yea and that whosoeuer reade them, might haue profite thereby.

26 Neuertheless, we our selues that haue medled with this matter for the shortning of it, haue taken no small labor, but great diligence, watchings, and trauayle.

27 Lyke as they that make a feaste, would fayne doe other men pleasure: euen so we also, for many mens sakes, are very well content to take the labour:

28 Whereas we may shortly comprehende ℄ the things that other menne haue truely written.

29 For hee that buyldeth an house a newe, must prouide for many things to the whole buylding: but hee that paynteth it afterwarde, seeketh but onely that is comely, meete, & conuenient to garnish it withall:

30 Euen so doe we also in like manor: and why? he that beginneth first to write a storie, must with his vnderstanding gather the matter together, set his wordes in order, and diligently seeke out euery part.

31 But he that afterwarde will shorten it, vseth fewe wordes, and toucheth not the matter at the largest: let this be sufficient for a Prologue.

32 Nowe will we begin to shewe the matter: for it is but a foolishe thing to make a long prologue, and to be short in the storie it selfe.

The.iij. Chapter.

1. Of the honour done vnto the temple by the kings of the gentiles. 6. Simon vttereth what treasure is in the temple. 9. Heliodorus is sent to take them away. 26. He is stricken of God, and healed at the prayer of Onias.

1 WHat time as the holie citie was inhabited in all peace and wealth, and when the lawes were yet verie well kept: for so was it ordeyned through the godlynesse of Onias the high priest, and other godly men ỹ were enimies to wickednes. ℣

2 It came thereto, that euen the kings and princes them selues, dyd the place greate worshyp, and garnished the temple wyth great gyftes. 1.Mac.

3 In so muche that Seleucus king of Asia, of his owne rentes bare all the costes belonging to the seruice of the offering.

4 Then Simon of the tribe of Beniamin, ruler of the temple, vpon a variance rysen betwene him and the high priest, for wickednesse that was done in the citie, Exo.

5 For that he coulde not ouercome Onias, he gate him to Apollonius the sonne of Thraslia, whiche then was chiefe Lorde in in Celosyria, and Phenices,

6 And tolde him, that the treasurie in Jerusalem was ful of innumerable money, and howe that the common goods, whiche belongeth not vnto the offerings, were exceeding great also: yea and howe it were possible that all these might come vnder the kings power.

B 7 Now when Apollonius had shewed the king of the money, as it was tolde hym: the king called for Heliodorus his treasurer, and sent him with a commaundement to bring him the same money.

8 Immediatly Heliodorus toke his iourney, but vnder a colour as though hee woulde goe through Celosyria, and Phenices, to visite the cities, but his purpose was to fulfil the kings pleasure.

9 So when he came to Jerusalem, and was louingly receiued of the high priest into the citie, he tolde what was determined concerning the money, and shewed the cause of his comming: he asked also if it were so in deede.

10 Then the high priest tolde hym that there was suche money layd vp for the vpholding of widowes and fatherlesse children,

11 And howe that a certaine of it belonged vnto Hyrcanus, the sonne of Tobias, a noble man, and that of all the money (and not as that wicked Simon had reported) there were foure hundred talentes of siluer, and two hundred of golde:

12 Yea, and that it were vnpossible for those mens meaning to be deceiued that had put assured confidence in the holynesse of the place, & in the maiestie & vndoubted safety of the temple, whiche is had in worshippe through the whole world, for the maynteinance and honour of the same.

13 Wherevnto Heliodorus answered, that the king had commaunded him in any wise, to bring him the money.

C 14 So at the day appointed, Heliodorus entered into the temple to order this matter: wherefore there was no small feare throughout the whole citie.

15 The priestes fell downe before the aulter in their vestmentes, and called vnto heauē vpon him, whiche had made a lawe concerning stuffe giuen to keepe, that they shoulde be safely preserued for suche as committed them vnto keeping.

Exo. 22. b. 16 Then who so had loked the high priest in the face, it woulde haue greeued his hart: for his countenance and the changing of his colour, declared the inwarde sorow of his minde.

17 The man was all in heauinesse, and his body in feare: whereby they that loked vpon him, might perceiue the griefe of his hart.

18 The other people also came out of their houses by heapes vnto the common prayer, because the place was like to come into confusion.

19 The women came togither through the streetes wyth heary clothes about theyr brestes: the virgins also that were kept in, ranne to Onias, some of them ranne to the gates, some vp vppon the walles, o-ther some loked out at the wyndowes.

20 Yea they al held vp their hands toward heauen, and prayed:

21 A miserable thing was it to loke vpon the common people, and the high priest being in such trouble. D

22 But they besought Almightie God, that the goodes whiche were commited vnto them, myght be kept whole for those that hadde deliuered them vntō theyr keepyng.

23 Neuertheless, the thing that Heliodorus was determined to doe, that perfourmed he in the same place, he him selfe personally beyng about the treasurie with his men of warre.

24 But the spirite of almightie God shewed him selfe openly, so that all they which presumed to obey Heliodorus, fel through the power of God into a greate fearefulnesse, and dreade.

25 For there appeared vnto them an horse, wyth a terrible man sitting vppon hym, deckt in goodly arap, and the horse smote at Heliodorus with his forefeete: now he that sate vpon the horse, had harnesse of golde vpon him. 2. Ma. 10. c. and. 11. b.

26 Moreouer, there appeared two fayre and beautifull young menne of notable strength, in goodly arap, whiche stode by him, scourged him of both the sides, & gaue him many stripes without ceassing.

27 With that, fel Heliodorus sodenly vnto the grounde, so they toke him vp, being compassed about with great darknesse, and bare him out vpon a beere. 2. Mac. 3. c.

28 Thus he that came with so many runners and men of warre into the said treasurie, was borne out, whereas no man might help him, being destitute of harnesse and weapons: and so the power of God was manifest and knowen. E

29 He lay stil dumbe also by the power of God, destitute of all hope and life.

50 And they prayed the Lorde, that he had shewed his power vpon his place & temple, whiche a little afore was full of feare and trouble, and that through the reuelation of the almightie Lorde, it was filled with ioy and gladnesse.

31 Then certaine of Heliodorus frendes, prayed Onias that in all haste he woulde call vppon God, to graunt him his lyfe, which was geuing vp the ghost.

32 So the hygh priest fearing lest the king should suspect that the Iewes hadde done Heliodorus some (a) euil, he offered an offering for his healthy.

a. In working some trecherie or sorcerie against him.

33 Nowe when the hygh priest had obtayned his petition, the same yong men in the same clothyng appeared, and stode beside Heliodorus, saying, Thanke Onias the hygh priest: for, for his sake, hath the Lord graunted thee thy life.

Actes. 27. c.

34 Therefore seeing that God hath scourged thee, giue him prayse and thankes, and shewe euery man his might and power. And when they had spoken these wordes, they apeared no more.

35 So Heliodorus offered vnto God, made great vowes vnto him which had graunted him his life, thanked Onias, toke hys host, and went againe to the king.

36 Then testified he vnto euery man, of the great workes of God, that he had seene with his eyes.

F 37 And when the king asked Heliodorus who were meete to be sent yet once again to Ierusalem, he saide, 38 If thou hast any enimie or aduersarie vnto thy realme, sende him thither, and thou shalt haue him punished, if he escape w̄ his life: for in that place (no doubt) there is a special power and working of God.

39 For he that dwelleth in heauen, visiteth and defendeth that place, and all that come to do it harme, he punisheth and plagueth them.

40 This is nowe the matter concerning Heliodorus, and the keeping of the treasurie (at Ierusalem.)

The. iiij. Chapter.

1. Simon reporteth euil of Onias. 7. Iason desyring the office of the hygh priest, corrupted the king with rewards. 19. The wicked intent of Iason.

A 1 THus Simon nowe (of whome wee spake afore) being a bewrayer of the mony, & of his owne natural countrey, reported the worst of Onias, as though he had moued Heliodorus vnto this, and as though hee hadde benne a bringer vp of euil.

2 Thus was he not ashamed to call hym an enimie of the realme, ỳ was so faithful an ouerseer and defender of the citie, and of his people, yea, & so feruent in the lawe of God.

3 But when the malice of Simon increased so farre, that through hys frendes there were certaine manslaughters committed.

4 Onias consydered the perill that might come through this strife, and howe that Apollonius, the chiefe lorde in Celosyria and Phenices, was all set vpon tyrannie, and Simons malice increased the same:

5 He gat him to the king, not as an accuser of the citizens, but as one that by him selfe intended the common wealth of the whole multitude.

6 For he sawe it was not possible to lyue in peace, neyther Simon to leaue off from his folishnesse, except the kyng dyd loke thereto.

7 But after the death of Seleucus, when B Antiochus, whiche is called the noble, toke the kingdome, Iason the brother of Onias, laboured to be high priest:

8 For he came vnto the king, and promised him three hundred and threescore talentes of siluer, and of the other rentes fourescore talentes.

9 Besides this, he promised him yet an hundred and fiftie more, if he might haue licence to set vp a scole and an exercise of weapons, and that he might call them of Ierusalem, Antiocheans.

10 Whiche when the king had graunted, and he had gotten the superiorite, he beganne immediatly to drawe his kinsmen to the custome of the heathen,

11 Put downe the things that the Iewes had set vp of loue, by John the father of Eupolonius, whiche was sent Ambassadour vnto Rome, for to make the bonde of friendship and loue, he put downe all the lawes and liberties of the Iewes, and set vp the wicked statutes.

12 For when he had made a scole of fence vnder the castel, he drewe all the cheefest young men on his side, and trained them to weare (a) hattes.

a. Those hattes were token of wantonnesse that the Gentiles vsed.

13 And there was suche a feruent desire to come to the manners of the heathen, and to take vp newe strange fashions brought in through the vngratious and vnheardе wickednesse wickednesse of Jason, whiche should not be called a priest, but an vngodly person:

14 Insomuch that the priestes were nowe no more occupied about the seruice of the aulter: but despised the temple, regarded not the offerings, yea, gaue their diligence to learne to fyght, to wrastel, to leape, to daunce, and to cast the stone:

15 Not setting by ỳ honor of the fathers, but liked the glory of the Grekes best of all:

16 For the which they stroue perilously, and were greedy to folowe their statutes, yea, their lust was in all things to be like them, which afore were their enimies and destroyers.

17 Howbeit, to do wickedly against the lawe of God, shall not escape vnpunished, but of this we shal speake hereafter.

These were kepte euery fifth yeere.

18 What time as the "Olimpians sportes were played at Tyrus, the king him selfe being present.

19 This vngracious Jason sent wicked men, bearing from them of Jerusalem, (whiche now were called Anthiocheans) three hundred drachmes of siluer for an offering to Hercules: these had they that caryed them desired, vnder such a fashion, as though they should not haue bin offered, but bestowed to other vses.

20 Neuerthelesse, hee that sent them, sent them to the intent that they should be offered vnto Hercules: but bycause of those that were present, they were giuen as to the making of shippes.

21 And Apollonius, the sonne of Menestheus, was sent into Egypt, bycause of the noble men of king Ptolomie Philometor. Now when Antiochus perceiued that he was put out frō (b) medling in ỳ realme, he sought his owne profite, departed from thence, came to Joppa, and then to Jerusalem,

b. From his honour and estate.

22 Where he was honorably receiued of Jason, and of the citie, and was brought in with torche light, & with great prayse: and so he turned his host vnto Phenices.

2.Ma.4.b. 23 After three yeeres Jason sent Menelaus, (the foresaide Simons brother) to beare the money vnto the king, and to bring hym answere of other necessarye matters.

24 But he, when he was cōmended to the king for magnifying of his power, turned the priesthode vnto him selfe, laying vp three hundred talentes of siluer for Jason.

25 So when he had gotten commaundementes from the kyng, he came, hauyng nothing that becommeth a priest, but bearing the stomacke of a cruel tyrant, and the wrath of a wilde bruite beast.

26 Then Jason, whiche had deceiued his owne brother, seeing that he him selfe was beguiled also, was fayne to flee into the lande of the Ammonites. 2.Mac.5.b.

27 And Menelaus gat the dominion: but as for ỳ money that he had promised vnto the king, he did nothing therein, albeit Sostratus the ruler of the castel requyred it of him.

28 For Sostratus was the man that gathered the customes, wherefore they were both called before the king.

29 Thus was Menelaus put out of the priesthod, and Lysimachus his brother came in his steed, and Sostratus left Crates ouerseer of the (c) Cyprians:

c. That is, of the that measured the corne.

30 It happened in the meane season, that the Tharsians, and Malotians, made insurrection, bycause they were giuen for a present vnto Antiochus the kings Concubine.

31 Then came the king in all hast to stynt them againe, and to pacifie the matter, leauing Andronicus there to be his Deputie, as one meete therefore.

32 Now Menelaus supposing that he had gotten a right conuenient time, stole certayne vessels of golde out of the temple, and gaue them to Andronicus for a present: and some he solde at Tyrus, and in the cities thereby.

33 Which when Onias knewe of a surete, he reproued him: but hee kept him in a sanctuarie beside Daphnis, that lyeth by Antioche.

34 Wherefore Menelaus gat him to Andronicus, and prayed him that he would slay Onias. So when he came to Onias, he counselled him craftyly to come out of the sanctuarie, giuing him his hande with an othe, (howebeit he suspect him) & then he slue Onias, without any regarde of righteousnesse.

35 For the whiche cause not onely the Jewes, but other nations also, toke indignatiō, and were displeased for the vnrighteous death of so godly a man.

36 And when the king was come againe from Cilicia, the Jewes and certaine of the Grekes went vnto him, complayning for the vnrighteous death of Onias.

37 Yea, Antiochus him selfe was sory in his minde for Onias, so that it pitied him, and he wept, remembring his soberneſſe, and manerly behauiour.

38 Wherefore he was so kyndled in his

mynde, that he commaunded Andronicus to be strypped out of his purple clothing, and so to be led throughout the citie, yea, and the vngratious man to be slayne in the same place, where he committed hys wickednesse vppon Onias: thus the Lord rewarded him his punishmente, as he had deserued.

39 Nowe when Lysimachus had done many wicked deedes in the temple thorowe the counsel of Menelaus, and the voyce came abrode: the multitude gathered them together against Lysimachus, for he had caryed out now muth golde.

40 So when the people arose, and were full of displeasure, Lysimachus armed three thousande vnthryftes, to defend him, a certayne tyrant beyng their captayne, whiche was growen both in age & woodnesse.

G 41 They therefore, seeing the enterprise of Lysimachus, caught vp some stones, some some blockes endes, and some handefuls of dust, that was nert at hande, and threw them vpon the rebelles of Lysimachus bande that had set vpon them.

42 Thus there were many of them wounded, some being slayne, and all the other chased away: but as for the wicked churchrobber him selfe, they killed him beside the treasurie.

43 Of these matters therefore, there was kept a courte against Menelaus.

44 Nowe when the king came to Tyrus, three menne that were sent from the Senate, pleaded him giltie before the king.

45 But Menelaus being nowe conuict, went and promised Ptolome the sonne of Dorymenes to giue him much money, if he would pacifie the king towarde him.

46 So Ptolomie went to the king, into a courte whereas he was set to cole him, & brought him out of that minde:

47 Insomuche that he discharged Menelaus from the accusations, that notwithstanding was cause of all mischiefe: and those poore me, which if they had told their cause, yea before the Scythians, they should haue bin iudged innocent, them he condemned to death.

48 Thus were they sone punished, which folowed vpon the matter for the citie, for the people, and for the holy vessels.

49 Wherefore they also of Tyrus, moued with hatred of that wicked deede, caused them to be very honorably buried.

50 And so through the couetousnesse of them that were in power, Menelaus remayned still in authoritie, encreasing in malice, to the hurt of the citizens.

The.v. Chapter.

1. Of the signes and tokens seene in Ierusalem. 6. Of the end and office of Iason. 11. The pursute of Antiochus against the Iewes. 15. The spoyling of the temple.

1 ABout the same time Antiochus vndertooke his second viage into Egypt. A

2 And then were there seene throughout all the citie of (Ierusalem) fourty dayes long, horsemen running in the ayre, with robes of golde, and as bandes of speare men.

3 And as troupes of horsemen set in aray, incountring and coursing one against another, with shaking of shieldes, and multitude of dartes, and drawing of swordes, and shooting of arrowes, and the glittering of the golden armour seene, and harnesse of all sortes.

4 Wherefore euery man prayed that those tokens might turne to good.

5 Nowe when there was gone forth a false rumour, as though Antiochus had bin dead, Iason toke a thousande men, & came sodenly vpon the citie: the citizens ranne vnto the walles, at the last was the citie taken, and Menelaus fledde into the castel.

6 As for Iason, he spared not his owne citizens in the slaughter, neither considered he what great euil it were to destroy the prosperitie of his owne kynsmen: but dyd as one that had gotten the victorie of his enimies, and not of his friendes.

7 For all this gat he not the superioritie, B but at the last receiued confusion for his malice, and fledde agayne like a vacabund 2. Mac. 4 into the lande of the Amonites.

8 Finally, for a reward of his wickednesse, he was accused before Aretha, the king of the Arabians, insomuch that he was faine to flee from citie to citie, being despised of euery man, as a forsaker of the lawes, and an abhominable person: and at the last, as an open enimie of his own natural countrey, and of the citizens, he was driuen into Egypt.

9 Thus he that afore put many out of their owne native lande, perished from home him selfe: he went to Lacedemon, thynking there to haue gotten succour, by reason of kinrede.

10 And he that afore hadde cast many one out vnburyed, was throwen out him selfe, no man mourning for him, nor putting him in his graue: so that he neither enioyed the buryal of a stranger, neither was he partaker of his fathers sepulchre.

1.Mac.1.c. 11 Nowe when this was done, the kyng suspected that the Iewes woulde haue fallen from him, wherefore he came in a great displeasure out of Egypt, and toke the citie by violence.

12 He commaunded his men of warre also, that they should kill, and not spare: but slay downe suche as withstode them, or clymed vp vpon the houses.

13 Thus was there a greate slaughter of yong men, olde men, women, children, and virgins.

C 14 In three dayes, were there slayne fourescore thousande, fourtie thousande put in prison: and there were as many solde, as were slayne.

15 Yet was he not content with this, but durst goe into the most holy temple of all the worlde, Menelaus that traytour to the lawes, and to his owne natural countrey, being his guide.

16 And with his wicked handes toke the holy vessells, which other kings and cities had giuen thyther for the garnishing and honour of the place, them toke he in his handes vnworthyly, and defiled them.

17 So mad was Antiochus, that he consydered not howe ỹ God was not a little wroth for the synnes of them that dwelt in the citie, for the which suche confusion came vpon that place.

Iud.5.b. 18 And why? if it had not happened them to haue bin lapped in many synnes, this Antiochus assone as he had come, hadde sodenly bin punished and shut out of his presumption, like as Heliodorus was, whom Seleucus the king sent to robbe the treasurie.

Mac.3.b. 19 Neuertheless, God hath not chosen the people for the places sake: but the place for the peoples sake.

20 And therefore is the place become partaker of the peoples trouble, but afterwarde shal it inioye the wealth of them: and like as it was nowe forsaken in the wrath of almightie GOD, so when the great God is reconciled, it shall be set vp in hygh worship againe.

D 21 So when Antiochus had taken a thousande and eyght hundred talentes out of the temple, he gat him to Antioch in all the haste, thynking in his pryde that hee might make menne sayle vppon the drye lande, and to goe vpon the sea, suche an high minde had he.

22 He left Deputies there to vexe the people: at Ierusalem left he Philip a Phrygian, in manners more cruel than him selfe that set him there:

23 At Garizim hee lefte Andronicus and Menelaus, whiche were more greeuous to the citizens than other. 1.Mac.1.a.

24 Now as he was thus set in malice against the Iewes, he sente Appollonius, a cruell prince, with an armie of twentie & two thousand, commaunding him to slay those that were of perfect age, and to sell the women, maydens, and children.

25 When he came now to Ierusalem, he faigned peace, and kept him still vntil the Sabboth day: and then he commaunded his men to take them to their weapons, for the Iewes kept holy day:

26 And so he slue all them that were gone forth to the open play, running (here and there) thorowe the citie with his menne weaponed, and murdered a great number.

27 But Iudas Machabeus, whiche was the tenth, fled into the wyldernesse, ledde his lyfe there, with his company, among wyld beastes, and vpon the mountaynes, dwelling there, and eating hearbes, least they should be partakers of ỹ filthinesse. 1.Mac.1.e.

The.vi. Chapter.

1. The Iewes are compelled to leaue the lawe of God. 4. The temple is defiled. 12. The readers are admonished that they shall not abhorre the aduersitie wherewith the Lorde afflicteth them. 28. The greeuous payne of Eleazarus.

1 NOt long after this, sente the king An olde man of "Antioch, for to compell the Iewes to transgresse the ordinances of the fathers, and of the lawe of God, A "or, Athens.

2 To defile the temple that was at Ierusalem, & to cal it the temple of Iupiter Olimpius: and that they should be in Garizim, as those whiche dwel at the place of Iupiter the harborous.

3 This wicked sedition of the vngodly, was heauy vpon all the people:

4 For the temple was full of voluptuousnesse, bibbing and bolling of the heathen, of rybaudes and harlots together: the women went into the holy place, and bare in that was not lawful.

5 The

3 The aulter also was full of vnlawfull things, which the lawe forbyddeth to lay vpon it.

6 The Sabbothes were not kept, the other solemne feastes of the lande were not regarded: to be playne, ther durst no man be knowen that he was a Iewe.

B 7 In the day of the kings byrth, they were compelled perforce to offer, and when the feast of Bacchus was kept, they were constrained to weare garlandes of iuie, & to goe about to the honour of Bacchus.

8 Moreouer, through the counsel of Ptolomeus, there wente out a commaundement, vnto the next cities of the heathen, againste the Iewes, that the like custome and "banketting should be kept.

"or, eating of the flesh that was sacrificed.

9 And who so woulde not conforme them selues to the manners of the Gentiles, should be put to death: then might a man haue seene the present miserie.

10 For there were two menne accused to haue circumcised their sonnes: whome when they had led rounde about the citie, the babes hanging at their breastes, they cast them downe headlongs ouer the walles.

11 Some that were crept in dennes, and had kept the Sabboth, were accused vnto Philip, and brent in the fyre, bycause that for the feare of God they kept the commaundementes so stiffely, and would not defende them selues.

12 Nowe I beseche all those whiche reade this booke, that they refuse it not for these falles of aduersitie, and iudge the thynges that are happened for no destruction, but for a chastening of our people.

Prou. 3. b. 13 And why? When God suffereth not sinners long to folowe their owne mynde, but shortly punisheth them, it is a token of his great louing kindnesse.

C 14 For this grace haue we of God more than other people, That he suffereth not vs long to sinne vnpunished, like as other nations, 15 That when the day of iudgement commeth, he may punish them in the fulnesse of their sinnes.

16 If we sinne, he correcteth vs, but he neuer withdraweth his mercie from vs: and though he punish with aduersitie, yet doth he neuer forsake his people.

17 But let this that we haue spoken nowe with fewe wordes, be for a warning and exhortation "of the heathen: nowe wyll we come to the declaring of the matter.

"or, vnto vs.

18 Eleazar one of the principal scribes, an aged man, and of a wel fauoured countenance, was constrained to gape with open mouth, and to eate swynes flesh: Leuit. 11.

19 But he desiring rather to die gloriously, than to liue with shame, offered him selfe willingly to the martirdome.

20 Now when he sawe that he must nedes goe to it, he toke it patiently: for he was at a point with him selfe, that he woulde not consent to any vnlawfull thing for any pleasure of life.

D

21 They that (a) stode by, being moued with pitie (but not aright) for the olde friendship of the man, toke him asyde priuily, and prayed that he would let such flesh be brought him as were lawfull to eate, and then to make a countenance as though he had eaten of the flesh of the sacrifice, like as the king commaunded,

a. They that had the charge of that wicked banket.

22 For so he might be deliuered from death, and so for the olde friendshyp of the man they shewed him this kindnesse.

Leuit.

23 But he beganne to consyder discretely, and as became his age, and the excellencie of his auncient yeeres, and the honour of his gray heares, whereunto he was come, and his moste honest conuersation from his childehode, but chiefly the holy lawe made and giuen by God, therefore he answered consequentlye, and willed them straight wayes to sende him to the graue:

24 For it becometh not myne age, sayd he, in any wise to dissemble, whereby many yong persons might thinke that Eleazar, beyng fourescore yeeres old and ten, were now gone to a strange religion:

25 And so through mine hypocrisie, for a little time of a transitory life, they myght be deceiued: by this meanes also shoulde I defile mine age, & make it abominable.

26 For though I were now deliuered from the tormentes of men, yet shoulde I not escape the hande of almightie God, neyther alyue nor deade.

27 Wherfore I will dye manfully, and do as it becommeth mine age: E Deut.

28 Wherby I may peraduenture leaue an example of stedfastnesse for suche as bee yong, if I with a redy minde, and manfully die an honest death for the most worthie and holy lawes. When he had sayde these wordes, immediatly he was drawen to the torment. Amos. 4.

29 Now they that led him, and were milde a little afore, began to take displeasure, bycause of the wordes that he sayde: for they thought he had spoken them of an hygh mynde.

50 But

30 But when he was in his martyrdome he mourned, and sayde, Thou, O Lorde, whiche hast the holy knowledge, knowest openly, that wheras I might be delinered from death, I suffer these sore paynes of my body: but in my minde I am well content to suffer them, because I feare thee.

31 Thus this man dyed, leauing the memorial of his death for an example, not onely vnto yong men, but vnto all the people, to be stedfast and manly.

The.vij. Chapter.

The punishment of the seuen brethren and of their mother.

1 IT happened also that there were seuen brethren with their mother, take, and compelled by the king against the law to eate swines flesshe, (namely) with scourges and leatherne whippes.

2 And one of them, whiche was the chiefe, sayde, What seekest thou, and what requyrest thou of vs? As for vs, we are redy rather to suffer death, than to offende the lawes of God, and the fathers.

3 Then was the king angry, and bade heate cauldrons and brasen pottes: which when they were made hot,

4 Immediatly he commaunded the tong of him that spake first to be cut out, to pul the skinne ouer his head, to pare the edges of his handes and feete: yea and that in the sight of his mother and the other of his brethren:

5 Now when he was cleane mangled, he commaunded a fire to be made, & so (while there was any breath in him) to be fryed in the caldron: in the which when he had bin long pained, the other brethren, with their mother, exhorted him to dye manfully, saying,

Deut.32.c. 6 The Lord God shal regarde the truth, & comforte vs, like as Moses testifieth and declareth in his song, (saying,) And he wil haue compassion on his seruantes.

B 7 So when the first was dead after this manner, they brought the seconde to haue him in derision, pulled the skinne with the heare ouer his head, and asked him if he would eate swines flesshe, or he were payned in y other members also thorow out his body.

8 But he answered in his own language, and sayde, I wil not do it: and so he was tormented like as the fyrst, 9 And when he was euen at the giuing vp of the ghost, he sayde, Thou most vngratious person puttest vs nowe to death: but the king of the worlde shall rayse vs vp which dye for his lawes, in the resurrection of euerlasting life.

10 After him was the thyrde had in derision, and when he was requyred, he put out his tong, and that right sone, holding forth his handes manfully.

11 And spake with a stedfast fayth, These haue I of heauen, but nowe for the lawes of God I despise them: for my trust is that I shall receiue them of him againe.

12 In so much that the king and they which were with hym, marueyled at the young mans boldnesse, that he nothing regarded the paynes.

13 Nowe when he was dead also, they vexed the fourth with tormentes in lyke maner.

14 So when he was nowe at hys death, he sayde, It is better that we, being put to death of men, haue our hope and trust in God, for he shall rayse vs vp agayne: as for thee, thou shalt haue no resurrection to lyfe. C John.5.c.

15 And when they had spoken to the fifth, they tormented him.

16 Then loked he vnto the king, and sayd, Thou hast power among men, for thou art a mortal man also thy selfe, to do what thou wilt: but thinke not that God hathe forsaken our generation.

17 Abyde thee, tary still a while, and thou shalt see the great power of God, howe he will punishe thee and thy seede.

18 After him they brought the sixth, whiche being at the point of death, sayde, Be not deceyued, O kyng, for this we suffer for our owne sakes, because we haue offended our God, and therfore marueylous things are shewed vpon vs.

19 But thinke not thou whiche takest in hande to stryue against God, that thou shalt escape vnpunished.

20 This excellent mother, worthy to be well reported of, and had in remembrance, sawe hir seuen sonnes dye in one day, and suffered it patiently, because of the hope that she had in God:

21 Yea she exhorted euery one of them in hir countrey language, and that boldely and stedfastly with perfect wisedome, waking vp hir womanish thought with a manly stomacke, and saide vnto them,

22 I can not tel howe ye sprang in my wombe: for I neyther gaue you breath, nor noꝛ ſoule, noꝛ life, it is not I that ioyned the members of your bodies together.

23 But the maker of the woꝛlde, which faſhioned the byꝛth of man, and began all things: euen he alſo of his owne mercie ſhall giue you breath and life agayne, like as ye nowe regarde not your owne ſelues foꝛ his lawes ſake.

24 Now thought Antiochus, that ſhe had deſpiſed him, therefoꝛe he let hir goe with hir reproffes, and beganne to exhoꝛt the youngeſt ſonne, which yet was left, not onely with woꝛdes, but ſwoꝛe vnto hym with an othe, that he ſhoulde make hym a riche and wealthy man, if he would foꝛſake the lawes of his fathers: yea, and that he ſhould giue him what ſoeuer were neceſſary foꝛ him.

25 But when the yong man would not be moued foꝛ all theſe things, he called his mother, and counſelled hir to ſaue hir ſons life.

26 And when he had exhoꝛted hir with many woꝛds, ſhe promiſed him that ſhe wold ſpeake to hir ſonne.

℣ 27 So ſhe turned hir vnto him, laughing the cruel tirant to ſcoꝛne, and ſpake in hir countrey language: O my ſonne, haue pitie vppon mee, that bare thee nine monethes in my womb, that gaue thee ſucke, nouriſhed thee, and bꝛought thee vp vnto this age,

28 I beſeche thee my ſonne, loke vppon heauen and earth, and all that is therein, and conſyder that God made them and mans generation of nought:

29 So ſhalt thou not feare this hangman, but ſuffer death ſtedfaſtly, like as thy bꝛethren haue done: that I may receyue thee againe in the ſame mercie with thy bꝛethren.

30 While ſhe was yet ſpeaking theſe woꝛdes, the yong manne ſayde, Whom loke yee foꝛ? (wherefore do yee tary?) I will not obey the kings commaundement, but the lawe that God gaue vs by Moſes.

Leuit. 11. a.

31 As foꝛ thou that imagineſt all miſchiefe againſt the "Iewes, thou ſhalt not eſcape the hande of God.

"or, Hebrues.

32 Foꝛ we ſuffer theſe things bycauſe of our ſinnes.

33 And though the liuing Loꝛde be angry with vs a little while foꝛ our chaſtenyng and reformation, yet ſhall he be at one againe with his ſeruantes.

34 But thou, O godleſſe man, and of all other the moſte wicked, pꝛide not thy ſelfe thꝛough vayne hope, in being ſo malicious vppon the ſeruantes of God:

35 Foꝛ thou haſt not yet eſcaped the iudgementes of God, whiche is almightie, and ſeeth all things.

36 My bꝛethꝛen that haue ſuffered a little payne, are nowe vnder the couenant of euerlaſting life: but thꝛough the iudgemẽt of God, thou ſhalt be puniſhed righteouſly foꝛ thy pꝛide.

37 As foꝛ me, like as my bꝛethꝛen haue done, I offer my "ſoule and my body foꝛ the lawes of our fathers, calling vppon God, that he will ſone be mercifull vnto our people: yea, and with paine and puniſhment to make thee graunt that he onely is God.

"or, life.

2. Mac. 7.

38 In me nowe, and in my bꝛethꝛen, the wꝛath of almightie God is at an ende, whiche righteouſly is fallen vpon all our people.

39 Then the king being kindled in anger, was moꝛe cruel vppon him, than vpon all the other, and toke indignation that hee was ſo lightly regarded.

40 So this yong man died vndefiled, and put his truſt ſtil in the Loꝛd.

41 Laſt of all, after the ſonnes, was the mother put to death alſo.

42 Let this nowe be ynough ſpoken concerning the offeringes and extreme cruelneſſe.

The. viij. Chapter.

1. Iudas gathereth together his hoſt. 9. Nicanor is ſent againſt Iudas. 16. Iudas exhorteth hys ſouldiers to conſtantneſſe. 20. Nicanor is ouercome. 27. The Iewes giue thankes, after they haue put theyr enimies to flight, diuiding the ſpoyles vnto the fatherleſſe, and vnto the wydowes. 35. Nicanor fleeth vntoo Antiochus.

1 THen Iudas Machabeus, and they ℣ that were with him, went pꝛiuily into the townes, called their kinſfolkes and friendes together, toke vnto them all ſuch as continued yet in the faith and lawe of the Iewes, and bꝛought foꝛth ſixe thouſande men.

2 So they called vppon the Loꝛde, that he would haue an eye vnto his people, which was troden downe of euery man, to be gratious vnto the temple, that was defiled of the vngodly,

3 To haue compaſſion vppon the deſtruction of the citie, whiche was ſhoꝛtly like to be be layde waſte, to heare the voyce of the bloude that cryed vnto him:

4 To remember the moſte vnryghteous deathes of young innocente childzen, the blaſphemies alſo done vnto his name, and to puniſhe them.

1.Mac.2.a. 5 Nowe when Machabeus had gathered this multitude together, he was to mightie for the heathen, for the wrath of the Lorde was turned into mercie,

6 He fel vppon the townes and cities vn-wares, brent them, toke the moſt commodious places, & ſlue many of the enimies.

B 7 But ſpecially he made ſuche chaſes by night, inſomuche that his manlynelle
2.Mac.1 was ſpoken of euery where.

6 So when Philip ſawe that the man increaſed by little and little, and that the matter proſpered with hym for the moſte parte: he wrote vnto Ptolomie, whiche was a captaine in Celoſyria and Phenices, to helpe him in the kings buſineſſe.

1.Mac.3.c. 8 Then ſente hee Nicanor the ſonne Patroclus, a ſpeciall friende of his, in all the haſt, and gaue him of the common ſort of the heathen, no leſſe than twentie thouſande harneſſed menne, to rote out the whole generation of the Iewes, hauyng to helpe him one Gorgias a man of warre, whiche in matters concerning battels had great experience.

10 Nicanor ordeyned alſo the tribute, which the Romanes ſhould haue had, to be gi-uen vnto the kyng out of the captiue of the Iewes, (namely) two thouſande ta-lentes.

11 And immediatly he ſent to the cities of the ſea coaſt, requyring them for to buye Iewes to be their ſeruantes and bondemenne, promyſing to ſel them foureſcore and ten for one talent: but he conſydered not the wrath of almightie God that was to come vppon him.

12 When Iudas knewe of this, he tolde the Iewes that were with him, of Nicanors comming.

13 Nowe were there ſome of them feare-ful, not truſting vnto the ryghteouſneſſe of God, and fledde theyr way, and abode not in that place:

C 14 But the other that remayned, came together, and beſought the Lord to delyuer them from that wicked Nicanor, whiche hadde ſolde them or euer he came nygh them.

15 And though hee woulde not doe it for theyr ſakes, yet for the couenant that hee made wyth theyr fathers, and bycauſe they called vppon his holy and glorious name.

16 And ſo Machabeus called his men to- 1.Mac.5.b.
gether, (namely) about fyre thouſande, exhorting them not to agree vnto their Deut.20.a.
enimies, neyther to be afrayd for the multitude of their aduerſaries comming a-gaynſte them vnrighteouſly, but to fyght manly,

17 Conſydering the reprowfe that they had done to the holy place wythout cauſe, howe they had deſpiſed and oppreſſed the citie, yea & deſtroyed the lawes of the fathers.

18 For they, ſayd he, truſt in their weapõs Iere.19.b. and bõldneſſe: but our confidence is in the almightie Lorde, whiche in the twinck-ling of an eye, may both deſtroy them which come againſt vs, and al the world.

19 He exhorted them alſo to cal to remembraunce the helpe that God ſhewed vnto their fathers, as when there peryſhed an hundred foureſcore and ſlue thouſande of Sennacheribs people:

20 And of the battel that they had in Babylon againſt the Galathians: howe all the Macedonians that came to helpe the, being foure thouſande, ſtode in feare: and howe they being onely but fyue thouſand, "or, eight thouſande.
ſlue an hundred and twentie thouſande, through the helpe that was giuen them from heauen, whereby they alſo had recei-ued many benefites.

21 Through theſe wordes the menne toke D good hartes vnto them, redy to dye for the law and the countrey.

22 So he ſet vppon euery company a captayne, one of his owne brethren, Simon, Joſeph, and Jonathas, giuing eche one fiftene hundred men.

23 He cauſed "Eſdras alſo to reade the ho- "or. Eleazarus.
ly booke vnto them, and to giue them a token of the helpe of God: then he him ſelfe, 1.Mac.4.b. being captaine in the foreſront of the bat-tel, buckled with Nicanor.

24 And God was theyr helpe, inſomuche that they ſlue aboue nine thouſande men, and compelled the more parte of Nicanors hoſt to flee, they were ſo wounded and feeble.

25 Thus they toke the money from thoſe that came to buye them, and folowed vpõ them on euery ſyde.

26 But when the time came vppon them, they returned, for it was the day before the Sabboth, and therefore they folowed no more vpon them.

27 So they toke theyr weapons, and spoyles, and kept the Sabboth, giuing thankes vnto the Lorde whiche had delyuered them that day, and shewed them the beginning of his mercy.

28 After the Sabboth, they distributed the spoyles to the sicke, to the fatherlesse, and to wydowes, and the residue had they thē selues, with theirs. Num. 31. d.

29 When this was done, and they all had made a generall prayer, they besought the mercifull Lorde to be at one with his seruantes.

30 Of those also that were with Timotheus and Bacchides, whiche fought agaynst them, they slue twentie thousande, wan hygh and strong holdes, and diuided mo spoyles, euer giuing an equal portion vnto the sicke, to the fatherlesse, to wydowes, and to aged persons.

31 And when they had diligently gathered their weapons together, they layde thē all in conuenient places, and the remnant of the spoyles brought they to Ieruſalem.

32 They slue also Philarches, that wicked person, whiche was with Timotheus, and had vexed many Iewes.

33 And when they held the thankesgiuing at Ieruſalem for the victorie, they brent those that had set fyre on the portes of the temple, (namely) Calisthenes, which was fled into an house, and so they gat a worthie reward for their wickednesse.

34 As for that most vngratious Nicanor, which had brought a thousande marchantes to buye the Iewes, 35 He was through the helpe of the Lorde brought down, euen of them whom he regarded not, insomuche that he put off hys glorious rayment, fled by sea, and came alone to Antioche with great shame and dishonour, whiche he gat through the destruction of his host.

36 Thus hee that promised the Romanes to pay them their tribute when he toke Ieruſalem, began nowe to saye playnely, that God was the defender of the Iewes, and therfore not possible to wound them, bycause they folowed the lawes whiche God had made.

The. ix. Chapter.

1. Antiochus wylling too spoyle Persepolis, is driuen too flight. 9. As he persecuted the Iewes, he is stricken of the Lorde. 13. The fained repentaunce of Antiochus. 28. He dyeth.

1 AT the same tyme came Antiochus a- A gaine with dishonour out of Persia. 1. Mac. 6.

2 For when he came to Persepolis, and vndertooke to robbe the temple, and to subdue the citie, the people ranne together, and defended them selues, in so muche that hee and hys were fayne too flee wyth shame: and so after that flyght, it happened that Antiochus came agayne wyth dishonour.

3 But when he came to Egbatana, he gat knowledge what was happened vnto Nicanor, and Timotheus.

4 Nowe as he was aduauncyng hym selfe in his wrath, he thought he was able to auenge the iniurie that was done to them vpon the Iewes: and therefore commaunded to make redy his charet, hasting on his iourney without ceassyng, the iudgement of God prouokyng him, bycause he had spoken so proudely, that he woulde come to Ieruſalem, and make it a graue of the Iewes.

5 But the Lorde God of Israel, that seeth all things, smote him with an vncurable and an inuisible plague (whiche no man coulde heale,) For assone as he had spoken these wordes, there came vpon him an horryble paine of his bowels, and a sore griefe of the inner partes,

6 And that was but right: for he had martyred other mens bowels with diuers and strange tormentes.

7 Howbeit he woulde in no wise ceasse B from his malice: yea he was yet the prouder & more malitious against the Iewes: but while he was commaunding to make hast in the matter, it happened that he fel downe violently from the charet that ran swiftly, so that it bruised his body, and did him great payne.

8 And so he that thought a little before he might commaunde the floudes of the sea (so proude was he beyonde the condition of man) and to way the hygh mountaines in a payre of balance, was nowe brought downe to the grounde, and caryed vpon an horselitter, knowledging the manifest power of God vpon him:

9 So that the wormes came out of the body of this wicked man in abundance: and whiles he was alyue, his flesshe fel off for payne and torment, and all his armie was greened at his "smell. "Or, rottenesse.

10 Thus he that a little afore thought he might reach to the starres of heauen: him might no man nowe abyde nor beare, for the vehemencie of stincke.

11 Therefore

11 Therefore he being brought from hys great pryde, beganne for to come to the knowledge of him selfe: for the punishment of God warned him, and his paine encreased euer more and more.

12 And when he him selfe might not abide his owne stincke, he sayde these wordes: It is reason to be obedient to God, and that a man whiche is mortal, thinke not through pryde, him selfe to be equal vnto God.

13 This wicked person prayed also vnto the Lorde, who nowe would haue no mercie vpon him:

14 And as for the citie that he came vnto so hastyly, to bring it downe to the ground, and to make it a graue for dead men, now he desyreth to deliuer it free:

15 And as touching the Iewes, whom he had iudged not worthy to be buried, but woulde haue caste them out with their children, for to be deuoured of the foules and wilde beastes, (saying, that he woulde haue destroyed both olde and young:) now he promised to make them like the citizens of Athens:

16 And whereas he had spoyled the holye temple afore, nowe he maketh promise to garnishe it with great giftes, to encrease the holy ornamentes, and of his owne rentes to beare the costes and charges belonging to the offerings:

17 Yea, and that he woulde also become a Iewe him selfe, to go through euery place of the worlde that was inhabited, and to preache the power of God.

18 But when his paines would not ceasse, (for the rightcous iudgement of God was come vpon him) out of a very dispayre he wrote vnto the Iewes a letter of intercession, conteyning these wordes:

19 The king and prince Antiochus, wisheth vnto the vertuous citizens of the Iewes much health, and good prosperitie.

20 If ye and your children fare wel, and if all things goe after your minde, we giue great thankes.

D 21 In my sickneſſe also doe I remember you louingly: for as I came out of Persia, and was taken with sore disease, I thought it necessarie to care for the common wealth:

22 Neither dispayre I in my selfe, but haue a good hope to escape this sickneſſe.

23 But consyderyng that my father led an host sometime in the higher places, and shewed who shoulde raigne after him,

24 That if there happened any controuersie, or any hard thing were declared, they in the land might know their chiefe Lord, that there shoulde be no insurrection.

25 Agayne, when I ponder with my selfe, how that all the mightie men and neyghbours rounde aboute, are laying wayte, and loke but for opportunitie to do harme: I haue ordeyned, that my sonne Antiochus shall raigne after me, whom I oft commended to many of you, when I was in the higher kingdomes, and haue writte vnto him as it foloweth hereafter.

26 Therefore I pray you, and require you to remember the benefites that I haue done vnto you generally, and in especiall, and that euery man will be faythfulto me and my sonne.

27 For I hope that he shall be of sober and E louing behauiour, and if he folowe my deuice, he shal be indifferent vnto you.

28 Thus that murtherer and blasphemer of Deut. 8. c. God was sore smitten: and like as he had intreated other men, so he dyed a miserable death in a strange countrey vppon a mountaine.

29 And his body did Philip that went with him carry away, whiche fearing the sonne of Antiochus, went into Egypt to Ptolomie Philometor.

The. x. Chapter.

1. Iudas Machabeus taketh the citie and the temple. 10. He beginneth to shewe the actes of Eupator. 16. The Iewes fyght against the Idumeans. 24. Timotheus inuadeth Iurie, with whome Iudas ioyneth battel. 29. Fiue men appeare in the ayre to the helpe of the Iewes. 39. Timothie is slayne.

1 MAchabeus nowe and his company A through the helpe of the Lord wanne 1. Mac. 4. c. the temple and the citie againe,

2 Destroyed the aulters and chappels that the heathen had builded through ỹ streets,

3 Cleansed the temple, made another aulter of bricke stone, and after two yeeres Exo. 20. 2. they offered sacrifices, set forth ỹ incense, the lightes, and shewe bread.

4 When that was done, they fel downe flat vpon the grounde, & besought the Lord that they might come no more into suche trouble: but if they sinned any more against him, he him selfe to chastise them with mercie, & not to come in the handes of those aliantes and blasphemous men.

5 Nowe vpon the same day that the strangers polluted the temple, it happened that on the very same day it was cleansed

1.Mac.4.f. agayne: (namely) the twentie and fifth Nouemb. day of the moneth called ⁋ Casleu.

6 They kept eyght dayes in gladnesse, like as in the feast of ỹ tabernacles, remẽbring that not long afore they helde the feast of the tabernacles vpon the mountaynes, and in dennes, like beastes.

B 7 And for the same token they bare greene bowes, branches, and palmes, and song Psalmes before him that had giuen them good successe to cleanse his place.

8 They agreed also together, and made a statute, that euery yere those dayes should be solemnely kept of all the people of the Iewes.

9 Howe Antiochus then, that was called the noble, dyed, it is sufficiently tolde.

10 Now whyle we speake of Eupator the sonne of that wicked Antiochus, howe it happened with him, and so with fewe wordes to comprehend the aduersitie that chaunced in the warres.

11 When he had taken in the kingdome, he or, Celosyria, made one Lysias, which had bin captayne of the host in Phenices and ⁋ Syria, ruler ouer the matters of the realme.

12 For Ptolomie, that was called Macron, being a ruler for the Iewes, and specially to sit in iudgement for suche wrong as was done vnto them, vndertoke to deale peaceably with them.

13 For the whiche cause he was accused of his friendes before Eupator: and when he was suspected to be a traitour, bycause he had left Cypres, that Philometor had cõmitted vnto him, and bycause he departed from noble Antiochus that he was come vnto, he poysoned him self, and dyed.

C 14 Nowe when Gorgias was gouernour of the same places, he toke strangers, and vndertoke oft times to warre with the Iewes.

15 Moreouer, the Idumeans that held the strong holdes, receiued those that were driuen from Ierusalem, and toke in hand to warre also.

1.Mac.5.a. 16 But they that were wyth Machabeus, besought and prayed vnto the Lorde that he woulde be their helper, and so they fell vppon the strong holdes of the Idumeans, 17 And wanne many places by strength: suche as came against them they slue, and kylled no lesse of all together, than twenty thousande.

18 Neuertheless some, no lesse than nine thousande, were fledde into two strong towers, hauing all manner of ordinance to withstande them.

19 Then Machabeus, leauing Simon, Iolephus, Zacheus, and those that were with them, which were very many, went to besiege them, and to fyght where moste neede was.

20 Now they that were with Simon, being led with couetousnesse, were intreated for money, through certaine of those that lay in the castels, toke threescore and ten thousande (a) dragmas, and let some of them escape. a. A dragma the eight part of an vnce, which about three pence.

21 But when it was tolde Machabeus what had happened, he called the captaines of the people together, accusyng those persons, that they had solde the brethren for money, and let their enimies goe. D

22 So he slue those traytours, and immediatly went in hand with the two castels.

23 And when they had ordered them selues manly with their weapons and handes, they slue in the two castels moe thã twentie thousande.

24 ⁋ Nowe Timotheus, whom the Iewes had ouercome afore, gathered a multitude of strange people, brought an host also of horsemen of the Asians, to winne Iurie by strength, 1.Mac.5. 2.Mac.8.

25 But when he drewe nigh, Machabeus and they that were with him, fell to their prayer, sprincled ashes vpon their heades, being gyrded with heary cloth about their loynes, 2.Mac.a.

26 Fel downe before the aulter, & besought the Lord that he would be merciful to thẽ, but an enemie vnto their enimies, and to take parte against their aduersaries, according as it is promised in the lawe. Deut.

27 So after ỹ prayer, they toke their weapons, and went on further from the citie: and when they came nigh the enimies, they prepared them selues against them.

28 And betimes in the morning at the breake of the day, both the hostes buckled together: the one part had the Lorde for their refuge, which is the giuer of prosperitie, strength, and victorie: the other had a manly stomacke, which is a captaine of warre. E Iere. 17. 2.Mac.12.

29 The battel now being great, there appeared vnto the enimies from heauen flue goodly men vppon horse backes, with bridels of golde, leading the Iewes: 3.Reg.6. 1.Mac.3. and.11.

30 And two of them hauing Machabeus betwixt them, that kept him safe on euery side with their weapons, but shot dartes and lightnings vpon the enimies, where-through throughe they were confounded wyth blindneſſe, and ſo ſore afraide that they fel downe.

31 They were ſlayne of fotemen, twentie thouſand and fiue hundred, and ſixe hundred horſemen.

32 As for Timotheus him ſelfe, he fled vnto Gazara, a very ſtrong holde, wherein Chereas was captaine.

33 But Machabeus and his company, layd ſiege to it chearefully foure dayes.

34 Nowe they that were within, truſting to the ſtrength of the place, curſed, & banned exceedingly, and made great craking, with wicked wordes.

35 Neuertheleſſe, vpon the fifth day in the morning, twentie yong men of Machabeus companie, being ſette on fyre in their mindes becauſe of the blaſphemie, came manfully vnto the wall, & with bolde ſtomackes ſmote downe thoſe that they met.

36 Others alſo climed vp vpon the towres, vndertaking to ſet fyre vppon the portes, and to burne thoſe blaſphemous perſons quicke, with the fyres that they had made: others brake open the gates, and receiued the reſt of the armie, and toke the citie.

37 Two dayes were they deſtroying the caſtel, which when they founde Timotheus that was creapt in a corner, they kylled him, and ſlue Chereas his brother in like manner, with Apollophanes.

38 When this was don, they ſong pſalmes, with prayſes and thankeſgiuing vnto the Lorde, which had done ſo great things for Iſrael, and giuen them the victory.

The. xi. Chapter.

1. Lyſias goeth about to ouercome the Iewes. 8. Succour is ſente from heauen vnto the Iewes. 16. The letter of Lyſias too the Iewes. 20. The letter of kyng Antiochus vnto Lyſias. 27. A letter of the ſame vnto the Iewes. 34. A letter of the Romanes too the Iewes.

1 NOt long after this, Lyſias the kings ſtewarde, and a kinſmanne of hys, which had the gouernance of hys matters, toke ſore diſpleaſure for the things that had happened.

2 And when he had gathered foureſcore thouſande men of fote, with all the hoſt of the horſemen, he came againſt the Iewes, thinking to winne the citie, to make it an habitation for the heathen:

3 And the temple woulde he haue to be an houſe of lucre, like as the other goddes houſes of the heathen are, and to ſel the prieſts office euery yere, Eſai. 36. b.

4 Not conſydering the power of God, but was wilde in his minde, truſting in the multitude of fotemen, in thouſandes of horſemen, & in his foureſcore Elephantes.

5 So he came into Iurie, and then to Bethſura, a caſtel of defence, lying in a narow place, fiue furlongs from Ieruſalem, and layde ſore ſiege vnto it.

6 Nowe when Machabeus, and hys company, knewe that the ſtrong holdes were beſieged, they fell to their prayers, wyth weeping and teares before the Lord: and the people in like manner beſought him, that he woulde ſende a good angel to deliuer Iſrael. 2. Ma. 10. k.

7 Machabeus him ſelfe was the fyrſt that made him redy to the battel, exhorting the other that were wyth hym, to ieoparde them ſelues, and to helpe theyr brethren. B

8 And when they were going forth of Ieruſalem together, wyth a redye and wyllyng minde, there appeared before them vppon horſebacke, a man in whyte clothyng, with harneſſe of Golde, ſhaking his ſpeare. 2. Mac. 3. d.

9 Then they prayſed the Lorde all together, whiche had ſhewed them mercie, and were comforted in their minds, in ſo muche that they were ready not onlye to fyght with men, but with the moſt cruel beaſtes, yea and runne through walles of iron.

10 Thus they went on willingly, hauing an helper from heauen, and the Lord merciful vnto them.

11 They fel mightyly vppon their enimies lyke Lions, ſlue eleuen thouſande fotemen, ſixtiene hundred horſemen, and put all the other to flight, 12 Many of them being wounded, and ſome gat away naked: yea Lyſias hym ſelf was fayne to flee ſhamefully, and ſo to eſcape.

13 Neuertheleſſe, that man was not without vnderſtanding, but conſydered by him ſelfe, that his power was minifhed, and pondered how the Iewes, being defended by the helpe of almightie God, were not able to be ouercome: wherefore he ſente them worde,

14 And promiſed, that he woulde conſent to al things which were reaſonable, and to make the king their friende. C

15 To the which prayer of Lyſias, Machabeus agreed, seeking in all things the common wealth: and what so euer Machabeus wrote vnto Lysias concerning the Iewes, the king graunted it.

16 For there were letters written vnto the Iewes from Lysias, conteyning these wordes: Lysias sendeth greeting to the people of the Iewes.

"or, Absalom. 17 Iohn and "Absolon, which were sent from you, deliuered me writings, and required me to fulfill the things concerning their errande.

18 Therefore loke what might be graunted, I certified the king therof: and whatsoeuer was conuenient, he agreed therto.

19 If ye now wil be faythful in these matters, I shall endeuour my selfe hereafter also to doe you good.

20 As concerning these things, by euery article thereof, I haue committed them to your messengers, and to those whom I sent vnto you, to commune with you of the same particularly.

D 21 Fare ye wel. In the hundred fourtie and eyght yeere, the twentie and fourth day of the moneth Dioscorinthius.

22 Nowe the kings letter conteyned these words: King Antiochus sendeth greeting vnto his brother Lysias.

23 For somuch as our father is now translated vnto the goddes, our wil is, that they which are in our Realme, liue wythout any insurrection, and euery man to be diligent in his owne matters:

2. Mac. 9. b.

24 We vnderstande also, that the Iewes would not consent to our father, for to be brought vnto the custome of the Gentiles, but stifly to keepe their owne statutes, for the whiche cause they require of vs also, to let them remayne still after their owne lawes.

25 Wherefore our minde is, that this people shal be in rest: we haue concluded, and determined also to restore them their temple againe, that they may liue according to the vse and custome of their forefathers.

26 Thou shalt doe vs a pleasure therefore if thou sende vnto them, and graunt them peace, that when they are certified of our minde, they may be of good cheare, and loke to their owne wealth.

27 And this was the letter that the king wrote vnto the Iewes: king Antiochus sendeth greeting vnto the counsel, and the other people of the Iewes:

E 28 If ye fare wel, wee haue our desire: as for vs, we are in good health.

29 Menelaus came and tolde vs, how that your desire was to returne home, and peaceably to enioy your owne possessions.

30 Wherefore those that will come, we giue them free libertie, vnto the thirtie day of the moneth of "April, "Xanthicus.

31 That they may vse the meates of the Iewes, and their owne lawes, lyke as afore: and none of them by any manner of wayes to haue harme for things donne in ignorance.

32 I haue sent also Menelaus, that he may comfort you.

33 Fare ye wel. In the hundred fourtie and eyght yeere, the fiftienth day of the moneth of April.

34 The Romanes also sent a letter, conteining these words: Quintus Memmius, and Titus Manilius, Ambassadours of the Romanes, sende greeting vnto the people of the Iewes.

35 Loke what Lysias the kings kinsman hath graunted you, we graunt you the same also.

36 But as concerning the things which he referred vnto the king, sende hyther some with speede, and ponder the matter diligently among your selues, that we may "or, consult the best. call the best to your profite, for we must depart nowe vnto Antioche.

37 And therfore write shortly agayne, that we may knowe your minde.

38 Farewel. In the hundred fourtie and eight yere, the fiftienth day of the moneth of April.

The. xij. Chapter.

2. Timotheus troubleth the Iewes. 3. The wicked deede of them of Ioppa against the Iewes. 6. Iudas is auenged of them. 9. He setteth fyre on the gate of Iamnia. 20. The pursute of the Iewes against Timothi. 24. Timothi is taken, and let goe vnhurt. 32. Iudas pursueth Gorgias. 43. Iudas offering sacrifyce for the deade, sheweth the hope of the resurrection.

1 I When these couenantes were made, Lysias went vnto the king, and the Iewes tilled their ground.

2 But Timotheus, and Apollonius the sonne of Gennei, Ierome, and Demophon (the proude) Nicanor the captaine of Cypres, and they that lay in those places, woulde not let them liue in rest and peace.

3 They of Ioppa also dyd euen suche a shamefull deede: they prayed the Iewes that that dwelt among them, to goe with their wyues and children into the ships which they had prepared, and dyd wyth them as though they hadde ought them no euyll wil.

4 Forsomuche then as there was gonne forth a generall proclamation through the citie, bycause of peace, they consented therto, and suspected nothyng: but when they were gonne forth into the deepe, they drowned no lesse than two hundred of them.

5 When Iudas knew of this crueltie shewed vnto his people, he cõmaunded those that were with him to make them redy,

6 Exhorting them to call vppon God the righteous iudge, wente forth agaynste those murtherers of his brethren, set fyre in the heauen by night, brent vp the ships: and those that escaped from the fyre, hee slue (with the sworde.)

B 7 And when he had donne this, he departed, as though he would come againe, and rote out all them of Ioppa:

8 But when he hadde gotten worde that the Iamnites were minded to doe in like manner vnto the Iewes whiche dwelt among them,

9 He came vppon the Iamnites by night, and set fyre on the hauen, with the ships: so ỳ the light of the fyre was sene at Ierusalem vppon a two hundred and fourtie furlonges.

10 Now when they were gone from thence nine furlongs in their iourney towarde Timotheus, fiue thousande men of fote, and fiue hundred horsemen of the Arabians, fought with him.

11 So when the battell was earnest, and prospered with Iudas, through the helpe of God: the residue of the (a) Arabians, being ouercome, besought Iudas to be at one with them, and promised to giue him certaine "pastures, and to doe him good in other things.

12 Iudas thinking that they shoulde in deede bee profitable concernyng manye things, promised them peace: wherevpon they shoke handes, and so they departed to their tentes.

13 Iudas went also vnto a citie, whiche was very fast kept with bridges, fensed rounde about with walles, and diuers kindes of people dwelling therein, called Calpin.

C 14 They that were within it, put such trust in the strength of the walles, and in their store of vitayles, that they were the slacker in their doings, cursyng and reuiling Iudas with blasphemies, and speaking suche wordes as it becommeth not.

15 But Machabeus calling vpon the great prince of the worlde, (whiche without any battel rammes or ordinance of warre, did cast downe the walles of Iericho, in time of Iosuah) fel manfully vpon the walles, Iosue. 6. k.

16 Tooke the citie, and through the helpe of the Lorde, made an exceeding greate slaughter: insomuche that a lake of two furlongs broade, which lay thereby, seemed to flow with the bloud of the slayne.

17 Then departed they from thence seuen hundred and fiftie furlongs, and came to "Taraca, vnto the Iewes that are called Tubianei. "or, Characa.

18 But as for Timotheus, they coulde not get him there: for (not one matter dispatched) he was departed from thence, and had left certaine mẽ in a very strong hold.

19 But Dositheus and Sosipater, whiche were captaynes with Machabeus, slue those that Timotheus hadde lefte in the house of defence, more than ten thousand men.

20 And Machabeus prepared him, wyth the fiue thousande men that were about him, set them in order by companies, and went forth against Timotheus, whiche hadde wyth hym an hundred and twentie thousande men of fote, two thousand and fiue hundred horsemen.

D 21 When Timotheus had knowledge of Iudas comming, he sent the women, children, and the other baggage, vnto a castel called Carnion: for it coulde not be won, and was harde to come vnto, the wayes of the same places were so narowe.

22 And when Iudas his first band came in sight, the enimies were smitten with feare, through the presence of God which seeth al things: insomuch that they, fleeing one here, another there, were rather discomfited of their owne people, and wounded with the strokes of their owne swordes.

23 Iudas also was very earnest in following vpõ them, punishing those vngodly, and slue thirtie thousande men of them. Iud. 7. k. 1. Re. 14. c. 2. Par. 20. d

24 Timotheus also him selfe fell into the handes of Dositheus and Sosipater, whõ he besought wyth muche crafte to let him goe wyth hys lyfe, bycause he had many of the Iewes fathers and brethren in prison, which if they put him to death, should be despised.

25 So when he had promised faithfully to deliuer them againe, according to ỳ condition made, they let him goe without harme, for the health of the brethren.

(a) The Nobaeus of Arbia, so called, bycause they were shepheardes. "or, cattel.

26 Then Machabeus marched forth to Carnion and Atargation, and there slue twentie and fiue thousande men.

E 27 Nowe after that he had chased away, & slayne his enimies, he remoued the host toward Ephron, a strong citie, wherein was Lysias, and a great multitude of diuers nations: and the strong yong men kept the walles, defending them mightyly: in this citie was much ordinance and prouision of dartes. 1.Ma.5.c.

28 But when Iudas and his companie had called vppon almightie God, whiche with his power breaketh the strength of the enimies, they wan the citie, and slue twentie and fiue thousande of them that were within.

29 From thence went they to the citie of the "Scythians, whiche lyeth sixe hundred furlongs from Ierusalem. "or, Scythopolis.

30 But when the Iewes whiche were in the citie, testified that the citizens dealt louingly with them, yea and intreated them kindly in the time of their aduersitie, 31 Iudas and his company gaue thē thankes, desiring them to be friendly styll vnto them: and so they came to Ierusalem, the high feast of the weekes being at hande.

32 And after the feast of Pentecost, they went forth agaynst Gorgias, the gouernour of Idumea, 33 Who came out with three thousand mē of foote, and foure hundred horsemen.

34 Which when they met together, it chaūced a fewe of the Iewes to be slayne.

35 And Dositheus, one of the Bacenors, a mighty horseman, toke holde of Gorgias, and woulde haue taken him quicke: but an horseman of Thracia fel vpon him, and smote of his arme, so ẏ Gorgias escaped, and fled into "Moresa. "or, Mareſa. "or, Eldzin.

36 When they nowe that were of Gorgias side, had foughten long, and were weery, Iudas called vppon the Lorde, that hee woulde be their helper, and captayne of the feelde:

F 37 And with that he begaune in his owne language, and song Psalmes with a loud voyce: insomuch that he made the enimies afrayde, and Gorgias men of warre toke their flight.

38 So Iudas gathered his host, and came into the citie of Odolla: and when the seuenth day came vppon them, they cleansed them selues, as the custome was and kept the Sabboth in the same place.

39 And vppon the day following, as necessitie requyred, Iudas and his company came to take vp the bodyes of them that were slayne, and to burie them in their fathers graues.

40 Nowe vnder the coates of certaine Iewes, which were slayne, they found iewels ẏ they had taken (out of the temple and) from the idolles of the Iamnites: which thyng is forbydden the Iewes by the lawe: then euery manne sawe that this was the cause wherefore they were slayne. Deut.7. Iosu.7.

41 And so euery man gaue thankes vnto the Lorde for his righteous Iudgement, which had opened ẏ thing that was hid.

42 They fell downe also vnto their prayers, and besought God that ẏ fault which was made, might be put out of remembraunce: besides that, Iudas exhorted the people earnestly to keepe them selues from suche sinne, forsomuche as they sawe before their eyes that these men were slayne for the same offence. G

43 So he gathered of euery one a certaine, and sent two thousande dragmes of syluer vnto Ierusalem, that there might a sacrifice be offered for the misdeede: in the whiche place he did wel and ryght, for he had some consyderation and pondryng of the lyke that is after this time.

44 For if he hadde not thought that they whiche were slayne shoulde ryse agayne, it hadde bin superfluous and vayne to make any vowe or sacrifice for them that were dead.

45 But for so muche as he sawe that they which dye in the fauour & beliefe of God, are in good rest and ioy, he thought it to be good and honorable for a reconcilyng, to doe the same for those which were slayne, that the offence might be forgiuen.

The.xlij.Chapter.

1. The comming of Eupator into Iurie. 4. The death of Menelaus. 10. Machabeus going to fyght agaynst Eupator, moueth his souldiers vnto prayer. 15. He killeth fouretiene thousande menne in the tentes of Antiochus. 21. Rhodocus the betrayer of the Iewes is taken. 24. Antiochus reteyned friendshyp with the Iewes.

1 IN the hundred fourtie and nine yere, Igat Iudas knowledge that Antiochus Eupator was cōming with a greate power into Iurie. 1.Ma.

2 And

2 And Lysias the steward and ruler of his matters with hym, hauing an hundred and tenne thousande men of foote of the Grecians, fiue thousande horsemen, twentie and two Elephants, and three hundred charets set with hookes.

3 Menelaus also ioyned hym selfe with them, but with great deceyte spake fayre to the king, not for any good of the countrey, but because he thought to haue beene made some great man of authoritie.

4 But the kyng of kynges moued Antiochus mynde agaynst this vngodly person, and Lysias enfourmed the king that this Menelaus was the cause of all mischiefe: so that the kyng commaunded to bryng him vnto Berea, and as the manner of them is, to put hym vnto death in the same place.

5 There was also in the same place a towre of fyftie cubites highe, heaped with ashes: and it hadde an instrumente that turned rounde, and on euery syde it rolled downe into the ashes, and there who so euer was condemned of sacrilege, or of any other grieuous cryme, was cast of all men vnto the death.

6 Whereunto the kyng commaunded that shamefull person to be cast among the ashes, as one that was cause of all vngratiousnesse.

B 7 And reason it was, that the vnthrifte shoulde dye suche a death, and not to bee buryed:

8 For he had done much mischiefe vnto the aulter of God, whose fyre and ashes were holie: therefore was it right that he hym selfe also shoulb be destroyed with ashes.

9 But the king was wood in hys mynde. and came to shewe him selfe more cruell vnto the Iewes, than his father was.

1.Mac.9.c 10 Which when Iudas perceyued, he commaunded the people to call vpon the Lord nyght and day, that he would nowe helpe them also lyke as he had done alway: for they were afrayde to be put from theyr lawe, from their naturall countrey, and from the holie temple, 11 And not to suffer the people, which a litle while afore began to recouer, to be subdued againe of the blasphemous nations.

12 So when they had done this together, and besought the Lorde for mercie, with weeping, and fasting three dayes long, flat vpon the grounde, Iudas exhorted them to make them selues readie.

13 But hee and the eldest together deuised to goe forth (first with the people) afore the kyng brought his hoast into Iurie, and afore he besieged the citie, and so to commit the matter vnto God.

14 Wherefore he committed the charge of C all things vnto God the maker of all the world, exhorting his people to fyght manfully, yea, euen vnto death, for the lawes, the temple, the citie, their owne natiue countrey, and to defende the citizens: and he set his hoast before Modin.

15 Hee gaue them also that were with hym a token of the victorie of God, chosing out the manlyest yong men, went by nyght into the kyngs pauilion, slue of the hoast fouretiene thousande men, and the greatest 1.Mac.6.k. of the Elephantes, with those that sat vpon them.

16 Thus when they had brought a great feare and rumour among the tentes of their enimies, and all things went prosperously with them, 17 They departed in the breake of the day, God being their helper and defender.

18 Now when the king perceyued the manlynesse of the Iewes, hee went about to take the strong places by craft, 19 And remoued his hoast vnto Bethsura, which was a well kept house of defence of 2.Mac.11.a the Iewes: but they were chased away, hurt and discomfited.

20 And Iudas sent vnto them that were in it, such things as were necessarie.

21 In the Iewes hoast also there was one D Rhodochus, which tolde the enimies their secretes: but they sought him out, and when they had gotten him, they put hym in prison.

22 After this, did the king commune wyth them that were in Bethsura, toke truce with them, departed, and stroke a battayle with Iudas, which ouercame him.

23 But when hee vnderstode that Philip, whome he had left to be ouerseer of this businesse at Antioch, beganne to rebell against him, he was astonyed in his mynd, so that he yeelded him selfe to the Iewes, and made them an othe to do whatsoeuer they thought right.

24 Nowe when hee was reconciled wyth them, hee offered, made muche of the temple, gaue great giftes vnto it,

25 Embraced Machabeus, making hym captayne and gouernour from Ptolomais vnto the Garrhenes, 26 Neuertheless, when he came to Ptolomais, the people of ỹ citie were not cõtent with the bond of friendship: for they were afraid that he would breake the couenant.

37 Then went Lylias vp into the iudgement ſeate, and excuſed the fact as well as he could, and enformed the people, ſhewed them the cauſe why, and pacifyed them: ſo hee came agayne to Antioche. This is nowe the matter concerning the kinges iourney, and his returne.

The.xiiij. Chapter.

1. By the motion of the Lorde, Demetrius ſendeth Nicanor to kyll the Iewes. 18. Nicanor maketh a compact with the Iewes. 29. whiche hee yet breaketh thorowe the motion of the king. 37. Nicanor commaundeth Razias to be taken. 41. The boldneſſe of Razias.

1 AFter three yeeres, was Judas informed howe that Demetrius the ſonne of Seleucus was come vp with a great power and ſhippes, through the hauen of Tripolis,

2 To take certayne commodious places and countreys, againſt Antiochus and his captayne Lylias.

3 Nowe Alcimus which had beene hyghe prieſt, and wilfully defiled him ſelfe in the tyme of the myxting, ſeeyng that by no meanes he coulde be helped, nor haue any more entrance to the aulter.

4 He came to king Demetrius, in the hundred fiftie and one yeere, preſenting vnto hym a crowne of Golde, a Palme, and an Oliue tree, whiche as men thought belonged to the temple: and that day helde his tong.

5 But when hee had gotten opportunitie for his madneſſe, Demetrius called hym to counſell, and aſked him what things or counſels the Iewes leaned vnto?

6 He anſwered, The Iewes that be called Aſſidei (whoſe captayne is Judas Machabeus) mayntayne warres, make inſurrections, and will not let the realme be in peace.

B 7 For I, being depriued of my fathers honour (I meane the highe prieſthode) am come hither:

8 Partly bycauſe I was faythfull vnto the king, and partly bycauſe I ſought the profite of myne owne citizens: and why? all our people, through the wyckednelle of them, are not a litle troubled.

9 Wherefore, I beſeeche thee, O king, conſider all theſe things diligently, and then make ſome prouiſion for the lande and the people, according to the kyndenelle that thou haſt offered vnto them.

10 For as long as Judas lyueth, it is not poſſible that men can liue in peace.

11 When hee hadde ſpoken theſe wordes, other friendes alſo hauyng euill will at Judas, ſet the king Demetrius on fyre (againſt him.)

12 Which immediatly ſent Nicanor, ruler of the Elephantes, a captayne, into Jurie, 1.Mac.7.1.

13 Commaunding hym to ſlay Judas, and to ſcatter them that were with him, and to make Alcimus hygh prieſt of the great temple.

14 Then the heathen, which fled out of Jurie frō Judas, came to Nicanor by flocks, thynking the harme and decaye of the Iewes to be their welfare. C

15 Nowe when the Iewes heard of Nicanors comming, and the gathering together of the Heathen, they ſprinckled themſelues with earth, and beſought him which 2.Mac.11. made them his people, and euer defended his owne portion with euident tokens, that he would preſerue them ſtyll.

16 So at the commaundement of the captayne, they remoued ſtrayght wayes from thence, and came to a town called Deſſau.

17 And Simon, Judas brother, fell in hande wyth Nicanor: but through the ſodayne " commyng of the enimies hee " or, Scim was afrayde.

18 Neuertheleſſe, Nicanor hearing the manlyneſſe of them that were with Judas, and the bolde ſtomackes that they had to fyght for their naturall countrey, durſt not proue the matter with bloudſhedding.

19 Wherefore, he ſent Poſſidonius, "Theodorus, and Matthathias before, to gyue and to take peace. " or, Theodotus, Mattathias.

20 So when they had taken long aduiſement therevpon, and the captayne ſhewed it vnto the multitude, they were agreed in one mynde to haue peace.

21 And they appoynted a daye to ſyt vpon D theſe matters quietly among them ſelues, & for euery one ſwoles alſo were brought, and ſet forth. 2.Mac.

22 Neuertheleſſe Judas commaunded certayne men of armes to wayte in conuenient places, leaſt there ſhould ſodainly ariſe any euill through the enimies: and ſo they communed reaſonably together.

23 Nicanor whyle he abode at Jeruſalem, ordered him ſelfe not vnreaſonably, but ſent away the people that were gathered together.

24 Hee loued Judas euer with his heart, and fauoured him. 1.Mac.

25 He

25 Hee prayed him also to take a wife, and to bring forth children. So he marryed, lyued in rest, and they led a common life.

26 But Alcimus perceyuing the loue that was betwixt them, and howe they were agreed together, came to Demetrius, and tolde hym that Nicanor had taken strange matters in hande, and ordeyned Judas, an enimie of the realme, to be the kinges successour.

27 Then the kyng was sore displeased, and through the wycked accusations whiche Alcimus made of Nicanor, he was so prouoked, that he wrote vnto Nicanor, saying that he was very angry for the friendshippe and agreement which he had made with Machabeus: neuertheless, he commaunded hym, in all the haste, that hee shoulde take Machabeus prysoner, and sende him to Antioch.

E 28 Whiche (letters) when Nicanor hadde seene, hee was at his wittes ende, and sore greeued, that hee shoulde breake the things wherein they had agreed, specially seeing Machabeus was that man that neuer did him harme.

29 But bycause hee myght not withstande the king, hee sought opportunitie to fulfill his commaundement.

30 Notwithstanding, when Machabeus sawe that Nicanor beganne to be churlish vnto him, and that he intreated him more roughly than he was wont, hee perceyued that suche vnkyndnesse came not of good, and therfore he gathered a few of his men and withdrewe him selfe from Nicanor.

F 31 Which when hee knewe that Machabeus hadde manfully preuented hym, hee came into the great and most holie temple, and commaunded the priestes which were doing the vsuall offerings, to deliuer him the man.

2.Mac.7.c. 32 And when they sware that they coulde not tel wher the mã was whom he sought, 33 He stretched out his right hande toward the temple, and made an othe, saying, If ye will not delyuer me Judas captiue, I shall remoue this temple of God into the playne fielde, I shall breake downe the aulter, and consecrate this temple vnto Bacchus.

34 After these wordes he departed. Then the priestes lyft vp their handes towarde heauen, and besought him that was euer the defender of their people, saying,

1.Mac.4.c. 35 Thou, O Lord of al, which hast neede of nothing, wouldest that the temple of thy habitation should be among vs:

36 Therefore nowe, O moste holie Lorde, keepe this house euer vndefiled, which lately was cleansed, and stop all the mouthes of the vnrighteous.

37 Now was there accused vnto Nicanor one Razis, an Alderman of Jerusalem, a louer of the whole citie, and a man of good report, which for the kynde heart that hee bare vnto the people, was called a father of the Jewes.

38 This man oftentimes, when the Jewes were mynded to keepe them selues vndefyled, defended and deliuered them, being content stoutly to spende hys body and his life for his people.

39 So Nicanor willing to declare the hate that he bare to the Jewes, sent fiue hundred men of warre to take him:

40 For he thought if he gate him, he should bring the Jewes in great decay.

41 Now when the people beganne to rush in at his house, to breake the dores, and to set fyre on it, he being nowe taken, (c) fell vpon his sworde,

c. This fact is not to be approued, for that it is contrarie to Gods commaundement. Thou shalt not kyll. Exod.20. Deuter.5.

42 Chosing rather to dye manfully, than to yeelde him selfe to those wicked doers: and bycause of his noble stocke, he had rather haue bene put to extreame cruelties.

43 Notwithstanding, what tyme as hee missed of his stroke for haste, and the multitude rushed in violently betwixte the dores, he ranne boldely to the wall, and cast him selfe downe manfully among the heape of them:

44 Whiche gaue some place to his fall, so that he fell vpon his belly.

45 Neuertheless, while there was yet breath within him, he was kyndled in his minde, and while his bloud gushed out exceedingly, (for he was verie sore wounded) he ran through the middest of the people, and gat him to the top of a rocke.

46 So when his bloud was now gone, he toke out his owne bowels with both his handes, and threwe them vpon the people, calling vpon the Lorde of life and spirite, to reward him this againe, and so he died.

The.xv.Chapter.

2. Nicanor goeth about to come vppon Iudas on the Sabboth day. 5. The blasphemie of Nicanor. 14. Machabeus expoũding vnto the Iewes the vision, boldneth their harts. 21. The prayer of Machabeus. 30. After the hoast of Nicanor is once ouercome, Machabeus commaundeth his head and his handes to be cut off, and his tong to be giuen vnto foules.

1 Nowe

A 1 NOwe when Nicanor knew that Iu-
1.Mac.7.d. das and his company were in the countrey of Samaria, he thought with all his power to strike a fielde with him vpon a Sabboth day.

2 Neuertheleſſe, the Iewes that were compelled to goe with him, sayde, O doe not ſo cruelly and vnkyndly, but halowe the Sabboth day, and worſhip him that ſeeth all things:

3.Re.20.c. 3 (For all this) yet sayde the vngratious perſon, Is there a mightie one in heauen, that commaunded the Sabboth daye to bee kepte?

Exod.20.b. 4 And when they sayde, Yea, the lyuing God, the myghtie Lorde in heauen commaunded the ſeuenth day to be kept:

5 He sayde, And I am mightie vpon earth, to commaunde them for to arme them ſelues, and to perfourme the kings buſineſſe. Notwithſtanding, hee might not haue his purpoſe.

6 Nicanor had deuiſed with great pride to ouercome Judas, and to bring away the victorie:

B 7 But Machabeus had euer a faſt confydence, and a perfect hope in God, that hee would helpe him:

8 And exhorted his people not to be afrayd at the comming of the Heathen: but alway to remember the helpe that had beene ſhewed vnto them from heauen, yea and to be ſure nowe alſo that Almightie God would giue them the victorie.

9 He ſpake vnto them out of the lawe and prophetes, putting them in remembrance of the battels that they had stricken afore, and made them to be of good courage.

10 So when their heartes were pluckt vp, he ſhewed them alſo the deceytfulneſſe of the Heathen, and howe they would keepe no couenant, nor othe.

11 Thus he weaponed them, not with the armour of ſhielde and ſpeare, but with wholſome wordes and exhortations: hee ſhewed them a dreame alſo, wherthrough he made them all glad,

12 Which was this: Hee thought that hee ſawe Onias, which had beene high prieſt, a vertuous and louing man, ſadde, and of honeſt converſation, well ſpoken, and one that had ben exerciſed in godlyneſſe from a chylde, holding vp his handes towarde heauen, and praying for his people.

13 After this, there appeared vnto him another man, which was aged, honourable, and glorious.

C 14 And Onias sayd, This is a louer of the brethren, and of the people of Iſraell, this is hee that prayeth muche for the people, and for all the holie citie, Jeremie the prophete of God.

15 Hee thought alſo that Jeremie helde out his right hande, and gaue vnto Judas a ſworde of golde, saying, 16 Take this holie ſworde, a gyfte from God, wherewith thou ſhalt ſmite downe the enimies of the people of Iſraell.

17 And ſo they were well comforted thorowe the wordes of Judas, which were verie ſweete, and able to ſtyre vp theyr courage: and toke courage vnto them, ſo that the yong men were determined in their myndes to fyght, and to abyde ſtiffly at it: in ſo much that in the things whiche they toke in hande, theyr boldeneſſe ſhewed the ſame, becauſe the holie citie, the ſanctuarie, and the temple were in peryll, 18 For the whiche they toke more care than for their wyues, chyldren, brethren, and kinſfolkes.

19 Agayne, they that were in the citie, were moſt carefull for thoſe whiche were to fight.

20 Nowe when they were all in hope that the iudgement of the matter was at hand, and the enimies drewe nygh, the hoaſt being ſet in aray, the Elephantes and horſemen euery one ſtanding in his place:

21 Machabeus conſidering the comming D of the multitude, the ordinance of dyuers weapons, the cruelneſſe of the beaſtes, held vp his handes towarde heauen, calling vpon the Lorde that doth wonders, which 2.Par.14
giueth not the victorie after the multitude Jud.7.b
of weapons and power of the hoaſt, but to them that pleaſe him, according to his 4.Re.19 owne will.

22 Therefore in his prayer hee sayde theſe wordes, O Lorde, thou that dyddeſt ſende thyne Angell in the time of Ezekiah kyng of Juda, and in the hoaſt of Sennacherib ſlewe an hundred fourefcore and fiue thouſande:

23 Sende nowe alſo thy good Angell before vs, O Lorde of heauens, in the fearefulneſſe and dread of thy mightie arme, 24 That they which come againſt thy holy people to blaſphemie them, may be afrayde. And ſo hee made an ende of hys wordes.

25 Then Nicanor, and they that were with hym, drewe nygh, with trumpettes and ſhowtings for ioy:

26 But Judas and hys companie, with prayer

prayer and calling vpon God, encountred with the enimies.

E 27 With their handes they smote, but with their hearts they prayed vnto the Lorde, and slue no lesse than thirtie and fiue thousand men: for through the present helpe of God, they were gloriously comforted.

28 Now when they left off, and were turning agayne with ioy, they vnderstoode that Nicanor hym selfe was slayne with the other, for all his armour.

29 Then they gaue a great shoute, and a crye, praysing the Almightie Lord in their owne language.

30 And Judas, which was euer readie to spende his bodie and lyfe for his citizens, commaunded to smite off Nicanors head, with his arme and hande, & to be brought to Jerusalem.

31 When he came there, hee called all the people and the priestes to the auter, with those that were in the castell.

32 And shewed them Nicanors heade, and his wicked hande, which he had presumptuously holden vp agaynst the temple of God.

33 Hee caused the tongue also of that vngodly Nicanor, to be cut in litle peeces, and to be cast to the foules, and that cruell mans hande to be hanged vp before the temple.

34 So euery man gaue thankes vnto the Lord, saying, Blessed be he that hath kept his place vndefiled.

35 As for Nicanors heade hee hanged it vp F vpon the highe castell, for an euident and playne token of the helpe of God.

36 And so they agreed altogether to keepe the day holy, (namely,) the thirteenth day of the moneth "Adar. "Februarie.

37 Which in the Syrians language is called the next day before Mardocheus day.

38 Thus was Nicanor slayne, and from that tyme forth the Iewes had the citie in possession. And here will I nowe make an ende.

39 If I haue done well, and as the storie required, it is the thing that I desired: but if I haue spoken slenderly and barely, I haue done that I could.

40 For as it is hurtfull to drinke wine alone, and then agayne water, and as wine tempered with water is pleasant, and delighteth the taste: so the setting out of the matter, delighteth the eare of them that reade the storie: and here shall be the end.

The end of the second booke of the Machabees.

Jesus Christe.

FOr better vnderstanding of the contents of this Table, ye shall note, that the Euangelistes S. Matthew and S. Luke, haue diuerslie reuited the generation of our Sauiour Christe, according to the flesshe, and yet tend both to one end: that is, to proue, that (according to that which is writte of him in the prophesies) he is descended of the royal blonde of Dauid, and rightly succeeded him in the kingdom. So the diuersitie of the said resitall consisteth in this: that S. Matthew setteth forth the saide generation descending from father to sonne, & Saint Luke, ascending from sonne to father, which comes all to one ende. But to shewe the agreement of Saint Luke with Saint Matthew, we haue here set forth the generation by him described, descending after the order of Saint Matthewe, to the end that the one may be conferred with the other. Furthermore Saint Matthew described the generation of Joseph, though it belong nothing to Jesus Christ, after the flesshe, and S. Luke that of the virgin Mary: for it was very necessary to resite both, forasmuch as women were cõmonly reputed of the line or kindred of their husbands: & so aswel on hir husbands side, as on their own offspring, it is manifest ẏ she was of ẏ roial line of Dauid.

* Juda of the line of Nathan, engendred Simeon, called Joas, which came to the royall seate, bycause the posteritie of Solomon fayled in Ochosias: and therefore the kingdome belonged to Nathans posteritie, according to the ordinaunce of Dauid, as Philo reciteth, that is, the yongest of the children of Bersabe (whiche was Solomon) should raigne after him, so that, if the posteritie fayled, the kingdome shoulde come to the posteritie of the next yonger, which was Nathan: and therefore Nathan was called Ihiscar, that is to say, Brother of ẏ prince, & they of his posteritie Ihiscarim, that is to say, Brothers of the prince, & Mathitim, which signifieth, giuen to succeed. The same Philo reciteth, ẏ the posteritie of the sayd Nathan, was so honored of the king Josaphat, that he called his childrẽ the brothers of Joram his sonne, and their children the brothers of Ochosias his nephewe: and this is the cause why the Scripture saith, that Joas was the sonne of Ochosias, though he were not his natural sonne, but the sonne of Juda, descending from Nathan.

Note that S. Matthew, going about to describe the generation by fourtenes, did first leaue out Joas, Amazias, and Azarias, which are set in betwene Ochosias, ẏ last of the race of Solomon & Joathan. Further, he hath left out Jchaas, & Joacim, placed betwene Josias & Jechonias. All which we haue here set in their order, to make the same delcription more perfect & plain.

* Forasmuch as it seemeth that S. Luke maketh no mention of the generation of Marie, but rather of Joseph: for he vseth these words, that Jesus was counted the sonne of Joseph, which was of Heli, that is to say, the son of Heli: we must vnderstand that in this place, the name of sonne, is taken for the name of sonne in lawe, and that S. Luke meaneth that Joseph was the sonne in lawe to Heli, for that he toke to wife the virgin Marie, daughter to the sayd Heli, which maner of speach is common in the scripture: for we find that Noemi called Ruth hir daughter, which was but hir stepdaughter, hir sonnes wife.

The nevve Te= ſtament of our ſauiour Ieſus Chriſte.

*Rom.*1.

I am not aſhamed of the Goſpell of Chriſte, bycauſe it is the power of God vnto ſaluation to all that be-leeue.

God ſaue the Queene.

A Preface into the nevve Teſtament.

THE neŵe Teſtament, ſo called, conteyning the ŵrytings of the Euangeliſtes, ŵith the Epiſtles of Chriſtes Apoſtles, and ŵith other ſuch diuine bookes, declare playnely vnto vs the ſumme and effect of all the ſcriptures expreſſed in the olde Teſtament. That ŵhich ŵas in figure and in obſcuritie inuolued by the Patriarkes and Prophets in their propheticall volumes, ŵritten by the inſpiration of the holie ghoſt: is in this booke more playnely and euidently ſet out, vttered alſo in the ſelfe ſame ſpirite, by the children of the prophetes, the holie Apoſtles. Indeede the laŵe ŵas giuen by Moſes, but grace and veritie came by Ieſus Chriſte, ŵhich grace this booke of the neŵe Teſtament doth moſt euidently commend and ſet out. In this is diſcourſed the ŵhole myſterie of our ſaluation and redemption, purchaſed by our ſauiour Chriſte, here is his holie conception deſcribed, his Natiuitie, his Circumciſion his ŵhole life and conuerſation, his godly doctrine, his diuine myracles. In this booke of the neŵe Teſtament is ſet out his death, his reſurrection, his aſcention, his ſending of the holy ſpirite, his ſeſſion in our fleſh on the right hand of his father, making continuall interceſſion to him for vs. In this booke is conteyned the forme and order of his laſt iudgement, after the generall reſurrection of our bodyes. Theſe be the myſteries of our fayth, theſe be the groundes of our ſaluation, theſe be thus ŵritten that ŵe ſhoulde beleeue them, and by our beliefe ſhoulde enioy life euerlaſting. Once and in times paſt God diuerſly and many ŵayes ſpake vnto the fathers by the prophetes, but in theſe laſt dayes he hath ſpoken vnto vs (vpon ŵhome the endes of the ŵorld be come) by his ŵne ſonne, ŵhom he hath made heyre of all things, ŵhoſe dignitie is ſuch, that he is the brightneſſe of his fathers glorie, the very image of his ſubſtance, ruling all things by the ŵord of his poŵer. This heauenly doctor ſo indued ŵith glorie and maieſtie, ŵe ought moſt reuerently to beleeue, as commended vnto vs from the authoritie of the heauenly father, to be heard as his moſt ŵelbeloued ſonne, in ŵhome is his ŵhole delight, by ŵhome he ŵill be pleaſed and pacified: It ŵill elſe come to paſſe, ſayth that prophet Moſes, that ŵhoſoeuer ſhall not heare and obey that prophet in the ŵordes that he ſhall ſpeake in his fathers name, I ŵill be, ſayth the father, reuenger of him. This is the laſt prophete to bee looked for to ſpeake vnto vs: In him be vniuerſally incloſed the riches and treaſure of the ŵiſedome and knoŵledge of God his father: by him he hath decreed finally to iudge the ŵhole ŵorlde, the liuing and the deade: by him hath he decreed to giue to his elect life euerlaſting, and to the reprobate (ŵho hath contemned his life and doctrine) death euerlaſting. Let vs therefore ſeriouſly heare and obey this our heauenly teacher, ſubmit our ſelues to this our iudge and rewarder: Let vs eſteeme his doctrine and conuerſation, as a full, perfect, and ſufficient patterne of all holyneſſe and vertue: Let vs eſteeme the doctrine of this booke, as a moſt inflexible rule to leade vs to all trueth and neŵneſſe of life. Here may ŵe beholde the eternall legacies of the neŵe Teſtament, beqŵeathed from God the father in Chriſt his ſonne to all his electes, I ſay, the legacies liuely renued vnto vs, not of deliuerance from Pharao his ſeruitude, but from the bondage and thraldome of that perpetuall aduerſarie of ours the deuill: here may ŵe beholde our inheritance, not of the temporall land of Chanaan, or of the tranſlation of vs to the place of ŵoridly paradiſe: but here ŵe may ſee the full reſtitution of vs, both in body and ſoule, to the celeſtial paradiſe, the heauenly citie of Ieruſalem aboue, there to raigne ŵith God the father, God the ſonne, and God the holie ghoſt for euer. Which legacies of his Teſtament promiſed and beqŵeathed, ŵere not ŵithſtanding recorded in the bookes of the olde Teſtament to our auncient fathers, ŵhich in hope beleeued in Chriſt to come, ŵho ŵas painted before them in figures and ſhadoŵes, and ſignified in their olde ſacramentes ordayned for that time: but noŵe more euidently renebed and exhibited vnto vs, not in figure, but in deede, not in promiſe, but in open ſight, in feeling, in handling and touching of this eternall life, moſt manifeſtly confirmed vnto vs in Chriſte his bloude in this his neŵe Teſtament continued and reuiued, yet in neŵ ſacraments, the better to beare in our remembrance this his eternall Teſtament of all ioyful felicities. Let vs noŵe therefore noŵe good chriſtian people, reioyce in theſe glad tidings expreſſed vnto vs by the name of the Goſpell of our ſauiour Chriſt, and let it neuer fall out of our remembrance, that ŵe ŵere ſometime ouerŵelmed in darkneſſe, and ſet in the ſhadoŵe of death: let vs conſider that ŵe ŵere ſometime by our naturall birth the children of God his ŵrath, and ŵholly eſtranged from the houſholde of God. Let vs beare in minde that ŵe ŵere ſometime no people of God, nor his beloued, that ŵe ŵere by nature branches of the ŵilde Oliue, and noŵe by meere mercy grafted into the right and naturall Oliue tree: ŵherevpon let vs the rather repoſe our life in feare and reuerence. If ŵe be noŵ the children of light, let vs ŵalke in this our light in all holyneſſe and godlyneſſe of life, approuing that ŵhiche is pleaſing to the Lorde. Let vs haue no felo ŵſhip ŵith the vnfruitfull ŵoorkes of darkeneſſe, and let vs henceforth be no more children, ŵauering and caryed about ŵith euerie ŵinde of doctrine, and by the deceit and craftineſſe of men, ŵhereby they lay in ŵaite to deceiue vs: but let vs folo ŵe the trueth in loue and charitie, and in all things groŵe vp into him ŵhich is the heade, that is Chriſte our ſauiour. If ŵe be noŵe the children of grace, and made liuely members of his body, though ſometime ſtrangers and forreiners farre off, and made neere by the bloud of Chriſte, and made citizens ŵith the ſaintes, and of the houſholde of God: let vs direct our hearts thither ŵhere our heade is, delighting our ſelfe in all heauenly cogitations, ŵalking in all ſpirituall ŵorkes and fruites of the ſpirite, as Gods deare elect. God graunt that Chriſte may ſo dŵell in our hearts by fayth, that ŵe may be able to comprehende ŵith all ſaintes the vnſpeakable loue of Chriſt, ŵhich paſſeth all mans knoŵledge. Vnto him therefore ŵhich is able to do exceeding aboundantly aboue all that ŵe can aske or thinke, be praiſe in the Church by Chriſte Ieſus, throughout all generations for euer. AMEN.

The (a) Gospell by Saint Matthæwe.

¶ The first Chapter.

1. The genealogie of Christe from Abraham. 18. The mariage of his mother Marie. 20. The Angell satisfieth Iosephes mynde. 21. The interpretation of Christes names.

1 THis is the (b) booke of the generation of Iesus Christe, the sonne of Dauid, the sonne of Abraham.

2 Abraham begat Isahac, Isahac begat Jacob, Jacob begat Judas, and his brethren.

3 Judas begat Phares, and Zara, of Thamar, Phares begat Esrom, Esrom begat Aram.

4 Aram begat Aminadab, Aminadab begat Naallon, Naallon begat Salmon.

5 Salmon begat Boos, of Rachab, Boos begat Obed, of Ruth, Obed begat Jesse.

6 Jesse begat Dauid the king, Dauid the king begat Solomon, of hir that was the wife of Urie.

7 Solomon begat Roboam, Roboam begat Abia, Abia begat Asa.

8 Asa begat Josaphat, Josaphat begat Joram, Joram begat Ozias.

9 Ozias begat Joatham, Joatham begat Achas, Achas begat Ezekias.

10 Ezekias begat Manasses, Manasses begat Amon, Amon begat Josias.

11 Josias begat Jechonias and his brethren, about the time they were caryed away to Babylon.

12 And after they were brought to Babylon, Jechonias begat Salathiell, Salathiell begat Zorobabell.

13 Zorobabell begat Abiud, Abiud begat Eliakim, Eliakim begat Azor.

14 Azor begat Sadoc, Sadoc begat Achen, Achen begat Eliud.

15 Eliud begat Eleazer, Eleazer begat Matthan, Matthan begat Jacob.

16 Jacob begat Joseph the husband of Marie, of whome was borne Jesus, that is called Christe.

17 And so all the generations from Abraham to Dauid, are fourtiene generations: and from Dauid vntyll the carying away into Babylon, are fourteene generations: and from the carying away into Babylon vnto Christ, are fouretene generations.

18 The byrth of Jesus Christe was on this wyse. When as his mother Marie was betrouthed to Joseph (before they came together) she was founde with childe of the holy ghost.

19 Then Joseph hir husbande, being a righteous man, and not wylling to make hir a publique example, was mynded priuily to put hir away.

20 But whyle hee thought these things, beholde, the angell of the Lorde appeared vnto him in a dreame, saying, Joseph thou sonne of Dauid, feare not to take (vnto thee) Marie thy wife, for that which is conceyued in hir, is of the holie ghost.

21 She shall bring forth a sonne, and thou shalt call his name Jesus: for he shall saue his people from their sinnes.

22 (All this was done, that it might be fulfilled, whiche was spoken of the Lorde by the prophete, saying.

23 Beholde, a virgin shall be with childe, and shall bring forth a sonne, and they shall call his name Emmanuel, which is by interpretation, God with vs.)

24 Then Joseph, being raysed from sleepe, dyd as the angell of the Lorde had bidden him, and he toke his wife:

25 (c) And knew hir not, till she had brought forth hir first borne sonne, and called his name Jesus.

The .ij. Chapter.

1. The time and place of Christes birth. 11. The wisemen offer their presentes. 14. Christe fleeth into Egipt. 16. The yong children are slayne. 23. Christe turneth into Galilee.

1 WHen Jesus was borne in Bethlehem, a citie of Jurie, in the dayes of Herode the king: beholde, there came wise men from the East to Jerusalem.

2 Saying, where is he that is borne kyng of the Jewes? for we haue seene his starre in the East, and are come to worship him.

3 When Herode the kyng had heard these things, hee was troubled, and all (the citie of) Jerusalem with him.

4 And when he had gathered all the chiefe priestes and scribes of the people together, he demaunded of them where Christ shuld be borne.

5 And they sayd vnto him, At Bethlehem in Jurie: For thus it is written by the prophete, Mich.5.a. John.7.k. 6 And thou Bethlehem (in) the lande of Juda, art not the least among the princes of Juda: For out of thee shall there come a captayne, that shall governe my people Israell.

B 7 Then Herode when hee had priuily called the wyse men, enquired of them diligently, what time the starre appeared.

8 And hee sent them to Bethlehem, and sayde, Goe, and searche diligently for the yong chylde, and when ye haue found him, bring me worde againe, that I may come and worshyp him also.

9 When they had hearde the kyng, they departed, and loe, the starre which they sawe in the East went before them, till it came and stode ouer (the place) wherin the yong chylde was.

10 When they sawe the starre, they reioyced exceedingly with great ioy, 11 And went into the house, and they sawe the yong childe with Marie his mother, and fell downe, and worshipped him: and when they had opened their treasures, presented vnto him giftes, gold, and frankensence, and Myrre.

Psal.72.d. Esai.60.b.

12 And after they were warned of God in a dreame, that they should not returne to Herode, they departed into their owne countrey another way.

a. Ioseph was not the father of Christe, else the angell wold not haue sayd, Take the childe and his mother, but rather, take thy chylde.

13 * When they were departed, beholde, the angell of the Lorde appeared to Joseph in a dreame, saying, Arise, and take the yong chylde, and (a) his mother, and flee into Egypt, and be thou there till I bring thee worde: for it will come to passe, that Herod shall seeke the yong childe, to destroy him.

* The Gospell on Innocentes day.

14 When he arose, he toke the yong childe and his mother by night, and departed into Egypt:

C 15 And was there vnto the death of Herod, that it might be fulfilled which was spoken of the Lord by the prophete, saying, Out of Egypt haue I called my sonne.

Osee.11.a. Nu.24.k.

16 Then Herode, when hee sawe that hee was mocked of the wise men, was exceeding wroth, and sent forth, and slue all the chyldren that were in Bethlehem, and in all the coastes thereof, as many as were two yeeres olde and vnder, according to the time, which he had diligently searched out, of the wise men.

17 Then was fulfilled that which was spoken by Jeremie the prophete, saying, Jere.31.c.

18 In Rama was there a voyce hearde, lamentation, weeping, and great mourning, Rachell weeping (for) hir children, and would not be comforted, bycause they were not.

19 But when Herode was deade, beholde, an angell of the Lorde appeareth in a dreame to Joseph in Egypt, 20 Saying, Arise, and take the yong childe, and his mother, and goe into the lande of Israell: for they are deade whiche sought the yong childes life. Mark.1. Luke.2. John.1.

21 And hee arose, and toke the yong chylde and his mother, and came into the lande of Israell.

22 But when he hearde, that Archelaus did raigne in Jurie in the rome of his father Herode, he was afraide to go thither: notwithstanding, after hee was warned of God in a dreame, he turned aside into the parties of Galilee.

23 And when hee was come thyther, hee dwelt in a citie, which is called Nazareth, that it might be fulfilled, which was spoken by the prophetes, Hee shall be called a Nazarite.

The.iij. Chapter.

1. Iohns preaching, office, life, baptisme. 7. reprehending of the Pharisees. 13. and baptising of Christe in Iordane.

1 IN those days came John the Baptist, A Mark.1. Luke.3. John.1.

2 And saying, Repent (a) ye: for the kingdome of heauen is at hande.

3 For this is he, that was spoken of by the prophete Esaias, saying, The voyce of one crying in the wyldernesse, Prepare ye the waye of the Lorde, make ye his pathes straight. Mark.1. a. This is, after to be with to amend Esai.40.

4 This John had his rayment of Camels haire, and a leatherne gyrdle about hys loynes: his meate was locustes and wylde honny. 4.Re.1. Mark.1. 1.Re.14.

5 Then went out to him Jerusalem, and all Jury, & al the region roūd about Jordane.

6 And were baptised of him in Jordane, confessing their sinnes.

7 But when hee sawe many of the Pharisees and Saducees come to his baptisme, he sayde vnto them, O generation of vipers, who hath warned you to flee from the anger to come? B Luke.3.

8 Bring forth therefore fruites meete for repentance.

9 And be not of such mynde, that ye would say within your selues, We haue Abraham to (our) father: for I say vnto you, that God is able, of these stones to rayse vp children vnto Abraham.

10 Euen nowe is the axe also put vnto the roote of the trees: therefore, euerie tree whiche bringeth not forth good fruite, is hewen downe, and cast into the fire.

11 I baptise you in water vnto repentance: but he that commeth after me, is mightier than I, whose shoes I am not worthy to beare, he shall baptise you with the holie ghost, and with fire.

12 Whose fanne is in his hand, and he will throughly purge his floure, and gather his wheate into (his) garner: but will burne vp the chaffe with vnquenchable fire.

13 Then commeth Iesus from Galilee to Iordane, vnto Iohn, to be baptised of him.

14 But Iohn forbade him, saying, I haue neede to be baptised of thee, and commest thou to me?

15 Iesus answering, sayde vnto him, Suffer it to be so nowe: for thus it becommeth vs to fulfill all ryghteousnesse. Then hee suffered him.

16 And Iesus, when he was baptised, went vp straightway out of the water: and loe the heauens were opened vnto him, and (Iohn) sawe the spirite of God descending like a Doue, and lighting vpon him.

17 And loe there (came) a voyce from the heauens, saying, This is my dearely beloued sonne, in whome I am well pleased.

The.iiij. Chapter.

1. Christe fasteth, is tempted. 17. He beginneth to preach. 18. He calleth Peter, Andrewe, Iames, and Iohn, and healeth all the sicke.

1 Then was Iesus led vp of the spirite into wildernesse, to be tempted of the deuill.

2 And when hee had fasted fourtie dayes, and fourtie nyghtes, hee was afterwarde an hungred.

3 And when the tempter came to hym, hee sayde, If thou be the sonne of God, commaunde that these stones be made breade.

4 But he answered, and sayde, It is written, Man shall not liue by bread only but by euery worde that proceedeth out of the mouth of God.

5 Then the deuill taketh hym vp into the holie citie, and setteth hym on a pinnacle of the temple,

6 And sayth vnto him, If thou be the sonne of God, cast thy selfe downe: for it is written, that he shall giue his Angels charge ouer thee, and with their handes they shall lift thee vp, least at any time thou dash thy foote against a stone. Psal.91.c.

7 Iesus sayde vnto him, It is written agayne, Thou shalte not tempt the Lorde thy God. Deut.6.c. Luke.4.b.

8 Agayne the deuill taketh him vp into an exceeding highe mountayne, and sheweth him all the kingdomes of the worlde, and the glorie of them: B

9 And saith vnto him, All these things will I gyue thee, if thou wilt fall downe and worship me.

10 Then sayth Iesus vnto him, Get thee hence behinde me Satan: for it is written, Thou shalte worship the Lorde thy God, and him only shalt thou serue. Deut.6.c. 10.d. Luke.4.b. 1.Re.17.a.

11 Then the deuill leaueth him, and behold, the Angels came, and ministred vnto him. Mark.1.b.

12 When Iesus had heard that Iohn was (a)deliuered vp, he departed into Galilee, Mark.1.b. a. That is, cast in prison.

13 And when hee had left Nazareth, hee went and dwelt in Capernaum, which is (a citie) vpon the sea coast, in the borders of Zabulon and Nephthalim.

14 That it myght be fulfilled, which was spoken by Esaias the prophete, saying, C Esai.9.a.

15 The lande of Zabulon, and the land of Nephthalim, (by) the way of the sea beyonde Iordane, Galilee of the Gentiles.

16 The people, which sat in darkenesse, saw great light: and to them whiche sat in the region and shadowe of death, lyght is sprong vp.

17 From that time Iesus began to preach, and to say, Repent: for the kingdome of heauen is at hand. Mark.1.a. Matth.1.b

18 And Iesus walking by the sea of Galilee, sawe two brethren, Simon, which was called Peter, and Andrewe his brother, casting a nette into the sea (for they were fyshers.) Matth.3.a. Mark.1.b. The Gospell on S. Andrewes day.

19 And he sayth vnto them, Followe mee: and I will make you fishers of men. Jerr.16.d. Eze.47.b.

20 And they straightway left their nettes, and followed him.

21 And when hee was gone forth from thence, hee sawe other two brethren, Iames the sonne of Zebedee, and Iohn his brother, in the shippe with Zebedee their father, mending their nettes: and he called them. D

22 And they immediately left the ship and their father, and followed him. Luke.5.b.

23 And Jeſus went about all Galilee, teaching in their ſynagogues, and preaching the Goſpell of the kingdome, and healing all manner of ſickneſſe, and all manner of diſeaſe among the people.

24 And his fame ſpread abroade, throughout all Syria: and they brought vnto him all ſicke people that were taken with diuers diſeaſes, and gripings, and them that were poſſeſſed with deuils, and thoſe whiche were lunatike, and thoſe that had the paulſie, and he healed them.

Mark.3.a. b. A countrey conteyning tenne cities. 25 And there folowed him great multitudes of people, from Galilee, and (b) from Decapolis, and from Jeruſalem, and from Jurie, and from (the regions that lye) beyonde Jordane.

26 Verely I ſay vnto thee, thou ſhalt by no meanes comme out thence, till thou haſte payde the vttermoſt farthing.

27 Ye

27 Ye haue heard that it was sayde vnto them of olde time, Thou shalt not commit adulterie.

28 But I say vnto you, that whosoeuer loketh on a woman to lust after hir, hath committed adulterie with hir already in his heart.

29 If thy ryght eye offende thee, plucke it out, and cast it from thee: for it is profitable for thee, that one of thy members shuld perish, and not that thy whole body should be cast into hell.

30 And if thy right hande offende thee, cut it off, and cast it from thee: for it is profitable for thee, that one of thy members shoulde perishe, and not that all thy body should be cast into hell.

31 It hath bin sayd, Whosoeuer will put away his wife, let him giue hir a writing of diuorcement.

32 But I saye vnto you, that who so euer dothe put away hys wife, except it be for fornication, causeth hir to commit adulterie: and whosoeuer marieth hir that is diuorced, committeth adulterie.

33 Agayne, ye haue heard that it hath bene sayd vnto them of olde tyme, Thou shalte not forsweare thy selfe, but shalt perfourme vnto the Lord thyne othes.

34 But I say vnto you, Sweare not at al, neyther by heauen, for it is Gods seate:

35 Nor by the earthe, for it is his fotestole: neyther by Hierusalem, for it is the citie of the great king.

36 Neyther shalt thou sweare by thy head, bycause thou canst not make one heare white or blacke.

37 But let youre communication be yea, yea: nay, nay: for whatsoeuer is more than these, commeth of euill.

38 Ye haue heard that it hath bene sayde, An eye for an eye, and a toth for a toth.

39 But I say vnto you, that ye resist not euill: but whosoeuer will giue thee a blow on thy right cheeke, turne to him the other also.

40 And if any mā wil sue thee at the law, and take away thy coate, let him haue thy cloke also.

41 And whosoeuer will compell thee to goe a mile, goe with him twayne.

42 Giue to him that asketh thee: and from him that woulde borow of thee, turne not thou away.

43 Ye haue heard that it hathe bin sayde, Thou shalte loue thy neighbour, and hate thine enimie:

44 But I say vnto you, Loue your enimies, bleste them that curse you, doe good to them that hate you, pray for them which hurt you, and persecute you:

45 That ye may be the children of your father which is in heauen: for he maketh hys sunne to rise on the euill and on the good, & sendeth rayn on the iust and on ỹ vniust.

46 For if yee loue them whiche loue you, what reward haue ye? Do not the Publicanes euen the same? Luke.6.c.

2 Therefore, when thou doest thine almes, do not blowe a trumpet before thee, as hypocrites doe, in the synagogues, and in the streetes, that they might bee esteemed of men. Verily I saye vnto you, they haue their reward.

3 But when thou doest almes, let not thy left hand know, what thy right hād doeth:

4 That thine almes may be in secret: and thy father whiche seeth in secret, him selfe shall reward thee openly.

5 And when thou prayest, thou shalt not be as the hypocrites are: for they loue to pray standing in the synagogues, and in the corners of the streetes, that they may be seene of men. Verily I say vnto you, they haue their reward. 3.Reg.18.c. Esai.29.d.

6 But when thou prayest, enter into thy closet, and when thou hast shut thy doze, pray to thy father which is in secret, and thy father whiche seeth in secrete, shall reward thee openly. 4.Reg.4.f.

7 But when ye pray, babble not much, as the heathē do: for they think that they shal be heard, for their much bablings sake. B Esai.1.d.

8 Be not ye therefore like vnto them: for your father knoweth, what things ye haue neede of, before ye aske of him. Rom.8.d.

9 After this maner therfore pray ye: O our father which art in heauen halowed be thy name. Luke.11.a

10 Let thy kingdome come. Thy wyll be done, as well in earth, as it is in heauen.

11 Giue vs this day our dayly breade.
12 And forgyue vs our dettes, as we forgyue our detters.
13 And leade vs not into temptation, but deliuer vs from euill: for thine is the kingdome, and the power, and the glorie, for euer, Amen.
C 14 For, if ye forgiue men their trespalles, your heauenly father shal also forgiue you.

The Gospell on the first day in Lent. Esai.57.a. Math.9.d. Jere.17.b. 16 Moreouer, when ye fast, be not of an heauie countenance, as the hypocrites are: for they disfygure their faces, that they myght appeare vnto men to fast: Verely I say vnto you, they haue their reward.
17 But thou, when thou fastest, annoynt thyne heade, and wash thy face:
18 That thou appeare not vnto men to fast, but vnto thy father which is in secrete: and thy father which seeth in secrete, shall rewarde thee openly.
19 Heape not vp for your selues treasures vpon earth, where moth and rust doth corrupt, and where theeues breake thorowe, and steale.
Luke.12.d. Eccle.22.b. 20 But lay vp for you treasures in heauen, where neyther moth nor rust doth corrupt, and where theeues doe not breake through nor steale.
D 21 For where your treasure is, there wyll your heart be also.
Luke.11.c. 22 The candle of the body is the eye: wherfore if thyne eye be single, all thy body shal be full of light.
23 But if thyne eye be wicked, all thy body shall be full of darkenesse. Wherfore, if the light that is in thee be darkenesse, howe great is that darkenesse?
The Gospell on the. xb. sunday after Trinitie. Luke.16.c. 24 No man can serue two maisters: for either hee shall hate the one and loue the other, or else he shall leane to the one, and despise the other. Ye can not serue God, and (a) Mammon.
a. In the Syrian tong it signifieth money and lucre. Luke.12.c. Psal.55.d. 1.Pet.5.c. 25 Therefore I say vnto you, Be not carefull for your life, what ye shall eate or drinke, nor yet for your body what ye shall put on: Is not the lyfe more worth than meate? and the body than rayment?
26 Beholde the foules of the ayre: for they sowe not, neyther doe they reape, nor carrie into barnes, yet your heauenly father feedeth them. Are ye not muche better than they?
Luke.12.d. 27 Which of you by taking of careful thought, can adde one cubite vnto his stature?
28 And why care ye for rayment? Learne of the Lylies of the field, howe they growe: they weerie not (them selues) with labour: neyther (doe they) spinne. Lylies. C
29 And yet I say vnto you, that euen Solomon in all his royaltie, was not arayed like one of these.
30 Wherefore, if God so clothe the grasse of the fielde, which though it stande to daye, is to morowe cast into the Ouen: shall he not muche more (doe) the same for you, (O) ye of litle fayth?
31 Therfore take no thought, saying, What shall we eate? or, what shall we drinke? or, wherewith shall we be clothed?
32 (For after all these things doe the Gentiles seeke:) for your heauenly father knoweth that ye haue need of all these things.
33 But seeke ye first the kingdome of God, and his righteousnesse, and al these things shall be added vnto you.
34 Care not then for the morowe: for the morow shal care for it selfe: (b) Sufficient vnto the day, is the euill thereof. b. That is the present hath ynough of his own griefe or affliction.

The.vij. Chapter.

1. He forbiddeth foolishe and rashe iudgement. 5. reproueth hypocrisie. 7. exhorteth vnto prayer. 13. and to enter in at the straight gate. 15. warneth to beware of false prophetes. 24. and willeth the hearers of his worde, to be doers of the same.

1 IVdge ye not, that ye be not iudged. A Luke.6.
2 For with what iudgement ye iudge, ye shall be iudged: and with what measure ye meate, it shall be measured to you agayne. Rom. Luke.6.
3 Why seest thou the mote that is in thy brothers eye, but perceiuest not the beame that is in thine owne eye? Luke.6.
4 Or howe wilt thou say to thy brother, Suffer me, I wyll cast out a mote out of thyne eye: and beholde, the beame is in thine owne eye?
5 Thou hypocrite, first cast out the beame out of thyne owne eye, and then shalt thou see clearely to cast out the mote that is in thy brothers eye.
6 Gyue not (that) whiche is holie vnto the dogges, neither cast ye your pearles before the swyne: least they tread them vnder their feete, and turning agayne, all to rent you.
7 Aske ye, and it shall be gyuen you: seeke and ye shall finde: knocke, and it shall be opened vnto you. Jere.29. John.16. Luke.11.
8 For euery one that asketh, receiueth: and hee that seeketh, findeth: and to him that knocketh, it shall be opened.

9 What man is there of you, if hys sonne aske breade, wil he giue him a stone?
10 Or if he aske fyshe, will hee giue him a serpent?
11 If yee then being euil, knowe to giue your children good giftes: howe muche more wil your father which is in heauen, giue good things to them that aske him?
12 Therefore all thinges, whatsoeuer ye woulde that men shoulde doe to you, doe ye euen so to them: for this is the law and the prophetes.
13 Enter ye in at the strayte gate, for wyde is the gate, and brode is the way that leadeth to destruction, and many there be which goe in thereat:
14 Bycause strayte is the gate, and narow is the way whiche leadeth vnto lyfe, and fewe there be that finde it.
15 Beware of the false prophetes whiche come to you in sheepes clothing, but inwardly they are rauening Wolues.
16 Ye shall knowe them by their fruites: Doe men gather grapes of thornes? Or, figges of thistles?
17 Euen so, euery good tree, bringeth forth good fruite: but a corrupt tree, bryngeth forth euil fruite.
18 A good tree can not bring forth badde fruite, neither can a bad tree bring forth good fruite.
19 Euery tree that bringeth not forth good fruite is hewen down, & cast into the fire.
20 Wherefore, by their fruites yee shall knowe them.
21 Not euery one that saith vnto me, Lord, Lorde, shall enter into the kingdome of heauen: but he that dothe the wyl of my father which is in heauen.
22 Many wil say to me in that day, Lord, Lorde, haue we not prophesied (through) thy name? and (through) thy name haue cast out deuylles: and done many great workes (through) thy name?
23 And then will I confesse vnto them, That I neuer knewe you: Depart from me, ye that worke iniquitie.
24 Therefore, who so euer heareth of mee these sayings, and doth the same, I will liken him vnto a wise man, whiche built his house vpon a rocke:
25 And the rayne descended, and the flouds came, and the windes blewe, and bet vpon that house: and it fel not, bycause it was grounded on a rocke.
26 And euery one that heareth of me these sayings, and doth them not, shalbe likened vnto a foolish man, which buylt his house vpon the sande:
27 And the rayne descended, and the flouds came, and the wyndes blewe, and bet vpon that house, and it fel, & great was the fal of it. Ezec.13.b.
28 And it came to passe, when Jesus had ended these sayings, the people were astonied at his doctrine.

5 And when Jesus was entred into Capernaum, there came vnto him a Centurion, beseeching him, Luke.7.a. John.4.g.
6 And saying, Lorde, My seruant lyeth at home sicke of ỹ paulsie, greuously pained.
7 And Jesus sayth to him, When I come I wil heale him. B
8 The Centurion answered, and sayde, Lord, I am not worthie that thou shouldest come vnder my rofe: but speake the worde onely, & my seruant shal be healed. Psal.107.c
9 For I also my selfe am a man (set) vnder authoritie, hauyng souldiers vnder me: And I say to this man, Goe, & he goeth: & to another, Come, and he commeth: and to my seruant, Do this, & he doth it. D
10 When Jesus hearde (these things,) he marueled, and sayde to them that followed, Verely I say vnto you, I haue not founde so great fayth, no not in Israel.
11 I say vnto you, That many shall come from the East and West, and shall reast with Abraham, and Isahac, and Jacob in the kingdome of heauen: Luke.13.f. Esai.41.g.
12 But the children of the kingdome shal be cast out into vtter darknesse: there shal be weeping, and gnashing of teeth.

13 And Jesus sayde vnto the Centurion, Goe thy way, and as thou hast beleeued, so be it done vnto thee. And his seruaunte was healed in the selfe same houre.

C 14 And when Jesus was come into Peters house, he sawe his wiues mother laid, Mar.1.c. Luke.4.f. and sicke of a feuer:

15 And he touched hir hande, and the feuer left hir: and she arose, and ministred vnto them.

16 When the euen was come, they brought vnto him many that were possessed wyth deuils: and he cast out the spirites with a word, and healed al that were sicke.

23 And when Jesus came into the rulers house (of the synagogue) and saw the minstrels and the people making a noyse,

John.11.b.

24 He sayde vnto them, Giue place, for the mayde is not dead, but sleepeth: and they laughed him to scorne.

25 But when the people were put forth, he went in, and toke hir by the hand: and the mayde arose.

26 And the fame of this went abrode into al that lande.

27 And when Jesus departed thence, two blinde men followed him, crying, and saying, O thou sonne of Dauid haue mercie on vs.

28 And when he was come into the house, the blinde men came to him: and Jesus saith vnto thē, Beleeue ye that I am able to do this? They said vnto him, Yea lord. E

29 Then touched he their eyes, saying, According to your fayth, be it vnto you. Mat.8.b.

30 And their eyes were opened: and Jesus straightly charged them, saying, See that no man knowe (it.)

31 But they, when they were departed, spread abrode his name in al that lande.

32 As they went out, beholde, they brought to him a dumbe man, possessed vp a deuyl. Mar.7.d. Luke.11.a.

1 AND it came to passe, that when Iesus had made an end of commaunding his twelue disciples, he departed thence, to teache, and to preache in their cities.

2 When Iohn had hearde in the prison the workes of Christ, he sent two of his disciples,

3 And sayde vnto him, Art thou he that should come? Or do we loke for another?

4 Iesus answered, and sayde vnto them, Goe and shew Iohn againe those things which ye do heare and see:

5 The blinde receyue their sight, the hault doe walke, the leapers are cleansed and the deafe heare, the dead are raysed vp, and the poore haue the Gospell preached to them.

6 And happie is he whosoeuer shall not be offended in me.

7 And as they departed, Iesus began to say vnto the multitude concerning Iohn, What went ye out into the wyldernesse to see? A reede shaken with the wind?

8 Or what went ye out for to see? A man clothed in soft rayment? Behold, they that weare soft (clothing) are in kings houses.

9 But what went ye out for to see? A prophete? Yea, I say vnto you, and more excellent than a prophete.

10 For this is he of whom it is writte, Behold, I send my messenger before thy face, which shal prepare thy way before thee.

11 Verely I say vnto you, Among them that are borne of women, there hath not ryssen a greater than Iohn the Baptist: notwithstanding, he that is lesse in the kingdome of heauen, is greater than he.

12 From the dayes of Iohn the Baptist, vntill nowe, the kingdome of heauen sufferyth violence, and the violent plucke it (vnto them.)

13 For all the prophetes, and the lawe it selfe, prophesied vnto Iohn.

14 And if ye will receyue it, this is Elias which was for to come.

15 He that hath eares to heare let him heare.

16 But wherevnto shall I lyken this generation? It is lyke vnto little children, sitting in the markets, and callyng vnto their felowes, 17 And saying, We haue pyped vnto you, & ye haue not daunced: we haue (a) mourned vnto you, and ye haue not followed.

18 For Iohn came neither eating nor drinking, and they say, He hath a deuyl.

19 The sonne of man came eating & drinking, and they say, Behold a man glutonous, and a wine bibber, and a friende vnto publicanes and synners: and wysedome was iustified of hir children.

20 Then began he to vpbrayde the cities, wherein most of his mightie workes were done, bycause they repented not.

21 Wo vnto thee Chorazin, wo vnto thee Bethsaida: for if the mightie workes whiche were done in you, had bin done in Tyre and Sidon, they would haue repented long agoe in sackecloth and ashes.

22 But I say vnto you, It shall be easyer for Tyre and Sidon, at the day of iudgement, than for you.

23 And thou Capernaum, whiche hast bin lyfted vp vnto heauen, shalt be draught downe to hel: for if the mightie workes which haue bin done in thee, had bin done among them of Sodome, they would haue remayned vntil this day.

24 But I say vnto you, That it shal be easyer for the lande of Sodome, in the day of iudgement, than for thee.

25 At that time Iesus answered, and said, I thanke thee, O father, Lord of heauen & earth, bycause thou hast hid these things from the wise & prudent, and hast shewed them vnto babes.

26 Euen so, O father, for so was it thy good pleasure.

27 All things are giuen vnto me of my father: and no man knoweth the sonne, but the father; neither knoweth any man the father, saue the sonne, and he to whom so euer the sonne wil open (him.)

28 Come vnto me all ye that labour & are laden, and I wil ease you.

29 Take my yoke vpon you, and learne of me, for I am meeke and lowly in harte: and ye shal finde rest vnto your soules.

30 For

(a) We haue song mourning songs vnto you.

1.John.5.a. 30 For my yoke is easie, and my burden is light.

The.xij.Chapter.

1 Christe excuseth his disciples which plucke the eares of corne. 10. He healeth the dryed hand, 22. helpeth the possessed that was blind and dumbe. 31. Blasphemie. 34. The generatiō of vipers. 35. Of good wordes. 36. Of idle wordes. 38. He rebuketh the vnfaythful that would needes haue tokens, 49. and sheweth who is his brother, syster, and mother.

I 1 AT that time, Jesus went on the Sabboth dayes through the corne: and his Mark.2.d. Deut.23.d. disciples were an hungred, and began to plucke the eares of corne, and to eate.

2 But when the Pharisees sawe (them,) they sayde vnto him, Behold, thy disciples doe that which is not lawfull to do vppon the Sabboth day.

3 But he sayde vnto them, haue ye not read what Dauid did whē he was an hungred, and they that were with him,

1.Sam.21.a 4 Howe he entred into the house of God, and did eate the shew bread, which was not lawefull for him to eate, neyther for them which were with him, but onely for the priestes?

5 Or haue yee not read in the lawe, howe that on the Sabboth dayes, the priestes in the temple (a) prophane the Saboth, and are blameleſſe?

a. That is, do vncleane workes.

6 But I say vnto you, That in this place is (one) greater than the temple.

B 7 But if ye had knowen what this meaneth, I wil mercy, and not sacrifice: yee
Mar.11.b. Osee.6.b. would not haue condemned the giltlesse.

8 For the sonne of manne is Lorde of the Sabboth day.

Mark.3.a. 9 And when he was departed thence he went into their synagogue,

10 And beholde, there was a man whiche had his hande dryed vp, & they asked him,
Luke.14.a. saying, Is it lawfull to heale vppon the Sabboth dayes? ỹ they might accuse him.

Deut.22.a. 11 And he saide vnto them, What man of you wil there be ỹ shal haue one sheepe: and if it fal into a pit on ỹ Sabboth day, wil he not take holde of it, and lift it out?

12 Howe much more then is a man better than a sheepe? Wherefore it is lawful to do wel on the Saboth dayes.

13 Then sayth he to the man, Stretch forth thy hande. And he stretched it forth and it was restored whole, like as the other.

C 14 Then the Pharisees went out, and held a counsel against him howe they might destroy him.
Mark.3.a. John.10.a.

15 But when Jesus knew (it) he departed thence: and great multitudes folowed him, and he healed them al,

16 And charged them that they should not make him knowen:

17 That it might be fulfilled which was spoken by Esaias the prophete, saying,

18 Behold my child whom I haue chosen, my beloued, in whom my soule well delighteth: I wil put my spirite vpon him, & he shal shew iudgement to the Gentiles.
Elai.42.

19 He shal not strine, nor crye, neither shal any man heare his voyce in the streetes.

20 A bruised reede shall he not breake, and smoking flaxe shal he not quenche, tyl he sende forth iudgement vnto victorie:

21 And in his name shal ỹ Gentiles trust. D

22 Then was brought to him one possessed with a deuil, blinde and dumbe: and he healed him, insomuch that the blynde and dumbe both spake and sawe.
Luke.11.

23 And all the people were amased, and sayde, Is not this that sonne of Dauid?

24 But when the Pharisees heard (it,) they sayde. This (felowe) doth not cast out the deuils, but by Beelzebub the prince of the deuils.
Mat.12. Mark.3. Luke.11.

25 But when Jesus knew their thoughts, he sayde vnto them, Euery kingdome diuided against it selfe, is brought to desolation: and euery citie or house diuided against it selfe, shal not stande.

26 And if Satan cast out Satan, then were he diuided against him selfe: howe shall then his kingdome endure?

27 And if I by Beelzebub caste out deuils, by whom do your children cast them out? Therefore they shal be your iudges.

28 But if I cast out the deuils by the spirite of God, thē is the kingdome of God come vpon you. E 29 Or els how can one enter into a strong mans house, and spoyle his goodes: except he fyrst binde the strong man, and then wil spoyle his house?

Luke.11.

30 He that is not with mee, is against me: and he that gathereth not with me, scattereth abrode.

31 Wherefore I say vnto you, All maner of sinne & blasphemie shal be forgiuen vnto men: but the blasphemie against the (holy) spirite, shal not be forgiuen vnto men.
Mark.3. Luke.12.

32 And whosoeuer speaketh a worde against the sonne of man, it shal be forgiuen him: but whosoeuer speaketh against the holy ghost, it shal not be forgiuen him, neither ther in this worlde, neither in the worlde to come.

33 Either make the tree good, and his fruit good: or else make the tree euill, and his fruite euill: For the tree is knowen by his fruite.

34 O generation of vipers, howe can ye speake good thinges, when ye your selues are euil? For out of the abundance of the hart, the mouth speaketh.

35 A good man out of the good treasure of the hart, bringeth forth good things: and an euil man out of euil treasure, bringeth forth euil things.

36 But I say vnto you, That of euery idle word that men shal speake, they shal giue accompt thereof in the day of iudgement.

37 For of thy words thou shalt be iustified, and of thy words thou shalt be condemned.

38 Then certaine of the Scribes and of the Pharisees, answered him, saying, Maister, we wil see a signe of thee.

39 But he answered, and sayde to them, An euil & adulterous generation seeketh a signe, and there shal no signe be giuen to it, but the signe of the prophete Jonas.

40 For as Jonas was three dayes and three nightes in the Whales belly: so shal the sonne of man be three dayes and three nightes in the hart of the earth.

41 The menne of Niniue shall rise in the iudgement with this nation, and condemne it: because they repented at the preaching of Jonas, and beholde here (is) one greater than Jonas?

42 The queene of the South shal rise in the iudgement with this generation, and shall condemne it: for she came frō the vttermost partes of the earth, to heare the wisdome of Solomon, and behold in this place (is) one greater than Solomon.

43 When the vncleane spirite is gone out of a man, he walketh throughout drye places, seeking rest, and findeth none.

44 Then he sayth, I will returne into my house from whence I came out. And when he is come, he fyndeth it emptie, swept, and garnished.

45 Then goeth he, and taketh with hym selfe seuen other spirites worse than hym selfe, and they enter in, and dwel there: and the last state of that man is worse than the first. Euen so shal it be also vnto this frowarde generation.

46 While he yet talked to ỳ people, behold, his mother and his brethren stode without, desyring to speake with him.

47 Then one sayde vnto him, Behold, thy mother and thy brethren stande without, desyring to speake with thee.

48 But he answered, and sayde vnto him that tolde him, Who is my mother? or who are my brethren?

49 And when he had stretched forth his hande towarde his disciples, he sayd, Behold my mother and my brethren.

50 For whosoeuer shall doe the wil of my father which is in heauen, the same is my brother, and syster, and mother.

The.xiij.Chapter.

3. The parable of the seede. 24. of the tares. 31. of the mustarde seede. 33. of the leauen, 44. of of the treasure hidde in the fielde, 45. of the pearles, 47. and of the nette.

1 THe same day when Jesus was gone out of the house, he sate by ỳ sea side.

2 And greate multitudes were gathered together vnto him, (so) that he went into the ship and sate, and the whole multitude stode on the shore.

3 And he spake many things to them in parables, saying, Beholde, the Sower went forth to sowe.

4 And when he sowed, some seedes fel by the wayes side: and the foules came, and deuoured them vp.

5 Some fel vpon stony places, where they had not much earth: & anone they sprong vp because they had no depnesse of earth.

6 And whē the sunne was vp, they caught heate: and because they had not wete, they wythered away.

7 Againe, some fell among thornes: and the thornes sprong vp, and choked them.

8 But some fell into good grounde: and brought forth fruite, some an hundred folde, some sixtie folde, some thirtie folde.

9 Who hath eares to heare, let him heare.

10 And the disciples came, and sayde vnto him, Why speakest ỹ to them by parables?

11 He answered, and sayd vnto them, Because it is giuen vnto you to knowe the secretes of the kingdome of heauen, but to them it is not giuen.

12 For whosoeuer hath, to him shal be giuē, and he shall haue more abundance: but whosoeuer hath not, from him shal be taken away, euen that he hath.

13 Therfore speake I to them in parables: because they seeing, see not: and hearing, they heare not, neyther doe they vnderstande.

14 And in them is fulfylled the prophecie of Esaias, which saith, With the eare ye shal heare & shal not vnderstande, and seing, ye shal see and shal not perceiue.

15 For this peoples hart is waxed grosse and their eares are dull of hearing, and their eyes haue they closed: least at any time they should see with their eyes, and heare with their eares, and should vnderstande with their hart, and should conuert, that I might heale them.

Luke.10.b. 1.Pet.1.d. 16 But blessed are your eyes, for they see and your eares, for they heare.

17 Verily I say vnto you, that many prophetes and righteous men haue desyred to see those things which ye see, and haue not seene: and to heare those things which ye heare and haue not heard.

Mar.4.b. Luke.8.d. 18 Heare ye therefore the similitude of the Sower, 19 When one heareth the worde of the kingdome, and vnderstandeth it not, then commeth that euil, & catcheth away that which was sowen in his hart: this is he whiche receiued seede by the way side.

20 But he that receiued the seede into stonie places, the same is he that heareth the word, and anon with ioy receiueth it:

D 21 Yet hath he not rote in him selfe, but dureth for a season: for when tribulation or persecutiō aryseth because of the word, by and by he is offended.

22 He also that receiued seede into the thornes, is he that heareth the worde, and the care of this worlde, and the deceitfulnesse of riches, choake vp the word, and so is he made vnfruitful.

23 But he that receiued seede into the good grounde, is he that heareth the word, and vnderstādeth it, which also beareth fruite, and bringeth forth, some an hundred fold, some sixtie folde, some thirtie fold.

Mar.4.c. 24 Another parable put he forth vnto thē, saying, The kingdome of heauen is likened vnto a man, whiche sowed good seede in his fielde.

25 But while men slept, his enimie came and sowed tares among the wheate, and went his way.

26 But when the blade was sprong vp, and had brought forth fruite, then appeared the tares also.

27 So the seruauntes of the householder came and saide vnto him, Syr, diddest not thou sowe good seede in thy fielde? from whence then hath it tares?

E 28 He sayd vnto them, The malicious man hath done this. The seruauntes sayd vnto him, Wilt thou then that we goe, and gather them vp?

29 But he sayd, Nay, least while ye gather vp the tares, ye rote vp also the wheate with them:

30 Let both growe together vntil the harueste: and in time of haruest, I wil say to the reapers, Gather ye together fyrst the tares, and bynde them in bundels to burne them: but carie the wheate into my barne.

31 Another parable put he forth vnto thē, Mar.4.f. saying, The kingdome of heauen is like Luke.13. to a grayne of mustarde seede, whiche a man toke and sowed in his fielde.

32 Which in deede is the least of al seedes: but when it is growen, it is the greatest among herbes, and is a tree, (so) that the byrdes of the ayre come and make theyr nestes in the branches therof.

33 Another parable spake he vnto them, Luke.13. (saying,) The kingdome of heauen is like vnto leauen, which a womā toke, & hid in three peckes of meale, til al were leauened.

34 Al these thinges spake Jesus vnto the Mar.4.d people in parables, and without a parable spake he not vnto them:

35 That it might be fulfilled whiche was F spoken by the prophete, saying, I wyll o- Psal.78. pen my mouth in parables, I will speake forth things whiche haue bin kept secrete from the foundation of the worlde.

36 Then Jesus, when he had sent the peo- Mark.4. ple away, went into the house: and his disciples came vnto him, saying, declare vnto vs the parable of the tares of the fielde.

37 He answered & said vnto them, He that soweth the good seede, is the son of man.

38 The fielde, is the worlde. The good seede, these are ỹ children of the kingdome: but the tares, are the children of the wicked.

39 And the enimie that sowed them, is the deuil. The haruest, is the end of the worlde, The reapers, be the angels.

40 Euen as the tares therefore are gathered and brent in the fyre: so shall it be in the end of this worlde.

41 The sonne of man shall sende forth his Apo.14.d angels, and (they) shall gather out of his kingdome, all things that offende, and them which do iniquitie:

42 And shal cast thē into a furnace of fire: ther shal be wayling, & gnashing of teeth.

43 Then shall the righteous shyne as the Dan.12.d sunne in the kingdome of their father. Sapi.3.d 1.Cor.15.f Who hath eares to heare, let him heare.

44 Againe, the kingdome of heauen, is like vnto treasure hyd in the fielde: the whiche when a man hath founde, hydeth, and for ioy therof, goeth and selleth al that he hath, and byeth that fielde.

45 Againe

45 Agayne, the kingdome of heauen is like vnto a marchant man, seeking goodly pearles.

46 Which when he had founde one pretious pearle, went and solde al that he had, and bought it.

47 Agayn, the kingdome of heauen is like vnto a net that was cast into the sea, and gathered of al kinde:

48 Whiche when it was full, (the fishers) drew to land, and sate down, and gathered the good into vessels: but cast the bad away.

49 So shal it be at the ende of the world: the angels shal come forth, and seuer the bad from among the iust, 50 And shal cast them into a furnace of fire: there shall be wayling and gnashing of teeth.

51 Jesus saith vnto them, Haue ye vnderstande all these things? They say vnto him, Yea Lorde.

52 Then saide he vnto them, Therfore euery scribe which is taught in ỹ kingdome of heauen, is like vnto a man that is an householder, which bringeth forth out of his treasure things newe and olde.

53 And it came to passe, that when Jesus hadde finished these parables, he departed thence.

54 And when he came into his own countrey, he taught them in their synagogue, in so muche, that they were astonied, and saide, Whence commeth this wisedome and mightie workes vnto him?

55 Is not this the carpenters sonne? Is not his mother called Marie? and his brethren, James, and Joses, and Simon, and Judas?

56 And are not all his sisters wyth vs? whence hath he then all these things?

57 And they were offended in him. But Jesus saide vnto them, A prophete is not without honour, saue in his owne countrey, and in his owne house.

58 And he did not many mightie workes there, because of their vnbeliefe.

The.xiiij. Chapter.

10. Iohn is taken and beheaded. 19. Christ feedeth fiue thousande men with fiue loaues. and two fishes, 25. and appeareth by night vnto his disciples vpon the sea.

1 AT that time Herode the Tetrarche hearde of the fame of Jesu:

2 And saide vnto his seruauntes, This is John the Baptist, he is risen from the dead, and therefore great workes do shew forth themselues in him.

3 For Herode when he had taken John, he bounde him, and put him in prison for Herodias sake, his brother Philips wife.

4 For John said vnto him, It is not lawfull for thee to haue hir. Marke.6.f. Luke.3.d. Leui.18.c.

5 And when he woulde haue put him to death, he feared the people: because they counted him as a prophete. Mat.21.b.

6 But when Herodes birth day was kept, the daughter of Herodias daunced before them, and pleased Herode. Gen.40.d.

7 Wherefore he promised with an othe, to giue hir what soeuer she woulde aske. B

8 And she, being before instructed of hir mother, saide, Giue me here John Baptistes head in a platter, Marke.6.f. or entised of induced.

9 And the king was sory: neuertheless, for the othes sake, and them which sat also at the table, he commaunded it to be giuen hir:

10 And sente (a tormenter) and beheaded John in the prison.

11 And his heade was brought in a platter, and giuē to the damsell and (she) brought it to hir mother.

12 And his disciples came, and toke vp his body, and buried it: and went and tolde Jesus.

13 When Jesus hearde of it, he departed thence in a ship, vnto a desart place out of the way: and when the people had heard thereof, they followed him on foote out of the cities. Marke.6.d. Luke.9.d. John.6.a.

14 And when Jesus went forth, he sawe muche people, and was moued wyth mercie towarde them, and he healed their sicke. C

15 And when it was euening, his disciples came to him saying, This is a desart place, and the houre is nowe past: let the people depart, that they may goe into the villages, and buye them vitayles.

16 But Jesus said vnto them, They haue no neede to goe away: giue ye them to eate.

17 They say vnto him, We haue not here but fiue loaues, and two fishes, 18 He said, Bring them hither to me.

19 And when he had commaunded the people to sit down on the grasse, and had taken the fiue loaues, and the two fishes, and lifted vp his eyes toward heauen, he blessed: and when he had broken (them) he gaue the loaues to his disciples, and his disciples to the people.

20 And they did al eate, and were sufficed:

And they toke vp (of the fragmentes that remayned) twelue baskettes full.

D 21 And they that had eaten, were about fiue thousande men, beside women and chyldren.

Mar.6.f. Ioh.6.b. 22 And straightway Iesus constrayned his disciples to get vp into a ship, and to goe before him vnto the other side, whyle he sent the people away.

Luke.6.c. 23 And when he had sent the people away, he went vp into a mountaine alone to pray: and when night was come, he was there him selfe alone.

24 But the ship was nowe in the middest of the sea, and was toss with the waues: for it was a contrary winde.

25 And in the fourth watche of the nighte, Iesus went vnto the, walking on the sea.

26 And when the disciples sawe him walking on the sea, they were troubled, saying, That it is a spirite: and they cryed out for feare.

27 But straightwaye Iesus spake vnto them saying, Be of good cheare: it is I, be not afraide.

E 28 Peter answered him, and saide, Lorde, if it be thou, bid me come vnto thee on the water.

29 And he sayde, Come. And when Peter was come downe out of the shippe, he walked on the water to goe to Iesus.

30 But when he sawe a mightie winde, he was afrayde: and when he beganne to sincke, he cryed, saying, Lord saue me.

31 And immediatly Iesus, when he hadde stretched forth his hande, caught hym, and said vnto him, O thou of little faith, wherefore diddest thou doubt?

Mark.6.g. 32 And when they were come into the ship, the winde ceassed.

33 Then they that were in the ship, came and worshipped him, saying, Of a truthe thou art the sonne of God.

34 And when they were gonne ouer, they came into the lande of Genezaret.

35 And when the men of that place hadde knowledge of him, they sent out into all that countrey rounde about, and brought vnto him all that were sicke, 36 And besought him that they myght touche the hemme of his garmente only: and as many as touched, were made perfectly whole.

The.xv. Chapter.

3. Christ excuseth his disciples, and rebuketh the Scribes and Pharisees for transgressing Gods commaundement through their owne traditions, 18. the thing that goeth into the mouth, defileth not the man, 22. he deliuereth the woman of Cananees daughter, 30. healeth the multitude, 36. and with seuen loaues, and a fewe little fishes, feedeth foure thousande men, beside women and children.

1 Then came to Iesus Scribes & Pharisees, which were come from Ierusalem, saying. I Marke.7.

2 Why doe thy disciples transgresse the tradition of the elders? for they washe not their handes when they eate bread.

3 But he answered, and saide vnto them, Why do ye also transgresse the commaundement of God by your tradition?

4 For God commaunded, saying, Honor thy father and thy mother. And he that curseth father or mother, let him dye the death. Exo.20.l Mark.7.h

5 But ye say, whosoeuer shall say to his father or his mother, By the gyft that (is offered) of me, thou shalt be helped. Exod.21 Ephe.6.b Deut.5.b

6 And so shall he not honour his father or his mother. And thus haue ye made the commaundement of God of none effect by your tradition.

7 Ye hypocrites, full well did Esaias prophecie of you, saying. B Esai.29 Ierr.31.f Mar.7.b

8 This people draweth nigh vnto me with their mouth, and honoureth mee wyth their lippes: howebeit their hart is farre from me.

9 But in vaine do they worship me, teaching doctrines, preceptes of men.

10 And when he had called the people to him, he sayde vnto them, Heare and vnderstande.

11 That which goeth into the mouth, defileth not the man: but that which commeth out of the mouth, defileth the man.

12 Then came his disciples, and sayd vnto him, Knowest thou not that ỹ Pharisees were offended after they heard this saying?

13 But he answered and sayde, All manner planting which my heauenly father hath not planted, shal be rooted vp.

14 Let them alone: they be blinde leaders of the blinde. If the blinde leade ỹ blinde both shal fal into the ditche.

15 Then answered Peter, and sayde vnto him, Declare vnto vs this parable.

16 Iesus sayde, Are ye also yet without vnderstanding?

17 Do not ye yet vnderstande, that whatsoeuer entreth in at the mouth, goeth into the bely, and is cast out into the draught.

18 But

18 But those things which proceede out of the mouth, come forth from the hart, and they defyle the man.

19 For out of the hart proceed euil thoughtes, murders, adulteries, whordomes, theftes, false witnesse, blasphemies.

20 These are the thinges whiche defile a man: but to eate with vnwashen handes, defileth not a man.

21 And Jesus, when he went thence, departed into the coastes of Tyre & Sidon.

22 And behold, a woman of the Chanaanites, which came out of the same coastes, cryed vnto him, saying, Haue mercie on me, O Lorde, thou sonne of Dauid, my daughter is greuously vexed with a deuil.

23 But he answered hir not a word. And his disciples came, and besought hym, saying, Sende hir away, for she cryeth after vs.

24 But he answered, and saide, I am not sent but vnto the lost shepe of the house of Israel.

25 Then came she, and worshipped hym, saying, Lord, helpe me.

26 But he answered, and saide, It is not meete to take the childrens bread, and to cast it to litle dogges.

27 And she saide, Yes Lorde, for the litle dogges also eate of the crummes which fall from their maisters table.

28 Then Jesus answered, and sayde, vnto hir, O woman, great is thy faith: be it done vnto thee euen as thou wilt. And hir daughter was made whole euen from that same houre.

29 And Jesus, when he was departed frō thence, came nigh vnto the sea of Galilee, and when he was gone vp into a mountayne, he sate downe there.

30 Then great multitudes came vnto him, hauing with them those that were lame, blinde, dumbe, maymed, and other many, and cast them downe at Jesus feete, and he healed them:

31 In so muche that the people wondred, when they sawe the dumbe speake, the maymed to be whole, the lame to walke and the blinde to see: and they glorified the God of Israel.

32 Then Jesus called his disciples vnto him, and saide, I haue compassion on the people, bycause they continue with me nowe three dayes, and haue nothing to eate: and I will not let them departe fasting, lest they faint in the way.

33 And his disciples say vnto him, Whence (shoulde wee get) so muche breade in the wylderneſſe, as to ſuffile ſo great a multitude?

34 And Jesus sayth vnto thē, How many loaues haue ye? And they saide, Seuen, and a fewe little fishes. Mat.16.b.

35 And he commaunded the people to sitte downe on the grounde. F

36 And whē he had taken the seuen loaues, and the fishes, and had giuen thankes, he brake (them) and gaue to his disciples: & the disciples gaue them to the people.

37 And they did al eate, and were suffised: and they toke vp of the broken meate that was left, seuen baskettes ful.

38 And yet they that did eate, were foure thousande men, beside women and children.

39 And when he had sent away the people, he toke shippe, and came into the parties of Magdala.

1. The Pharisees require a token. 6 Iesus warneth his disciples of the Pharisees doctrine. 16. The confession of Peter. 19. the keyes of heauen, 24. the faithful must beare the crosse after Christ.

1 THe Pharisees also, with the Sadducees, came, and tēpting, desired hym that he woulde shewe them a signe from heauen. Mar.8.b. John.6.D. Luke.11.D. Luke.12.g.

2 He answered, and said vnto them, Whē it is euening, ye say, (it wil be) fayre weather: for the skie is read.

3 And in the morning (it wil be) foule weather to day: for the skye is lowring read. O ye hypocrites, ye can discerne the outwarde appearance of the skye: but can ye not discerne the signes of the times?

14 They sayde, Some say (that thou art) John Baptist, some Elias, some Jeremias, or one of the prophetes.
15 He saith vnto them, But whom say ye that I am?
16 Simon Peter answered, and said, Thou art Christ, the sonne of the liuing God.

22 And when Peter had taken him aside, he began to rebuke him saying, Lord, fauour thy selfe, this shal not be vnto thee.
23 But he turned him about and saide vnto Peter, Goe after me Satan, thou art an offence vnto me: for thou fauourest not the things that (be) of God, but those that (be) of men.
24 Then saide Jesus vnto his diciples, If any man wil go after me, let him forsake him selfe, and take vp his crosse, and followe me.

2. The transfiguration of Christ. 15. he healeth the lunaticke. 27. and payeth tribute.

1 AND after sixe dayes, Jesus taketh Peter, James, and John his brother, and bringeth them vp into an high mountaine, out of the way.

3 And beholde, there appeared vnto them Moses and Elias, talking with him.
4 Then answered Peter, and saide vnto Jesus, Lorde, it is good for vs to be here. If thou wilt, let vs make here three tabernacles: one for thee, and one for Moses, and one for Elias.
5 While he yet spake, beholde a bright cloude ouershadowed them: and beholde, (there came) a voyce out of the cloude, which saide, This is my beloued sonne, in whom I am wel pleased, heare ye him.
Mat.3.d. and.11.b. Esai.42.a. Deut.18.c.

B
8 And when they had lift vp their eyes, they sawe no man, saue Jesus only.
Mar.9.a.
9 And when they came downe from the mountaine, Jesus charged them, saying, Shewe the vision to no manne, vntil the sonne of manne be risen againe from the dead.
10 And his disciples asked him, saying, Why then say the Scribes that Elias must first come?
11 Jesus answered, and saide vnto them, Elias truely shal first come and restore al things.

things:

12 But I saye vnto you, ỹ Elias is come already, and they knew him not, but haue donne vnto him what so euer they lusted: Likewise shall also the sonne of manne suffer of them.

13 Then the disciples vnderstode that he spake vnto them of John Baptiste.

C 14 And when they were come to the people, there came to him a certaine man, kneeling downe to him, and saying, 15 Lord haue mercie on my sonne, for he is lunaticke, and sore vexed: for oft times he falleth into the fire, and oft into the water.

16 And I brought him to thy disciples, and they coulde not heale him.

17 Jesus answered, and saide, O faithlesse & peruerse nation, how long shall I be with you? howe long shall I suffer you? bring him hither to me.

18 And Jesus rebuked the deuill, and he departed out of him: and the childe was healed euen that same time.

19 Then came the disciples to Jesus secretly, and saide, Why could not we cast him out?

20 Jesus said vnto them, Bycause of your vnbeliefe: for verily I say vnto you, If ye haue faith "as a grain of mustard seede, ye shal say vnto this mountaine, Remoue hence to yonder place: and it shal remoue, neyther shall any thing be vnpossible vnto you.

21 How be it, this kinde "goeth not out but by prayer and fasting.

D 22 While they were conuersant in Galilee, Jesus saide vnto them, It will come to passe, that the son of mã shal be betrayed into the handes of men:

23 And they shall kill him, and the thirde day shal he ryse again. And they were exceeding sory.

24 And when they were come to Capernaum, they that receiued tribute money, came to Peter, and saide, Doth not your maister pay tribute?

25 He saith, Yes. And when he was come into the house, Jesus preuented him, saying, What thinkest thou Simon? of whō doe the kings of the earth take tribute or toll? of their owne children, or of the strangers?

26 Peter saith vnto him, Of the strangers. Jesus saith vnto him, Then are the children free.

27 Notwithstanding, lest we should offend them, goe thou to the sea, and cast an hooke, and take vp the fishe that first commeth vp: and when thou hast opened his mouth, thou shalt finde a peece of twentie pence: that take, and giue it vnto them for me, and thee.

The.xviij.Chapter.

3. He teacheth his disciples to be humble and harmelesse. 6. to auoyde occasions of euil, 21. and one to forgiue anothers offence.

1 AT the same time came the disciples vnto Jesus, saying, Who is the greatest in the kingdome of heauen?

2 Jesus called a little child vnto him, and set him in the middes of them,

3 And saide, Verily I say vnto you, Except ye turne, and become as little children, ye shal not enter into the kingdome of heauen.

4 Who so euer therefore shall humble him selfe as this little childe, the same is the greatest in the kingdome of heauen.

And who so shal receiue such a little child in my name, receiueth me.

6 But whoso shal offend one of these little ones which beleeue in me, it were better for him that a mylstone were hanged about his necke and that he were drowned in the deapth of the sea.

7 Wo vnto the worlde bycause of offences, it must needes be that offences come: but wo to that man by whome the offence commeth.

8 If thy hande or thy foote offende thee (a) cut them off, and cast (them) from thee: it is better for thee to enter into life halte or maymed, (rather) than thou shuldest, hauing two handes or two feete, be cast into the euerlasting fyre.

9 And if thine eye offende thee, plucke it out, and cast (it) from thee: it is better for thee to enter into life with one eye, (rather) than hauing two eyes, to be cast into hel fire.

10 Take heede that ye dispise not one of these little ones: for I say vnto you, that in heauen their (b) angels doe alwayes beholde the face of my father which is in heauen.

11 For the sonne of man is come to saue that which was lost.

12 Howe thinke ye? If a man haue an hundred sheepe, and one of them be gonne astray, doth he not leaue those nintie and nine, and goeth into the mountaines, & seeketh that which went astray?

The Gospel on the .xxii. Sunday after Trinitie.

21 Then came Peter vnto him, & said, Lord, howe oft shall my brother sinne against me, and I forgiue him? til seuen times?

22 Iesus sayth vnto him, I say not vnto thee, vntil seuen times: but vntil seuentie times seuen.

23 Therefore is the kingdome of heauen likened vnto a certaine man that was a king whiche woulde take accompt of his seruantes.

24 And when he had begunne to recken, one was brought vnto him, which ought him tenne thousande talentes.

25 But for asmuch as he had not to pay, his Lorde commaunded him to be solde, and his wife, and children, and all that he had, and (payment) to be made.

26 The seruant therefore fell downe, and besought him, saying, Lorde, haue patience with me, and I wil pay thee all.

27 Then the Lord of that seruant moued with pitie, losed him, and forgaue him the dette.

28 But the same seruant went out, and founde one of his felowes whiche ought him an hundred pence: and when he had layde handes on him, he toke him by the throte, saying, Pay (me) that thou owest.

29 And his felowe fel downe at his feete, and besought him, saying, Haue patience with me, and I wil pay thee all.

30 And he woulde not: but went and cast him into prison, til he shoulde pay the det.

31 So when his felowes sawe that was done, they were very sory: and came, and tolde vnto their Lorde al that was done.

32 Then his Lord, after that he had called him, saide vnto him, O thou vngratious seruant, I forgaue thee al that dette when thou desiredst me:

33 Shouldest not thou also haue had compassion on thy felowe, euen as I had pitie on thee?

34 And his Lord was wroth, and deliuered him to the tormentours, tyll he should pay al that was due vnto him.

35 So likewise shall my heauenly father doe also vnto you, if ye from your hartes forgiue not euery one his brother their trespasses.

The.xix.Chapter.

4. Christ giueth answere concerning mary-age, 21. and teacheth, not to be careful, 22. nor to loue worldly riches.

1 AND it came to passe, that when Iesus had finished these sayings, he gat him from Galilee, and came into the coastes of Iurie beyond Iordane.

A Mar.10.a.

2 And great multitudes followed him, and he healed them there.

3 The Pharisees also came vnto him, tempting him, & saying vnto him, Is it lawful for a man to put away his wife for euery cause?

4 He answered, and said vnto them, Haue yee not read, that hee whche created at the beginning, made them male and female?

Gene.1.d. Ephe.5.g. 1.Cor.6.d.

5 And saide, For this cause shall a manne leaue his father and his mother, and shall be knit to his wife, and they twaine shall be one flesh.

6 Wherfore they are no more twaine, but one flesh. Let not man therefore put a sunder, that which God hath coupled together

7 They say vnto him, Why did Moses then commaunde to giue a writing of diuorcement, and to put her away?

B

8 He saide vnto them, Moses, because of the hardnesse of your hartes, suffered you to put away your wiues, but from the begin-beginning it was not so.

9 I say vnto you, Whosoeuer shal put away his wife, except it be for fornication, and shall marry another, committeth adultery: and whosoeuer marryeth her which is diuorced, doth commit adulterie.

10 His disciples say vnto him, If the case of the man be so with his wife, (then) is it good not to marry.

11 But he saide vnto them, All men cannot receiue this saying, saue they to whom it is giuen.

12 For there are some chaste, which were so borne out of their mothers wombe: and there are some chaste, whiche were made chaste of men: and there be chaste, whiche haue made them selues chaste for the kingdome of heauens sake. He that is able to receiue (it), let him receiue (it).

13 Then were there brought vnto him yong children, that he shoulde put his handes on them, and pray: and the disciples rebuked them.

14 But Jesus said vnto them, Suffer the yong children, and forbidde them not to come vnto me: for to suche belongeth the kingdome of heauen.

15 And when he had put his handes on them, he departed thence.

16 And beholde, one came, and sayde vnto him, Good maister, what good thing shall
I do, that I may haue eternal life?

17 He said vnto him, Why callest thou me good? there is none good but one, (and that is) God: But if thou wilt enter into that life, keepe the commaundements.

18 He saith vnto him, Which? Jesus said, Thou shalt do no murder, Thou shalt not commit adulterie, Thou shalt no steale,
Thou shalt not beare false witnesse,

19 Honour thy father and thy mother: and,
Thou shalt loue thy neighbor as thy self.

20 The yong man saith vnto him, All the se (things) haue I kept from my youth vp:
what lacke I yet?

21 Jesus saide vnto him, If thou wilt be perfect, goe and sel thy substance, and giue to the poore, and thou shalt haue treasure in heauen: and come and folow me.

22 But when the yong man heard that saying, he went away sory: for he hadde great possessions.

23 Then Jesus saide vnto his disciples,
Verily I say vnto you, that a riche (man) shal hardly enter into the kingdome of heauen.

24 And againe I say vnto you, It is easier for a Cammel to go through the eye of a needle, than for the riche to enter into the kingdome of God.

25 When his disciples heard (this), they were exceedingly amazed, saying, Who then can be saued?

26 But Jesus beheld them, and sayd vnto them, With men this is vnpossible, but with God all things are possible.

27 Then answered Peter, and said vnto him, Behold, we haue forsaken all, & folo-wed thee, what shal we haue therefore?

28 Jesus said vnto them, Verily I say vnto you, that when the sonne of man shall sit in the throne of his maiestie, ye that haue folowed me in the regeneration shall sit also vpon twelue seates, iudging the twelue tribes of Israel.

29 And euery one that hath forsaken houses, or brethren, or sisters, or father, or mother, or wife, or children, or landes for my names sake, shall receiue an hundred fold, and shal inherite euerlasting life.

1 FOr the kingdome of heauen is lyke vnto a man that is an householder, which went out early in the morning to hyre labourers into his vineyarde.

The Gospel on Septua-gesima sunday.

2 And when he had agreed with the labourers for a peny a day, he sent them into his vine-yarde.

3 And when he went out about the thirde houre, he sawe other standing idle in the market place,

4 And saide vnto them, Goe ye also into the vineyarde, & what so euer is right, I wil giue you. And they went their way.

5 Againe, when he went out about the sixth and ninth houre, he did likewise.

6 And about the eleuenth houre, when he went out, he found other standing idle and saith vnto them, Why stande ye here all the day idle?

7 They say vnto him, Because no man hath hyred vs. He saith vnto them, Goe ye also into the vineyarde: and whatsoeuer is right, that shal ye receiue.

8 So when euen was come, the Lorde of the vineyarde sayth vnto his Stewarde, Call the labourers, and giue them their hire, beginning from the last, vntill the first.

9 And when they came that (were hyred) about the eleuenth houre, they receiued euery man a peny.

10 But when the first came also, they supposed that they should haue receiued more: and they likewyse receyued euery man a peny.

11 And when they had receiued it, they murmured against the good manne of the house.

12 Saying, These last haue wrought but one houre, and thou hast made them equal vnto vs, which haue borne the burden and feruent heate of the day.

13 But he answered to one of them, & said, Friende, I doe thee no wrong: dyddest thou not agree with me for a peny?

14 Take þ thine is, & goe thy way: I wil giue vnto this last, euen as vnto thee.

15 Is it not lawful for me to do that I wil with mine owne? Is thyne eye euil, because I am good?

20 Then came to him, the mother of Zebedees children, with hir sonnes, worshipping him, and desiring a certayne thing of him.

21 And he saith vnto hir, What wylt thou? She saith vnto him, Graunt, that these my two sonnes may sitte, the one on thy right hand, and the other on the left, in thy kingdome.

22 But Jesus answered, and saide, Ye wote not what ye aske. Are ye able to drinke of the cuppe that I shall drinke of, and to be baptised with the baptisme that I am baptised with? They say vnto him, We are able.

23 He sayth vnto them, Ye shall drinke in deede of my cuppe, and be baptised wyth the baptisme that I am baptised with: but to sit on my right hande, and on my left, is not myne to giue, but to them for whō it is prepared of my father.

24 And when the tenne heard (this) they disdained at the two brethren.

27 And who so will be chiefe among you, let him be your seruaunt.

32 And Jesus stode still, and called them, and saide, What wil ye that I shal do vnto you?

33 They say vnto him, Lorde that our eies may be opened.

34 So Jesus had compassion on them, and touched their eyes: and immediatly their eyes receiued sight, & they followed him.

C The Gospel on the first Sunday in Aduent. Mat.xi.a. Luke.19.d.

1 AND when they drewe nigh vnto Jerusalem, & were come to Bethphage, vnto the mount of Olives, then sente Jesus two disciples,

2 Saying vnto them, Goe into þ village that lyeth ouer against you, and anone ye shal finde an Asse tyed, and a colt with hir, when yee haue lowsed (them,) bring (them) vnto me,

3 And if any man say ought vnto you, ye shal say the Lord hath neede of them, and straight way he wil let them goe.

4 All this was done, þ it might be fulfilled which was spoke by the prophete, saying,

5 Tell

5 Tell ye the daughters of Sion, Beholde, thy king commeth vnto thee meeke, and sitting vpon an Asse and a colt the foale of (the Asse) vsed to the yoke.

6 The disciples went, and did as Jesus commaunded them.

7 And brought the asse, and the colte, and put on them their clothes, & he sat thereon.

8 And many of the people spread their garmentes in the way, other cut downe branches from the trees, and strawed them in the way.

9 Moreouer, the multitudes that went before, and that came after, cryed, saying, Hosanna to the sonne of Dauid: Blessed is hee that commeth in the name of the Lord, Hosanna in the highest.

10 And when hee was come into Jerusalem, al the citie was moued, saying, Who is this?

11 And the multitude sayde, This is Jesus that prophete of Nazareth (a citie) in Galilee.

12 And Jesus went into the temple of God, and cast out all them that sold and bought in the temple, and ouerthrewe the tables of the money changers, and the seates of them that solde Doues, 13 And sayde vnto them, it is written, My house shall be called the house of prayer, but ye haue made it a denne of theeues.

14 And the blinde and the halt came to him in the temple, and he healed them.

15 When the chiefe priestes and Scribes sawe the wonders that he did, and the children crying in the temple, and saying, Hosanna to the son of Dauid, they disdained, 16 And sayd vnto him, Hearest thou what these say? But Jesus sayth vnto them, Yea, haue ye neuer read, Out of the mouth of babes and sucklings, thou hast ordeyned prayse?

17 And hee left them, and went out of the citie vnto Bethanie, and he lodged there.

18 In the morning, as he returned into the citie, he hungred.

19 And when he sawe one figge tree in the way, hee came to it, and founde nothing thereon but leaues onely, and sayde vnto it, Neuer fruite growe on thee hencefoorwarde. And anone the figge tree wythered away.

20 And when the disciples saw it, they marueiled, saying, Howe sone is the figge tree withered away?

21 Jesus answered and sayde vnto them, Verily I say vnto you, if ye haue fayth, and doubt not, ye shall not onely doe this (which is doone) to the figge tree, but also if ye shall say vnto this mountayne, Be thou remoued, and be thou cast into the sea, it shall be doone.

22 And all things whatsoeuer ye shall aske in prayer beleeuing, ye shall receiue.

23 And when he was come into the temple, the chiefe priestes and the elders of the people, came vnto him teaching, and say, By what authoritie doest thou these things? and who gaue thee this power?

24 Jesus answered, and sayde vnto them, I also will aske you one question, which if ye tell me, I in likewise wil tell you by what authoritie I doe these things.

25 The baptisme of John, whence was it? from heauen, or of men? And they reasoned with them selues, saying, If we shall say, From heauen, hee will say vnto vs, Why did ye not then beleeue him?

26 But if we shall say, Of men, then feare we the people, for all (men) holde John as a prophete.

27 And they answered vnto Jesus, and sayde, We can not tell. And he sayde vnto them, Neyther tell I you by what authoritie I doe these things.

28 But what thinke you? A certayne man had two sonnes, and when he came to the first, he sayd, Sonne, go and worke to day in my vineyarde.

29 He answered, and sayde, I will not: but afterward he repented, and went.

30 And when he came to the second, he sayd likewise: and he answered, and sayde, I (goe) sir, and went not.

31 Whether of them twaine did the will of his father? And they sayd vnto him, The first. Jesus saith vnto them, Verily I say vnto you, that the publicanes and the harlots goe into the kingdome of God before you.

32 For John came vnto you by the way of righteousnesse, and ye beleeued him not: but the publicanes and the harlots beleeued him, And ye, when ye had seene (it) were not moued afterwarde with repentance, that ye might haue beleeued him.

33 Hearken another similitude, There was a certein man, an housholder, which planted a vineyarde, and hedged it rounde about, and digged a wine presse in it, and built a towre, and let it out to husbandmen, and went into a strange countrey.

34 And when the time of the fruite drewe neare, he sent his seruants to the husbandmen, that they might receiue ỹ fruits of it.

35 And the husbandmen, when they had taken his seruantes, they beat one, killed another, and stoned another.

36 Agayne, hee sent other seruantes, more than the firste, and they dyd vnto them likewise.

37 But last of all, hee sent vnto them his owne sonne, saying, They will stand in awe of my sonne.

38 But when the husbandmen sawe the sonne, they sayd among them selues, This is the heyre, come let vs kyll him, and let vs season vpon his inheritance.

Gene.37.

39 And they caught him, and thrust him out of the vineyarde, and slue (him.)

40 When the Lorde therefore of the vineyarde commeth, what will hee doe vnto those husbandmen?

41 They say vnto him, He will miserably destroy those wicked (men,) and will let out his vineyard vnto other husbandmen, whiche shall render him the fruite in due seasons.

2. The mariage of the kings sonne. 17. Tribute to be giuen to the Emperour. 25. Christ confuteth the opinion of the Saduces, concerning the resurrection. 36. and answereth the Scribe vnto his question.

A

1 AND Jesus answered, and spake vnto them againe by Parables, and sayde.

The Gospell on the.xx. sunday after Trinitie. Luke.14.a.

2 The kingdome of heauen is like vnto a man that was a king, which made a mariage for his sonne:

3 And sent forth his seruantes, to call them that were bidden to the wedding: and they would not come.

4 Agayne, he sent forth other his seruants, saying, Tell them which are bidden, Beholde, I haue prepared my dinner, my Oxen and my fatlings are killed, and all things are ready: come vnto the mariage.

5 But they made light of it, and went their wayes, one to his farme, another to his marchandize:

6 And the remnant toke his seruantes, and entreated them spitefully, and slue them.

7 But when the king hearde (thereof) hee was wroth, and when hee had sent forth his armies, he destroyed those murtherers, and brent vp their citie. B

8 Than sayth hee to his seruantes, The mariage in deede is prepared, but they which were bidden, were not worthy.

9 Goe ye therefore out in the high wayes, and as many as ye shall fynde, bid to the mariage.

10 And the seruantes went out into the highe wayes, and gathered together all, as many as they founde, both good, and bad, and the wedding was furnished with geastes.

11 Whē the king came in to see the geasts, hee spyed there a man, which had not on a wedding garment, Esai.41.b.

12 And he sayth vnto him, Friende, howe camest thou in hither, not hauing a wedding garmēt? And he was euen speachlesse.

13 Then sayde the king to the ministers, When ye haue bound him hand and foote, take him vp, and cast him into vtter darknesse, there shal be weeping, and gnashing of teeth. Math.13.f. & 25.c.

14 For many are called, but few are chosen. C

15 Then went the Pharisees, and toke counsell howe they might intangle him in his talke. The Gospell on the.xxi. sunday after Trinitie.

16 And they sente out vnto him their disciples with the Herodians, saying, Maister, we knowe that thou art true, and teachest the way of God truely, neither carest thou for any man, for thou doest not respecte mens persons. Mark.12.d. Luke.20.b.

17 Tell vs therefore, howe thinkest thou? Is it lawfull to giue tribute vnto Cesar, or not?

18 But Jesus, when he knew their wickednesse, said, Why tempt ye me ye hypocrits?

19 Shewe mee the tribute money. And they brought vnto him a penny.

20 And he sayth to them, Whose is this Image and superscription? D

21 They sayde vnto him, Ceasars. Then sayth hee vnto them, Giue therefore vnto Cesar, the (things) which are Ceasars: & vnto God, those (things) that are Gods. Math.17.d. Rom.13.b.

22 When they had hearde (these woordes) they maruelled, and left him, and went their way.

23 The same day came to him the Saduces, which say that there is no resurrection, and asked him, 24 Saying, Maister, Moses sayde, If a man dye, hauing no children, his brother shall "marry his wife, and rayse vp seede vnto his brother.

25 There were with vs seuen brethren, and the first, when he had married a wife, deceased, and hauing no issue, left his wife vnto his brother.

26 Likewise the seconde also, and the third, vnto the seuenth.

27 Last of all, the woman died also.

28 Therefore in the resurrection, whose wife shall she be of the seuen? For they all had hir.

29 Iesus answered, and sayde vnto them, Ye doe erre, not knowing the scriptures, nor the power of God.

30 For in the resurrection they neither marry, nor are giuen in mariage, but are as the angels of God, in heauen.

31 But as touching the resurrection of the deade, haue ye not read that whiche was spoken vnto you of God, which sayth.

32 I am the God of Abraham, and the God of Isahac, and the God of Iacob? God is not the God of the dead, but of the liuing.

33 And when the multitudes hearde this, they were astonied at his doctrine.

34 But when the Pharisees had hearde that hee had put the Saduces to silence, they were gathered together.

35 Then one (of them) which was a lawyer, asked (him) a question, tempting him, and saying.

36 Maister, which is the great commaundement in the lawe?

37 Iesus sayde vnto him, Thou shalt loue the Lorde thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soule, and with all thy mind.

38 This is the first and great commaundement.

39 And the seconde is like vnto it. Thou shalt loue thy neighbour as thy selfe.

40 In these two commaundements, hang all the lawe and the prophetes.

41 When the Pharisees were gathered together, Iesus asked them, 42 Saying, What thinke ye of Christe? Whose sonne is he? They sayd vnto him, (the sonne) of Dauid.

43 He sayth vnto them, Howe then doeth Dauid in spirit call him Lord, saying, 44 The Lorde sayde vnto my Lord: Sit thou on my right hande, till I make thine enimies thy footestole?

45 If Dauid then call him Lorde, howe is he then his sonne?

46 And no man was able to answere him a worde, neither durst any man (from that day) aske him any moe questions.

5 For many shall come in my name, saying, I am Christe: and shall deceiue many. Ephes.5.b.

6 It will come to passe, that ye shall heare of warres, & rumours of warres: See that you be not troubled: for all (these things) must come to passe, but the end is not yet.

B 7 For nation shall rise against nation, and realme against realme, and there shall be famines, and pestilences, and earthquakes in certaine places.

8 All these are the beginning of sorowes.

9 Then shall they put you to trouble, and shall kill you: and ye shall be hated of all nations for my names sake.

10 And then shall many be offended, and shall betray one another, and shall hate one another.

11 And many false prophetes shall arise, and shall deceiue many.

12 And bycause iniquitie shall abounde, the loue of many shall waxe colde.

13 But he that shall endure to the ende, the same shall be saued.

14 And this Gospell of the kingdome, shall be preached in all the world, for a witnesse vnto al nations, & then shal the end come.

C 15 When ye therefore shall see the abhomination of desolation, spoken of by Daniel the prophet, stande in the holie place, (who so readeth, let him vnderstand,)

16 Then let them which be in Iurie, flee into the mountaines:

17 And let him whiche is on the house top, not come downe to fetche any thing out of his house:

18 Neyther let him whiche is in the fielde, returne backe to fetche his clothes.

19 Wo shall be in those dayes to them that are with child, and to them that giue suck.

D 20 But praye ye that your flight be not in the Winter, neither on the Sabboth day:

21 For then shall be great tribulation, suche as was not since the beginning of the worlde to this time, no, nor in any wise shall be.

22 Yea, and except those dayes shoulde be shortened, there should no flesh be saued: but for the chosens sake, those dayes shall be shortened.

23 Then if any man shall say vnto you, Loe, here is Christ, or there: beleeue it not.

24 For there shall arise false Christes, & false Prophetes, and shall shewe great signes, and wonders: in so much that (if it were possible) they shall deceiue the verie elect.

25 Behold, I haue told you before.

26 Wherefore if they shal say vnto you, Behold, he is in the desart: goe not forth, Behold, her is in the secrete places: beleeue it not.

E 27 For as the lightening commeth out of the East, and shyneth into the West: so shall also the comming of the sonne of man be.

28 For where so euer the deade carkasse is, euen there will the Eagles also be gathered together.

29 Immediately, after the tribulation of those dayes, shall the sunne be darkened and the mone shall not giue hir light, and the starres shall fall from heauen, and the powers of the heauens shall be shaken.

30 And then shall appeare the signe of the sonne of man, in heauen: and then shall all the kinreds of the earth mourne, and they shall see the sonne of man comming in the cloudes of heauen, with power and great glorie.

31 And hee shall sende his angels with the great sounde of a trumpet, and they shall gather together his chosen, from the foure windes, euen from one ende of heauen to the other.

32 Learne a parable of the figge tree: when his branche is yet tender, and the leaues spring, ye know that Sommer is nigh:

33 So likewise ye, when ye shal see all these things, be sure that it is neere, euen at the dores.

34 Verely I say vnto you, this generation shall in no wise passe, till all these things be fulfylled.

35 Heauen and earth shall passe away, but my wordes shall in no wise passe away.

36 But of that day and houre, knoweth no man, no, not the angels of heauen, but my father only.

F 37 But as the dayes of Noe were, so shall also the comming of the sonne of man be.

38 For as in the dayes that were before the floude, they were eating, and drinking, marrying, and giuing in marryage, euen vntil the day that Noe entred into ỹ arke, 39 And knewe not till the floude came, and toke them all away: so shall also the comming of the sonne of man be.

40 Then shall two be in the fielde: the one is receiued, and the other is left alone.

41 Two (women) shall be grinding at the mylle: the one is receyued, and the other left alone.

42 Watch therefore, for ye know not what houre your Lord doth come.

43 Of this yet be sure, that if the good man of the house had knowne what watche the theefe woulde come, he woulde haue watched, and woulde not haue suffered his house to be broken vp.

44 Therefore be ye also readie: for in such an houre as ye thinke not, the sonne of mã commeth.

The.xxv. Chapter.

1. The tenne virgins. 14. The talentes deliuered to the seruantes. 32. And of the generall iudgement.

A 1 THen shall the kingdome of heauen be likened vnto tenne virgins, whiche when they had taken their lampes, went forth to meete the bridegrome.

2 But fiue of them were wise, and fiue were foolishe.

3 They that were foolishe, when they had taken their lampes, toke none oyle with them:

4 But the wise toke oyle in their vessels, with their lampes also.

5 While the bridegrome taryed, they all slumbred and slept.

6 And euen at midnight there was a crye made, Beholde, the bridegrome commeth, goe ye out to meete him.

B 7 Then all those virgins arose, and prepared their lampes.

8 So the foolishe sayde vnto the wise, Giue vs of your oyle, for our lāpes are gon out.

9 But the wise answering, saying, (Not so) least there be not ynough for vs and you: but goe ye rather to them that sell, and buy for your selues.

10 And while they went to buye, the bridegrome came: and they that were readie, went in with him to the maryage, and the doore was shut vp.

Math.7.c. 11 Afterwarde came also the other virgins, saying, Lord, Lord, open to vs.

12 But he answered, and sayde, Verily I say vnto you, I know you not.

Mark.24.d Mark.13.d. 13 Watche therefore, for ye knowe neyther the daye, nor yet the houre, wherein the sonne of man commeth.

Luke.12. C 14 Likewise as (when) a (certayne) man taking his iourney into a strange countrey, Mark.13.f Luke.19.b. called his owne seruantes, and deliuered vnto them his goods.

15 And vnto one hee gaue fiue talentes, to another two, and to another one, to euerie man after his abilitie, and straight way toke his iourney.

16 Then he that had receyued the fyue talentes, went and occupied with the same, and made (them) other fiue talents.

17 And likewise he that had receyued two, he also gayned other two.

18 But he that had receyued one, went and digged in the earth, and hid his Lordes money.

19 After a long season, the Lorde of those seruants commeth, & reckeneth with them.

20 And so he that had receyued fiue talents, came and brought other fiue talentes, saying, Lorde, thou deliueredst vnto me fiue talentes, beholde, I haue gayned besides them fiue talentes moe.

21 His Lorde sayde vnto him, Well done D thou good and faythfull seruant, thou hast beene faythfull ouer fewe things, I will make thee ruler ouer many things: enter thou into the ioy of thy Lord.

22 He also that had receyued two talentes, came and sayde, Lord, thou deliueredst vnto me two talentes: beholde, I haue won two other talentes besides them.

23 His Lorde sayde vnto him, Well done, good and faythfull seruant, thou hast beene faythfull ouer fewe things, I will make thee ruler ouer many things: enter thou into the ioy of thy Lord.

24 Then he which had receyued the one talent, came and sayde, Lorde, I knewe thee that thou art an hard man, reaping where thou hast not sowen, and gathering where thou hast not strawed:

25 And therefore was I afrayde, and went and hid thy talent in the earth: loe, there thou hast that thine is.

26 His Lord answered, and sayd vnto him, Thou euill and slouthfull seruant, thou knewest that I reape where I sowed not, and gather where I haue not strawed:

27 Thou oughtest therefore to haue deliuered my money to the exchangers, and then at my comming shoulde I haue receyued mine owne with vantage. E

28 Take therefore the talent from him, and giue it vnto him which hath ten talents.

29 For vnto euerie one that hath, shall be Math.13.f. giuen, and he shall haue aboundance: but Mark.4.f from from hym that hath not, shall be taken away, euen that which he hath.

30 And cast the vnprofitable seruant into vtter darkenesse, there shall be weeping, and gnashing of teeth.

31 When the sonne of man shall come in his glorie, and all the holie angels with him, then shall hee sit vpon the throne of his glorie.

32 And before him shall be gathered all nations, and he shall separat them one from another, as a shepheard diuideth his shepe from the goates.

33 And hee shall set the sheepe on his right hand, but the goates on the left.

34 Then shal the king say vnto them (which shall be) on his right hande, Come ye blessed of my father, inherite the kingdome, which hath bene prepared for you, from the foundation of the worlde.

35 For I was an hungred, and ye gaue me meate: I was thyrstie, and yee gaue mee drinke: I was a straunger, and yee tooke me in:

36 Naked, and ye clothed me: I was sicke, and ye visited me: I was in prison, and ye came vnto me.

37 Then shall the righteous answere him, saying, Lord, when sawe we thee an hungred, and fed thee? or thirstie, and gaue thee drinke?

38 When sawe we thee a stranger, and tooke thee in? or naked, and clothed thee?

39 Or when sawe we thee sicke, or in prison, and came vnto thee?

40 And the king shall answere, and say vnto them, Verily I say vnto you, in as muche as ye haue done it vnto one of the least of these my brethren, ye haue done (it) vnto me.

41 Then shall he say also vnto them on the left hand: Depart from me ye cursed into the euerlasting fire, which is prepared for the deuill and his angels.

42 For I was an hungred, and ye gaue me no meate: I was thirstie, and ye gaue me no drinke:

43 I was a straunger, and ye tooke me not in: naked, and ye clothed me not: sicke, and in prison, and ye visited me not.

44 Then shall they also answere him, saying, Lorde, when sawe we thee an hungred, or a thyrst, or a stranger, or naked, or sicke, or in prison, and did not minister vnto thee?

45 Then shall hee answere them, saying, Verily I say vnto you, in as muche as ye did it not to one of the least of these, ye did it not to me.

46 And these shall goe away into euerlasting payne: but the righteous into lyfe eternall. John.5.c.

The.xxvi.Chapter.

10. Marie Magdalene annoynteth Christe. 26. They eate the Easter lambe. 31. Christe prayeth in the garden. 48. Iudas betrayeth him. 61. Peter smyteth off Malchus eare. 64. Christe is accused by false witnesses. 69. Peter denyeth him.

1 AND it came to passe when Iesus had finished all these sayings, he sayd vnto his disciples,

2 Ye knowe, that after two dayes is the feast of Passouer, and the sonne of man is betrayed to be crucified.

3 Then assembled together the chiefe priests, and the Scribes, and the elders of the people, vnto the palace of the high priest, which was called Caiaphas:

4 And held a counsell that they might take Iesus subtily, and kill him.

5 But they sayde, Not on the feast (day) least there be an vproze among the people.

6 When Iesus was in Bethanie, in the house of Simon the Leper,

7 There came vnto him a woman, hauing an Alabaster boxe of pretious ointment, and powred it on his head, as he sat (at the boorde.)

8 But when his disciples sawe it, they had indignation, saying, To what purpose (is) this waste?

9 This ointment might haue bene sold for much, and giuen to the poore.

10 When Iesus vnderstoode that, he sayde vnto them, Why trouble ye the woman? for she hath wrought a good worke vpon me.

11 For ye haue the poore alwayes with you: but me ye haue not alwayes.

12 For in that this woman hath cast this ointment on my body, she did it to burie me.

13 Verily I say vnto you, Where so euer this Gospell shall be preached in the whole worlde, there shall also this that this woman hath done, be told for a memoriall of her.

14 Then one of the twelue, called Iudas Iscariot, went vnto the chiefe priestes,

15 And sayd vnto them, What will ye giue me, and I will deliuer him vnto you? And they appointed vnto him thirtie siluer (peeces.)

34 Jesus sayd vnto him, Verily I say vnto thee, that in this same night before the Cocke crowe, thou shalt deny me thrise.

35 Peter sayd vnto him, Though I should dye with thee, yet will I by no manner of meanes denie thee. Likewise also sayd all the disciples.

36 Then commeth Jesus with them vnto a place called Gethsemane, and sayth vnto the disciples, Sit ye there, while I goe and praye yonder. Mark.14

37 And when hee had taken with him Peter, and the two sonnes of Zebedee, he began to be sorowfull and heauie. F

38 Then sayde Jesus vnto them, My soule is exceeding heauie, euen vnto the death: tarry ye here, and watch with me. Mark. John.

39 And when hee had gone a little farther, hee fell flat on his face, praying, and saying, O my father, if it be possible, let this cup passe from me: neuertheless, not as I will, but as thou wilt. Luke. Mark.

40 And he commeth vnto the disciples, and findeth them asleepe, and sayth vnto Peter, What, could ye not watche with me one houre?

41 Watche, and pray, that ye enter not into temptation: the spirit in deede is willing, but the flesh (is) weake. Gala.5.c.

42 He went away againe the second time, and prayed, saying, O my father, if this cup may not passe away from me, excepte I drinke it, thy will be fulfilled. Mark.14.

43 And when hee came, hee findeth them asleepe againe: for their eyes were heauie.

44 And he left them, and went againe, and prayed the thirde time, saying the same wordes, 45 Then commeth hee to his disciples, and sayth vnto them, Sleepe henceforth, and take your rest: beholde, the houre is at hande, and the sonne of man is betrayed into the handes of sinners.

46 Ryse, let vs be going: behold, he is at hande that doth betray me.

47 While hee yet spake, loe Judas one of the twelue, came, and with him a greate multitude with swordes and staues, from the chiefe priestes and elders of the people. Mark.14.f Luke.22.f.

48 But hee that betrayed him, gaue them a token, saying, Whom so euer I shall kisse, that same is he, holde him fast.

49 And forthwith when he came to Jesus, he sayde, Haile master: and kissed him.

50 And Jesus sayde vnto him, Friende, wherefore art thou come? Then came they and layd handes on Jesus, and toke him.

51 And beholde, one of them whiche were with with Jesus, stretched out his hande, and drewe his swoorde, and after that hee had stricken a seruant of the high priestes, hee smote off his eare.

52 Then sayde Jesus vnto him, Turne backe thy swoord into his place: for all they that take the swoorde, shall perishe with the swoorde.

53 Thinkest thou that I can not now pray to my father, and he shall cause to stand by me more than twelue legions of angels?

54 But howe then shall the scriptures be fulfilled, that thus it must be?

55 In that same houre sayde Jesus to the multitudes, Ye be come out as it were vnto a theefe with swoordes and staues for to take me: I sate dayly with you teaching in the temple, and ye toke me not.

56 But al this was done, that the scriptures of the prophetes might be fulfilled. Then all the disciples hauing forsaken him, fled.

57 But they that had taken Jesus, led him away to Caiaphas the high priest, where the scribes and the elders were assembled.

58 But Peter folowed him a farre off vnto the high priestes palace, and went in, and sate with the seruants to see the end.

59 The chiefe priestes and elders, and all the counsell, sought false witnesse against Jesus, for to put him to death,

60 But founde none: yea, when many false witnesses came, yet founde they none. At the last came two false witnesses, 61 And sayde, This (felowe) sayde, I am able to destroy the temple of God, and to builde it in three dayes.

62 And the chiefe priest arose, and sayd vnto him, Answerest thou nothing? What (is that which) these witnesse against thee?

63 But Jesus held his peace. And the chiefe priest answered, and sayde vnto him, I charge thee by the liuing God, that thou tell vs, whether thou be Christe the sonne of God?

64 Jesus sayth vnto him, Thou hast sayd: Neuertheless, I say vnto you, hereafter shall ye see the sonne of man sitting on the right hand of the power (of God) and comming in the cloudes of the skie.

65 Then the highe priest rent his clothes, saying, He hath spoken blasphemie: what neede we of any moe witnesses? Beholde, nowe ye haue heard his blasphemie.

66 What thinke ye? They answered and saide, He is worthy to dye.

67 Then did they spit in his face, & buffeted him with fistes, and other smote him on the face with the paulme of their handes, 68 Saying, Prophecie vnto vs, O Christe, who is he that smote thee?

69 Peter sate without in the palace: and a damosell came to him, saying, Thou also wast with Jesus of Galilee.

70 But he denyed before them all, saying, I wote not what thou sayest.

71 When he was gone out into the porche, another (wenche) sawe him, and sayd vnto them that were there, This felow was also with Jesus of Nazareth.

72 And agayne he denyed with an othe, I do not knowe the man.

73 And after a while, came vnto him they that stode by, and sayde to Peter, Surely thou art euen one of them: for thy speache bewrayeth thee.

74 Then began he to curse, and to sweare, (saying,) I know not the man. And immediatly the Cocke crewe.

75 And Peter remembred the wordes of Jesu, whiche sayde vnto him, Before the Cocke crowe, thou shalt denye me thrise. And he went out, and wept bitterly.

We haue in this description conferred the vse and manner of the celebration of Easter that the Iewes helde, with that whiche we vse to recken and beginne at, and also to name the dayes of the weeke, and haue added thereto certaine dayes of the moneth of Marche in the yeere that Iesus Christe suffered, to declare the vnderstanding of the saide difficultie. Wherein there is to be noted, that the Lord Iesus celebraked not the Passouer the same day that the Iewes did: but that he whiche came not to breake the lawe, but to fulfill the lawe in euery poynt, ate the Lambe with his disciples at the time ordeyned by the lawe. Exod.12. which is the fourteenth day of the first moneth (that is to say, Marche) in the after noone, on the which began the said feast: whiche fell this yere on the Fryday, the euen of the Sabboth or day of rest. On the which day hee which was the true Lambe was offered, to the ende that the truth might agree with the figure: but the Iewes celebrated the saide Passouer the day folowing at euen after sunne set, Iesus Christ being in the graue: for that by tradition of their predecessours, the saide feast which fell on the Friday according to the lawe, was deferred to the next day, which was the day of their weekely Sabboth, bicause they would not keepe two feasts together: for this feast day they called the great Sabboth. Iohn.19. and also bycause (as enimies of the trueth) they woulde seeke all meanes possible to keepe him from being knowne for the Messias.

The disciples prepare the Lambe which Iesus Christe ate with them after euen, the same day on which euen beganne the feast.

Iesus hauing eaten the Lambe with his disciples, instituteth the sacramēt of the supper: is kissed by Iudas: is crucified, deade, and buried.

Iesus Christe resteth in the graue all this day.

The women carry ointments verie early in the morning to the graue.

Here is also to be noted, that where the eating of the Lambe, the institution of the sacrament, with the residue before mentioned, is referred to Thursday and Friday: If ye recken according to the Iewes account, who begin their Friday night on Thursday after sunne set, and continueth that night and day vntill the next day after sunne set, ye shall finde that Christe did eate the Paschall Lambe, instituted the sacrament of his body and bloud, was kissed by Iudas, and was crucified, dead, and buried on Fryday. But if ye recken after our vse, then Christ did eate the Paschal lamb, instituted the sacrament of his body and bloud, and was kissed of Iudas on Thursday, but was crucified, dead, and buried on Fryday.

2. Christe is deliuered vnto Pilate. 5. Iudas hangeth him selfe. 24. Christe is crucified among theeues. 57. he dyeth and is buried. 64. watchmen keepe the graue.

A 1 When the morning was come, all the chiefe priestes, and the elders of the people, held a counsell against Jesus to put him to death.

Mat.2.a. Mark.15.a. Luke.23.a.

2 And when they had bounde him, they led him away, and deliuered him to Pontius Pilate the deputie.

Acts.3.c. John.18.c.

3 Then Judas, whiche had betrayed him, when he saw that he was condemned, repented him selfe, and brought agayne the thirtie "siluer peeces to the chiefe priestes and elders,

"or, siluerlings.

4 Saying, I haue sinned, in that I haue betrayed the innocent bloud. And they sayd, What is that to vs? see thou to that.

5 And when he had cast downe the peeces of siluer in the temple, hee departed, and went his way and hanged him selfe.

2.Re.17.b. Acts.1.c.

6 And the chiefe priestes toke the siluer (peeces) and sayd, It is not lawfull for to put them into the treasurie: bycause it is the price of bloud.

B 7 And when they had taken counsell, they bought with them the potters field, to burie strangers in.

8 Wherefore that fielde was called, The fielde of bloud, vntill this day.

9 Then was fulfilled that which was spoken by Jeremie the prophete, saying, And they toke the thirtie siluer (peeces,) the price of him that was valued, whom they bought of the children of Israell:

Zach.11.c.

10 And gaue them for the potters fielde, as the Lord appoynted me.

11 Jesus stode before the deputie, and the deputie asked him, saying, Arte thou the king of the Jewes? Jesus saith vnto him, Thou sayest.

Mark.15.a. Luke.23.a. John.18.f.

12 And when he was accused of the chiefe priestes and elders, he answered nothing.

13 Then sayth Pilate vnto him, Hearest thou not howe many things they witnesse against thee?

C 14 And he answered him to neuer a word: insomuch ỹ the deputie maruelled greatly.

Esai.53.c.

15 At that feaste the deputie was wont to let lose vnto the people a prysoner, whom they would.

Mark.15.a.

16 Hee had then a notable prysoner, called Barrabas.

17 Therefore when they were gathered together, Pilate sayde vnto them, Whether will ye that I giue lose vnto you Barrabas, or Jesus, which is called Christe.

Mark.15.a. John.18.g.

18 For he knew that for enuie they had deliuered him.

19 When hee was set downe on the iudgement state, his wife sent vnto him, saying, Haue thou nothing to doe with that iust man: For I haue suffred many things this day in a dreame bicause of him.

20 But the chiefe priestes and elders persuaded the people that they shoulde aske Barrabas, and destroy Jesus.

Mat.15.a. Luke.23.b.

21 The deputie answered, and sayde vnto them, Whether of the twaine will ye that I let lose vnto you? They said, Barabas.

D Acts.3.c.

22 Pilate said vnto them, What shall I do then with Jesus, which is called Christe? Then all sayde vnto him, Let him be crucified.

Mat.15.a.

23 The deputie sayde, What euill hath hee done? But they cryed exceedingly, saying, Let him be crucified.

24 When Pilate saw that hee coulde preuayle nothing, but that more businesse was made, hee toke water, and washed his handes before the people, saying, I am innocent of the bloud of this iust person: see ye to it.

25 Then answered all the people, and sayd, His bloud be on vs, and on our children.

Acts.5.c. Mark.15.a.

26 Then let he Barrabas lose vnto them, and when he had skourged Jesus, he deliuered him to be crucified.

Luke.23.d.

27 Then the souldiers of the deputie, when they had taken Jesus into the common hall, gathered vnto hym all the bande (of souldiers.)

E Mark.15.a.

28 And when they had stripped him, they put on him a scarlet robe:

29 And when they had platted a crowne of thornes, they put it vpon his heade, and a reede in his right hande: and when they had bowed the knee before him, they mocked him, saying, Haile king of the Jewes.

30 And when they had spit vpon him, they toke the reede, and smote him on the head.

31 And after that they had mocked him, they toke the robe off him, and put his owne rayment on him, and led him away to crucifie him.

32 And as they came out, they found a man of Cyrene, Simō by name: him they compelled to beare his crosse.

Mark.15.b. Luke.23.d.

33 And when they were come vnto a place called Golgotha, that is to say, a place of a skull.

Mark.15.b. John.19.d.

34 They gaue him vineger to drink, mingled led with gall: and when hee had tasted thereof, he would not drinke.

35 When they had crucified him, they parted his garmentes, casting lottes: that it might be fulfilled which was spoken by the prophete, They parted my garmentes among them, and vpō my vesture did they cast lottes.

36 And sitting downe, they watched hym there:

37 And set vp ouer his head, his accusation written, This is Iesus the king of the Iewes.

38 Then are there two theeues crucified with him: one on the right hande, and an other on the left.

39 They that passed by, reuiled him, wagging their heades,

40 And saying, Thou that destroyest the temple, and buildest it in three dayes, saue thy selfe: If thou be the sonne of God, come downe from the crosse.

71 Likewise also the high priestes mocking him, with the Scribes and elders, sayde.

42 He sauēd other, him self can he not saue. If hee be the king of Israell, let him nowe come downe from the crosse, and we will beleeue him.

43 He hath trusted in God, let him deliuer him nowe, if he will haue him: for he said, I am the sonne of God.

44 The theeues also whiche were crucified with him, cast the same in his teeth.

45 From the sixth houre, was there darkenesse ouer all the lande, vnto the ninth houre.

46 And about the ninth houre Iesus cryed with a loude voyce, saying, Eli, Eli, lamasabacthani, that is to say, My God, my God, why hast thou forsaken me?

47 Some of them that stode there, when they hearde that, saide, This man calleth for Elias.

48 And straightway one of them ran, and toke a sponge, and when he had filled it full of vineger, and put it on a reede, hee gaue him to drinke.

49 The rest sayd, Let be, let vs see whether Elias will come to saue him.

50 Iesus, when he had cryed agayne with a loude voyce, yeelded vp the ghost.

51 And beholde, the vayle of the temple was rent in two partes, from the toppe to the bottome, and the earth did quake, and the stones rent.

52 And graues were opened, and many bodyes of saintes which slept, arose:

53 And after that they were come out of the graues after his resurrection, came into the holie citie, and appered vnto many.

54 When the (a) Centurion, and they that were with him watching Iesus, sawe the earthquake, and those things that were done, they feared greatly, saying, Truely, this was the sonne of God.

55 And many women were there beholding him a farre off, which followed Iesus from Galilee, ministring vnto him:

56 Among which was Marie Magdalene, and Marie the mother of Iames and Ioses, and the mother of Zebedees children.

57 When the euen was come, there came a riche man from (the citie of) Arimathea, named Ioseph, whiche also him selfe was Iesus disciple.

58 He went to Pilate, and begged the body of Iesus: then Pilate commaunded the body to be deliuered.

59 And when Ioseph had taken the body, he wrapped it in a cleane linnen cloth:

60 And layde it in his newe tombe whiche he had hewen out in the rocke: and when hee had rolled a great stone to the dore of the sepulchre, he departed.

61 And there was Marie Magdalene, and the other Marie, sitting ouer against the sepulchre.

62 The nexte day that followed the daye of preparing, the high priestes and Pharisees came together vnto Pilate.

63 Saying, Syr, we remember that this deceiuer sayd while he was yet aliue, After three dayes I arise againe.

64 Commaunde therefore that the sepulchre be made sure vntyll the thyrde daye: least his disciples come by night and steale him away, and say vnto the people, He is risen from the deade: and the last errour shall be worse than the first.

65 Pilate sayde vnto them, Ye haue the watche, go your way, make it as sure as ye knowe.

66 So they went, and when they had sealed vp the stone, they made the sepulchre sure with the watche.

The.xxviij. Chapter.

6. The resurrection of Christe. 12. The highe priestes giue the souldiers money, to say that Christe was stolne out of his graue. 17. Christ appeareth to his disciples, and sendeth them foorth to preach, and to baptise.

1 IN the later ende of the Sabboth day, which dawneth the first (day) of the weeke, came Marie Magdalene, and the other Marie, to see the sepulchre.

2 And beholde, there was a great earthquake, for the angel of the Lord descended from heauen, and came and rolled backe the stone from the dore, and sate vpon it.

3 His countenance was like lightning, and his rayment white as snowe.

4 And for feare of him the kepers did shake and became as deade men.

5 The angell answered, and sayde vnto the women, Feare ye not: for I knowe that that ye seeke Iesus, which was crucified.

6 He is not heere, he is risen, as he sayde, Come, see the place where that the Lorde was layde,

7 And go quickly, and tel his disciples that he is risen from the dead. And beholde, he goeth before you into Galilee, there shall ye see him: loe, I haue told you.

8 And they departed quickly from the sepulchre, with feare, and great ioy, and did runne, to bring his disciples worde.

9 And as they went to tell his disciples, behold, Iesus met them, saying, All hayle. And they came, and held him by the feete, and worshipped him.

10 Then sayde Iesus vnto them, Be not afrayde: goe tell my brethren that they goe into Galilee, and there shall they see me.

11 When they were gone, beholde, some of the watche came into the citie, and shewed vnto the high priestes all the things that were done.

12 And when they were assembled with the elders, and had taken counsell, they gaue large money vnto the souldiers, 13 Saying, Say ye, His disciples came by nyghte, and stole hym awaye whyle we slept.

14 And if this come to the deputies (eares) we will persuade hym, and make you careleſſe. C

15 So they, when they had taken the money, did as they were taught. And this saying was noysed among the Iewes vntill this day.

16 Then the eleuen disciples wente away into Galilee, into a mountaine, where Iesus had appoynted them.

17 And when they sawe him, they worshipped him: but some doubted.

18 And Iesus came and spake vnto them, saying, All power is giuen vnto me in heauen and in earth. Math.11.d. John.17.a.

23 And there was in their Synagogue, a man vexed with an vncleane spirite, and he cryed aloude.

Math.7.d. Luke.4.d.

24 Saying, Let vs alone, what haue we (to doe) with thee, thou Iesus of Nazareth? Art thou come to destroy vs? I know thee what thou arte, (euen) that holy one of God.

25 And Iesus rebuked him, saying, Holde thy peace, and come out of him.

26 And when the vncleane spirit had torne him, and cryed with a loud voyce, he came out of him.

27 And they were all amased, in so muche that they demaunded one of an other among them selues, saying, What thing is this? What newe doctrine is this? For with authoritie commaundeth he the foule spirites, and they do obey him?

28 And

E 28 And immediatly his fame spread abroad throughout all the region bordering on Galilee.

29 And forthwith, when they were come out of the Synagogue, they entred into the house of Simon and Andrewe, with James and John.

30 But Simons wiues mother lay sicke of a feuer, and anone they tell him of hir.

31 And he came and toke hir by the hande, and lift hir vp: and immediately the feuer forsoke hyr, and shee ministred vnto them.

32 And at euen, when the sunne was down, they brought vnto him all that were diseased, and them that were vexed with deuilles:

33 And all the citie was gathered together at the dore.

34 And hee healed many that were sicke of diuers diseases, and cast out many deuils: and suffered not the deuils to speake, because they knew him.

F 35 And in the morning verie early before day, Jesus when he was risen vp, wente out, and departed into a solitarie place, & there prayed.

36 And Simon, and they that were with him folowed after him:

37 And when they had found him, they said vnto him, All men seeke for thee.

38 And he sayd vnto them, Let vs goe into the next townes, that I may preach there also: for therefore am I come.

39 And hee preached in their Synagogues in all Galilee, and cast the deuils out.

40 And there came a leaper to him, beseching him, and kneeling downe to him, and saying vnto him, If thou wilt, thou canst make me cleane.

41 And Jesus, hauing compassion on him, when he had put forth his hande, touched him, and sayth vnto him, I will, be thou cleane.

42 And as soone as he had spoken, immediately the leprosie departed from him, and he was made cleane.

G 43 And after hee had gyuen him a straight commaundement, he sent him away forth with:

44 And sayth vnto him, See thou say nothing to any man: but get thee hence, shew thy self to the priest, and offer for thy cleansing those things which Moses commaunded, for a witnesse vnto them.

45 But hee, as soone as hee was departed, began openly to declare many things, and to publishe this rumour: in so muche, that Jesus coulde no more openly enter into the Citie, but was without in desart places: and they came to hym from euerie quarter.

2. The parable of the Sower. 37. Christ stilleth the tempest of the sea, whiche obeyed hym.

1 AND he began agayne to teache by the sea side: and there gathered vnto hym much people, so that he entred into a ship, and sate in the sea, and all the people was by the sea side on the shore: I
Mat.13.a.
2 And he taught them many thinges by parables, and sayde vnto them in hys doctrine,
3 Hearken, Beholde, there went out a Sower to sowe: Luke.8.a.
4 And it fortuned as he sowed, that some fell by the way syde: and the foules of the ayre came, and deuoured it.
5 Some fel on stonie ground, where it had not much earth: and immediatly it sprang vp because it had no depth of earth.
6 But as sone as the Sunne was vp, it caught heate: and because it had no rote, it wythered away.
B 7 And some fell among thornes, and the thornes grewe vp, and choked it, and it gaue no fruite.
8 And some fell vppon good ground, and did yeelde fruite that sprang vp, & grewe, and brought forth, some thirtie, and some sixtie, and some an hundred.
9 And he sayde vnto them, He that hath eares to heare let him heare.
14 And when he was alone, they that were about him with the twelue, asked of him the parable.
11 And he sayde vnto them, Vnto you it is giuen to knowe the mysterie of the kyngdome of GOD: but vnto them that are without, all thynges are donne by parables, Mat.12.b. Luke.8.b.

8. Christe deliuereth the possessed from the vncleane spirite, 25. the woman from the blouddy issue, 41. and rayseth the captaynes daughter.

1 AND they came ouer to the other (side) of the sea, into the coūtrey of the Gadarenes. I Luke.8.d. Math.8.d.

2 And when he was come out of the ship, immediatly there met him from among the tombes, a man (possessed) of an vncleane spirite,

3 Which hadde his abyding among the tombes, and no man coulde bynde hym, no not with chaynes:

4 Bycause that he had bin often bounde with fetters and chaynes, & the chaynes had bin plucked a sunder by him, and the fetters broken in peeces: neyther could any man tame him.

5 And alwayes, nyght and day, hee was in in the mountaines, and in the tombes, crying, and all to cutting him selfe wyth stones,

6 But when he had spyed Jesus a far off, he ranne, and worshipped him:

7 And cryed with a loude voyce, and said, What haue I to do with thee Jesus thou sonne of the most hyghest God? I require thee in the name of God, that thou torment me not.

8 (For he sayde vnto him, Come out of the man, thou foule spirite,) 9 And he asked him, What is thy name? And he answered, saying, My name is legion: for we are many.

10 And he prayed him instantly that hee woulde not sende them away out of the countrey.

11 But there was there nigh vnto the mountaines, a great heard of swine, feeding.

12 And al the deuils besought him, saying, Sende vs into the swine, that we may enter into them.

13 And anone Jesus gaue them leaue. And the vncleane spirites went out, and entred into the swine, & the heard ranne headlong into the sea, (they were about two thousand,) & were choaked in the sea.

14 And the swineherdes fledde, and tolde it in the citie, and in the countrey. And they went out for to see what was done:

15 And they come to Jesus, and see him that was vexed with the feende, and had the legion sitting, and clothed, and in his right minde: and they were afrayde.

16 And they that sawe (it,) tolde them howe it came to passe to him that was possessed with the deuil, and also of the swine.

17 And they beganne to pray him to depart out of their coastes.

18 And when he was come into the shyp, he that had bin possessed with the deuil, prayed him that he might be with him.

19 Howbeit Jesus suffered him not, but sayth vnto him, Goe home to thy friends, and shewe them howe great thinges the Lorde hath done for thee, and had compassion on thee.

20 And he departed, and beganne to publishe in Decapolis, howe great thinges Jesus had done for him: and al men dyd maruel.

21 And when Jesus was come ouer again by shyp vnto the other (syde,) much people gathered vnto him, and he was nigh vnto the sea.

22 And beholde, there commeth one of the rulers of the synagogue, Jairus by name: and when he sawe him, he fel downe at his feete, Math.8.d. Luk.8.f.

35 While he yet spake, there come from the ruler of the synagogues (house) certaine, whiche sayde, Thy daughter is dead, why diseasest thou the maister any further? Mat.19.c. Luke.8.g.

36 As sone as Jesus hearde the worde that was spoken, he sayth vnto the ruler of the synagogue, Be not afrayde, onely beleeue.

37 And he suffered no man to folowe him, saue Peter, and James, and John, the brother of James.

38 And he commeth to the house of the ruler of the synagogue, and seeth the tumult, and them that wepte and wayled greatly. Mat.8.e. Luke.9.g.

39 And when he was come in, he saith vnto them, Why make ye this a doe, and wepe?

weepe? the Damsel is not dead, but sleepeth.

40 And they laught him to scorne: but he, after that he had put them all out, taketh the father and the mother of the Damsel, and them that were with him, and entreth in where the Damsel lay.

41 And when he had taken the Damsell by the hande, he saith vnto hir, Talithacumi, which is, being interpreted, Damsel, (I say vnto thee) Aryse.

42 And straightway the Damsel arose, and walked, for she was of the age of twelue yeres: and they were astonied out of measure.

43 And he charged them straightly that no man should knowe of it: and commaunded to giue hir meate.

5 And he could there do no mightie worke: but layde his handes vppon a fewe sicke folke, and healed (them.)

6 And he marueyled because of their vnbeliefe. And he went about by the villages that lay on euery side, teaching. Mark.9.d. Mat.10.c.

B 7 And he calleth the twelue, and beganne to sende them forth, two and two, and gaue them power agaynst vncleane spirites.

8 And commaunded them that they should take nothing in their iourney, saue a staffe (a) onely, no scrippe, no breade, no money in their purse:

a. They may take a staffe for their ease and not to defende themselues: as in Math.10.

9 But should be shoed with sandales: and that they shoulde not put on two coates.

10 And he sayde vnto them, Whereseuer ye enter into an house, there abyde til ye depart thence.

11 And who so euer shall not receyue you nor heare you, when yee departe thence, shake of the dust that is vnder your feete, for a witnesse against them: I say verely vnto you, it shall be easier for the Sodomites and the Gomorrheans in the day of iudgement, than for that citie. 12 And they went out and preached, that men should repent. Mat.10.b

13 And they cast out many deuils, and annoynted many that were sicke with oyle, and healed them.

C 14 And king Herode hearde (of him,) (for his name was spreade abroade:) and hee sayde that John Baptist was risen from the deade, and therefore mightie workes do shewe forth them selues in him. Mat.14.b Luke.9.d.

15 Other sayd, that it is Elias, Some said, That it is a prophete, or as one of the prophetes.

16 But when Herode had hearde of him, he sayde, It is John, whome I beheaded: he is risen from death. Mat.14.b. Mat.9.b. Mar.6.a.

17 For Herode hym selfe had sente forth and layde handes vpon John, and bounde him in prison for Herodias sake, his brother Philips wife, because he had maried hir. "his seruantes. Mat.14.b.

18 For John sayde vnto Herode, It is not lawful for thee to haue thy brothers wife. Leui.18.d and.20.h

19 Therefore Herodias laide wayte for him, and woulde haue kylled him: but she could not.

20 For Herode feared John, knowing that he was a iust man, and an holy, and gaue him reuerence: and when he heard hym, hee did many thinges, and hearde him gladly. Mat.9.d. Mar.14.b. Mar.14.a.

22 And when the daughter of the same Herodias came in and daunced, and pleased Herode, and them that sate at bord also, the king sayde vnto the Damsel, Aske of me what so euer thou wylt, and I wyll giue it thee.

23 And he sware vnto hir, What so euer thou Mar.14.b Mat.6.

thou ſhalt aſke of me, I wyll giue it thee, euen vnto the one halfe of my kingdome.

24 And ſhe went forth, and ſayd vnto hir, mother, What ſhall I aſke? She ſayde Iohn Baptiſtes head.

25 And ſhe came in ſtraightway with haſt vnto the king, and aſked, ſaying, I will that thou giue me by and by, in a charger, the head of Iohn Baptiſt.

26 And the king was exceeding ſory, (how be it) for his othes ſake, & for their ſakes which ſate at ſupper alſo, he wolde not caſt hir off.

27 And immediatly the king ſent the hangman, and commaunded his heade to be brought in: and he went and beheaded him in the priſon, 28 And brought his heade in a charger, and gaue it to the Damſel, and the Damſell gaue it to hir mother.

29 And when his diſciples hearde (of it,) they came and toke vp his body, & layde it in a tombe.

30 And the Apoſtles gathered them ſelues together, vnto Ieſus, and tolde hym all thinges, both what they had done, & what they had taught.

31 And he ſayde vnto them, Come yee alone out of the way into the wildernelle, and reſt a whyle. For there were many commers and goers, and they had no leyſure ſo much as to eate.

32 And they departed by ſhip out of the way into a deſart place.

33 And the people ſpyed them when they departed, and many knewe hiu: and ran a foote thyther out of all cities, and came thither before them, and came together vnto him.

34 And Ieſus, when he came out, ſawe muche people, and hadde compaſſion on them, bycauſe they were like ſheepe, not hauing a ſhephearde: and he beganne to teache them many things.

35 And when the day was nowe farre ſpent, his diſciples came vnto him, ſaying, This is a deſert place, and nowe the time is farre paſſed:

36 Let them depart, that they may goe into the countrey round about, and into the villages, and buy them breade: for they haue nothing to eate.

37 He anſwered, and ſayde vnto them, Giue ye them to eate. And they ſayde vnto him, (Shal we) goe & buy two hundred peny worth of bread, & giue them to eate?

38 He ſayth vnto them, How many loaues haue ye, goe, and loke. And when they hadde ſearched, they ſay, Fiue, and two fyſhes.

39 And he commaunded them to make them all ſit downe by companies vppon the greene graſſe. C

40 And they ſate downe, here a rowe, and there a rowe, (by) hundredes, and (by) fifties.

41 And when he had taken the fiue loaues, and the two fiſhes, and loked vp to heauen, he bleſſed, and brake the loaues, and gaue them to his diſciples to ſet before them: and the two fiſhes diuided he among them all.

42 And they al did eate, and were ſatiſfied.

43 And they toke vp twelue baſkettes ful of the fragmentes, and of the fiſhes.

44 And they that did eate the loaues, were about fiue thouſande men.

45 And ſtraightway he conſtrained his diſciples to goe into the ſhip, and to go ouer the ſea before vnto Bethſaida, whyle he ſhould ſende away the people. Mat.14.c.

46 And when he had ſente them away, he departed into a mountaine to pray. Mat.14.c. Iohn.6.b.

47 And when euen was come, the ſhip was in the middeſt of the ſea, and he alone on the lande. D

48 And he ſawe them troubled in rowing, (for the winde was contrary vnto them:) and about the fourth watche of the night, he commeth vnto them, walking vpon the ſea, and would haue paſſed by them.

49 But when they ſawe him walking vpon the ſea, they ſuppoſed it had bin a ſpirite, and cryed out.

50 (For they al ſawe him, and were troubled:) and anone he talked with them, and ſaith vnto them, Be of good cheare, it is I, be not afrayde.

51 And he went vp vnto them into the ſhip, and the winde ceaſſed, and they were ſore amazed in themſelues beyonde meaſure, and marueiled. Mat.14.c.

52 For they vnderſtood not (what was done) of the loaues, bycauſe their hart was hardened.

53 And when they had paſſed ouer, they came into the lande of Genezareth, and drewe vp into the hauen.

54 And when they were come out of the ſhip, ſtraightway they knewe him, 55 And ran forth throughout al the region rounde about, and began to carie about in beddes, thoſe that were ſycke, thyther where they heard that he was.

56 And whyther ſo euer he entred, into villages, villages, or cities, or fieldes, they layde the sicke folkes in the streetes, and prayed him that they might touche, and it were but the hemme of his garment: and as many as touched it, were made whole.

The.vij. Chapter.

2. The Pharisees finde fault at the disciples eating of meat with vnwashen hands. 8. The commaundement of God is transgressed by mans traditions. 22. Meat defileth not a man: but that which commeth from him. 26. Of the woman Syrophenissa. 32. The healyng of the deafe and dumbe.

A 1 AND the Pharisees come together vnto him, and certaine of the Scribes, which came from Jerusalem.
Mat.15.a.

2 And when they sawe some of his disciples eate breade with defiled (that is to say, w̄ vnwashē hands) they found fault.

3 For the Pharisees, and al the Jewes, except they washe their handes oft, eate not, obseruing the tradition of the elders.

4 And (when they come) from the market, except they washe, they eate not. And many other thynges there be, whiche they haue taken vpon them to obserue, (as) the washing of cuppes and pottes, brasen vessels, and of tables.

5 Then asked him the Pharisees and Scribes, Why walke not thy disciples according to the traditiō of the elders, but eate breade with vnwashen handes?

6 He answered, and said vnto them, Surely Esaias hath prophecied well of you hypocrites, as it is written, This people honoureth me with their lippes, but their hart is farre from me.
Esai.29.b. Mat.15.a.

B 7 Howbe it, in vayne doe they worship me, teaching doctrines, the commaundementes of men.

8 For, the commaundement of God being laid apart, ye obserue ỳ tradition of men, as the washing of pottes and cuppes: and many other suche like thynges ye doe.

9 And he sayde vnto them, Ful wel ye cast aside the commaundement of God, that ye may keepe your owne tradition.

10 For Moses sayde, Honour thy father and thy mother: and who so curseth father or mother, let him dye the death.
Exod.21.b. Deut.5.b. Ephe.6.a. Exo.20.b. Leui.20.b. Prou:20.c.

11 But ye say, If a man shal say to his father or his mother, Corban, (that is, by the gyft) that (is offered) of me, thou shalt be helped.

12 And so ye suffer him no more to doe ought for his father, or his mother, 13 Making the word of God of none effect through your tradition, whiche ye haue ordeyned: and many such thynges do ye.

14 And when he had called al ỳ people vnto him, he sayde vnto them, Hearken vnto me euery one of you, and vnderstande, C

15 There is nothing without a man that can defile him, when it entreth into him: but the thinges whiche proceede out of a man, those are they that defile the man.
Mat.15.

16 If any man hath eares to heare, let him heare.

17 And when he came into the house, away from the people, his disciples asked him of the similitude.

18 And he sayth vnto them, Are ye also so without vnderstanding? Do ye not perceiue that what so euer thing from without entreth into the man, it can not defile him, Mat.15.b.

19 Because it entreth not into his hart, but into the belly, and goeth out into the draught, purging al the meates?

20 And he sayde, That whiche commeth out of the man, defileth the man.

21 For from within, euen out of the harte D of men, proceede euil thoughtes, adulteries, fornications, murders,

22 Thefkes, couetousnesse, wickednesse, deceyte, wantonnesse, a wicked eye, blasphemie, pride, foolishnesse:

23 All these euil things come from within, and defile the man.

24 And from thence he arose, & went into the borders of Tyre & Sidon: & entred into an house, & would that no man should haue knowen, but he coulde not be hid.
Mat.15.b.

25 For a certaine woman, whose young daughter had an vncleane spirite, when she had herd of him, came & fel at his fete.

26 (The woman was a greeke, out of the nation of Syrophenissa:) & she besought him, that he would cast out the deuil from hir daughter.

27 But Jesus sayd vnto hir, Let the children first be fed: for it is not mete to take the childrens bread, and to cast it vnto the little dogges.

28 She answered, and sayd vnto him, Yes Lord, for the little dogges also eate vnder the table of the childrens crummes.
Mat.15.b.

29 And he sayde vnto hir, For this saying, goe thy way, the deuil is gonne out of thy daughter.

30 And when she was come home to hir house, she founde that ỳ deuil was departed, and hir daughter lying on the bed.

31 And

31 And when he was departed againe from the coastes of Tyre and Sidon, he came vnto the sea of Galilee, through the middes of the coastes of Decapolis.

32 And they bring vnto him one that was deafe, and hadde an impediment in hys speache: and they praye hym to put his handes vppon him.

33 And when he had taken him aside from the people, he put his fingers into his eares, & when he had spit, touched his tong.

34 And when he had loked vp to heauen, sighed, and sayde vnto him, Ephphatha, that is to say, Be thou opened.

35 And straightway, his eares were opened, and the string of his tong was losed, and he spake playne.

36 And he commaunded them that they shoulde tel no man: but the more he commaunded them, so much the more a great deale they published it.

37 And were beyonde measure astonyed, saying, He hath done all things wel: he hath made both the deafe to heare, and the the dumbe to speake.

The.viij. Chapter.

2. The myracle of the seuen loaues. 11. The Pharisees aske a signe. 15. The leauen of the Pharisees. 22. The blinde receiueth his sight. 29. Peter confesseth Christ. 33. and is rebuked of Christ. 34. Howe we should folowe Christ. 35. lose our lyfe, 38. and not be ashamed of the Gospel.

1 IN those dayes, the companie being very great, and hauing nothing to eate, when Jesus had called his disciples vnto him, he saith vnto them.

2 I haue compassion on the people, bycause they haue nowe bin with me three dayes and haue nothing to eate.

3 And if I sende them away fasting to their owne houses, they shall fainte by the way: for diuers of them come from far.

4 And his disciples answered him, From whence can a man satisfie these men with bread here in the wildernesse?

5 And he asked them, Howe many loaues haue ye? They saide, Seuen.

6 And he commaunded the people to sitte downe on the grounde: and he toke the seuen loaues, and when he hadde giuen thankes, he brake, and gaue to his disciples to set before them: and they did set them before the people:

7 And they had a fewe smal fishes: & when he had blessed, he commaunded to set them also before them.

8 So they did eate, and were fulfilled: and they toke vp of the broken meate that was left, seuen baskettes full.

9 And they that hadde eaten, were about foure thousande: and he sent them away.

10 And anone when he had entred into a ship with his disciples, he came into the parties of Dalmanutha.

11 And the Pharisees came forth, and began to dispute with him, seeking of him a signe from heauen, tempting him. Mat.16.a. Luke.11.d. John.6.d.

12 And when he had sighed deepely in his spirite, he sayth, Why do this generation seeke a signe? Verely I saye vnto you, There shall no (a) signe be giuen vnto this generation.

a. It is in the Greeke text, if a signe, which the Hebrues vse as a vehemēt negatiō.

13 And when he hadde left them, and entred into the ship againe, he departed ouer the water.

14 And they had forgotten to take bread (with them,) neither had they in the ship with them more than one loafe. C

15 And he charged them, saying, Take heede, beware of the leauen of the Pharisees, and of the leauen of Herode. Mat.16.b. Luke.12.a.

16 And they reasoned among them selues, saying, We haue no bread.

17 And when Jesus knewe (it,) he sayth vnto them, Why reason ye, bycause yee haue no bread? Perceiue ye not yet, neyther vnderstande? Haue ye your hart yet hardened?

18 Hauing eyes, see ye not? and hauing eares, heare ye not? Do ye not remember?

19 When I brake the fiue loaues among fiue thousande (menne,) howe many baskettes full of broken meate toke ye vp? They say vnto him, Twelue. Mat.14.c.

20 When I brake the seuen among foure thousande, howe many baskettes of the leauings of the broken meate toke ye vp? They sayde, Seuen. Mat.15.d.

21 And he sayde vnto them, Howe happeneth it that ye do not vnderstande? D

22 And he commeth to Bethsaida, and they bring a blinde man vnto him, and desired him to touche him.

23 And when he had caught the blind by the hande, he lead him out of the towne: and when he had spit in his eyes, and put his handes vppon him, he asked him if he sawe ought.

24 And he loked vp, & said, I see men: for I perceiue thē walke as (they were) trees.

25 After that he put his handes agayne vppon his eyes, and made him see: and he he was restored, and sawe euery man clearely.

26 And he sent him home to his house, saying, Neither goe into the village, nor tel it to any in the village.

Mat. 16.f. Luke.9.c. 27 And Jesus went out, and his disciples, into the villages that long to Cesarea Philippi: and by the way he asked his disciples, saying vnto them, Whom do men say that I am?

28 And they answered, John Baptist, and some saye Elias: againe, some (say) that thou art one of the prophetes.

Mat.16.c. Luke.9.c. John.6.g. 29 And he sayde vnto them, But whom say ye that I am? Peter answereth, and sayth vnto him, Thou art very Christ.

Mat.16.c. and.20.c. 30 And he charged them that they should tel no man.

Luke.9.c. 31 And he began to teache them that the sonne of man must suffer many thinges, and be reproued of the elders, and of the high priestes and scribes, and be killed, and after three dayes, rise againe.

32 And he spake that saying openly, and Peter toke him aside, and beganne to rebuke him.

33 But when he had turned about, and loked on his disciples, he rebuked Peter, saying, Goe after me Satan: for thou sauorest not the things that (be) of God, but the things that be of men.

Mat.16.d. Luke.9.c. and.14.f. 34 And when he had called the people vnto him, with his disciples also, he sayd vnto them, Whosoeuer will come after me, let him forsake him selfe, and take vp his crosse and folowe me.

35 For whosoeuer will saue his life, shall lose it, but whosoeuer shal lose his life for my sake, & the Gospels, ẏ same shal saue it.

36 For what shal it profite a man, if he shal win al the world, & lose his owne soule?

37 Or what shal a man giue, for a raunsome of his soule?

Mat.10.f. Luke.12.b. 38 Whosoeuer therefore shall be ashamed of me, and of my wordes, in this adulterous and synnefull generation, of him also shall the sonne of man be ashamed, whē he commeth in the glory of his father, with the holy angels.

The.ix.Chapter.

2. The transfiguration of Christe, 13. Elias is come. 26. A dumbe spirite is caste out. 29. VVhy the disciples coulde not cast it out. 33. The disciples contende for superioritie. 38. One casteth oute deuilles that folowed not Christs disciples. 43. Of the offences of hand, fote, or eye. 49. Of seasoning with salt.

1 AND he sayde vnto them, Verely I say vnto you, that there be some of them that stande here which shall in no wyse tast of death, tyll they haue seene the kingdome of God come with power. I Mat.16.d. Luke.9.c.

2 And after sixe dayes, Jesus taketh with him Peter, and James, and John, and leadeth them vp into an hygh mountaine out of the way alone: and he was transfigured before them. Mat.17.a. Luke.9.c.

3 And his rayment did shine, (and became) very white, euen as snowe, so as no fuller vpon the earth can white them.

4 And there appeared vnto them Elias with Moses: and they were talking with Jesus.

5 And Peter answered, and saith to Jesus, Maister, here is good being for vs: and let vs make three tabernacles, one for thee, and one for Moses, and one for Elias.

6 For he wist not what he should say: for they were sore afrayde.

7 And there was a cloude that shadowed them: and a voyce came out of the cloud: saying, This is my beloued sonne: heare him. B

8 And sodeynly when they hadde loked rounde about, they sawe no man, more than Jesus only with them selues. Mat.3.d. and.17.h. Luke.3.c.

9 And as they came downe from the hyll, he charged them that they should tell no man those thinges that they hadde seene, til the son of man were risen frō the dead. Mat.1.h. Esai42.a. Mat.17.h. Mar.1.d.

10 And they kept that saying with them, and demaunded one of another, whāt the rysing from the dead should meane.

11 And they asked him saying, Why then say ẏ Scribes that Elias must first come? Mala.4.b

12 He answered and sayde vnto them, Elias verely when he commeth first, restoreth all thinges: and the sonne of man, as it is writtē of him, shal suffer many things and be set at nought. Esai.53.b

13 But I say vnto you, that Elias is come, and they haue done vnto him what soeuer they would, as it is written of him. C

14 And when he came to his disciples, he sawe muche people about them, and the Scribes disputing with them.

15 And straightway all the people, when they beheld him, were greatly amased, and running to him, saluted him.

16 And he asked the Scribes, What dispute ye" among your selues? "or, Some read, with them.

17 And one of the company answered, and sayde, Maister, I haue brought vnto thee my sonne, which hath a dumbe spirite: Mat.17.b Luke.9.b

18 And where so euer he taketh him, he teareth

teareth him, and (he) foameth, and gnasheth with his teeth, and pineth away: and I spake to thy disciples that they should cast him out, and they could not.

19 He answereth him, and saith, O faithlesse natiõ, how long shal I be with you? how long shall I suffer you? Bring him vnto me.

20 And they brought him vnto him: and when he sawe him, straightway the spirite tare him, and when he fell downe on the grounde, he wallowed, foming.

21 And he asked his father, Howe long is it agoe since this came vnto him? And he sayde, Of a childe.

22 And oft times it hath cast him into the fire, and into the waters, to destroy him: but if thou canst doe any thing, haue mercie on vs, and helpe vs.

23 Jesus sayde vnto him, This thing if thou canst beleeue, all things are possible to him that beleeueth.

24 And straightway, when the father of the childe had cried with teares, he said Lord I beleeue, helpe thou mine vnbeleefe.

25 When Jesus sawe that the people came running together, he rebuked the foule spirit, saying vnto him, Thou dumbe & deafe spirit, I charge thee come out of him, and enter no more into him.

26 And (the spirit) when he had cryed, and rent him sore, came out of him. & he was as one that had bin dead, insomuch that many sayde, He is dead.

27 But Jesus, when he had caught him by the hand, lifted him vp: and he arose.

28 And when he was come into the house, his disciples asked him secretely, Why could not we cast him out?

29 And he sayde vnto them, This kinde" can come forth by nothing, but by prayer and fasting.

30 And after they departed thence, they toke their iourney through Galilee, & he would not that any man should know (it.)

31 For he taught his disciples, and sayde vnto them. The sonne of man is deliuered into the handes of men, and they shal kill him, and after that he is killed, he shall rise the thirde day.

32 But they vnderstoode not that saying, and were afraide to aske him.

33 And he came to Capernaum: and when he was come into the house, he asked thē, What was it that ye disputed among your selues by the way?

34 And they held their peace: for by the way they had reasoned among them selues, who (should be) the chiefest.

35 And when he was set downe, he called the twelue, and saith vnto them, If any man desire to be first, the same shal be last of al, and seruant vnto all.

36 And when he had taken a yong child, he set him in the middest of them: and when he had taken him in his armes, he sayde vnto them,

37 Who so euer shall receiue any suche a yong child in my name, receiueth me: and whosoeuer shal receiue me, receiueth not me, but him that sent me.

38 John answered him, saying, Maister, we sawe one casting out deuils in thy name, and he followeth not vs, and we forbade him, because he followeth vs not.

39 But Jesus sayde, Forbid him not, for there is no man, which, if he do a myracle in my name, can lightly speake euil of me.

40 For he that is not against vs, is on our part.

41 Whosoeuer shal in my name giue you a cup of colde water to drinke, because ye belong to Christ: verely I say vnto you, he shal not lose his reward.

42 And who so euer shall offende one of these little ones, that beleue in me, it is better for him if a mylstone were hanged about his necke, & he were cast into the sea.

43 And if thy hand offend thee, cut it off: It is better for thee to enter into life maimed, than hauing two handes to goe into hel, into fire that neuer shal be quenched:

44 Where their worme dieth not, and the fire is not quenched.

45 And if thy foote offend thee, cut it off: it is better for thee to enter halt into life, than hauing thy two feete, to be cast into hel, into fire that neuer shal be quenched:

46 Where their worme dyeth not, and the fire is not quenched.

47 And if thine eye offend thee, plucke it out: it is better for thee to enter into the kingdome of God with one eye, than hauing two eyes, to be cast into hel fire:

48 Where their worme dyeth not, and the fire is not quenched.

49 For euery man shal be salted with fire, and euery sacrifice shal be seasoned with salt.

50 Salt is good: but if the salt be vnsauerie, with what thing shall you season it? Haue ye salt in your selues, and haue peace among your selues one with another.

13 And they brought yong children to him, that he should touche them: and his disciples rebuked those that brought them.

C

14 But when Iesus sawe it, he was sore displeased, and sayde vnto them, Suffer the young children to come vnto me, and forbydde them not: for to suche belongeth the kingdome of God.

Mat.18.a. Luke.17.a.

15 Verily I say vnto you, Whosoeuer shal not receiue the kingdome of God is a yong child, he shall in no wise enter therein.

16 And when he had taken them vp in his armes, putting his handes vppon them, he blessed them.

17 And when he was gonne forth into the way, there came one running, and kneled to him, and asked him, Good maister, what shall I do ꝧ I may inherite eternal lyfe? Mat.19.b. Luke.18.

18 Iesus sayd vnto him, Why callest thou me good? There is no man good but one, (which is) God.

19 Thou knowest the cõmaundementes, Doe not commit adulterie, Doe not kill, Doe not steale, Doe not beare false witnesse, Defraud (no man,) Honour thy father and mother. Mat.16.c. Luke.20.c. Mat.15.f. Mar.22.c.

20 He answered, and said vnto him, Maister, all these haue I obserued from my youth.

21 Iesus beheld him, and loued him, and said vnto him, one thing thou lackest: Go thy way, sell what so euer thou hast, and giue to the poore, and thou shalt haue treasure in heauen, & come folowe me, when thou hast taken vp the crosse. D Mat.20.c. Mar.10. Luke.18.b.

22 But he was discomforted bycause of that saying, and went away mourning: for he had great possessions.

23 And when Iesus had loked rounde about, he sayth vnto his disciples, Howe hardely shall they that haue riches, enter into the kingdome of God? Mat.19.c Luke.18.c.

24 And the disciples were astonyed at his wordes. But Iesus answereth againe, and saith vnto them, Children, howe hard is it for them that trust in riches, to enter into the kingdome of God?

25 It is easier for a Camel to goe thyough the eye of a needle, than for the riche to enter into the kingdome of God.

26 And they were astonyed out of measure, saying betweene them selues, Who then can be saued? Mat.20.

27 Iesus, when he had loked vppon them, sayth, With men it is vnpossible, but not with God: for with God all thinges are possible. Mat.20 Luk.22.

28 And Peter began to say vnto him, Loe, we haue forsaken al, & haue folowed thee. E

29 Iesus answered, and sayd, Verily I say vnto you, There is no man that hath forsaken houle, or brethren, or sisters, or father, or mother, or wife, or children, or landes, for my sake and the Gospels, Mat.19.b Luke.18.

30 But he shal receiue an hundred fold now at this present, houses, and brethren, and sisters, and mothers, and children, & landes with persecutions, and in the worlde to come eternal life. Mat.

31 But many that are first, shal be last: and Mat.19.b Luke.13.b

the last, first.

32 And they were in the way goyng vp to Ierusalem: and Iesus went before them, and they were amazed, and as they folowed, were afrayd: and when he had agayne taken with him the twelue, he began to tel them what thyngs should happen vnto him, 33 (Saying,) Beholde, we goe vp to Hierusalem, and the son of man shal be deliuered vnto the high Priestes, and vnto the Scribes, and they shall condemne him to death, & shal deliuer him to the Gentiles.

34 And they shal mocke hym, and scourge hym, and spyt vppon hym, and kyll hym: and the thyrde day he shall aryse.

35 And Iames and John, the sons of Zebedee, came vnto hym, saying, Mayster, we wyll that thou shouldest doe for vs, whatsoeuer we shal desire.

36 He said vnto them, What wil ye that I should do for you?

37 They saide vnto him, Graunt vnto vs that we may sit, one on thy right hand, & the other on thy left hand in thy glory.

38 But Iesus said vnto them, Ye wot not what ye aske: Can ye drinke of the cuppe that I drinke of? and be baptised with the baptisme that I am baptised with?

39 And they saide vnto him, That we can. Iesus sayde vnto them, Ye shall in deede drinke of the cuppe that I drinke of: and with ỹ baptisme that I ambaptised withal, shall ye be baptised:

40 But to sit on my right hand, and on my left hand, is not mine to giue, but (it shall be giuen) vnto them for whom it is prepared.

41 And when the (other) ten heard it, they began to disdaine at Iames and John.

42 But Iesus, when he had called them to him, saith vnto them, Ye know that they whiche seeme to beare rule among the Gentiles, raigne as lordes ouer them: and they that be great among them, exercise authoritie vpon them.

43 But so shall it not be among you: but who so euer of you will be great among you, shal be your minister:

44 And who so euer of you will be the chiefest, shall be seruant of al.

45 For the son of man al so came not to be ministred vnto, but to minister, and to giue his life a raunsome for many,

46 And they came to Ierico: and as he went out of the citie of Jerico with his disciples, and a great number of people, blinde Bartimeus, the sonne of Timeus, sate by the hygh wayes side, begging.

47 And when he heard that it was Iesus of Nazareth, he began to cry and say, Iesus thou sonne of Dauid, haue mercy on me.

48 And many rebuked him, that he should hold his peace: but he cryed the more a great deale, Thou sonne of Dauid, haue mercie on me.

49 And Iesus stode stil, and commaunded him to be called: and they cal the blynde, saying vnto him, Be of good comfort, rise, he calleth thee.

50 And when he hadde throwen away his cloke, he arose, and came to Iesus.

51 And Iesus answered, and said vnto him, What wylt thou that I doe vnto thee? The blind saide vnto him, Maister, that I might see.

52 Iesus saide vnto him, Goe thy way, thy fayth hath saued thee. And immediatly he receiued his sight, and folowed Iesus in the way.

Christ proueth the resurrection by scripture, against the Saducees. 28. the cheefe commaundementes of the lawe. 35. Christ is the sonne of Dauid. 38. the hypocritical vsage of the Scribes. 41. the pore wydowes farthing.

Mat.21.d

1 AND he beganne to speake vnto them I by parables. A certaine man planted a Vineyarde, and he set an hedge about it, and digged a winepresse, and buylte a towre, and lette it out to husbandmen: and went into a strange countrey.

2 And when the time was come, he sent to the husbandmen a seruaunt, that he might receiue of the husbandmen of the fruite of the Vineyarde.

3 And

3 And they caught him, and beat him, and sent him away emptie.

4 And againe he sent vnto them another seruant: and at him they cast stones, and brake his head, and sent him away all to reuyled.

5 And againe he sent another, and him they killed: & many other, beating some, and killing some.

6 And so when he had yet but one beloued sonne, he sent him also at the last vnto them, saying, They will stande in awe of my sonne.

B 7 But the husbandmen said amongst them selues, This is the heyre, come, let vs kyll him, and the inheritance shal be ours.

8 And they toke him, and killed him, and cast him out of the Vineyarde.

9 What shall therefore the Lorde of the Vineyard do? He shal come and destroye the husbandmen, and wil giue the Vineyard vnto other.

10 Haue ye not read this scripture? The stone which the buylders disalowed, is becomie the chiefe stone of the corner:

11 This was the Lordes doing, and it is marueylous in our eyes?

12 They went about also to take him, and feared the people: for they knewe that he had spoken the parable against them: and they left him, and went their way.

13 And they sent vnto him certaine of the Pharisees and of the Herodians, to take him in his wordes.

C 14 And when they were come, they say vnto him, Maister, we knowe that thou art true, and carest for no man: for thou considerest not the persons of men, but teachest the way of God in truthe: is it lawful to giue tribute to Ceasar, or not?

15 Shal we giue, or shal we not giue? But he knowing their hypocrisie, sayde vnto them, Why tempt ye me? Bring me a penie, that I may see it.

16 And they brought it: and he sayth vnto them, Whose is this image & superscription? And they sayde vnto him, Ceasars.

17 And Jesus answering, sayde vnto them, Giue to Ceasar the thinges that (belong) to Ceasar: and to God the things which (pertayne) to God. And they marueyled at him.

18 There come also vnto him the Sadducees, whiche say there is no resurrection, and they asked him, saying.

19 Maister, Moses wrote vnto vs, if anye mans brother dye, and leaue his wife behinde him, and leaue no children: that his brother shoulde take his wife, and rayse vp seede vnto his brother.

20 Their were seuen brethren: and the first toke a wife, and when he died, left no seede behinde him.

21 And the seconde toke hir, & died, neither D left he any seede: and the thirde likewise.

22 And seuen had hir, and lefte no seed behind them: last of al, the wyfe died also.

23 In the resurrection therefore when they shall rise, whose wife shal she be of them? for seuen had hir to wife.

24 And Jesus answering, said vnto them, Do ye not therefore erre, because ye know not the scriptures, neyther the power of God?

25 For when they shal ryse from the dead, they neither marry, nor are giuen in maryage: but are as the angels which (are) in heauen.

26 As touching the dead that they rise: haue ye not read in the booke of Moses, how in the bushe God spake vnto him, saying, I (am) the God of Abraham, and the God of Isahac, and the God of Jacob? Exo.3.b. Mat.22.c. Luke.10.k.

27 He is not the God of the dead, but God of the liuing: ye therefore do greatly erre.

28 And when there came one of the Scribes: and had heard them disputing together, and perceiued that he had answered them well, he asked him which is the first commaundement of al? E Mat.22.d.

29 Jesus answered him, the first of all the commaundements (is,) Heare, O Israel, the Lorde our God, is one Lord: Deut.6.a. Mat.22.d.

30 And thou shalt loue the Lord thy God with all thy hart, & with al thy soule, and with al thy minde, & with al thy strength. This (is) the first commaundement:

31 And the second is like vnto (this,) Thou shalt loue thy neyghbour as thy selfe: There is none other commaundemente greater than these. Leuit.19.d Mat.22.b. Rom.13.c. Galat.5.f. Jacob.2.b. Mat.5.g.

32 And the Scribe sayde vnto him, Wel maister, ỹ hast sayde the truth, for there is one God, and there is none other but he.

33 And to loue him with al the hart, & with al the vnderstanding, & with al the soule, and with all the strength, and to loue a(mans) neighbour as him selfe, is greater than all the burnt offerings & sacrifices.

34 And when Jesus sawe that he answered discreetely, he sayde vnto him, Thou art not farre from the kingdome of God. And no man after that durst aske him any question.

35 And Jesus answering, sayde, teaching in the temple, Howe say the Scribes that Christ is the sonne of Dauid?

Mat. 22.d. Psal.110.a. 36 For Dauid him selfe, inspired with the holy ghoste, sayde, The Lord sayde to my Lord, Syt on my right hand, tyl I make thine enimies thy fotestoole.

37 Dauid him selfe calleth him Lord: and whence is he then his sonne? And muche people heard him gladly.

Mat.23.a. Luke.20.g. 38 And (he) said vnto them in his doctrine, Beware of the Scribes, whiche desyre to walke in long clothing, and (loue) salutations in the market places, 39 And the chiefe seats in the synagogues, and the vppermost romes at feastes, 40 Which deuour wyddowes houses, and vnder a pretence make long prayers: these shall receiue greater damnation.

Luke.21.a. 41 And when Jesus sate ouer against the treasurie, he beheld howe the people put money into the treasurie: and many that were riche, cast in muche.

42 And there came a certaine poore wyddowe, and she threw in two mytes, which make a farthing.

43 And when he had called vnto him his disciples, he sayth vnto them, Verely I say vnto you, that this poore wyddowe hath cast more in, than al they which haue cast into the treasurie.

44 For they al did cast in of their superfluitie: but she of hir want, did cast in al that she had, (euen) al hir liuing.

Mat.24.a. Luke.21.a. 2 And Jesus answering, saide vnto him, Seest thou these great buildings? there shal not be left one stone vppon another, that shal not be throwen downe.

3 And as he sate vpon ỳ mount of Olines ouer against the temple, Peter, & James, and John, & Andrewe, asked him secretly, 4 Tel vs, when shall these things be? And what shal be ỳ signe when all these things shall be fulfiled?

5 And Jesus answering them, began to say, Take heede lest any man deceiue you.

6 For many shal come in my name, saying I am (Christ:) and shall deceiue many. Mat.24.a. Luke.21.b

7 When ye shall heare of wars, and tidinges of warres, be ye not troubled: For such (things) must nedes be: but the end (shall) not (be) yet. B

8 For there shall nation rise against nation, and kingdome against kingdome: and there shall be earthquakes in diuers places, and famines shall there be, & troubles: these are the beginnings of sorowes.

9 But take ye heede to your selues: for they shall deliuer you vp to counsayles, and to synagogues, and ye shall be whypped, yea and shall be brought before rulers and kings for my sake, (that this might be) for a witnesse against them. John.16.d Mat.10.d Luke.21. John.16.

10 And the Gospel must fyrst be published among al nations. Mat.24.b

11 But when they shall leade you, deliuering you vp, be not careful aforehande, neither take thought what ye shal speake: but whatsoeuer shal be giuē you in ỳ same houre, that speake ye: for it is not ye that speake, but the holy ghoste. Mat.10.f.

12 The brother shall betray the brother to death, and the father the sonne: and the children shal rise against their fathers and mothers, and shal put them to death.

13 And ye shal be hated of all men for my names sake: but he that shall endure vnto the ende, the same shall be safe.

14 Moreouer, when ye see the abhominatiō of desolation, wherof is spoken by Daniel ỳ prophete, standing where it ought not (let him that readeth vnderstande) then let them that be in Jurie, flee to the mountaines: C Mat.24.b Luke.21.b Dani.9.b

15 And let him that is on the house toppe, not goe downe into the house, neither enter therein to fetche any thing out of his house.

16 And let him that is in the fielde, not turne backe agayne for to take his garment with him.

17 Wo (shal be) then to them that are with child, and to them that giue sucke in those dayes.

18 But pray ye that your flight be not in the winter:

19 For there shall be in those dayes (suche) tribulation, as was not from the beginning of the creation whiche God created, vnto this time, neyther shall be in any wise.

20 And except that the Lord had shortened those dayes, no flesh should be saued: but for the electes sake whom he hath chosen, he hath shortened those dayes.

21 And

D 21 And then, if any man shall say to you, Loe here is Christe, or loe he is there: beleeue him not.

22 For false Christes, and false prophetes shall ryse, & shall shewe signes and wonders, to deceiue, if it were possible, euen the elect.

23 But take ye heede: beholde, I haue shewed you al things before.

24 Moreouer, in those dayes, after that tribulation, the sunne shal be darkened, and the moone shal not giue hir light:

25 And the starres of heauen shal fall, and the powers which (are) in heauen, shall be shaken.

26 And then shal they see the sonne of man comming in the cloudes, with great power and glorie.

27 And then shall he sende his angels, and shall gather together his elect from the foure windes, from the ende of the earth to the vttermost part of heauen.

28 Learne a parable of the fig tree. When hir branche is yet tender, and hath brought forth leaues, yee knowe that sommer is neare:

29 So ye in like manner, when ye shall see these thinges come to passe, vnderstande (a) that (it) is nigh, euen at the dores.

30 Verely I say vnto you, that this generation shall in no wise passe, till all these thinges be donne:

31 Heauen and earth shall passe away: but my wordes shall in no wise passe away.

32 But of that day and that houre knoweth no man, no not the angels which are in heauen, neither the sonne him selfe, saue the father (only.)

33 Take ye heede, watche and pray: for ye knowe not when the time is.

34 As a man which is gon into a strange countrey, and hath left his house, and giuen auctoritie to his seruantes, and to euery man his worke, and commaunded the porter to watche:

35 Watche ye therefore, (for ye knowe not when the maister of the house commeth, at euen, or at midnight, whether at the Cocke crowing, or in the dawning,)

36 Lest if he come sodenly, he finde you sleping.

37 And that I say vnto you I say, vnto al, Watche.

(a) This is, the kingdome of God.

Mat.26.c.

26 And when they had prayed (God,) they went out into the mount of Olines.

27 And Jesus saith vnto them, Al ye shall be offended bycause of me this night: for it is written, I will smite the shepheard, and the sheepe shall be scattered.

Zach.12.c Mat.26.c. Luke.22.d. John.13.d.

28 But after that I am risen, I will goe into Galilee before you.

29 Peter saide vnto him, Although al men shal be offended, yet (will) not I.

30 And Jesus saith vnto him, Verily I say vnto thee, that this day, euen in this night, before ỳ Cocke crowe twyse, thou shalt denye me three times.

31 But he spake more vehemently, If I should dye with thee, I wil not deny thee in any wise. Likewise also saide they al.

32 And they came into a place which was named Gethsemani, and he sayth to his disciples, Sit ye here, while I shal pray. Mat.

33 And he taketh with him Peter, and James, and John, and began to be sore amazed, and to be in an agony, 34 And saith vnto them, My soule is exceeding heauy, euen vnto the death: tarye ye here, and watche. Mat. John.

35 And when he had gonne forward a litle, he fel on the grounde: and prayed that if it were possible, the houre myght passe from him.

36 And he sayde, Abba, father, all thinges are possible vnto thee: take away this cup from me. Neuertheless, not that I wyll, but that thou (wilt be donne.) Mat. Luke.

37 And he commeth and findeth them sleeping, & saith vnto Peter, Simon, sleepest thou? Couldest not thou watche one houre?

38 Watche ye and pray, least ye enter into temptation: The spirite truely is ready, but the flesche is weake.

39 And againe he went aside, and prayed, and spake the same wordes. Mat.

40 And when he returned, he founde them a slepe again (for their eyes were heauy:) neither wist they what to answere him. f

41 And he commeth the thirde time, and sayth vnto them, Sleepe henceforth, and take your ease: it is ynough, the houre is come, beholde, the sonne of man is betrayed into the handes of sinners.

42 Rise vp, let vs goe: Loe, he that betrayeth me is at hande.

43 And immediatly while he yet spake, cōmeth Judas, being one of the twelue, and with him a great number of people with swords and staues, from the high priestes, and Scribes, and elders. Mat. Luke.

44 And he that betrayed him, had giuen them a general token, saying, Who so euer I shall kisse, that same is he: take him, and leade him away warely.

45 And as sone as he was come, he goeth straightway to him, and saith vnto him, Maister, maister, and kissed him, 46 And they laide their handes on him and toke him.

47 And one of them that stode by when he had drawen out his sword, smote a seruant of the high priest, & cut off his eare. "or take way.

48 And Jesus answered, and saide vnto them, Yee be come out as vnto a theefe with swordes and with staues, for to take me. Mat. Luke.

49 I was dayly with you in ỳ temple teaching, thing, and ye toke me not: but (these things come to passe) that the scriptures should be fulfilled.

50 And they al forsoke him, and ran away.

51 And there folowed him a certayne yong man, clothed in linnen vpon the bare: and the yong men caught him.

52 And he left his linnen garment, and fled from them naked.

53 And they led Iesus away to the byghe priest, and with him came all the highe priestes, and the elders, and the scribes.

54 And Peter folowed him a great way off, euen tyll he was come into the pallace of the high priest: and hee sate with the seruantes, and warmed (him selfe) at the fire.

55 And the high priestes and all the counsell sought for witnesse against Iesus to put him to death, and found none:

56 For many bare false witnesse agaynst hym, but their witnesse agreed not together.

57 And there arose certayne, and brought false witnesse against him, saying,

58 We hearde him say, I will destroy this temple that is made with handes, and within three dayes I will builde another made without handes.

59 But yet their witnesse agreed not so together.

60 And the highe priest stode vp in the middes, and asked Iesus, saying, Answerest thou nothing? Howe (is it that) these beare witnesse against thee?

61 But he held his peace, and answered nothing. Agayne, the highe priest asked him, and sayde vnto him, Art thou Christe the sonne of the blessed?

62 And Iesus sayde, I am: And ye shall see the sonne of man sitting on the right hand of the power (of God) and comming in the cloudes of heauen.

63 Then the highe priest, hauing rent his clothes, saith, What neede we any further witnesses?

64 Ye haue hearde the blasphemie: what thinke ye? And they all condemned him to be worthy of death.

65 And some beganne to spit at him, and to couer his face, and to beate him with fistes and to say vnto him, Prophecie: And the seruants did beate him with roddes.

66 And as Peter was beneath in the palace, there commeth one of the wenches of the high priest.

67 And when she saw Peter warming him selfe, after she had loked vpon him, she sayth, And thou also wast with Iesus of Nazareth.

68 But hee denyed, saying, I knowe him not, neither wote I what thou sayest. And he went out into the porche, and the Cocke crewe.

69 And a damosell, when she sawe him, beganne agayne to say to them that stode by, This is (one) of them.

70 And hee denyed it agayne. And anone after, they that stode by sayde agayne to Peter, Surely thou art one of them: for thou art of Galilee, and thy speach agreeth thereto.

71 But he beganne to curse and to sweare, (saying,) I knowe not this man of whom ye speake.

72 And the seconde time the Cocke crewe, and Peter remembred the worde that Iesus sayde vnto him, Before the Cocke crowe twise, thou shalte deny mee three times: And he beganne to weepe. Math.26.g Luke.22.g.

The Gospell by Saint Luke.

¶ The first Chapter.

1. The preface of Luke. 5. Of Zacharias and Elizabeth. 11. The Angell sheweth the Natiuitie of Iohn Baptist. 20. The incredulitie of Zacharie is punished. 28. The angell saluteth Marie, and sheweth the Natiuitie of Christe. 40. Marie visiteth Elizabeth. 46. The song of Marie. 57. The byrth, Circumcision, and graces of Iohn Baptist. 68. The prophecie of Zacharie. 80. The office of Iohn.

A 1 FOr as much as many haue taken in hande to set forth in order the declaration of those things whiche are most surely beleeued among vs.

a or, proued.

2 Euen as they deliuered them vnto vs, which from the beginning sawe them thē selues with their eyes, & were ministers of the (a) word:

2. That is, they were doers in suche things as be set foorth in the Gospell.

3 It seemed good to me also, hauing perfect vnderstanding of all things from the beginning, to write vnto thee in order, most excellent Theophilus.

4 That thou mightest knowe the certaintie of those things whereof thou hast bene taught by mouth.

5 THere was in the dayes of Herode the king of Iurie, a certayne priest named Zacharias, of the course of Abia, and his wife (was) of the daughters of Aaron, and hir name was Elizabeth. 2. Par. 24. 8

6 They were both righteous before God, walking in all the commaundements and ordinances of the Lord, blamelesse.

B 7 And they had no childe, bicause that Elizabeth was barren, and they both were nowe well stricken in age.

8 And it came to passe, that when Zacharie executed the priestes office before God, as his course came,

9 According to the custome of the priestes office, his lot was to burne incense when he went into the temple of the Lorde.

10 And the whole multitude of the people were without in prayer, whyle the incense was burning.

11 And there appeared vnto him an angell of the Lorde, standing on the right side of the aulter of the incense.

12 And when Zacharias sawe him, he was troubled, and feare fell vpon him.

13 But the Angell sayde vnto him, Feare not Zacharie, for thy prayer is heard, and thy wife Elizabeth shal beare thee a sōne, and thou shalt call his name Iohn,

14 And thou shalt haue ioy and gladnesse, C and many shall reioyce at his byrth:

15 And hee shall be great in the sight of the Lorde, and shall neyther drinke wine nor strong drinke, and hee shall be fylled with the holie Ghost, euen from his mothers wombe.

16 For many of the children of Israell, shall he turne to their Lorde God.

17 And hee shall goe before him with the spirite and power of Elias, to turne the heartes of the fathers to the children, and the disobedient to the wisedome of the iust men, to make ready a perfect people for the Lorde. Mat. 11. 9. b.

18 And Zacharias sayde vnto the angell, Gen. 17. 17. Iud. 13. 3. b. By what token shall I know this? For I am old, & my wife well stricken in yeeres.

19 And the angell answering, sayde vnto him, I am Gabriell that stande in the presence of God, and was sent to speake vnto thee, and to shew thee these glad tidings.

20 And beholde, thou shalt be dumbe, and not be able to speake, vntyll the daye that these things shall be performed, bycause thou beleeuedst not my wordes, which shal be fulfilled in their season.

21 And the people wayted for Zacharias, D and maruelled that hee tarryed so long in the temple.

22 And when hee came out, hee coulde not speake vnto them: and they perceyued that he had seene a vision in the temple: for he beckened vnto them, and remayned speachlesse.

23 And it came to passe, that as soone as the dayes of his office were out, hee departed into his owne house.

24 And after those dayes, his wife Elizabeth conceyued, and hid hir selfe fiue monethes, saying,

25 Thus hath the Lorde dealt with me in the the dayes wherein he loked on me, to take from me my rebuke(b) among men.

Gospell of Incarnation of Virgin Marie.

26 And in the sixth moneth, the angell Gabriell was sent from God, vnto a citie of Galilee, named Nazareth, 27 To a virgin, spoused to a man whose name was Joseph, of the house of Dauid, and the virgins name was Marie.

28 And when the angell was come in vnto hir, he sayde, Hayle (thou that art) in highe fauour, the Lord is with thee, Blessed art thou among women.

29 And when she sawe him, she was troubled at his saying, and cast in hir mynde what maner of salutation this should be.

30 And the angell sayde vnto hir, Feare not Marie, for thou hast founde fauour with God.

31 For beholde, thou shalt conceyue in thy wombe, and beare a sonne, and shalt call his name Jesus.

32 He shall be great, and shall be called the sonne of the highest, and the Lorde God shall giue vnto him the seate of hys father Dauid, 33 And he shal raigne ouer the house of Jacob for euer, and of his kingdome there shall be none end.

34 Then sayde Marie vnto the Angell, Howe shall this be, seeing I knowe not a man?

35 And the angell answering, sayde vnto hir, The holie ghost shall come vpon thee, and the power of the highest shall ouershadowe(c) thee. Therefore also that holie thing which shall be borne, shall be called the sonne of God.

36 And beholde, thy cousin Elizabeth, she hath also conceyued a sonne in hir olde age, and this is hir sixth moneth, whiche was called barren.

37 For with God shall no worde be vnpossible.

38 And Marie sayde, Beholde the handemayden of the Lorde, be it vnto me according to thy worde: and the angell departed from hir.

39 And Marie arose in those dayes, and wente into the hyll countrey with haste, into a citie of Juda, 40 And entred into the house of Zacharie, and saluted Elizabeth.

41 And it came to passe, that when Elizabeth hearde the salutation of Marie, the babe sprang in hir wombe, and Elizabeth was filled with the holie ghost, 42 And she spake out with a loude voyce, and sayd, Blessed art thou among wome, and the fruite of thy wombe is blessed.

43 And whence commeth this to me, that the mother of my Lorde shoulde come to me?

44 For loe, as sone as the voyce of thy salutation sounded in myne eares, the babe sprang in my wombe for ioy.

45 And blessed is he that beleeued, for those things shall be performed whiche were tolde hir from the Lord.

46 And Marie sayde, My soule magnifieth the Lorde, Esai. 61. d.

47 And my spirite hath reioyced in God my sauiour.

48 For he hath loked on the lowlynesse of his handemayden, for loe, nowe from hencefoorth shall all generations call me blessed.

49 Because he that is myghty hath done to me great things, and holy is his name.

50 And his mercie is on them that feare him, from generation, to generation.

51 He hath shewed strength with his arme, he hath scattered them that are proude, in the imagination of their heartes.

52 Hee hath put downe the mightie from their seates, and exalted the lowly. 1. Re. 2. b. Eccle. 10. b.

53 Hee hath filled the hungry with good things, and sent away the ryche emptie.

54 Hee hath helped his seruant Israell, in remembrance of his mercy, 55 (Euen as he spake to our fathers Abraham, and to his seede) for euer. Gen. 22. b.

56 And Marie aboade with hir about three monethes, and (afterwarde) returned to hir owne house.

57 Elizabethes time came that she shuld be deliuered, and she brought forth a sonne.

58 And hir neighbors, and hir cosins hearde howe the Lorde had shewed great mercie vpon hir, and they reioyced with hir.

59 And it came to passe, that on the eyght day they came to circumcise the childe, and called him Zacharias, after the name of his father. Gen. 17. b. E. 21. a. Leui. 12. a.

60 And his mother answering, sayde, Not so, but he shall be called John.

61 And they sayde vnto hir, There is none in thy kinred that is called by this name.

62 And they made signes to his father, what he would haue him called.

63 And when he had asked for writing tables, he wrote, saying, His name is John: and they marueled all.

64 And his mouth was opened immediatly, and his tong (loosed,) and he spake, praising God.

B b. He the first ten, by she had before.

8 There were in the same countrey shepheardes abyding in the fielde, keeping watche ouer their flocke by night.

9 And loe, the Angell of the Lorde stode harde by them, and the glorie of the Lorde shone rounde about them, and they were sore afrayde.

10 And the Angell sayde vnto them, Be not afrayde: for beholde, I bring you good tydings of great ioye, that shall be to all people:

11 For vnto you is borne this day, in the citie of Dauid, a sauiour, whiche is Christe the Lorde, 12 And take this for a signe, Ye shall finde the childe swadled, layd in a maunger.

13 And sodeynely there was with the Angell a multitude of heauenly souldiers, praysing God, and saying, 14 Glorie to God in the highest, and peace on the earth, and among men a good will.

15 And it came to passe, as soone as the Angels were gone awaye from them into heauen, the men the shepheardes sayde one to another, Let vs goe nowe euen vnto Bethlehem, and see this thing that is come to passe, which the Lord hath shewed vnto vs.

16 And they came with haste, and founde Marie and Joseph, and the babe layde in a maunger.

17 And when they had seene it, they published abroade the saying, which was tolde them of this childe.

18 And all they that hearde it, wondred at those things which were tolde them of the shepheardes.

19 But Marie kept all those sayings, and pondred pondred (them) in hir hart.

20 And the shepheardes returned, glorifying, and praysing God, for all the things that they had heard and seene, euen as it was told vnto them.

21 And when the eyght day was come, that the childe shoulde be circumcised, his name was called Jesus, whiche was so named of the angel before he was conceyued in the wombe.

22 And when the dayes of hir purification after the lawe of Moses were accomplished, they brought him to Jerusalem, to present him to the Lord,

23 As it is written in the law of the Lord; Euerie man childe that firste openeth the wombe, shall be called holy to the Lord, 24 And to offer, as it is sayde in the law of the Lorde, a payre of turtle Doues, or two yong Pigions.

25 And beholde, there was a man in Jerusalem, whose name was Simeon, and the same man was iust and godly, loking for the consolation of Israell: and the holie ghost was vpon him.

26 And a reuelation was gyuen him of the holy ghost, not to see death before he had seene the Lordes Christ.

27 And hee came by inspiration into the temple: and when the parentes brought in the childe Jesus, to doe for him after the custome of the lawe,

28 Then toke he him vp in his armes, and prayed God and sayde, 29 Lorde, nowe lettest thou thy seruant depart in peace, according to thy promise.

30 For myne eyes haue seene thy saluation.

31 Which thou hast prepared before the face of all people.

32 A light to be reuealed to the gentiles, and the glorie of thy people Israell.

33 And his father & his mother maruelled at those things which were spoken of him.

34 And Simeon blessed (c) them, and sayde vnto Marie his mother, Beholde, this childe is set to be the fall and (d) vprising againe of many in Israell, and for a signe which is spoken against.

35 (And moreouer, the swoord (e) shall pearce thy soule) that the thoughts of many harts (f) may be opened.

36 And there was a prophetisse, one Anna, the daughter of Phanuell, of the tribe of Aser, whiche was of a great age, and had lyued with an husbande (g) seuen yeeres from hir virginitie,

37 And she had bin a widdow about foure score and foure yeeres, which departed not from the temple, but serued God with fastings and prayers night and day:

38 And she, comming at the same instant vpon them, gaue thankes likewise vnto the Lorde, and spake of him to all them that loked for redemption in Jerusalem.

39 And when they hadde performed all things, according to the law of the Lord, they returned into Galilee, to their owne citie Nazareth.

43 And when they had fulfilled the dayes, as they returned home, the childe Jesus abode still in Jerusalem, and Joseph and his mother knewe not of it.

44 But they supposing him to haue bene in the companie, came a dayes iourney, and sought him among their kinsfolke and acquaintance.

45 And when they found him not, they turned back againe to Jerusalem, seking him.

46 And it came to passe, that after three dayes, they founde him in the temple, sytting in the middes of the Doctours, hearing them, and posing them.

47 And all that hearde him, were astonyed at his vnderstanding and answeres. Math. 7. d. Mark. 1. c. Luke. 4. c.

48 And when they sawe him, they were amased: and his mother sayde vnto hym, Sonne, why hast thou thus dealt with vs? Beholde, thy father and I haue sought thee, sorrowing.

49 And he sayde vnto them, How is it that ye sought me? Wist ye not that I muste goe about my fathers businesse?

50 And they vnderstode not that saying, which he spake vnto them. Luke. 9. c. c. 23. c.

51 And hee went downe with them, and came to Nazareth, and was obedient vnto them: but his mother kept all these sayings in hir heart.

52 And Jesus encreased in wisedome & stature, and in fauour with God and men.

Math.12.d. Mark.3.a.

7 And the Scribes and Pharisees watched him, whether he would heale on the Sabboth day: that they might finde howe to accuse him.

B 8 But he knewe their thoughtes, and sayde to the man which had the wythered hand, Rise vp, and stande forth in the middes. And he arose, and stode forth.

9 Then sayd Jesus vnto them, I will aske you a question, Whether is it lawfull on the Sabboth dayes to doe good, or to doe euill? to saue ones life, or to destroy it?

10 And when hee had beheld them all in compasse, he sayde vnto the man, Stretche forth thy hande. And he did so: and his hande was restored agayne as whole as the other.

18 And they that were vexed with foule spirites: and they were healed.

19 And all the people preassed to touch him: for there went vertue out of him, and healed them all.

20 And when he had lyfted vp his eyes vpon his disciples, he said, Blessed be ye poore: for yours is the kingdome of God.

Math.5.a.

21 Blessed are ye that hunger nowe: for ye shall be satisfied. Blessed are ye that weepe nowe, for ye shall laugh.

22 Blessed are ye when men shall hate you, and when they shall separate you (from their companie) and shall raple on you, and put out your name as euill, for the sonne of mans sake.

D

23 Reioyce ye in that day, and leape ye for ioy: for beholde, your rewarde is great in heauen: For in like manner did their fathers vnto the prophetes.

24 But woe vnto you that are riche: for ye haue your consolation.

Amos.6.b.

25 Wo vnto you that are full: for ye shall hunger. Wo vnto you that nowe laughe: for ye shall mourne and waple.

26 Wo vnto you whē men shal praise you: for so did their fathers to ỹ false prophets.

27 But I say vnto you which heare, loue your enimies: do good to them which hate you.

28 Bleſſe them that curſe you: and pray for them which wrongfully trouble you.

29 And vnto him that ſmiteth thee on the one cheeke, offer alſo the other: and him that taketh away thy cloake, forbid not to take thy coate alſo.

30 Giue to euerie man that asketh of thee, and of him that taketh away thy goods, aske them not againe.

31 And as ye would that men ſhould do to you, doe ye alſo to them likewiſe.

32 For if ye loue them whiche loue you, what thanke haue ye? for ſinners alſo loue their louers.

33 And if ye do good for them which do good for you, what thanke haue ye? for ſinners alſo do euen the ſame.

34 And if ye lende (to them) of whome ye hope to receiue, what thanke haue ye? for ſinners alſo lende to ſinners, to receiue ſuch like againe.

35 But loue ye your enimies, and doe good and lende, looking for nothing againe: and your reward ſhall be great, and ye ſhall be the children of the higheſt: for he is kinde vnto the vnkinde, and to the euill.

36 Be ye therefore mercifull, as your father alſo is mercifull.

37 Iudge not, and ye ſhal not be iudged at all: condemne not, and ye ſhall not be condemned at all: forgiue, and ye ſhall be forgiuen.

38 Giue, and it ſhall be giuen vnto you, good meaſure, preſſed downe, ſhaken together, and running ouer, ſhall men giue into your boſomes: for with the ſame meaſure that ye meate withall, it ſhall be meaſured to you againe.

39 And he put forth a ſimilitude vnto them, Can the blinde leade the blinde? Shall they not both fall into the ditche?

40 The diſciple is not aboue his maiſter: but who ſo euer (wil be) a perfect (diſciple,) ſhall be as his maiſter is.

41 And why ſeeſt thou the moate that is in thy brothers eye, but conſidereſt not the beame that is in thyne owne eye?

42 Either how canſt thou ſay to thy brother, Brother, let me pull out the mote that is in thine eye: when thou thy ſelfe ſeeſt not the beame that is in thine owne eye? Thou hypocrite, caſt out the beame out of thine owne eye firſte, and then ſhalt thou ſee perfectly to pull out the mote that is in thy brothers eye.

43 For it is not a good tree that bringeth forth euill fruite: neither is that an euill tree that bringeth forth good fruite. Math.12.f.

44 For euerie tree is knowne by his owne fruite: for of thornes doe not men gather figges, nor of a bramble buſhe gather they grapes.

45 A good man out of the good treaſure of his hart bringeth forth that which is good: and an euill man out of the euill treaſure of his heart, bringeth forth that whiche is euill: For of the aboundance of the heart his mouth ſpeaketh. Math.12.f. Pſal.40.b.

46 Why call ye me Lorde, Lorde, and doe not as I bid you? Math.7.b. f.25.b.

19 They answering, said, John the Baptist: some say, Elias: and some say, that one of the olde prophetes is risen.

Mat.16.c. John.6.g.
20 He saide vnto them, But whom say ye that I am? Peter answering, saide, (thou art) that Christ, of God.

21 And he warned and commaunded them to tell no man that thing.

Mat.18.c. Mark.8.d. Luke.17.c.
22 Saying, That the sonne of man must suffer many thinges, and be reproued of the elders, and of the high priestes and Scribes, and be slaine, and rise the third day.

23 And he said to them al, If any man will come after me, let him deny him selfe, and take vp his crosse dayly, and folow me.

Mat.16.a. John.6.d. Luke.17.g.
24 For whosoeuer will saue his life, shall lose it: but whosoeuer will lose his life for my sake, the same shal saue it.

25 For what auantageth it a man, if hee winne the whole worlde, and lose him selfe, or runne in danger of him selfe?

Mat.10.c. Mark.8.d. Luke.12.a.
26 For who so euer shal be ashamed of me and of my wordes, of him shall the sonne of man be ashamed, when he shall come in the glory of him selfe, and of his father, and of the holy angels.

Mat.16.d. Mar.8.c.
27 I tel you of a truth, there be some standing here, which shall in no wise taste of death, til they see the kingdome of God.

Mat.17.a. Mark.9.g.
28 And it came to passe, about an eyght dayes after these sayings, he toke Peter, and John, and James, and went vp into a mountaine to pray.

29 And it came to passe as he prayed, the fashion of his countenance was changed, and his garment shining very white.

30 And behold, there talked with him two men, whiche were Moses and Elias.

31 That appeared in glory, and spake of his departing, whiche he shoulde ende at Ierusalem.

32 But Peter, and they that were with him, were heauy with sleepe: and when they awoke, they sawe his glory, and the two men standing with him.

Mat.17.a. Mar.10.a.
33 And it came to passe, as they departed from him, Peter saide vnto Iesus, Maister, it is good being here for vs, and let vs make three tabernacles, one for thee, and one for Moses, and one for Elias: not knowing what he sayde.

34 While he thus spake, there came a cloud, and ouershadowed them, and they feared when they were come into the cloud.

35 And there came a voyce out of the cloud saying, This is my deare sonne, heare him. 2.Pet.1. Mat.17. Mar.1.d. Luke.3.d. Deut.18.

36 And as sone as the voyce was past, Iesus was founde alone, and they kepte it close, and tolde no man in those dayes any of these things which they had seene.

37 And it came to passe, that on the next day, when they were come downe from the hil muche people met him. Mat.17. Mark.9.

38 And beholde, a man of the company cried out, saying, Maister, I beseech thee behold my sonne, for he is al that I haue:

39 And see, a spirite taketh him, and sodainely he cryeth and teareth him that he foometh againe, and with muche pain departeth from him, when he renteth him.

40 And I besought thy disciples to cast him out, and they could not. Mat.17. Mark.9.

41 Iesus answering, saide, O faithlesse and peruerse nation, how long shall I be with you, and shall suffer you? bring thy sonne hyther.

42 As he was yet a comming, the fiende rent him, and tare him: and Iesus rebuked the vncleane spirite, and healed the childe, and deliuered him agayne to his father.

43 And they were al amased at the maiestie of God: But while they wondred euery one at al things whiche Iesus dyd, he saide vnto his disciples, Mar.1.f. Luke.4.h.

44 Let these sayings sincke downe into your eares: for it will come to passe that the sonne of man shall be deliuered into the handes of men. Mat.16.f. Mark.8.h. Luke.9.f.

45 But they wyst not what that worde meant, and it was hid from them, that they shoulde not understande it: and they feared to aske him of that saying. Luke.2.g. and.18.f.

46 Then there arose a disputation among them, which of them shoulde be the greatest.

47 When Iesus perceiued the thought of their hart, he toke a childe, and set hym hard by him, Mat.18.a. Mark.9.f. Luke.22.f.

48 And saide vnto them, Who so euer shal receiue this childe in my name, receiueth me: and who so euer shal receiue me, receiueth him that sent me: For he that is least among you all, ỳ same shal be great. Mat.10.d. Luke.10.f.

49 And John answering, saide, Maister, we sawe one casting out deuils in thy name, and we forbade him, bycause he folowth lowyth not (thee) with vs.

50 And Jesus saide vnto him, Forbidde ye (him) not: for he that is not against vs, is with vs.

51 And it came to passe, when ỳ time was come that he should be receiued vp, he stedfastly set his face to goe to Jerusalem, 52 And sent messengers before his face, and they went and entered into a village of the Samaritanes, to make redy for him.

53 And they did not receiue him, bycause his (b) face was as though he would goe to Jerusalem.

54 When his disciples, James, and John sawe this, they saide, Lorde, wilt thou that we commaunde fire to come downe from heauen, and consume them, euen as Elias did?

55 Jesus turning about, rebuked them, saying, Ye wote not what manner spirite ye are of.

56 For the sonne of man is not come to destroy mens liues, but to saue them. And they went to another village.

57 And it came to passe, that as they went walking in the way, a certaine man saide vnto him, I wil folowe thee Lorde, whyther so euer thou goest.

58 And Jesus saide vnto him, Foxes haue holes, and byrdes of the ayre haue nestes: but the sonne of man hath not where to lay his head.

59 And he said vnto another, Folowe me: And the same saide, Lorde, suffer me first to goe and bury my father.

60 Jesus said vnto him, Let the dead bury their dead: but goe thou and preache the kingdome of God.

61 And another saide, Lorde, I wil folow thee: but let me first goe bidde them farwel (c) whiche are at home at my house.

62 Jesus sayde vnto him, No manne hauing put his hande to the plowe, and loking backe, is apt to the kyngdome of God.

The.x. Chapter.

1. He sendeth seuentie disciples to preache, giuing them charge howe to behaue them selues. 13. he threateneth the obstinate and vnthankful cities. 16. he admonisheth his disciples of humilitie. 20. wherof we should reioyce. 21. he giueth thankes to his father. 26. he aunswered the lawyer that tempted him. 33. who is our neighbour. 36. of Martha and Marie.

2 Therefore saide he vnto them, The harueſt is great, but the labourers are fewe: pray ye therefore the Lorde of the harueſt, to send "forth labourers into his harueſt. Mat.9.d. "or thrust forth. Mat.10.b.

3 Goe your wayes: beholde, I sende you forth as lambes among wolues.

4 Beare no wallet, neither scrippe, nor shoes, and salute (a) no man by the way. 4.Re.4.c. a. He willeth that they shuld dispatch this iourney with diligence and speede, and not occupie themselues about other duelies. 2.Reg.4.

5 Into what so euer house ye enter, first say, Peace be to this house.

6 And if the sonne (b) of peace be there, your peace shall rest vppon him: if not, it shall turne to you againe. b. Which loueth the doctrine of peace, that is, the Gospel.

7 And in the same house tary stil, eating and drinking suche thinges as they (haue) for the labourer is worthie of his reward. Goe not from house to house.

8 And into whatsoeuer citie ye enter, and they receiue you, eate such thinges as are set before you.

9 And heale the sicke that are therein, and say vnto them, The kingdome of God is come nigh vppon you.

10 But into what so euer citie ye enter, and they receiue you not, goe your wayes out into the streetes of the same, and say, Mark.10.a.

11 Euen the very dust of your citie whiche cleaueth on vs, wee doe wype off against you: notwithstanding, be ye sure of thys that the kingdome of GOD was come nigh vpon you.

12 I say vnto you, That it shal be easier in that day for Sodome, than for that citie.

13 Wo vnto thee Chorazin, wo vnto thee Bethsaida: for if the mightie workes had bene done in Tyre and Sidon, which haue bene done in you, they had a great while a goe repented, sitting in sackcloth and ashes. Mark.11.c.

14 Therefore, it shal be easier for Tyre and Sidon at the iudgement, than for you. C

15 And thou Capernaum, which art exalted to heauen, shalt be thrust down to hel.

16 He that heareth you, heareth me: and he that despiseth you, despiseth me: & he that despiseth me, despiseth him that sent me. Mat.10.b. Joh.13.c.

17 And the seuentie turned againe with ioy, saying, Lorde, euen the (very) deuils are subdued to vs through thy name.

18 And he saide vnto them, I sawe Satan (c) as it had bin lightning falling downe from heauen. Esai.14.c. c. The power of Satan is beaten down by preaching the Gospel.

Phil.4.a. Apo.17.b. 20 But in this reioyce not, that the spirites are subdued vnto you: but rather reioyce, because your names are written in the heauens.

D Mat.11.d. 21 The same houre Jesus reioyced in the spirite, and sayde, I confesse vnto thee father, Lorde of heauen and earth, that thou hast hid these things from the wise and prudent, & hast opened them vnto babes: euen so father, for so it pleased thee.

Mat.17.d. and.18.d. Mat.11.d. John.7.d. and.8.c. 22 All thinges are giuen me of my father: no man knoweth who the sonne is, but the father, and who the father is but the sonne, and he to whom the father will reueale him.

Mat.13.d. The Gospell on the.13. Sunday after Trinitie. 23 And he turned to his disciples, and said secretly, Happy are the eyes, whiche see the things that ye see.

24 For I tell you, That many prophetes and kings haue desired to see those things whiche ye see, and haue not seene them: and to heare those things which ye heare, and haue not heard them.

Mat.22.d. 25 And beholde, a certaine Lawyer stode vp, and tempted him, saying, Maister, what shall I doe to inherite eternal life? he saide vnto him.

26 What is written in the lawe? how readest thou?

Deut.6.a. Mat.22.d. Mark.12.c. 27 And he answering, saide, Thou shalt loue the Lord thy God with all thy hart, and with all thy soule, and with all thy strength, and with all thy minde, and thy neighbour as thy selfe.

E 28 And he saide vnto him, Thou hast answered right, this do and thou shalt liue.

29 But he, willing to iustifie him selfe, said vnto Jesus, And who is my neighbour?

30 And Jesus answering, said, A certaine man descended from Jerusalem to Jericho, and fel among theeues, which robbed him of his rayment, and wounded him, and departed, leauing him halfe dead.

31 And it befell, that there came downe a certaine priest that same way, and when he saw him, he passed by on the other side.

32 And likewise a Leuite, when he went nigh to the place, came and loked on him, and passed by on the other side.

33 But a certaine Samaritane as he iourneyed, came by him: and when he sawe him, he had compassion on him.

34 And went to him & bound vp his woundes, powring in oyle & wine, and set him on his owne beast, and brought him to a (common) Inne, & made prouision for him.

35 And on the morowe when he departed, he toke (d) out two pence, and gaue them to the hoast, and saide vnto him, Take cure of him: and what so euer thou spendest more, when I come againe, I will recompence thee.

36 Whiche nowe of these three, thinkest thou, was neighbour vnto him that fel among the theeues?

37 And he saide, He that shewed mercie on him. Then saide Jesus vnto him, Go, and do thou likewise.

38 Nowe it came to passe as they went, that he entred into a certaine village: and a certaine woman named Martha, receiued him into hir house.

39 And this woman had a sister, called Marie, Which also sat at Jesus feete, and heard his word:

40 But Martha was cumbred about much seruing, and came to him, and said, Lord, doest thou not care that my sister hath left me to serue alone? Bid hir therefore that she help me.

41 And Jesus answered, and said vnto hir, Martha, Martha, thou art carefull, and troubled about many things:

42 Verily one is needefull, Marie hath chosen the good part, (e) whiche shall not be taken away from hir.

The.xi. Chapter.

Christ teacheth his disciples to pray, and to cõtinue in prayer. 14. he driueth out a dumbe deuil. 15. and rebuketh the blasphemous Pharisees. 28. VVho are blessed. 29. The Iewes aske a signe. 37. Christ vnwashed, eateth with the Pharisee. 39. and reproueth the outwarde shewe of holinesse in the Pharisees, scribes, and hipocrites.

1 AND so it was, that as he was praying in a certain place, when he ceassed, one of his disciples saide vnto him, Lorde, teache vs to pray, as John also taught his disciples. I

2 And he saide vnto them, When ye pray, saye, O our father whiche art in heauen, halowed be thy name. Thy kingdome come. Thy will be done, euen in earth also as it is in heauen. Mark.6.b.

3 Our dayly bread giue vs this day.

4 And forgiue vs our sinnes: for euen we forgiue euery man that trespasseth vs. And lead vs not into temptation, but deliuer vs from the euil.

5 And he sayde vnto them, Whiche of you shall shall haue a frende, and shall goe vnto him at midnight, & say vnto him, Frend, lende me three loaues.

6 For a frend of mine is come out of the way to me, and I haue nothing to set before him.

7 And he from within shal answere, and say, Trouble me not, the dore is nowe shut, and my children are with me in bed I can not rise and giue thee.

8 I say vnto you, Though he will not rise, and giue him, bycause he is his friende: yet bycause of his importunitie, he will rise, & giue him as many as he needeth.

9 And I say vnto you, Aske, and it shal be giuen you: seeke, and ye shal finde: knocke, and it shall be opened vnto you.

10 For euery one that asketh, receiueth: and he that seeketh, findeth: and to him that knocketh shal it be opened.

11 If the sonne shall aske bread of any of you that is a father, will he giue him a stone? Or if he aske fishe, will he for fishe giue him a serpent.

12 Or if he shall aske an egge, will he offer him a scorpion?

13 If ye then being euil, haue knowledge to giue good giftes vnto your children: howe muche more shall your father of heauen giue the holy Spirite to them that desire (it) of him?

14 And he was casting out a deuil, and the same was dumbe. And it came to passe, when the deuil was gone out, the dumbe spake: and the people wondred.

15 But some of them saide, He casteth out deuils, through Beelzebub the chiefe of the deuils.

16 And other tempting him, required of him a signe from heauen.

17 But he knowing their thoughtes, said vnto them, Euery kingdome diuided against it selfe, is desolate: and a house (diuided) against a house, falleth.

18 If Satan also be diuided against himselfe, howe shall his kingdome endure? Bycause yee say that I cast out deuils through Beelzebub.

19 If I by Beelzebub cast out deuils by whom doe your children cast them out? therefore shall they be your iudges.

20 But if I with the finger of God cast out deuils, no doubt the kingdome of God is come vpon you.

21 When the strong man armed, keepeth his palace, his goodes are in peace.

22 But when a stronger than he shal come vppon him, and ouercome him, he taketh from him all his harnesse wherein he trusted, and diuideth his spoiles.

23 He that is not with me, is against me: and he that gathereth not with me, scattereth.

24 When the vncleane spirite is gone out of a man, he walketh through drie places, seeking rest: and finding none, he saith, I will returne vnto mine house, whence I came out. Mar.12.c.

25 And when he commeth, he findeth it swept, and garnished.

26 Then goeth he, and taketh to him seuen other spirites worse than himselfe, and they enter in, and dwel there, and the last state of that man is worse than the first.

27 And it came to passe as he spake these things, a certaine woman of the company lift vp her voyce, and saide vnto him, Happy is the wombe that bare thee, and the pappes which thou hast sucked.

28 But he said, Yea rather happy are they that heare the word of God, and keepe it.

29 When the people were gathered thicke together, he beganne to say, This is an euil nation: they seeke a signe: and there shal no signe be giuen them, but the signe of Jonas the prophete. Mat.12.c. Mar.8.b.

30 For as Jonas was a signe to the Ninuites, so shall also the sonne of man be to this nation. Jonas.3.d. Jonas.2.c.

31 The queene of the South shall rise in iudgement with the men of this nation, and condemne them: for she came from the vtmost partes of the earth, to heare the wisedome of Solomon: and beholde, a greater than Solomon is here. 3.Kin.10.a. 2.Par.9.a. Mat.12.d.

32 The men of Ninive shall rise in iudgement with this nation, & shal condemne them: for they repented at the preaching of Jonas, and beholde, a greater than Jonas is here.

33 No man when he hath lighted a candel, putteth it in a priuie place, neither vnder a bushel: but on a candelsticke, that they which come in, may see the light. Mat.5.b. Mark.4.b. Luke.8.c.

34 The (a) candel of the body, is the eye: therefore when thine eye is single, all thy body also is ful of light: but if thine eye be euil, al thy body also is full of darkenesse. Mat.6.c. a.That is, the light.

35 Take heede therefore, that the light which is in thee, be not darkenesse.

36 If al thy body therfore be cleare, hauing no part darke: the shal it all be ful of light, euen as when a candel doeth light thee with brightnesse.

37 And as he spake, a certaine Pharisee besought him to dine with him: And Jesus went in, and sate downe to meate.

38 When

38 When the Pharisee saw it, he marueled that he hadde not first washed before dinner.

Mat.23.c. 39 And the Lord sayde vnto him, Nowe doe ye Pharisees make cleane the out side of the cuppe, and the platter: but your inwarde parte is ful of rauening, and wickednesse.

40 Ye fooles, did not he that made that whiche is without, make that which is within also?

b. Christ requireth here two things. First, that we come truly by our meate: next, that we giue almes, for charitie is the perfection of the lawe.

41 But rather (b) giue almes of those thinges whiche are "within: and behold, al thinges are cleane vnto you.

"or presence.

42 But woe vnto you Pharisees, for ye tithe mynt, and rue, and al manner herbs, and passe ouer iudgement, & the loue of God: These ought ye to haue done, and yet not to leaue the other vndone.

Mat.23.c. 43 Woe vnto you Pharisees: for ye loue the vppermost seates in the synagogues, and greetinges in the markettes.

Mat.13.c. 44 Woe vnto you Scribes and Pharisees hypocrites: for ye are as graues whiche appeare not, and the menne that walke ouer them, are not ware of them.

Esai.10.a. Mat.23.b. 45 Then answered one of the Lawyers, and saide vnto him, Maister, thus saying, thou puttest vs to rebuke also.

Mat.13.d. 46 And he saide, Woe vnto you also yee Lawyers: for ye lade men with burdens greeuous to be borne, and ye your selues touche not the burdens with one of your fyngers.

47 Woe vnto you, for ye buylde the sepulchres of the prophetes, and your fathers killed them.

Mat.23.d. 48 Truely ye beare witnesse that ye alowe the deedes of your fathers: for they killed them, and ye buylde their sepulchres.

49 Therefore sayde the wisedome of God, I wil sende them prophetes and apostles, and (some) of them they shal slay and persecute:

Gen.4.b. 2.Par.24.f. 50 That the bloud of al ỹ prophetes, which was shed from the fundatiō of the world, may be required of this generation.

51 From the bloud of Abel, vnto the bloud of Zacharie, which perished betweene the aulter and the temple: Verily I say vnto you, it shall be requyred of this nation.

c. The pure doctrine, and true vnderstanding of the scriptures.

52 Woe vnto you Lawyers: for ye haue taken away the (c) key of knowledge: ye entred not in your selues, and them that came in, ye forbade.

53 When he thus spake vnto them, the Lawyers and the Pharisees beganne to vrge (him) vehemently, and to prouoke him to speake many thinges:

54 Laying wayte for him, and seeking to catch some thing out of his mouth, whereby they might accuse him.

The.xij. Chapter.

1. The leauen of the Pharisees is to be auoyded. 5. VVho is to be feared. 8. To confesse Gods name, or to denie it. 10. Blasphemie against the spirite. 11. He comforteth the disciples against affliction. 15. and warneth them to beware of couetousnesse by the similitude of a riche man. 20. Against care of earthly thinges. 31. To giue our selues to righteousnesse, almes, watching, patience, wisedome, and concorde.

1 IN the meane time, when there were gathered together an innumerable multitude of people, (insomuch) that they trode one another, he began to say vnto his disciples, First of all beware of the leauen of the Pharisees, whiche is hypocrisie. A

2 For there is nothing couered, that shall not be vncouered, neither hid, that shal not be knowen. Mat. Luke Mat. Luke

3 Therefore, what so euer you haue spoken in darkenesse, shall be heard in the light: and that which ye haue spoken in the eare, euen in secrete places, shall be preached (a) on the top of the houses. a. Open al men heare.

4 And I say vnto you my friendes, Be not afraide of them that kil the body, and after that, haue no more that they can doe. Mat.

5 But I will forwarne you whom you shall feare: feare him, whiche after he hath kylled, hath power to cast into hel, yea I say vnto you, Feare him.

6 Are not fiue sparowes solde for two farthinges, and not one of them is forgotten before God?

7 But, euen the very heares of your heade are numbred: feare not therefore, ye are more of value than many sparowes. B

8 Also I say vnto you, Who so euer shall confesse me before menne, him shall the sonne of man knowledge also before the angels of God.

9 But he that shall denie me before men, shall be denied before the angels of God. Mat. Mark. Mat. b. He

10 And whosoeuer shall speake a word against the sonne of man, it shal be forgiuē him: but vnto him that blaspheme th the holy (b) ghost, it shall not be forgiuen. resist the word god pe of mine gainst own ence.

11 And when they bring you vnto the synagogues, & vnto the rulers and officers, take take yee no thoughte howe or what thing ye shal answerre, or what ye shall speake:

12 For the holy ghost shall teache you in same houre, what ye ought to say.
13 One of the company sayde vnto him, Maister, speake to my brother that he diuide the inheritance with me.
¶ 14 And hee sayde vnto him; Man, who made me a iudge, or a diuider ouer you?
15 And he sayde vnto them. Take heede, and beware of couetousnesse: for no mans life standeth in the aboundance of the things which he possesseth.
16 And he put forth a similitude vnto the, saying, The grounde of a certaine ryche man brought forth plentiful fruites.
17 And he thought within him selfe, saying, What shall I doe, because I haue no rome where to bestowe my fruites?
18 And he sayde, This will I doe, I will pul downe my barnes, and buylde greater, and therein will I gather all my fruites and my goodes.
19 And I will say to my soule, Soule, thou hast much goodes layde vp (in store,) for many yeeres, take thine ease, eate, drinke, and be merry.
20 But God sayde vnto him, Thou fole this night doe they require thy soule againe from thee, then whose shall those things be, which thou hast prouided?
21 So is he that gathereth riches to him selfe, and is not riche towarde God.
22 And he spake vnto his disciples, Therfore I say vnto you, take no thought for your life what ye shall eate, neither for the body what ye shall put on.
23 The life is more than meate, and the body is more than rayment.
24 Consider the Rauens, for they neither sowe nor reape, whiche neither haue storehouse nor barne, and (notwithstanding,) God feedeth them: howe muche more are ye better than the foules?
25 Whiche of you with taking thought, can adde to his stature one cubite?
26 If ye then be not able to doe that thing whiche is least: why take ye thought for the remnaunt?
27 Consider the Lillies, howe they growe they labour not, they spin not: and yet I say vnto you, That Solomon in all his royalty, was not clothed like one of these.
¶ 28 If God so cloth the grasse, which is to day in the field, and to morow is cast into the furnace: howe much more (will hee cloth) you, (O) ye of little faith?
29 And aske not ye, what ye shall eate, or what ye shall drinke, neither be ye of doubtful minde.
30 For all suth things doe the people of the world seeke for: and your father knoweth that yee haue neede of these things.
31 But rather seeke ye after the kingdome of God, and al these things shal be added vnto you. Mat.6.c... 1.Tim 6.b. Eccl.29.b. Prou.23.a.
32 Feare not, (O) little flocke, for it is your fathers good pleasure to giue you a kingdome.
33 Sel that ye haue, and gyue almes: and prepare you bagges which ware not old, (euen) a treasure that fayleth not in the heauens, where no theefe approcheth, neither moath corrupteth. Mat.19.c. Mark.10.c.
34 For where your treasure is, there wyll your hart be also.
35 Let your loynes be gyrte about, and (your) lightes burning. Ephe.6.c. 1.Pet.1.c.
36 And ye your selues (be) lyke vnto men that wayte for their Lorde, when he wyll returne from the wedding, that when he shal come and knocke, they may open vnto him immediately.
37 Happy are those seruantes, whom the Lord when he commeth, shall finde waking Verely I say vnto you, that he shal gyrde him selfe, and make them to sit downe to meate, and wil come forth, and minister vnto them.
38 And if he shal come in the second watch, yea, if he shall come in the thirde watche, and finde them so, happie are those seruantes.
39 This vnderstande ye, that if the good man of the house hadde knowen what houre the theefe would come, he would surely haue watched, and not haue suffered his house to be broken through.
40 Bee ye therefore ready also, for the son of man commeth at an houre when yee thinke not. Mat.24.d. Mark.13.d.
41 Then Peter said vnto him, Maister, tellest thou this similitude vnto vs, or to al? Mat.24.d. Mar.13.c.
42 And the Lorde saide, Who is a faithful and wise stewarde, whom his lorde shall make ruler ouer his houshold, to giue them their portion of meate in due seaso?
43 Happie is that seruant, whom his lorde when he commeth, shall finde so doing. Apo.16.c.
44 Of a truth, I say vnto you, That he wil make him ruler ouer al his substance.
45 But and if that seruant say in his hart, My lorde delayeth his comming: and shall beginne to smyte his seruantes and maydens, and to eate and drinke, and to be drunken. Mat.24.d.

46 The Lord of that ſeruant will come in a day when he loketh not for him, and at an houre when he is not ware, and will hewe him in peeces, and wil ſet him his portion with the vnbeleeuers.

47 And the ſeruant that knewe his maiſters will, and prepared not him ſelfe, neither did accordyng to his wil, ſhal be beaten with many (ſtrypes.)

c. Ignorance wil not excuſe

48 But he that knewe not, (c) and dyd commit thyngs worthie of ſtrypes, ſhall be beaten with fewe (ſtrypes.) For vnto whom ſo euer much is giuen, of him ſhall be much required: and to whom menne haue committed muche, of him will they aſke the more.

d. That is, the Goſpel, which is a vehemēt fire, and maketh a change of things, throwe all the worlde.

49 I am come to ſend fire (d) on the earth, and what is my deſire, (e) if it be already kindled?

e. That is, but that it be.

50 Not withſtanding, I muſt be baptiſed with a baptiſme, (f) and howe am I payned til it be ended?

f. He compareth affliction, and his death to baptiſme.

51 Suppoſe ye that I am come to ſende peace on earth? I tell you, Nay, but rather (g) diuiſion.

Mat. 10. d.

52 For from henceforth there ſhal be fiue in one houſe diuided, three againſt two, and two againſt three.

g. Chriſt is not the cauſe that there is deſtruction for the Goſpel, but the wickedneſſe of worldlings, which by malice contemning the Goſpel, be at variance with all that profeſſe it.

53 The father ſhall be diuided againſt the ſonne, and the ſonne againſt the father: the mother againſt the daughter, and the daughter againſt the mother: the mother in lawe againſt hir daughter in lawe, and the daughter in lawe againſt hir mother in lawe.

54 He ſayde alſo to the people, When ye ſee a cloude riſe out of ẏ Weſt, ſtraightway ye ſay, There commeth a ſhowre: and ſo it is.

Mat. 16. a.

55 And when yee ſee the Southwinde blowe, ye ſay, It wil be whot: and it commeth to paſſe, 56 Ye hipocrites, ye can diſcerne the face of the ſkie, and of the earth: but howe is it that ye do not diſcerne this time?

57 Yea, and why iudge ye not of your ſelues what is right.

Mat. 5. d. Prou. 25. b.

58 When thou goeſt with thine aduerſarie to the ruler: as thou art in the way, giue diligence, that thou maieſt be deliuered from him, leaſt he drawe thee violently to the iudge, and the iudge deliuer thee to the ſargeant, and the ſargeant caſt thee into priſon.

59 I tel thee, Thou ſhalt not depart thence, till thou haue made good the vttermoſt myte.

The. xiij. Chapter.

1. Of the Galileans. 4. and thoſe that were oppreſſed at Siloe. 6. Of the fig tree that bare no fruite. 11. The woman hauing a ſpirite of infirmitie is healed. 15. The vſe of the Sabboth. 18. He declareth by diuers ſimilitudes what the kingdome of God is. 24. Fewe enter into the kingdome of Chriſt. 32. He reproueth Herode and Ieruſalem.

1 There were preſent at the ſame ſeaſon, certaine men, that shewed him of the Galileans, whoſe bloud (a) Pilate had mingled with their owne ſacrifice.

a. Pilate dered as the ſacrifi Acts.

2 And Ieſus anſwering, ſayde vnto them, Suppoſe ye that theſe Galileans were greater ſinners than al the other Galileans, becauſe they ſuffered ſuche puniſhment?

3 I tel you, Nay: but except ye repent ye ſhall al likewiſe periſhe.

4 Or thoſe eightiene, vppon whiche the towre in (b) Siloe fell, and ſlue them, thinke ye that they were ſinners aboue al men that dwelt in Ieruſalem?

b. Whi tower be the ſiloe or riuel am in Ie lem.

5 I tel you, Nay: but except ye repent, ye ſhall al likewiſe periſh.

6 He tolde alſo this ſimilitude, A certaine man had a figge tree, planted in his vineyarde, and he came and ſought fruit theron, and found none.

Mat.

7 Then ſayde he to the dreſſer of his vineyard, Beholde, this three yeeres I come ſeeking fruite in this figge tree, and finde none: cut it downe, why cumbreth it the ground?

B

8 And he anſwering, ſayd vnto him, Lord, let it alone this yeere alſo, til I ſhall dig rounde about it, and dung it:

9 And if it beare fruite, (thou mayeſt let it alone:) and if it beare not, then after that thou ſhalt cut it downe.

10 And he was teaching in one of their ſynagogues, on the Sabboth dayes.

11 And behold, there was a woman which had a ſpirite of infyrmitie eightiene yeeres, and was bowed together, and coulde in no wiſe lift vp (hir ſelfe.)

12 When Ieſus ſawe hir, he called hir to him, and ſayde vnto hir, Woman, thou art loſed from thy diſeaſe.

13 And he layde his handes on hir, and immediatly ſhe was made ſtraight, and glorified God.

14 And the ruler of the ſynagogue anſwered with indignation, becauſe that Ieſus had healed on the Sabboth day, and said vnto the people, There are sixe dayes in whiche menne ought to worke: in them therefore come, that ye may be healed, and not on the Sabboth day.

15 But the Lord answered him, and sayd, Thou hypocrite, doth not eche one of you on the Sabboth day lowse his oxe or his asse from the stalle, and leade him to the water?

16 And ought not this daughter of Abraham, whom Satan hath bounde loe eightiene yeeres, be lowsed from this bonde on the Sabboth day?

17 And when he sayde these thinges, al his aduersaries were ashamed: and all the people reioyced for al the excellent deedes that were done by him.

18 Then saide (Iesus,) What is the kingdome of God like? Or whereto shall I compare it?

19 It is like a grayne of mustarde seede, which a man toke and sowed in his garden, and it grew, and waxed a great tree: and the foules of the ayre made nestes in the branches of it.

20 And againe he sayde, Whereunto shall I liken the kingdome of God?

21 It is like leauen, which a woman toke and hyd in three peckes of meale, tyll all was leauened.

22 And he went through all townes and villages, teaching, & iourneying towards Ierusalem.

23 Then saide one vnto him, Lorde, are there fewe that be saued? And he sayde vnto them, 24 Striue (c) to enter in at the straite gate for many, I say vnto you, wil seeke to enter in, and shall not be able.

25 When the good man of the house is risen vp, and hath shut to the dore, and ye begin to stande without, and to knocke at the dore, saying, Lord, Lorde, open vnto vs, and he shall answere, and say vnto you, I knowe you not whence ye are:

26 Then shall ye begin to say, We haue eaten and dronken in thy presence, and thou hast taught in our streetes.

27 And he shal say, I tel you, I know you not whence ye are: depart from me, al ye that worke iniquitie.

28 There shall be weeping and gnashing of teeth, when ye shall see Abraham, and Isahac, and Iacob, and all the prophetes in the kingdome of GOD, and ye your selues thrust out.

29 And they (d) shall come from the East, and from the West, and from the North, and from the South, and shall sit downe in the kyngdome of God.

30 And behold, there are last, which shal be (e) first, and there are first, whiche shall be (f) last.

31 The same day, came there certaine of the Pharisees, saying vnto him, Get thee out, and depart hence, for Herode will kil thee.

32 And he sayde vnto them, Goe ye and tel that fore, beholde, I cast out deuils, and I doe cures to day and to morow, and the thyrde day I shal be perfected.

33 Neuertheless, I must walke to day and to morowe, and the day folowing, for it can not be that a prophete periche out of Ierusalem.

34 O Ierusalem, Ierusalem, whiche kyllest prophetes, and stonest them that are sent vnto thee, howe often would I haue gathered thy children together, as a henne doth gather hir yong vnder hir wings, and ye would not?

35 Beholde, your (g) house is left vnto you desolate. Verily I say vnto you, ye shall not see me, vntil the time come that yee shall say, Blessed is he that commeth in the name of the Lord.

8 When thou art bidden of any man to a wedding, sit not downe in the highest rome: lest a more honorable man than thou be bidden of him.

9 And he that bad thee and him, come and say to thee, Giue this man rome: and thou then begin with shame to take the lowest rome.

10 But when thou art bidden, goe and sit in the lowest rome, that when he that bad thee cōmeth, he may say vnto thee, Friend, sit vp higher: then shalt thou haue worshipe in the presence of them that sit at meate with thee.

13 But when thou makest a feast, call the poore, the maymed, the lame, & the blynd, 14 And thou shalt be happie, for they can not recompence thee: for thou shalt be recompenced at the resurrection of the iust men.

19 And another sayde, I haue bought fiue yoke of oxen, and I goe to proue them: I pray thee haue me excused.

20 And another saide, I haue marryed a wife: and therefore I can not come.

21 And the seruant returned, and shewed his maister these things. Then the good man of the house being angry, saide to his seruant, Goe out quickely into the broade streetes and lanes of the citie: and bring in hyther the poore, and the maymed, and the halt, and the blind.

22 And the seruant saide, Lorde, it is done as thou hast commaunded, and yet there is rome.

3 But he put forth this parable vnto them, saying.

4 What man of you hauing an hundred sheepe, if he lose one of them, doth not leaue nientie and nine in the wildernesse, and goe after that which is lost, vntil hee finde it?

5 And when he hath founde it, he layeth it on his shoulders, reioycing:

6 And when he commeth home, he calleth together his friends and neighbours, saying vnto them, Reioyce with me: for I haue founde my sheepe which was lost.

B 7 I say vnto you, that likewise ioy shal be in heauen ouer one sinner that repenteth, more than ouer nientie and nine iust persons, whiche neede no repentance.

8 Either what woman hauing (a) tenne peeces of siluer, if she lose one peece, doth not light a candel, and sweepe the house, and seke diligently til she finde (it.)

9 And when she hath founde it, she calleth hir friendes and hir neighbours together saying, Reioyce with me: for I haue foūd the peece which I had lost.

10 Likewise I say vnto you, there is ioy in the presence of the angels of God ouer one sinner that repenteth.

11 And he sayde, A certaine man had two sonnes:

12 And the yonger of them saide to his father, Father, giue (me) the portion of the substance that to me belongeth. And he diuided vnto them his liuing.

13 And not many dayes after, when the yonger sonne had gathered all that he had together, he toke his iourney into a farre countrey, and there wasted his substance with riotous liuing.

C 14 And when he had spent all, there arose a great dearth in that land, and he began to lacke.

15 And going, he ioyned him selfe to a citizen of that countrey: and he sent him into his fieldes to feede swine.

16 And he would fayne haue fylled his belly with the coddes that the swine did eate: and no man gaue vnto him.

17 And when he came to him selfe, he said, Howe many hyred seruantes of my fathers haue breade ynough, and spare, and I perishe with hunger?

18 I will arise, and goe to my father, and will say vnto him, Father I haue sinned against heauen, and before thee, 19 And am no more worthy to be called thy sonne: make me as one of thy hyred seruantes.

20 And he arose, & came to his father. But when he was yet a great way off, his father sawe him, & had compassion, & ranne and fel on his necke, & al to kyssed him. Iob. 13. c. Psal. 32. a.

21 And the sonne saide vnto him, Father D I haue sinned against heauen, and in thy sight, and am no more worthy to be called thy sonne.

22 But the father saide to his seruantes, Bring forth the best garment, and put it on him, and put a ring on his hande, and shoes on his feete:

23 And bring (hyther) that fat Calfe, and kill it, and let vs eate, and be merry.

24 For this my sonne was dead, and is aliue againe, he was lost and is founde. And they beganne to be merry.

25 The elder brother was in the fielde: and when he came & drewe nigh to the house, he heard minstrelsie and dauncing, 26 And called one of his seruantes, and asked what those things ment.

27 And he saide vnto him. Thy brother is come, and thy father hath kylled the fatte Calfe, because he hath receiued him safe and sounde.

28 And (he) was angry, and would not E goe in: therefore came his father out, and entreated him.

29 He answering, saide to his father, Loe, these many yeeres doe I serue thee, neyther brake I at any time thy comaundement, & yet thou neuer gauest me a kyd, that I might make merry with my frienedes:

30 But as sone as this thy sonne was come, whiche hath deuoured thy liuing with harlottes, thou hast for his pleasure kylled that fat Calfe.

31 And he saide vnto him, Sonne, thou art euer with mee, and al that I haue is thine.

32 It was meete that we shoulde make merry and be glad: for this thy brother was dead, and is aliue againe: and was lost, and is founde.

The Gospell on the.9. Sunday after Trinitie.

1 AND he saide also vnto his disciples, There was a certain riche man which had a stewarde, and the same was accused vnto him ẏ he had wasted his goodes.

2 And when he had called him, he sayde vnto him, Howe is it that I heare this of thee? Giue accomptes of thy stewardshyp: for thou mayest be no longer stewarde.

3 The stewarde saide within him selfe, What shal I do, for my maister taketh away from me the stewardshyp? I can not digge, and to begge I am ashamed.

4 I wote what to doe, that when I am put out of the stewardshyp, they may receiue me into their houses.

5 So when he had called all his maisters debters together, he said vnto the first, howe much owest thou vnto my maister?

6 And he saide an hundred measures of oyle. And he sayde vnto him, Take thy bil, and sit downe quickely, & write fiftie.

B 7 Then saide he to another, Howe muche owest thou? And he saide, An hundred measures of wheate. He saide vnto him, Take thy bil, and write fourescore.

a. He speaketh after the common sorte, not that suche vntrueth is prayseworthy, but bycause it is thought wysedome in the eyes of the worlde.

8 And the Lorde cõmended (a) the vniust stewarde, bycause he had done wisely: for the children of this world, are in their nation wiser than the children of light.

12 And if ye haue not bin faithfull in that whiche is another mans, who shall giue you that which is your owne?

13 No seruant can serue two maisters: for either he shal hate the one, and loue the other, or else shall leane to the one, and despise the other, ye can not serue God and Mammon.

14 All these things hearde the Pharisees also, which were couetous: and they mocked him greatly.

15 And he saide vnto them, Ye are they whiche iustifie your selues before men, but God knoweth your hartes: for that which is highly esteemed among men, is abhomination in the sight of God.

23 And being in hel in tormentes, when he had lifted vp his eyes, he seeth Abraham a farre off, and Lazarus in his bosome:

24 And he cryed, and sayde, Father Abraham, haue mercie on me, and send Lazarus that he may dippe the tippe of hys finger in water, and cole my tong: for I am tormented in this flame.

25 But Abraham sayd, Sonne, remember that thou in thy life time receiuedst thy pleasure, and like wise Lazarus paynes: but nowe is he comforted, and thou art tormented. Galat.4.

26 Besides al this, betweene vs and you there is a great gulfe stedfastly set, so that they which would goe from hence to you, can not, neyther haue they passage to vs, that woulde come from thence.

27 Then he saide, I pray thee therefore father, that thou wouldest send him to my fathers house.

28 For I haue fiue brethren, that he may E witnesse vnto them, lest they also come into this place of torment.

29 Abraham saith vnto him, They haue Moses and the prophetes, let them heare them.

2 It were better for him that a mylstone were hanged about his necke, and he cast into the sea than that he should (a) offende one of these little ones.

3 Take heede to your selues: If thy brother trespasse against thee, rebuke him, and if he repent, forgiue him.

4 And though he sinne against thee seuen times in a day, and seuen (b) times in a day turne againe to thee, saying, I repent: thou shalt forgiue him.

5 And the Apostles saide vnto the Lorde, Increase our faith.

6 And the Lord saide, If ye had faith (as muche) as a graine of mustarde seede, ye should say vnto this Sycamine tree, Be thou plucked vp by the rote, and be thou planted in the sea: and it should obey you.

7 But whiche of you hauing a seruant plowing, or feeding cattel, will say vnto him by and by when he were come from the fielde, Goe and sit downe at the table?

8 And wil not rather say vnto him, Dresse wherewith I may suppe, and gyrde vp thy selfe, and serue me till I haue eaten and dronken: and afterwarde thou shalt eate and drinke.

9 Doth he thanke that seruant because he did the thinges that were commaunded vnto him? I trowe not.

10 So likewise ye, when ye shal haue done al those things which are commaunded you, say, We are vnprofitable seruantes: we haue done that which was our duetie to doe.

11 And so it was, as he went to Ierusalē, that he passed through the middes of Samaria and Galilee.

12 And as he entred into a certain village, there met him tenne menne that were lepres, which stode a farre off, 13 And they put forth their voyces, and saide, Iesu maister, haue mercie on vs.

14 When he sawe (them) he said vnto thē Go shew your selues vnto the (c) priestes. And it came to passe, that as they went, they were cleansed.

15 And one of them when he sawe that he was healed, turned backe (againe) with a loude voyce, glorifying God:

16 And fell downe on his face at his feete, giuing him thankes: and the same was a Samaritane.

17 And Iesus answering, saide, Are there not tenne cleansed? but where are those nine?

18 There are not founde that returned againe to giue glory to God, saue (onlye) this stranger.

19 And he saide vnto him, Arise, goe thy way, thy faith hath made thee whole.

20 When he was demaunded of the Pharisees when the kingdome of God commeth: he answering them, saide, The kingdome of God commeth not with obseruation.

21 Neither shall they say, Loe here, or loe there: for beholde the kingdome of God is (d) within you.

22 And he saide vnto the disciples, The dayes will come when ye shall desire to see one (e) day of the sonne of manne, and ye not see it.

23 And they shall say to you, See here, see there: goe not after them, nor folowe them.

24 For as the lightening that lighteneth out of the (one) parte that is vnder heauen, shineth vnto the (other) part whiche is vnder heauen: so shall also the sonne of man be in his (f) day.

25 But first muste he suffer many things, and be disalowed of this nation.

26 And as it was in the dayes of Noe: so shall it be also in the dayes of the sonne of man.

27 They did eate and drinke, they maryed wiues, and were maryed, euen vnto the same day that Noe went into the arke: and the floud came, and destroyed them all.

28 Likewise also as it was in the dayes of Lot: they did eate, they drake, they bought, they solde, they planted, they buylded.

29 But euen the same day that Lot went out of Sodome, it raigned fire & brimstone from heauen, and destroyed them all:

30 Euen thus shall it be in the day when the sonne of man is reuealed.

The.xviij.Chapter.

Christ teacheth to continue in prayer by the example of the wicked Iudge and the wydowe. 10. the prayers of the Pharisee and the Publicane. 16. to children belongeth the kingdome of god. 18. of the way to saluation. 20. and what things hinder the reward promised to his seruantes. 31. he foreshewth his death. 35. he restoreth a blind ma to his sight.

1 AND he put forth a parable vnto them (to this end) that men ought alwayes to pray, and not to be (a) weerie:

a. The greeke word signifyeth, not to shrinke backe, as cowardes in warre, or in dangers.

2 Saying, There was in a certaine citie a certaine iudge, which feared not God, neither regarded man.

1. The.5.d. 3 And there was a certaine wydowe in the same citie, and she came vnto him, saying, Auenge me of mine aduersarie.

"Or do me iustice against my aduersarie.

4 And he would not for a while. But afterward he said within him selfe, Though I feare not God, nor care for man, 5 Yet because this widowe (much) troubleth me, I will auenge her, lest she come at the last, and make me weerie.

6 And the Lord saide, Heare what the vnrighteous iudge saith.

B 7 And shall not God auenge his elect, which crye day and night vnto him, yea though (b) he deferre them?

b. That is, although he seeme slowe in reuenging their enimies.

8 I tell you that he wil auenge them, and that quickely. Neuertheless when the son of man commeth, shall he finde faith on the earth?

The Gospell on.11. Sunday after trinitie.

9 And he tolde this parable vnto certaine which trusted in them selues, that they were righteous and dispised other:

10 Two men went vp into the temple to pray: the one a Pharisee, and the other a Publicane.

11 The Pharisee stode and prayed thus with him selfe, God, I thanke thee that I am not as other men are, extorcioners, vniust, adulterers, or as this Publicane.

12 I fast twice in the weeke. I giue tithe of al that I possesse. Deut.14. Eccle.7.

13 And the Publicane standing a farre off, would not lift vp his eyes to heauen: but smote vpon his brest, saying, God be merciful to me a sinner.

14 I tell you, this man departed (home) to his house iustified rather than the other: For euery one that exalteth him self, shall be brought lowe: and he that humbleth him selfe, shal be exalted. Mat.23. Luke.14.

15 They brought vnto him also (c) infantes, that he shoulde touche them: when his disciples sawe, they rebuked them.

c. The greke signifyeth sucking babes. d. That is, those that be the babes.

16 But Iesus, when he had called (d) them vnto him, saide, Suffer little children to come vnto me and forbid them not: for to suche (c) belongeth the kingdome of God.

c. Both infantes in age and also in malicie and newnesse. f. Laying aside al malice and pride.

17 Verely I say vnto you, Who so euer shall not receiue the kingdome of God as a (f) little childe, shall in no wise enter therein.

18 And a certaine ruler asked him, saying, Good maister, what ought I to doe to possesse eternal life? Mat.18.d. Mark.10.b. Luke.10.b.

19 Iesus saide vnto him, Why callest thou me good? None is good, saue God only. Mat.19.b.

20 Thou knowest the commaundementes, Doe not commit adulterie, Doe not kyl, Doe not steale, Doe not beare false witnesse, Honour thy father & thy mother. Exo.20.d. Math.5.d. Mark.10. Deut.5.d.

21 And he saide, All these haue I kept from my youth vp.

22 When Iesus hearde that, he saide vnto him, Yet lackest thou one thing: Sell all that thou hast, and distribute vnto the poore, and thou shalt haue treasure in heauen, and come, folowe me. Mat.19.d. Mar.10.d.

23 When he heard this, he was very sory: for he was very rich.

24 When Iesus sawe that he was very sory, he saide, Howe hardly shal they that haue money, enter into the kingdome of God. Mat.19.d. Mar.10.d.

25 For it is easier for a Cammel to go thorowe a needles eye, than for a riche man to enter into the kingdome of God.

26 And they that heard (it) said, And who then can be saued?

27 And he saide, The things whiche are vnpossible Zach.8.b.

vnpossible with men, are possible wyth God.

28 Then Peter saide, Loe, we haue forsaken all, and folowed thee.

29 He sayde vnto them, Verily I say vnto you, There is no man ỹ hath forsaken house, eyther parentes, either brethren, or wife, or children, for ỹ kingdome of Gods sake, 30 Which shal not receiue manyfold more in this world, and in the world to come life euerlasting.

31 Iesus toke vnto him the twelue, and saide vnto them, Beholde, we goe vp to Ierusalem, and all things shall be fulfilled to the sonne of man that are written by the prophetes.

32 For he shall be deliuered vnto the Gentiles, and shall be mocked, and spitefully entreated, and spitted on:

33 And when they haue scourged him, they will put him to death: and the thirde day he shall rise.

34 And they vnderstode none of all these things: and this saying was hid from them, so that they perceiued not the things which were spoken.

35 And it came to passe, that as he was come nigh vnto Iericho, a certaine blind man sate by the wayes side, begging.

36 And when he heard the people passe by, he asked what it ment.

37 And they saide vnto him, that Iesus of Nazareth passeth by.

38 And he cryed, saying, Iesu thou sonne of Dauid, haue mercie on me.

39 And they which went before, rebuked him, that he shoulde holde his peace: but he cried so much the more, Thou sonne of Dauid haue mercie on me.

40 And Iesus staying, commaunded him to be brought vnto him: and when he was come neare, he asked him, 41 Saying, What wilt thou that I shall doe vnto thee? And he sayd, Lord, that I may receiue my sight.

42 And Iesus said vnto him, Receiue thy sight: thy faith hath saued thee.

43 And immediatly he receiued his sight, and folowed him, glorifying God: and al the people whē they saw (it,) gaue prayse vnto God.

1 AND (Iesus) entred in, & went through Iericho. A

2 And beholde, there was a man named Zacheus, which was the chiefe among the Publicanes, and was riche (also:)

3 And he sought (meanes) to see Iesus what he should be, and coulde not for the preasse, bycause he was little of stature.

4 And he ranne before, and climed vp into a wilde fig tree, to see him: for he was to come that way.

5 And when Iesus came to the place, hee loked vp, and sawe him, and saide vnto him, Zache, come downe at once: for to day I must abide at thy house.

6 And he came downe hastily, and receiued him ioyfully. Actes. 16. g.

7 And when they al sawe it, they murmured, saying that he was gonne in to tary with a man that is a sinner. B

8 And Zache stode forth, and sayde vnto the Lorde, Beholde Lord, the halfe of my goodes I giue to the poore, and if I haue taken from any man by forged (a) cauillation, I restore him fourefold.

9 Iesus said vnto him, This day is saluation come to this (a) house: bycause that he is also the child of (b) Abraham.

10 For the sonne of man is come to seeke, and to saue that which was lost.

11 And as they heard these things, he added and spake a parable, bycause he was nigh to Ierusalem, and bycause they thought that the kingdome of God should shortely appeare.

12 He saide therfore, A certaine nobleman went into a farre countrey, to receiue for him selfe a kingdome, and to come a gaine.

13 And when he had called his tenne seruantes, he deliuered them tenne " peeces of money, saying vnto them, Occupie (c) till I (d) come.

14 But his citizens hated him, and sent a message after him, saying, We will not haue this man to raigne ouer vs.

15 And it came to passe that when he had returned, receiuing his kingdome, then he commaunded these seruantes to be called vnto him, to whom he had giuen the money, that he might knowe how much euery man had gained in occupying.

16 Then came the first, saying, Lord, thy peece hath gained tenne peeces.

19 And to the same (he) saide, Be thou also (ruler) ouer fiue cities.

20 And another came saying, Lorde, beholde here is thy peece, which I haue layde vp in a napkin.

21 For I feared thee, because thou art a straite man: thou takest vp that thou laydest not down, and reapest that thou diddest not sowe.

2.Reg.1.c. Math.12.d. 22 (Then) hee saith vnto him, Of thine owne mouth will I iudge thee, thou euil seruant: Knewest thou that I am a straite man, taking vp that I layde not downe, and reaping that I did not sowe:

23 And wherefore gauest not thou my money into the banke, and at my comming I might haue requyred mine owne with vantage?

30 Saying, Go ye into the town which is ouer against you, in the which at your entring, ye shall finde a colte tied, whereon yet neuer man sate: lose him, & bring him hither.

31 And if any man aske you, Why doe ye lose him? Thus shall ye say vnto him, Because the Lord hath nede of him.

32 They that were sent, went their way, and found euen as he had said vnto them.

33 And as they were a losing the colte, the owners thereof said vnto them, Why lose ye the colte?

34 And they saide, For the Lord hath nede of him.

35 And they brought him to Jesus: and their garmentes being cast on the colte, they set Jesus thereon.

36 And as he went, they spreade their clothes in the way.

37 And when he was nowe come nigh to the going downe of the mount Oliuet, the whole multitude of the disciples beganne reioycing to prayse God with a loude voyce, for all the myracles that they had seene.

38 Saying, Blessed be the king that commeth in the name of the Lorde, peace in (c) heauen, and glory in the highest.

39 And some of the Pharisees of the company saide vnto him, Maister, rebuke thy disciples.

40 He answering, saide vnto them, I tell you, that if these would hold their peace, then shal the stones crie immediatly.

41 And when he was come neare, he beholde the citie, and weapt on it, 42 Saying, If thou haddest knowen those things whiche (belong) vnto thy peace, euen in this thy daye: but nowe are they hid from thine eyes.

43 For the dayes shal come vpon thee, that thine enimies also shall cast a banke about thee, and compasse thee rounde, and keepe thee in on euery side, 44 And make thee euen with the ground, and thy children whiche are in thee, and they shal not leaue in thee one stone vpon another; because thou knowest not the time of thy visitation.

45 And he went into the temple, and beganne to cast out them that solde therein, and them that bought.

46 Saying vnto them, It is written, My house is the house of prayer, but ye haue made it a denne of theeues.

47 And he taught dayly in the temple. But the high priestes, and the Scribes, and the chiefe of the people, went about to destroy him, 48 And could not finde what to do: for all the people did hang of him, when they hearde him.

Math.22.c. Mark.11.d. 2 And spake vnto him, saying, Tell vs, by what authoritie doest thou these things? Eyther who is he that gaue thee this authoritie?

3 He answering, sayde vnto them, I will also aske you one word, and answere me.

That is, the whole ministerie of Iohn. 4 The baptisme of (a) John, was it from heauen, or of men?

5 And they reasoned within them selues, saying, If we shall say from heauen, hee will say, Why then beleeued ye him not?

6 But and if we say of men, all the people will stone vs: for they be persuaded that John is a prophete.

B 7 And they answered, that they coulde not tell whence (it was).

8 And Jesus sayde vnto them, Neyther tell I you by what authoritie I doe these things.

Math.22.d. Mark.12.a. Esai.5.a. Gen.9.c. Jer.7.c. 9 Then beganne he to put forth to the people this parable. A certaine man planted a vineyarde, and let it forth to husbandmen, & went him selfe into a strange countrey for a great season.

10 And when the time was come, hee sent a seruant to the husbandmen, that they should giue him of the fruite of the vineyarde. But they, when they had beaten him, sent him away emptie.

11 And agayne, (he) sent yet another seruant: but they, when they had beaten him also, and entreated him shamefully, sent him away emptie.

12 Agayne, he sent the thirde, and when they had wounded him also, they cast him out.

15 And when they had cast him out of the vineyard, they killed him. What then shal the Lord of the vineyarde do vnto them?

16 He shall come and destroy these husbandmen, and shall let out his vineyarde to other. When they heard (this,) they sayde, God forbid.

17 And he beheld them, and sayde, What is this then that is written, The stone that (b) the builders disalowed, the same is become the head of the corner.

b. By the corner stone, hee meneth Christ him selfe, who was refused of the Iewes.

29 There were therfore seuen brethren, and the first, when hee had taken a wife, dyed without children.

30 And the seconde toke hir to wife, and he dyed childlesse.

31 And the thirde toke hir, and in likewise (the residue of) the seuen, and left no children behinde them, and dyed.

32 Last of all, the woman dyed also.

33 Nowe in the resurrection, whose wife of them is she? for seuen had hir to wife.

34 Jesus answering, sayde vnto them, The children of this (c) worlde marrie wyues, and are married;

c. That is, all that remayne in the worlde, and are abyding therein.

30 When they shoote forth (theyr buddes) ye beholding knowe of your owne selues, that sommer is then nigh at hande.

31 So likewise ye, when ye see these things come topasse, be ye sure that the kingdome of God is nigh.

32 Verily I say vnto you, this generation shall in no wise passe, till all be fulfilled.

33 Heauen and earth shall passe, but my wordes shall in no wise passe.

34 Take heede to your selues, least at any time your heartes be ouercome with surfetting, and drunkennesse, and cares of this life, and so that day come vpon you vnawares.

35 For as a snare shall it come on all them that dwell on the face of the whole earth.

36 Watch ye therefore, at all times praying, that ye may be accounted worthy to escape all these things that shall come, and that ye may stand before the sonne of man.

37 In the day time he was teaching in the temple, and at nyght he went out, and abood in the mount that is called Oliuete.

38 And al the people came early in the morning to him in the temple, for to heare him.

The.xxij. Chapter.

4. Iudas selleth Christe. 7. they eate the Passouer. 19. the institution of the Lordes supper. 24. they striue who should be greatest. 31. Satan tempteth them. 42. Christe prayeth in the mount, and sweateth bloud. 47. Iudas betrayeth him with a kysse. 51. Christe setteth on Malchus eare. 69. Peter denyeth Christe thryce, and repenteth him. 67. Christ is mocked, and confesseth him selfe to be the sonne of God.

1 THE feast of sweete breade drew nigh, which is called the Passouer. A The Gospell on Wednesday next before Easter.

2 And the high priestes and Scribes sought howe they might kyll him, for they feared the people. Math.26.a.

3 Then entred Satan into Judas, whose surname was Iscariot, being of the number of the twelue. Mark.14.a. John.7.d. John.13.c.

4 And he went his waye, and communed with the high priests and captaines, howe he might betray him vnto them.

5 And they were glad, and promised to giue him money.

6 And he consented, and sought opportunitie to betraye him vnto them without tumult.

7 Then came the day of sweet bread, when (of necessitie) the Passouer must be killed. B Math.29.c.

8 And he sent Peter and John, saying, Goe and prepare vs the Passouer, that we may eate. Mark.14.b

9 They sayde vnto him, Where wilt thou that we should prepare (it?)

10 And he sayd vnto them, Beholde, when ye are entred into the citie, there shall a man meete you, bearing a pitcher of water, him folowe into the same house that he entreth in.

11 And ye shall say vnto the good man of the house, The Maister sayth vnto thee, Where is the ghest chamber, where I shall eate the Passouer with my disciples?

12 And hee shall shewe you a great vpper chamber prepared, there make readie.

13 And they went, and founde as hee had sayde vnto them, and they made readie the Passouer.

14 And when the houre was come, he sate down, and the twelue Apostles with him. C Math.26.b.

15 And he sayde vnto them, With (hearty) desire, I haue desired to eate this Passouer with you before that I suffer. Mark.14.c.

16 For I say vnto you, Henceforth I will not in any wise eat of it any more, vntil it be fulfilled in the kingdome of God.

17 And when he had taken the cuppe, and giuen thankes, he sayde, Take this, and diuide it among you.

18 For I say vnto you, I will not in any wise drinke of the fruite of the vine, vntill the kingdome of God shall come.

19 And when he had taken breade, and giuen thankes, hee brake (it) and gaue vnto them, Math.26.c. Mark.14.c.

20 Likewise also when hee had supped, hee toke the cuppe, saying, This cuppe is the newe Testament in my bloud, whiche is shed for you.

D 21 Yet beholde, the hand of him that betrayeth me, is with me on the table.

22 And truely the sonne of man goeth as it is appoynted, but woe vnto that man by whom he is betrayed.

23 And they began to enquire among themselues, which of them it was that shoulde do this thing.

24 And there was a strife among them, which of them should seeme to be the greatest.

25 And he sayde vnto them, The kinges of nations be Lordes ouer them, and they that haue authoritie vpon them, are called benefactours.

Math. 20. d. 26 But ye shall not be so: but hee that is greatest among you, shall be as the yonger, and he that is chiefe, shall be as he that doth ministre.

The Gospell on S. Bartholomew the Apostle, 27 For whether is greater, he that sitteth at meate, or he that serueth? Is not he that sitteth at meate? But I am among you as he that ministreth.

E 28 Ye are they which haue continually bidden with me in my temptations.

29 And I appoynt vnto you a kingdome, as my father hath appoynted vnto me,

Math. 19. d. 30 That ye may eate and drinke at my table in my kingdome, and sit on seates, iudging the twelue tribes of Israell.

31 And the Lorde sayde, Simon, Simon, beholde, Satan hath earnestly desired to sift you, as it were wheate:

32 But I haue prayed for thee, that thy fayth should not fayle, and when thou arte conuerted, strength thy brethren.

Math. 26. c. Mark. 14. c 33 And he sayde vnto him, Lorde, I am readie to go with thee both into prison, and to death.

34 And he said, I tel thee Peter, The Cock shall in no wise crowe this daye, before that thou shalt thrice deny that thou knewest me.

John. 13. d. Math. 10. c. Mark. 6. b. Luke. 9. a. 35 And he sayde vnto them, When I sent you without wallet, and scrip, and shoes, lacked ye any thing? And they sayde, No.

36 Then sayde he vnto them, But nowe he that hath a wallet, let him take it vp, and likewise his scrip: and he that hath none, let him sell his coate, and buy a swoorde.

37 For I say vnto you, that yet the same whiche is written must be perfourmed in me, whiche is, Euen among the wicked was he reputed: for those things whiche are written of me, haue an ende. Esaias. Math. 27. Mark. 15. John. 18.

38 And they sayde, Lorde, beholde heere are two swoordes. And he sayde vnto them, It is inough.

39 And he came out, and went as hee was wont to mount Oliuet, and his disciples folowed him. Math. 26. Mark. 14.

40 And when he came to the place, he sayd vnto them, Praye, least ye fall into temptation. Math. 26. Luke. 22.

41 And he was pulled away from them about a stones cast, and kneeled downe, and prayed, Math. 26.

42 Saying, Father, if thou wilte, remoue this cuppe from me, neuertheless, not my will, but thyne be done. John. 6. Math. 26. c. Mark. 14. c.

43 And there appeared an Angell vnto him from heauen, comforting him.

44 And he was in an (a) agonie, and hee prayed more earnestly, and his sweat was like drops of bloud, trickling downe to the grounde. a. He felt horrour of Gods and iudgm against

45 And when he rose vp from prayer, and was come to his disciples, he founde them sleeping for heauinesse, 46 And sayde vnto them, Why sleepe ye? Rise, & pray, least ye fall into temptation.

47 While he yet spake, behold, (there came) a companie, and he that was called Iudas, one of the twelue, went before them, and preased nigh vnto Jesus to kisse him. Math. 26. Mark. 14.

48 But Jesus saide vnto him, Judas, betrayest thou the sonne of man with a kisse?

49 When they which were about him saw what would folowe, they saide vnto him, Lorde, shall we smite with swoorde?

50 And one of them smote the seruant of the high priest, & toke away his right eare.

51 Jesus answered, and sayde, Suffer ye thus farre forth. And when he touched his eare, he healed him. Math. 26. Mark. 14. John. 18.

52 Then Jesus saide vnto the high priestes and "rulers of the temple, and the elders which were come to him, Be ye come out as vnto a theefe, with swoords and staues? "or, captains

53 When I was dayly with you in the temple, ye stretched forth no hands against me: But this is euen your verie houre, and the power of darknesse.

54 Then toke they him, and led him, and brought him to the high priestes house, and Peter folowed a farre off.

55 And when they had kindled a fire in the middes of the hall, and were set downe together, Peter also sat down among them. Math. 26. Mark. 14. John. 18.

56 But

56 But when a certaine wench beheld him as he sate by the fire, and earnestly looked vpon him, she sayd, This same felow was also with him.

57 And he denyed him, saying, Woman, I know him not.

58 And after a little whyle another sawe him, and sayde, Thou arte also of them: and Peter sayde, Man, I am not.

59 And about the space of an houre after, another affyrmed, saying, Verely this felow was with him also: for he is of Galilile.

60 And Peter said, Man, I wote not what thou sayest: and immediatly while he yet spake, the Cocke crewe.

61 And the Lorde turned backe, and loked vpon Peter: and Peter remembred the worde of the Lorde, howe he had sayd vnto him, Before the Cocke crow, thou shalt deny me thrice.

62 And Peter went out, and wept bitterly.

63 And the men that helde Jesus, mocked him, and smote him.

64 And when they had blindfolded him, they stroke him on the face, and asked him saying, Areede, who is it that smote thee?

65 And many other things blasphemously spake they against him.

66 And as sone as it was day, the Elders of the people, and the high priestes and the Scribes, came together, and led him into their counsell, saying, 67 Art thou very Christe, tell vs? And hee sayde vnto them, If I tell you, you will not beleeue in any wise.

68 And if I aske you, you will not in any wise answere me, nor let me goe.

69 Hereafter shall the sonne of man sit on the right hande of the power of God.

70 Then sayde they all, Arte thou then the sonne of God? He sayd, Ye say that I am.

71 And they sayd, What need we any further witnesse? For we our selues haue heard of his owne mouth.

The.xxiij. Chapter.

1. Iesus is accused before Pilate, and is sent to Herode: 8. Herode mocketh him. 25. Barrabas set at libertie, and Iesus giuen to be crucified. 26. Simon of Cyrene. 27. The Gospell on Tuesdaye next before Easter.

1 AND the whole multitude of them arose, and led him vnto Pilate.

2 And they beganne to accuse him, saying, We founde this felowe peruerting the people, and forbidding to gyue tribute to Ceasar, saying that he is Christe a king. Math. 26. a. Mark. 15. a. John. 18. c.

3 And Pilate asked him, saying, Arte thou the king of the Iewes? He answered him, and sayd, Thou sayest it.

4 Then sayde Pilate to the high priestes, and to the people, I finde no fault in this man.

5 And they were the more fierce, saying, He moueth the people, teaching throwout all Iurie, and beganne at Galilee, euen to this place.

6 When Pilate hearde (mention) of Galilee, he asked whether the man were of Galilee.

7 And as sone as he knewe that he belonged vnto Herodes iurisdiction, he sent him to Herode, which was also at Ierusalem at that time. B Luke. 3. a.

8 And when Herode sawe Jesus, hee was exceeding glad, for he was desirous to see him of a long season, because he had heard many things of him, and he trusted to haue seene some myracle done by him.

9 Then hee questioned with him manye wordes, but he answered him nothing.

10 The highe priestes and Scribes stode forth, and accused him straightly.

11 And Herode with his men of warre despised him, and when he had mocked him, he arayed him in white clothing, and sent him againe to Pilate.

12 And the same daye Pilate and Herode were made friends together, for before they were at variance betwene them selues. Actes. 4. a.

13 And Pilate, when hee had called together the highe priestes, and the rulers, and the people,

14 Sayd vnto them, Ye haue brought this man vnto me, as one that peruerteth the people, and beholde, I hauing examined him before you, haue found no fault in this man, of those things whereof ye accuse him. C

15 No, nor yet Herode: for I sent you to him, and loe, nothing worthy of death is done to him.

The Gospel by Saint Iohn.

¶ The first Chapter.

1. The diuinitie, humanitie, and office of Christe. 15. The Testimonie of Iohn. 39. The calling of Andrewe, Peter, Philip, and Nathaniel.

1 IN the beginning was the woꝛd, and the woꝛde was ẅ God, & " God was ẏ woꝛde.
2 The same was in the beginning ẅ God.
3 All things were made by it, and without (a) it was made nothing that was made.
4 In it was life, and the life was the light of men.
5 And the light shyned in the darkenesse, and the darkenesse comprehended it not.
6 There was a man sent from God, whose name was Iohn:
7 The same came foꝛ a witnesse, that hee should beare witnesse of the (b) light, that all men thꝛough him might beleeue.
8 Hee was not that light, but (was sent) to beare witnesse of the light.
9 That (lyght) was the true light, whiche lighteth euerie man that commeth into the woꝛlde.
10 He was in the woꝛlde, and the woꝛlde was made by him, and the woꝛlde knewe him not.
11 Hee came in to his owne, and his owne receyued him not.
12 But as many as receyued him, to them gaue he (c) powꝛer to be the sonnes of God, (euen to) them that beleeued on his name.
13 Which were boꝛne not of blond, noꝛ of the will of the flesh, noꝛ yet of the will of man, but of God.
14 And the same woꝛde " became (d) flesh, and dwelt among vs, (and we sawe the glozie of it, as the glozie of the only begotten sonne (that came) from the father) full of grace and trueth.
15 Iohn beareth witnesse of him, and cried, saying, This was he of whome I spake, He that commeth after me, is pꝛeferred befoꝛe me, foꝛ he was " befoꝛe me.
16 And of his fulnesse haue al we receyued, and grace (e) foꝛ grace.
17 Foꝛ the lawe was giuen by Moses, but grace and truth came by Iesus Christ.
18 No man hath seene God at any time, the only begotten sonne which is in the bosome of the father, he hath declared him.
19 And this is the recoꝛde of Iohn, when the Iewes sent pꝛiestes and Leuites from Ieruſalem to aske him, What art thou? The Gospell on the fourth Sunday in Douent.
20 And hee confessed, and denyed not, and sayde playnely, I am not that Christe. Iohn.5.d.

21 Iesus sayth vnto hir, Woman beleeue me, the houre commeth, when ye shall neither in this mountaine, nor yet at Ierusalem worship the father.

22 Ye worship ye wote not what, we know what we worship: for saluation commeth of the Iewes.

23 But the houre commeth, and nowe is, when the true worshippers, shall worship the father in spirite, and in the trueth, for suche the father also requireth to worship him.

24 God is a spirite: and they that worship him, must worship him in spirite, and in the trueth.

25 The woman sayth vnto him, I wote that Messias commeth, whiche is called Christe: when hee is come, hee will tell vs all things.

26 Iesus sayth vnto hir, I that speake vnto thee, am (he.)

27 And immediatly came his disciples, and maruelled that he talked with the womã: yet no man sayde, What seekest thou, or why talkest thou with hir?

28 The woman then lefte hir water pot, and went hir way into the citie, and sayth to the men, 29 Come, see a mã which told me al things that euer I did: is not he that Christe?

30 Then they went out of the citie, and came vnto him.

31 In the meane while his disciples prayed him, saying, Maister, eate.

32 He sayd vnto them, I haue meate to eate that ye wote not of.

33 Therfore said ỹ disciples one to another, hath any man brought him aught to eate?

34 Iesus sayth vnto them, My meate is that I do the will of him that sent me, and finishe his worke.

36 And he that reapeth, receiueth wages, and gathereth fruit vnto life eternall: that both hee that soweth, and hee that reapeth, might reioyce together.

37 And herein is the saying true, that one soweth, and another reapeth.

38 I sent you to reape that, whereon ye bestowed no labour: other men (a) laboured, and ye are entred into their labours.

39 Many of the Samaritanes of that citie beleeued on him, for the saying of the woman, which testified that he tolde me all that euer I did.

40 So, when the Samaritanes were come vnto him, they besought him that he would tarrie with them: and hee aboade there two dayes.

41 And many moe beleeued, because of his owne worde:

42 And sayde vnto the woman, Nowe we beleeue, not because of thy saying: for we haue heard him our selues, and know that this is euen that Christe, the sauiour of the worlde.

43 After two dayes he departed thence, and went (away) into Galilee.

44 For Iesus himselfe testified, ỹ a prophet hath none honour in his owne countrey.

45 Then when he was come into Galilee, the Galileans receiued him, when they had seene all the things that he did at Ierusalem at the day of the feast: For they went also vnto the feast day.

46 So Iesus came agayne into Cana of Galilee, where he made the water wine. And there was a certayne ruler, whose sonne was sicke at Capernaum.

47 When the same heard that Iesus was come out of Iurie into Galilee, hee went vnto him, and besought him that he would come downe and heale his sonne: for hee was euen at the poynt of death.

48 Then sayde Iesus vnto him, Except ye see signes and wonders, ye will in no wise beleeue.

49 The ruler sayth vnto him, Sir, come downe or euer that my sonne dye.

50 Iesus sayth vnto him, Goe thy way, thy sonne liueth. And the man beleeued the worde that Iesus had spoken vnto him, and he went his way.

51 And as he was nowe going downe, the seruantes met him, and tolde him, saying, Thy sonne liueth.

52 Then enquired he of them the houre whe he began to amende: and they sayd vnto him, Yesterday at the seuenth houre the feuer left him.

53 So the father knew, that it was (doone) the same houre, in the whiche Iesus sayde vnto him, Thy sonne liueth: and he beleeued, and all his housholde.

2 And there is at Ierusalem by the sheepe (a)(market,) a pole, which is called in the Hebrue tong Bethelda, hauing fiue porches.

a. Where sheep were sold. Or else, by the sheepe poole: that is, where they washed sheepe or wher sheep dranke.

3 In whiche lay a great multitude of sicke folke, of blind, halt, and withered, wayting for the mouing of the water.

4 For an Angel went downe at a certaine season into the pole, and troubled the water: Who so euer then first after the troubling of the water stepped in, was made whole of what so euer disease he had.

5 And a certaine man was there, which had bin diseased thirtie and eyght yeres.

6 When Iesus saw him lye, and knew that he nowe long time had bene diseased, he saith vnto him, wilt thou be made whole?

B 7 The sicke man answered him, Sir, I haue no man when the water is troubled to put me into the pole: but in the meane time, while I am about to come, another steppeth downe before me.

Math.9.a. Mark.2.b. Luke.5.e. Acts.3.b. 5.9.k.

9 And immediately the man was made whole, and toke vp his bed, and walked: and on the same day was the Sabboth.

10 The Iewes therfore said vnto him that was made whole, It is the sabboth day, it is not lawfull for thee to carry thy bed.

11 Hee answered them, Hee that made me whole, sayde vnto me, Take vp thy bedde and walke.

12 Then asked they him, What man is that which said vnto thee, Take vp thy bed, and walke?

13 And he that was healed, wist not who it was: for Iesus had gotten him selfe away, bycause that ther was preasse of people in that place.

C 14 Afterwarde, Iesus findeth him in the temple, and sayde vnto him, Behold, thou art made whole: sinne no more, leaste a worse thing come vnto thee.

John.8.a.

15 The man departed, and tolde the Iewes that it was Iesus whiche had made him whole.

16 And therefore did the Iewes persecute Iesus, and sought (the meanes) to slea him, bicause he had done these things on the Sabboth day.

17 Iesus answered them, My father worketh hitherto, and I worke. 1.Cor.12.

41 I receiue not the prayse of men.

42 But I knowe you, that ye haue not the loue of God in you.

43 I am come in my fathers name, and ye receiue me not: if another shall come in his owne name, him will ye receiue.

44 Howe can ye beleeue, which receiue honour one of another, and seeke not the honour that commeth of God only?

45 Doe not thinke that I will accuse you to my father: there is one that accuseth you, euen Moses in whome ye trust.

46 For had ye beleeued Moses, ye woulde haue beleeued me: for he wrote of me.

47 But if ye beleeue not his writings, howe shall ye beleeue my wordes?

The vi. Chapter.

10. Christe feedeth fiue thousand with fiue loaues and two fishes. 15. the people woulde haue made him king. 19. he walking on the sea, folowed the disciples which were troubled in a ship with a great tempest. 26. they seeke Christ, to be fed. 29. fayth is the worke of God. 30. they aske signes and wonders. 35. of the bread of life. 40. of fayth. 66. the carnal are offended at him. 67. some of his disciples offended, forsake him. 69. the Apostles confesse him to be the sonne of God. 71. Iudas is a deuill.

1 AFter these things, Iesus went his way ouer the sea of Galilee, which is the sea of Tiberias:

2 And a great multitude folowed him, because they sawe his myracles which he did on them that were diseased.

3 And Iesus went vp into a mountaine, and there he sate with his disciples.

4 And the Passouer, a feaste of the Iewes, was nygh.

5 When Iesus then lifte vp his eyes, and sawe a great company come vnto him, he sayth vnto Philip, Whence shall we buye bread, that these may eate?

6 (This he sayde to proue him: for he him selfe knewe what he would do.)

7 Philip answered him, Two hundred (a) penyworth of breade are not sufficient for them, that euery man may take a litle.

8 One of his disciples, Andrewe, Simon Peters brothers, sayth vnto him, 9 There is a litle lad heere, which hath fiue barley loaues, and two fishes: but what are they among so many?

10 And Iesus sayde, Make the people sitte downe. There was much grasse in the place. So the men sate downe, in number about fiue thousande.

11 And Iesus toke the breade, and when he had giuen thankes, he distributed to the disciples: and the disciples to them that were set downe, and likewise of the fishes, as much as they woulde.

12 When they were filled, he sayde vnto his disciples, Gather vp the broken meate that remayneth, that nothing be lost.

13 And they gathered it together, and filled twelue baskets with the broken meate of the fiue barley loaues, whiche (broken meate) remayned vnto them that hadde eaten.

14 Then those men, when they had seene the myracle that Iesus did, sayde, This is of a trueth the same prophete that shoulde come into the worlde.

15 When Iesus therfore perceiued that they woulde come and take him by force, to make him king, he departed againe into a mountaine him selfe alone.

16 And when euen was nowe come, his disciples went downe vnto the sea, 18 And the sea rose with a great winde that blewe.

19 So, when they had rowed aboute fyue and twentie, or thirtie furlongs, they saw Jesus walking on the sea, and drawing nighe vnto the shippe: and they were afraide.

20 But he sayth vnto them, It is I, be not afraide.

D 21 And they would haue receiued him into the shippe: and immediately the ship was at the lande whither they went.

22 The daye folowing, when the people which stode on the other side of the sea, sawe that there was none other ship there, saue that one whereinto his disciples were entred, and that Jesus went not in with his disciples into the ship, but that his disciples were gone (away) alone:

23 Howbeit, there came other shippes from Tiberias, nigh vnto the place where they did eate breade, after that the Lorde had giuen thankes.

24 When the people therfore saw that Jesus was not there, neyther his disciples, they also toke shipping, and came to Capernaum, seeking for Jesus.

25 And when they had founde him on the otherside of the sea, they sayde vnto him, Rabbi, when camest thou hither?

26 Jesus answered them, and saide, Verily verily I say vnto you, Ye seeke me, not bicause ye sawe the myracles, but bycause ye did eate of the loaues, and were filled.

27 Laboure not for the meate which perisheth, but for that meate which endureth vnto euerlasting life, whiche (meate) the sonne of man shall giue vnto you: for him hath God the father sealed.

E 28 Then sayde they vnto him, What shall we doe, that we might worke the workes of God?

65 And he saide, Therefore saide I vnto you, that no man can come vnto me, except it were giuen vnto him of my father.

66 From that time many of his disciples went backe, and walked no more with him.

67 Then saide Iesus vnto the twelue, wil ye also goe away?

68 Then Simon Peter answered him, Lorde, to whom shall we goe? Thou hast the wordes of eternal life:

69 And we beleeue and are sure that thou art that Christe, the sonne of the liuing God.

70 Iesus answered them, Haue not I chosen you twelue, and one of you is a deuil?

A 2 And early in ỹ morning he came againe into the temple, and all the people came vnto him, and he sat downe, and taught them.

3 And ỹ Scribes and Pharisees brought vnto him a woman taken in adulterie, and when they had set hir in the middes,

4 They say vnto him, Maister, this woman was taken in adulterie, euen as the deede was a doing.

5 Moses in the lawe cõmaunded vs that suche shoulde be stoned: but what sayest thou?

6 This they saide, tempting him, that they myght accuse him. But Iesus stowped downe, and with his finger wrote on the ground, as though he heard them not.

B 7 So, when they continued asking hym, he lyft vp him selfe, and saide vnto them, Let hym that is among you without sin first cast the stone at hir.

8 And agayne he stowped downe, & wrote on the grounde.

9 And when they heard this, being accused of their owne consciences, they wet out one by one, beginnyng at the eldest, euen vnto the last: and Iesus was left alone, and the woman standyng in the middes.

10 When Iesus had lyft vp him selfe, and sawe no man but the woman, he sayde vnto hir, Woman, where are those thyne accusers? Hath no man condemned thee?

11 She saide, No man Lorde: And Iesus said, Neyther doe I condemne thee: Goe and sinne no more.

12 Then spake Iesus agayne vnto them, saying, I am the lyght of the worlde: He that followeth me, shall not in any wyse walke in darkenesse, but shal haue ỹ light of life.

13 The Pharisees therfore saide vnto him, Thou bearest recorde of thy selfe, thy recorde is not true.

14 Iesus answeared, and said vnto them. C Though I beare recorde of my selfe, yet my recorde is true: for I knowe whence I came, and whyther I goe: but ye can not tell whence I come, and whyther I goe.

15 Ye iudge after the flesh, I iudge no mã.

4 I must worke the workes of him that sent me, whyle it is (a) day: The night commeth when no man can worke.

5 As long as I am in the world, I am the light of the world.

6 When he had thus spoken, he spat on the ground, and made clay of the spittle, and he annoynted the clay vppon the eyes of the blinde,

B 7 And saide vnto him, Goe wash thee in the pole of Siloe (which by interpretation is, (as much to saye as) sent) He went his way therefore, and washed, and came (againe) seeing.

8 The neyghbours therefore, and they that had seene him before when he was blinde, saide, Is not this he that sate and begged?

9 Some saide, This is he: Other sayde He is like him. He him selfe saide, I am (euen) he.

10 Therefore saide they vnto him, Howe were thyne eyes opened?

11 He answered, and saide, The man that is called Iesus, made clay, and annoynted myne eyes and saide vnto me: Goe to the pole Siloe, and washe: And when I went and washed, I receiued (my) sight.

12 Then said they vnto him, Where is he? He saide I can not tell.

13 They brought to the Phatisees him, that a little before was blinde.

C 14 And it was the Sabboth day when Iesus made the clay, and opened his eyes.

15 Then againe the Pharisees also asked him howe he had receiued his sight? He saide vnto them, He put clay vppon mine eyes, and I washed, and doe see.

16 Therefore saide some of the Pharisees, This man is not of God, bycause he keepeth not the Sabboth day. Other saide, Howe can a man that is a sinner do suche myracles? And there was a "strife amõg them.

17 They say vnto the blinde man againe, What sayest thou of him bycause he hath opened thine eyes? He saide, He is a prophete.

18 But the Iewes did not beleeue the mã how that he had bin blinde, and receiued his sight, vntil they called the parentes of him that had receiued his sight.

19 And they asked them, saying, Is this your sonne whom yee say that hee was borne blinde? howe dothe hee nowe see then?

20 His parentes answered them, & saide, We knowe that this is our sonne, and that he was borne blinde:

21 But by what meanes he now seeth, we D can not tel, or who hath opened his eyes, can not we tel, he is of age, aske him, hee shall speake for him selfe.

22 Suche wordes spake his parentes, bycause they feared the Iewes: for the Iewes hadde agreed already, that if any John. 12. f. man did confesse that he was Christ, hee shoulde be excommunicate out of the synagoge.

23 Therefore saide his parentes, He is of age, aske him.

24 Then againe called they the man that was blinde, and sayde vnto him, Giue God the prayse, we knowe that this man is a sinner.

25 He answered, and saide, Whether hee be a sinner or no, I can not tel: one thing I am sure of, that whereas I was blind, nowe I see.

26 Then saide they to him againe, What did hee to thee? Howe opened he thine eyes?

27 He answered them, I tolde you yet while, and ye did not heare: wherefore would you heare it againe? Will ye also be his disciples?

28 Then rated they him, and sayde, Thou E art his disciple: we are Moses disciples.

29 We are sure that god spake vnto Moses: as for this felow, we knowe not from whence he is.

30 The man answered, and saide vnto them, This is a marueylous thing, that ye wote not from whence he is, and yet he hath opened mine eyes.

31 For we be sure that God heareth not sinners: but if any man be a worshipper of God, & doth his will, him heareth he.

32 Since the world beganne was it not hearde that any man opened the eyes of one that was borne blinde.

33 If this man were not of God, he coulde doe nothing.

34 They answered and saide vnto him, Thou art altogether borne in sinne, and doest thou teache vs? And they cast him out.

35 Iesus hearde that they had excommunicate him: and when he had founde him, he sayde vnto him, Doest thou beleeue on the sonne of God?

36 He answeared, and sayde, Who is he Lorde, that I might beleeue on him?

John.4.c. 37 And Jesus sayde vnto him, Thou hast both seene him, and it is he that talketh with thee.

b. He declared his faith by his outward profession. 38 And he sayde, Lorde, I beleeue: and he (b) worshipped him.

39 And Jesus saide vnto him, I am come vnto iudgement in this world, that they whiche see not, might see: and that they which see, might be made blinde.

40 And some of the Pharisees which were with him, hearde these wordes, and sayde vnto him, Are we blind also?

John 15.d. 41 Jesus saide vnto them, If ye were blinde, ye shoulde haue no sinne, but now ye say, We see: therefore your sinne remayneth.

Wherefore the Iewes beleeue not. 31. The Iewes woulde haue stoned him, and called his preaching blasphemie. 34. Princes called Gods. 37. Christes workes declared him to be God.

The Gospell on Tuesday after whitsunday. 1 VErily, verily I say vnto you, He that entreth not in by the doore, into the sheepefolde, but clymbeth vp some other way, the same is a theefe, and a robber.

2 But he that entreth in by the doore, is the shephearde of the sheepe.

Prou.10.d. 3 To him the Porter openeth, and the sheepe heare his voyce, and he calleth his owne sheepe by name, and leadeth them out.

4 And when he hath put forth his owne sheepe, he goeth before them, & the sheepe folowe him: for they know his voyce.

5 A stranger will they in no wise folowe, but will flee from him, for they knowe not the voyce of strangers.

John.14.a. a. He meaneth al false prophetes, who led not men to Christ, but from him to others, or else preached theselues. 6 This prouerbe spake Jesus vnto them: but they vnderstoode not what thinges they were which he spake vnto them.

7 Then saide Jesus vnto them againe, Verily verily I say vnto you, I am the doore of the sheepe.

8 All (a) euen as many as came before me, are theeues and robbers: but the sheepe did not heare them.

9 I am the doore: by me if any man enter in, he shal be safe, and shall goe in, and go out, and finde pasture.

10 The theefe commeth not, but for to steale, kil, and to destroy: I am come that they might haue life, and that they might haue it more abundantly.

13 The hyreling fleeth, because hee is an hyreling, and careth not for the sheepe.

14 I am the good shepheard, and knowe my sheepe, and am knowen of mine. 1.Tim.1.

15 As the father knoweth me, euen so know I also the father: and I giue my lyfe for the sheepe. Math.11. Luke 10. Mark.10.

17 Therefore dothe my father loue me, because I put my life (from me,) that I might take it againe.

18 No man taketh it from me, but I put it away of my selfe: I haue power to put it from me, and I haue power to take it againe. This commaundement haue I receiued of my father.

19 There was a dissention therfore againe among the Iewes, for these sayings.

20 And many of them saide, He hath a deuil, and is mad, why heare ye him? Mat.9.b. and,12.b. Mark.3.b. Joh.10.d.

21 Other said, These are not the wordes of him that hath a deuill. Can a deuil open the eyes of the blinde?

23 And Jesus walked in the temple, euen in Solomons porche. 3.Re.6.i. Actes.3.b. and.5.c.

24 Then came the Iewes rounde about him, and saide vnto him, Howe long doest thou make vs to doubt? If thou be Christ, tel vs plainely.

25 Jesus answered them, I told you, & ye beleeue not: the workes that I doe in my fathers name, they beare witnesse of me.

26 But ye beleeue not, because ye are not of my sheepe, as I sayd vnto you.

27 My sheepe heare my voyce, and I know them, and they folow me: John.8.f.

28 And I giue vnto them eternal lyfe, and they shal neuer perishe, neither shall any man man plucke them out of my hande.

27 My father whiche gaue them me, is greater tha al: and no man is able to take them out of my fathers hande.

30 I and my father are one.

31 Then the Iewes toke vp stones, to stone him (withal.)

32 Iesus answered them, Many good workes haue I shewed you from my father, for which worke of them doe ye stone me?

33 The Iewes answered him saying, For a good worke we stone thee not, but for thy blasphemie, and bycause that thou being a man, makest thy selfe God.

34 Iesus answered them, Is it not writin in your lawe, I sayde, ye are Gods?

35 If he called them Gods, vnto whom the worde of God was spoken, and the scripture can not be broken:

36 Say ye of him whom the father hath sanctified and sent into the world, Thou blasphemest: bycause I sayde, I am the sonne of God?

37 If I doe not the workes of my father, beleeue me not.

38 But if I doe, and if ye beleeue not me, beleeue the workes: that ye may knowe and beleeue that the father is in me, and I in him.

39 Againe they went about to take him: and he escaped out of their hande, 40 And went away againe beyonde Iordane, into the place where Iohn was first baptising: and there he abode.

41 And many resorted vnto him, and said, Iohn did no myracle: but al thinges that Iohn spake of this man, were true.

42 And many beleeued on him there.

43. Christ rayseth Lazarus from death. 45. Certaine Iewes beleeue in Christ. 47. The Pharisees take counsel against him. 50. Caiaphas prophesieth that one muste dye for the people. 54. Christ fleeth the Pharisees. 57. The high priestes and the Pharisees commaunded Christ to be taken.

1 A Certaine man was sicke, named Lazarus, of Bethanie the towne of Marie and hir sister Martha.

2 (It was that Marie whiche annointed the Lorde with oyntment, and wiped his feete with hir heare, whose brother Lazarus was sicke.)

3 Therefore his sister sent vnto him, saying, Lorde, beholde, he whom thou louest is sicke.

4 When Iesus hearde that, he sayde, This infirmitie is not vnto death, but for the glorie of God: that the sonne of GOD might be glorified thereby. John.9.d.

5 Iesus loued Martha, and hir sister, and Lazarus.

6 When he had heard therfore that he was sicke, he abode two dayes still in the same place where he was.

7 Then after that, saith he to his disciples, Let vs goe into Iurie againe. B D

8 His disciples say vnto him, Maister, the Iewes lately sought to stone thee, and goest thou thyther againe? John.7.d.

9 Iesus answered, Are there not twelue houres of the day? If any man walke in the day, he stumbleth not bycause he seeth the light of this world.

10 But if a man walke in ỹ night, he stumbleth: bycause there is no light in him.

11 These thinges sayde he, and after that, he sayth vnto them, Our friend Lazarus sleepeth, but I goe that I may awake him out of sleepe. Mat.9.c. Luke.8.g. Mar.5.d.

12 Then saide his disciples, Lorde, if hee sleepe, he shal doe wel enough.

13 Howbeit Iesus spake of his death: but they thought that he had spoken of taking of rest in sleepe.

14 Then sayde Iesus vnto them plainly, Lazarus is dead: C

15 And I am glad for your sakes that I was not there, (bycause ye may beleeue:) Neuertheles, let vs goe vnto him. John.10.k.

16 Then saide Thomas, whiche is called Didymus, vnto his felowe disciples, Let vs also goe, that we may dye with him.

17 Then when Iesus came, he founde that he had lyen in his graue foure dayes alredy.

18 (Bethanie was nigh vnto Ierusalem, about (a) fiftiene furlongs off:)

a. Which is about two myles.

19 And many of the Iewes came to Martha & Marie, to comfort them ouer their brother.

20 Martha, as sone as she hearde that Iesus was comming, went and met him: but Marie sate stil in the house.

21 Then said Martha vnto Iesus, Lord, if thou haddest bin here, my brother hadde not dyed. D John.11.d.

22 But euen nowe I knowe, that what soeuer thou wilt aske of God, God will giue it thee.

23 Iesus saith vnto hir, Thy brother shal rise ryse againe.

24 Martha saith vnto him, I knowe that he shall ryse againe in the resurrection at the last day.

25 Iesus saide vnto hir, I am the resurrection, and the life: he that beleeueth on mee, yea, though hee were dead, yet shall he liue.

John.1.a. and.14.a. John.3.b. Rom.1.b. Ibac.2.a. Heb.10.g.

26 And who so euer liueth, & beleeueth on me, shal neuer dye. Beleeuest thou this?

27 She saith vnto him, Yea Lorde, I beleeue that thou art Christ the sonne of God, which should come into the worlde.

E 28 And when she had so saide, she went hir way, & called Marie hir sister secretly, saying, The Maister is come, and calleth for thee.

29 As soone as she hearde that, she ariseth quickly, and commeth vnto him.

30 Iesus was not yet come into ỳ towne: but was in that place where Martha met him.

31 The Iewes then which were with hir in the house, and comforted hir, when they sawe Marie that shee rose vp hastily, and went out, followed hir, saying, She goeth vnto the graue to weepe there.

John.11.c. 32 Then when Marie was come where Iesus was and sawe him, she fell downe at his feete, saying vnto him, Lorde, if thou haddest bin here, my brother hadde not bin dead.

33 When Iesus therefore sawe hir weeping, and the Iewes also weeping which came with hir, he groned (b) in the spirite and was troubled in him selfe.

b. For compassiō, feeling in him selfe our miseries.

34 And saide, Where haue ye layde him? They say vnto him, Lorde, come, and see.

Luke.19.k. 35 Iesus wept.

F 36 Then saide the Iewes, Beholde howe he loued him.

John.9.b. 37 And some of them said, Could not this man whiche opened the eyes of the blind, haue caused that this man also should not haue dyed.

38 Iesus therefore againe groning in him selfe, cōmeth to the graue: it was a caue, and a stone layde on it.

39 Iesus saide, Take ye away the stone. Martha, the sister of him that was dead, saith vnto him, Lorde, by this time he stynketh: for hee hath bin dead foure dayes.

40 Iesus saith vnto hir. Sayde I not vnto thee, that if thou wouldest beleeue, thou shouldest see the glorie of God?

41 Then they toke away the stone from the place where the dead was layde. And Iesus lift vp his eyes, and saide, Father, I thanke thee that thou hast heard me.

42 Howbeit, I knowe that thou hearest me alwayes: but bycause of the people which stande by, I sayde it, that they may beleeue that thou hast sent me. John.11.

43 And when he thus had spoken, he cryed with a loude voyce, Lazarus, come forth.

44 And he that was dead, came forth, bound hande & foote with graue clothes, and his face was bounde about with a napkin. Iesus saith vnto them, Lose him, and let him goe. John.11.

45 Then many of the Iewes which came to Marie, and hadde seene the thinges which Iesus did, beleeued on him. John.11.

46 But some of them went their wayes to the Pharisees, and tolde them what Iesus had done.

47 Then gathered the high priestes & the Pharisees a counsel, and sayde, What doe we? for this man doth many myracles. Mat.26. Mar.14. Luke.11. Acts.4.

48 If we let him scape thus, all men will beleeue on him, and the Romanes (c) shall come, and take away both our roome, and the people. c. By the first way that they thought to escape danger they fell into it.

49 And one of them named Caiaphas, being the high priest that same yeere, sayde vnto them, Ye perceiue nothing at al, Luke.7.k.

50 Nor consider that it is expedient for vs, that one man shoulde dye for the people, and not that all the nation perish, John.11.

51 This spake he not of him selfe: but being high priest that same yeere, hee prophesied that Iesus shoulde dye for that nation.

52 And not for that nation onely, but that also he shoulde gather together in one the children of God that were scattered abrode.

53 Then from that day forth, they toke counsayle together for to put hym to death. Mat.26. Mar.14.

54 Iesus therfore walked no more openly among the Iewes: but wente his way thence vnto a countrey nigh to a wildernesse, into a citie whichis called Ephraim, & there continued with his disciples.

55 And the Iewes Easter was nigh at hande, and many went out of the countrey vp to Ierusalem before the Easter, to purifie them selues. Mat.26. John.11. Mar.14. Luke.22.

Christe hideth him selfe from the Iewes. 37. Wherefore the Iewes beleeue not. 42. Diuers rulers that beleeued in him, feared to bee excommunicated. 48. Gods worde is iudge.

A 1 THen Iesus before sixe dayes of the Passeouer, came to Bethanie, where Lazarus was, which had bin dead, whom he raysed from death.

2 There they made him a supper, & Martha serued: but Lazarus was one of them that sate at the table with him.

3 Then toke Marie a pound of oyntment, of Spike narde, very costly, and annoynted Iesus feete, and wyped his fete cleane with hir heare: and the house was fylled with the odour of the oyntment.

4 Then saith one of his disciples, Iudas Iscariot, Simons sonne, whiche shoulde betray him,

5 Why was not this ointment solde for three hundred pence, and giuen to the poore?

6 This he saide, not that he cared for the poore: but because he was a theefe, and had the (a) bagge, and bare what was giuen.

B 7 Then saide Iesus, Let hir alone, against the day of my burying hath shee kept this.

8 For the poore alwayes ye haue with you: but me haue ye not alwayes.

9 Muche people of the Iewes therefore had knowledge that he was there: and they came not for Iesus sake onely, but that they might see Lazarus also, whom he raysed from death.

10 But ỳ high priestes held a counsel, that they might put Lazarus to death also,

11 Because that for his sake, many of the Iewes went away, & beleeued on Iesus.

12 On the next day, muche people that were come to the feast, when they heard that Iesus commeth to Hierusalem, 13 Tooke braunches of Palme trees, and went foorth to meete hym, and cryed, (b) Holanna, blessed is he that commeth in the name of the Lord, kyng of Israel.

14 And Iesus when he had found a yong Asse, sate thereon, as it is written, 15 Feare not daughter of Sion: beholde, thy kyng commeth, sitting on an Asses colte.

16 These thynges vnderstoode not his disciples at the fyrst: but when Iesus was glorified, then remembred they that such thinges were written of hym, and that suche thinges they had done vnto hym.

17 The people that was with hym, when he called Lazarus out of his graue, and raysed hym from death, bare recorde.

18 Therefore met hym the people also because they heard that he had done suche a myracle.

19 The Pharisees therefore sayde among them selues, Perceyue ye howe ye preuayle nothing? Beholde, (all the whole) worlde is gone after hym.

20 There were certayne Greekes among them, that came vp to worship at ỳ feast:

21 The same came therfore to Philip, whiche (was) of Bethsaida, (a citie) of Galilee, and desyred hym, saying, Syr, we woulde (fayne) see Iesus.

22 Philip commeth and telleth Andrewe: and agayne Andrewe and Philip tolde Iesus.

23 And Iesus answeared them, saying, The houre is come that the sonne of man shoulde be glorified.

24 Verily, verily I say vnto you, Except the wheate corne fal into the ground, and dye, it abydeth alone: if it dye, it bringeth foorth muche fruite.

25 He that loueth his life shal lose it: and he that hateth his life in this worlde, shal keepe it vnto lyfe eternal.

26 If any man minister vnto me, let hym folowe me: and where I am, there shal also my minister be: If any man minister vnto me, hym wyl my father honour.

27 Nowe is my soule troubled, and what shal I saye? Father, saue me from this houre, but therefore came I into this houre.

C 28 Father, glorifie thy name, Then came there a voyce from heauen, (saying,) I haue both glorified it, and wil glorifie it agayne.

29 The people therefore that stoode by, and hearde it, sayde that it thundered: other in me, he taketh away: and euery branche that beareth fruite, he purgeth, that it may bring forth more fruite.

3 Nowe are ye cleane through the worde which I haue spoken vnto you.

4 Bide in me, and I in you: As the branch can not beare fruite of it selfe, except it byde in the vine: no more can ye, except ye (a) abide in me.

5 I am the vine, ye are the branches: hee that abideth in me, and I in him, the same bringeth forth much fruite: for without me can ye doe nothing.

6 If a man bide not in me, he is cast forth as a braunche, and withereth, and men gather them, and cast them into the fire, and they burne.

7 If ye byde in me, and my wordes abide in you, ye shall aske what ye will, and it shall be done for you.

8 Herein is my father glorified, that yee beare much fruite, & become my disciples.

9 As the father hath loued me, (euen) so haue I loued you: continue ye in my (b) loue.

10 If ye keepe my commaundementes, ye shall abyde in my loue: euen as I haue kept my fathers commaundementes, and abyde in his loue.

11 These thinges haue I spoken vnto you, that my ioy might remayne in you, and that your ioy might be ful.

12 This is my commaundement, that ye loue together as I haue loued you.

13 Greater loue hath no man than this: y a man bestowe his life for his friendes.

14 Ye are my friendes, if ye doe what so euer I commaund you.

15 Henceforth cal I not you seruants, for the seruant knoweth not what his Lorde doth, but you haue I called friendes, for al (c) thinges that I haue heard of my father, haue I made known to you.

16 Ye haue not chosen me, but I haue chosen you, & ordeyned you, that you shoulde goe and bring forth fruite, and that your fruite shoulde remaine: that what so euer ye shall aske of the father in my name, he may giue it you.

17 This commaunde I you, that ye loue together.

18 If the worlde hate you, ye knowe that it hated me before it hated you.

19 If yee were of the worlde, the worlde would loue his owne: howebeit, because ye are not of the worlde, but I haue chosen you out of the worlde, therefore the worlde hateth you.

20 Remember the word that I saide vnto you, The seruaunt is not greater than the Lord: if they haue persecuted me, they wil also persecute you: if they haue kept my saying, they will keepe (d) yours also.

21 But all these thinges will they do vnto you for my names sake, because they haue not knowen him that sent me.

22 If I hadde not come, and spoken vnto them, they shoulde haue hadde no synne: but nowe haue they nothing to cloke their sinne withal.

23 He that hateth mee, hateth my father also.

24 If I hadde not done among them the workes which none other man did, they shoulde haue had no (e) sinne: but nowe haue they both seene, and hated both mee and my father.

25 But (this commeth to passe) that the worde might be fulfilled that is written in their lawe, They hated mee without a cause.

26 But when the comforter is come, whom I will sende vnto you from the father, euen the spirite of truthe, whiche proceedeth of the father, he shall testifie of me.

27 And ye shal beare witnesse also, because ye haue bin with me from the beginning.

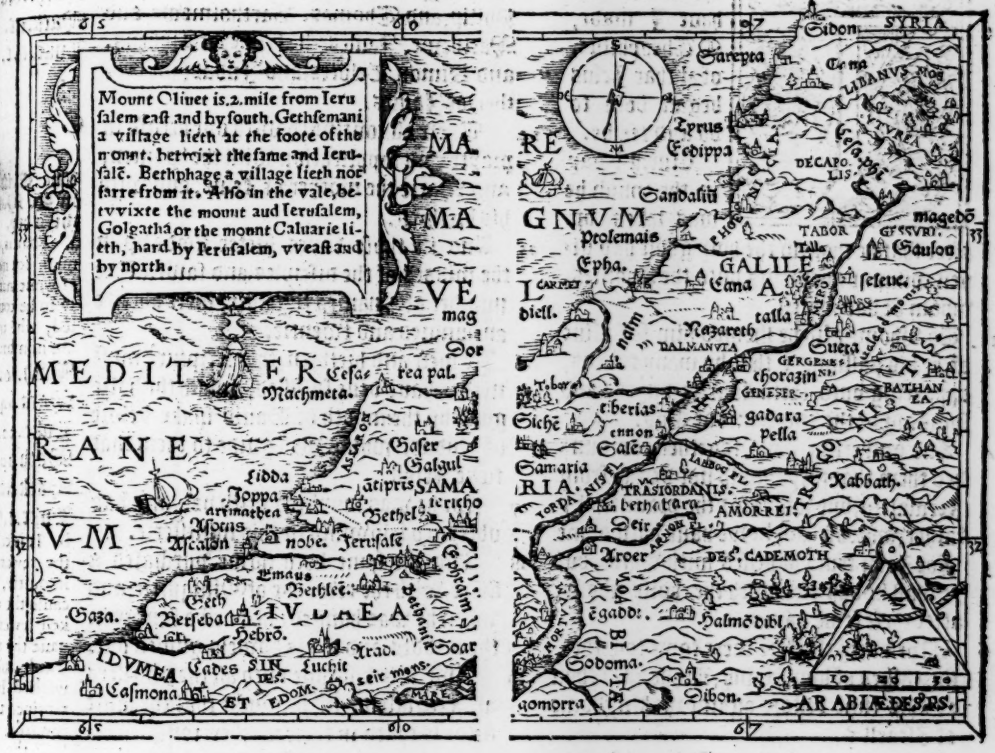
Here endeth the Gospell by Saint Iohn.

The

The discription of the lande of promise, called Palestina, Chanaan, or the holie lande, where Christ vvas borne, vvrought his myracles, and suffred death.



The Argument of the Actes of the Apostles.

In this booke, the Euangelist saint Luke doth declare and write vnto vs (if we will be Theophile, that is to say, vnfayned louers of God) what was doone and wrought for our singular comfort after the glorious resurrection and most triumphant ascention of our sauiour Iesus Christ. Howe that our Lorde Iesu did both promise, and also giue most aboundantly his holy spirit vnto all his disciples: and what this spirit did worke by the preaching of the worde both in the Iewes, and also in the Gentiles that beleued in Christ. This booke hath alwayes bin in so great estimation, and that most deseruingly. For the actes of the Apostles (saith Hierome) seeme to be but a bare historie, bycause in them onely the infancie of the Church (which then began to spring) is set forth: but if we consider that Luke the Phisition (whose praise is in the Gospell) hath written them, we shall also perceiue, that all his wordes are the philicke of a languishing and sicke soule. What other thing (I beseech you) is this sacred and heauenly historie, but one of the chiefest partes of the Gospell? For truly in the other bookes (which are intituled Gospels) the corne of wheate cast into the ground, is described: but here in this booke the selfe same corne is set forth, being alreadie sprong vp, and declaring most effectually his riches vnto the world. Againe, if we had not by Luke knowne after what maner Christ forsooke the earth, where, and in what place, howe, and after what fashion the promised comforter did come, what beginning the Church had, wherein it did flourish, and by what meanes it did encrease: should we not haue lacked a great part of the Gospell? Therefore Bede did write right well, saying: That Luke not onely made an historie vntill the resuerrection and assumption of the Lord, as the other did, but also did set forth by writing the doings of the Apostles, as much as he knew to be sufficient to edify ỹ faith of the readers or hearers, that only his boke (touching the Acts of the Apostles) was by the church thought worthy to be credited, al other which presumed to write of the same matter, being reiected & disappointed. Chrysostome also, to thē that did maruel why S. Luke had not written all the apostolicall historie vnto the ende, or that he had not described the actes of euery one of them seuerally in bookes by them selues, doth answere goodly, saying. These are sufficient vnto them that will apply their myndes, and take heede. Therefore leauing vnprofitable questions (why was not this written, or that written) let vs take heede vnto these wholesome sayings of the Euangelist, that so we may apply this most comfortabl. salue (ministred vnto vs by him) vnto our wounded soules.

The. ij. Chapter.

3. The holy ghost came vpon the Apostles in visible figures. 6. The hearers were astonied. 14. Peter preacheth, and stoppeth their mouthes 41. He baptiseth a great number. 42. The godly exercise of the faithfull.

1 AND when the day of Pentecost was fully come, they were all with one accorde in one place:

2 And sodenly there came a sounde from heauen, as it had bene the coming of a mighty winde, and it filled all the house where they were sitting.

3 And there appeared vnto them clouen tongs, like as they had bene of fire, and (it) sate vpon eache one of them.

4 And they were all filled with the holie ghost, and begaune to speake with other tongs, as the spirit gaue them vtterance.

5 There were dwelling at Ierusalem Iewes, deuout men, out of euerie nation of them that are vnder heauen.

6 When this was noysed about, the multitude came together, and were astonied, bicause that euerie man heard them speake in his owne language.

7 They wondred all, and marueiled, saying one to another, Beholde, are not all these which speake, of Galilee?

8 And howe heare we euerie man his owne (a) tong, wherein we were borne?

9 Parthians, and Medes, and Elamites, and the dwellers in Mesopotamia, and in Iurie, and in Capadocia, in Pontus, and Asia,

10 Phrygia, and Pamphylia, in Egipt, and in the parties of Lybia, whiche is beside Cyrene, and strangers of Rome, Iewes and (b) Proselytes, 11 Cretes and Arabians, we do heare them speake in our tongs, the wonderfull works of God.

12 They were all amazed, and were in a doubt, saying one to another, What meaneth this?

13 Other mocking, saide, These men are full of newe wine.

14 But Peter standing forthe with the eleuen, lift vp his voyce, and said vnto the, Ye men of Iurie, and all ye that dwell at Ierusalem, be this knowne vnto you, and heare my wordes, 15 For these are not dronken, as ye suppose, seeing it is but the (c) thirde houre of ý day.

16 But this is that whiche was spoken by the prophete Ioell, 17 And it shall be in the last dayes, sayth God) of my spirit I will powre out vpon all flesh: and your sonnes and your daughters shall prophesie, and your yong menne shall see visions, and your olde men shall dreame dreames. Ioel.2.g.

18 And on my seruantes, and on my handmaydens, I will powre out of my spirite in those dayes, and they shall prophesie:

19 And I will shewe wonders in heauen aboue, and tokens in the earth beneath, bloud, and fire, and the vapour of smooke. Math.27.k. Luke.23.k.

20 The sunne shall be turned into darkenesse, and the mone into bloud, before that great and notable day of the Lord come.

21 And it shall come to passe, that who so euer shall call on the name of the Lorde, shall be saued. Rom.10.c.

22 Ye men of Israell, heare these wordes, Iesus of Nazareth, a man approued of God among you with myracles, wonders and signes, which God did by him in the midst of you, as ye your selues also know.

23 Him after that ye had taken by wicked hands, being deliuered by the determinate counsell and foreknowledge of God, haue ye crucified and slaine.

24 Whom God hath raysed vp, hauing lowsed the sorrowes of death, bicause it was impossible that he should be holden of it.

25 For Dauid speaketh of him, I sawe the Lorde alwayes set forth before my face, for he is on my right hande, that I should not be moued. Psal.16.f.

26 Therefore did my heart reioyce, and my tong was glad: Moreouer also, my flesh shall rest in hope.

27 Bicause thou wilte not leaue my soule in hell, neither wilt thou suffer thine holie one to see corruption.

28 Thou hast shewed me the wayes of life, thou shalt make me full of ioye with thy countenance.

29 Ye me and brethren, let me freely speake vnto you of the patriarch Dauid: for hee is both deade and buried, and his sepulchre is with vs vnto this day. 3.Re.2.b.

30 Therefore being a prophete, and knowing that God had sworne with an othe to him, that he would raise vp Christ, as concerning the flesh, of the fruite of his loyns, to sit on his seate.

31 He seeing this before, spake of the resurrection of Christe, that his soule was not left in hell, neyther his flesh did see corruption.

32 This Iesus hath God rayled vp, wherof we all are witnesses. Acts.1.a.

33 Then

(a) It is most likely that the miracle was both in the hearers and speakers in the hea. In the speakers, for they spea the Hebru tong, did well perceiue that strangers of di ers nations spake languages they vnderstād not: And in the hearers, for euerie mā heard sensibly his own coun trey language, as of the A postles, speaking in their mother tong. That is, faith as were conuerted to the Iewes reli gion, & whose ancestours were no Iews.

(b) The Iewes vse the third houre of the day, from sixe of the clocke in the mornig to six at night: therefore, the third hour after the Iewes computation, is our nyne of the clocke.

33 Then being by the right hande of God exalted, and hauing receiued of the father the promise of the holy ghost, he hath shed forth this, which ye nowe see and heare.

34 For Dauid is not ascended into the heauens, but he sayth him selfe, The Lorde saide vnto my Lorde, Sitte thou on my Psal.110.a. Math.22.d. right hande,

35 Until I make thy foes thy footestoole.

36 Therfore let all ỹ house of Israel know for a suretie, that God hath made that same Iesus whom ye haue crucified, both Lord and Christ.

37 Nowe when they heard this, they were pricked in their heart, and saide vnto Peter, and to the other apostles, Ye men and Luke.3.b. brethren, what shall we do?

38 Then Peter said vnto them, Repent ye, and let euerie one of you be baptised in the name of Iesus Christ, for the remission of sinnes, and ye shall receiue the gifte of the holie ghost.

39 For the promise was (made) vnto you and to your children, and to all that are a farre off, euen as many as the Lorde our God shall call.

40 And with many other wordes bare hee witnesse, and exhorted them, saying, Saue (your selues) from this vntowarde generation.

41 Then they that gladly receyued his worde, were baptised, and the same day there were added (vnto them) about three thousand soules.

42 And they continued stedfastly in the apostles doctrine and (d) felowship, and in breaking of breade, and in prayers.

43 And feare came vpon euerie soule, and many wonders and signes were done by the apostles.

44 And al that beleued were together, and had all things common.

45 And solde their possessions and goods, and parted them to all men, as euery man had neede.

46 And they continuing dayly with one accord in the temple, and breaking breade from house to house, did eate their meate together with gladnesse of heart, 47 Praysing God, and hauing fauor with all the people. And the Lord added to the Church dayly such as should be saued.

d. By felowship, is meant a godly companying together, in practising the works of charitie, in tendering and helping one an other, in disposing by almes, their goods to their needie neighbours. By breaking of breade, is meant the mysterie wherein our sauiour Christe doth communicate and distribute vnto vs his body and bloud, by his blessed sacramente of bread & wine, where is represented to the eyes of our faith, the breaking of Christes body, and the shedding of his bloud.

The.iij. Chapter.

1. The halt is restored to his feete. 12. Peter preacheth Christ vnto the people.

1 NOwe Peter and John went vp together into the temple at the ninth houre of prayer.

2 And a certaine man that was lame from his mothers wombe, was brought, whom they laide dayly at the gate of the temple which is called beautifull, to aske almes of them that entred into the temple.

3 Which seeing Peter and John about to go into the temple, asked an almes.

4 And Peter fastening his eyes vpon him, with John, saide, Looke on vs.

5 And he gaue heede vnto them, trusting to receiue some thing of them.

6 Then saide Peter, Siluer and gold haue I none, but such as I haue, giue I thee: In the name of Iesus Christe of Nazareth, rise vp and walke.

7 And he toke him by the right hande, and lift him vp, and immediatly his feete and ancle bones receiued strength.
Math.9.b

8 And he leaping vp, stood, and walked, and entred with them into the temple, walking, and leaping, and praysing God.

9 And all the people saw him walking and praysing God.

10 And they knewe him, that it was hee which sate for the almes at the beautifull gate of the temple, and they wondred, and were soare astonyed at that whiche had happened vnto him.

11 And as the lame which was healed held Peter and John, all the people ranne together greatly amazed vnto them in the porch, that is called Solomons.
3.Re.6.d. John.2.b Iues.5.d.

12 And when Peter sawe that, he answered vnto the people, Ye men of Israell, why marueil ye at this? or why looke ye so earnestly on vs, as though by our own power or (a) godlinesse we had made this man to walke.
a. He meaneth the abuse of men, which attribute to mās holynes that, which only appertayneth to God.

16 And his name, through the fayth in his name, hath made this man sound, whome ye see and knowe, and the faith whiche is by him, hath giuen to this man health in the presence of you all.

17 And nowe brethren, I wote that thorough ignorāce ye did it, as did also your rulers.

18 But those things which God before had shewed ſhewed by the mouthe of all hys Prophetes, that Chriſte ſhoulde ſuffer, he hathe ſo fulfilled.

19 Repent ye therefore, and reuerte, that your ſinnes maye be blotted oute, when the tyme of (b) refreſhing ſhall come in the preſence of the Lorde.

20 And he ſhall ſende Jeſus Chriſte, whiche before was preached vnto you.

21 Whom the Heauen muſt receiue, vntill the time that all things be reſtored, which God hath ſpoken by the mouth of al his holy prophets ſince the worlde began.

22 For Moyſes truely ſayde vnto the fathers, A Prophete ſhal the Lorde your God rayſe vp vnto you of your brethren, like vnto me, him ſhall ye heare in all things whatſoeuer he ſhall ſay vnto you.

23 For the tyme will come, that "euery ſoule which will not heare that ſame prophet, ſhal be deſtroyed from among the people.

24 Al the Prophetes alſo from Samuell, and theſe that folowed in order, as many as haue ſpoken, haue lykewyſe tolde you before of theſe dayes.

25 Ye are the children of the (c) Prophets, and of the couenannte whiche God made vnto oure fathers, ſaying vnto Abraham, Euen in thy ſeede ſhall all the kinredes of the earth be bleſſed.

26 Vnto you fyrſte, God hauyng rayſed vp his ſon Jeſus, ſent hym to bleſſe you, in turning euery one of you from his iniquities.

The. iiij. Chapter.

The Apoſtles are brought before the counſell, 18. being forbidden to preach, they obey God rather than man. 24. They praye for good ſucceſſe. 32. The Churche encreaſeth in doctrine, and exerciſes of all godlineſſe.

1 AND as they ſpake vnto the people, the prieſtes, and the "ruler of the temple, and the Saducees, came vpon them,

2 Taking it grieuously that they taughte the people, and preached in Jeſus the reſurrection from the dead.

3 And they layde handes on them, and put them in holde vntill the next day: for it was nowe euentyde.

4 Howbeit, many of them whiche hearde the word, beleeued: and the number of the men was about fiue thouſande.

5 And it came to paſſe on the morrowe, that their rulers, and elders, and Scribes.

6 And Annas the chief Prieſt, and Caiaphas, and John, and Alexander, and as many as were of the kinred of the high prieſts, were gathered together at Hieruſalem.

7 And when they had ſette them before them, they aſked, By what power, or in what name haue ye done this? Exod. 2. c. Math. 21. c.

a. Chriſt is called the chiefe corner, or corner ſtone, becauſe the Iewes and the Gintiles are ioyned together, and builded vpon him by faith, and made one churche.

b. Neyther ſainte nor angell, nor workes, nor ought els can ſaue, but Chriſte alone.

13 Nowe when they ſaw the boldneſſe of Peter and John, and vnderſtode that they were vnlearned, and ignorant menne, they meruayled, and they knewe them that they had bin with Jeſu:

14 And beholdyng alſo the man whiche was healed ſtandyng with them, they could not ſay againſt it.

15 But when they had commaunded them to go ayde out of the counſell, they counſayled among themſelues.

16 Saying, What ſhal we doe to theſe men? for a manyfeſt ſigne is done by them, and is openlye knowen to all them that dwell in Hieruſalem, and we can not denie it. John. 11. k.

17 But that it bee noyſed no farther among the people, let vs threaten and charge them, that they ſpeake henceforth to no manne in this name.

18 And they called them, and commaunded them that in no wiſe they ſhould ſpeake nor teache in the name of Jeſu. Acts. 5. g.

19 But Peter and John anſwered and ſayde vnto them, Whether it be right in the ſighte of God, to hearken vnto you, more than to GOD, iudge ye.

20 For wee can not but ſpeake that, whiche we haue ſeene and hearde.

21 So when they had more ſharpely threatened them, they ſette them goe, fyndyng nothyng howe to punyſhe them, bicauſe of the people: for all men glorified God, bicauſe of that whiche was done. D

22 For the man was aboue fortie yeares old, on whome thys miracle of healyng was ſhewed. Acts. 3. b.

1 BVt a certayne man named Ananias, A with Sapphira his wife, solde a possession,
2 And kept away (parte) of the price, his wife also being of counsell, and brought a certain part, and layd it downe at the Apostles feet.
3 But Peter sayde, Ananias, howe is it that Satan hath filled thyne hart, to lye vnto the holy ghoste, and keepe away (parte) of the price of the lande?
4 Whyles it remayned, was it not thyne owne? and after it was solde, was it not in thyne owne power? why hast thou conceyued this thyng in thyne hearte? thou hast not lyed vnto men, but vnto God.
5 Ananias hearing these wordes, fel downe, and gaue vp the ghost: And great feare came on all them that heard these things.
6 And the yong men rose vp, and put him aparte, and caried him out, and buried him.
7 And it came to passe, that as it were about B the space of three houres after, hys wyfe came in, not knowyng that whyche was done.
8 And Peter sayde vnto hir, Tell me, solde ye not the lande for so muche? And she said, Yea, for somuche.
9 Then Peter sayde vnto hir, Why haue ye agreed together, to tempte the spirite of the Lorde? beholde, the feete of them whiche haue buried thy husband, are at the dore, and shall carie thee out.
10 Then fell she downe straightwaye at his feet, and yelded vp the ghost: And the yong men came in, and found hir dead, and caried hir out, and buryed hir by hir husbande.
11 And great feare came vppon all the Churche, and vppon as manye as heard these thinges.
12 And by the hands of the apostles, were manie signes and wonders shewed among the people. (And they were al together wyth one accorde in Solomons porche.
13 And of other durst no man ioyne himselfe to them: neuertheless, the people magnified them.

5 And he gaue him none inheritance in it, no not the breadth of a foote: and promysed that he would giue it to hym to possesse, and to his seede after hym, when as yet he had no chylde. Gen.12.b

6 God verily spake on this wise, that his seede should sojourne in a strange lande, and that they should keepe it in bondage, and entreate them euill foure hundred (a) yeeres. Gen.15.d Exod.12.f

a. This is not to be vnderstãde, that they should be euil entreated the whole foure hũdred yeeres but by euasion of speache called hypebole is signified they should be euil entreated within the space of foure hũdred yeres.

7 And the nation to whom they shall be in bondage, wyll I iudge, sayde God: and after that shall they come forth, and serue mee in this place.

16 And were caried ouer into Sichem, and layde in the sepulchre that Abraham bought for (b) money of the sonnes of Emor, the sonne of Sichem. Gen.23.d

b. Here appereth an error. For Abraham seemeth to be put in the text in the steade of Jacob. For Jacob bought the sepulchre of Emor, & not Abraham, who bought before a fielde of Ephron.

3. Saule persecuteth the Christians. 4. The Apostles are scattered abroade. 5. Philip commeth to Samaria. 13. Simon Magus is baptised, and he dissembleth. 38. Philip baptiseth the Eunuch.

1 AND Saule was consentyng vnto his deathe: And at that tyme there was a greate persecution againste the churche which was at Hierusalem, and they were all scattered abroade throughoute the regions of Iurie and Samaria, excepte the Apostles.

4 Therefore they that were scattered abrode, wente euery where preachyng the worde of GOD.

5 Then came Philip into the citie of Samaria, and preached Christ vnto them.

6 And the people gaue heed vnto those thinges whiche Philip spake, with one accorde, hearyng and seeyng the miracles whyche he did.

7 For vncleane spirites, crying with lowde voyce, came out of many that were possessed with them: & many taken with palsies, and many that halted, were healed.

B Matth. 16. d.

8 And there was great ioy in that citie.

9 But there was a certaine man called Simon, whiche before tyme in the same citie vsed witchcraft, and bewitched the people of Samaria, saying that hee was a man that coulde do great thinges.

10 To whome they all gaue heede, from the least to the greatest saying, This man is the greate power of God.

11 And him they set muche by, bicause that of long time he had bewitcht them with sorceries.

12 But when they beleeued Philips preaching of the kingdome of God, and of the name of Iesus Christe, they were baptised, both men and women.

13 Then Simon himselfe beleeued also: and when hee was baptised, he continued with Philip, and wondred, beholdyng the miracles and signes whiche were done.

14 When the Apostles whiche were at Hierusalem heard say, that Samaria had receyued the worde of God, they sent vnto them Peter and John.

15 Whiche when they were come downe, prayed for them that they might receyue the holy ghost.

16 (For as yet he was come downe vppon none of them, but they were baptised (a) only in the name of Christ Iesu.)

17 Then layde they their hands on them, and they receyued the holy ghost.

18 And when Simon sawe that through laying on of the Apostles handes, the holy ghost was giuen, he offered them money, 19 Saying, Gyue me also thys power, that on whome so euer I put the hands, he may receyue the holy ghost.

20 But Peter sayde vnto him, Thy money perish with thee, bycause thou hast thoughte that the gift of God may be obteyned wyth money.

21 Thou hast neyther part nor felowship in this businesse: for thy hart is not ryght in the sight of God.

22 Repent therefore of this thy wickednesse, and praye God, if perhaps the thoughte of thyne heart may be forgiuen thee.

23 For I perceiue that thou art (b) in the gall of bitternesse, & in the bond of (c) iniquitie.

24 Then answerde Simon, and sayd, Praye ye to the Lorde for mee, that none of (these things) which ye haue spoken, fall on me.

25 And they, when they had testified and preached the word of the Lord, returned toward Hierusalem, and preached the Gospel in manie villages of the Samaritanes.

26 And the Angell of the Lorde spake vnto Philip, saying, Arise, & go toward the south, vnto the way that goeth downe from Hierusalem vnto Gaza, which is desert.

27 And he arose, & went: and behold a man of Ethiopia, an Eunuche, & of great authoritie with Candace, queene of the Ethiopians, and had the rule of al hir treasure, which came to Hierusalem for to worship.

The Epistle on the cōuersiō of S. Paul.

a. Saul breathed and blustred with rage and crueltie against Christes Church, which declareth wher vnto mā is led by his rashe zeale, before he hath the true knowledge of God.

1 AND Saul (a) yet breathyng out threatnyngs & slaughter agaynst the disciples of the lord, went vnto the high priest,

2 And desired of hym letters (to carie) to Damascus, to the synagogues: that if hee founde any of this way, whether they were men or women, he might bryng them bound vnto Hierusalem.

3 And when he iourneyed, it came to passe, that as he was come nyghe to Damascus, sodenly there shyned rounde aboute hym a light from heauen.

4 And he fell to the earth, and heard a voyce saying vnto hym, Saul, Saul, why persecutest thou me? Actes.22.b

5 And he sayde, Who art thou Lorde? And the Lord sayd, I am Jesus whom thou persecutest: It is harde for thee to kicke against the prickes.

6 And he both tremblyng and astonied, sayd, Lorde, what wylt thou haue me to do? And the Lorde sayde vnto hym, Arise, and goe into the citie, and it shal be tolde thee what thou must do. Luke.3.b Actes.2.f.

7 The men also whiche iourneyed with him stoode amased, (b) hearyng a voyce, but seing no man. B

8 And Saul arose from the earth, and when his eyes were opened, he sawe no man: but they led hym by the hande, and brought hym into Damascus.

9 And he was three dayes without sight, and neyther dyd eate nor drynke.

10 And there was a certayne disciple at Damascus, named Ananias: and to hym sayde the Lorde in a vision, Ananias. And he sayd, Behold, I (am here) Lorde.

11 And the Lorde sayde vnto hym, Arise, and goe into ỹ streate, which is called Strayght, and seeke in the house of Judas after one called Saul of Tarsus: for beholde he prayeth, Actes.21.g

20 And strayghtway he preached Christ in ỹ synagogues, that he is the sonne of God.

D 21 But all that hearde hym, were amased, and sayde, Is not this he that destroyed them whiche called on this name in Hierusalem, and came hyther for that intent, that hee might bryng them bounde vnto the hyghe priests?

22 But Saul increased the more in strength, and confounded the Iewes whiche dwelt at Damascus, prouyng by conferryng (one scripture with another) that this is very Christe.

Act.21.a 30 Whiche when the brethren knewe, they brought him to Cesarea, and sent him forth to Tarsus.

31 Then had the Churches rest throughout all Iurie, and Galilee, and Samaria, and were edified, and walked in the feare of the Lord, and multiplied by the comfort of the holy ghost.

32 And it came to passe, as Peter walked throughout all quarters, he came also to the sainctes whiche dwelt at Lydda.

33 And there hee founde a certayne man named Eneas, whiche had kept hys bedde eight yeeres, and was sicke of the paulsie.

John.5.b Actes.3.b c. Tabitha called Dorcas figureth a roe a beast of fight. Such one was Tabitha to this effect, that being on earth did behold heauenly & drue vnto heauen with good workes.

37 And it came to passe in those daies that she was sicke, and died: Whom when they had washed, they layde hir in an vpper chamber.

38 And for asmuche as Lydda was nygh to Ioppa, and the disciples had hearde that Peter was there, they sent vnto him two men, desiryng hym that he woulde not be greeued to come to them.

39 Then Peter arose, and came with them: when he was come, they brought hym into the vpper chamber: and all the widdowes stode round about hym weeping, & shewing the coates and garmentes whiche Dorcas made whyle she was with them.

40 And Peter put them all forth, and kneeled downe, and prayed, and turned hym to the body, and sayde, Tabitha, aryse. And she opened hyr eyes, and when shee sawe Peter, she sate vp. 3.Reg.17. 4.Reg.4. Luke.7.

43 And it came to passe, that he taried many dayes in Ioppa, with one Simon a tanner.

The.x. Chapter.

11. The vision that Peter sawe. 17. He was sent to Cornelius. 19. The Heathen receyue the spirite, and are baptised.

1 THere was a certayne man in Cesarea, A called Cornelius, a captaine of the bãde, called the Italian bande,

2 A deuoute man, and one that feared God with all his housholde, which gaue much almes to the people, and prayed God alway.

a. The prayers and almes of Cornelius pleased God, before he was baptised: but without faith God can not be pleased. Cornelius therfore (as Bede truely noteth) had faith, whereby his prayers and almes pleased God. For (faith he) he came not to fayth through workes, but to works through fayth.

3 The same sawe by a vision euidently, about the nienth houre of the day, an angel of God commyng in to hym, and saying vnto hym, Cornelius.

4 And when he loked on hym, he was afrayde, and sayde, What is it Lorde? And he said vnto him, Thy (a) prayers & thine almes are come vp into remẽbrãce before God.

5 And nowe send men to Ioppa, and cal for one Simon, whose sirname is Peter,

6 He lodgeth with one Simon a tanner, whose house is by the sea side: He shall tell thee what thou oughtest to do.

7 And when the Angel whiche spake vnto Cornelius was departed, he called twoo of hys housholde seruauntes, and a deuoute souldier souldier of them that wayted on hym,

8 And tolde them all the matter, and sente them to Joppa.
9 On the morowe as they wente on theyr iourney, and drewe nigh vnto the citie, Peter went vp vnto the highest part of ỳ house to pray, about the syxth houre.
10 And when he wared hungry, hee woulde haue eaten: But whyle they made ready, he fell into a traunce,
11 And he seeth (b) heauen opened, and a certayne vessell come downe vnto him, as it had bene a greate sheete, knit at the four corners, and let downe to the earth:
12 Wherein were all manner of foure footed beastes of the earth, and wilde beastes, & such as creepe, and foules of the ayre.
13 And there came a voyce to hym, Rise Peter, kyl, and eate.
14 But Peter sayd, Not so Lord: for I haue neuer eaten any thing that is common or vncleane.
15 And the voyce spake vnto him agayne the second tyme, What God hathe cleansed, that call not thou common.
16 This was done thrice: and the vessell was receyued vp agayne into heauen.
17 Nowe whyle Peter doubted in hym selfe what this vision which he had seene shoulde meane: beholde, the men which were sent frō Cornelius, had made enquirance for Simōs house, and stode before the dore, 18 And called, and asked whether Simon, whiche was surnamed Peter, were lodged there.
19 Whyle Peter thoughte on the vision, the spirite sayde vnto him, Beholde, three men seeke thee.
20 Arise therefore and geat thee downe, and goe with thē, doubting nothing: for I haue sent them.
21 Then Peter wente downe to the menne whyche were sent vnto hym from Cornelius, and sayde, Beholde, I am hee whome yee seeke: what is the cause wherefore ye are come?
22 And they sayde, Cornelius the Captayne, a iust man, and one that feareth God, and of good reporte among all the people of the Iewes, was warned by an holy angell, to sende for thee into his house, and to heare wordes of thee.
23 Then called he them in, and lodged them: And on the morowe Peter wente awaye with them, and certayne brethren from Joppa accompanied him.
24 And the third day after entred they into Cesarea: and Cornelius waited for them, and had called togeather his kinsemen and special frendes.
25 And it came to passe as Peter came in, Cornelius met hym, and fell downe (c) at his feete, and worshipped (him.)
26 But Peter toke hym vp, saying, Stande vp, I my selfe also am a man.
27 And as hee talked wyth him, he came in, and fyndeth many that were come togeather.
28 And he sayde vnto them, Ye knowe howe that it is an vnlawfull thing for a man that is a Iewe, to companie or come vnto one of another nation: but God hathe shewed mee, that I should not call any man common or vncleane.
29 Therefore came I vnto you without delay, assone as I was sent for: I aske therefore for what intent ye haue sent for me?
30 And Cornelius sayde, Foure dayes agoe vntill thys houre I was fasting, and at the ninth houre I prayed in my house, and beholde, a man stode before me in bright clothyng, 31 And sayde, Cornelius, thy prayer is hearde, and thine almes deedes are had in remembrance in the syght of God.
32 Sende therefore to Joppa, and cal for Simon, whose surname is Peter: he is lodged in the house of one Simon a tanner, by the sea syde, who when he commeth, shal speake vnto thee.
33 Then sent I for thee immediatly, and thou hast well done that thou art come. Nowe therefore are we all here present before God, to heare all thinges that are commaunded vnto thee of God.
34 Then Peter opened his mouth and sayde, Of a trueth I perceyue that God hathe no regarde of persons.
35 But in euery nation, he that feareth hym, and worketh righteousnesse, is accepted with him.
36 Touching the worde whiche God sente vnto the chyldren of Israell, preachyng peace by Jesus Christ (he is Lorde ouer all.)
37 Ye knowe howe the worde was published through all Jurie, beginning in Galilee after the baptime which John preached:
38 Howe God annoynted Jesus of Nazareth, with the holy ghost, and with power, who wente about doing good, and healing all that were oppressed of the deuyl: for god was with him.
39 And we are witnesse of all things whiche he did in the land of the Iewes, and at Jerusalem, whom they slew, when they hadde hanged him on a tree.
40 Hym God rayled vp the thirde daye, and shewed him openly.

I.v. 41 Not

(b) This vision doth teach ma ny holy mysteries. First, that the restraint of meates made vnto the Iewes is taken away, & hindereth not the christians. Secondly, nowe, to the cleane, all meates are clean. Secondly, the graces and gifts of God ar cōmon also to the hea then, who before this tyme were excluded: which thing is signified by the foure cornered sheete, which signifieth the foure coastes of the worlde. Nowe heauen is open to all that is inclosed in the sheete, whiche is the holy cōgregation of God.

The xij. Chapter.

Herode persecuteth the Christians, 2. kylleth Iames, and putteth Peter in prison, 7. whome the Lorde deliuereth by an angel. 21. The horrible death of Herode. 24. The Gospel florisheth. 25. Barnabas and Saul turnyng to Antiochia, take Iohn Marke with them.

1 AT the same tyme Herode the king stretched forth his handes to vexe certayne of the Church.

2 And he kylled Iames the brother of Iohn with the swoorde.

3 And because he sawe it pleased the Iewes, he proceded further, and toke Peter also. (Then were the dayes of swete bread.)

4 And when hee had caught him, he put him in prison also, and deliuered hym to foure (a) quaternions of souldiers to be kept, entending after Easter to bring him forth to the people.

5 And Peter was kept in prison, but prayer was made without ceasling of the Churche vnto God for him.

6 And when Herode woulde haue brought him forthe vnto the people, the same nighte Peter was sleeping betweene two souldiers bounde with two chaynes, and the keepers before the doore kept the prison.

7 And beholde, the angell of the Lorde was there present, and a light shined in the prison: and he smote Peter on the syde, and stirred him vp, saying, Arise vp quickly. And hys chaynes fell off from his handes.

8 And the angell sayd vnto hym, Gyrde thy selfe, and bynde on thy sandales. And so hee dyd. And he sayeth vnto hym, Cast thy garment about thee, and followe me.

9 And (Peter) came out, and followed hym, and wist not that it was trueth whiche was done by the angell: but thought he had seene a vision.

10 When they were past the firste & the second watch, they came vnto the iron gate that leadeth vnto the citie, which opened to them by the owne accorde: and they wente out, and passed throughout one streete, and forthwith the angell departed from hym. Actes.5.d.

11 And when Peter was come to hym selfe, he said, Nowe I knowe of a suretie that the Lord hath sent his angel, and hath deliuered me out of the hande of Herode, and from all the wayting for, of the people of the Iewes.

12 And as he consydered the thing, he came to the house of Marie ỹ mother of Iohn, whose syname was Marke, where many were gathered togeather in prayer. Actes.1.b.

13 As Peter knocked at the entrie doore, a damsell came forthe to hearken, named Rhoda.

14 And when she knewe Peters voyce, shee opened not the doore for gladnesse, but ranne in, and tolde howe Peter stode before the doore.

15 And they sayde vnto hir, Thou art madde, But she affirmed that it was euen so. Then sayd they, It is his (b) angell.

16 But Peter continued knocking: and whē they had opened the doore, and sawe him, they were astonyed.

b. For they dyd knowe by Gods worde, that angels were appoynted to defende the faythfull, and also in those dayes they were accustomed to seesuch sights.

17 And when he had beckned vnto them with the hand, that they might holde their peace, he tolde them by what meanes the Lorde had brought him out of the prison: And hee sayde, Goe shewe these things vnto Iames, and to the brethren. And he departed, & went into another place.

18 Now as sone as it was day, there was no little a do among the souldiers, what was become of Peter.

19 And when Herode had sought for him, and found him not, he examined the keepers, and commaunded them to be carried away. And he descended from Iurie to Cesarea, and there abode.

20 And Herode was displeased with them of Tyre and Sidon: but they came all with one accord to him, and made intercession vnto Blastus the kynges chamberlayne, and desyred peace, bycause their countrey was nourished by the kings countrey.

21 And vppon the day appoynted, Herode arayed him in royall apparell, and set hym in his seate, and made an oration vnto them.

22 And the people gaue a shoute, (saying,) It is the voyce of a God, and not of a man.

23 And immediately the angell of the Lorde smote smote hym, bycause he gaue not God the honour: and he was eaten of (c) wormes, and gaue vp the ghost.

41 Beholde yee despisers, and wonder, and perishe ye: for I do a worke in your dayes, a worke whiche yee shall in no wise beleeue, though a man declare it to you playnely.

42 And when they were gone out of the synagogue of the Iewes, the Gentiles besought that these wordes myght be preached to them the next Sabboth.

43 Now when the congregation was broke vp, many of the Iewes and deuout Proselytes folowed Paul and Barnabas, which speaking to them, exhorted them to continue in the grace of God. Actes.11.D

44 And the next Sabboth day came almost the whole citie together, to heare the worde of God.

45 But when the Iewes sawe the people, they were full of indignation, and spake against those thinges whiche were spoken of Paul, speaking against, and rayling.

46 Then Paul and Barnabas waxed bold, and sayd, It was necessarie that the word of God shoulde first haue bin spoken to you: but seeing yee put it from you, and thynke your selues vnworthy of euerlasting life, loe, we turne to the Gentiles. Math.10.b. Esai.49.b. Luke.1.c.

49 And the word of the Lord was published throughout all the region.

50 But the Iewes moued the deuout (c) and honest women, and the chiefe men of the citie, and rayled persecution against Paul & Barnabas, and expelled them out of theyr coastes.

c. These were wealthy and substanciall women, and yet superstitious, being led with a blinde zeale, whome the common people esteemed very godly, and therefore Luke speaketh here of these women as the world esteemed of them.

51 But they shooke off the dust of their (d) feete against them, & came vnto Iconium,

d. This they did according to the commaundemente of the Gospell, for a witnesse of their trauayle, that they came into their citie, and offered to them the doctrine of the Gospell, which they contemned, and thereby signifyed also that they so detested theyr company, for this their contempte, that they would not haue the dust of their citie hang vpon their shoes.

speaking boldely with the helpe of the Lorde, which gaue testimonie vnto the worde of hys grace, and graunted signes and wonders to be done by their handes.

4 But the multitude of the citie (a) was diuided: and part held with the Iewes, and part with the Apostles.

5 And when there was an assault made both of the Gentiles, and also of the Iewes with their rulers, to do them violence, and to stone them,

6 They were ware of it, and fled vnto Lystra and Derbe, cities of Lycaonia, and vnto the region that lyeth round about.

7 And there were they preachyng the (b) Gospell.

8 And there sate a certayne man at Lystra weake in his feete, being a creeple from hys mothers wombe, and neuer had walked.

9 The same hearde Paul speake: whiche beholding him, and perceyuing that hee hadde fayth to be whole,

10 Sayde with a loude voyce, Stand vpryght on thy feete: and he start vp, & walked.

11 And when the people sawe what Paul had done, they lyft vp their voyces, saying in the speache of Lycaonia, The Gods are come downe to vs in the likenesse of men.

12 And they called Barnabas Jupiter, and Paul Mercurius, bycause hee was the chiefe speaker.

13 Then Jupiters priest, whiche was before their citie, brought oxen and garlandes, vnto the dore, and would haue done sacrifice with the people.

14 Which when the Apostles, Barnabas and Paul heard of, they rent theyr clothes, & ranne in among the people, crying, 15 And saying, Syrs, why do ye these things? We also are mortall men like vnto you, and preach vnto you the Gospell, that ye shoulde turne from these vanities, vnto the lyuing God, whiche made heauen, and earthe, and the sea, and all things that are therein.

18 And with these sayings scarse refrayned they the people, that they had not done sacrifice vnto them.

19 Then thyther came certayne Iewes from Antioch and Iconium, which when they had perswaded the (c) people, & had stoned Paul, drewe him out of the citie, supposing he had bin dead.

20 Howbeit, when the disciples stood rounde about him, he rose vp, and came into the citie, and the next day hee departed with Barnabas to Derbe.

21 And when they had preached the Gospell to that citie, and had taught many, they returned agayne to Lystra, and to Iconium, and Antioche, 22 And strengthed the disciples soules agayne, and exhorted them to continue in the fayth, and that we must through much tribulation enter into the kingdome of God.

23 And when they had ordeyned them elders by election in euery Church, and had prayed with (d) fasting, they commended them to the Lord, on whome they beleeued.

24 And whē they had gone throughout Pisidia, they came to Pamphylia.

25 And when they had spoken the worde (of God) in Perga, they descended into Attalia.

26 And thence departed by ship to Antioche, from whence they were committed vnto the grace of God, to the worke whyche they fulfylled.

27 And when they were come, and had gathered the Churche together, they rehearsed all that God had done with them, and howe he had opened the dore of faith vnto ỹ Gentiles.

28 And there they abode long time with the disciples.

with them.

5 Then rose vp certayne of the sect of ỹ Pharisees which did beleeue, saying that it was needefull to circumcise them, and to commaund to keepe the lawe of Moses.

6 And the Apostles and elders came togeather for to consyder of thys matter.

B 7 And when there had bin muche disputyng, Peter rose vp, and sayd vnto them, Yee men and brethren, yee knowe howe that a good whyle agoe God did chose among vs, that the Gentiles by my mouth shoulde heare the word of the Gospell, and beleeue.

8 And God whiche knoweth the hartes bare them witnesse, and gaue vnto them the holy Ghost, euen as he did vnto vs:

9 And put no difference betweene vs & them, purifying their hartes by fayth.

10 Nowe therefore why tempt yee God, to put on the disciples neckes the (a) yoke, which neyther oure fathers nor we were able to beare?

11 But we beleeue that through the grace of the Lorde Jesu Christ, we shall be saued, euen as they.

12 Then all the multitude kept silence, and gaue audience to Barnabas and Paul, which tolde what signes and wonders God had shewed among the Gentiles by them.

13 And when they held their peace, James answeared, saying, Men and brethren, hearken vnto me.

14 Simeon tolde howe God at the beginning did visite, to receyue of the Gentiles a people in his name.

15 And to thys agree the wordes of the prophets, as it is written,

16 After thys I will returne, and wyll build agayne the (b) tabernacle of Dauid, whyche is fallen downe: and that which is fallen in decay of it, will I build agayne, and I will set it vp:

17 That the residue of men might seeke after the Lord, and all the Gentiles vpon whome my name is called, sayth the Lorde, whyche doth all these thyngs.

18 Knowen vnto God are all his workes from the beginning of the worlde.

19 Wherefore my sentence is, that we trouble not them whiche from among the Gentiles are turned to God:

20 But that we write vnto them, that they abstayne them selues from fylthynesse of idols, and from fornication, and from strangled, and from bloud.

21 For Moses of olde tyme hath in euery citie them that preach him in the synagogues, whē he is read euery sabboth day.

22 Then pleased it the Apostles and elders, with the whole Churche, to send chosen men of their owne company to Antioche, wyth Paule and Barnabas: (That is,) Judas, whose synname was Barsabas, and Silas, whiche were chiefe menne among the brethren,

John. 14. a.

23 And wrote letters by them after this manner, The apostles, and elders, and brethren, send greeting vnto the brethren whiche are of the Gentiles in Antiochia, Syria, and Cilicia.

24 Forasmuch as we haue heard that certaine which departed from vs, haue troubled you with words, and combred your mindes, saying, Yee must be circumcised, and keepe the lawe, to whome we gaue no such commandement:

25 It seemed therefore to vs a good thing, when we were come togeather with one accord, to send chosen men vnto you, with our beloued Barnabas and Paul,

26 Men that haue ieoparded their liues for the name of our Lord Jesu Chriſte.

27 We haue sente therefore Judas and Silas, which shall also tel you the same thyngs by mouth.

28 For it seemed good to the holy ghost, and E to vs, to lay vppon you no greater burthen than these necessary thyngs.

29 (That is to say,) That yee abstayne from things offered to idols, and from blood, and from strangled, and from fornication: from whiche if ye keepe your selues, yee shall doe well. So fare ye well.

30 Now therefore, when they were departed, they came to Antioche: and when they had gathered the multitude togeather, they deliuered the Epistle.

31 Which when they had read, they reioyced of the consolation.

32 And Judas and Silas beyng prophetes also them selues, exhorted the brethren wyth many words, and strengthed them:

33 And after they had taried there a space, they were let goe in peace of the brethren vnto the Apostles.

34 Notwithstanding, it pleased Silas to abyde there still.

35 Paul also and Barnabas continued in F Antioche, teaching and preaching the worde of the Lorde, with other many also.

36 But after a certayne space, Paul sayd vnto Barnabas, Let vs goe agayne and visite our brethren in euery citie where we haue vttered the worde of the Lorde, and knowe (and see) how they do.

37 And Barnabas gaue counsell to take wyth them John, whose synname was Marke.

38 But

(a) He meaneth the holy lawe, and not the ceremonies only, and calleth it a yoke not able to be borne, because woman, not the moste holiest and perfect that euer was, (Christ only excepted) was able to performe the same in all poyntes, both outwardly according to the letter, and inwardly according to the spirite.

(b) The prophet in this place, prophesied of Christes comming in the flesshe, whyche should buylde agayne the tabernacle of Dauid, which figured Gods Churche, but then vtterly defaced and brought to ruine, by the pharisaical and leweſſe superstitions.

2 Whiche was well reported of the brethren that were at Lystra and Iconium.

3 Paul would that he should goe forth with him, and toke and circumcised him, bycause of the Jewes whyche were in those quarters: for they knewe all that his father was a Greeke.

9 And a visiõ appeared to Paul in the night: There stode a mã of Macedonia, and prayed him, saying, Come into Macedonia, and helpe vs.

10 And after he had seene the vision, immediatly we prepared to goe into Macedonia, gatheryng by conference, that the Lord had called vs for to preach the Gospell vnto them.

11 Thẽ we being caryed from Troada, came with a straight course to Samothracia, and the next day to Neapolis:

12 And from thence to Philippos, whiche is the chiefe citie in the parties of Macedonia, and a free citie: and we were in that citie abyding certayne dayes.

13 And on the day of the Sabboths we went out of the citie beside a ryuer, where prayer was wont to be made: and we sate downe, and spake vnto the women whych resorted thyther.

14 And a certayne woman named Lydia, a C seller of purple, of the citie of the Thyatirians, whych worshipped God, gaue vs audience: whose hart the Lorde opened, that she attended vnto the thyngs which were spoke of Paul.

15 And when she was baptised and hir housholde, shee besought vs, saying, If yee haue iudged me to be faythfull to the Lorde, come into my house, and abyde there. And she cõstrayned vs.

18 And this did she many dayes: but Paul not content, turned about, and sayde to the spirite, I commaunde thee in the name of Jesu Christ, that thou come out of hir. And he came out the same houre.

19 And when hir maisters sawe that ỹ hope of their gaynes was gone, they caught Paul and Silas, and drewe them into the market place, vnto the rulers,

20 And brought them to the officers, saying, These men beyng Jewes, doe exceedingly trouble our citie;

21 And preach ordinãces, which are not lawfull for vs to receyue, neyther to obserue, seeing we are Romanes.

25 And at midnight, Paul and Silas prayed, and lauded God: and the prisoners heard them.

26 And

26 And suddenly there was a great earthquake, so that the foundation of the prison was shaken: and immediately all the doores opened, and euerie mans bandes were lowsed.

27 When the keeper of the prison waked out of his sleepe, and saw the prison doores open, he drewe out his swoorde, and would haue kylled him selfe, supposing that the prisoners had bene fled.

28 But Paule cryed with a loude voyce, saying, Doe thy selfe no harme, for we are all here.

29 Then hee called for a light, and sprang in, and came trembling, and fell downe before Paule and Silas, 30 And brought them out, and sayde, Syrs, what must I doe to be saued?

31 And they sayd, Beleeue on the Lord Jesus Christe, and thou shalt be saued, and thy household.

32 And they spake vnto him the word of the Lord, and to all that were in his house:

33 And he toke them the same houre of the nyght, and washed their woundes, and was baptised him selfe, and all they of his household straightway.

34 And when he had brought them into his house, he set meate before them, & ioyed ỳ he with all his household beleeued on God.

35 And when it was day, the officers sente the sergeantes saying, Let those men go.

36 And the keeper of the prison tolde this saying to Paule, The officers haue sent word to lowse you: now therefore get you hence, and goe in peace.

37 Then sayd Paul vnto them, They haue beaten vs openly vncondemned, being Romanes, and haue cast vs into prison, nowe do they thrust vs out priuily? May verily: but let them come them selues, and fetche vs out.

38 And the sergeantes tolde these wordes vnto the officers: and they feared when they heard that they were Romanes.

39 And they came and besought them, and brought them out, and desired them to depart out of the citie.

40 And they went out of the prison, and entred into (the house) of Lydia, and whē they had seene the brethren, they comforted them, and departed.

The. xvij. Chapter.

1. Paule commeth to Thessalonica, where the Iewes set the citie in an vprore. 15. Paul escapeth to Athens, where he preacheth the vnknowne God.

1 NOw they made their iourney through Amphypolis, and Apollonia, they came to Thessalonica, where was a Synagogue of the Iewes.

2 And Paule, as his manner was, went in vnto them, and three Sabboth dayes disputed with them out of the scriptures,

3 Opening and alledging that Christ must needes haue suffered and risen agayne from the dead: and that this is Christ Jesus which I preach vnto you.

4 And some of them beleeued, and ioyned with Paule and Silas, and of the deuout Greekes a great multitude, & of the chiefe women not a fewe.

5 But the Iewes which beleeued not, moued with enuie, toke vnto them certayne bagabondes, and euil men, and gathered a companie, and set all the citie on a roare: and made assault vnto the house of Jason, and sought to bring them out to the people.

6 And when they founde them not, they drew Jason and certein brethren vnto the heads of the citie, crying, These that haue troubled the world, are come hither also.

7 Whome Jason hath receyued (priuily:) and these all do contrarie to the decrees of Ceasar, (a) saying that there is another king, (one) Jesus.

8 And they troubled the people, and the officers of the citie, when they heard these things.

9 And when they had taken sufficient suertie of Jason, and of the other, they let them goe.

10 And the brethren immediatly sent away Paul & Silas by night vnto Berea: whiche when they were come thyther, they entred into the synagogue of the Iewes.

11 These were the noblest of byrth among them of Thessalonica, which receyued the worde with all readynesse of mynde, and searched the scriptures dayly, whether those things were so.

12 Therefore many of them beleeued: also of honest women whiche were Greekes, and of men not a fewe.

13 But when the Iewes of Thessalonica had knowledge that the word of God was preached of Paul at Berea, they came thyther, and moued the people.

14 And thē immediatly the brethren sent away Paul, to go as it were to the sea: but Silas and Timotheus abode there still.

to come to him with speed, and went their way.

16 While Paul wayted for thē at Athens, his spirite was moued in him, when hee sawe the citie giuen to worshipping of idols.

17 Therefore disputed he in the synagogue with the Iewes, and with the deuout persons, and in the market dayly with them that came vnto him by chance.

18 Then certaine Philosophers of the (b) Epicures, and of the (c) Stoikes, disputed with him: and some sayde, What will this babbler say? Other some, He seemeth to be a setter forth of newe gods: bycause he preached vnto them Iesus, and the resurrection.

19 And they toke him, and brought him into the streete of Mars, saying, May we knowe what this newe doctrine whereof thou speakest, is?

20 For thou bringest certain strange things to our eares, we would knowe therefore what these things meane.

21 (For all the Athenians and strangers which were there, had leysure to nothing else, but eyther to tell or to heare some newe thing.)

22 Then Paule stode in the middes of the streete of Mars, and sayde, Ye men of Athens, I perceiue that in all things ye are too superstitions.

23 For as I passed by, and beheelde the maner howe ye worship your gods, I founde an aulter wherein was written, Vnto an vnknowne God. Whome ye then ignorantly worship, him shewe I vnto you.

25 Neyther is worshipped with mennes hands, as though he needed of any thing, seeing he him selfe gyueth lyfe and breath to all euerie where:

26 And hath made of one bloud, al nations of men, for to dwell on all the face of the earth, and hath determined the times before appoynted, and also the bonds of their habitation:

27 That they should seeke the Lord, if perhaps they myght haue felte and founde him: though he be not farre from euerie one of vs.

28 For in him we liue, and moue, and haue oure beyng, as certayne of youre owne Poetes haue sayde, For we are also his offspring.

29 For as muche then as we are the (d) offspring of God, we ought not to think that the godhead is like vnto golde, siluer, or stone, grauen by art and mans deuice.

30 And the time of this ignorance GOD winked at, but nowe biddeth all men euerie where to repent:

31 Bycause he hath appoynted a day in the which he will iudge the worlde in righteousnesse, by that man whome he hath appoynted, and hath offred fayth to all men, in that he hath rayled him from the dead.

32 And when they hearde of the resurrection from the dead, some mocked: and other saide, We will heare thee againe of this matter.

33 So Paul departed from among them.

34 Howbeit, certayne men claue vnto him, and beleeued: among the which was Dionys Areopagita, and a woman named Damaris, and other with them.

4 And he disputed in the synagogue euerie Sabboth, and exhorted the Iewes and the Greekes.

5 And when Silas and Timotheus were come from Macedonia, Paule was constrayned by the spirite to testifie to the Iewes, that Iesus was Christe.

6 And when they sayde contrary, and blasphemed, he shooke his rayment, and sayde vnto them. Your bloude be (a) vpon your owne heades: from hencefoorth will I go blamelesse vnto the Gentiles.

33 And (certayne) of the people drewe Alexander out of the multitude, the Jewes thrusting him forwardes. And Alexander Actes.21.f beckened with the hande, and would haue made the people an answere.

34 But when they knewe that hee was a Jewe, there arose a shout almost for the space of two houres, of all men, crying, Great is Diana of the Ephesians. Actes.21. 1.Tim.

35 And when the towne clarke had pacified f the people, he sayde, Ye men of Ephesus, what man is it that knoweth not how that the citie of the Ephesians is " the temple keeper of the great Goddesse Diana, and of the (image) whiche came downe from Jupiter. "Some reade a worshipper.

36 Seeing then that these things can not be spoken against, ye ought to be quiet, and to do nothing rashly.

37 For ye haue brought hyther these men, which are neyther robbers of Churches, nor yet blasphemers of your goddesse.

38 Wherefore if Demetrius, and the crafts men which are with him, haue a matter against any man, the law is open, and there are deputies, let them accuse one another.

39 But if ye enquire any thing concerning other matters, it shall be determined in a lawfull assembly. 1.Re.17 4.Re. Luke.7 Actes.9

40 For we are in icopardie to be accused of this dayes vprore, for as muche as there is no cause whereby we may giue a reckoning of this concourse of people.

41 And

41 And when he had thus spoken, he let the assembly depart.

The.xx. Chapter.

1. Paul goeth into Macedonia and Grecia. 7. he celebrateth the Lordes supper, and preacheth. 9. At Troas he rayseth vp Eutichus from the deade. 17. At Ephesus he calleth the elders of the Church together, and committeth the keeping of Gods flocke to them. 29. warneth them of false teachers. 36. maketh his prayer with them. 38. and departeth by ship towardes Ierusalem.

1 AND after the vproze was ceassed, Paul called the disciples, and toke his leaue of them, and departed, for to goe into Macedonia.

2 And when he had gone ouer those partes, and had giuen them a long exhortation, he came into Greece,

3 And there aboade three monethes: and when the Iewes layde wayte for him, as he was about to sayle into Syria, he purposed to returne through Macedonia.

4 And there accompanied him into Asia Sopater of Berea: & of the Thessalonians Aristarcus, and Secundus, and Gaius of Derbe, and Timotheus: and out of Asia Tychicus and Trophimus.

Actes.21.f. 5 These going before, tarryed vs at Troas:

1.Tim.4.d 6 And we sayled away from Philippos, after the dayes of sweete breade, and came vnto them to Troas in fiue dayes, where we aboade seuen dayes.

B 7 And vppon one of the Sabboth dayes, when the disciples came together for to breake breade, Paule reasoned with them, ready to depart on the morrowe, and continued the talke vnto midnight.

8 And there were many lightes in an vpper chamber where they were gathered together.

9 And there sate in a windowe a certayne yong man named Eutichus, being falne into a depe sleepe, and as Paule was long reasoning, hee was the more ouercome with sleepe, and fell downe from the third loft, and was taken vp dead.

10 But when Paul went downe, he fell on him, and imbraced him, and sayde, Make nothing a do: for his life is in him.

1.Re.17.D. 4.Re.4.f. Luke.7.c. Actes.9.g. 11 When he therfore was come vp againe, and had broken breade and eaten, and talked a long while, euen till the morning, so he departed.

12 And they brought the yong man aliue, and were not a litle comforted.

13 And we went afore to shippe, and sayled vnto Asson, there to receyue Paule: for so had hee appoynted, mynding him selfe to goe afote.

14 And when he was come to vs to Asson, we toke him in, and came to Mitylene. E

15 And we sayled thence, and came the next day ouer against Chios, and the next day we aryued at Samos, and taried at Trogyllium: the next day we came to Miletum.

16 For Paule had determined to sayle ouer by Ephesus, because he would not spende the time in Asia: for he hasted, if it were possible for him, to be at Ierusalem the day of Pentecost.

17 And from Miletum he sent to Ephesus, and called the elders of the church.

18 Whiche when they were come to him, he sayde vnto them, Ye knowe from the firste daye that I came into Asia, after what manner I haue bene with you at all seasons.

19 Seruing the Lord with all humblenesse of mind, and with many teares and temptations, whiche came vnto me by the layings awaite of the Iewes:

20 And howe I kept backe nothing that was profitable vnto you, but haue shewed you, and haue taught you openly, and throughout euery house:

21 Witnessing both to the Iewes and also to the Greekes, the repentance that is towarde God, and the fayth whiche is toward our Lord Iesus Christ. D Luke.24.f.

22 And nowe beholde, I goe bound(a) in the spirite vnto Ierusalem, not knowing the things that shall come vnto me:

23 But that the holy ghost witnesseth in euery citie, saying that bonds and troubles abyde me.

24 But none of these things moue me, neither count I my lyfe deare vnto my selfe, so that I might fulfill my course with ioy, and the ministerie which I haue receiued of the Lord Iesu, to testifie the Gospell of the grace of God.

25 And now beholde, I am sure that hencefoorth ye all, among whome I haue gone preaching the kingdome of God, shall see my face no more.

26 Wherfore I take you to record this day that I am pure from the bloud of al men.

27 For I haue kept nothing back, but haue shewed you all the counsell of God.

28 Take heede therefore vnto your selues, and to all the flocke, ouer the whiche the holie ghoste hath made you ouerseers, to E

b. That which appertayneth to Christes manhod (which is shedding of bloud) is here spoke of his godhead bicause of the communiō of the properties and vnion of two natures in one person.

29 For I knowe this, that after my departing, shall grieuous wolues enter in among you, not sparing the flocke.

30 Also of your owne selues shal men arise, speaking peruerse things, to(c) draw away disciples after them.

c. Through their ambitiō, which is mother of al sects and heresies.

31 Therfore watche, and remember that by the space of three yeeres I ceassed not to warne euery one night & day with teares.

32 And nowe brethren I commende you to God, and to the worde of his grace, which is able to builde further, and to giue you an inheritance among all them which are sanctified.

33 I haue desyred no mans siluer, or golde, or vesture.

Gene.3.c. 1.Cor.9.c. 2.Thes.3.b. 35 I haue shewed you all things, howe that so labouring ye ought to helpe the weake, and to remember the wordes of the Lorde Iesu (howe that he saide) It is more blessed to giue, than to receiue.

36 And when he had thus spoken, he kneeled downe, and prayed with them all.

Actes.12.b. 37 And they all wept sore, & fell on Paules necke, and kissed him, 38 Sorrowing most of all for the wordes which he spake, that they should see his face no more: And they accompanied him vnto the ship.

The.xxi. Chapter.

1. Paules iourney by shippe. 8. Of Philip the Euangelist. 10. and Agabus the prophete. which warneth Paule not to goe to Ierusalem. 13. Hee remayned stedfast in his purpose, and is taken.

A 1 ND when it came to passe that we had blanched forth, and were daparted from them, we came with a straight course vnto Choos, and the day following vnto the Rhodes, and from thence vnto Patara.

2 And when we had founde a shippe sayling vnto Phenice, we went abroade, and set forth.

3 Nowe when Cyprus began to appeare (vnto vs) we left it on the lefte hande, and sayled into Syria, and came vnto Tyre: for there the ship vnladed the burthen,

4 And when we had founde disciples, we taryed there seuen dayes: who sayde to Paule through the spirite, that he shoulde not goe vp to Ierusalem.

Actes.20.c.

5 And when the dayes were ended, we departed, and went our way, and they all brought vs on our way, with wiues and children, till we were come out of the citie: & we kneeled down in the shore, & prayed. Actes.20.g.

6 And when we had taken our leaue one of another, we toke ship, and they returned home agayne.

7 When we had ful ended the course from Tyre, we went downe to Ptolomaida, and saluted the brethren, and aboade with them one day. B

8 And the next day we that were of Pauls companie departed, and came vnto Cesarea: and we entred into the house of Philip the Euangelist (which was one of the seuen) and aboade with him. Actes.6.d. e.8.a.

9 And the same man had foure daughters virgins, which did prophesie. Joel.2.g.

10 And as we taryed there a good many of dayes, there came a certaine prophete from Iurie, named Agabus. Actes.14.

11 And when hee was come vnto vs, hee toke Paules girdle, and bounde his owne handes and feete, and sayde, Thus sayth the holy ghost, So shall the Iewes at Ierusalem bynde the man that oweth this girdle, and shall deliuer him into the handes of the Gentiles. Actes.9.l. 2.Cor.11.l.

12 And when we hearde these things, both we, and other whiche were of the same place, besought him that he would not goe vp to Ierusalem.

13 Then Paule answered, what doe yee weeping and vexing myne heart? for I am ready, not to be bounde only, but also to dye at Ierusalem for the name of the Lord Iesus.

14 And when we could not turn his mind, we ceassed, saying, The will of the Lorde be fulfilled. C Math.6.b.

15 And after those dayes we toke vp our burthens, and went vp to Ierusalem.

16 There went with vs also (certaine) of the disciples of Cesarea, and brought with thē one Mnason of Cyprus, an olde disciple, with whome we should lodge. Actes.9.l.

17 And when we were come to Ierusalem, the brethren receiued vs gladly.

18 And on the morrow Paul went in with vs vnto(a) Iames, and all the elders came together.

a. This Iames was the Lordes brother, the sonne of Mary which was the sister of the blessed virgin which Iames afterward was byshop of Ierusalem.

19 And when he had saluted them, he tolde by order all things that God had wrought among the Gentiles by his ministerie.

20 And when they heard (it) they glorified the Lorde, and sayde vnto him, Thou seest brother howe manye thousande Iewes there there are whiche beleeue, and they are all earnest folowers of the law.

D 21 And they are enformed of thee, that thou teachest all the Iewes whiche are among the Gentiles to forsake Moses, saying that they ought not to circumcise their children, neither to walke (after) the customes.

22 What is it therfore? the multitude must needes come together: for they shall heare that thou art come.

Num.6.a. 23 Doe therefore this that we say to thee: We haue foure men whiche haue a vowe on them;

24 Them take, and purifie thy selfe with them, and doe cost on them, that they may shaue their heades: and all shall knowe that those things which they haue learde concerning thee, are nothing, but that thou thy selfe also walkest and keepest the lawe.

Acts.14.d. 25 As touching the Gentiles which beleeue, we haue written and concluded, that they obserue no such thing, saue only that they keepe them selues from things offered to idols, and from bloud, and from strangled, and from fornication.

26 Then Paule toke the men, and the next day purifying him selfe with them, entred into the temple, declaring the accomplishment of the dayes of the purification, until that an offering should be offered for euery one of them.

E 27 And when the seuen dayes were almost ended, the Iewes which were of Asia, whē they sawe him in the temple, moued all the people, and layde handes on him, 28 Crying, Men of Israel, helpe: this is the man that teacheth all men euerie where against the people, & the law, and this place: he hath also brought Greekes into the tēple, and hath polluted this holy place.

Acts.26.b. 1.Tim.4.d 29 (For they had seene before with him in the citie Trophimus an Ephesian, whome they supposed that Paule had brought into the temple.)

30 And al the citie was moued, and the people swarmed together: and they toke Paule, and drewe him out of the temple: and forthwith the dores were shut.

31 And as they went about to kill him, tydings came vnto the hyghe captayne of the souldiers, that all Ierusalem was in an vproze.

b. God often times appointeth his magistrates to deliuer his faithfull ministers from al daungers of their enimies.

32 Which (immediately) toke (b) souldiers, and vnder captaynes, and ranne downe vnto them: and when they sawe the chiefe captayne and the souldiers, they left smyting of Paule.

33 Then the chiefe captaine came neare, and toke him, and commaunded him to be bound with two chaynes, and demaunded who he was, and what he had done.

34 And some cryed one thing, some another, among the people: and when he could not knowe the certaynetie for the rage, hee commaunded him to be carryed into the castell.

35 And when he came vpon the stayres, it F was so that he was borne of the souldiers for the violence of the people.

36 For the multitude of the people folowed after, crying, Away with him.

37 And when Paul began to be caried into the castell, he saide vnto the high captayne, May I speake vnto thee: Who sayde, Canst thou speake Greeke?

38 Arte thou not that Egyptian which before these dayes madest an vproze, and leddest out into the wildernesse foure thousand men that were murtherers.

39 But Paule sayd, I am a man which am Acts.9.b. a Iewe of Tarsus, a citie in Cilicia, a citizen of no vile citie: and I beseeche thee suffer me to speake vnto the people. & 21.a.

40 And when hee had giuen him licence, Acts.21.f. Paule stode on the stayres, and beckened with the hand vnto the people: and when there was made a great silence, he spake vnto them in the Hebrue tong, saying.

The.xxij. Chapter.

3. Paule rendereth an account of his lyfe and doctrine. 25. he escapeth the whip, by reason he was a citizen of Rome.

1 MEN, brethren, and fathers, heare ye A myne answere whiche I make vnto you.

2 (And when they heard that he spake in the Hebrue tong to them, they kept the the more silence: and he sayth,)

5 As also the chiefe priest doth beare mee Galat.1.b. witnesse, and all the estate of the elders: of whome also I receyued letters vnto the brethren, and went to Damascus, to bring them whiche were there bounde vnto

Ierusalem for to be punished.

6 And it came to passe, that as I made my iourny, and was come nigh vnto Damascus about noone, sodenly there shone from heauen a great light round about me:

B 7 And I fell vnto the earth, and heard a voyce saying vnto me, Saule, Saule, why persecutest thou me?

Actes.9.a.

8 And I answered, Who art thou Lorde? And he sayd vnto me, I am Iesus of Nazareth(a) whom thou persecutest.

a. Iesus was now in heaue, and could not be persecuted of Paule: But the persecutiō which Paul exercised against the faithfull being his mēbers, Christe counted it as done to him selfe.

9 And they that were with me sawe verily the light, and were afrayd: but they heard not the voyce of him that spake to me.

10 And I saide, What shall I doe Lorde? And the Lorde sayde vnto me, Arise, and goe into Damascus: and there it shall be tolde thee of all things which are appointed for thee to doe.

11 And when I sawe nothing for ỹ brightnesse of the light, being led by the hand of them that were with me, I came into Damascus.

Actes.9.c. 12 And one Ananias, a deuout man as pertaining to the lawe, hauing a good reporte of all the Iewes which there dwelt, 13 Came vnto me, and stode, and said vnto me, Brother Saule, receiue thy sight. And the same houre I looked vp vpō him.

C 14 And he said, The GOD of our fathers hath ordeined thee before, that thou shouldest knowe his will, and see that iust one, and shouldest heare the voyce of his mouth:

15 For thou shalte be his witnesse vnto all men (of those things) which thou hast seene and heard:

16 And nowe why taryest thou? Arise, and be baptised, and washe away thy sinnes, in calling on the name of the Lord,

Rom.10.c.

17 And it came to passe, that when I was come againe to Ierusalem, and prayed in the temple, I was in a traunce.

18 And sawe him saying vnto me, Make hast, and get thee quickly out of Ierusalem: for they will not receiue thy witnesse concerning me.

19 And I sayde, Lorde, they knowe that I prysoned, and beat in euerie Synagogue them that beleeued on thee.

Actes.7.a. 20 And when the bloud of thy witnesse Steuen was shed, I also was standing by, and consenting vnto his death, and kept the rayment of them that slue him.

D 21 And he sayde vnto me, Departe: for I will sende thee farre hence vnto the Gentiles.

Actes.13.d. Gala.1.d.

22 And they gaue him audience vnto this worde, and then lift vp their voyces, and sayde, Away with such (a felowe) from the earth: for it is no reason that he shoulde liue.

23 And as they cryed, and cast off their clothes, and threw dust into the ayre, 24 The chiefe captayne commaunded him to be brought into the castell, and bad that he should be skourged, and examined: that he might knowe wherefore they cryed so on him.

25 And as they bounde him with thongs, Paule saide vnto the Centurion that stod by, Is it lawfull for you to skourge a man that is a(b) Romane, and vncondemned?

b. He was born at Rome but at Tarsus the citie whereof he had the priuiledge of the citie of Rome, and were counted as Romane.

26 When the Centurion heard that, hee went and tolde the chiefe captaine, saying, Take heede what thou dost: for this man is a Romane.

27 Then the chiefe captaine came, and sayd vnto him, Tell me, arte thou a Romane? He saide, Yea.

28 And the chiefe captaine answered, With a great summe obteyned I this freedome. And Paul saide, I was free borne.

29 Then straightway departed from hym they which should haue examined him: and the chiefe captaine also was afrayde after hee knewe that hee was a Romane, and bycause he had bound him.

30 On the morrowe, bicause he would haue knowne the certaintie wherefore he was accused of the Iewes, hee loosed him from his bandes, and commaunded the hyghe priestes and all the counsell to come together, and brought Paule forth, and set him before them.

Actes.23.b.

The.xxiij. Chapter.

1. Paule commeth before the counsell. 2. Ananias causeth him to be stricken. 10. the captaine deliuereth him. 11. God comforteth him. 23. he is sent to Cesarea.

1 AND Paule earnestly beholding the counsell, saide, Men and brethren, I haue liued in all good conscience before God vntill this day.

I Actes.24.d.

2 And the highe priest Ananias commaunded them that stode by to smite him on the mouth.

Deut.17.b.

3 Then saide Paule vnto him, God shall smite thee thou(a) painted wall: for sittest thou and iudgest me after the lawe, and commaundest me to be smitten contrarie to the lawe?

a. Paule doth not curse the high priest, but denounce sharply the punishment of God, which should light vpō him in the way of prophesying.

4 And they that stode by, I saide, Reuilest thou Gods high priest?

5 Then

5 Then saide Paule, I wist not brethrē (b) that he was ỳ high priest: For it is witten, Thou shalt not curse the ruler of thy people.

6 But when Paul perceiued that the one part were Saducees and the other Pharisees, he cryed out in the counsel, Menne and brethren, I am a Pharisee, the sonne of a Pharisee: of the hope and resurrection of the dead I am iudged.

7 And when he had so saide, there arose a debate betweene the Pharisees & the Saducees: and the multitude was diuided.

8 For the Saducees say that there is no resurrection, neither angel, nor spirite: but the Pharisees confesse both.

9 And there arose a great crye: And when the Scribes whiche were of the Pharisees part arose, they stroue, saying, We finde no euil in this man: but if a spirite, or an angel hath spoken to him, let vs not striue against God.

10 And when there arose a great debate, the chiefe captaine fearing least Paule should haue bin pluckt asunder of them, commaunded the souldiers to goe down, and to take him from among them, and to bring him into the castel.

11 And the night folowing: the Lord stood by him, and said, Be of good cheare Paul: for as thou hast testified of me in Jerusalem, so must thou beare witnesse also at Rome.

12 And when it was day, certaine of the Iewes gathered them selues together, and made a (c) vowe, saying that they woulde neither eate, nor drinke, till they had killed Paul.

13 And they were moe than fourtie (men) which had made this conspiracie.

14 And they came to the chiefe priestes and elders, & saide, We haue bound our selues with a vowe, that we will eate nothing vntil we haue slaine Paul.

15 Nowe therefore giue ye knowledge to the chiefe captaine, and to the counsel, that he bring him forth vnto you to morowe, as though ye woulde knowe some thing more perfectly of him: and we, or euer he come neare, are ready to kil him.

16 And when Pauls sisters sonne heard of their laying awayte, he went and entred into the castel and tolde Paul.

17 And Paul called one of the vnder captaines vnto him, and saide, Bring this yong man vnto the high captaine: for he hath a certaine thing to shewe him.

18 And he toke him, and brought him to the high captaine, and saide, Paul the prisoner called me vnto him, and prayed me to bring this yong man vnto thee, which hath a certaine matter to shewe thee.

19 Then the high captaine toke him by the hand, and went with him out of the way, and asked him, What is it that thou hast to tel me?

20 And he saide, The Iewes are determined to desire thee, that thou wouldst bring forth Paul to morowe into the counsell, as though they would enquire somewhat of him more perfectly.

21 But folowe not thou their mindes: for there lye in wayte for him of them moe than fourtie menne, whiche haue bounde them selues with a vowe, that they will neither eate nor drinke, til they haue killed him: and nowe are they ready, & loke for a promise from thee.

22 The chiefe captaine then let the young man depart, and charged him, See thou tell it out to no man, that thou hast shewed these things to me.

23 And he called vnto him two vnder captaines, saying, Make redy two hundred souldiers to go to Cesarea, and horsemen threescore and tenne, and spearemen two hundred, at the thirde houre of the night:

24 And deliuer them beastes, that they may set Paul on, and bring him safe vnto Felix the high deputie.

25 And he wrote a letter after this manner:

26 Claudius Lysias, vnto the most mightie ruler Felix, sendeth greetings.

27 This man was taken of the Iewes, and should haue bin killed of them: Then came I with an armie and rescued him, and perceiued that he was a Romane: Acts.20.f.

28 And when I woulde haue knowen the cause wherfore they accused him, I brought him forth into their counsel. Acts.22.g.

29 Who I perceiued to be accused of questions of their lawe: but hauing nothing layde to his charge worthy of death, or of bondes. Acts.25.c.

30 And when it was shewed me how that the Iewes layd wayte for the man, I sent (him) straight way to thee, and gaue commaundement to his accusers, that the things whiche they haue against him, they should tel before thee. Fare wel.

31 Then the souldiers, as it was commaunded them, toke Paul, and brought him by night to Antipatrida.

32 On the morowe, they left the horsemen to goe with him, & returned vnto ỳ castel.

 33 Which

33 Which when they came to Cesarea, and deliuered the Epistle to the deputie, presented Paul also before him.

34 And when the deputy had read (the letter) he asked of what prouince he was. And when he vnderstode that he was of Cilicia, Deut.17.a. 35 I will heare thee, saide he, when thine accusers are come also. And he cõmaunded him to be kept in Herods iudgement hall.

The.xxiiij. Chapter.

10. Paul being accused, answereth for his lyfe and doctrine. 25. Felix gropeth him, thinking to haue a bribe. 28. and after leaueth him in prison.

A Actes.25.d. 1 AND after fiue dayes, Ananias the high priest descended, with the elders, and with a certaine Oratour, named Tertullus, whiche appeared before the deputie against Paul.

2 And when Paul was called forth, Tertullus beganne to accuse him, saying, Seeing that we haue (c) obtayned great quietnesse by ỹ meanes of thee, and that many good things are done vnto this nation through thy prouidence.

a. Felix by his diligence had taken Eleazarus the captaine of the murderers, & put the Egiptians to flight which raised vp tumultes in Iurie. For these the Oratour prayseth hym: otherwayes he was both cruel and couetous.

3 That alowe we euer, and in all places, most noble Felix, with all thankes.

4 Notwithstanding, that I be not tedious vnto thee, I pray thee, that thou wouldest heare vs of thy curtesie a fewe wordes.

5 For we haue founde this man a pestilent felowe, and a mouer of debate vnto al the Iewes in the whole world, and a mayntayner of the sect of the Nazarites.

Actes.21.c. 6 Which also hath gone about to pollute the temple: whom we toke, and woulde haue iudged according to our lawe.

B 7 But the high captaine Lysias came vpon vs, and with great violence toke him away out of our handes.

8 Commaunding his accusers to come vnto thee: of whom thou mayest, if thou wilt enquire, knowe the certaynte of all these things, wherof we accuse him.

9 And the Iewes like wise affirmed, saying that these things were so.

10 Then Paul, after that the deputie him selfe had beckened vnto him that he should speake, answered, With a more quiet mind do I answere for my self, forasmuch as I vnderstande, that thou hast beene of many yeeres a iudge vnto this nation:

11 Because that thou mayest knowe, that there are yet but twelue dayes, since I went vp to Ierusalem for to worship.

12 And they neither founde me in the temple disputing with any man, eyther raysing vp the people, neither in the synagogues, nor in the citie:

13 Neither can they proue the things whereof they accuse me.

14 But this I cõfesse vnto thee, that after the way whiche they cal (b) heresie, so worship I the God of my fathers, beleeuing all things whiche are written in the lawe and the prophetes.

C b. No maruayle though in our tyme Gods true religion be called heresie, in so it was counted of the wicked, euen the beginning of Christes kingdome. Actes.23.a.

15 And haue hope towardes God, that the resurrection of the dead, which they themselues looke for also, shall be both of the iust and vniust, 16 And herein studie I, to haue alway a cleare conscience towarde God, and towarde men.

Rom.15.f. Actes.11.b. 17 Nowe after many yeeres, I came and brought almes to my nation, and offerings:

18 In the whiche they found me purified in the temple, neither with multitude, nor yet with vnquietnesse.

19 Howebeit, there were certaine Iewes out of Asia,

20 Whiche ought to be here (c) present before thee, & accuse me, if they had ought against me.

1 c. These accusers spake but vpon false reports, which the bellowes of Satan had blowē abrod and durst not for shame appeare themselues. Actes.23.b

D 21 Or else let these same here say, if they haue founde any euil doing in me, while I stande here in the counsel.

22 Except it be for this one voice, that I cryed standing among them, That of the resurrection from the dead, am I iudged of you this day.

23 And when Felix hearde these things, he deferred them: for he knewe very well of that way, and saide, When Lysias the captaine is come downe, I will knowe the vttermost of your matter.

Iere.39.c. Actes.27.d. 24 And he commaunded an vnder captain to keepe Paule, and to let him haue rest, and that he should forbid none of his acquaintance to minister vnto him, or to come vnto him.

25 And after certaine dayes, when Felix came with his wife Drusilla, which was a Iewesse, he called forth Paule, and hearde him of the faith whiche is toward Christ.

d. Such is the might and force of God heauely wordes, that it causeth the very wicked to tremble and quake

26 And as he reasoned of righteousnesse, temperance, and iudgement to come, Felix (d) trembled, and answered, Goe thy way for this time, when I haue a conuenient season, I will sende for thee.

27 He hoped also that money should haue bin giuen him of Paul that he might loose him: wherefore he sente for him the oftener, and communed with him.

28 But after two yeeres, Porcius Festus came into Felix Rome: and Felix willing to shewe the Iewes a pleasure, left Paul bounde.

The.xxv.Chapter.

2. The Iewes accuse Paul before Festus. 8. He answeareth for him selfe. 11. and appealeth vnto the Emperour. 14. his matter is brought before Agrippa. 23. and hee is brought forth.

A 1 Then when Festus was come into the prouince, after three dayes he ascended from Cesarea vnto Ierusalem.

2 Then enfourmed him the high priest and the chiefe of the Iewes against Paul, and they besought him.

3 And desired fauour against him, that he would sende for him to Ierusalem, laying wayte in the way to kill him.

4 But Festus answered, that Paul should be kept at Cesarea, and that he him selfe would shortly depart thither.

5 Let them therefore, saide he, which among you are able, come downe with vs, and accuse him, if there be any faulte in this man.

6 And when he had taried among them more than tenne dayes, he went downe vnto Cesarea, and the next day sate down in the iudgement seate, and commaunded Paul to be brought.

B 7 Who being come, the Iewes whiche were come from Ierusalem, stoode about (him) and laide many and greeuous complaintes against Paul, which they coulde not (a) proue.

8 While he answered (for him selfe) that neither against the lawe of the Iewes, neither against the temple, nor yet against Cesar, haue I offended any thing at all.

9 But Festus willing to doe the Iewes a pleasure, answered Paul, and saide, Wilt thou goe vp to Ierusalem, and there be iudged of these things before me?

10 Then saide Paule, I stande at Cesars iudgement seate, where I ought to bee iudged, to the Iewes haue I done no wrong, as thou very wel knowest.

11 For if I doe any wrong, or haue committed any thing worthie of death, I refuse not to die, but if there be none (of these things) whereof they accuse me, no man may deliuer me to them. I appeale vnto (b) Cesar.

12 Then spake Festus, with the counsell, and answered: Hast thou appealed vnto Cesar? vnto Cesar shalt thou goe.

13 And after certaine dayes, king Agrippa, and Bernice, came vnto Cesarea, to salute Festus.

14 And when they had bin there a good season, Festus rehearsed Pauls cause vnto the king, saying, There is a certaine man left in bondes of Felix, 15 About whom, when I came to Ierusalem, the high priestes and elders of the Iewes enfourmed me, and desired to haue iudgement against him.

16 To whom I answered, It is not the manner of the Romanes, for fauour to deliuer any man that he shoulde perishe, before that he whiche is accused haue the accusers face to face, and haue licence to answere for him selfe, concerning the crime layde against him.

17 Therefore when they were come hither, without any delay, on the morow I sate on the iudgement seate, and commaunded the man to be brought forth.

18 Against whom, when ỳ accusers stoode vp, they brought none accusation of suche things as I supposed: Acts.23.k.

19 But had certain questions against him of their owne superstition, and of one Iesus which was dead, whom Paul affirmed to be aliue.

20 And because I doubted of such manner of questions, I asked him whither he woulde goe to Ierusalem, and there be iudged of these matters.

21 But when Paul had appealed to be kept vnto the knowledge of Augustus, I commaunded him to be kept, tyl I might sende him to Cesar.

22 Then Agrippa saide vnto Festus, I woulde also heare the man my selfe. To morowe saide he, thou shalt heare him.

23 And on the morow when Agrippa was come, and Bernice, with great pompe, and were entred into the counsell house, with the chiefe captaines & chiefe men of the citie, at Festus commaundement was Paul brought forth.

24 And Festus saide, King Agrippa, and al men whiche are here present with vs, ye see this man, about whom all the multitude of ỳ Iewes haue entreated me, both a. Whiles Paul liued vnder the lawe like other Iewes, his conuersation was perfect and notable, & after his conuersion vnto Christ, he became a more notable example of innocencie: but it is a common case, that the seruantes of God are euil spoken of, for their wel doing.

b. The iniquitie of the iudge, who contrary to equitie, willing to pleasure the Iewes, deuised howe to betray Paule, draue Paul to appeale, which is the vttermost remedie for such as by wrong iudgement are oppressed: and this appellation by Gods prouidence was a meane that Paule should testifie of Christ at Rome also.

at Ieruſalem, and alſo here crying that he ought not to liue any longer.

25 Yet founde I nothing worthy of death that he had committed: Neuertheleſſe, ſeing that he hath appealed to Auguſtus, I haue determined to ſende him:

26 Of whom I haue no certaine thing to write vnto my Lorde: Wherefore I haue brought him forth before you, and ſpecially before thee, O king Agrippa, that after examination had, I might haue ſomewhat to write, 27 For me thinketh it vnreaſonable for to ſend a priſoner, and not to ſhewe the cauſes whiche are layde againſt him.

The.xxvi. Chapter.

1. Kyng Agrippa heareth Paule. 25. Paules modeſt anſwere againſt the iniurie of Feſtus.

1 THen Agrippa ſaide vnto Paul, Thou art permitted to ſpeake for thy ſelfe. Then Paul ſtretched forth the hande, and anſwered (for him ſelfe.)

2 I thinke my ſelfe happy, king Agrippa, becauſe I ſhall anſwere this day before thee, of all the things whereof I am accuſed of the Iewes:

3 Namely, becauſe thou art expert in all cuſtomes & queſtions whiche are among (a) the Iewes: Wherefore I beſeeche thee to heare me patiently.

4 My life that I haue ledde of a childe whiche was at ẏ firſt among mine owne nation at Ieruſalem, know al ẏ Iewes.

5 Which knew me from the beginning (if they woulde teſtifie) that after the moſt ſtraighteſt ſect of our (b) religion, I liued a Phariſee.

6 And nowe I ſtande, and am iudged for the hope of ẏ promiſe made of God vnto our fathers.

7 Vnto whiche promiſe our twelue tribes inſtantly ſeruing god day and night hope to come: For which hopes ſake, king Agrippa, I am accuſed of the Iewes.

8 Why ſhould it be thought a thing incredible vnto you, that God raiſeth ẏ dead?

9 I alſo verily thought in my ſelfe, that I ought to doe many contrary things, cleane againſt the name of Ieſus of Nazareth:

10 Which thing I alſo did in Ieruſalem, and many of the ſaintes did I ſhut vp in priſon, hauing receiued auctoritie of the high prieſtes, and when they were put to death, I gaue the ſentence.

11 And I puniſhed them oft in euery ſinagogue, & commpelled them to blaſpheme, and was yet more made vpon them, and perſecuted thē euen vnto ſtrange cities.

12 About which things as I went to Damaſcus, with auctoritie and commiſſion of the high prieſtes, 13 Euen at midday, O king, I ſawe in the way a light from heauen, aboue ẏ brightneſſe of the Sunne, ſhine rounde about me, and them which iourned with me.

14 And when they were al fallen to ẏ earth, I heard a voyce ſpeaking vnto me in the Hebrue tong, and ſaying, Saule, Saule, why perſecuteſt thou me? It is harde for thee to kicke againſt the prickes. Actes 9.d. & 22.c.

15 And I ſaid, Who art thou Lorde? And he ſaide, I am Ieſus whom thou perſecuteſt.

16 But riſe and ſtand vpon thy feete, for I haue appeared vnto thee for this purpoſe, to make thee a miniſter and a witneſſe, both of thoſe things which thou haſt ſene, and of thoſe things in the whiche I will appeare vnto thee,

17 Deliuering thee from the people, and from the Gentiles, vnto whom nowe I ſende thee, 18 To open their eyes, that they may bee turned from darkeneſſe to light, and from the power of Satan vnto God, that they may receiue forgiueneſſe of ſinnes, and inheritance among them which are ſanctified by fayth that is in me.

19 Wherfore, O king Agrippa, I was not diſobedient vnto the heauenly viſion:

20 But ſhewed firſt vnto them of Damaſcus, and at Ieruſalem, and throughout al the coaſtes of Iurie, and then to the Gentiles, that they ſhould repent and turne to God, and doe ſuch workes as become thē that repent.

21 For this cauſe the Iewes caught me in the temple, and went about to kil me.

22 Seeing therfore that I haue obtayned helpe of God, I continue vnto this day, witneſſing both to ſmal & great, saying none other things than thoſe whiche the prophetes & Moſes did ſay ſhould come.

23 That Chriſt ſhould ſuffer, and that he ſhoulde be the firſt that ſhoulde riſe from the dead, and ſhould ſhewe light vnto the people, and to the Gentiles.

24 And as he thus ſpake for him ſelfe, Feſtus ſaide with a loude voyce, Paul thou art beſide thy (c) ſelf, much learning doth make thee mad,

25 But he ſaid, I am not mad moſt noble Feſtus, but ſpeake forth the wordes of truth

a. He knewe muche, but he fayled in the right applying of hys knowledge, as they doo which be wyſe in their owne conceiptes only, and haue the zeale of God, but not according to knowledge.

b. He taketh the ſect of the Phariſies to be perfecteſt, becauſe their doctrine was better than the other ſectes. The Saducees denied the reſurrection of the dead. The Eſſeis glorying in ſtraightnes of lyfe, litle regarded true doctrine.

Actes.8.a. 1.Co.15.b. Galat.2.c.

c. Feſtus being muche troubled with Paules declaration, and hauing nothing to ſay againſt it, yet would not yelde vnto it but clamorouſly condemned it as wicked & ſuperſticious, for worldlings are loth to be cumbred with godly matter, and count all ſuche folith that trouble themſelues therewith.

Col.4.a

Iere.39 Actes.24

26 For the king knoweth of these things, before whom also I speake freely, neyther beleeue I, that any of these thinges are hidden from him, for this thing was not donne in a corner.

27 Kyng Agrippa, beleeuest thou the prophetes, I wote wel that thou beleuest.

28 Then Agrippa said vnto Paul, Somewhat perswadest (d) me to be a christian.

29 And Paul saide, I would to God, that not only thou, but also all that heare me to day, were both some what, and also in a great deale suche as I am, except these bondes.

30 And when he had thus spoken, the king rose vp, & the Deputie, and Bernice, and they that sate with them.

31 And when they were gone apart, they talked betwene them selues, saying, This man doth nothing worthy of death, or of bondes.

32 Then saide Agrippa vnto Festus, This man might haue bin let lose, if he had not appealed vnto Cesar.

The .xxvij. Chapter.

1. Paul shippeth towardes Rome. 3. Iulius the captaine entreateth him curteously. 41. And at the last they suffer shipwracke.

1 AND when it was concluded that we should sayle into Italie, they deliuered both Paul & certaine other prisoners vnto one named Julius, an vnder captaine of Augustus bande.

Col. 4. a.

Ier. 39. c. Acts. 24. c.

3 And the next day we came to Sidon and Julius curteously entreated Paule, and gaue him liberty to go vnto his friendes, and to refreshe him selfe.

4 And when we had launched fro thence, we sayled harde by Cyprus, because the windes were contrary.

5 And when he had sayled ouer the sea of Cilicia and Pamphylia, we came to Myra (a citie) which is in Lycia.

6 And there the vnder captaine founde a ship of Alexandria, sayling into Italie, and he put vs therein.

B 7 And when he had sayled slowly many dayes, and scarce were come ouer against Gnidum, because the winde withstode vs, we sayled harde by " Candie, ouer against Salmone, 8 And with muche worke sayled beyond it: and came vnto a place whiche is called the Fayre hauens, nigh whereunto was the citie of Lasea.

9 When muche time was spent, and when sayling was now icopardous because also that the fast was now already past, Paul put them in remembrance,

10 And saide vnto them, Sirs, I perceiue that this voyage wyll be with hurt and muche damage, not of the ladyng & ship only, but also of our lyues.

11 Neuertheles, the vnder captaine beleeued the gouernour and the maister of the ship, more than those things whiche were spoken of Paul.

12 And because the hauen was not commodious to winter in, many toke counsel to depart thence, if by any meanes they might attaine to Phenice, and there to winter, whiche is an hauen of Candie, and lyeth towarde the Southwest, and Northwest winde.

13 And when the South winde blewe softly, they supposing that they had obtayned their purpose, losed vnto Asson, and sayled past Candie.

14 But not long after, there arose against C their purpose a flawe of winde, out of the Northeast, which is called Euroclydon.

15 And when the shippe was caught, and could not resist the winde, we let hir goe, and were driuen with the weather.

16 But we were carled into an Ile, which is called Clauda, and had muche worke to come by a boate, 17 Whiche they toke vp, and vsed helpe, and made fast the ship, fearing least they should fall into the Syrtes: and so they let downe " a vessel, and were tarryed.

" or, some read the sayles.

18 The next day whe we were tossed with an exceeding tempest, they lightned ỳ ship.

19 And the thirde day we cast out with our owne handes the tackling of the shippe.

20 And when neyther the Sunne nor Starres in many dayes appeared, and no smal tempest lay vpon vs, all hope that we should be saued was then taken away.

21 But after long abstinence, Paul stode forth in the middest of them, and saide, Sirs, ye should haue hearkened to me, and not to haue losed from Candie, & to haue gained vnto vs this harme & losse.

D 22 And nowe I exhort you to be of good cheare: for there shal be no losse of any mans lyfe among you, but of the ship.

23 For there stode by me this night the angel of God, whose I am, & whom I serue, 24 Saying, Feare not Paule, thou muste be brought before Cesar, and loe, GOD hath giuen thee (a) all them that saile with thee.

a. The graces and blessings whiche God giueth to his children, profite many times the enimies, whiche are vnworthy to receiue the fruit thereof.

25 Wherefore sirs be of good cheare, for I beleeue God that it shal be euen as it was tolde me.

26 Howebeit, wee muste be cast into a certaine Ilande.

27 But when the fourtienth night was come, as we were sailing in Idria about midnight, the shipmen deemed that they drewe neare to some countrey:

28 And sounded, and found it twentie fadomes: and when they had gone a little further, they soumded againe, and founde it fiftene fadomes.

29 Then fearing lest we shoulde haue fallen on some rocke, they cast foure ankers out of the sterne, and wished for the day.

30 And as the shipmen were about to flee out of the shippe, when thy had let downe the boate into the sea, vnder a colour as though thy woulde haue cast ankers out of the forepart,

31 Paule saide vnto the vnder captaine, & to the souldiers, Except these abyde in the ship, (b) ye can not be saued.

b. Paul would vse such meanes as god had ordeined, lest he should seeme to haue tempted him.

32 Then the souldiers cut off the rope of the boate, and let it fal away.

33 And when the day began to appeare, Paul besought them all to take meate, saying, This is the fourtienth day that ye haue taried and continued fasting, receiuing nothing at al.

34 Wherefore, I pray you to take meate, for this no doubte is for your healthe, for there shall not (c) an heare fall from the heade of any of you.

c. By this Hebrue speache is ment that they should be in al pointes safe & sound. 1. Tim. 4. & 36 Then were they all of good cheare, and they also toke meate.

37 And we were altogether in the shippe, two hundred, threescore & sixtiene soules.

38 And when they had eaten ynough, they lighted the shippe and cast out ỹ wheate into the sea:

39 And when it was day, they knewe not the lande: but they spied a certaine hauen with a banke, into the whiche they were minded, if it were possible, to thrust in the shippe.

40 And when they had taken vp the ankers, they committed "(them selues) vnto the sea, and losed the rudder bandes, and hoysed vp the mayne sayle to the winde, and drewe to lande.

41 And when they fel into a place which had the sea on both sides, they thrust in the ship, and the forepart stucke fast and moued not, but the hinder part brake with the violence of the waues.

42 And the souldiers counsell was to kil the prisoners, lest any of them when he had swomme out, should runne away.

43 But the vnder captaine willing to saue Paul, kept them from their purpose, and commaunded that they which could swim should cast them selues first into the sea, and scape to lande:

44 And the other, some on bordes, & some on broken peeces of the shippe: And so it came to passe, ỹ they escaped al safe to lãd.

2 And the barbarous people shewed vs no little kindnesse, for they kindled a fire, and receiued vs euery one, because of the present rayne, and because of the colde.

3 And when Paul had gathered a bundle of stickes, and layde them on the fyre, there came a Viper out of the heate, & caught him by the hand.

were healed:

10 Whiche also did vs great honour, and when we departed, they laded vs with such things as were necessarie:

11 And after three monethes we departed in a ship of Alexandria, whiche had wintred in the Ile, whose badge was (d) Castor and Pollux.

12 And when we came to Syracusa, we taried there three dayes.

13 And from thence we fet a compasse, and came to Rhegium, and after one day the South winde blewe, and wee came the next day to Puteolus:

C 14 Where we found brethren, and were desired to tarie with them seuen dayes: and so we came towarde Rome.

15 And from thence, when the brethren hearde of vs, they came to meete vs at Appii forum, and at the three Taurnes: When Paul sawe them he thanked God and waxed bolde.

16 And when we came to Rome, the vnder captaine deliuered the prisoners to the chiefe captaine of the host: but Paul was suffered to dwel by him, selfe, with a souldier that kept him:

17 And it came to passe, that after three dayes, Paul called ỹ chiefe of the Iewes together. And when they were come together, he saide vnto them, Menne and brethren, though I haue committed nothing against the people or lawes of the fathers, yet was I deliuered prisoner frō Ierusalē into the hands of the Romanes.

18 Whiche when they had examined me, woulde haue let me goe, bycause there was no cause of death in me.

19 But when the Iewes spake contrary, I was costrained to appeale vnto Cesar not that I had ought to accuse my nation of.

20 For this cause then haue I called for you, euen to see (you,) and to speake with you: bycause that for the (e) hope of Israel I am bound with this chaine:

21 And they said vnto him, We neither receiued letters out of Iurie concerning thee, neither any of the brethren that came shewed or spake any harme of thee. D

22 But we will heare of thee what thou thinkest: for cōcerning this sect, we know that euery where it is spoken against.

23 And when they had appointed him a day, there came many to him into his lodging, to whom he expounded and testified the kingdome of God, perswading them concerning Iesus, both out of the law of Moses, and out of the prophetes, euen frō morning to night. Luke.2.c.

24 And some were perswaded in the thinges whiche were spoken, and some beleeued not. Actes.17.a.

25 And whē they agreed not among them selues, they departed, after that Paule had spoken one worde, (that is to say,) Well spake the holy ghost by Esaias ỹ prophet, vnto our fathers, 26 Saying, Goe vnto this people, and say, With your eares shall ye heare, and shall not vnderstande, and with your eyes shal ye see, and not perceiue. Esai.6.c. Mat.13.b. Mar..4.b.

27 For the hart of this people is waxed grosse, and their eares are dul of hearing, and their eyes haue they closed: least they shoulde see with their eyes, and heare with their eares, and vnderstande with their hartes, and should be conuerted, and I should heale them. Luke.8.b. John.12.f.

E 28 Be it knowen therefore vnto you, that this saluation of God is sent to the Gentiles, and they shal heare it.

29 And when he had saide these wordes, the Iewes departed, and had great reasoning among them selues.

30 And Paule dwelt two yeeres ful in his owne hyred house, and receiued all that came in vnto him.

31 Preaching the kingdome of God, and teaching those things which concerne the Lorde Iesus Christ, with al confidence, no man forbidding him.

¶ The Cart Cosmographie, of the Peregrination or iourney of Saint Paule.

The Epistle of the Apostle Saint Paul to the Romanes.

¶ The first Chapter.

1. Paul sheweth to whome and to what purpose he is called. 16. What the Gospell is. 18. The vengeance of God vpon the wicked. 20. The vse of the creatures. 24. The ingratitude and punishment of the wicked.

1 PAul the seruaunte of Jesus Christe, (a) called (to be) an Apostle, seuered into the Gospell of God,

2 Which he had promised afore by hys prophetes in the holy scriptures

3 Of his sonne, which was made of the seede of Dauid after the flesshe:

4 And hath bin declared to be the sonne of (b) God, with power after ỳ spirite that sanctifyeth, by the resurrection from the dead, of Jesus Christ our Lorde:

5 By whome we haue receyued grace and Apostleship, that obedience myght be gyuen vnto the fayth in hys name among all heathē

6 Among whome, yee are also the called of Jesus Christ:

7 To all that be in Rome, beloued of Gods saintes by calling: Grace to you, and peace from God our father, and the Lorde Jesus Christe. B

8 Firste verily, I thanke my God thorough Jesus Christ for you all, that your fayth is published throughout all the worlde.

9 For God is my witnesse, whome I serue with my spirite in the Gospell of his sonne, ỳ without ceassing I make mentiō of you: John. 4. 1. Cor. 1.

10 Praying alwayes in my prayers, that by some meane at the last, one time or other, I might take a prosperous iourney by the wyl of God, to come vnto you. Philip. 1. Colos. 1.

11 For I long to see you, that I might bestowe among you some spirituall gift, that ye might be stablished.

12 That is, that I myght haue consolation to-

b. Three maner of wayes Paul sheweth here Christ to be declared the sonne of God. First, by power and working of miracles. Secondly, by the holy ghost appearing in visible signes. Thyrdly, by hys resurrectiō from the dead. 1. Cor. 1. a. Gala. 1. a.

on togeather with you, eache with others fayth, yours and myne.

13 I would that ye shoulde knowe brethren, howe that I haue often times purposed to come vnto you (and haue bene let hytherto) that I might haue some fruite also among you, as among other of the Gentiles.

14 I am debter both to the Greekes, and to the (c) barbarous, both to the wise, and to the vnwyse.

15 So that as muche as in me is, I am ready to preach ỳ Gospel to you that are at Rome also.

16 For I am not ashamed of the Gospell of Christ, bycause it is the power of God vnto saluation to all that beleeue, to the Iewe fyrst, and also to the Greeke.

17 For by it is ỳ ryghteousnesse of God opened from fayth to fayth. As it is written, The iust shall liue by fayth.

18 For the wrath of God (d) is reuealed from heauē, against all vngodlynesse and vnrighteousnesse of men, whiche (e) withholde the trueth in vnryghteousnesse.

19 For that that may be knowen of God, is manifest among them, bycause God hathe shewed it vnto them.

20 For his inuisible thinges, being vnderstanded by his workes, through the creation of the worlde, are seene, that is, both hys eternall power and godhead: so that they are without excuse.

21 Bycause that when they knewe God, (notwithstandyng) they glorifyed hym not as God, neyther were thankfull, but waxed full of vanities in theyr imaginations, and their foolish hart was blynded.

22 Whē they counted them selues wise, they became fooles.

23 And turned the glory of the incorruptible God vnto an image, made not onely after the similitude of a corruptible man, but also, of byrdes and four footed beastes, and of creepyng beastes.

24 Wherefore God gaue them vp to vncleannesse, through the lustes of their owne harts, that theyr owne bodyes shoulde be defyled among them selues.

25 Which changed his (f) trueth for a lye, and worshipped and serued the creature, more than the creator, whiche is to be praysed for euer. Amen.

26 Wherfore God gaue thē vp vnto shamefull lustes: for euen theyr wome did change the naturall vse, into that which is agaynste nature.

27 And lykewise also, the men left the naturall vse of the woman, and brente in theyr lustes one with another, and men wyth men wroughte fylthynesse, and receyued in them selues the reward of theyr errour (as it was accordyng.)

28 And as they regarded not to know God: (euen so) God delyuered them vp vnto a lewde minde, that they shoulde doe those thyngs whiche were not comely: Acts.7.f.

29 Being full of all vnrighteousnesse, fornication, craftinesse, couetousnesse, malitiousnesse, full of enuie, murder, debate, deceyte, euil conditioned, whisperers,

30 Backbyters, haters of God, despitefull, proude, boasters, bryngers vp of euil thyngs, disobedient to father and mother:

31 Without vnderstanding, couenant breakers, without naturall affection, truice breakers, vnmercyfull.

32 The whiche knowing the righteousnesse of God, (how that they which commit such things, are worthy of death,) not onely doe the same, but also haue pleasure in them that do them. Deu.7.k.

The.ij. Chapter.

1. Gods iudgementes vppon the hypocrites. 12. Ignorance excuseth not. 13. All men are synners. 15. The Gentiles by their conscience, 17. The Iewes by their lawe.

1 Therefore art thou inexcusable, O man, whosoeuer thou be that (a) iudgest: for in that same wherein thou iudgest another, thou condemnest thy selfe. For thou that iudgest, doest euen the selfe same thyngs. Math.7.k.

2 But we are sure that the iudgemēt of God is according to the trueth, against them which commit such thinges.

3 Thynkest thou this, O thou man that iudgest them whiche doe such things, and doest the same (thy selfe) that thou shalt escape the iudgement of God?

4 Eyther despisest thou the richesse of hys goodnesse, and pacience, and long sufferance, not knowing that the goodnesse of God leadeth thee to repentance?

5 But thou after thy stubbernesse and harte that can not repente, heapest vnto thy selfe wrath, against the day of wrath and declaration of the righteous iudgement of God:

6 Whiche will reward euery man according to hys (b) deedes:

7 To them which by continuing in well doing seeke for glory, & honour, and immortalitie, eternall lyfe.

John.8.b.

16 At the day when God shall iudge the secretes of men by Iesus Chriſte, accordyng to (c) my Gospell.

17 Behold, thou arte called a Iewe, and (d) restest in the lawe, and makest thy boast of God,

18 And knowest (his) wyll, and alowest the thyngs that be excellente, informed by the lawe:

19 And beleuest that thou thy selfe arte a guyde of the blinde, a lyght of them (whych are) in darknesse, 20 An informer of them which lacke discretion, a teacher of the vnlearned: whyche hast the fourme of knowledge, and of the trueth in the lawe.

Math.7.a.

21 Thou therefore whiche teachest another, teachest not thy selfe? Thou preachest a mā should not steale, yet stealest thou?

22 Thou that sayest a man should not commit adulterie, breakest thou wedlocke? Thou abhorrest idolles, and yet committest sacrilege.

23 Thou that makest thy boast of the lawe, through breaking the lawe dishonourest thou God?

24 For the name of God is euill spoken of among the Gentiles, through you, as it is written, Esai.52.a Ezec.36.g.

25 For circumcision verily auayleth, if thou keepe the lawe: but if thou be a breaker of the lawe, thy circumcision is made vncircumcision.

26 Therefore, if the (e) vncircumcision keepe the ordinances of the lawe, shall not his vncircumcision be counted for circumcision?

27 And shall not vncircumcision which is by nature, if it keepe the lawe, iudge thee, which being vnder the letter and circumcision, dooest transgresse the lawe?

28 For he is not a Iewe, whiche is (a Iewe) "outwarde. Neyther is that circumcision, which is outward in the flesshe.

29 But he is a Iewe, which is one "inwardly, and the circumcision of the hart, whyche consisteth in the spirite, and not in the letter (is circumcision) whose prayse is not of mē, but of God.

Ioh.1. Rom.2. Colos.2.

The.iij.Chapter.

1. The Iewes haue a prerogatiue. 10. The Iewes and Gentiles be both sinners. 24. All are iustifyed by grace through fayth, and not through workes.

1 What preferment then hath the Iewe? or what profite is there of Circumcision?

I

2 Much euery way. Firste, for byeause that vnto them were committed the wordes of God.

Rom.9.d.

3 What then though some of them did not beleeue? Shall theyr vnbeleefe make the (a) fayth of God without effect?

a. Whyche the performance of promise. Fayth is iuste after two sortes, both our beleefe, when we assure our selues that God will performe promise, and also for the stedfastnesse of Gods promise to the people. For though some of the Iewes did not beleeue, yet the trueth neuer fayled.

4 God forbyd: yea let God be true, and euery man a lyer, as it is writte, That thou mightest be iustifyed in thy sayings, and ouercome when thou art iudged.

5 But if our vnrighteousnesse setteth forthe the ryghteousnesse of GOD, what shall we say? Is God vnrighteous whiche taketh vengeance? (I speake after the manner of men,)

6 God forbyd: for how then shall God iudge the worlde?

7 For if the trueth of God hath more abounded thrugh my lye vnto hys glory, why am I as yet iudged as a sinner?

8 And not rather (as we bee slaunderously reported, and as some affirme that we saye) let vs do euill, that good may come thereof? whose damnation is iust.

9 What then, are we better (than they?) No, in no wise: for we haue before accused bothe Iewes and Gentiles, that they are all vnder synne:

Psal.14.d. and.52.d.

10 As it is written, There is none righteous, no not one:

11 There is none that vnderstandeth, there is none that seeketh after God.

12 They are all gone out of the way, they are all become vnprofitable: there is none that doeth good, no not one.

13 Their

13 Their throte is an open sepulchre, with their tongues they haue deceyued, the poyson of aspes is vnder their lyppes.

14 Whose mouth is full of cursing and bytternesse:

15 Their feete are swift to shed blood.

16 Hartes griefe and miserie are in theyr wayes.

17 And the way of peace haue they not knowen.

18 Ther is no feare of God before their eyes.

19 Nowe we knowe that what thynges so euer the law sayeth, it sayth it to them whych are vnder the lawe: that euery mouth maye be stopped, and that all the world may be indangered to God.

20 Bycause that by the deedes of the (b) law, there shall no flesshe be iustifyed in his sight: For by the lawe commeth the knowledge of synne.

21 But nowe is the righteousnesse of God declared without the lawe, being witnessed by the lawe and the prophets.

22 The righteousnesse of God (commeth) by the fayth of Iesus Christe, vnto all, and vpon all them that beleeue. There is no difference:

23 For all haue synned, and haue neede of the glory of God.

24 (But are) iustifyed freely by his grace, thorough the redemptiō that is in Christ Iesu:

25 Whome God hathe set forthe to be a (c) propitiation, through faythe in his blood, to declare hys righteousnesse, by the forgiuing of the sinnes that are past, 26 Whiche God did suffer, to shewe at thys tyme hys righteousnesse: that he might bee iust, and the iustifyer of hym which beleeueth on Iesus.

27 Where is then thy boasting? It is excluded. By what lawe? of workes? Nay: but by the lawe of fayth.

28 Therefore, we hold that a man is iustifyed by fayth, without the deedes of the lawe.

29 Is he the God of the Iewes only? Is he not also of the Gentiles? Yes, euen of the Gentiles also.

30 For it is one God which shall iustifie the circumcision by (d) fayth, and vncircumcision through fayth.

31 Doe we then destroy the lawe through fayth? God forbid: but we rather maynteyne the lawe.

The. iiij. Chapter.

7. Iustification is the free gyft of God, as it appeareth by Dauid and Abraham, 13. and also by the office of law and fayth.

1 What shall we say the that Abraham our father, as perteynyng to the flesshe, dyd fynde?

2 For if Abraham were iustifyed by workes, then hath he wherein to boast, but not before God.

3 For what sayeth the scripture? Abraham beleeued God, and it was counted vnto him for rygh teousnesse.

4 To him that worketh, is the reward not reckened of grace but of dutie.

5 To hym that worketh (a) not, but beleeueth on him that iustifyeth the (b) vngodly, hys fayth is counted for righteousnesse.

6 Euen as Dauid describeth the blessednesse of the man vnto whom God imputeth righteousnesse without workes:

7 (Saying,) Blessed are they whose vnrighteousnesse are forgiuen, and whose sinnes are couered.

8 Blessed is that man to whome the Lorde will not impute synne.

9 (Came) this blessednesse then vpon the circumcision only, or vppon the vncircumcision also? For we say that fayth was reckened to Abraham for righteousnesse.

10 How was it then reckened? when he was in the circumcision, or (when he was) in the vncircumcision? Not in the circumcision, but in vncircumcision.

11 And he receyued the signe of circumcision, as the (c) seale of the righteousnesse of fayth, whiche he had yet being vncircumcised, that he shoulde be the father of all them that beleeue, though they be not circumcised, that righteousnesse myghte bee imputed vnto them also.

12 And that he might be father of circumcision, not vnto them onely whiche came of the circumcised: but vnto them also that walke in the steppes of the faith that was in our father Abraham, before the time of circumcision.

13 For the promise that he should be the heire of the world, (was) not to Abraham, or to his seede through the lawe, but thorough the righteousnesse of fayth.

14 For if they which are of the law be heyres, then is fayth but vayne, & the promise made of none effect:

15 Bycause the lawe causeth wrathe: For where no lawe is, there is no transgression.

16 Therefore by fayth (is the inheritance gyuen) that it might (be) by grace, that the promise myghte bee sure to all the seede, not to that only which is of the lawe, but to that also whiche is of the fayth of Abraham, whiche is the father of vs all.

The. v. Chapter.

1. The fruite of fayth. 7. The loue of God, and obedience of Christe. 12. From whence commeth death, and from whence life.

John. 16. a.

1 Therefore beyng iustifyed by fayth, wee are at (a) peace with God, through our Lord Jesus Christ:

a. By peace which is the fruit of faithe, is met the incredible and moste constant ioy of mynde, our conscience beeing quiet, & establiſhed in gods grace

2 By whome also we haue had an entrance by fayth, vnto thys grace wherein we stand, and reioyce in hope of the glory of God.

Heb. 3. a.

3 Not that only: but also we reioyce in tribulations, knowing that tribulation worketh patience:

b. Both for that the hope of the godly is not disappoin ted of that whiche they hope for, and also for that they are not ashamed of any affliction in this world, as the worldly mynded be: but constantly abide without shame, whatsoeuer trouble god doeth send to them.

4 Patience proue, proue hope:

5 And hope maketh not (b) ashamed, because the loue of God is shed abroade in oure hartes by the holy ghoste, whiche is gyuen vnto vs.

6 For when we were yet weake, according to the time, Christ dyed for the vngodly.

7 Now scarse wil any man dye for the righteous: yet peraduenture for the good some man durst dye.

8 But God setteth out his loue towarde vs, seeing that whyle we were yet synners, Christ dyed for vs.

9 Much more then nowe, we that are iustified by his blood, shall be saued from wrath thorough hym.

John. 3. c. 1. John. 4. b.

10 For if when we were enimies, we wer reconciled to God by the death of hys sonne: much more, seeing we are reconciled, wee shall be saued by his lyfe.

11 Not only so, but we also ioy in God, thorough our Lorde Jesus Christ, by whome we haue nowe receyued the atonement.

12 Wherefore, as by one man sinne entred into the worlde, and deathe by synne: euen so, death entred into all men, insomuch as all haue synned.

Gen. 2. c. Rom. 6. b.

13 For vnto the law was sinne in the worlde: but sinne is not imputed when there is no lawe.

14 Neuertheleſſe, death raigned from Adam to Moses, ouer them also that had not sinned wyth lyke transgression as dyd Adam, whyche is the figure of him that was to come.

C.

15 But not as the synne, so is the free gyfte. For if through the synne of one many bee dead: muche more the grace of God, and the gift by grace, whiche (is) by one man Jesus Christ, hath abounded vnto many.

John. 1. b.

16 And not as by one that sinned (euen so) the gyft: for the sinne entred by one (offence) into condemnation: but the gift of (c) many sinnes into iustification.

c. For by christ we are not only deliuered from the sinne of Adam, but also from all such sinnes as we haue added thereunto.

17 For if by the synne of one deathe raigned by the meanes of one, muche more (they) whiche receyue abundance of grace and of the gyft of righteousnesse, shall raigne in life by the meanes of one, Jesus Christe.

18 Lykewise then, as by the sinne of one (sinne came) on all menne to condempnation: euen so, by the ryghteousnesse of one (good came) vpon all men, to the ryghteousnesse of life.

19 For as by one mans disobedience many became sinners: so by the obedience of one shall many be made righteous.

Gala. 3. b.

20 But the lawe in the meane time entred in, that synne shoulde encrease. But where sinne was plenteous, grace was more plenteous.

21 That as sinne hath raigned vnto deathe: euen so myght grace raigne thorough ryghteousnesse vnto eternall lyfe, by Jesus Christ our Lorde.

The. vi. Chapter.

5. Newenesse of life foloweth iustification, to the which he exhorteth.

1 What shall we say then? Shall we continue in sinne, that grace may abound? God forbid.

2. He dyeth to sinne, in whom the strength of sinne is broken by the power of Christ.

2 Howe shall we that are dead (a) to synne, liue any longer therein?

4 We are buried then with them by baptisme into hys death, that lykewise as Chryst was rayſed vp from the dead by the glory of the father: euen ſo, we alſo ſhould walke in newneſſe of life.

5 For if we bee graft togeather by the lykeneſſe of hys death: euen ſo ſhall we be (partakers) of the reſurrection:

6 Knowing this, that our old man is crucifyed wyth him alſo, that the body of ſynne myghte vtterly be deſtroyed, that henceforwyth we ſhould not ſerue ſynne.

B 7 For he that is dead, is iuſtified from ſynne.

2. Tim. 3. g. 8 And if we be dead with Chriſte, we beleeue that we ſhall alſo lyue with hym:

Apoc. 1. b. 9 Knowing that Chriſt being rayſed from the dead, dyeth no more, death hathe no more power ouer hym.

10 For as touching that he died, he dyed concerning ſynne once: and as touching that hee lyueth, he lyueth vnto God.

11 Likewiſe reckon your ſelues to be dead vnto ſynne, but alyue vnto God, thorough Jeſus Chriſt our Lorde.

12 Let not ſynne raigne therefore in youre mortall body, that ye ſhould therevnto obey by the luſtes of it.

'or, weapons. 13 Neyther gyue yee your members" as inſtrumentes of vnryghteouſneſſe vnto ſinne: but gyue your ſelues vnto God, as they that are alyue from the dead, and your members "as inſtrumēts of righteouſneſſe vnto God.

14 For ſynne ſhall not haue power ouer you, bycauſe ye are not vnder the (c) lawe, but vnder grace.

15 What then? Shall we ſynne, bycauſe we are not vnder the lawe, but vnder grace? God forbyde.

16 Know ye not how that to whome ſo euer ye committe your ſelues as ſeruantes to obey, his ſeruants ye are to whome yee obey: whether it be of ſynne vnto death, or of obedience vnto righteouſneſſe?

17 But God be thanked, that ye were the ſeruantes of ſynne: but yee haue obeyed wyth hart the fourme of doctrine, into the whyche ye were brought vnto.

18 Being then made free from ſynne, ye are become the ſeruantes of righteouſneſſe.

19 I ſpeake after the (d) manner of men, bycauſe of the infirmitie of your fleſhe. For as ye haue giuen youre members ſeruantes to vncleanneſſe and iniquitie, vnto iniquitie: euen ſo now gyue your members ſeruauntes to righteouſneſſe vnto holyneſſe.

20 For when ye were the ſeruants of ſinne, ye were free from righteouſneſſe.

D 21 What fruite had ye then in thoſe thyngs, whereof ye are nowe aſhamed? For the ende of thoſe things, is death.

22 But now yee being made free from ſinne, and made the ſeruauntes of God, haue youre fruite vnto holyneſſe, and the ende euerlaſting life.

23 For the rewarde of ſynne is death: but the gyft of God is eternall life, thorough Jeſus Chriſt our Lorde. Gen. 2. c. Rom. 5. c.

The. vij. Chapter.

1. 7. 12. The vſe of the lawe, 4. from the which Chriſt hath deliuered vs. 23. The fighte betweene the lawe of the fleſhe, and the lawe of the ſpirite.

1 KNowe yee not brethren (for I ſpeake to them that knowe the (a) lawe) (howe) that the lawe hathe power ouer a manne, as long as he lyueth?

2 For the woman whiche hath an husband, is bound by the lawe to hir husband, as long as he lyueth: but if the husband be dead, ſhe is loſed from the lawe of hir husbande.

3 So then if whyle hir husband lyueth, ſhee couple hir ſelfe with another man, ſhe ſhall be" counted a wedlocke breaker: but if hir husbande be dead, ſhe is free from the lawe: ſo that ſhe is no wedlocke breaker though ſhe couple hir ſelfe with another man.

4 Euen ſo ye alſo, my brethren, are dead concerning the lawe by the (b) body of Chriſte, that ye ſhould be coupled to another, who is rayſed from the dead, that we ſhoulde bryng forth fruite vnto God.

5 For when we were in the fleſhe, the luſtes of ſynne (which were) by the lawe wrought in our members, to bryng forthe fruite vnto deathe.

6 But nowe are we deliuered from the law, and dead vnto it wherevnto we were in bondage, that wee ſhoulde ſerue in newneſſe of ſpirite, and not in the oldneſſe of the letter.

7 What ſhall we ſay then? is the lawe ſinne? God forbidde. Neuertheleſſe, I knewe not ſinne, but by the lawe: for I had not knowen luſt, except the lawe had ſayde, Thou ſhalt not luſt.

8 But ſynne taking occaſion by the commandement, wrought in me all manner of concupiſcence. For without the lawe ſinne (was) dead.

9 I once lyued without lawe: but when the commaundement came, ſynne reuiued,

10 And I was dead: and the very ſame commaundement, whiche was (ordeyned) vnto lyfe, was found (to be) vnto me an occaſion of death.

L. iiij. 11 For

a. That is, that ſinne thorowe Chriſtes death, may be aboliſhed and dye in vs: and that we are made cleane outwardly wyth water in our baptiſme, ſo inwardly our ſynnes may be waſhed away, and clenſed by the bloud of Chriſte.

c. That is, vnder the curſſe of the lawe, whoſe office is to accuſe and cōdemne: but vnder grace, whereby we haue forgiueneſſe of our ſinnes, and are ſanctifyed by the holy ghoſt into the newneſſe of lyfe.

John. 8. d. Rom. 8. a.

d. Men vſe to ſpeake gentilly to theyr friendes, and not to exact ſo much, as they myght, but ſo farre foorth as reaſon requireth.

2. Before the commyng of Chriſt all men were maryed and bound to the law, which did them none other ſeruice, but diſcloſed their ſynne and wickednes, forcing them to ſeeke help for their ſinne els where. Now then, the lawe being aboliſhed for hir imperfection, and they cleanſed thorough Gods grace, are eſpouſed vnto Chriſt theyr newe husband, hym to ſerue in newneſſe of life.

"or, called.

b. Bycauſe the body of Chriſt is made an offering and a ſacrifice for our ſinnes, whereby God is pleaſed, and his wrath appeaſed: and for Chriſtes ſake the holy ghoſt is giuen to al beleeuers, whereby the power of ſinne is in vs dayly weakened: we are counted dead to the law, for that the lawe hath no dominion ouer vs. Rom. 5. c. Gala. 3. b. Exod. 20. c. Deut. 5. b.

11 For synne taking occasion by the commaundement, hath deceyued me, and by the same slue (me.)

12 Wherefore the lawe is holy, and the commaundement holy, and iust, and good.

13 Was that then whiche was good, made death vnto me? God forbidde. But synne, that synne might appeare, by that whyche was good to worke deathe in me: that synne by the commaundemente might bee out of measure synfull.

C 14 For we knowe that the lawe is spiritual: but I am carnall, solde vnder (c) sinne.

Esai. 52. a.

15 For that whiche I doe, I alowe not: for what I would, that doe I not: but what I hate, that doe I.

16 If I do nowe that, which I woulde not, I consent vnto the lawe that it is good.

17 Now then it is not I that do it: but sinne that dwelleth in me.

18 For I know, that in me (that is to say in my flesche) dwelleth no good thing. For to will, is present with mee: but I fynde no meanes to performe that which is good.

19 For the good that I would, do I not: but the euil which I would not, that do I.

20 And if I do that I woulde not, then is it not I any longer that doeth it, but sinne that dwelleth in me.

D 21 I fynde then by the lawe, that when I would do good, euil is present with me.

22 For I delight in the lawe of God, after the inwarde man:

23 But I see another lawe in my members, rebelling agaynste the lawe of my mynde, and subduing mee vnto the lawe of sinne, which is in my members.

24 O wretched man that I am: who shal deliuer me from the (d) body of this death?

25 I thanke God through Iesus Christe our Lorde. So then, with the minde I my selfe serue the lawe of God: but with the flesh, the lawe of synne.

c. Lyke as bondmen are violētly thrust, hurled, and turmoyled, as it pleaseth their cruell maister: so are we thorough heapes of sinnes drawen to many euill doyngs whiche we do neyther lyke nor alowe.

Gene. 6. a.

d. It is called the body of synne, for that it is an whole lump of sinne, tosing and tormenting the whole mā, and pluckyng hym frō God, wherby plages and miseries are heaped on, and man lyueth as he wer in the middest of death.

The. viij. Chapter.

1. The assurance of the faythfull. 6. The frutes of the holy Ghost. 13. The weakenesse of the lawe. 17. Of hope. 18. Of patience vnder the crosse. 29. Of the foreknowledge of God.

a. The lawe of the spirite, and the lawe of sin, is here taken improperly for the power and strength of the law and sinne: and it is called the spirite of life, bycause it quickeneth & gyueth life.

1 THere is then no damnation to them which are in Christ Iesu, whiche walk not after the flesh, but after the spirite.

2 For the lawe of the (a) spirite of life, thorough Iesus Christ, hath made me free from the lawe of synne and death.

3 For what the lawe coulde not do, in as muche as it was weake through the flesche, God hauing sente his owne sonne, in the similitude of sinfull flesche, euen by sinne, (b) condemned sinne in the flesche:

b. God, through the sacrifyce of his, which Christ hys only sonne offered vpon the crosse in hys flesshe, hath condemned & abolished sin, which raigned in our mortall flesche.

4 That the righteousnesse of the law, might be fulfylled in vs, whych walke not after the flesh, but after the spirite.

5 For they that are carnall, are (c) carnally minded: but they that are spiritual, are spiritually minded.

c. φρονοῦσι and φρόνημα greecke words do not only signifye wisdome and prudence, as affection, carefulnesse, and minding of any thyng.

6 To be carnally minded, is death: but to be spiritually minded, is life and peace:

7 Bycause that the fleshly minde is enmitie agaynste God: for it is not obedient to the lawe of God, neyther can be.

8 So then, they that are in the flesche, can not please God.

9 But yee are not in the flesche, but in the spirite, if so be that the spirite of God dwell in you. If any manne haue not the spirite of Christ, the same is none of his.

d. Albeit we haue a body which is dead to all goodnesse, by reason of synne, whych so fully raygneth in it, yet when we are grafted in Christ, his spirite of life giueth vs lyfe, & iustifyeth vs.

10 And if Christe be in you, the body is dead bycause of (d) sinne: but the spirite is life for righteousnesse sake.

11 But if the spirite of hym that rayled vp Iesus from the dead, dwell in you: euen hee that rayled vp Christ from the dead, shal also quicken your mortall bodies, bycause that his spirite dwelleth in you.

12 Therefore brethren, we are debters, not to the flesche, to liue after the flesche.

13 For if ye liue after the flesche, yee shall dye: but if yee through the spirite, do mortifie the deedes of the body, ye shall liue.

The Epistle on the eyght sunday after trinitie.

14 For as many as are ledde by the spirite of God, they are the sonnes of God. C

15 For yee haue not receyued the spirite of bondage agayne to feare: but ye haue receyued the spirite of adoption, whereby we crye, Abba, father.

Gala. 4. d. 1. Timo. 1. 2. Cor. 1. d. Ephes. 1. a.

16 The spirite it selfe beareth witnesse to our spirite, that we are the sonnes of God.

The Epistle on the fourth sunday after trinitie.

17 If we be sonnes, then are we also heires, the heyres of God, and coynt heyres wyth Christ: so that we suffer togeather, that wee may be also glorifyed togeather.

c. λογίζομαι sygnifyeth to way or to consyder. But bycause the matter was certaine, and saint Paul nothyng doubted thereof, it is thus made: I am perswaded.

18 For I am certainely (c) perswaded, that the afflictions of this time, are not worthy of the glory which shall be shewed vpon vs.

19 For the earnest expectation of the creature abydeth, loking when the sonnes of God shall appeare:

f. The creatures shall not be restored before Gods chyldren be broughte to theyr perfection. In the meane season, they desire, grone, and wayte.

20 Bycause the (f) creature is subiect to vanitie, not wylling, but for hym whiche hathe subdued the same in hope.

21 For the creature it selfe shall be made free from the bondage of corruption, into ỹ glorious libertie of the sonnes of God:

22 For we knowe that euery creature groneth with vs also, and trauayleth in payne with with vs, euen vnto this tyme.

23 Not onely (they,) but we also whiche haue the firſt fruytes of the ſpirite, & we our ſelues mourne in our ſelues, wayting for the adoption (euen) the deliuerance of our body.

24 For we are ſaued by hope: But hope that is ſeene, is no hope. For how can a man hope for that which he ſeeth?

25 But and if wee hope for that wee ſee not, then do we with patience abide for it.

26 Likewiſe, the ſpirite alſo helpeth our infirmities. For we knowe not what to deſire as we ought: but the ſpirite it ſelfe maketh great (g) interceſſion for vs, with gronings, whiche can not be expreſſed.

27 And he that ſearcheth the hartes, knoweth what is the meanyng of the ſpirite: for hee maketh interceſſion for the ſaincts according to the pleaſure of God.

28 For we knowe that all things worke for the beſte, vnto them that loue God, to them whiche alſo are called of purpoſe.

29 For thoſe whiche he knewe before, he alſo ordeined, that they ſhoulde bee lyke faſhioned vnto the ſhape of his ſonne, that he might be the firſte begotten among many brethren.

30 Moreouer, whom he did predeſtinate, them alſo he called: and whom he called, them alſo he iuſtified: and whom he iuſtified, them he alſo glorified.

31 What ſhal we then ſay to theſe things? If God be on our ſide, who can be againſt vs?

32 Whiche ſpared not his owne ſonne, but gaue him for vs all: howe ſhall he not with him alſo gyue vs al things?

33 Who ſhall lay any thyng to the charge of Gods choſen? It is God that iuſtifieth:

34 Who is he that condemneth? It is Chriſte which died, yea rather which is raiſed again, which is alſo on the right hande of God, and maketh interceſſion for vs.

35 Who ſhall ſeparate vs from the loue of Chriſte? (Shall) tribulation, or anguiſhe, or perſecution, eyther hunger, eyther nakednelle, eyther peril, eyther ſworde?

36 (As it is written: For thy ſake are we killed all day long, and are counted as ſheepe for the ſlaughter.)

37 Neuertheleſſe, in all theſe thyngs we ouercome, through him that loued vs.

38 For I am ſure, that neyther death, neyther lyfe, neyther angels, nor rule, neyther power, neyther thyngs preſent, neyther thyngs to come.

39 Neyther heigth, nor deapth, neyther any other creature, ſhal be able to ſeparate vs from the loue of God, which is in Chriſte Jeſu our Lorde.

f. The right forme and affectiō of prayer, cōmeth by the holy ghoſt, who maketh interceſsiō for vs, not that he prayeth and mourneth: but that he ſo ſtirreth our harts, that wee lift them vp to beare earneſtly & feruently, which is the true prayer.

The.ix. Chapter.

1. Paul declareth his feruent loue towarde his nation, 11. he treateth of election, and reprobation, 24. alſo of the callyng of the Gentiles, 30. and of the caſting off, of the Iewes.

1 I Say the trueth in Chriſt, I lye not, (my conſcience alſo bearyng me witneſſe by the holy ghoſt,)

2 That I haue great heauineſſe, and continuall ſorowe in my hart.

3 For I haue wiſhed my ſelfe to be curſed from (a) Chriſt, for my brethren, my kinſmen as parteyneth to the fleſhe,

4 Whiche are the Iſraelites: to whome parteyneth the adoption, and the glory, and the couenantes, and the lawe that was gyuen, and the ſeruice of God, and the promiſſes:

5 Of whom are the fathers, and of whom as concernyng the fleſhe Chriſte (came) which is God, in all things to be prayſed for euer, Amen.

6 And it can not be, that the worde of God hath taken none effect. For they are not all Iſraelites, whiche are of Iſrael:

7 Neyther are they all children that are the ſeede of Abraham: but in Iſaac ſhall thy ſeede be called.

8 That is to ſay, They whiche are the children of the fleſhe, theſe are not the chyldren of God: but they whiche be the chyldren of promiſſe, are counted the ſeede.

9 For this is the worde of promiſe: About this tyme wyll I come, and Sara ſhall haue a ſonne.

10 Not onely thys, but alſo Rebecca was with chylde by one (euen) by our father Iſaac.

11 For yer the (chyldren) were borne, when they had neyther done good, neyther bad, (that the purpoſe of God by (b) election myght ſtande: not by the reaſon of workes, but by the caller,) 12 It was ſayd vnto her, The elder ſhal ſerue the yonger.

13 As it is written, Jacob haue I loued, but Eſau haue I hated.

14 What ſhall we ſay then? Is there any vnrighteouſneſſe with God? God forbid.

15 For he ſayth to Moſes, I wyll ſhewe mercie, to whom ſo euer I ſhewe mercie: and wyll haue compaſſion, on whom ſo euer I haue compaſſion.

16 So then (election) is not of the wyller, nor of the runner: but of God that taketh mercie.

17 For the Scripture ſayeth vnto Pharao,

a. He ſaw the loſſe and deſtructiō of his whole nation falling ſo farre from gods true religiō, he cōſidered how ſore God ſhuld be diſhonored, when his wonderful benefits and bleſsings beſtowed vpon his people, ſhould take none effect, but vtterly be defaced, whiche ſo mightily moued him, that he wiſhed rather to be cut off frō Chriſte, then thoſe things ſhoulde come to paſſe. Euen for this ſame purpoſe haue I ſtyrred thee vp, that I might ſhewe my power in thee, and that my name might be declared throughout all the worlde.

D 21 Hath not the potter power ouer the clay, euen of the ſame lumpe to make one veſſell vnto honour, and another vnto diſhonour?

22 What if GOD willing to ſhewe his wrath, and to make his power knowen, ſuffered with long patience the veſſels of wrath ordeyned to deſtruction:

23 To declare the richeſſe of hys glory on the veſſels of mercie, whiche he had prepared vnto glory?

24 Whom alſo he called, (I meane) vs, not of the Iewes onely, but alſo of the Gentiles.

Oſee.2.d 1.Pet.2.b

25 As he ſayth alſo in Oſee, I wyll call them my people, whiche were not my people: and hyr beloued, which was not beloued.

26 And it ſhal come to paſſe, that in the place where it was ſayde vnto them, Yee are not my people: there ſhal they be called the chyldren of the liuyng God.

c. The worde here is taken for a thyng or matter. The Lorde diminiſhed his people by ſundry plagues, perſecutions, and baniſhments, and brought them to a very fewe. Likewiſe meaneth ſaynt Paul, that a fewe of them ſhal be ſaued, whiche fewe notwithſtanding ſhal abound in righteouſneſſe to the glory of God.

27 And Eſaias cryeth concernyng Iſrael, (Though) the number of the chyldren of Iſrael be as the ſand of the ſea, yet (but) a remnant ſhal be ſaued.

28 For he finiſheth the (c) worde, and maketh it ſhort in righteouſneſſe: for a ſhort worde wyll the Lorde make on earth.

d. The ſeede is Chriſte Ieſus, ſowen abrode by his apoſtles and diſciples.

29 And as Eſaias ſayde before, Except the Lorde of Sabboth had left vs (d) ſeede, wee had bene made as Sodoma, and had bene lykened to Gomorrha.

Eſai.28.b

30 What ſhall wee ſay then? that the Gentiles whiche folowed not righteouſneſſe, haue obteyned ryghteouſneſſe: euen the righteouſneſſe (whiche commeth) of fayth:

c. Chriſt doth iuſtifie vs by fayth without workes, which thing the Iewes and iuſticiaries can not beleeue. Therefore they ſtumble at Chriſt, and are offended with him.

31 But Iſrael whiche folowed the lawe of righteouſneſſe, hath not atteyned to the lawe of righteouſneſſe.

32 Wherefore? Becauſe (they ſought it) not by fayth, but as it were by the workes of the lawe: For they haue ſtumbled at the ſtumbling ſtone, 33 As it is written, Behold, I put in (e) Sion a ſtumbling ſtone, and a rocke of offence: and who ſo euer beleeueth on hym, ſhall not bee confounded.

The.x. Chapter.

3. Paul ſheweth the cauſe of the fall of the Iewes. 5. The difference betweene the iuſtice of the lawe, and fayth. 16. The caſtyng off, of the Iewes, and callyng of the Gentiles.

1 BRethren, my hartes deſire and prayer to God for Iſrael is, that they might be ſaued.

a. That is a certayne affection, but not after knowledge. For no zeale, nor no good intent can be acceptable vnto God, but only that whiche is grounded vpon fayth, and the knowledge of God.

2 For I beare them recorde, that they haue a (a) zeale of God, but not accordyng to knowledge.

b. It is called our own righteouſneſſe, whē we refuſe the righteouſneſſe whiche commeth by chriſt, and imagine another righteouſneſſe, which cōmeth by our owne workes and deuiſes.

3 For they beyng ignorant of Gods righteouſneſſe, and goyng about to ſtablith their (b) owne righteouſneſſe, haue not bene obedient vnto the righteouſneſſe of God.

4 For Chriſte is the ende of the lawe, (c) for righteouſneſſe to all that beleeue.

c. That is, Chriſte hath fulfilled the whole law, and therefore who ſo euer beleeueth in him, is counted iuſte before God, as wel as he had fulfilled the whole law him ſelfe.

5 For Moſes wryteth of the righteouſneſſe whiche (is) of the lawe, howe that the man whiche doth thoſe thyngs, ſhall lyue by them.

6 But the righteouſneſſe whiche is of fayth, ſpeaketh on this wiſe: Say not thou in thine hart, who ſhal aſcende into (d) heauen? That is, to fetche Chriſte downe from aboue.

d. For fayth teacheth vs, that Chriſt is aſcended vp into heauen to take vs with him, and hath deſcended into the depth of death, to deſtroy death, & to deliuer vs.

7 Eyther who ſhall deſcende into the deepe? That is, to fetche vp Chriſte agayne from the dead.

8 But what ſayth he, The worde is nyghe thee, euen in thy mouthe, and in thy harte. This ſame is the worde of fayth, whiche we preache.

9 For if thou ſhalte knowledge with thy mouth the Lorde Ieſus, and ſhalt beleeue in thyne harte that God rayſed hym from the dead, thou ſhalt be ſaued.

10 For with the harte man beleeueth vnto righteouſneſſe: and with the mouth confeſſion is made vnto ſaluation.

11 For the ſcripture ſayth, Who ſo euer beleeueth on hym, ſhal not be confounded.

12 There is no difference betweene the Iewe and the Greke: for the ſame Lorde ouer all, is riche vnto al that cal vpon hym.

Deut.30.c Eſai.28.d Joel.2.d Acts.2.c

15 And howe ſhall they preache, except they be ſent? As it is written: Howe beautifull are the feete of them whiche bryng good tidings of peace, and bryng good tidings of good things?

1 I Say then, hathe God caste awaye his people? God forbid. For I also am an Israelite, of the seede of Abraham, of the tribe of Beniamin.

2 God hath not cast away his people whiche he knew before. Wot ye not what the scripture sayth of Elias? howe he maketh intercession to God against Israel.

3 Saying, Lorde they haue killed thy Prophetes, and dygged downe thyne (a) Aultars: and I am lefte alone, and they seeke my lyfe.

4 But what sayth the answere of God vnto hym? I haue reserued vnto my selfe seuen thousande men, whiche haue not bowed the knee to (the image of) Baal.

5 Euen so at this tyme there is a remnant according to the election of grace.

6 If it be of grace, then is it not nowe of workes: for then grace is no more grace. But if it be of works, then is it now no grace, for then worke is no more worke.

7 What then? Israel hath not obteyned that whiche he seeketh for, but the election hathe obteyned it, the remnant haue bene "blynded,

8 (According as it is written, God hath gyuen them the spirite of (b) remorse: eyes that they should not see, and eares that they should not heare) euen vnto this daye.

9 And Dauid sayth, Let their table be made a snare, and a trap, and a stumbling stocke and a recompence vnto them.

10 Lette their eyes bee "blinded, that they see not, and bowe thou downe their backe alwaye.

11 I saye then, haue they therefore stumbled, that they should fall? God forbid: but thorough their fall, saluation (is come) vnto the (c) Gentiles, for to prouoke them withal.

12 Nowe if the fall of them be the richesse of the worlde, and the minishing of them, the richesse of the Gentiles: howe muche more their fulnesse?

13 For I speake to you Gentiles, in as muche as I am the Apostle of the Gentils, I magnifie myne office.

14 If by any meane I maye prouoke them whiche are my flesshe, and might saue some of them.

15 For if the casting away of them be the reconciling of the worlde: what shall the receiuing (of them) be, but life from the dead?

16 For if the firste fruites be holie, the whole lumpe also (is holy.) And if the rote be holie, the branches also.

17 And if some of the branches bee broken (d) of, and thou being a wild Olyue tree, wast graft in among them, and made partaker of the rote and fatnesse of the Olyue tree:

18 Boast not thy selfe against the braunches, For if thou boast thy selfe, thou bearest not the rote, but the rote thee.

19 Thou wilt say then, The branches are broken off, that I might be graft in.

20 Well: bicause of vnbeleefe they were broken off, and thou stoodest stedfast in faith. Be not high mynded, but feare.

21 For seeing that God spared not the naturall branches, (take heed) least it come to passe, that he spare not thee.

22 Beholde therefore the kyndnesse and rigorousnesse of God: on them whiche fell, rigorousnesse: but towardes thee, kindnesse, if thou continue in kindnesse: or else thou also shalt be hewen off.

23 And they, if they byde not still in vnbeleefe, shall be grafted in: for God is of power to graffe them in againe.

24 For if thou were cut out of a natural wild Olyue tree, and were graffed contrarye to nature in a true olyue tree: how much more shall these which bee the naturall branches, be grafted in their owne Olyue tree?

The Epistle on the fyrste sunday after the Epiphanie.

1 IBeseeche you therefore brethren, by the "mercyfulnesse of God, that ye "giue vp your bodies a quicke (a) sacrifice, holye, acceptable vnto God, (whiche is) your reasonable seruice.

"or, pitie. "or, present.

a. The Iewes in Moses lawe were cōmaunded to offer vp the deade carkases of beasts: but Christians shoulde exhibite their own liuely bodies for a sacrifice to god, in mortifying their carnall lustes, and framyng themselues by fayth, to godlynesse, and charitie.

2 And be not ye fashioned lyke vnto thys (b) worlde: but be ye chaunged in your shape, by the renuyng of your mynde, that ye may proue what is the good, and acceptable, and perfect will of God.

b. The world hath dyuers significations in the scriptures, but here is taken specially for the nature and disposition of men in the world, which liued after their lust & pleasures, & serued not God in holinesse of life, and godly conuersation.

The Epistle on the fourth Sunday after the Epiphanie.

1 LEt euery soule be subiect vnto the higher powers: For there is no power but of God. The powers that be, are ordeyned of God.

Sapi. 6. a. John. 3. d.

2 Whosoeuer therfore resisteth the power, resisteth the ordinaunce of God: and they that resist, resist, shal receyue to themselues damnation.

3 For rulers are not fearefull to good workes, but to ẏ euyl. Wilt thou not feare ẏ power? Doo well, and thou shalt haue prayse of the same.
4 For he is the minister of GOD for thy wealth. But if thou doo euill, feare, for he beareth not the swoorde in vayne: For he is the minister of God, reuenger of wrath on him that doth euyl.
5 Wherefore ye muste needes be subiect, not ouely for feare of "punishment: but also bycause of (a) conscience.
6 And for this cause pay ye tribute, for they are Gods ministers, seruyng for the same purpose.
7 Gyue to euery man therfore his duetie, tribute to whom tribute (is due,) custome to whom custome, feare to whom feare, honour to whom honour (belongeth.)
8 Owe nothyng to no man, but to loue one another: (For he that loueth another, hath fulfilled the lawe.

13 Let vs walke honestly, as in the day, not in ryoting and dronkennesse, neither in chãbering and wantonnesse, neyther in stryfe and enuying.

The. xiiij. Chapter.

1. The weake muste bee borne with. 10. No man ought to offende his neyghbours conscience. 15. One ought to beare with an others conscience in charitie.

A 1 Him that is weake in the fayth receyue, not to doubtfulnesse of (a) disputatiõs.

a. That is, not to this end, contentiously to dispute with him in matters of religion, wherevnto, through the weakenesse of fayth, he can not as yet attayne, least he shoulde depart with a greater scruple of conscience, or be offended with vncharitable reasoning.

2 One beleeueth that he may eate euery thing: another which is weake, eateth herbes.
3 Let not hym that eateth, despise him that eateth not: and let not him which eateth not, iudge him that eateth. For God hath receyued him.
4 What art thou that iudgest another mans seruant? To hys owne mayster he standeth or falleth: Yea, he shal be holden vp, for God is able to make him stande. Jacob. 4. b
5 This man putteth difference betweene day & day. Another man counteth all dayes alike. Let euery man be fully perswaded in hys owne (b) minde.
6 He that esteemeth the day, esteemeth it vnto the Lorde: and he that esteemeth not the day, to the Lorde he doth not esteeme it. He that eateth, eateth to the Lorde, for he gyueth God thankes: and he that eateth not, eateth not to the Lorde, and gyueth GOD thankes.
7 For none of vs liueth to hymselfe, and no man dieth to himselfe.
8 For yf we lyue, we liue vnto the Lorde: and if we dye, we dye vnto the Lorde: Whether wee lyue therefore, or dye, wee are the Lordes. Acts. 2. k Philip. 2. b
9 For to this ende Christe bothe died, and rose, and reuyued, that he might be Lord both of dead and quicke.
10 But why doest thou then iudge thy brother? Eyther, why doest thou set at nought thy brother? wee shall all stande before the iudgement seate of Christe. Esai. 65. c Philip. 2. b 11 For it is written, I liue, sayth the Lorde, and all knees shall bowe to me, and all tongues shall giue prayse to God.
12 So shall euery one of vs gyue accompt of himselfe to God. Mat. 15. b Acts. 10. b 1. Tim. 4. b Mark. 7. d
13 Let vs not therefore iudge one another any more: but iudge this rather, that no man put a stumblyng blocke, or an occasion to fal in his brothers way.
14 For I knowe, and am perswaded by the Lorde Iesus, that there is nothyng common of it selfe: but vnto hym that iudgeth it to bee common, to hym it is common. C
15 But if thy brother bee greeued with thy meate, now walkest thou not charitably: destroy not hym with thy meate, for whom Christe dyed.
16 Let not your good be euill spoken off.
17 For the kyngdome of God is not meate and drinke: but righteousnesse and peace, and ioy in the holy ghost.
18 For hee that in these thyngs serueth Christe, pleaseth God, and is commended of men.

b. We muste be assured in our conscience by gods worde in al thing that we doo, that if we be strong, we may know what is our libertie: and if we be weake, we may learne, to profite dayly. B

19 Let vs therfore folow those thynges which make for peace, and thinges wherewith one may edifie another.

20 Destroy not the worke of God for meats sake: all things are pure, but it is euyll for that man whych eateth with offence.

21 It is good neyther to eate flesshe, neyther to drynke wyne, neyther (any thing) whereby thy brother stumbleth, eyther is offended, or is made weake.

22 Hast thou (c) fayth? haue it with thy selfe before God. Happy is he that condemneth not hymselfe in that (thing whiche) hee alloweth.

23 For he that maketh conscience, is damned if hee eate, bycause (he eateth) not of fayth: for what so euer is not of fayth, is (d) sinne.

c. Fayth is here take for a ful perswasion of the christian libertie in things indifferent.

d. This sentece, both Augustine and Origene do take to be generally meant of al mens works what so euer they be, whiche proceede not of a right cõscience, & an vndoubted fayth, grounded vpõ the worde of God.

The.xv.Chapter.

1. VVee muste support one another after the example of Christe. 14. Paul sheweth his zeale toward them, 30. and requireth the like of them.

A 1 WE whiche are strong, ought to beare the frayletie of the weake, and not to stand in our owne conceyts.

Galat.6.a

2 Let euery man please hys neyghbour in that that is good to (a) edifying.

a. To edifie, signifieth to do al maner of dueties to our neighbour, eyther to bryng him to Christ, or if he be wonne that he may goe forwarde to vertue.

3 For Christe pleased not himselfe, but as it is written, The rebukes of them which rebuked thee, fell on me.

4 For whatsoeuer thynges haue bene written afore tyme, were written for our learnyng: that we through patience and comfort of the scriptures, might haue hope.

b. He calleth here the offeryng of the Gentiles, the people of the Gentiles, whom he won to God by preachyng of the Gospel.

17 I haue therefore whereof I may reioyce through Christe Iesus, in those things which parteyne to God.

18 For I will not be bolde to speake of any of those thynges which Christ hath not wrought by me, to make the Gentiles obedient with worde and deede, 19 In mightie signes and wonders, by the power of the spirite of God, so that from Hierusalem, and the coastes round about vnto Illyricum, I haue fully preached the Gospel of Christe.

20 So haue I enforced my selfe to preach the Gospel, not where Christe was named, least I shoulde haue buylt vpon another mans (c) fundation.

c. An other mans fundation he calleth here the Churches that were taught and instructed of other Apostles.

D 21 But as it is written, To whom hee was not spoken off, they shall see: and they that hearde not, shal vnderstande.

22 For this cause I haue bene oft let, that I coulde not come vnto you.

23 But nowe hauyng no more to do in these countreys, & also hauyng a great desire many yeares to come vnto you:

24 When so euer I take my iourney into Spayne, I will come to you: for I trust to see you in my iourney, and to be brought on my way thytherwarde by you, after that I be somewhat filled with you.

25 But now goe I vnto Hierusalem, to minister vnto the (d) saynctes.

26 For it hath pleased them of Macedonia and Achaia, to make a certayne common gatheryng for the poore saynctes whiche are at Hierusalem.

27 It hath pleased them verely, and they are debters are they. For if the Gentiles bee made partakers of theyr spirituall things, their duetie is to minister vnto them in carnall things.

30 I beseeche you brethren for the Lorde Jesus Christes sake, and for the loue of the spirite, that ye helpe mee in my businesse with your prayers to God for me:

31 That I may be deliuered from them which beleeue not in Jurie, and that this my seruice which I haue at Hierusalem, maye bee accepted of the saintes.

19 Foꝛ it is written, I wyl deſtroy the wiſdome of the wiſe, and will caſte away the vnderſtanding of the prudent.

Eſai. 33.

20 Where is the wyſe? where is the ſcribe? where is the diſputer of this woꝛlde? Hath not God made the wiſedome of this woꝛld fooliſhe?

21 Foꝛ after that in the wiſedome of God, the woꝛlde thoꝛough their wiſedome knew not God, it pleaſed God thrꝛough fooliſhneſſe of preaching, to ſaue them that beleeue. D

22 Foꝛ the Iewes require a ſigne, & the Greekes ſeeke after wiſedome.

Matth. 16. Luke. 11. John. 6.

23 But we preache Chriſt crucified, vnto the Iewes a ſtumblyng blocke, and vnto the Greekes fooliſhneſſe:

24 But vnto them whiche are called, bothe Iewes and Greekes, Chriſte, the power of God, and the wiſedome of God.

25 Foꝛ the fooliſhneſſe of God is wyſer than men: and the weakneſſe of God is ſtronger than men.

26 Bꝛethren, ye ſee your calling, howe that not many wiſe men after the fleſhe, not manie mightie, not manie noble are (called.)

27 But God hath choſen the fooliſhe things of the woꝛlde, to confounde the wyſe: and GOD hathe choſen the weake things of the woꝛlde, to confounde the things whyche are mightie:

28 And vnnoble things of the woꝛlde, and E things which are deſpiſed, hath God choſen, (yea) and thinges whiche are not, to bꝛing to nought things that are:

29 That

29 That no fleshe shoulde glory in his presence.

30 And of him are ye in Christ Jesus, whiche of God is made vnto vs wisedome, & righteousnesse, and sanctification, and redemption:

31 That according as it is written, He that glorieth, let him glory in the Lorde.

The.ij. Chapter.

1. He putteth for example his manner of preaching, which was according to the tenor of the Gospel.8. which Gospell was contemptible, and hyd to the carnal. 10. & againe honorable and manifest to the spiritual.

1 AND I brethren, when I came to you, came not in "glorioussnesse of wordes, or of wisdome, shewing vnto you the (a) testimonie of God.

2 For I esteemed not to knowe any thing among you saue Jesus Christ, and him crucified.

3 And I was among you in weakenesse, and in feare, and in much trembling.

4 And my wordes and my preaching was not with entysing wordes of mans wisedome, but in shewing of the spirite, and of power:

5 That your faith shoulde not stande in the wisdome of men, but in ỹ power of god.

6 And we speake wisedome among them that are perfect: not the wisedome of this world, neither of the princes of this world, whiche come to nought:

7 But we speake the wisedome of God in a misterie (euen) the hid (wisdome) which God ordeined before the world, vnto our glory.

8 Whiche none of the princes of this worlde knewe: for had they knowen it, they woulde not haue crucified the Lorde of glory.

9 But as it is written, The eye hath not seene, and the eare hath not heard, neither haue entred into the hart of man, ỹ thinges whiche God hath prepared for them that loue him.

10 But God hath reuealed them vnto vs by his spirite: For the spirite searcheth al things, yea the deepe things of God.

11 For what man knoweth the things of a man, saue the (b) spirite of man whiche is in him? Euen so the things of God, knoweth no man, but the spirite of God.

12 And we haue not receiued the spirite of the worlde, but the spirite whiche is of God, that we might knowe the things that are giuen to vs of God.

13 Which things also we speake, not in the wordes whiche mans wisedome teacheth, but whiche the holy ghost teacheth: comparing spiritual things with spiritual things.

14 But the natural man perceiueth not the thinges of the spirite of God, for they are foolishnesse vnto him: neither can he knowe (them) bycause they are spiritually discerned.

15 But he that is spiritual, discerneth all thinges, yet he him selfe is iudged of no man.

16 For who hath knowen the minde of the Lorde, that he might instruct him? But we haue (c) the minde of Christ.

Rom.8.a. Esai.40.c.

c. That is, Christs spirit.

The.iij. Chapter.

3. Paul rebuketh the sectes and authors therof. 7. No man ought to atribute his saluation to the ministers, but to god. 10. That they beware of erroneous doctrines. 13 Christ is the foundation of the Church. 16. The dignitie & office both of the ministers, and also of al the faithful.

1 AND I coulde not speake vnto you brethren, as vnto spirituall, but as vnto carnal (euen) as vnto (a) babes in Christ.

2 I haue nourished you with mylke, and not with meate: for yee then were not strong, neither are ye as yet.

3 For ye are yet carnal: seeing then there is among you enuying, and strife, and sectes, are ye not carnal, & walke as men?

4 For while one saith, I am of Paul, & another, I (am) of Apollo, are ye not carnal?

5 For what is Paul? what is Apollo? But ministers by whom ye beleeued, euen as the Lord gaue to euery man.

6 I haue planted, Apollo watred: but God gaue the encrease.

7 So then, neither is he that planteth any thing, neither he that watereth: but God that giueth the encrease.

8 He that planteth, and he that watereth, are one: and euery man shal receiue his reward according to his labour.

9 For we together are Gods labourers, ye are Gods husbandry, ye are Gods building.

Ephe.2.d.

10 According to the grace of God whiche is giuen vnto me, as a wise maister builder, haue I layde the foundation, and another buildeth thereon. But let euery man (b) take heede howe he buyldeth vpon.

11 For other foundation can no man laye than

a. Being ingraffed in Christ by faith we beginne to moue by his spirite: and as we profite in faith, we grow vp to a ripe age. And here let him take heede that teacheth, lest for mylke he giue poison. For milke he strong meate in effect are one, but onely differ in manner and fourme.

b. He reprooueth the ministers of Corinth, as teachers of curious doctrines & questions.

than that is layde, which is Jesus Christ.

Mat.16.c. 12 If any man buylde on this foundation, gold, siluer, prettious stones, tymber, hay, (or) stubble:

13 Euery mans worke shall be made manifest. The day shall declare it, bycause it shall be reuealed by the fyre, and the fyre shall trie euery mans worke what it is.

℄ 14 If any mans worke that he hath buylt vpon abyde, he shall receiue a rewarde.

15 If any mans worke burne, he shall suffer losse, but he shall be saue himselfe: yet as (it were) through fyre.

1.Co.6.d. 16 Knowe ye not that ye are the temple of God, and that the spirite of God dwelleth in you?

or, destroy. 17 If any man "defile the temple of God, him shall God distroy: for the temple of God is holy, which (temple) ye are.

18 Let no man deceiue himselfe: If any man among you seeme (to himselfe) to be wise in this worlde, let him become a fole, that he may be wise.

19 For the wisedome of this world, is foolishnesse with God: for it is written, Hee compasseth the wise in (c) their owne craftinesse.

Job.5.b.

20 And againe, The Lorde knoweth the thoughtes of the wise, that they be vayne.

21 Therefore let no man glory in (d) men: for al things are yours.

22 Whether Paul, or Apollo, or Cephas, either the worlde, either life, or death, whether things present, or things to come, all are yours:

23 But ye are Christs, & Christ (is) Gods.

c. When they them selues are entangled in the same snares which they layde for others.

d. But in God, who worketh by his ministers to his owne glory, and the comfort of his Churche.

The.iiij.Chapter.

1. After that he had described the office of a true apostle, 3. seeing they did not acknowledge him suche one, 4. he appealeth to gods iudgement, 7. beating downe their glory, which hindred them to prayse that whiche they dispraysed in him. 16. He sheweth what he requireth on their part and what they ought to looke for of him at his returne.

A The Epistle on the third Sunday in Aduent. Deu.29.d.

1 LEt a man so esteeme of vs as the ministers of Christe, and disposers of the secretes of God.

2 Furthermore, it is required in the disposers, that a man be founde faithful.

3 With me it is but a very smal thing that I shoulde be iudged of you either of mās iudgement: yea, I iudge not (a) myne owne selfe.

4 For I knowe nothing by my selfe, yet am I not thereby iustified: but he that iudgeth me is the Lord.

a. Whither I haue great giftes or litle, few or many.

5 Therefore iudge nothing before the time, vntil the Lorde come, who wil lighten the hidden things of darknesse, and open the counsels of the hartes: and then shall euery man haue prayse of God.

6 And these things brethren I haue figuratiuely applyed vntomy selfe and to Apollos, for your sakes: that ye might learn by vs, not to be wise aboue that which is writte, that you swel not one against another for any mans cause.

7 For who (b) separateth thee? And what hast thou that thou hast not receiued? If thou haue receiued it, why doest thou glory as though thou haddest not receiued it?

b. To wit other man preferreth thee.

8 Nowe ye are ful, nowe yee are rich, yee haue raigned as kings without vs, and I would to God ye did raigne, that we also might raigne with you.

9 For me thinketh that God hath set forth vs whiche are the last apostles, as it were menne appointed to death. For we are made a gasing stocke vnto the world, and to angels, and to men.

Psal.64. Rom.8.

10 We (are) (c) fooles for Christs sake, but ye are wise in Christ, We (are) weake, but ye (are) strong: ye (are) honorable, but we (are) despised.

c. By this bitter taunting in abiecting him selfe, and exalting the Corinthians, he maketh them ashamed of their vaine glory.

11 Euen vnto this "time we both hunger and thyrst, & are naked, and are buffeted, and haue no certaine dwelling place,

12 And labour working with our owne handes: being reuiled, wee bleste: being persecuted, we suffer it:

Acts.20.g. 1.Thes.2. 2.Thes.3.d.

13 Being defamed, we pray: wee are made as the fylthinesse of the worlde, (and are) ỹ offscouring of al things vnto this day.

14 I write not these things to shame you, but as my beloued sonnes I warne you.

15 For though ye haue ten thousande instructors in Christ, yet (haue ye) not many fathers: for in Christe Jesus I haue begotten you through the Gospel.

16 Wherefore I desire you, be ye followers of me.

17 For this cause haue I sent vnto you Timotheus, whiche is my beloued sonne, and faithful in the Lord, who shall put you in remembrance of my wayes whiche be in Christe, as I teach euery where in all Churches.

18 Some are swollen as though I would come no more at you:

19 But I wil come to you shortly, if the Lord wil, & wil knowe, not the wordes of them which are swollen, but the power.

word, put in (d) power.

21 What wil ye? Shall I come vnto you with a rod, or in loue, and in the spirite of meekenesse?

The.v.Chapter.

1. He reproueth sharpely their negligence in punishing him that had committed incest. 3. willing them to excomunicate hym. 7. to imbrace puritie. 9. and flee wyckednesse.

1 THere goeth a common saying, that there is fornication among you, and suche fornication as is not named among the (a) Gentiles: that one should haue his fathers wife.

(a) Who would thinke that you would suffer that mischiefe vnpunished, which the most barbarous nations abhorre to speake of?

2 And yee are puffed vp, and haue not rather sorowed, that he that hath done this dede, might be taken away from among you.

3 For I verily as absent in body, but present in spirite, haue determined alredy as though I were present, that he that hathe so done this deede,

4 In the name of our Lord Jesus Christ, you being gathered together, and my spirite, with you, with the power of the Lorde Jesus Christ,

5 To deliuer suche (a one) vnto Satan for the destruction of the flesshe, that the spirite may be saued in the day of the Lorde Jesus.

1. Cor. 18. d.

6 Your glorying is not (b) good. Knowe ye not that a little leauen leaueneth the whole lumpe?

(b) Seeing you suffer such monstrous vices vnpunished.

7 Purge out therefore the olde leauen, that ye may be a newe lumpe, as ye are vnleauened. For (euen) Christ our passouer is " offered vp for vs.

" Or, is slaine.

8 Therfore let vs kepe holyday, not with old leauen, neither with the leauen of malicionsnesse & wickednesse: but with the vnleauened (bread) of purenesse and truth.

9 I wrote vnto you in an epistle, that yee should not companie with fornicatours.

10 (I did not meane) not at al with the fornicatours of this world, or with the couetous, or extortioners, or with idolaters: for then must ye needes haue gone out of the worlde.

2. Thes. 3. b

11 But nowe (this) I wrote vnto you, not to company together, if any that is called a brother be a fornicatour, or couetous, or a worshipper of idols, or a rayler, or a drunkard, or an extortioner: with him that is such, not to eate.

12 For what haue I to doe to iudge them that are without? do not ye iudge them that are within?

13 Them that are without, GOD shall iudge, And ye shal put away from among you that wicked person. Deut. 13. b.

The.vi.Chapter.

1. He rebuketh them for going too lawe together before the heathen. 7. Christians ought rather to suffer. 12. He reproueth the abusing of christian libertie. 15. and sheweth that we ought to serue God purely, both in body and in soule.

1 DAre any of you, hauing businesse " with another, be iudged vnder the (a) vniust, and not rather vnder the saintes?

" Or, against.

(a) He calleth them vniust, whosoeuer are not sanctified in Christ.

2 Doe ye not knowe that the saintes shall iudge the worlde? If the world shall be iudged by you, are ye vnworthy to iudge the smallest matters? Mat. 7. d.

3 Knowe ye not howe that we shall iudge the angels? Howe much more, things that pertaine to this life?

4 If then ye haue iudgement of things pertayning to this life, set vp them to iudge whiche are least esteemed in the Churche.

5 I speake it to your shame. Is it so that there is not a wise man among you? no not one that shall be able to iudge betweene his brethren?

6 But brother goeth to law with brother, and that vnder the vnbeleeuers?

7 Nowe therefore there is vtterly a " fault among you, bycause ye goe to lawe one with another: Why rather suffer yee not wrong: why rather suffer ye not harme?

" Or, want. B

8 Nay, ye your selues doe wrong, and doe harme, and that to your brethren.

9 Knowe ye not that the vnrighteous shal not inherite the kingdome of God? Bee not deceiued: neither fornicatours, nor idolaters, nor adulterers, nor effeminate, nor abusers of the selues with mankinde, Gala. 5. d. Ephe. 5. a.

10 Nor theeues, nor couetous nor drunkardes, nor reuilers, nor " pillers, shall inherite the kingdome of God.

" Or, extortioners.

11 And some suche like you were: but yee are washed, but ye are sanctified, but yee are iustified in the name of the Lorde Jesus, and by the spirite of our God.

12 All thinges are lawful vnto me, but all things are not profitable: all things are lawfull vnto mee, but I will not bee brought vnder the (b) power of any. Eccl. 17. d. 1. Co. 10. f.

(b) For we are subiect to those things which we can not want.

13 Meates for the belly, and the belly for meates: but God shall destroy both it and them. Nowe the body (is) not for (c) fornication, but for the Lorde: and the Lord for the body.

14 And GOD both hath rayſed vp the Lorde, and also shall rayſe vs vp by his power.

15 Knowe ye not that your bodyes are the members of Christ? Shall I then take the members of Christ, and make them the members of an harlot? God forbid.

16 What, knowe yee not that he which is coupled with an harlot, is one body? For two (saith he) shal be one flesshe. *

17 But he that is coupled vnto the Lorde, is one spirite.

18 Flee fornication: Euery sinne that a man doeth, is without the body: but hee that committeth fornication, sinneth against his owne body.

19 What, knowe ye not that your body is the temple of the holy ghost (which is) in you, whom ye haue of God, and yee are not (d) your owne?

20 For yee are bought with a price: therefore glorifie God in your body, & in your spirite, which are gods.

The. vij. Chapter.

1. The apostle answereth to certaine questions whiche the Corinthians desired to knowe. 2. as of single life. 3. of the duetie of maryage. 11. of discordes and dissention in maryage, 13. of mariage betweene the faithfull and vnfaithfull. 18. of vncircumcising the vncircumcised. 21. of seruitude. 25. of virginitie, 39. and second maryage.

1 NOw as concerning the things whereof ye wrote vnto me: It is (a) good for a man not to touche a woman.

2 Neuertheleſſe, to auoyde fornication, let euery manne haue his owne wife, and let euery woman haue hir owne husbande.

3 Let the husbande giue vnto the wife due beneuolence: likewise also the wife vnto the husbande.

4 The wife hath not the power of hir owne body, but the husbande: and likewise also the husband hath not the power of his owne body, but the wife.

5 Defraude you not the one the other, except (it be) with both your consentes for a time, that yee may giue your selues to fasting and prayer: and afterwarde come togither againe, that Satan tempt you not for your incontinencie.

a. Or expedient, by cause maryage throwe mans corruption, & not by Gods institution, bringeth cares and troubles.

Tobi. 6. d. Joel. 2. d.

6 This I say "of fauour, and (b) not of commaundement.

7 For I woulde that all men were euen as I my selfe: but euery man hath his proper gift of God, one after this maner, another after that.

8 I say therefore to the vnmaryed and widowes, it is good for them if they abide euen as I:

9 But if they can not abſteine, let them marry: for it is better to marrye than to burne.

10 Unto the maryed commaunde, not I, but the Lorde, let not the wife departe from hir husbande:

11 But and if she depart, let hir remaine vnmaryed, or be reconciled to hir husbande (againe) and let not the husbande put away his wife.

12 But to the remnant speake I, not the Lorde, If any brother haue a wife that beleeueth not, & she consent to dwel with him, let him not put hir away.

13 And the woman which hath to hir husbande an infidel, and he consent to dwell with hir, let hir not put him away.

14 For the vnbeleeuing husbande is sanctified by the wife, and the vnbeleeuing wife is sanctified by the husband, else were your children vncleane, but nowe are they (c) holy.

15 But if the vnbeleeuing depart, let him depart: A brother or a sister is not made subiect in suche (things:) but God hathe called vs in peace.

16 For howe knowest thou, O woman, whether thou shalt saue thy husbande? or how knowest thou, O manne, whether thou shalt saue thy wife?

17 But as God hath distributed to euery man, as the Lorde hath called euery one, so let him walke, and so ordeine I in all Churches. Ephe. 4. d.

18 Is any man called being circumcised? let him not adde (vncircumcision:) Is any called in vncircumcision? let him not be circumcised.

19 Circumcision is nothing, and vncircumcision is nothing, but the keeping of the commaundementes of God.

20 Let euery man abyde in the same calling wherein he was called.

21 Art thou called a seruant? care not for it: neuertheleſſe, if thou mayest be made free, vse it rather. 1. Tim. 6. b.

22 For he that is called in the Lord (being) a seruant, is the lordes free man: likewise also he that is called (being) free is Chriſtes

"Or, by way of sufferance. b He sheweth that he commaundeth not precisely to marry, but that God hath graunted this remedy vnto them which can not liue chaſte. 1. Tim. 4. Mat. 5. f. and. 19. a.

c. They that are borne of eyther of the parentes faithfull, are also counted members of Christes Churche, because of the promise. Gen. 17. a. Psal. 90. a. 1. Pet. 3. b. Esai. 60. d. 1. John. 2. Mat. 6. d. Luke. 6. c.

ſtes ſeruant.
23 Ye are bought with a price, be not ye the ſeruantes of men.
24 Brethren, let euery man wherein he is called, therein abide with (d) God.
25 Nowe concerning virgins, I haue no commaundement of the Lorde: yet giue I counſel, as one that hath obtayned mercy of the Lorde to be faithfull.
26 I ſuppoſe therefore that it is good for the preſent neceſſitie, that (I ſay) it is good for a man ſo to be.
27 Art thou bound vnto a wife? ſeeke not to be loſed. Art thou loſed from a wife? ſeeke not a wife.
28 But and if thou marry, thou haſt not ſinned: & if a virgin marry, ſhee hath not ſinned: neuertheleſſe, ſuch ſhall haue trouble in the fleſh: but I "beare with you.
29 But this ſay I brethren, becauſe the time is ſhort: It remaineth that they alſo whiche haue wiues, be as though they had none:
30 And they that weepe, as though they wept not: and they that reioyce, as though they reioyced not: and they that buye, as though they poſſeſſed not:
31 And they that vſe this worlde, as not abuſing it: for the faſhion of this worlde goeth away.
32 I woulde haue you without care. He that is vnmaryed, careth for the things that belong to the Lorde, howe he may pleaſe the Lorde:
33 But he that hath maryed, careth for the things that are of the world, howe he may pleaſe his wife.
34 There is difference betweene a virgin and a wife: The vnmaryed woman careth for the things that are of the Lorde, that ſhe may be holy both in body & in ſpirite, but ſhee that is maryed, careth for the things that pertaine to the worlde, howe ſhe may pleaſe hir huſbande.
35 This ſpeake I for your profite, not that I may caſte a ſnare vppon you, but for comelineſſe ſake and ſitting fall vnto the Lorde without ſeparation.
36 But if any man thinke that it is vncomely for his virgin if ſhe paſſe the time of maryage, (e) and neede ſo requyre, let him doe what he will, he ſinneth not: let them be maryed.
37 Neuertheleſſe, he that ſtandeth ſtedfaſt in his hart, hauing no neede, but hath power ouer his owne will, and hath ſo decreed in his hart that he wil keepe his virgin, doth wel.
38 So then he that giueth in maryage, doth wel: but he that giueth not in maryage, doth better.
39 The wife is bound to the "law as long as hir huſbande liueth: but if hir huſbande be dead, ſhe is at libertie to be maryed to whom ſhe will, onely in the Lord. "Rom. 7. a. "or, by the law of maryage.
40 But ſhe is happyer if ſhe ſo abyde, after my iudgement: and I thinke verily that I haue the ſpirite of God.

The. viij. Chapter.

1. He rebuketh them that vſe their libertie to the ſclaunder of other, in going to the idolatrous ſacrifices. 9. And ſheweth howe men ought to behaue them towarde ſuche as be weake.

1 AS touching things offered vnto idols, I Acts. 3. c. we knowe that we all haue knowledge. Knowledge maketh a man ſwel: but charitie edifieth.
2 If any man thinke that he knoweth any thing, he knoweth nothing yet as he ought to knowe.
3 But if any man loue God, the ſame is "knowen of him. "or, taught.
4 As concerning therefore the eating of thoſe things that are offered in ſacrifice vnto idolles, we know that an idol is nothing in the world, and that there is none other God but one. 1. Co. 10. c.
5 And though there be that are called goddes, whither in heauen or in earth, (as there be goddes many, and (a) lordes many:)
6 Yet vnto vs is there but one God (whiche is) the father, of whom are all things, and we in him, and one Lorde Ieſus Chriſt, by whom are all things, and we by him.
7 But there is not in euery manne that knowledge: for ſome hauing conſcience of the idol vntill this houre, eate as a thing offered vnto idolles, and their conſcience being weake, is defyled. B 1. Cor. 8. g.

The. ix. Chapter.

1. He exhorteth them by his example to vse their libertie to the edification of other. 24. to runne on foorth in the course that they haue begunne.

I Actes. 11. a.

1 AM I not an apostle? am I not free? haue I not seene Iesus Christe our Lorde? Are not yee my worke in the Lord?
2 If I bee not an Apostle vnto other, yet doubtlesse am I vnto you: for the (a) seale of mine apostleship are yee in the Lorde.
3 Myne answere to them that aske me, is this,
4 Haue wee not power to eate and to drinke?
5 Haue we not power to leade about a (b) sister a woman, aswel as other apostles, and as the brethren of the Lord and Cephas.
6 Is the libertie of not labouring "taken from me and Barnabas onely?
7 Who goeth a warfare any time at his owne cost? who planteth a vineyarde, and eateth not of the fruite thereof? Or who feedeth a flocke, & eateth not of the mylke of the flocke?
8 Say I these things after the manner of men? or saith not the lawe the same also?
9 For it is writen in the lawe of Moyses, thou shalt not muzel the mouth of the ore that treadeth out the corne. Doth God take care for oxen?
10 Eyther saith he it not altogether for our sakes? For our sakes no doubte (this) is writen: that he whiche eareth, shoulde eare in hope: and that he whiche thresheth in hope, shoulde be partaker of his hope.
11 If we haue sowen vnto you spiritual things, is it a great thing if wee shall reape your carnal things.
12 If others be partakers of (their) power ouer you, (wherefore are) not we rather? Neuertheless, we haue not vsed this power: but suffer al thynges, lest we shoulde hinder the Gospel of Christ.
13 Doe yee not knowe that they whiche minister about holy things, eate of the things of the temple? and they whiche wayte at the aulter, are partakers with the aulter?
14 Euen so hath the Lorde ordeined, that they whiche preache the Gospel, shoulde liue of the Gospel.
15 But I haue vsed none of these things. Neuertheless, I wrote not these things, that it shoulde bee so done vnto me: for it were better for me to dye, than that any manne shoulde make my "reioycing vayne.
16 For if I preache the Gospel, I haue nothing to "reioyce of: for necessitie is layde vpon me. But wo is vnto me if I preache not the Gospel.
17 For if I do this thing with a good wil, I haue a rewarde: but if against my will, the (c) dispensation is committed vnto me.
18 What is my reward then? Verily that when I preache the Gospel, I may make the Gospel of Christ free, that I misuse not mine authoritie in the Gospel.
19 For though I be free, from al men, yet haue I made my selfe seruaunt vnto all men, that I might winne the more.
20 Unto the Iewes I become as a Iewe, that I might winne the Iewes: to them that are vnder the law, as vnder the law, that I might winne them that are vnder the lawe:
21 To them that are without law, as without law, (when I was not without lawe as pertayning to the law of god, but was in the law of Christ) that I might winne them that are without lawe.
22 To the weake became I as weake, that I might winne the weake: I am made all things to all men, that I might by all meanes saue some.
23 And this I doe for the Gospels sake, that I might be partaker thereof.
24 Knowe ye not that they whiche runne in a race, runne all, but one receiueth the reward? So runne that ye may obtaine.
25 Euery man that proueth maisteries, absteyneth from al things: and they (doe it) to obtayne a corruptible crowne, but we (to obtaine) an incorruptible (crowne.)

a. I neede no further declaration, but the workes that I haue wrought among you.
b. Or a sister, a wife. Saint Paul vseth none other word to expresse a wife than γυνὴ. valla, what needeth it to adde a woman where was promised a sister? wherfore I thinke (saith he) it ought to be translated a wife, specially bycause it is expressed in the singular number γυναῖκα. The old translation printed, transposeth the wordes, saying, Mulierem Sororem, where the most olde written copies cõstantly haue Sororem Mulierem, as al the Greke copies. ἀδελφὴν γυναῖκα. The.x. Chapter.

1. He feareth them with the examples of the Iewes, that they put not their trust carnally in the graces of God: 14. Exhorting them to flee all idolatrie. 23. and offence of their neyghbour.

I The Epistle in the .xv. Sunday after trinitie.

1 BRethren, I would not that ye shold bee ignorant, howe that all our fathers were vnder the cloude, and all passed thorowe the sea:

2 And were all baptised " vnto Moses in the cloude, and in the sea:

* That is into Moses lawe, as some reade. "or, as Saint Augustine readeth, by Moses.

3 And did al eate of the same (a) spiritual meate:

4 And did all drinke of the same spiritual drinke: (for they dranke of that spiritual rocke that followed them: and that rocke was (b) Christ.)

a. That is, Manna, which was the outwarde signe or sacrament of the spiritual grace. Math. 16. c

b. That is, signified Christ, as al sacramentes doo.

5 But in many of them hadde God no delight: for they were ouerthrowen in the wildernesse.

B Exod. 32. d.

6 These things verily are our ensamples, that we shoulde not be lusters after euill things, as they also lusted.

7 Neither be ye idolaters, as (were) some of them, as it is written, the people sate downe to eate and drinke, and rose vp to play.

"or, dyd commit fornication. Num. 13. c. Num. 21. b 8 Neither let vs commit fornication, as some of them committed " fornication, and fell in one day three and twentie thousande.

9 Neyther let vs tempt Christ, as some of them tempted, and were distroyed of serpentes.

10 Neither murmur ye, as some of them murmured, and were destroyed of the destroyer.

c. Howe God wil plague vs, if we be subiect to the like vices. Num. 14. c. 1. Cor. 1. b. 1. Thes. 5. d. 2. Pet. 2. d.

11 All these things happened vnto them for ensamples: but they are written (c) for our admonition vppon whom the endes of the worlde are come.

12 Wherfore let him that thinketh he stãdeth, take heede lest he fall.

13 There hath no temptation taken you but suche as followeth the nature of man: but God is faithful, which shall not suffer you to be tempted aboue that you are able: but shall with the temptation make away to escape, that yee may bee able to beare it.

C

14 Wherefore my dearely beloued, flee frō idolatrie.

15 I spake as vnto them whiche haue discretion: iudge ye what I say.

16 The cuppe of blessing whiche we blesse, is it not the partaking of the bloude of Christ? The bread whiche we breake, is it not the partaking of the bodye of Christ?

17 For we that are many, are one bread and one body, in as muche as we all are partakers of one bread.

18 Behold Israel (which is) after the flesh: are not they whiche eate of the sacrifices, partakers of the aulter?

1. Cor. 8. a.

19 What say I then? that the idol is any thing? or that it which is offered in sacrifice to idolles is any thing?

20 But (this I say) that the things which the Gentiles offer in sacrifice, they offer to deuils, and not to God: and I would not that ye should haue (d) felowship with the deuils.

d. Which is, to assemble in that company where idols are called vpon.

D

21 Ye can not drinke the cup of the Lord, and the cuppe of deuils: yee can not bee partakers of the Lordes table, and of the table of deuils.

22 Eyther doe we prouoke the Lord to anger? What, are we stronger than he?

23 Al thinges are lawful for me, but all thinges are not expedient, all thinges are lawful for me; but al things edifie not.

Psal. 24. a.

28 But if any man say vnto you, This is offered in sacrifice vnto idolles, eate not for his sake that shewed it, and for conscience sake. The earth is the Lordes, and the plentie thereof.

1. Cor. 8. b. e. We must take heede that throughout a buse, our libertie be not condemned.

29 Conscience I say, not of thine owne self, but of the other: for why is my (e) libertie iudged of another mans conscience?

1. Tim. 4. a Colo. 3. c.

30 For, if I by (Gods) benefite may bee partaker (of the gyftes of God,) why am

I euyl spoken of, for that wherfore I geue thankes?

31 Whether therefore ye eate or drynke, or what so euer ye doe, doe al to the glory of God:

32 See that ye geue none offence, neyther to the Iewes, nor yet to the Gretians, neyther to the Churche of God.

1. Cor. 9. d. 33 Euen as I please al men in all thyngs, not seekyng myne owne profite, but (the profite) of many, that they may be saued.

The. ix. Chapter.

1. He rebuketh the abuses whiche were crept into their Churche. 4. as touching prayer, prophesiyng. 18. and ministring the Lordes supper. 23. brynging them againe to the first institution thereof.

I 1 BE ye the folowers of me, euen as I (am) of Christ.

2 I commende you brethren, that ye remember al my "things, and keepe the ordinances, as I deliuered them to you.

"or, pleasa chings.

Gen. 2. d. Ephes. 5. c. 3 But I will that ye knowe, that Christ is the heade of euery man: and the man is the womans head, and God is Christes head.

4 Euery man praying or prophesying, hauing any thing on his head, shameth his head.

5 But euery woman that prayeth or prophesieth bare headed, dishonesteth hir head: for that is euen al one as if she were shauen.

Deut. 22. a. 6 If the woman be not couered, let hir also be shorne: if it be a shame for a woman to be shorne or shauen, let hir be couered.

B 7 A man ought not to couer his head, forasmuche as he is the image and glory of God: but the woman is the glory of the man.

Gene. 1. d. 8 For the man is not of the woman: but the woman of the man.

9 Neither was the man created for the woman: but the woman for the man,

a. Some thing to couer hir head, in signe of subiection. 10 For this cause ought the woman to haue (a) power on hir head, for the angels sakes.

11 Neuertheless, neither is the man without the woman, neither ỹ woman without the man, in the Lorde.

12 For as the woman is of the man, euen so is the man also by the woman, but all things of God.

13 Judge in your selues, whether it be comely that a woman pray vnto GOD bare headed?

14 Doeth not nature it selfe teache you, C that it is a shame for a man if he haue long heare?

15 But if a woman haue long heare, it is a prayse for hir: for hir heare is geuen hir for a couering.

16 If any man lust to striue, we haue no suche custome, neyther the Churches of God.

17 This I warne you of, and commende not that ye come togeather for the better, but for the worse. Epistle on Thursday next before Easter.

18 For first of al, when ye come togeather in the Churche, I heare that there be dissentions among you, and I partly beleeue it.

19 For there must be also heresies among you, that they which are "approued among you, myght be knowen. Mat. 18. a. "or, tryed.

20 When ye come togither therefore into one place, "you can not eate the Lordes supper. "or, this is not to eate.

21 For euery one preuenteth other, in eatyng his owne supper: and one is hungry and another is dronken. D

22 What, haue ye not houses to eate and to drynke in? Or dispyse ye the Churche of God, and shame them that haue not? What shal I say vnto you, shall I prayse you? in this I prayse you not.

23 That whiche I deliuered vnto you, I receyued of the Lorde, that the Lorde Iesus the same nyght in the which he was betrayed, toke bread:

24 And when he had gyuen thankes, he brake (it) and sayde, Take ye, eate ye, this is my body which is broken for you: this doe ye in the remembrance of me. Mat. 26. c. Mar. 14. b. Luke. 22. b.

25 After the same manner also (he tooke) the cuppe when he hadde supped, saying, This cuppe is the new Testament in my bloud: this doe ye as oft as ye drinke it, in remembrance of me.

26 For as often as ye eate this bread, and drinke this cuppe, ye doe shewe the Lords death til he come. Actes. 1. b. 1. Pet. 2. b.

27 Wherefore, who so euer shall eate this bread, and drinke this cuppe of the Lorde (b) vnworthyly, shall be gyltie of the body and bloud of the Lord. b. By peruerting the true and pure vse of the same.

28 But let a man examine him selfe, and so let him eate of this bread, and drinke of this cuppe. 2. Co. 11. b. Eccl. 18. c.

29 For he that eateth and drinketh vnworthyly, eateth and drinketh damnation vnto vnto him (c)selfe, making no difference of the Lordes body.

30 For this cause many are weake and sicke among you, and many sleepe.

31 For if we woulde iudge our selues, we should not be "iudged.

32 But when wee are "iudged, wee are "chastened of the Lorde, that we should not be damned with the world.

33 Wherefore my brethren, when ye come together, to eate, tarrie one for another.

34 If any man hunger, let him eate at home, that ye come not together vnto condemnation. The rest will I set in order when I come.

a. But although these holy misteries of the Lordes body & bloud were common meats, so with out reuerence he commeth to them.
"or, punished
"or, punished
"or, instructed

The.xij. Chapter.

1. The diuersitie of the gifts of the holy ghost, ought to be vsed to the edifying of Christes Church. 12. as the members of mans body serue to the vse one of another.

A The Epistle on the fourth sunday after Trinitie.

1 COncerning spirituall (giftes) brethren, I would not haue you ignorant.

2 Ye know that ye were Gentiles, carryed away vnto dumbe idols, euen as ye were (a)led.

a. By Satans suggestion.

3 Wherefore I declare vnto you, that no man speaking by the spirite of God, "defieth Iesus: also no man can say "that Iesus is the Lord, but by the holy ghost.

"or, calleth Iesus accursed.
"Some reade the Lord Iesus
Rom.12.a.

4 There are diuersities of giftes, but it is the selfe same spirite.

5 And there are differences of administrations, but it is the selfe same Lord.

6 And there are diuers manners of operations, but it is the selfe same God, whiche worketh all in all.

B 8 The manifestation of the spirit, is giuen to euery man to profite withall:

Ephe.4.b.

9 For to one is giuen by the spirit the word of wisdom, to another the word of knowledge by the same spirite:

9 To another (is giuen) fayth by the same spirite: to another the gyftes of healing by the same spirite:

10 To another power to (doe) myracles, to another (b) prophesie, to another discerning of spirites, to another diuers kyndes of tongs, to another the interpretation of tongs.

b. Meaning the declaratiō of Gods mysteries.
1.Iohn.4.b

11 But these all worketh euen that one and the selfe same spirite, diuiding to euerie man seuerally euen as he will.

Rom.12.a. Ephes.4.b.

12 For as the body is one, and hath many members, and all the members of that one body being many, are one body: euen so is Christ also.

13 For by one spirite are we all baptized into one body, whether (we be) Iewes or Gentiles, whether (we be) bonde or free: and haue all drunke of one spirite.

Esai.55.a.

14 For the body is not one member, but many.

C

15 If the foote doe say, Because I am not the hande, I am not of the body: is it therefore not of the body?

16 And if the eare doe say, Because I am not the eye, I am not of the body: is it therefore not of the body?

17 If al the body (were) an eye, where were then the hearing? If all (were) hearing, where were the smelling?

18 But nowe hath God set the members, euerie one of them seuerall in the body, as it hath pleased him.

19 If they were all one member, where were the body?

20 Now are there many members, yet but one body.

21 And the eye can not say vnto the hande, D
I haue no neede of thee: nor agayne the head to the feete, I haue no neede of you.

22 Yea rather a great deale those members of the body which seeme to be more (c) feeble, are necessarie,

c. Whose vse seemeth to be more vile.

23 And vpon those (members) of the bodye which we think to be lesse honourable, we owe (d) more honour: and our vncomely (partes) haue more comelynesse,

d. We are more carefull to couer them.

24 For our comely (members) neede it not: But God hath tempered the body together, hauing giuen the more honor to that (part) which lacked,

25 That there should be no strife in the body: but that the members should haue the same care one for another.

26 And if one member suffer, all the members suffer with it. If one member be honoured, all the members reioyce with it.

27 Ye are the body of Christ, and members (e) in part.

E

e. That is, euery one is a meber of the body of christ for his part.
Math.10.a. Luke.11.a. Ephes.4.c.

28 And God hathe ordeyned some in the Churche, first Apostles, secondarily Prophetes, thirdly Teachers, then them that do myracles: after that, the gyftes of healing, helpers, gouernours, "diuersities of tongs.

"or, kindes.

29 Are all, Apostles? are all, Prophetes? are all, Teachers? are all doers of myracles?

30 Haue all the giftes of healing? Doe all speake with tongs? Doe all interprete?

31 Couet after the best gifts: And yet shew I vnto you a more excellent way.

The.xiij. Chapter.

By cause loue is the fountaine and rule of edifying the Church, he setteth foorth the nature, office, and prayse thereof.

A The Epistle ex quinquagesima sunday.

1 Though * I speake with the tongs of men and of (a) angels, and haue not charitie, I am (as) sounding brasse, or (as) a tinckling Cymball.

a. If the angels had tonges, & I had the vse therof, & did not bestowe them to profite my neighbour, it were nothing but vain babbling. Luke.17.a.

2 And though I haue prophesie, and vnderstand all secrets, and all knowledge: Yea, if I haue all fayth, so that I can remoue mountaynes, and haue not charitie, I am nothing.

3 And though I bestowe all my goodes to feede the poze, and though I giue my body that I should be burned, and haue not charitie, it profiteth me nothing.

4 Charitie suffereth long, and is curteous: Charitie enuieth not, charitie doth not frowardly, " swelleth not,

" or, is not puft vp. 1 Cor.10.c. Philip.2.a.

5 Dealeth not dishonestly, seeketh not hir owne, is not bitter, thinketh not euill,

6 Reioyceth not in iniquitie, but reioyceth in the truth:

B 7 Suffereth al things, believeth al things, hopeth all things, endureth all things.

8 Though that prophesying fayle, either tongs cease, or knowledge vanish away, (yet) charitie falleth neuer away.

9 For our knowledge is " vnperfecte, and our prophesying is vnperfect:

" or, in part.

10 But when that which is perfect is come, then that which is vnperfect shall be done away.

11 When I was a child, I spake as a child, I vnderstoode as a childe, I imagined as a childe: but as sone as I was a man, I put away childishnesse.

b. The mysteries of God

12 Nowe we see in a (b) glasse, euen in a darke speaking: but then (shall we see) face to face. Now I know vnperfectly: but then shall I know, euen as I am knowne.

13 Now abydeth fayth, hope, and charitie, these three, but the chief of these is charitie.

The.xiiij. Chapter.

1. He exhorteth to charitie, commendeth the gift of tongs, and other spirituall giftes. 5. But chiefly prophesying. 34. He commaundeth women to keepe silence in the Church. 40. And sheweth what good order ought to be obserued in the Church.

A 1 Followe after charitie, and couet spirituall (giftes:) but most chiefly that ye may prophesie.

2 For he that speaketh with (an vnknowne) tong, speaketh not vnto men, but vnto God: For no man (a) heareth (him:) Howbeit, in the spirite he speaketh mysteries.

a. Vnderstandeth him.

3 But hee that prophesieth, speaketh vnto men to edifying, and exhortation, and comfort.

4 Hee that speaketh with (an vnknowne) tong, edifieth him selfe: but he that prophesieth, edifieth the Church.

Rom.12.d. Num.11.g.

5 I would that ye al spake with (b) tongs, but rather that ye prophesyed: For greater is hee that prophesyeth, than hee that speaketh with tongues, except hee expounde it, that the Churche may receyue edifying.

b. Tong in this place and such like, signifieth not the instrumēt that we speak with but prophesie of some language that the hearer vnderstandeth not, without an interpreter.

6 Now brethren, if I come vnto you speaking with tongs, what shall I profite you, except I shall speake to you either by reuelation, or by knowledge, or by prophesying, or by doctrine?

7 And euen things without lyfe giuing sound, Whether (it be) a Pipe or an Harp, except they giue a distinction in the soundes, howe shall it be knowne what is pyped or harped?

B

8 For if the trumpe giue an vncertain sound, who shall be prepared to the warre?

9 So likewise you, except ye vtter wordes by the tong easie to be vnderstoode, howe shall it be knowne what is spoken? For ye shall speake into the (c) ayre.

c. Your words shal be lost, for ye shal neither glorifie God thereby, nor profite man.

10 There are happyly so many kyndes of voyces in the worlde, and none (of them) are without signification.

11 Therefore if I knowe not the meaning of the voyce, I shal be vnto him that speaketh an aliant, and hee that speaketh shall be an aliant vnto me.

12 Euen so ye, for as much as ye couet spirituall (giftes) seeke that ye may excell, vnto the edifying of the Church.

13 Wherefore, let him that speaketh with tong, pray that he may interprete.

14 For if I pray with (an vnknowne) tong, my spirite prayeth, but my vnderstanding is vnfruitfull.

C

15 What is it then? I will praye with the spirite, and will pray with the vnderstanding also: I will (d) sing with the spirite, & will sing with the vnderstanding also.

d. Or, giue thankes by singing.

16 For when thou shalt blesse with the spirit, how shall he that " occupyeth the rome of the vnlearned say Amen, at thy giuing of thankes, seeing hee vnderstandeth not what thou sayest?

" or, fylleth.

17 Thou veryly giuest thankes well: but the other is not edified.

18 I

18 I thanke my God, I speake with tongs more than ye all.

19 Yet had I rather in the Church to speak fiue wordes with my vnderstanding, that by my voyce I may teach other also, than tenne thousande wordes in (an vnknowne) tong.

20 Brethren, be not children in vnderstanding: howbe it, as concerning naughtinesse be ye children, but in vnderstanding be perfect.

Esai.28.c. 21 In the lawe it is written, With (men of) sundry tongs and sundry lippes will I speake vnto this people: and yet for all that will they not heare me, sayth the Lorde.

22 Wherefore tongs are for a signe, not to them that beleeue, but to them that beleeue not: But prophesying (serueth) not for them that beleeue not, but for them whiche beleeue.

23 If therefore all the Churche be come together into one place, and all speake with tongs, and there come in they that are vnlearned, or they which beleeue not, will they not say that ye are madde?

24 But if all prophesie, and there come in one y beleeueth not, or one vnlearned: he is rebuked of all men, he is iudged of al men.

25 And so are the secretes of his heart made manifest, and so hauing falne down on his face, he will worshippe God, saying that God is in you of a truth.

26 How is it then brethren? When ye come together, euery one of you hath a Psalme, hath a doctrine, hath a tong, hath a reuelation, hath interpretation: Let all things be done vnto edifying.

E 27 If any man speake with tong, let it be by two, or at the most by three, and that by course, and let one interprete.

28 But if there be no interpreter, let him keepe silence in the Churche, and let hym speake to him selfe, and to God.

29 Let the Prophetes speake two or three, and let the other iudge.

30 If any reuelation be made to another that sitteth by, let the first holde his peace.

1.John.4.a 31 For ye may all prophesie one by one, that al may learne, and all may be comforted.

d. That is, the doctrine that they do bring, as being put in mynde by the spirite of God. 32 And the (d) spirites of the prophetes are subiect to the prophetes.

Rom.15.g. 33 For God is not (the authour) of confusion, but of peace, as in all Churches of the Saintes.

1.Tim.2.a. 34 Let your women keepe silence in the Churches: for it is not permitted vnto them to speake, but (they are commaunded) to be vnder obedience, as also sayth the lawe.

Gene.3.c. 35 If they will learne any thing, let them aske their husbandes at home: for it is a shame for women to speake in the Church.

1.Cor.11.a. 36 Spring the worde of God from you? eyther came it vnto you only?

37 If any man thinke him selfe to be a prophete, eyther spirituall, let him know that the things that I write vnto you, are the commaundements of the Lord. F

38 But if any man be ignorant, let him be ignorant.

39 Wherefore brethren, couet to prophesie, and forbid not to speake with tongs.

40 Let all things be done honestly, and in order.

The.xv. Chapter.

1. Hee proueth the resurrection of the deade. 3. and first that Christ is risen. 12. then, that we shall rise. 52. and the manner how.

1 MOreouer brethren, I declare vnto you, the Gospell whiche I preached vnto you, which also ye haue receyued, and wherein ye haue "continued, I "or, stande.

2 By the which also ye are saued, if ye kepe the doctrine whiche I preached vnto you, except ye haue beleeued in vayne.

3 For I deliuered vnto you first of all, that which also I (a) receyued, how that Christ died for our sinnes, according to the scriptures: a. He meeneth that nothing ought to be taught, which we haue not learned by Gods word.

4 And that he was buryed, and that he arose the third day according to the scriptures: Mat.28.b.

5 And that he was seene of Cephas, then of the twelue: John.20.a.

6 After that he was seene of more than fiue hundred brethren at once: of whiche, the more part remayne vnto this daye, and some are falne asleepe. Luke.24.b.

7 And after that he was seene of James, B then of all the Apostles.

8 And last of all he was seene of me, as of one borne out of due time.

9 For I am the least of the Apostles, which am not worthie to bee called an Apostle, bicause I persecuted the Church of God. Actes.3.a. Gala.2.c.

10 But by the grace of God, I am that I am, and his grace which is in me, was not vayne: But I laboured more abundantly than they all, yet not I, but the grace of God which is with me.

11 Therefore, whether it were I or they, so we preach, and so haue ye beleeued.

12 If

12 If Christe be preached how that he arose from the dead: how say some among you, that there is no resurrection of the dead?

13 If there be no rysing of the dead, then is Christ not rysen.

14 If Christ be not rysen, then is our preaching vaine, & your faith is also (b) vaine.

15 Yea, and we are founde false witnesses of God, because we have testified of God, how that he rayled vp Christe: whom he raised not vp, if so be that the dead rise not.

16 For if the deade ryse not, then is not Christ rysen.

17 If it be so that Christ is not rysen, then is your faith vayne, ye are yet in youre sinnes.

18 But also they which are fallen a sleepe in Christe, are perished.

19 If in this life onely we have hope in Christe, then are we of all men most myserable.

20 But now is Christ rysen from the dead, he is become the first (c) fruits of them that slept.

21 For since by man came death, euen so by man came the resurrection of the deade.

22 For as "by Adam all dye, euen so "by Christ shall all (a) be made alive, 23 But euerie man in his own order. The first fruites (is) Christ, afterward, they that are Christes at his comming.

24 Then (commeth) the ende, when he shall have deliuered vp the kingdome to God the father, when he shall have put downe all rule, and all authoritie, and power.

25 For he must raigne tyll he shall have put all his enimies vnder his feete.

26 The last enimie that shall be destroyed, (is) death.

27 For he hath put downe all things vnder his feete: But when he sayth, All things are put vnder him, it is manifest that he is accepted whiche did put all things vnder him.

28 When all things shall be subdued vnto him, then shall the sonne also him selfe be subiect vnto him that put all things vnder him, that God may be all in all.

29 Else what shall they doe which are baptized for the deade, if the deade ryse not at all? Why are they then baptized for the deade?

30 And why stande we in iespardie euerie houre?

31 (I protest) by our reioycing which I have in Christ Jesus our Lord, I dye dayly.

32 If I have fought with beastes at Ephesus after the (e) manner of men, what aduantageth it me, if the deade ryse not? Let vs eate and drinke, for to morrow we dye.

33 Be ye not deceyued: Euill words corrupt good maners.

34 Awake to righteousnesse, and sinne not: for some have not the knowledge of God, I speake this to your shame.

35 But some man will say, Howe are the dead raised vp? With what body do they come?

36 Thou fowle, that which thou sowest, is not quickened, except it dye.

37 And that which thou sowest, thou sowest not that bodye that shall be, but bare corne, it may chance of wheate, or of some other (corne.)

38 But God gyueth it a bodie, as it hath pleased him, and to euerie seede his owne body.

39 All flesh, is not "the same flesh, but there is one (manner of) flesh of men, another flesh of beastes, another of fishes, and another of byrdes.

40 There are also celestiall bodies, and bodies terrestriall: But the glorie of the celestiall is one, and (the glorie) of the terrestriall another.

41 There is one glory of the (f) Sunne, and another glory of the Mone, and another glory of the Starres: For (one) starre differeth from (another) starre in glorie.

42 So is the resurrection of the deade, it is sowen in corruption, it ryseth in incorruption.

43 It is sowen in (g) dishonour, is ryseth in honour. It is sowen in weakenesse, it ryseth in power.

44 It is sowen a naturall body, it ryseth a spirituall body: There is a naturall body, and there is a spirituall body.

45 And so it is also written: The first man Adam was made a lyuing soule, and the last Adã was made a quickning spirit.

46 Howbeit, that is not first which is spirituall, but that (which is) naturall, and then that (which is) spirituall.

47 The first man (is) of the earth, earthy: the second man (is) the Lord from heauen.

48 As is the earthy, such (are) they that are earthy: And as is the heauenly, such (are) they also that are heauenly.

49 And as we have borne the image of the earthy, we shall also beare the image of the heauenly.

50 This say I brethren, that flesh and bloud can not inherite the kingdome of God: neyther dothe corruption inherite incorruption.

51 Beholde, I shewe you a mysterie. We shall

The seconde Epistle of Saint Paule the Apostle, to the Corinthians.

¶ The first Chapter.

4. He declareth the great profit that commeth to the faythfull by their afflictions. 15. 17. And bycause they should not impute to lightnesse that he deferred his comming contrary to his promise, he proueth his constancie, both by the sincerities of his preaching, and also by the immutable truth of the Gospell, 21. which truth is grounded on Christ, and sealed in our hearts by the holy ghost.

A 1 PAule an Apostle of Iesu Christe, by the will of God, and brother Timotheus, vnto the Churche of God, which is at Corinthus, with all the saintes which are in all Achaia:

1. He sheweth his loue towards thē.7. requiring likewise that they would be fauourable to the incestuous adulterer, seing he did repent. 14. he also reioyceth in God for the efficacie of his doctrine. 17. confuting therby such quarell pickers, kers, as vnder pretence of speaking against his person, sought nothing but the ouerthrow of his doctrine.

I 1 BVt I determined this in my self, that I would not come agayne to you in heauinesse.

2 For if I make you sory, who is he that maketh me gladde, but the same whiche is made (a) sory by me?

a. Which was giuen to Satan, but nowe doth repent.

3 And I wrote this same vnto you, leaste when I came, I should take heauinesse of them of whom I ought to reioyce, hauing confidence in you all, that my ioy, is (the ioy) of you all.

4 For in great affliction and anguishe of hart, I wrote vnto you with many teares: not that ye shoulde be made sorry, but that ye might perceiue the loue whiche I haue most aboundantly vnto you.

5 But if any man hath caused sorrowe, the same hath not made me sory, but partly, leaste I should ouer greeue you all.

1. Cor. 5. b. 6 It is sufficient vnto the same man that he was rebuked of many.

B 7 So that nowe contrariwise ye ought rather to forgiue him, and comfort him, leaste that same (person) should be swalowed vp with ouermuch heauinesse.

8 Wherefore, I pray you that you woulde confirme your loue towardes him.

9 For to this ende also did I write, that I might knowe the proufe of you, whether ye be obedient in all things.

12 Furthermore, when I came to Troada, to (preach) Christes Gospell, and a dore was opened vnto me of the Lord,

c. Moses shewed the lawe as it was couered with shadowes, so that the Iewes eyes were not lightned, but blinded, and so could not come to Christ, who was the ende thereof. Again, the Gospell setteth foorth the glory of God clearely, not couering our eyes, but dryuing the darknesse away frō them.

7 For we walke by fayth, not after outwarde appearance.)

8 Neuertheleſſe, we are of good comfort, and had rather to be abſent from the bodye, and to be preſent with the Lorde.

9 Wherefore, whether we be at home, or from home, wee endeuour oure ſelues to bee accepted vnto him.

10 For we muſt all appeare before the iudgement ſeate of Chriſte, that euery man may receyue the workes of his bodie, according to that he hathe done, whether it bee good or badde.

11 Knowing therfore the feare of the Lorde, wee perſwade men, for wee are (b) knowen well inough vnto God: I truſte alſo that we are knowne in your conſciences.

12 For we commende not our ſelues againe vnto you, but giue you an occaſion to glorie on our behalfe, that ye maye haue ſomewhat againſt them which glorie in the face, and not in the heart.

13 For (c) if we be to feruent, to God are we (to feruent:) Or if wee keepe meaſure, for your cauſe (kepe we meaſure.)

14 For the loue of Chriſte conſtrayneth vs, bicauſe we thus iudge, that if one dyed for all, then were all dead.

15 And he dyed for all, that they which liue, ſhould not henceforth liue vnto themſelues, but vnto hym whiche dyed for them, and roſe againe.

16 Wherfore henceforth know we no man after the (d) fleſhe: inſomuche though we haue knowne Chriſt after the fleſh, now yet henceforth knowe we him no more.

17 Therfore if any man (be) in Chriſte, he is a newe creature: Olde things are paſſed away, behold, all things are become newe.

18 And all things are of God, which hath reconciled vs vnto himſelfe by Ieſus Chriſte, and hathe giuen to vs the miniſterie of reconciliation.

19 For God was in Chriſte, reconciling the worlde to himſelfe not imputing their ſinnes vnto them, and hathe committed to vs the preaching of the attonement.

20 Now then are we meſſengers for Chriſte, euen as though god did beſeech you through vs: (ſo) pray we you in Chriſts ſtede, that ye be reconciled vnto God.

21 For he hath made hym to be ſynne for vs, whiche knewe no ſinne, that we ſhoulde be made the righteouſneſſe of God in him.

The.vi. Chapter.

1. An exhortation to chriſtian lyfe. 11. and to beare hym lyke affection as hee doeth them. 16. alſo to keepe themſelues from pollution of idolatrie both in body and ſoule, and to haue none acquaintaunce with the heathen.

1 WE alſo as helpers (to him) exhorte you, that ye receyue not the grace of God in vayne.

2 (For he ſayth, I haue hearde thee in a tyme accepted, and in the daye of ſaluation haue I ſuccoured thee: Behold, now is that (a) accepted tyme, behold, now is that daye of ſaluation,)

3 Giuing no offence in any thing, that the miniſterie be not blamed:

4 But in all things behauing our ſelues as the miniſters of God, in muche patience, in afflictions, in neceſſities, in anguiſches.

5 In ſtripes, in priſonmentes, in ſtryfes, in labours, in watchings, in faſtings.

6 By pureneſſe, by knowledge, by long ſuffering, by kyndneſſe, by the holy ghoſte, by loue vnfaigned:

7 By the worde of truthe, by the power of God, by the armour of righteouſneſſe, of the right hande and on the left.

8 By honoure and diſhonour, by euill reporte and good reporte, as deceyuers, and (yet) true.

9 As vnknowen, and (yet) knowen: as dying, and beholde we liue: as chaſtened, and not killed:

10 As ſorrowing, and yet alway merie: as poore, and yet making many riche: as hauing nothing, and yet poſſeſſing all things.

11 O ye Corinthians, our (b) mouth is open vnto you, our hearte is enlarged.

12 Ye are not preſſed into a narow rowme in vs, but are preſſed into a narrowe rowme in your owne bowels.

13 Nowe for the ſame recompence, (I ſpeake as vnto (my) children) be ye (c) alſo enlarged.

14 And "beare not ye the yoke together with the vnbeleeuers. For what fellowſhippe hathe ryghteouſneſſe wyth vnryghteouſneſſe? or what communion hath light with darkneſſe?

15 Or what concorde hath Chriſte with Beliall? either what parte hath he that beleeueth with an infidell?

16 Or what agreemente the temple of God with idolls? For yee are the temple of the liuing God, as ſayde God, I will dwell in them, and walke (in them,) and will bee their God, and they ſhall be my people.

17 Wherefore come out from among them, and be ye ſeparated (from them) (ſayeth the Lord) and touche none vncleane thing, and I will receyue you.

Acres. 16. c.

5 For when we were come into Macedonia, our flesshe hadde no reste, but we were troubled on euery side: without were fightings, within were feares.

2. Cor. 1. a.

6 Neuertheless, God that comforteth the humble, comforted vs by the commyng of Titus.

B 7 And not by his comming onely, but also by the consolation which he receiued of you, when he told vs your vehement desyre, your weeping, your feruent mynde toward me: so that I reioyced the more.

4 For though I made you sorie with a letter, I repent not, though I did repent: for I perceyue that the same Epistle made you sorie, though it were but for a season.

9 I now reioyce: not that ye were made sorie, but that ye were made sory to repentāce: for ye were made sorie to Godward, that in nothing ye might be hurt by vs.

10 For godly sorow, causeth repentance vnto saluation, not to be repented of: but the sorowe of the worlde causeth death.

Eccl. 30. c.

The. viij. Chapter.

1. By the example of the Macedonians, 9. and Christe, he exhorteth them to continue in releeuyng the poore saincles, commendyng theyr good beginning. 23. After he commendeth Titus and his fellowes vnto them.

A 1 MOreouer we doe you to wit brethren, of the grace of God, whiche was giuen in the churches of Macedonia.

2 Howe that in muche triall of affliction their ioy abounded, & their depe powertie abounded into the riches of their liberalitie.

3 For to their power (I beare them recorde) yea and beyonde their powers, they (were) willing of themselues:

4 Praying vs with great instance, that wee wold receiue this (a) grace and societie of the ministerie which is toward the Saintes,

a. Grace here signifyeth beneuolence or almes.

5 (And this they did) not as wee looked for: but gaue their own selues first to the Lord, and (after) vnto vs by the will of God.

6 That we should desire Titus to accomplish the same grace among you also, euen as he had begunne.

B 7 Now therfore as you are plenteous in all things, in faith, and in word, and in knowledge, and in all feruentnesse, and in loue whiche ye haue to vs: euen so, see that ye be plenteous in this grace also.

8 This say I not by commaundement, but bicause of the feruentnesse of "other, and proning the vnfaynednesse of your loue.

"or, reader, by thyough the feruentnesse of other, prouoking also the perfection of your loue. Rom. 10. d.

9 For ye knowe the grace of our Lord Iesus Christ, that though he was rich, yet for your sakes hee became powre, that ye thorowe his powertie, might be made riche.

10 And

10 And I giue counsel herein: for this is expedient for you, which haue begun not to dw onely, but also to wyll a yeere agoe.

11 Nowe therefore perfourme to dw(it) also: that as there (appeared in you) a readynesse to will, euen so there may appeare a readines to perfourme, of that which ye haue.

12 For if there be first a willyng minde, it is accepted accordyng to that a man hath, and not accordyng to that he hath not.

13 Truly, not that other be set at ease, and you burdened:

14 But of lyke condition nowe at this tyme your abundance (supplieth) their wante, that their abundãce also may supply your want, that there may be equalitie:

15 As it is writen, He that (had gathered) much, had nothyng ouer, and he that (had gathered) litle, had no lacke.

16 Thanks be vnto God, which put the same earnest care for you in the hart of Titus, 17 Because he accepted the exhortation: and beyng the more carefull, came of his owne accorde vnto you.

18 We haue sent with hym that brother (b) whose prayse is in the Gospell thorowout al the Churches:

19 (And not that onely, but hee was also chosen of the Churches to be a felowe with vs in our iourney, concernyng this "grace, that is ministred by vs vnto the glory of the same Lorde, and (declaration) of your ready minde,)

20 Eschewyng this, that any man should rebuke vs in this plentrous distribution that is ministred by vs:

21 Makyng prouision for (c) honest thyngs, not onely in the sight of the Lorde, but also in the sight of men.

22 We haue sent with them a brother of ours, whom we haue oftentymes proued diligent in many thyngs, but now much more diligent, for the great confidence "(whiche I haue) in you:

23 Whether (any do enquyre) of Titus, he is my felow and helper concernyng you: or of other whiche are our brethren, they are the messengers of the Churches, (and) the glory of Chryst.

24 Wherfore, shewe ye vnto them the proofe of your loue, and of our boastyng on your behalf in the sight of the churches.

The.ix. Chapter.

3. The cause of Titus and his companions coming to them. 6. He exhorteth to gyue almes cheerefully, 7. shewyng what fruytes will come therof.

1 For of the ministring to the saints, it is superfluous for me to write vnto you:

2 For I know the readinesse of your mind, whereof I boast on your behalfe vnto them of Macedonia, that Achaia was prepared a yeere agoe: and "your zeale hath prouoked many.

3 Yet haue I sent the brethren, lest our boasting of you should be in vaine in this behalf, that (as I haue sayde) ye may be prepared.

4 Least happily if they of Macedonia come with me, and finde you vnprepared, we (I will not say you) shoulde be ashamed in this boldenesse of boastyng.

5 Therefore I thought it necessarie to exhort the brethren, that they would come before vnto you, and prepare your forepromysed beneficence, that it might be ready as a beneficence, and (a) not as an extortion.

6 This yet (I say) he which sowed sparingly, shall reape sparingly: and he that sowyth bountifully, shall reape bountifully.

7 Euery man accordyng as hee purposeth in hys hart, so let hym gyue, not grudgingly, or of necessitie: for God loueth a chearefull gyuer.

8 God is able to make you plentifull in all grace, that ye in all thyngs hauyng alwayes sufficient vnto the vttermost, may be plentifull in euery good worke:

9 As it is written, He hath (b) dispersed abrode, he hath giuen to the poore, hys righteousnesse remayneth for euer.

10 Moreouer (I beseech him) that ministreth seede vnto the sower, to minister bread also for foode, and to multiply your seede, and to encrease the fruites of your righteousnesse:

11 That in all thyngs ye may be made ryche vnto all bountifulnesse, which causeth through vs thanks giuing vnto God.

12 For the administration of thys seruice, not onely supplieth the want of the saints: but also is abundant by the thanks gyuing of many vnto God,

13 (Whyles by the experiment of this ministration, they glorifie God for the obedience of your confessyng to the Gospell of Chryst, and for your liberal distribution to them, and to all men:)

14 And by their prayers for you, which "long after you for the abundant grace of God in you.

obedience: 11. and sheweth what his power is, 13. and how he vseth it.

I 1 I Paul my self beseche you by the meekenesse and gentlenesse of Christ, which in presence am lowely among you: but am bolde towardes you beyng absent.

2 I beseeche you that I may not (neede) to be bolde when I am present, with that same boldenesse, wherewith " I am supposed to haue bene bolde agaynst some, whiche repute vs as though we walked accordyng to the flesshe.

" Or, wherewith I meane to be bolde.

Ephes. 6. c

4 (For the weapons of our warfare are not carnal, but mightie through God, to the ouerthrowyng of strong holdes,)

5 Wherewith wee ouerthrowe counsels, and euery hygh thyng that is exalted against the knowledge of God, and bryng into captiuitie all imagination to the obedience of Christe:

6 And hauing in a readinesse wherewith to take vengeance on all disobedience, when your obedience is fulfilled.

B 7 Loke ye on things after the vtter appearance? If any man trust in himselfe that he is Christes, let him consider this agayne of himselfe, that as he (is) of Christ, euen so (are) we of Christ.

8 For though I shoulde boast somewhat more of our authoritie, which the Lord hath giuen to vs for edification, and not for your destruction, I should not be ashamed.

2. Cor. 13. c

9 Least I shoulde seeme as it were to make you afrayde by letters.

a. Meanyng a certaine man among them, whiche thus spake of Paul.

10 For the letters (a) (sayth he) are sore and strong: but (his) bodily presence is weake, and his speache nothyng worth.

11 Let hym that is suche a one, thynke on this wise, that as we are in word by letters when we are absent, such also are we in deede when we are present.

12 For we dare not number or compare our selues with certayne whiche prayse themselues: neuertheless, whyle they measure themselues with themselues, and compare themselues with themselues, they vnderstand not.

13 But wee wyll not boast aboue measure: but accordyng to the (b) measure of the rule which God hath distributed vnto vs, a measure to reache euen vnto you.

b. That is, the giftes and vocatiō which God had giuen him to winne others by.

14 For we stretche not out our selues beyond measure, as though wee reached not vnto you: For euen to you also haue wee come with the Gospel of Christ:

C

15 Not boasting our selues out of measure in other mens labours: but hoping when your fayth is encreased, to be magnified amōg you according to our measure abundantly,

16 That I may preache the Gospell in those (regions) which (are) beyonde you: and not glory of those things which by another mās measure are prepared already.

17 But lette him that glorieth, glory in the Lorde.

18 For he that commendeth himselfe, is not alowed, but whom the Lord commendeth.

The. xi. Chapter.

I 1 WOuld to God ye coulde suffer a litle (my) foolishnesse, & in deede suffer me.

2 For I am gealous ouer you with godly gealousie: For I haue coupled you to one man, to present (you) a chaste virgin vnto Christ.

3 But I feare least by any meanes, that as the serpent beguyled Eue through his subtiltie, euen so your myndes shoulde be corrupted from the singlenesse that is towarde Christ.

Gen. 3. d

4 For if he that commeth, preacheth another (a) Iesus, whom we haue not preached: or if ye receyue another spirite whom yee haue not receyued: eyther another Gospel which ye haue not receyued, you would well haue suffered (him.)

a. That is more perfect doctrine concerning Christ Iesus.

5 Verily, I suppose that I was not behinde the chiefe Apostles.

6 But though (I be) rude in speakyng, yet not in knowledge: but in al thyngs among you we haue bene well knowen to the vttermost.

7 Haue I committed an offence because I submitted my selfe, that ye might be exalted, because I preached to you the Gospel of God freely?

B

8 I robbed other Churches, takyng wages of them, to do you service.

9 And when I was present with you, and had neede, I was chargeable to no man by my idlenesse: for that whiche was lackyng vnto me, the brethren which came from Macedonia supplied: and in all things I haue kept my selfe not chargeable to you, and (so) will I keepe my selfe.

2. Cor. 11. b

10 (b) The trueth of Christ is in me, that this boasting shall not be shut vp against me in the regions of Achaia.

b. Let not truth of Christ be thought to be in me, if I suffer my glory to be shut vp, whiche I haue conceyued of Greece.

11 Wher-

11 Wherfore? bycause I love not you? God knoweth.

12 But what I do, that will I do, that I may cut away occasion from them which desyre occasion: that they myght bee founde lyke vnto vs in that wherein they glorie.

13 For suche false Apostles, are deceytful workers, transfourmed into the Apostles of Christe.

14 And no maruayle: for Satan himselfe is transformed into an angell of lyght.

15 Therfore it is no greate thing if that his ministers also be transformed as the ministers of righteousnesse: whose ende shall be according to their workes.

16 I say agayne, Let no man thinke that I am foolishe: or else euen nowe take ye mee as a foole, that I also maye boaste my selfe a little.

17 That I speake, I speake it not after the (c) Lorde: but as it were foolishly in this boldnesse of boasting.

18 Seing that many glorie after the flesshe, I will glorie also.

19 For ye suffer fooles gladly, seeing ye your selues are wyse.

20 For ye suffer, if a manne bring you into bondage, if a man deuoure, if a man take, if a man exalte himselfe, if a man smyte you on the face.

21 I speake concerning reproche as thoughe we had bin weake: howbeit, wherin soeuer any man is bolde (I speake foolishly) I am bolde also.

22 They are Hebrues, euen so (am) I: they are Israelites, euen so (am) I: they are the seede of Abraham, euen so (am) I:

23 They are the ministers of Christ (I speake as a foole) I am more: in labours more abundantly, in stripes aboue measure, in prison more plentuously, in deaths (d) oft.

24 Of the Iewes fiue tymes receyued I forty (stripes) saue one.

25 Thrice was I beaten with roddes, once stoned, thrice I suffered shipwracke, a night and a day haue I bin in the deapth.

26 In iourneying often, in perils of waters, in perilles of robbers, in perilles of myne owne nation, in perils among the heathen, in perils in the citie, in perilles in the wyldernesse, in perils in the sea, in perils among false brethren.

27 In labour and trauaile, in watchings often, in hunger and thirste, in fastings often, in colde and nakednesse, 28 Beside the thinges whiche outwardely (come) vnto me: the trouble which priuily conspireth against me dayly (is) the care of al the Churches.

29 Who is weake, and I am not weake? who is offended, and I burne not? 1. Cor. 9. d.

30 If I must needes glorie, I will glorie of things that concerne mine infirmities.

31 The God and father of our Lorde Iesus Christ, which is blessed for euermore, knoweth that I lye not.

32 In (the citie of) Damascus the gouernour of the people appointed by king Aretas, layde wayte in the citie of the Damascens, desyrous to haue caught me.

The. xij. Chapter.

1. Hee reioyceth in preferment, 5. but chiefly in his humblenesse. 11. and layeth the cause of his boasting vppon the Corinthians. 14. Hee sheweth what good will hee beareth them. 20. and promyseth to come vnto them.

1 IT is not expedient doubtlesse for mee I to glorie, I will come to visions and reuelations of the Lorde.

2 For I knowe a man in (e) Christe aboue fourteene yeares ago, (whether in the body I can not tell: or whether out of the body I can not tell, God knoweth) taken vp into the third (f) heauen:

4 How that he was taken vp into (g) paradise, and heard vnspeakable wordes, which is not lawfull for man to vtter.

5 Of suche (a man) will I glorie, yet of my selfe will I not glorye, but in myne infirmities.

6 For though I would desire to glorie (of them) I shall not be a foole, for I will saye the trueth: but I nowe refrayne, least any man should thinke of me aboue (that) which he seeth me (to be) or (that) he heareth of me.

7 And least I should be exalted out of measure thorough the abundance of the reuelations, there was giuen vnto me a pricke to the flesshe, the messenger of Satan to buffet me, bycause I should not be exalted out of measure. B John. 2. b.

The second Epistle to the Corinthians, was written from Philippos (a citie) of Macedonia, by Titus and Lucas.

¶ The Epiſtle of the Apoſtle Saint Paul, to the Galathians.

¶ The firſt Chapter.

6. Paul rebuketh their inconſtancie, which ſuffered themſelues to be ſeduced by the falſe apoſtles, who preached that the obſeruation of the ceremonies of the law were neceſſary to ſaluatiō. 8. and deteſteth them that preach any otherwyſe than Chriſt purely. 13. He ſheweth his owne conuerſation, magnifieth his office and apoſtleſhyp, and declareth himſelf to be equal with the chiefe apoſtles.

A 1 Aule an Apoſtle not of men, neyther by man, but by Jeſus Chriſte, and by God the father, whiche rayſed hym vp from the dead:

2 And al the brethren whiche are with mee, vnto the Churches of Galatia.

Rom.1.a 3 Grace (be) with you, and peace from God
1.Cor.1.a the father, and from our Lord Jeſus Chriſt:
2.Cor.1.a 4 Whiche gaue hymſelfe for our ſinnes,
a. Which is the corrupt life of mā without Chriſt. to delyuer vs from this (a) preſente euyll worlde, accordyng to the will of God, and our father:

5 To whom (be) glory for euer and euer, Amen,

6 I marueyle that yee are ſo ſone turned from hym that had called you in the grace of Chriſte, vnto another Goſpel:

B 7 Whiche is not another (Goſpel) but that Actes.15.g there be ſome which trouble you, and intende to peruert the Goſpel of Chriſte.

8 Neuertheleſſe though wee, or an Angel from heauen, preache any other Goſpel vnto you, than that which we haue preached vnto you, let hym be accurſed.

9 As we ſayd before, ſo ſay I now againe, If any man preache any other Goſpel vnto you, than (that) ye haue receyued, let him be accurſed.

John.13.d 10 Do I nowe perſwade men, or God? eyther do I ſeeke to pleaſe menne? For if I yet pleaſed menne, I ſhoulde not be the ſeruant of Chriſt.

11 I certifie you brethren, that the Goſpel whiche was preached of mee, is not after man.

12 For I neyther receyued it of man, neyther was I taught (it:) but by the reuelation of Jeſus Chriſt.

13 For ye haue heard of my conuerſation in tyme paſt, in the Jewes religion, (how) that beyonde meaſure I perſecuted the Churche
Actes.8.a of God, and ſpoyled it:

14 And profited in the Jewes religion aboue many of my "companions in myne owne nation, beyng a very feruent maynteyner of the (b) traditions of my fathers.

15 But when it pleaſed God, whiche ſeparated me from my mothers wombe, and called (me) by his grace,

16 To reueale his ſonne by me, that I ſhould by the Goſpel preache hym among the Heathen: immediatly I communed not with (c) fleſhe and bloud:

17 Neyther went I vp to Hieruſalem, to them which (were) Apoſtles before me: but went my wayes into Arabia, and came agayne vnto Damaſcus.

18 Then after three yeeres, I went vp to Hieruſalem to ſee Peter, and abode with hym fiftiene dayes.

19 But other of the Apoſtles ſawe I none, ſaue James the Lordes brother.

20 The thynges therefore whiche I write vnto you, beholde, before God I lie not.

21 Afterward I came into the coaſtes of Cyria and Cilicia, and was vnknowen in face vnto the Churches of Jurie whiche were in Chriſt:

22 But they had heard onely, that he whiche perſecuted vs in tymes paſt, nowe preacheth the (d) fayth, which before he deſtroyed.

23 And they glorified God in me.

C "or, mine age.

1.Cor.15.b Philip.3.a b. That is, of the lawe of God, whiche was giuen to the ancient fathers.

D Actes.22.d

d. That is, the Goſpel, whiche is the doctrine of fayth.

The.ij. Chapter.

1. Confirmyng his apoſtleſhip to be of God, 3. he ſheweth why Titus was not circumciſed, 6. and that he is nothyng inferiour to other apoſtles, 11. yea, and that he hath reproued Peter, the Apoſtle of the Iewes. 16. After, he commeth to the principall ſcope, which is, to prooue that iuſtification only commeth of the grace of God by fayth in Ieſus Chriſt, and not by the woorkes of the law.

1 THen fourtiene yeeres after, I went vp agayne to Hieruſalem with Bar- Actes.15.a

nabas, and toke Titus with me.

2 I went vp by reuelation, and I declared vnto them the Gospel whiche I preache among the Gentiles: but priuately with them whiche were esteemed the chiefe: least by any meanes I should runne, or had runne in vayne.

3 But neyther Titus whiche was with me, beyng a Greeke, was compelled to be circumcised:

4 And that bycause of incommers, beyng false brethren, whiche came in priuily to spie out our libertie which we haue in Christ Jesu, that they might bryng vs into bondage.

"or, moment. 5 To whom, no not for an "houre, we gaue place by subiection, that the trueth of the Gospel might continue with you.

a. Albeit thy had bene conuersant with Christ afore-time. b. That is, they taught me not: but approued my doctrine perfect in all poynts. 6 Of them whiche seemed to be somewhat (what they (a) were in times passed it maketh no matter to me, God accepteth no mans person:) for they which seemed chiefe, (b) added nothyng (to me.)

B 7 But contrarywise, when they sawe that the Gospel of the vncircumcision was committed vnto me, as the Gospel of the circumcision was committed vnto Peter:

8 (For he that was mightie in Peter to the apostleship of the circumcision, the same was mighty in me toward the Gentiles:

9 When they perceyued the grace that was gyuen vnto me, (then) James, Cephas, and John, whiche seemed to be pyllers, gaue to mee and Barnabas the ryght handes of felowshyp: that wee (shoulde be Apostles) vnto the Heathen, and they vnto the circumcision.

"they admonished. Actes. 11. d 2. Cor. 9. a 10 Onely "that wee shoulde remember the poore: wherein also I was diligent to dw the same.

c. Meaning, before al men. 11 But when Peter was come to Antioche, I withstode hym (c) to the face, bycause he was to be blamed.

12 For before that certayne came frō James, he did eate with the Gentils: but when they were come, he withdrew, and separated hym selfe, fearyng them (whiche were) of the circumcision.

13 And the other Jewes dissembled likewise with hym: in so muche that Barnabas also was brought into theyr simulation.

C 14 But when I sawe that they went not the ryght way to the trueth of the Gospell, I sayde vnto Peter before them all, If thou beyng a Jewe, lyuest after the maner of the Gentiles, and not as dw the Jewes: Why compellest thou the Gentiles to lyue as dw the Jewes?

Philip. 3. a d. For so the Iewes called the Gentiles in reproche. 15 We (whiche are) Jewes by nature, and not (d) sinners of the Gentiles,

16 Knowe that a man is not iustified by the deedes of the lawe, but by the fayth of Jesus Christe: and wee haue beleeued on Jesus Christ, that we might be iustified by the faith of Christe, and not by the deedes of the lawe, bycause by the deedes of the lawe no flesshe shal be iustified. Rom. 3. d

17 If then, whyle we seeke to be made righteous by Christ, we our selues also are found sinners: is therefore Christe the minister of sinne? God forbyd.

18 For if I buylde agayne the thyngs whiche I destroyed, then make I my selfe a trespasser.

19 For I, through the lawe, am dead to the lawe, that I might lyue vnto God: I am crucified with Christ.

20 Neuertheles, I lyue: yet nowe not I, but Christe lyueth in me: and the lyfe whiche I nowe lyue in the flesshe, I lyue by the faith of the sonne of God, whiche loued me, and gaue himselfe for me. Ephes. 5. c

21 I reiect not the grace of God: for if righteousnesse (come) of the lawe, then Christ is dead in vayne. Rom. 4. c

The. iij. Chapter.

1. He rebuketh them sharply, 2. and prooueth by dyuers reasons, that iustification is by fayth. 6. as appeareth by the example of Abraham. 10. 19. 24. and by the office and the end both of the law, 11. 25. and of fayth.

1 O Foolish Galathians, who hath bewitched you, that ye shoulde not obey the truth: to whom Jesus Christ was before (a) described before the eyes, and among you crucified? A

a. To whom Christ was liuely preached, as if he were set before your eyes, & els, had ben crucified among you.

2 This onely would I learne of you, whether ye receyued the spirite by the deedes of the lawe, or by the hearyng of the fayth?

3 Are yee suche fooles, that after yee haue begun in the spirite, ye woulde now end in the flesshe?

4 Haue ye suffered so great things in vaine? If it be yet in vayne.

5 He therefore that ministreth to you the spirite, and worketh myracles among you, doth he it through the deedes of the law, or by hearyng of the fayth?

6 Euen as Abraham beleeued God, and it was alcrybed to hym for righteousnesse. Gen. 15. d Rom. 4. a

7 Knowe ye therfore, that they whiche are of fayth, the same are the children of Abraham. James. 2. d B nations be blessed.

8 For the Scripture seyng afore hande that God woulde iustifie the Heathen through fayth, shewed before hande glad tydings vnto Abraham, (saying,) In thee shall all nations Gen. 12. a. and. 22. b.

9 So then, they whiche be of fayth, are blessed with the faithfull Abraham.

10 For as many as are of the (b) deedes of the lawe, are vnder the curse: for it is written, Cursed is euery one that continueth not in all things whiche are written in the booke of the lawe to doe them.

11 But that no man is iustified by the law in the syght of God, it is euident: for the iust shall liue by faith.

12 And the lawe is not of faith: but the man that doeth them, shall liue in them.

13 Christ hath redeemed vs from the curse of the lawe, being made a curse for vs: for it is written, Cursed is euery one that hangeth on tree:

14 That the blessing of Abraham myght come on the Gentiles thorow Iesus Christ, that wee might receyue the promise of the spirite through fayth.

15 Brethren, (c) I speake after the manner of men, though it be but a mans testament, yet if it be alowed, no man reiecteth it, or addeth thereto.

16 *To Abraham and his seede were the promises made. He sayeth not, To the seedes, as of many: but, To thy seede, as of one, which is Christ.

17 This I say, that the lawe which beganne afterwarde beyond foure hundred and thirtie yeeres, doeth not disanul the testamente that was confirmed afore of GOD vnto Christwarde, to make the promise of none effect.

18 For if the inheritance be of the lawe, then not now of promise. But God gaue (the inheritance) vnto Abraham by promise.

19 Wherefore then (serueth) the lawe? It" was added because of transgressions, till the seede shoulde come to whome the promise was made: and it was ordeyned by angels in the hand of a mediatour.

20 A mediatour, is not (a mediatour) of one, but God is (d) one.

21 Is the lawe then against the promise of God? God forbyd. For if there had bene a lawe gyuen which could haue gyuen life, then no doubt righteousnesse shoulde haue bin by the lawe.

22 But the scripture hath concluded all vnder synne, that the promise by the fayth of Iesus Christ shoulde be gyuen vnto them that beleeue.

23 But before fayth came, we were kept vnder the lawe, and were shut vp vnto the faith which should afterward be reuealed.

24 Wherefore the lawe was our scolemaister vnto Christ, that we should be iustifyed by fayth.

25 But after that fayth is come, we are no longer vnder a scolemaister.

26 For ye are all the children of God by fayth in Christ Iesus.

27 For" all ye that are baptised, haue put on Christ.

28 There is no Iewe, neyther Greeke, there is neyther bonde, nor free, there is neyther male, nor female: for ye are all one in Christ Iesus.

29 If (ye be) Christes, then are yee Abrahams seede, and heyres according to the promise.

The.iiij. Chapter.

1. He sheweth wherefore the ceremonies were ordeyned, which being shadowes, must ende when Christe the trueth commeth. 9. Hee moueth them by certayne exhortations.

1 AND I say, That the heyre as long as he is a childe, differeth nothing from a seruaunt, though he be Lord of all:

2 But is vnder tutours and gouernours, vntill the time appoynted of the father.

3 Euen so we, when we were children, were in bondage vnder the (a) rudimentes of the worlde:

4 But when the fulnesse of the tyme was come, God sent his sonne made of a woman, and made vnder the lawe,

5 To redeeme them that were vnder the lawe, that we might receyue the adoption of children.

6 Because yee are sonnes, God hathe sente forth the (b) spirite of his sonne into your hartes, crying (c) Abba, father.

7 Wherefore thou art no more a seruaunte, but a sonne: if thou be a sonne, thou art also an heyre of God, through Christ.

8 Notwithstanding, when (d) ye knewe not God, ye dyd seruice vnto them which by nature are no Gods.

9 But now after that ye haue knowen God, yea rather are knowen of God, howe turne ye agayne vnto the weake and beggerly rudiments, whereunto agayne ye desyre a fresh to be in bondage?

10 Yee obserue dayes, and monethes, & times, and yeeres.

11 I am in feare of you, least I haue bestowed on you labour in vayne.

12 Brethren, I beseeche you, be as I (am) for I (am) as yee are: Ye haue not iniuried me at all.

13 Ye knowe howe through infirmitie of the flesshe, I preached the Gospell vnto you at the fyrst.

i. By an allegorie, that is, another thyng is meant.

29 But as then he that was borne after the flesshe, persecuted hym that was borne after the spirite: euen so is it nowe.

Gen. 21. b.

30 Neuertheless, what sayeth the scripture? Put away the bondwoman and hir sonne: for the sonne of the bondwoman shall in no wyse bee heyre wyth the sonne of the free woman.

31 So then brethren, wee are not children of the bond woman, but of the free.

3 For I testifye agayne to euery man whiche is circumcised, that he is a debter to doe the whole lawe.

4 Christ is become but vayn to you, as many of you as are iustifyed by the lawe, are fallen from grace.

5 For we through the spirite, waite for the hope of righteousnesse by fayth.

21 Enuyings, murders, dronkennesse, glutonies, and suche lyke, of the whiche I tell you before, as I haue tolde you in tyme past, that (euen) they whyche doe suche things, shall not inherite the kyngdome of God.

22 But the fruite of the spirite is, loue, ioy, peace, long suffering, gentlenesse, goodnesse, fayth, 23 Meekenesse, temperance: against such there is no lawe.

24 They truely that (are) Christes, (b) haue crucifyed the flesshe, with the affections and lustes.

25 If we liue in the spirite, let vs also walke in the spirite.

26 Let vs not bee desyrous of vayne glory, prouoking one another, enuying one another.

The.vi. Chapter.

1. Hee exhorteth them to vse gentlenesse toward the weake, 2. and to shewe their brotherly loue and modestie, 14. to reioyce in the Crosse of Christ, 15. to newnesse of lyfe.

1 BRethren, if a man be preuented in anye fault, yee whiche are spirituall, restore such a one in the spirite of meekenesse, consydering thy selfe, lest thou also be tempted.

2 Beare ye one anothers burden, and so fulfyl the lawe of Christe.

3 For if any man seeme to hym selfe that hee is somewhat, when he is nothing, the same deceyueth him selfe in his owne fantasie.

4 But let euery man proue his owne worke: and then shall hee haue (a) reioycing onely in his owne selfe, and not in another.

5 For euery man shall beare his owne burden.

6 Let him that is taught in the worde, minister vnto hym that teacheth hym, in all good thyngs.

7 Be not deceyued, God is not mocked, for whatsoeuer a man soweth, that shall he also reape.

8 For he that soweth in his flesshe, shall of the flesshe reape corruption: but hee that soweth into the spirite, shall of the spirite reape lyfe euerlasting.

9 Let vs not be weery in well doing: for in due season we shall reape, if we faint not.

10 Whyle we haue therefore time, let vs doe good vnto all men, specially vnto the whych are of the housholde of faith.

11 Ye see howe large a letter I haue written vnto you with mine owne hande.

12 As many as desire with outwarde appearance to please " carnally, the same constrayne you to bee circumcised, onely leaste they shoulde suffer persecution for the crosse of Christe.

13 For they them selues whiche are circumcised kepe not the lawe: but desyre to haue you circumcised, that they myghte glorye in your flesshe.

14 God forbid that I shoulde glory, but in the crosse of our Lord Jesus Christ: whereby the (b) world is crucified vnto me, and I vnto the worlde.

15 For in Christe Jesu neyther circumcision auayleth any thyng, nor vncircumcision, but a newe creature.

16 And as many as walke accordyng to thys rule, peace be on them and mercy, and vppon the (c) Israell (that is) of God.

A 1 PAule an Apostle of Jesus Christ by ỹ wil of God, to the saintes whyche are at Ephesus, and to the faithfull in Christe Jesus, Rom.1.a. 1.Cor.1.a. 2 Grace (be) with you, and peace from God our father, and (from) the Lord Jesus Christ.

1.Pet.1.a. Galat.1.a. 3 Blessed be God the father of our Lorde Jesus Christ, whiche hathe blessed vs in all spirituall blessyng in heauenly thyngs by Christe:

4 Accordyng as he had chosen vs in hym, before the foundation of the worlde, that wee shoulde bee holy, and without blame before him through loue.

5 Who hathe predestinated vs into the adoption of (a) chyldren by Jesus Christe vnto hym selfe, accordyng to the good pleasure of his wyll:

a. Whereas we were not the naturall children, he receiued vs by grace, & made vs hys childrē.

6 To the prayse of the glory of hys grace, wherein he hath made vs accepted in the beloued.

B 7 In whome we haue redemption through his bloud, the forgiuenesse of sinnes, accordyng to the riches of his grace, Colos.1.b. 8 Wherein he hathe abounded towarde vs in all wisedome and prudence.

9 And hath opened vnto vs the misterie of his wyll, accordyng to his good pleasure whyche he had purposed in hym selfe:

Galat.4.a. 10 That in the dispensation of the fulnesse of the times, he might gather togeather in one all things in Christe, both whiche are in heauens, and which are in earth. in him.

11 In whome also we are chosen, being predestinate, accordyng to the purpose of hym who worketh all things after the counsell of hys owne wyll:

12 That we shoulde be vnto the prayse of hys glory, which before beleeued in Christ.

b. Though we be redemed from the bondage of sinne by the death of Christe, Rom.6. yet we hope for thys seconde redemption, which shall be when we shall possesse our inheritance in the heauens, whereof wee haue the holy ghost for a gage as Cap.4

13 In whome also yee (hoped) after that yee hearde the worde of trueth, the Gospell of your saluation: wherein ye also after that ye beleeued, were sealed with the holy spirite of promise, 14 Whiche is the earnest of our inheritance, vnto the (b) redemption of the purchased possession, vnto the prayse of his glory.

15 Wherefore I also, after that I hearde of the fayth which ye haue in the Lorde Jesus, and loue vnto all the saynctes,

16 Cease not to gyue thankes for you, making mention of you in my prayers,

17 That the God of our Lord Jesus Christ, the father of glory, may gyue vnto you the spirite of wisedome and reuelation, in the knowledge of hym,

3 For by reuelation shewed (God) the (a) mysterie vnto mee (as I wrote afore in fewe wordes,

4 Wherby when ye reade, ye may vnderstãd my knowledge in the misterie of Christ.)

5 Which (mysterie) in other ages was not opened vnto the sonnes of men, as it is nowe reuealed vnto his holy Apostles and prophetes by the spirite:

6 (That) the Gentiles should be inheritours also, and of the same body, and partakers of his promise in Christ by the Gospell:

B

7 Wherefore I was made a minister, according to the gift of the grace of God, whiche is gyuen vnto me after the working of hys power.

8 Unto me whiche am lesse than the least of all saints is this grace gyuen, that I should preache among the Gentiles the vnsearcheable ryches of Christe, Colos.1.d.

9 And bring to light to all men what the felowship of the mysterie is, whiche from the beginning of ỹ world hath bin hid in God, whyche made all thyngs through Iesus Christe:

10 To the intente that nowe vnto the rulers and powers in heauenly (things) might be knowen by the (b) Churche, the very manyfolde wisdome of God,

b. The church being gathered of so many kyndes of people is an example or a glasse for the angels to behold the wysedome of God in, who hath turned theyr particular discords, into an vniuersal concord, and of the synagoge of bondage, hath made the Churche of freedome.

3 Endeuouring to keepe the vnitie of ỹ spirite in the bond of peace.
a. So that ye cannot dissent one from another, seeyng the spirite which ioyneth you in one body, cannot dissent from him selfe.
4 One body, and one (a) spirite, euen as yee are called in one hope of your calling.
5 One Lorde, one faith, one baptisme.

c. That is, wherewith one ministreth to another.
17 This I say therefore, and testifie in ỹ Lord, that yee henceforth walke not as other Gentiles walke, in vanitie of their minde:

29 Let no fylthy communication proceede out of your mouth, but that which is good to edifie withall, as oft as neede is, that it maye minister grace vnto the heaters.
30 And (g) greeue not the holy spirite of God, by whome yee are sealed vnto the day of redemption.
g. So behaue your selues, that the holy ghost maye willingly dwell in you, & geue him no occasion to departe in sorow, by your abusing of Gods graces.
31 Let all bitternesse, and fiercenesse, & wrath, and crying, and euill speaking, be put away from you, with all noughtinesse.
32 Be ye curteous one to another, mercifull, forgyuing one another, euen as GOD for Christes sake hath forgyuen you.

The .v. Chapter.

2. He exhorteth them to loue, 3. warneth them to beware of vncleannesse, couetousnesse, foolyshe talkyng, and false doctrine, 17. to bee circumspect, 18. to auoyde drunkennesse, 19. to reioyce, and to bee thankefull toward God, 21. to submit them selues one to another.

A
1. Pet. 2. d. John. 13. b. Galath. 2. b. Exod. 23. b.
1 BE yee therefore followers of God, as deare children:
2 And walke ye in loue, euen as Christe hath loued vs, and hath giuen him selfe for vs an offering and a sacrifice of a sweete smelling sauour to God.
3 But fornication, and all vncleannesse, or couetousnes, let it not be once named amōg you, as it becommeth saynctes:
4 Neyther fylthinesse, neither foolish talking, neyther iesting, whiche are not comely: but rather giuing of thankes.

5 For

5 For this ye knowe, that no whoremonger, neyther vncleane person, nor couetous person, which is a worshipper of images, hathe any inheritance in the kingdome of Christe, and of God.

6 Let no mā deceyue you with vayn wordes: For bycause of suche thynges commeth the wrath of God vppon the childzen of disobedience.

7 Be not ye therefore companions of them.

8 For yee were sometimes darkenesse, but nowe are yee lyght in the Lorde: Walke as childzen of lyght.

9 (For the fruite of the spirit (is) in all goodnesse, and righteousnesse, and trueth.

10 Approuing what is acceptable vnto the Lorde.)

11 And haue no felowship with the vnfruitefull workes of darknesse, but rather euen rebuke them.

12 For it is shame euen to name those thynges which are done of them in secrete.

13 But all things when they are "rebuked, are made manifest of the lyght: For all that which doth make manifest, is lyght.

14 Wherefore he sayeth, (a) Awake thou that sleepest, and stand vp from the dead: & Christ shall gyue thee lyght.

15 Take heede therefore that yee walke circumspectly: not as vnwyse, but as wyse, 16 Redeeming the time, bycause the dayes are euill.

17 Wherefore be yee not vnwise, but vnderstanding what the will of the Lorde is.

18 And be not dronken with wine, wherein is excesse: but be fylled with the spirite,

19 Speaking vnto your selues in psalmes, and hymnes, and spirituall songs, singyng and making melodie to the Lorde in youre hartes:

20 Giuing thankes alwayes for all thynges vnto God and the father, in the name of our Lorde Iesus Christ:

21 Submitting your selues one to another in the feare of God.

22 Wiues, submit your selues vnto your owne husbands, as vnto the Lorde:

23 For the husband is the head of the wyfe, euen as Christ is the head of the Churche, and he is the sauiour of the body.

24 But as the Church is subiect vnto Christ. lykewyse the wyues to theyr owne husbāds in all things.

25 Ye husbandes loue your wyues, euen as Christ also loued the Church, and gaue hym selfe for it,

26 To sanctifie it, when hee had cleansed (it) in the (b) fountayne of water in the worde:

27 That he myght present it vnto hym selfe a glorious Churche, not hauing spot or wrinkle, or any suche thing: but that it shoulde be holy, and without blame.

28 So ought men to loue their wyues as theyr owne bodyes: he that loueth hys wyfe, loueth hym selfe.

29 For no man euer yet hated his owne flesh: but nourisheth and cherisheth it, euen as the Lord the Churche:

30 For we are members of his body, of hys flesshe, and of his bones.

31 For thys cause shall a man leaue father and mother, and shall be ioyned vnto hys wyfe, and two shall be made one flesshe. Gen.2.d. Mat.19.a. Mark.10.a.

32 This is a greate secrete: but I speake of Christ and of the Churche. 1.Cor.6.d. Ephes.5.g.

33 Therefore euery one of you (do ye so:) Let euery one of you loue hys wyfe euen as hym selfe, and (let) the wife reuerence hir husbande.

A 1 PAul and Timotheus the seruats of Jesus Christ, to all the sayntes in Christ Jesus, whyche are at Philippos, wyth the Bishops and Deacons:
2 Grace (bee) vnto you, and peace from God our father, and (from) the Lord Jesus Christ.
The Epistle on the xii. Sunday after Trinitie.
3 I thanke my God with all remembrance of you.
4 (Always in all my prayer for all you, making prayer with gladnesse:)
5 For youre felowship in the Gospell, from the fyrst (a) day vntill nowe:
6 Being perswaded of thys same thyng, that he which hath begun a good worke in you, wil perfourme it vntill the day of Jesus Christe:
B 7 As it becommeth me to iudge this of you all, bycause I haue you in my hart, and in my bondes, in the defence and confyrmation of the Gospell, you al being partakers of my (b) grace.
8 For God is my recorde howe greatly I long after you all in the (c) bowels of Jesus Christe.
9 And this I pray, that your loue may abound yet more and more in knowledge, and in all vnderstanding:
10 That yee may discerne things that differ: that ye may be pure and without offence till the day of Christe, 11 Being fylled with the fruites of ryghteousnesse, whiche (are) by Jesus Christ, vnto the glory and prayse of God.
12 But I would ye shoulde vnderstand, brethren, that the things which (came) vnto me, hath come rather vnto the furtherance of the Gospell.
13 (So) that my (d) bondes in Christ, are manifest throughout all the iudgement hall, and in all other places.

15 Some

15 Some preache Chriſt of enuie and ſtrife, and ſome of good will:
16 The one preache Chriſt of ſtrife, not ſincerely, ſuppoſing to adde more affliction to my bondes:
17 But the other of loue, knowing that I am ſet to the defence of the Goſpell.
18 What then? ſo that Chriſte be preached any maner of way, whether it be by pretence, or by truth, I ioy therin, & will ioy.
19 For I knowe that this ſhall turne to my ſaluation through your prayer, and miniſtring of the ſpirite of Jeſus Chriſt, 20 According to my earneſt expectation and my hope, that in nothing I ſhall be aſhamed: but that with all boldenеſſe, as alwayes, (ſo) nowe alſo Chriſt ſhall be magnifyed in my bodye, whether it be by lyfe, or by death.
21 For Chriſt (is) to me life, and death is to me aduauntage.
22 But whether to lyue in the fleſhe, this (be) the fruite of my labour, and what I ſhall chooſe, I wote not.
23 For I am in a ſtraight betwixte two, hauing a deſire to departe, and to be with Chriſt, which is much farre better.
24 Neuertheleſſe, to abyde in the fleſh (is) more needefull for you.
25 And this am I ſure of, that I ſhal abide and continue with you al, for your furtherance and ioy of fayth:
26 That your reioycing may be the more aboundant in Jeſus Chriſte for me, by my comming to you againe.
27 Only let your converſation be as it becommeth the Goſpell of Chriſt: that whether I come and ſee you, or elſe be abſent, I may yet heare of your matters, that ye continue in one ſpirite, in one ſoule, holding together in defence of the fayth of the Goſpell.
28 And in nothing fearing your aduerſaries, whiche is to them a token of perdition: but to you of ſaluation, and (c) that of God,
29 For vnto you it is giuen for Chriſte, not onely this to beleeue on him: but alſo this to ſuffer for his ſake, 30 Hauing the ſame fight which ye ſawe in me, and now heare in me.

The. ij. Chapter.

1 He exhorteth them aboue all things to humilitie, wherby pure doctrine is chiefly maintayned, 16. promiſing that he and Timotheus will ſpeedyly come vnto them, 27. and excuſeth the long tarying of Epaphroditus.

1 IF (there be) therefore any (d) conſolation in Chriſt, if any comfort of loue, if any felowſhip of the ſpirite, if any compaſſion and mercie:
2 Fulfill ye my ioy, that ye be like mynded, hauing the ſame loue, being of one accord, of one mynde.
3 Let nothing (be doone) through ſtrife, or vayne glorie, but in meekeneſſe euerie man eſteeme one the other better than him ſelfe.
4 Looke not euerie man on his owne thinges, but euerie man alſo on the things of others.
5 Let the ſame mynde be in you, which was in Chriſt Jeſus:
6 Who being in the fourme of GOD, thought it not (b) robberie to be equal with God:
7 But made him ſelf of no reputation, taking on him the fourme of a ſeruant, and made in the likeneſſe of men, and founde in figure as a man:
8 He humbled him ſelfe, made obedient vnto death, euen the death of the croſſe.
9 Wherefore God alſo hath highly exalted him, and giuen him a name whiche is aboue euerie name,
10 That in the name of Jeſus, euery (c) knee ſhould bowe, (of things) in heauen, & things in earth, and (things) vnder the earth:
11 And that euery tong ſhould confeſſe that the Lorde is Jeſus Chriſte, to the glorie of God the father.
12 Wherefore, my dearely beloued, as ye haue alwayes obeyed, not as in my preſence onely, but nowe muche more in my abſence, worke (d) out your owne ſaluation with feare and trembling.
13 For it is God whiche worketh in you, both to will and to do, of good will.
14 Do all things without murmuring and diſputing:
15 That ye may be blameleſſe and pure, the ſonnes of GOD, without rebuke in the myddes of a croked and peruerſe nation, among whome ſhyne ye as lightes in the worlde, 16 Holding faſt the worde of lyfe, to my reioycing in the day of Chriſte, that I haue not runne in vayne, neyther laboured in vayne.
17 Yea, and though I be offered vp vppon the ſacrifice and ſeruice of your fayth, I reioyce, and reioyce with you all.

1.Thes.3.b. Timotheus shortly vnto you, that I also may be of good comfort, when I knowe your state.

20 For I haue no man like mynded, who will naturally care for your state.

21 For all seeke their owne, not the things which are Iesus Christes.

22 Ye knowe the proofe of hym, that as a sonne with the father, he hath serued with me in the Gospell.

23 Him therefore I hope to sende, as soone as I knowe my state.

24 But I trust in the Lord, that I also my selfe shall come shortly.

25 But I supposed it necessarie, to sende to you Epaphroditus my brother and companion in labour, and fellowe souldier, but your apostle, and the minister of my need.

26 For he longed after you all, and was ful of heauinesse, bycause that ye had hearde that he had bene sicke.

27 And no doubt he was sicke nyghe vnto death, but God had mercy on him: and not on him only, but on me also: least I should haue sorowe vpon sorowe.

28 I sent him therfore the more diligently, that when ye see him againe, ye maye reioyce, & that I may be the lesse sorowfull.

Rom.15.b. 1.Thes.5.c. 29 Receiue him therefore in the Lord with all gladnesse, and make much of such:

30 Bycause for the worke of Christ he was nygh vnto death, not regarding his lyfe, to fulfill your lacke of seruice toward me.

The.iij.Chapter.

2. He warneth them to beware of false teachers, 3. against whom he setteth Christe. 4. Lykewise him selfe, 9. and his doctrine, 12. and reproueth mans owne righteousnesse.

A 1 MOreouer my brethren, reioyce ye in the Lorde. It greeueth me not to write the same things often to you, for to you it is a sure thing.

2 Beware of (a) dogs, beware of euill workers, beware of (b) concision.

3 For we are the circumcision, which worshippe God in the spirite, and reioyce in Christe Iesus, and haue no confidence in the flesshe:

4 Though I might also haue confidence in the flesshe. If any other man thynketh that he hath whereof he might trust in the flesshe, I more:

5 Circumcised the eyght day, of the kinred of Israell, of the tribe of Beniamin, an Hebrue of the Hebrues, after the lawe a Pharisee:

6 Concerning feruentnesse, persecuting the Church: touching the righteousnesse which is in the lawe, I was blamelesse.

7 But the things that were vantage vnto me, those I counted losse for Christes sake.

8 Yea, I thinke all things but losse for the excellencie of the knowledge of Christ Iesus my Lord. for whose sake I haue lost all things, and do iudge them but " dung, that I may winne Christ,

9 And be founde in him, not hauing myne owne righteousnesse which is of the law: but that whiche is through the fayth of Christe, the righteousnesse which commeth of God through fayth:

10 That I may knowe him, and the power of his resurrection, and the felowshippe of his passions, being made conformable vnto his death, 11 " If by any meanes I myght attayne vnto the resurrection of the dead.

12 (c) Not as though I had already attained, either were already perfecte: but I follow, if that I may comprehende, wherein also I am comprehended of Christ Iesus.

13 Brethren, I count not my selfe as yet that I haue attained: but this one thing (I say,) I forget those things which are behynde, and endeuour my selfe vnto those things which are before.

14 And I presse toward the marke, for the price of the high calling of God in Christe Iesus.

15 Let vs therefore as many as be perfecte, be thus mynded: and if ye be otherwyse mynded, God shall reueale the same also vnto you.

16 Neuertheles, vnto that which we haue attained vnto, let vs proceede by one rule, that we may be of one accorde.

17 Brethren, be followers together of me, and loke on them whiche walke, so as ye haue vs for an ensample.

18 For many walke, of whome I haue told you often, and nowe tell you weepyng, (that they are) the enimies of the crosse of Christe:

19 Whose ende (is) damnation, whose God (is their) bellye, and glory to their shame, which minde earthly things.

20 But our conuersation is in heauen, from whence also we loke for the sauiour the Lord Iesus Christ:

21 Who shall change our vile body, that it may be fashioned like vnto his glorious body, according to the working whereby he is able to subdue al things vnto himself

The iiij. Chapter.

1. He exhorteth them to be of honest conuersation, 15. and thanketh them, because of the prouision that they made for him being in prison, 21. and so concludeth with salutations.

1 THerfore my brethren, dearely beloued and longed for, my ioy and crowne, so continue in ỹ Lord, my dearly beloued.
2 I pray Euodias, and beseech Syntyches, that they be of one accord in the Lord.
3 Yea, and I beseech thee also faithful yoke felow, helpe those (women) which laboured with me in the Gospel, and with Clement also, and with other my labour felowes, whose names are in the (a) booke of lyfe.
4 Reioyce in the Lord alway: and againe I will say reioyce.
5 Let your patient mynde be knowne vnto all men. The Lord is at hand.
6 Be carefull for nothing: but in al things let your petition be manyfest vnto God, in prayer and supplication, with giuing of thankes.
7 And the peace of God whiche passeth all vnderstanding, shall (b) keepe your hearts and mindes through Christ Iesus.
8 Furthermore brethren, whatsoeuer things are true, whatsoeuer things (are) honest, whatsoeuer things (are) iust, whatsoeuer things (are) pure, whatsoeuer things pertaine to loue, whatsoeuer things (are) of honest report: if there be any vertue, and if there be "any prayse, thinke on these things:
9 Which ye haue both learned, & receiued, and hearde, and seene in me, those things do: and the God of peace shal be with you.
10 But I reioyce in the Lord greatly, that nowe at the last you are reuiued agayne to care for me, in that wherein ye were also carefull, but ye lacked opportunitie.
11 I speake not because of (c) necessitie: for I haue learned, in what so euer estate I am, therewith to be content.
12 I knowe howe to be lowe, and I know howe to exceede: euerie where and in all things I am instructed both to be full, and to be hungrie, both to haue plentie, and to suffer neede.
13 I can doe all things through Christe, which strengtheneth me.
14 Notwithstanding, ye haue well done, that ye did communicate to my affliction.
15 Ye Philippians knowe also, that in the (d) beginning of the Gospell, when I departed from Macedonia, no Church communicated to me, as concerning giuing and receyuing, but ye only.
16 For euen in Thessalonica ye sent once, and againe vnto my necessitie.
17 Not that I desire a gift: but I desyre fruit abounding to your account.
18 But I haue receyued all, and haue plentie: I was euen fylled after that I had receyued of Epaphroditus the thinges (which were sent) from you, an odour of a sweete smell, a sacrifice acceptable, pleasant to God.
19 My God shall supplye all your neede through his riches in glory, in Christ Iesus 20 Unto God and our father (be) glorie for euermore, Amen.
21 Salute all the saintes in Christe Iesus: The brethren whiche are with me, greete you.
22 All the saints salute you, most of al they that are of Ceasars houshold.
23 The grace of our Lorde Iesus Christe (be) with you all, Amen.

¶ The first Chapter.

3. He giueth thankes vnto God for their fayth. 7. Confirming the doctrine of Epaphras, 9. prayeth for the encrease of their fayth. 13. He sheweth vnto them the true Christ, and discouereth the counterfaite Christ of the false apostles. 25. He approueth his authoritie and charge; 28. and of his faithfull executing of the same.

and the Lord Jesus Christ.

The Epistle on the .xxiiii. Sunday after Trinitie.

3 We giue thankes to God and the father of our Lorde Jesus Christe, alwayes for you, praying.

Phil.1.a. 4 Since we heard of your faith(a) in Christ Jesus, and of the loue which ye haue to all saintes:

1.Thes.1.a. Rom.1.b. Phil.1.a. Ephes.1.d. 5 For the hopes sake whiche is layde vp for you in heauen, of which(hope) ye heard before in the word of truth of the Gospell.

a. For without Christ there is no fayth to be saued by, but only a vaine opinion. 6 Which is come vnto you euen as(it is) in all the worlde, and is fruitfull, as it is also in you, from the day ye heard (of it) and knewe the grace of God in truth.

B 7 As ye also learned of Epaphras our deare felowe seruant, which is for you a faithfull minister of Christ.

Colos.4.c.

b. Which cometh of the holie ghost. 8 Who also declared vnto vs your loue (b) in the spirite.

Ephes.1.d. 9 For this cause we also, since the daye we heard it, do not ceasse to pray for you, and to desire that ye might be fulfilled with knowledge of his will, in all wisedome and spirituall vnderstanding:

10 That yee myght walke worthy of the Lorde in all pleasing, being fruitfull in all good workes, and encreasing in the knowledge of God:

11 Strengthened with all myght, through his glorieus power, vnto all patience and long suffering with ioyfulnesse:

12 Giuing thankes vnto the father, whiche hath made vs meete to be partakers of the inheritance of the saintes in light:

13 Who hath deliuered vs from the power of darkenesse, and hath translated vs into the kingdome of his deare sonne:

C 14 In whom we haue redemption through his bloud(euen) the forgiuenesse of sinnes:

Ephes.1.b. 2.Cor.4.a. 15 Who is the image of the inuisible God, the first borne of all creatures.

Hebr.1.a. 16 For by him were all things created that are in heauen, and that are in earth, visible and inuisible, whether(they be) maiesties or lordships, either rules, or powers: all things were created by him and for him.

17 And he is before all things, and in him all things consist.

Ephes.1.b. 1.Cor.15.c. 18 And hee is the heade of the body of the Churche: who is the beginning, the firste borne from the deade, that in all things he might haue the preheminence.

c. That the church whiche is his body, might receiue of his aboundaunce.1. 19 For it pleased (the father) that in him should all(c) fulnesse dwell.

20 And by him to reconcile all things vnto him selfe, since he hath set at peace through the bloud of his crosse by him, both the things in earth, and things in heauen.

21 And you whiche were sometime strangers, and enimies by(d) cogitation in euill workes, hath he now yet reconciled, 22 In the body of his flesshe through death, to present you holy, and vnblameable, and without fault in his sight.

23 If ye continue grounded and stablished in the faith, and be not moued away from the hope of the Gospell, whiche ye haue hearde howe it is preached to euerie creature whiche is vnder heauen, whereof I Paule am made a minister.

24 Nowe reioyce I in my sufferings for you, and fulfill that whiche is behynde of the afflictions of Christ in my flesh, for his bodyes sake, which is the Church:

25 Whereof I am made a minister, according to the dispensation of God, which is giuen to me to youwarde, to fulfill the worde of God:

26 (Euen) the misterie which hath beene hid since the world beganne, and(since the beginning of) generations: but now is opened to his(e) saintes.

27 To whome God would make knowne what (is) the ryches of the glorie of this mysterie among the Gentiles, whiche is Christ in you, the hope of glory:

28 Whome we preache, warning euerie man, and teaching euerie man in all wisedome, that we may present euery man perfect in Christ Jesus:

29 Whereunto I also labour striuing, according to his working which worketh in me mightily.

The.ij. Chapter.

1. Having protected his good will towarde them, 4. he admonisheth them not to turne backe from Christe, 8. to the seruice of angels or any other inuention, or else ceremonies of the lawe, 17. which haue finished their office, and are ended in Christe.

1 FOr I would that ye knewe what great fight I haue for you, and for them that(are) at Laodicea, and for as many as haue not seene my face in the flesshe:

2 That their heartes might be comforted, being knyt together in loue and in all ryches of certaintie of vnderstanding, to knowe the mysterie of God, and of the father, and of Christe:

3 In whome are hyd all the treasures of wisedome and knowledge.

4 This I say, least any man should beguile you with perswasion of wordes. Ephes.5.a.

5 For though I be absent in the flesshe, yet am am I with you in the ſpirite, ioying and beholding your order, and your ſtedfaſt fayth in Chriſt.

6 As ye haue therefore receyued Chriſt Jeſus the Lord, (ſo) walke ye in him:

B 7 Rooted and builte in him, and ſtabliſhed in the faith, as ye haue bin taught, aboundyng therein with thankeſgiuing.

8 Beware leaſt any man ſpoyle you thorowe (a) philoſophie and vayne deceyte, after the tradition of men, and after the rudimentes of the worlde, and not after Chriſte.

9 For in him dwelleth all the fulneſſe of the Godhead bodyly:

10 And ye are complete in him, which is the head of all principalitie and power.

11 In whome alſo ye are circumciſed with circumciſion made without handes, by putting off the body of the fleſhe ſubiecte to ſinne, by the circumciſion of Chriſt.

12 Buried with him in baptiſme, in whom ye are alſo ryſen againe through the fayth (b) of the operation of God, who hath rayſed him from the dead.

13 And ye being dead in your ſinnes, and the vncircumciſion of your fleſhe, hath he quickened with him, hauing forgiuen all your treſpaſſes,

C 14 (And) when he had blotted out the hand writing of ordinances that was againſte vs, and that was contrarie to vs, euen that hath he taken out of the way, hauing faſtened it to his croſſe:

15 (And) hauing ſpoyled all principalities and powers, hath made a ſhewe of them openly triumphyng ouer them in hym ſelfe.

16 Let no man therefore iudge you in meat, or in drinke, or in parte of an holy day, or of the newe Moone, or of the Sabboth (dayes:)

17 Which are ſhadowes of things to come, but the body (is) of Chriſt.

18 Let no man beguile (c) you of victorie, in the humblenelle and worſhipping of Angels, intruding (himſelfe) into thoſe things which he hath not ſeene, cauſelleſſe puft vp with his fleſhly minde:

19 And holdeth not the head, wherof all the body by iointes and bandes, hauing nouriſhment miniſtred and knit together, encreaſeth with the encreaſe of God.

20 Wherefore if ye be dead with Chriſt from the rudimentes of the worlde: why, as though lyuing in the worlde, are ye ledde with traditions.

D 21 Touch not, taſte not, handle not?

22 Which all "be in corruption, in abuſing after the commaundements and doctrines of men:

23 Which things haue a ſhewe of wiſedom in voluntarie religion and humblenelle of mynde, and in not ſparing of the body, not in any honour, " to the ſatiſfying of the fleſh.

" or, do perith in abuſing Eral.

" Seing they pertayne.

The.iij. Chapter.

1. He ſheweth where we ſhould ſeeke Chriſt. 5. he exhorteth to mortification; 10. to put off the olde man, and to put on Chriſt, 12. to the which he addeth exhortation; both generall and particular, to charitie and humilitie.

2 Set your affection on (a) things aboue, not on things on the earth.

3 For ye are dead, and your lyfe is hid with Chriſt in God.

4 When ſo euer Chriſte whiche is our life ſhall appeare, then ſhall ye alſo appeare with hym in glorie.

5 Mortifie therefore your members whiche are vpon the earth, fornication, vncleanneſſe, inordinate affection, euill concupiſcence, and couetouſneſſe, whiche is worſhipping of images:

6 For whiche things ſake, the wrath of God commeth on the children of diſobedience.

7 In the whiche ye alſo walked ſometime, B when ye lyued in them.

8 But now put ye off alſo all wrath, fierceneſſe, malitiouſneſſe, blaſphemie, filthy cõmunication out of your mouth.

9 Lye not one to another, ſeeing that ye haue put off the old man with his workes:

10 And haue put on the newe man, whiche is renued into knowledge, after ỹ image of him that made him,

11 Where is neither Greek nor Iewe, circumciſion, nor vncircumciſion: Barbarian, Scythian, bonde, free: but Chriſt is all, and in all.

12 Put on therefore (as the electe of God, (b) holy and beloued) bowels of mercie, kyndeneſſe, humblenelle of mynde, meekeneſſe, long ſuffering,

4 Knowing, brethren beloued, your election of God.

5 For our Goſpell came not vnto you in worde only, but alſo in power, and in the holy ghoſt, and in much certaintie, as ye know after what maner we were among you for your ſake.

c. For it is not poſſible to auoide the reproche of the wicked, what euer hath god doings.

ued the worde of God which ye hearde of vs, ye receyued it not as the word of men, (but as it is in deede) the worde of God, whiche effectuously worketh also in you that beleeue.

14 For ye, brethren, became folowers of the Churches of God, whiche in Iurie are in Christ Iesus: for ye also haue suffered like thinges of your countreymen, as they haue of the Iewes:

15 Who both kylleth the Lorde Iesus, and their owne prophetes, and haue persecuted vs: and God they please not, and are contrarie(d) to all men:

1. He sheweth how greatly he was affectioned toward them, both in that he sent Timotheus to them. 10. and also prayed for them.

1 Wherefore since we coulde no longer forbeare, we thought it good to remayne at Athens alone:

Actes.17.d.

2 And sent Timotheus, our brother and minister of God, and felowe labourer in the Gospell of Christe, to stablishe you, and to comforte you concerning your fayth:

3 That no man shoulde be moued in these afflictions: for ye your selues knowe that we are appoynted therebnto.

6 But now lately when Timotheus came from you vnto vs, and brought vs good tydings of your fayth and charitie, and how that ye haue good remembrance of vs alwayes, desiring greatly to see vs, as we also (to see) you:

9 But as touching brotherly loue, ye neede not that I write vnto you: for yee are taught of God to loue one another.

10 Yea, and that thing verily ye do vnto al the brethren which are in al Macedonia: but we beſeeche you brethren, that ye encreaſe more and more:

11 And that ye ſtudie to be quiete & to doe your owne buſineſſe, and to worke with your own hands, as we comaunded you:

12 That ye may walke honeſtly towarde them that are without, and that yee may haue lacke of nothing.

13 But I would not haue you to be ignorant, brethren, concerning them whiche ſleepe, that ye (b) ſorow not, euen as other which haue no hope.

14 For if we beleeue that Jeſus dyed, & roſe againe, euen ſo them alſo which ſleepe by Jeſus, wil God bring with him.

15 For this ſay wee vnto you in the worde of the Lorde: that we which liue, whiche remaine vnto the comming of the Lorde ſhal not preuent them whiche ſleepe.

16 For the Lorde him ſelfe ſhall deſcende from heauen in a ſhout, (and) in the voice of the Archangel, and in the trumpe of God: and the dead in Chriſt ſhal riſe firſt.

17 Then we which liue, whiche remaine, ſhall be caught vp together with them in the cloudes, to meete the Lord in the ayre: and ſo ſhall we euer be with the Lorde.

1 BVt of the times and ſeaſons, brethren ye haue no neede that I write vnto you.

2 For ye your ſelues knowe perfectly that the day of the Lord ſo commeth, euen as a theefe in the night.

3 For when they ſhal ſay, Peace and ſafetie: then ſodenly deſtruction commeth vpon them, (a) as ſorowe vpon a woman with childe, and they ſhall not eſcape in any wiſe.

4 But yee brethren are not in darkeneſſe, leaſt that day ſhoulde ouertake you as a theefe.

5 Ye are all the children of light, and the children of the day: Wee are not of the night, neither of darkeneſſe.

6 Therefore let vs not (b) ſleepe as (do) other: but let vs watch, and be ſober.

7 For they that ſleepe, ſleepe in the night: and they that be dronken, are dronken in the night.

8 But let vs which are of the day, be ſober putting on the breſtplate of faith & charitie, and a helmet, the hope of ſaluation.

9 For God hath not apointed vs to wrath: but to obtaine ſaluation by our Lord Jeſus Chriſt.

10 Whiche died for vs, that whether wee wake or ſleepe, wee ſhoulde liue together with him.

11 Wherfore, comfort your ſelues together, & edifie euery one another, euen as ye doe.

12 And we beſeeche you brethren, to know them which labour among you, and haue the ouerſight of you in the Lorde, and admoniſhe you:

13 That ye haue them in high reputation, in loue for their worke: and be at peace among your ſelues.

14 We exhorte you brethren, warne them that are vnruly, comfort the feeble mynded, lift vp the weake, be patient towarde al men.

15 See that none recompence euyl for euil vnto any man: but euer folow that which is good, both among your ſelues, and to al men.

16 Reioyce euer.

6 Wee commaunde you brethren, in the name of our Lorde Iesus Christ, that ye withdraw your selues from euery brother that walketh inordinatly, and not after the (b) institution which he receiued of vs.
7 For ye your selues know howe ye ought to followe vs: for we behaued not our selues inordinatly among you,

9 Not because wee haue not authoritie, but to make our selues an example vnto you to followe vs.
10 For when we were with you, this wee warned you of; that if any would not worke, the same should not eate.
11 For we heare that there are some which walke among you inordinatly, working not at al, but be busibodyes.
12 Them that are suche, we commaunde, and exhort by our Lord Iesus Christ, that they working in quietnesse, eate their own bread.
13 And ye brethren, be not weery in wel doing.

4 Neither geue heed to fables, and endlesse genealogies, which breede questiõs, more than godly edifying, which is in fayth.

5 But the end (b) of the commaundement, is charitie out of a pure hart, & of a good conscience, and of fayth vnfaigned.

6 From the whiche thynges some hauing erred, haue turned vnto vayne janglyng:

7 Coueting to be doctours of the law, not vnderstanding what they speake, neyther whereof they affirme,

8 But we knowe that the lawe is good, yf a man vse it lawfully:

9 Knowyng this, that the lawe is not geuen vnto a righteous man, but vnto the lawlesse and disobedient, to the vngodly and to sinners, to vnholy and vncleane, to murderers of fathers, and murderers of mothers, to manslears,

10 To whoremongers, to them that defyle them selues with mankinde, to manstealers, to lyers, to periured, and if there be any other thyng that is cõtrary to wholesome doctrine:

11 Accordyng to the Gospel of the glory of the blessed God, which is committed vnto me.

12 And I thanke Christ Iesus our Lord, which hath made me strong: for he counted me faithful, putting me into the ministerie, 13 Who was before a blasphemer, and an oppressour: But yet I obtayned mercy, bycause I did it (c) ignorantly in vnbeleefe.

14 Neuertheless, the grace of our Lorde was exceeding abundant, with faith and loue, which is in Christ Iesus.

15 This is a faithfull saying, and by all meanes worthy to be receiued, that Christ Iesus came into the worlde to saue sinners, of whom I am chiefe.

16 Notwithstanding, for this cause was mercy shewed vnto mee, that in mee the first, Iesus Christ might shewe all long suffering, to the example of them whiche should beleeue on him to life euerlasting.

17 (d) Now vnto the king euerlasting incorruptible, inuisible, vnto GOD onely wise (be) honour and glory for euer and euer, Amen.

The.iij.Chapter.

2. He declareth what is the office of ministers, 11. and as touching their families, 15. the dignitie of the Churche. 16. and the principal point of the heauenly doctrine.

1 THis is) a faithfull saying: If a man desire the office of a bishop, he desireth a good worke.

2 A bishop therefore must be blameles, the husbande of one wife, watching, sober, comely apparelled, a louer of hospitalitie, apt to teache,

3 Not giuen to ouermuch wine, no stryker, not greedy of filthy lucre: but Gentle, abhorring fyghting, abhorring couetousnesse:

4 One that ruleth wel his own house, hauing children in subiection, with all gravitie.

5 (For if a man knowe not to rule his own house, howe shall he care for the Churche of God?)

6 Not a yong scoller, lest he being puffed, vp, (a) fal into the condēnatiō of the deuil.

7 He must also haue a good report of them which are without, lest he fal into the rebuke and snare of the deuil.

8 Likewise must the " ministers be graue, not double tongued, not giuen to muche wine, neither greedie of filthy lucre:

9 (b) Holding the misterie of the faith in a pure conscience.

10 And let thē first be proued, then let thē minister, being blameles.

11 Euen so must their wiues be graue, not euil speakers, sober, faithful in al things.

12 Let the deacons be the husbandes of one wife, and suche as can rule their children wel, and their owne households.

13 For they that haue ministred well, geat them selues a good degree, and great libertie to speake in the faith (which is) in Christ Iesus.

14 These things write I vnto thee, hoping to come shortly vnto thee:

15 But if I tary long, that thou mayest know how thou oughtest to behaue thy selfe in the house of God, whiche is the Churche of the liuing God, the " pyller and grounde of the truth.

16 And without doubt, great is that misterie of godlynesse: God was shewed manyfestly in the flesh, was iustified in the spirite, was seene among the angels, was preached vnto the Gentiles, was beleeued on in ỹ worldẽ was receiued vp in glory.

1 NOwe the spirite speaketh euidently, that in the latter times some shal depart from the faith, giuing heede vnto spirites of errour, and doctrines of deuils,

5 For it is sanctified by the worde of God, and prayer.

6 If thou put the brethren in remembrance of these things, thou shalt bee a good minister of Iesus Christ, which hast bin nourished vp in the wordes of faith, and of good doctrine, which thou hast continually folowed.

7 But cast away prophane and old wiues fables, and exercise thy selfe rather vnto godlynesse,

8 For bodyly exercise profiteth little, but godlynesse is profitable vnto all things, hauing promises of the lyfe that is nowe, and of that whiche is to come.

9 (This is) a sure saying, and by all meanes worthy to be receiued:

The first Chapter.

6. Paul exhorteth Timotheus to stedfastnesse and patience in persecution, and to continue in the doctrine that he had taught him, 12. wherof his bondes and afflictions were a gage. 16. A commendation of Onesiphorus.

A 1 PAule an Apostle of Iesus Christ by the wil of God, (a) according to the promise of life, which is in Christ Iesus,
2 To Timothe my derely beloued son: grace, mercy, & peace from god the father, and Christ Iesus our Lorde.
3 I thanke God whom I worship from (my) forefathers in pure conscience, that without ceasing I haue remembrance of thee in my prayers night and day,
4 Greatly desiring to see thee, being mindful of thy teares: þ I may be filled w ioy.
5 When I cal to remembrance the vnfained faith that is in thee, whiche dwelt first in thy graundmother Lois, and in thy mother Eunica, and I am assured that (it dwelleth) in thee also.
6 Wherefore I put thee in remembrance that thou (b) styrre vp the gift of GOD, which is in thee, by the putting on of my handes, Mat.25.f. Rom.25.b.

16 The Lorde giue mercy vnto the house of Onesiphorus, for he oft refreshed me, & was not ashamed of my chayne.

17 But when he was in Rome, he sought me out very diligently, and founde me.

18 The Lorde graunt vnto him that he may finde mercy with the Lorde in that day. And in howe many things he ministred vnto me at Ephesus, thou knowest very well.

The. ij. Chapter.

1. He exhorteth him to be constant in trouble, to suffer manly, to abyde fast in the wholesome doctrine of our Lorde Iesus Christ, 11. shewing him the fidelitie of Gods counsell touching the saluation of his, 19. and the marke thereof.

A 1 Thou therefore my sonne, be strong in the grace that is in Christ Iesus.

2 And the thinges that thou haste heard of me by many witnesses, the same commit thou to faithful men, which shall bee apt to teache other also.

Titus.1.b.

3 Thou therefore suffer afflictions as a good souldier of Iesus Christ.

4 No man that warreth, entangleth him selfe with the affayres of (this) life, that he may please him which hath chosen him to be a souldier.

5 And if a man also wrestle, yet is hee not crowned except he wrestle lawfully.

6 The labouring husbandman (a) must first be partaker of the fruites.

a. So that the payne must goe before the recompence.

8 Remember that Iesus Christ of the seede of Dauid, was raised from the dead, according to my Gospel:

B Math.1.d. Rom.1.a.

9 Wherein I suffer trouble as an euil doer, euen vnto bondes: but the word of god is not bounde.

10 Therefore I suffer all things for the electes sakes, that they might also obtayne the saluation whiche is in Christ Iesus, with eternal glory.

¶ The first Chapter.

5. He aduertiseth Titus touching the gouernement of the Churche. 7. The ordinance and office of ministers. 12. The nature of the Cretians, and of them which sowe abrode Iewish fables, and inuentions.

1 PAul a seruaunt of God, and an apostle of Jesus Christe, according to the (a) fayth of gods electe, and the knowledge of ỹ trueth, which is after godlynes:
2 In the hope of eternal life, which god that can not lye, promised before ỹ world began:
3 But hath made manifest his worde at the time appointed through preaching, which is committed vnto me, according to the ordinance of God our sauiour:
4 To Titus a naturall (b) sonne after the common fayth, Grace, mercy, (and) peace from God the father, and the Lorde Jesus Christ our sauiour.
5 For this cause left I thee in Creta, that thou shouldest reforme the things that are left, and ordeyne elders in euery citie, as I had appointed thee:
6 If any bee blamelesse, the husbande of one wife, hauing faythfull children, not accusable of riote, or vntractable.
7 For a bysshop muste be blamelesse, as the steward of God: not stubborne, not angrie, not giuen to wine, no striker, not geuen to filthy lucre:
8 But a louer of hospitalitie, a louer of goodnesse, sober, righteous, godly, temperate:
9 Holding fast the faythfull worde whiche is according to doctrine, that hee may bee able both to exhort in wholsome doctrine, and to improue them that say against it.
10 For there are many vnruly and vayne talkers, and deceyuers of mindes, specially they (that are) of the (c) circumcision:

2 To blaspheme no man, to be no fyghters, (but) gentle, shewing all meekenesse vnto all men,

3 (a) For we our selues also were sometyme foolish, disobedient, deceyued, seruyng diuers lustes and voluptuousnesse, lyuing in malitiousnesse and enuie, full of hate, hating one another.

4 But after that the kindnesse and loue of our sauiour God to manward appeared,

5 Not of workes that bee in righteousnesse whiche we haue wrought, but according to his mercy he saued vs, by the (b) fountayne of the regeneration and renuyng of the holy Ghost,

6 Which he shed on vs richly through Iesus Christ our sauiour:

7 That we iustifyed by his grace, should be made heyres according to the hope of eternall lyfe.

8 (This is a) faythful saying, and these things I will that thou affirme constantly, that they whych haue beleeued in God, myght be careful to maynteyne good workes: these thynges are good and profitable vnto men.

9 But foolishe questions, and genealogies, and contentions, and stryuings about the lawe, auoyde: for they are vnprofitable and vayne.

10 A man that is an heretike, after the fyrste and the second admonition, auoyde:

11 Knowing that he that is suche, is subuerted, and sinneth, beyng damned of himselfe.

12 When I shall sende Artemas vnto thee, or Tychicus, be diligent to come vnto me vnto Nicopolis: for I haue determined there to wynter.

13 Bryng Zenas the lawyer, and Apollos on their iourney diligently, that nothing be lacking vnto them.

14 And let ours also learne to maynteyne good workes to necessary vses, that they bee not vnfruitefull.

15 All that are with me salute thee. Greete them that loue vs in the fayth. Grace bee with you al, Amen.

The Epistle of Saint Paul vnto Philemon.

5. He reioyceth to heare of the fayth and loue of Philemon. 9. whome he desyreth to forgyue his seruant Onesimus, and louingly to receyue hym agayne.

1 PAul a prisoner of Jesus Chrisse, & brother Timotheus, vnto Philemon my dearely beloued, and our felowe labourer,

2 And to our deare-ly beloued Apphia, and to Archippus, oure felowe souldier, and to the Churche in thy house:

3 Grace to you, and peace from God our father, and the Lord Jesus Chrisse.

4 I thanke my God, making mention alwayes of thee in my prayers,

5 Hearing of thy loue and fayth whyche thou hast toward the Lord Jesus, and toward al sayntes.

6 That the (a) felowship of thy fayth maye be effectuall in the knowledge of euery good (worke) whyche is in you towarde Chrysse Jesus.

7 For we haue great ioy and consolation in thy loue, bycause the bowelles (b) of ỹ saints are refreshed by thee, brother.

8 Wherefore, though I might be much bolde in Chrisse, to enioyne thee that whych is conuenient:

9 Yet for loues sake I rather beseech thee, being suche a one as Paul thraged, and nowe also a prisoner of Jesus Chrisse.

10 I beseeche thee for my sonne Onesimus, whome I haue begotten in my bondes:

11 Whych in time paste was to thee vnprofitable, but nowe profitable to thee and to me.

12 Whome I haue sent agayne: thou therefore receyue hym, that is, mine owne bowels;

13 Whome I would haue reteyned wyth mee, that in thy steede hee myghte haue ministred vnto mee in the bondes of the Gospell:

14 But without thy mynde would I do nothyng, that thy benefyte shoulde not be as it were of necessitie, but willingly.

15 For happily hee therefore departed for a season, that thou shouldest receyue hym for euer.

16 Not now as a seruaunt, but aboue a seruaunt, a brother beloued, specially to me: but how much more vnto thee, both in the flesshe, and in the Lorde?

17 If thou count me therefore a felowe, receyue him as my selfe.

18 If hee haue injured thee, or oweth (thee ought) that lay to my charge.

19 I Paul haue written it with myne owne hande, I will recompence it: albeit, I doe not say to thee howe thou owest vnto me euen thyne owne selfe beside.

20 Yea brother, let me, inioy (this) pleasure of thee in the Lord: comfort my (c) bowels in the Lorde.

21 Trusting in thyne obedience, I wrote vnto thee, knowing that thou wilte also doe more than I say.

22 Moreouer, prepare me also a lodging: for I trust that through your prayers I shall be giuen vnto you.

23 There salute thee Epaphras my felowe prisonet (d) in Chrisse Jesus.

24 Marcus, Aristarcus, Demas, Lucas, my felowe labourers.

25 The grace of our Lord Jesus Chrysse (be) with your spirite. Amen.

a. Thy beneuolence toward the saintes, which proceedeth of a liuely and effectuall fayth.

Written from Rome to Philemon by Onesimus a seruant.

The Epistle of the Apostle Saint Paul, to the Hebrues.

The first Chapter.

1. He sheweth the excellencie of Chryst, 4. aboue the angels, 7. and of theyr office.

1 God

GOD whyche in tyme paſt, at ſundry times, and in diuers manners ſpake vnto the fathers in ỹ prophetes,

2 Hath in theſe (a) laſt days ſpoken vnto vs in the ſonne, whome he hath appoynted heyre of all thynges, by whome alſo hee made the worldes.

3 Who being the bryghtneſſe of the glory, and the very image of hys ſubſtance, vpholding all things with the word of his power, hauing by hym ſelfe purged our ſinnes hathe ſit on the ryght hand of the maieſtie on high:

4 Being ſo much more excellent than the angels, as he hathe by inheritance obteyned a more excellent name than they.

5 For vnto which of the angels ſayd he at any tyme, Thou art my ſonne, thys (b) day haue I begotten thee?

6 And agayne, I wyll bee to hym a father, and he ſhall be to me a ſonne? And agayne when he bringeth in the fyrſt begotten ſonne into the worlde, he ſayeth, And let all the angels of God worſhip hym.

7 And vnto the angels he ſayeth, He maketh his angels (c) ſpirites, and his miniſters a flame of fyre:

8 But vnto the ſonne (he ſayth,) Thy ſeate, O God (ſhall be) for euer and euer: the ſcepter of thy kyngdome (is) a ſcepter of righteouſneſſe.

9 Thou haſt loued righteouſneſſe, and hated iniquitie: therefore God, euen thy God, hath anoynted thee with the oyle of gladneſſe aboue thy felowes.

10 And, thou Lord in the beginning haſt layd the fundation of the earth: and the heauens are the workes of thy handes:

11 They ſhall periſhe, but thou endureſt: and they all ſhall waxe olde as doth a garment:

12 And as a veſture ſhalt thou folde them vp, and they ſhall bee changed: but thou art the ſame and thy yeeres ſhall not fayle.

13 But vnto whiche of the angels ſayd hee at any tyme, Syt on my ryght hād, til I make thyne enimies thy foteſtole?

14 Are they not all miniſtring ſpirites, ſente forth into miniſterie for their ſakes whyche ſhall be heyres of ſaluation.

The.ij. Chapter.

1. He exhorteth vs to bee obedient vnto the newe lawe whiche Chriſte hathe giuen vs, 9. and not to bee offended at the infirmitie and lowe degree of Chriſt, 10. bycauſe it was neceſſarie that, for our ſakes he ſhoulde take ſuch an humble ſtate vpō him, that he might be lyke vnto his brethren.

1 THerefore wee ought to gyue the more earneſt heede to the thynges whyche we haue heard, leſt at any (d) tyme we ſhoulde let them ſlyppe.

2 For if the (e) worde ſpoken by angels, was ſtedfaſt: and euery tranſgreſſion and diſobedience receyued a iuſt recompence of rewarde:

3 How ſhal we eſcape, if we neglect ſo great ſaluation: which at the firſt began to be preached of the Lorde, and was confyrmed vnto vs ward by them that heard it,

4 God bearing witneſſe (thereto) both wyth ſignes and wonders alſo, and with diuers powers, and giftes of the holy ghoſt, accordyng to his owne wyll.

5 For vnto the angels hathe hee not put in ſubiection the worlde to come, whereof wee ſpeake.

6 But one in a certayne place witneſſed, ſaying, What is man, that thou art mynd-full of him? Or the ſonne of man, that thou viſiteſt hym?

7 Thou madeſt hym for a little whyle lower than the angels, thou haſt crowned him with (f) glory and honour, and haſt ſet hym aboue the workes of thy handes.

8 Thou haſt put all things in ſubiection vnder his feete. In that he put all thynges vnder hym, he left nothyng that is not put vnder hym. But now we ſee not yet all things put vnder hym.

9 But hym that for a whyle was made leſſe than the angels, wee ſee (that is was) Ieſus, who through the ſuffering of death, was crowned with glory and honour, that hee by the grace of God, ſhoulde taſt of deathe for all.

10 For it becōme hym, for whome are all thyngs, and by whome are all things, after he had brought many ſonnes vnto glory, that he ſhould make the captayne of their ſaluation perfect through affliction.

11 For both hee that ſanctifyeth, and they whiche are ſanctified (are) all of one: For whiche cauſe, he is not aſhamed to call them brethren,

12 Saying, I wyll declare thy name vnto my brethren, in the middeſt of the Churche will I prayſe thee, 13 And agayne, I wyll put my truſt in hym. And agayne, Beholde here am I, and the children which God hath giuen me.

a. We muſt diligently keepe in memorie, the doctrine whyche we haue learned, leſt lyke veſſels full of chaps, we leake and run out on euery part.
b. As the Goſpell is, whyche only offereth ſaluation. Math.16.d.

c. In makyng hym felowe heyre wyth Chriſt. Pſal.8.b. 1.Cor.15.d.

14 Forasmuch then as the children are partakers of flesshe and blood, hee also hym selfe likewise toke parte with them, that through death he might expell him that had lordship over death, that is the deuyl:

15 And that he might deliuer them which through feare of deathe, were all their lyfe time in danger of bondage.

d. Not the nature of angels, but of men.

16 For he in no place taketh on hym the (d) angels: but the seede of Abraham taketh hee on him.

17 Wherefore in all thynges it became him to be made like vnto his brethren, that he might be mercifull, and a faythfull hygh preiste in things concerning God, for to purge ỳ peoples synnes.

18 For in that hee him selfe suffered, and was tempted, he is able to succour them that are tempted.

The.iij. Chapter.

1. He requireth them to be obedient vnto the word of Christ, 3. who is more worthy than Moses. 12. The punishmente of suche as wyll harden theyr heartes, and not beleeue, that they myght haue eternall rest.

1 Therefore holy brethren, partakers of the celestiall calling, (a) consider the apostle and hyghe priest of oure profession Christe Iesus,

a. Take heede to his wordes, and heare him.

2 Beyng faythfull to hym that appoynted hym, as also Moses (was faythfull) in al his house.

3 For this (man) was counted worthy of more glory than Moses, in as muche as hee which hath buylded the house, hath more honoure than the house.

4 For euery house is builded of some man: but he that buylded all things, is God.

5 And Moses verily was faythfull in all hys house, as a seruante, for a witnesse of those things which were to be spoken after:

Rom.5.a. b. For in obeying the sonne, we are made the house of God.

6 But Christe as a sonne hath rule ouer hys owne house: (b) whose house are we if we hold fast the confidence and the reioycing of that hope vnto the ende.

7 Wherefore, as the holy ghost sayth, To day if ye will heare his voyce,

8 Harden not your hartes, as in the prouocation in the day of the temptation in the wildernesse:

9 Where youre fathers tempted me, prouoked me, and sawe my workes fortie yeeres.

10 Wherefore I was greeued with this generation, and sayde, They doe alwaye erre in harte, they verily haue not knowen my wayes.

e. Here is the Hebrue phrase, meaning that they shal not enter.

11 So that I sware in my wrath, (c) If they shall enter into my rest.

12 Take heede brethren, least at any tyme there be in any of you an euill hart of vnbeleefe, to depart from the lyuing God:

13 But exhort ye one another dayly, whyle it is called to day: least any of you be hardened through the deceitfulnesse of synne.

14 For we are made partakers of Christe, if we keepe sure vnto the end (d) the beginning of the substance.

15 "So long as it is sayd, To day if ye wyll heare hys voyce, harden not youre hartes, as in the prouocation.

16 For some when they had heard, dyd prouoke: "howbeit, not all that came out of Egypt by Moses.

17 But with whome was he displeased fortie yeeres? Not with them that had synned, whose carkales fell in the desart?

18 And to whome sware he that they should not enter into his rest, but vnto them that were not obedient?

19 And wee see that they could not enter in, because of vnbeleefe.

The.iiij. Chapter.

2. The worde without fayth is vnprofitable. 3. The Sabboth or rest of the Christians. 6. Punishment of vnbelecuers. 12. The nature of the word of God.

1 Let vs feare therefore, lest at any tyme by forsaking the promise of entring into hys rest, any of you should seeme to be defrauded.

2 For vnto vs was the Gospell preached, as well as vnto them: but the word which they heard, dyd not profyte them, not being coupled with fayth to them that heard.

3 For we whyche haue beleeued, doe enter into his rest, as he sayde, Euen as I haue sworne in my wrath, if (a) they shall enter into my rest: although the workes were made perfect from the fundation of the worlde.

a. Although that God by hys rest and the creation his worke, signifyed the spirituall rest of the faythful: yet he sware to giue rest Chanaan, whe was but a figure of the heauenly and dured for a tyme. Gen.2.d.

4 For he spake in a certayne place of the seuenth daye on this wise, And God did reste the seuenth day from all his workes.

5 And in this place agayne, If they shall enter into my rest.

6 Seeyng therefore it followeth that some must enter thereinto, and they to whome the Gospell was fyrst preached entred not therein for vnbeleefe.

7 Agayne, he appoynteth a certayne day, by to day, saying in Dauid after so long a time (as it is sayde,) To day if ye wyll heare his voyce, harden not your hartes.

8 For if (b) Iesus had giuen them rest, then would

b. By Iesus meant Iesu woulde be not afterwarde haue ꝓuided of nother day.

9 There remayneth therefore yet a reste to the people of God.

10 For hee that is entred into his rest, hathe ceassed also from his owne workes, as God
(dyd) from his.

11 Let vs studie therefore to entre into that rest, lest any man fall after the same ensample of disobedience.

12 For the worde of God is quicke and mighty in operation, and sharper then any two edged sworde, and entreth thorough euen vnto the dividing asunder of the (c) soule, and the (d) spirit, and of the joyntes and the mar-rowe, and is a discerner of the thoughtes and of the intentes of the hart.

13 Neyther is there any creature that is not manyfest in the syght of hym: but all thynges
(are) naked and open vnto the eyes of hym of whome we speake.

14 Seeing then that wee haue a greate hyghe priest, whiche is entred into heauens, Iesus the sonne of God, let vs holde fast (this) cō-fession.

15 For we haue not an hygh priest which can not bee touched with the feeling of our infirmities: but was in all poyntes tempted lyke as we are, and (yet) without synne.

16 Let vs therefore come boldly vnto the throne of grace, that we may obteyne mercy, and fynde grace to helpe in time of neede.

The. v. Chapter.

1. He compareth Iesus Christ with the Leuiticall priestes, shewing wherein they eyther agree, or dissent. 11. Afterward he reproueth the negligence of the Iewes.

A 1 For euery high priest taken from among men, is ordeyned for men, in things (perteyning) to God, to offer (a) giftes, and sacrifices for sinne:

2 Which can sufficiently haue compassion on the ignorannt, and on them that erre out of the way, forasmuch as he him selfe also is cō-passed with infirmitie.

3 And for the same (infirmitie) he is bounde to offer for sinnes, aswell for hym selfe, as for the people.

4 And no man taketh the honour vnto hymselfe, but hee that is called of God, as was Aaron.

5 Euen so, Christe also glorifyed not hymselfe to be made the high priest: but hee that sayde vnto him, Thou art my sonne, to day
I haue begotten thee (gaue it him.)

6 As hee sayeth also in another place, Thou art a priest for euer, after the order of Mel-

7 Whiche in the dayes of his flesshe, when hee had offered vp prayers and supplications, with stronge cryinges and teares, vnto him that was able to haue saued him from deathe, and was heard in (b) that which he feared:

8 Though he were the sonne, yet learned hee obedience, by those thynges whyche he suffered.

9 And beyng perfect, was made the authour of eternall saluation vnto all them that obey him,

10 And is called of God an hygh priest after the order of Melchisedech.

11 Of whome we haue many thynges to saye, and harde to be vttered, seyng ye are dull of hearyng.

12 For when as concerning the time, ye ought to be teachers, yet haue ye need again that one teache you the fyrst principles of the begynnyng of the woorde of God, and are become suche as haue need of mylke, and not of stronge meate.

13 For euery one that vseth mylke, is vnexpert of the worde of ryghtousnesse, for he is a babe.

14 But stronge meate belongeth to them that are perfect, euen those whiche by reason of vse, haue their wyttes exercised to discerne both good and euill.

The. vi. Chapter.

1. He proceedeth in reproouing them, and exhorteth them not to faynt, 12. but to be sted-fast and patient, 18. forasmuch as God is sure in his promise.

1 Therefore leauing the doctrine of the beginning (a) of Christ, let vs goe forthe vnto perfection, not laying agayne the foundation of repentance from dead workes, and of fayth toward God,

2 Of the doctrine of baptismes, and of layeng on of handes, and of resurrection of the dead, and of eternall iudgement.

3 And this wyll we do, if God permit.

4 For it can not be that they which wer once lyghted, and haue tasted of the heauenly gift, and were become partakers of the holy Ghost,

5 And haue tasted of the good worde of God, and the powers of the world to come:

6 And they fall away, shoulde bee renued a-gayne into repentance, crucifying to them selues the sonne of God afresshe, and making a mocke of him.

Hebr. 8. a. 20 Whyther the forerunner is for vs entred (euen) Jesus, after the order of Melchisedech made a priest for euer.

The. vij. Chapter.

1. He compareth the priesthood of Christ vnto Meschisedech, 11. also Christes priesthoode with the Leuites.

A Gen. 14. g. 1 FOr this Melchisedech king of Salem, priest of the most high God, who met Abraham returning from the slaughter of the kings, and blessed hym,

2 To whome also Abraham gaue tythe of al things: first being called by interpretation king of righteousnesse: and after that also, kyng of Salem, which is king of peace,

3 Without (a) father, without mother, without kynne, hauyng neyther begynning of dayes, nether ende of life, but lykened vnto the sonne of God, continueth a priest for euer.

a. So called, bycause that Moses maketh no mention of his parents or kinsfolkes, but as he had bin suddenly sent of God into the worlde, to be a figure of Christe, as a euerlasting priest, and shortly taken out of the world again. So Christe as touching his humanitie, had no father, and concerning his diuinitie, no mother. B 4 Now consyder how great this (man) was, vnto whome also the Patriarch Abraham gaue tythe of the spoyles.

5 And verily they whiche are of the children of Leui, which receiue the office of the priesthood, haue a commaundement to take tithe of the people according to the lawe, that is, of their brethren, though they came out of the loynes of Abraham.

6 But hee whose kynrede is not counted among them, receyued tithe of Abraham, and blessed hym that had the promyses.

7 And without all controuersie, the lesse is blessed of the better.

8 And here men that dye, receyue tythes: but there he (receiueth them) of whome it is witnessed that he liueth.

9 And (to say the trueth) Leui also whyche receyueth tythes, payed tythes in Abraham.

10 For he was yet in the loynes of his father, when Melchisedech met Abraham.

Rom. 2. c. Galat. 3. c. 11 If therefore perfection was by the priesthood of the Leuites (for vnder that priesthood the people receyued the lawe) what needed it furthermore that another priest shoulde ryse after the order of Melchisedech, and not to be called after the order of Aaron?

12 For if the priesthood be translated, of necessitie also there is made a translation of the lawe.

13 For he of whome these things are spoken, perteyneth vnto another tribe, of whyche no man gaue attendance at the aulter.

14 For it is euident that our Lord sprong out of Juda, of whiche tribe spake Moses nothyng concerning priesthood:

C Math. 1. a. 15 And (it is) yet a farre more euident thing, if after the similitude of Melchisedech there arise another priest, 16 Whiche is not made after the lawe of the carnall commaundement, but after the power of the endlesse life.

Psal. 110. b. Hebr. 4. c. 17 For he thus testifieth, Thou art a priest for euer, after the order of Melchisedech.

18 For there is truely a disanulling of the commaundement going before, for ỹ weaknesse and vnprofitablenesse thereof.

Rom. 8. a. Galath. 3. c. 19 For the lawe made nothing perfect, but (was) the bringing in of a better hope, by the which we drawe nygh vnto God.

20 And in as much as that was not without an othe, (for those priestes were made wythout an othe:

D
Psal.110.a
21 But this priest with an othe, by him that sayde vnto him, The Lorde sware, and will not repent hym, thou art a priest for euer after the order of Melchisedech,) 22 By so muche was Iesus made a suretie of a better testament.
23 And amõg them many were made priests, bycause they were forbidden by death to endure:
24 But this man, bycause he endureth euer, hath an (b) vnchangeable priesthood.
25 Wherfore he is able also euer to saue them to the vttermoste, that come vnto God by hym, seeyng he euer liueth, to make intercession for them.
26 For such an high priest became vs, (which is) holy, harmeleste, vndefiled, separate from sinners, and made higher than heauens:
27 Whiche needeth not dayly, as those hyghe priests, to offer vp sacrifice, first for his owne sinnes, and then for the peoples: for that dyd he once, when he offered vp himselfe.
28 For the lawe maketh menne high priestes whiche haue infirmitie: but the worde of the othe whiche was after the lawe (maketh) the sonne, which is perfect for euermore.

1 The first (couenant) then had verily "iustifying ordinances, seruings of God, and worldly holynesse.
2 For there was a tabernacle made, the first (truely) wherein was the candlesticke, and the table, and the shew bread, which is called holy.
3 But after the (a) second vayle (was) a tabernacle whiche is called holyest of all:
4 Whiche had the golden censer, and the arke of the couenant ouerlayde rounde aboute with golde, wherein was the golden potte hauyng Manna, and Aarons rodde that had budded, and the tables of the couenant:
5 And ouer it the Cherubims of glory, shadowyng the mercy seate: Of which thyngs we can not now speake particularly.
6 When these thyngs were thus ordeyned, the priests went alwayes into the first tabernacle, accomplishyng the seruice of God.

8 The holy ghoſt this ſignifying, that the (b) way of holy things was not yet made manifeſt, while as yet the firſte tabernacle was ſtandyng:

9 Whiche (was) a ſimilitude for the tyme then preſent, in whiche were offred giftes, and ſacrifices, that coulde not make the worſhipper perfect as pertaynyng to the conſcience,

10 With onely meates and drynkes, and diuers waſſhyngs, and iuſtifyings of the fleſh, whiche were layde vp vntill the tyme of reformation.

11 But Chriſte beyng come an hygh prieſte of good thyngs that ſhoulde be, by a greater and more perfect tabernacle, not made with handes, that is to ſay, not of this buyldyng, 12 Neither by the bloud of Goates & Calues: but by hys owne bloud he entred in once into the holy place, and founde eternall redemption.

13 For if the (c) bloud of Oxen, & of Goates, and the aſſhes of a young Cowe, ſprynckling the vncleane, ſanctifieth to the purifying of the fleſhe:

14 Howe muche more the bloud of Chriſte, whiche through the eternall ſpirite offered himſelfe without ſpot to God, ſhall purge your conſcience from dead workes, to ſerue the liuyng God?

15 And for this cauſe is he the mediatour of the new "couenant, that through death, which was for the redemption of the tranſgreſſions (that were) vnder the firſte "couenant, they whiche are called, might receyue the promiſe of eternall inheritance.

16 For where as is a teſtament, there muſt alſo of neceſſitie be the death of him that made the teſtament.

17 For a teſtament is confirmed, when men are dead: for it is yet of no value, as long as he that made the teſtament is alyue.

18 For whiche cauſe alſo, neyther the firſt (teſtament) was dedicated without bloud.

19 For when Moſes had ſpoken euery precept to all the people accordyng to the lawe, taking the bloud of Calues, and of Goates, with water, and purple wool, and hyſope, he ſprynckled bothe the booke it ſelfe, and all the people, 20 Saying, This (is) the bloud of the teſtament whiche God hath enioyned vnto you.

21 And likewyſe he ſprinckled with bloud bothe the tabernacle, and all the veſſels of the miniſterie.

22 And almoſt al things are by the lawe purged with bloud, and without ſhedding of bloud is no remiſſion.

23 It is neede then that the paterns of heauenly things, be purified with ſuche things: but the heauenly things themſelues (be purified) with better ſacrifices than are thoſe.

24 For Chriſt is not entred into the holy place made with hands (which are) paternes of true things: but into heauen it ſelfe, now to appeare in the ſight of God for vs.

25 Not that he ſhould offer himſelfe (d) often, as the high prieſt entreth into the holy places euery yeere in ſtrange bloud:

26 (For then muſte hee haue often ſuffered ſince the fundation of the worlde:) but now once in the ende of the worlde hath he appeared, to put away ſinne, by the ſacrifice of himſelfe.

27 And as it is appoynted vnto men once to die, and after this the iudgement:

28 Euen ſo Chriſte once ſuffred to take away the ſinnes of many, the ſeconde time ſhall be ſeene without ſinne of them whiche wayte for him vnto ſalnation.

2 For woulde not then thoſe (ſacrifices) haue ceaſſed to haue bene offered, becauſe that the offerers once purged, ſhoulde haue had no more conſcience of ſinnes?

3 Neuertheleſſe, in thoſe (ſacrifices) is mention made of ſinnes euery yeere.

4 For it is not poſſible that ỹ bloud of bulles and of goates, ſhould take away ſinnes.

23 Lette vs holde the profession of the hope, without wauering, (for he is faithfull that promised:)

24 And lette vs consyder one an other to prouoke vnto loue, and good workes.

25 Not forsaking the assembling of our selues together, as the manner of some (is) but exhorting one (another) and so much the more as ye see the day approching.

26 For if we sinne willingly after that wee haue receyued the knowledge of the truthe, there remayneth no more sacrifice for sinnes:

27 But a fearefull looking for of iudgement, and violent fyre, whiche shall deuoure the aduersaries.

28 He that despised Moyses lawe, dyeth without mercie vnder two or three witnesses:

29 Of how much sorer punishment (suppose ye) shal he be worthie, which hath troden vnder foote the sonne of God: and hath counted the bloud of the couenaunt wherein he was sanctified, an vnholie thing, and hath done despite to the spirite of grace?

30 For we knowe him that hath sayd, Vengeance (belongeth) vnto me, I will render, sayth the Lorde: and agayne the Lord shal iudge his people.

31 It is a fearefull thyng to fall into the handes of the liuing God.

32 Call to remembraunce the former dayes, in the whiche after ye had receyued lyghte, ye endured a great fight of aduersities:

33 Partely whyle ye were made a gasyng stocke, both by reproches and afflictions, and partly whyle ye became companions of them which were so tossed to and fro.

34 For ye suffred also with my bondes, and toke in worth ỹ spoiling of your goods with gladnesse: knowyng in youre selues howe that ye haue in heauen a better and an enduring substance.

35 Cast not away therfore youre confidence which hath great recompence of reward.

36 For ye haue neede of pacience, that after ye haue done the will of God, ye might receiue the promise.

37 For yet a verie little while, and he that shal come, will come, and will not tarie.

38 And the iust shall liue by faith: and if he withdrawe himselfe, my soule shall haue no pleasure in him.

1 Wherefore, seyng that we are compassed with so great a cloude of witnesses, all layde away that (a) presseth downe, and the sinne that hangeth so fast on, let vs run with patience vnto the battayle that is set before vs:

2 Lokyng vnto Jesus the "captayne and fynisher of our fayth, whiche for the ioy that was set before him, endured the crosse, hauyng despised the shame, and is set downe on the ryght hande of the throne of God.

3 Consider therefore hym that endured such speakyng agaynst hym of sinners, least you shoulde be wearyed, faintyng in your mindes.

4 Ye haue not resisted vnto (the sheddyng of) bloud, stryuing agaynst sinne.

5 And ye haue forgotten the exhortation whiche speaketh vnto you as vnto chyldren, My sonne, despise not thou the chastenyng of the Lorde, neyther faynt when thou art rebuked of hym.

6 For whom the Lorde loueth he chasteneth, and scourgeth euery sonne that he receiueth.

7 If ye endure chastenyng, God tendreth you as his sonnes: for what sonne is he whom the father chastneth not?

8 But if ye be without chastisement, whereof all are partakers, then are ye bastardes, and not sonnes.

9 Furthermore, wee haue had fathers of our flesshe, which corrected vs, and wee gaue (them) reuerence: shall wee not then much rather be in subiection vnto the father of spirites, and liue?

10 For they verily for a fewe dayes chastened vs after theyr owne pleasure, but he for our profite, that wee myght be partakers of hys holynesse.

11 No chastisyng for the present seemeth to be ioyous, but greeuous: neuertheless, afterwarde it bryngeth the quyet fruyte of ryghteousnesse, vnto them whiche are exercised thereby.

12 Strayghten vp therefore the hands which were let downe, and the weake knees, 13 And make right steppes vnto your feete, least (b) that which is halyng turne out of the way: but let it rather be healed.

14 Followe peace with all men, and holynesse, without the which no man shall see the Lorde:

15 Taking heede that no man fall away from the grace of God, least any roote of bitternesse springyng vp, trouble you, and thereby many be defiled.

16 Lette there be no fornicatour or vncleane person, as Esau, whiche for one morsell of meate solde hys birthryght.

17 For ye knowe how that afterwarde, when he would haue inherited the blessyng, he was reprobated: for he found no place of repentance, though he sought it carefully with teares.

18 For ye are not come vnto the mount that is (c) touched, and vnto burnyng fire, and vnto cloome & darkenesse, & tempest of weather,

19 And sounde of a trumpe, and the voyce of wordes: which (voyce) they that heard it, wished away, that the worde should not be spoken to them:

20 (For they did not abyde that whiche was commaunded. And if so much as a beaste touche the mountayne, it shall be stoned, or thrust through with a dart.

21 And so terrible was the sight which appeared, that Moses sayde, I feare exceedingly, and quake:)

22 But ye are come vnto the mount Sion, and to the citie of the lyuing God, the celestiall Hierusalem, and to an innumerable company of (d) angels.

23 And vnto the congregation of the firste borne, whiche are written in heauen, and to God the iudge of all, and to the spirites of iust and perfect men:

24 And to Jesus the mediatour of the newe tournant, & to the bloud of sprinkling that speaketh better then (did the bloud) of Abel.

25 See that ye despise not hym that speaketh: for if they escaped not whiche refused hym that spake on earth, muche more shall we (not escape) if we turne away from hym that (speaketh) from heauen:

26 Whose voyce then shooke the earth, and nowe hath declared, saying, Yet once more I shake not the earth onely, but also heauen.

27 And this (word) yet once more, signifyeth remouyng of those thyngs whiche are "shaken, as of thyngs which are made, that the thinges whiche are not "shaken, may remayne.

28 Wherefore, wee receiuyng a kyngdome which can not be moued, let vs haue grace, whereby wee may so serue God acceptable, with reuerence and godly feare.

¶ The firſt Chapter.

1. He exhorteth to reioyce in trouble, & to be feruent in prayer, with ſtedfaſt beleefe, 17. to looke for all good things from aboue, 21. to forſake all wyckednes, and thankfully to receyue the woorde of God, 22. not onely hearyng it, and ſpeakyng of it, but to do therafter in deede. 27. The Epistle in S. Philip and Iames daye.

1 IAmes a seruant of God, and of the Lorde Iesus Christ, to ỹ twelue tribes which are scattered abroade, greeting.
2 My brethren, count it al ioye when ye fall into diuers temptations.
3 Knowing (this) that the trying of your fayth worketh patience,
4 And let patience haue (his) perfect worke, that ye maye be perfect and sounde, lackyng nothing.
5 If any of you lacke wysedome, lette hym aske of God, that giueth to all men indifferently, and casteth no man in the teeth: and it shall be giuen him.
6 But let him aske in faith, nothing wauering: For he that wauereth, is lyke a wane of the sea, tost of the wynde, and caryed with violence.
7 Neither let that man thinke that he shal receyue any thing of the Lorde.
8 A double mynded man (is) vnstable in all his wayes.
9 Let the brother of lowe degree, reioyce in that he is (a) exalted:
10 Agayne, the ryche, in that he is made lowe: Bicause as the floure of the grasse he shall passe away.
11 For (as) the Sunne hath risen with heate, and the grasse hath withered, and his floure hath fallen awaye, and the beautie of the fashion of it hathe perished: so also shall the riche man fade away in his wayes.
12 Blessed is the man that endureth temptation: for when he is tryed, he shall receyue the crowne of lyfe whiche the Lorde hathe promised to them that loue him.
13 Let no man say when he is (b) tempted, I am tempted of God: for GOD cannot be tempted with euill, neyther tempteth he any man.
14 But euery man is tempted when hee is drawen away, and enticed with the bayte of his owne concupiscence.
15 Then when lust hath conceyued, it bryngeth forth sinne: and sinne when it is finished, bringeth forth death.
16 Doe not erre my deare brethren.
17 Euery good (c) gining, and euery perfecte gyfte is from aboue, and commeth downe from the father of lyghtes, with whome is no variableneſſe, neither shadow of turning.
18 Of his owne will begate hee vs, with the worde of truth, that we should be the firſte fruites of his creatures.
19 Wherefore my deare brethren, let euery man bee swyfte to heare, slowe to speake, slowe to wrathe.
20 For the wrath of man, worketh not that whiche is righteous before God.
21 Wherefore lay apart all filthyneſſe, and superfluitie of "naughtineſſe, and receyue with meekeneſſe the worde that is graffed in you, which is able to saue your soules.
22 And be ye doers of the word, and not hearers only, deceiuing your owne selues.
23 For if any be a hearer of the worde, and not a doer, he is lyke vnto a man beholding his bodyly face in a ((d) glasse.
24 For he hathe considered himselfe, and is gone his wayes, and hath forgotten immediately what his fashion was.
25 But who so looketh in the perfect law of libertie, and continueth (therin) he being not a forgetfull hearer, but a doer of the worke, shall be blessed in his deede.
26 If any man among you seeme to be "deuoute, and refrayneth not his tonng, but deceyueth his owne heart, this mans "deuotion is vayne.
27 Pure deuotion and vndefiled before God and the father is this, To visite the fatherlesse and widowes in their aduersitie, and to kepe himselfe vnspotted of the worlde.

1. He forbyddeth to haue any respect of persons, 5. but too regard the poore as well as the ryche. 8. to be louing and merciful, 14. and not to boast of Fayth, where no deedes are. 17. for it is but a deade fayth, where good works folow not.

1 MY brethren, haue not the faithe of our Lorde Iesus Christ, the Lord of glorie (a) with respect of persons.
2 For if there come into your "companie a man wearing a golde ring, in goodly apparell, and there come in also a poore man in vile rayment:
3 And ye haue a respecte to him that weareth the gay clothing, and saye vnto him, Sitte thou here in a good place: and say vnto the poore, Stand thou there, or sitte here vnder my footestoole:
4 Are ye not partiall in youre selues, and are made iudges of euill thoughtes:
5 Hearken my deare beloued brethren, Hathe not God chosen the poore of this worlde (that they might be) riche in faithe, and heires of the kingdome, whiche he promised to them that loue him?
6 But ye haue despised the poore. Do not rich men oppresse you by tyrannie, and drawe you before the iudgement seates?

8 If ye fulfyll the royall lawe according to the scripture, Thou shalte loue thy neyghbour as thy selfe, ye doe well:

9 But if ye regarde one person more than an other, ye commit sinne, and are rebuked of the lawe as transgressours.

Matth. 5, c. 10 Whosoeuer shall kepe the whole law, and yet fayle in one poynt, he is gyltie of all.

11 For he that sayde, Doe not commit aduulterie: sayde also, Doe not kill. Thoughe thou doe none aduulterie, yet if thou kill, thou arte become a transgressoure of the lawe.

c. By the mercie of God, which deliuereth vs from the curse of the lawe.

12 So speake ye, and so doe, as they that shal be iudged by the lawe of (c) libertie.

13 For hee (shall haue) iudgement without mercie, that hathe shewed no mercie: and mercie reioyceth agaynst iudgement.

14 What profiteth it my brethren, though a man say he hath faith, and hath not deedes? can faith saue him?

15 If a brother or a sister be naked, and destitute of dayely fode,

16 And one of you say vnto them, Depart in peace, be you warmed and fylled: notwithstanding yee giue them not those thynges whiche are needfull to the bodie: what (shall it) profite?

17 Euen so Faithe, if it haue not deedes, is dead in it selfe.

18 But some man wil say, Thou hast faith, and I haue deedes: shewe me thy fayth by thy (d) deeds, and I wil shew thee my faith by my deedes.

d. Here deedes are considered as ioyned with true faith.

19 Thou beleeuest that there is one GOD, thou doest well: the deuyls also beleeue, and tremble.

20 But wilt thou know, O thou vayn man, that that fayth (whiche is) without workes, is dead?

Gene. 22. b. 21 Was not Abraham oure father iustifyed through workes, when he had offered Isaac his sonne vpon the aultar?

22 Seest thou not howe that faith wroughte with his deedes, and through the deeds was the fayth made perfecte?

Gen. 15. b. Rom. 4 a. Galath. 3. a. 23 And the scripture was fulfilled whych sayeth, Abraham beleeued God, and it was reputed vnto him for righteousnesse: and hee was called the friend of God.

24 Ye see then, howe that of deedes a man is iustifyed, and not of faith only?

Josue. 2. a. 25 Lykewyse also, was not Rahab the harlot iustifyed through workes, when she had receiued the messangers, and had sente them out an other way?

26 For, as the bodye without the spirite is dead, euen so Faythe without workes, is dead (also.)

The. iij. Chapter.

2. He forbiddeth all ambition to seeke honour aboue our brethren. 3. He describeth the propretie of the tongue. 15. 16. And what difference there is betwixte the wisedome of God, and the wisedome of the world.

1 MY brethren, be not many maisters, knowing howe that wee shall receyue the greater damnation.

A Math. 23. Prou. 17. a. He that is able to moderate his tong hath attayned to an excellent. g. vertue.

2 For in many things we offende all. If a man offende not in (a) worde, the same is a perfecte man, and able also to bridle all the bodie.

3 Beholde, we put bittes in the horses mouthes, that they may obey vs, and we turne about their whole bodie:

4 Beholde also the shippes, whiche though they bee so greate, and are driuen of fierce wyndes, yet are they turned aboute with a verie small helme, whether so euer the luste of the gouernour will:

5 Euen so the tongue is a little member also, and boasteth great things: beholde howe great a matter a little fyre kindleth.

6 And the tongue is fyre, euen a worlde of wickednesse: so is the toung set among our membres, that it defileth the whole bodye, and (b) setteth on fyre the course of nature, and it is set on fyre of hell.

b. The intemperancie of the toung, is flame of hell fyre.

B

7 All the nature of beastes, and of byrds, and of serpentes, and things of the sea is meeked and tamed of the nature of man:

8 But the tongue can no man tame (it is) an vnruly euill, full of deadly poyson:

9 Therewith blesse wee (our) God and father: and therwith curse we men, which are made after the similitude of God. Gene. 1. b.

10 Out of one mouthe proceedeth blessing and cursing: My brethren, these thynges ought not so to be.

11 Doth a fountayne sende forth at one hole sweete (water) and bitter (also?)

12 Can the figge tree, my brethren, beare olive berries? eyther a vine beare figges? so (can) no fountayne giue both salte water & fresshe also.

13 Who is a wyse man and endewed with knowledge among you? let him shew his workes out of good conuersation with meekenesse of wysedome.

14 But if ye haue bitter enuying and stryfe in your heart, glorie not, neyther be lyers against the truth. C

15 For suche wisedome descendeth not from aboue: but is earthly, sensuall, & diuelishe.

16 For where enuying and stryfe is, there is sedition, and of all maner of euill workes.

17 But the wisedome that is from aboue, is first pure, then peaceable, gentle, and easye to be you, the things which the angels desire to behold.

13 Wherefore gyrde vp the loynes of your mynde, be sober, and truste perfectly on the grace that is brought vnto you by the reuelation of Iesus Christ:

14 As obedient children, not fashioning your selues vnto the former lustes of your ignorance:

15 But as he which called you, is holy, euē so be ye holy also in all manner of conuersation.

16 Because it is written, Be ye holy, for I am holy.

17 And if so be that ye call on the father, which wout respect of person iudgeth according to euery mans worke, see that ye passe the time of your dwelling here, in feare:

18 Forasmuch as ye knowe, howe that ye were not redemed with corruptible (thinges) as siluer and golde, from your vaine conuersation, whiche ye receiued by the tradition of the fathers:

19 But with the precious bloud of Christ, as of a lamb vndefyled and without spot:

20 Which was ordeined before hande, euen before the worlde was made, but was declared in the (c) last times for your sakes:

21 Which by his meanes doe beleeue on God that raysed him vp from the dead, and gaue him glory, that he might haue faith and hope towarde God:

22 Euen ye which haue purifyed your soules, through the spirite in obeying the trueth, with brotherly loue vnfaigned, see that ye loue one another with a pure hart feruently:

23 For ye are borne a new, not of corruptible sede: but of incorruptible, by the worde of God, which liueth and lasteth for euer.

24 For all flesshe is as grasse, & al the glory of man is as the floure of grasse: The grasse withereth, and the floure falleth away:

25 But the worde of the Lorde endureth euer: And this is the worde which by the Gospel was preached vnto you.

The. ij. Chapter.

3. He exhorteth them to lay aside all vice, 4. shewing that Christ is the fundation whereupon they buylde.

1 Wherefore all" noughtinesse, and all guyle, and faignednesse, and enuie, and backbiting layde aside,

2 As newe borne babes, desire ye the milke of the worde, which is without deceite: that ye may growe thereby (vnto saluation.)

3 If so be that ye haue tasted howe gracious the Lorde is:

4 To whome ye come as vnto a liuing stone, disalowed of menne, but chosen of God (and) precious.

5 And ye as liuely stones, be you made a spirituall house, an holy priesthood, for to offer vp spiritual sacrifice, acceptable to God by Iesus Christ.

6 Wherefore it is conteined also in the scripture: Beholde, I put in Sion a stone to be laide in the chiefe corner, elect and precious, and he that beleeueth on him, shall in no wise be confounded.

7 Vnto you therefore which beleeue, he is precious: but vnto them whiche beleeue not, the stone which ỹ builders disalowed, the same is made the head of the corner:

8 And a stone of stumbling, and a rocke of offence, which stumble at the worde, and being disobedient, vnto the whiche thing they were ordained.

9 But ye are a chosen generation, a royall priesthood, an holy nation, a peculiar people: that ye should shewe forth the vertues of him that called you out of darkenesse into his marueilous light.

10 Which in time past were not a people, but are nowe the people of God: whiche sometime had not obtained mercy, but nowe haue obteyned mercy.

11 Dearly beloued, I beseech you as strangers and pylgrimes, abstayne from fleshly lustes, which fight against the soule:

12 And see that ye haue honest conuersation among the Gentiles: that whereas they backbite you as euil doers, they may by your good workes (which) they shall see, glorifie God in the day of visitation.

13 Submit your selues therefore vnto all maner ordinaunce of man for the Lordes sake: whether it be vnto the king, as hauing the preeminence:

14 Other vnto rulers, as vnto them that are sent by him for the punishmēt of euil doers, but for the laude of them that doe wel:

15 For so is the wil of God, that with well doing ye may stop the ignoraunce of foolish men.

16 As free, and not as hauing the libertie for a cloke of noughtinesse, but even as the seruantes of God.

17 Honour al men, Loue brotherly fellowship, Feare God, Honour the king.

18 Seruantes obey your maisters with all feare, not onely if they be good and curteous, but also though they be frowarde.

19 For it is thanke worthy, if a man for cõscience toward god endure greefe, & suffer wrong vndeserued.

The Epistle on the second sunday after Easter. Mat. 5. a.

20 For what prayse is it, if when ye be buffetted for your faultes, ye shall take it patiently? But if when ye doe well, and suffer wrong, and shall take it patiently, then is there thanke with God.

D "Gene. 22. for you. John. 13. b. Ephes. 5. a.

21 For hereunto verily were ye called: for Christ also suffered "for vs, leaning vs an ensample, that ye shoulde folowe his steppes.

The. iiij. Chapter.

1. Howe wiues ought to order them selues towarde their husbandes. 3. And in their apparel.

A 1 Likewise ye wiues be in subiection to your husbandes, that euen they which obey not the word, may without the word be wonne, by ỹ conuersatiõ of the wiues:

2 After that they haue beholden your chaste conuersation (coupled) with feare.

3 Whose apparel let it not be that whiche is outwarde, with brayded heare, and hanging on of gold, eyther in putting on of (gorgeous) apparel:

4 But let the hid man (which is) in the hart be without al corruption, of a meeke and quiet spirite, which (spirite) is before god a thing much set by.

5 For after this manner in the olde tymes did the holy women also, which trusted in God, tyre themselues, being obedient vnto their husbandes,

6 Euen as Sara obeyed Abraham, calling him Lorde, whose daughters ye are as long as ye doe well, and are not afrayde for any terrour.

B 7 Likewise ỹ husbandes, dwel with them according to knowledge, giuing honour vnto the wife, as vnto the weaker vessel, and as vnto them that are heyres also of the grace of life, that your prayers be not hindred.

8 In conclusion, (be ye) all of one minde, hauing compassion one of another, loue as brethren, be pitiful, be curteous, *

Rom. 5. c.

18 For asmuch as Christ hath once suffered for sinnes, the iust for the vniust, to bring vs to God, and was killed as pertayning to the flesh, but was quickened in the spirite.

19 In whiche spirite, he also went and preached vnto the spirites that were in prison, 20 Which sometime had bin disobedient, whē once the long suffering of God abode in the dayes of Noe, while the arke was a preparing, wherin fewe (that is to say) eight soules, were saued in the water.

The third Epistle of Saint Iohn.

2. He is glad of Gaius that he walketh in the truth. 8. He exhorteth to be louing vnto the poore Christen in their persecution.

1 THe elder vnto the welbeloued Gaius, whome I loue in the truth.
2 Beloued, I wishe in all things that thou prosperedst and faredst well, euen as thy soule prospereth.
3 For I reioyced greatly when the brethren came, and testified of the trueth that is in thee, howe thou walkest in the truth.
4 I haue no greater ioy, than (for) to heare how that my sonnes walke (a) in veritie.
5 Beloued, thou doest faythfully what so euer thou dost to the brethren and to strangers:
6 Which haue borne witnesse of thy charitie before the Church, whom if thou bring forwardes on their iourney after a godly sort thou shalt do well.
B 7 Because that for his names sake they went forth, taking nothing of the Gentiles.
8 We therefore ought to receyue suche, that we might be helpers to the truth.
9 I wrote vnto the Churche: but Diotrephes which loueth to haue the preeminece among them, receiueth vs not.
10 Wherfore if I come, I will declare his deedes whiche he doth, iesting on vs with malitious wordes: and not content therwith, neyther he him selfe receiueth ỹ brethren, and forbiddeth them that would, and thrusteth them out of the church.
11 Beloued, folowe not that which is euill, but that which is good. He that doth well, is of God: but he that doth euill, hath not seene God.
12 Demetrius hath good report of all men, and of the truth it selfe: Yea, and we our selues also beare record, and ye knowe that our record is true.
13 I had many things to write: but I will not with ynke and penne write vnto thee.

The Epistle of Saint Iude.

Saint Iude admonisheth all Churches generally to take heede of deceiuers, which goe about to drawe away the hearts of the simple people from the truth of God.

A Epistle saint Si Iude.

1 IVde the seruant of Iesus Christ, the brother of Iames, to them whiche are called and sanctified in God the father, and preserued in Iesus Christe:
2 Mercie vnto you, and peace, and charitie be multiplyed.
3 Beloued, when I gaue all diligence to write vnto you of the common saluation, it was needfull for me to write vnto you, exhorting you that ye should earnestly (a) contende for the fayth whiche was once giuen vnto the saintes.
4 For there are certaine vngodly menne craftyly crept in, which were before of olde ordeyned to this condemnation, turning the grace of our God vnto wantonnesse, and denying God which is the only Lord, and our Lord Iesus Christ.
5 My mynde is therefore to put you in remembrance (hereof,) for as muche as yee once knowe this, howe that the Lorde after that he had deliuered the people out of Egypt, destroyed them which afterwarde beleeued not.

6 The

6 The Angels also whiche kept not their first estate, but left their owne habitation, he hath reserued in euerlasting chaines vnder darknesse, vnto the iudgement of the great day.

B 7 Euen as Sodome and Gomorrhe, and Gene.19.f. the cities about them, which in like manner defiled them selues with fornication, and solowed strange flesshe, are set forth for an example, and suffer the payne of e-ternall fyre.

8 Likewise these being deceyued by dreāmes, defile the flesh, despise rulers, & speake euill of them that are in authoritie.

9 Yet Michaell the Archangell, when he stroue agaynst the deuyll, and disputed about the body of Moyses, durst not gyue rayling sentence, but sayde, the Lorde rebuke thee.

10 But these speake euyll of those things which they knowe not: and what things they know naturally, as beastes which are without reason, in those things they corrupt them selues.

11 Woe be vnto them, for they haue gone in the way of Caine, and are vtterly gyuen to the errour of Balaam for lucres sake, and haue perished in the gaynesaying of Core.

Gene 4.b.
Num 16.k.

12 These are " spottes in your feastes of or, rockes.
charitie, when they feast with you, without all feare feeding them selues: clouds
" or, trees, withered in Autumn, whē the fruit harueſt is, and so the Greeke word importeth: or, trees bearing corrupt fruit: or, trees corrupting their own fruit.
they are without water, caryed about of windes, " trees wythered at fruite gathering, and without fruite, twice deade, and plucked vp by the rootes:

Apoc.1.b.
Elai.3.c.

13 They are the raging waues of the sea, foming out their owne shame: they are wandring starres, to whome is reserued the myst of darknesse for euer.

14 Enoch the seuenth from Adam prophesied before of suche, saying, Beholde, the Lorde shall comme with thousandes of saintes,

15 To giue iudgement against al men and to rebuke all that are vngodly among them, of all their vngodly deedes whiche they haue vngodly committed, and of all their cruell speakings which vngodly sinners haue spoken against him.

16 These are murmurers, complaynes, walking after their owne lustes, whose mouthes speake proude things, they haue men in great reuerence because of aduan-tage.

17 But ye beloued, remember the wordes which were spoken before of the Apostles of our Lord Iesus Christ.

18 (Howe) that they tolde you, that there should be mockers in the last time, whiche should walk after their own vngodly lusts.

19 These are makers of sectes, sensely, hauing not the spirite.

20 But ye dearely beloued, edifie your sel-ues in your most holy fayth, praying in the holie ghost.

21 And keepe your selues in the loue of god, looking for the mercie of our Lord Iesus
Christe vnto eternall lyfe.

22 And haue compassion of some, " separating them:

23 And other saue with feare, pulling them out of the fire: hating euen the garment spotted by the flesshe.

24 Vnto him that is able to keepe you free from sinne, and to present you faultlesse before the presence of his glory with ioy.

25 To God our sauiour which only is wise, be glory, and maiestie, dominion, and power, nowe and euer.

The ende of the Epistle of Saint Iude.

The Reuelation of S. Iohn the Diuine.

¶ The first Chapter.

1. The cause of this Reuelation. 3. Of them that reade it. 4. Iohn writeth to the seuen Churches. 5. The maiestie and office of the sonne of God. 20. The vision of the candlestickes and starres.

1 THE (a) reuelation of Iesus Christ, whiche (b) God gaue vnto him, for to shew vnto his seruauntes things whiche muste shortly come to passe: and whē he had sent, he shewed by his Angell vnto his seruant John.

2 Which bare record of the worde of God, and of the testimonie of Iesus Christ, and of all things that he sawe.

3 Happie is he that readeth, and they that heare the wordes of this prophesie, and kepe those things whiche are written therein: for the time is at hand.

4 John to the seuen Churches in Asia, Grace (be) vnto you, and peace from hym which is, and whiche was, and which is to come, and from the seuen spirites which are before his throne:

5 And from Iesus Christ (which is) a faithfull witnesse and first begotten of the dead, and Lord ouer the kings of the earth: vnto him that loued vs, and washed vs from our sinnes in his owne bloud.

6 And made vs kings and priestes vnto God and his father: to him be glorie and dominion for euermore. Amen.

7 Beholde, hee commeth with the clouds, and all eyes shall see him, and they also which pearsed him, and all kinredes of the earth shall wayle before him: euen so, Amen.

8 I am Alpha and Omega, the beginning and the ending, sayth the Lorde almyghtie, which is, and which was, and whiche is to come.

9 I John your brother and companion in tribulation, and in the kingdome and patience of Iesus Christ, was in the Ile that is called Pathmos for the worde of God, and for the witnessing of Iesus Christ.

10 I was in the spirit on the "Lords day, and heard behinde me a great voyce, as it had bene of a trumpe.

11 Saying, I am Alpha and Omega, the first and the last: that thou seest wryte in a booke, and sende it vnto the seuen Churches wich are in Asia, vnto Ephesus, and vnto Smyrna, and vnto Pergamos, and vnto Thyatira, and vnto Sardis, and vnto Philadelphia, and vnto Laodicea.

12 And I turned backe to see the voyce that spake to me. And when I was turned, I sawe seuen golden candelsticks.

13 And in the middest of the seuen candelsticks, (one) like vnto the sonne of man, clothed with a garment down to the feet, and gyrde about the pappes with a golden gyrdle.

14 His head and his haires were white, as white woll, and as snowe, and his eyes were as a flame of fire.

15 And his feete like vnto fine brasse, as though they burnt in a furnace: and his voyce as the sounde of many waters.

16 And he hadde in his right hande seuen starres: and out of his mouth went a sharp two edged sword: and his face shone euen as the sunne in his strength.

17 And when I sawe him, I fell at his feet euen as deade, and he layde his right hand vpon me, saying vnto me, Feare not, I am the first and the last.

18 And am aliue, and was deade: and beholde I am aliue for euermore, Amen, and haue the keyes of hell and of death.

19 Write therefore the thinges whiche thou hast seene, and the things which are, and the things which shal be fulfilled hereafter.

20 The mysterie of the seuen starres which thou sawest in my right hande, and the seuen seuen golden candelsticks. The seuen starres, are the angels of the seuen Churches: and the seuen candelsticks whiche thou sawest, (are) the seuen Churches.

The. ij. Chapter.

1. He exhorteth foure Churches, 5. to repentance, 10. to perseuerance, patience, and amendment, 14. 20. 22. as well by threatning, 7. 10. 17. 26. as by promises of rewarde.

A 1 VNto the angell of the Churche of Ephesus, write, These things sayth he that holdeth the seuen starres in his right hande, and that walketh in the middes of the seuen golden candelsticks:

2 I knowe thy workes, and thy labour, and patience, and howe thou canst not forbeare them which are euill: and hast examined them which say they are Apostles, and are not, and hast found them lyers:

3 And hast suffered, and hast patience, and for my names sake hast laboured, and hast not fainted.

4 Neuertheless, I haue (somewhat) against thee, bicause thou hast left thy first loue.

5 Remember therefore from whence thou arte falne, and repent, and doe the fyrste workes: or else, I will come vnto thee shortly, and will remoue thy candelsticke out of his place, except thou repent.

Acts. 6. b. 6 But this thou hast, bycause thou hatest the deedes of the Nicolaitanes, whiche (deedes) I also hate.

B 7 Let him that hath an eare, heare what the spirit sayth vnto the Churches. To him that ouercommeth, will I giue to eate of ỹ tree of lyfe, which is in the middes of the Paradise of God.

Gene. 2. b.

8 And vnto the angell of the Churche of Smyrna, wryte, These things sayth hee that is first and the last, which was deade, and is (a) aliue:

a. The eternall diuinitie of Iesus Christe, is here most plainly declared, with his manhood and victorye ouer death, to assure vs, that they shall not be ouercome by death.

9 I knowe thy workes, and tribulation, and pouertie, (but thou art (b) riche:) and I knowe the blasphemie of them whiche call them selues Iewes, and are not, but (are) the synagogue of Satan.

b. In spirituall treasures.

10 Feare none of those things whiche thou shalt suffer. Beholde, the deuill shall caste some of you into prison to tempt you, and ye shall haue tribulation tenne dayes: be thou faythfull vnto the death, and I wyll giue thee a crowne of lyfe.

11 Let him that hath an eare, heare what the spirite sayth vnto the Churches, Hee that ouercommeth, shall not be hurt of the second death.

12 And to the angell of the Church in Pergamos, wryte, These things sayth hee which hath the sharpe (c) swoorde with two edges:

c. 7. of God. Gyrous. Cyrous.

13 I knowe thy workes, and where thou dwellest (euen) where Satans seate is, and (that) thou holdest fast my name, and hast not denyed my fayth, euen in those dayes, when Antipas my faythfull martyr was slayne among you, where Satã dwelleth.

14 But I haue a fewe things against thee, C bicause thou hast there them that maintain the doctrine of Balaam, which taught Num. Balac to put a stumbling block before the chyldren of Israell, that they should eate of meate sacrificed vnto idols, and commit fornication. taught lac.

15 Euen so hast thou them that maintayne the doctrine of the Nicolaitaines, whiche thing I hate.

16 Repent, or else I wyll come vnto thee shortly, and will fight against them with the swoord of my mouth.

17 Let him that hath an eare, heare what the spirite sayth vnto the Churches, To him that ouercommeth will I giue to eate Manna that is hid, and wyll gyue hym a white stone, and in the stone a newe name written, which no man knoweth sauing he that receiueth it.

18 And vnto the angell of the Churche of Thyatira, wryte, these things saith the sonne of God, who hath eyes like vnto a flame of fire, & his feete (are) like fine brasse:

19 I know thy workes, and thy charitie, seruice, and fayth, and thy patience, and thy deedes, whiche are moe at the last than at the first.

20 Notwithstanding, I haue a few things 3. Reg. against thee, bycause thou sufferest that 4. Reg. woman Iesabell, which called hir selfe a prophetisse, to teache, and to deceiue my seruantes, to make them commit fornication, & to eate meate sacrificed vnto idols.

21 And I gaue hir space to repent of hir fornication, and she repented not. D

22 Beholde, I will caste hir into a bed, and them that commit fornication with hir into great aduersitie, except they repent of their deedes.

23 And I will kill hir children with death, Jere. and all the Churches shall knowe that I am hee which searcheth the reynes and heartes, and I will giue vnto euerie one of you according to his workes.

24 Unto you I say, and vnto other of them of Thyatira, as many as haue not this learning, and whiche haue not knowne the deepenesse of Satan, as they say, I will
